Re: Harkenrider v Hochul
APL-2022-00042

Dear Counselors:

Further to the parties' telephone communications with this office today, in anticipation of the parties taking appeals and making motions for leave to appeal in the above matter, these appeals and motions for leave to appeal will proceed expeditiously and will be determined on the Appellate Division records and briefs, the writings in the courts below, such letter submissions on jurisdiction, leaveworthiness, and the merits as counsel in their respective professional judgments may file, and oral argument.

All appealing parties must file and serve, by noon on Saturday, April 23, written comments and arguments in letter format in support of their respective positions on jurisdiction, leaveworthiness, and the merits. All parties may serve and file by noon on Sunday, April 24, any responsive letter submissions.

All filings shall be submitted as directed by the Clerk's Office. The parties are not required to refile their Appellate Division records and briefs at this Court.

The Court has scheduled these appeals and motions for leave to appeal for in-person argument at Court of Appeals Hall on Tuesday, April 26 at 11:00 am.

A request to submit an amicus curiae filing must be served and filed by noon on Sunday, April 24. Such requests should be in letter format and include a copy of the proposed amicus submission and be filed as directed by the Clerk's Office.

Very truly yours,

Deputy Clerk
