MICHAEL BANERIAN, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

v.

JOCELYN BENSON, et al.,

Defendants,

and JOAN SWARTZ MCKAY, et al.,

Intervenor-Defendants.

Case No. 1:22-CV-00054-PLM-SJB

DEFENDANTS' ANSWER TO PLAINTIFFS' FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

INTRODUCTION

1. Plaintiffs Michael Banerian (Counts I & II), Michon Bommarito (Count II), Peter Colovos (Counts I & II), William Gordon (Count I), Joseph Graves (Count I & II), Beau LaFave (Count I), Sarah Paciorek (Counts I & II), Cameron Pickford (Counts I & II), Harry Sawicki (Counts I & II), and Michelle Smith (Count I), bring this suit to challenge Michigan's recently enacted congressional districts as violative of the United States Constitution.

Admitted.

2. As an initial matter, Michigan's adopted congressional districts violate the "one person, one vote" rule enshrined in Article I, Section 2 of the U.S. Constitution.

Denied.

3. This principle requires that "[r]epresentatives be chosen 'by the People of the several States'" in a way that ensures that "as nearly as is practicable one man's vote in a congressional election is to be worth as much as another's." Wesberry v. Sanders, 376 U.S. 1, 7–8 (1964) (quoting U.S. Const. art. I, § 2).

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

4. Because Michigan's newly adopted congressional districts fall far below this standard, they are unconstitutional and cannot stand.

Denied.

5. Michigan's adopted congressional districts, moreover, violate the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Denied.

6. The individuals serving on the Michigan Independent Citizens Redistricting Commission (the "Commissioners") failed to draw Michigan's congressional maps in accordance with neutral, and traditionally accepted, redistricting criteria (now codified at Article IV, Section 6(13) of the Michigan Constitution).

Denied.

7. The Commissioners' failure in this respect amounts to arbitrary boundary drawing, in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment's equal-protection guarantee.

Denied.

8. Among other pressing defects, the Commissioners' congressional map unnecessarily fragments counties, townships, and municipalities—i.e., Michigan's true communities of interest—without any legitimate or rational State interest.

Denied.

9. To be certain, compliance with federal law (as informed by the Michigan Constitution) is neither impossible nor particularly onerous.

Defendants admit that compliance with federal law (as informed by the Michigan Constitution) is not impossible. Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the remainder of the allegation in Paragraph 9 because the phrase “particularly onerous” is not defined.

10. Indeed, as demonstrated by the remedy map attached to this filing as Exhibit A, the Commissioners had ample ability to draw and adopt congressional districts without the aforementioned flaws.

Denied.

11. The Commissioners’ failure to do so warrants the declaratory and injunctive relief sought by Plaintiffs in this action.

Denied.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

12. This Court has jurisdiction over this action under 28 U.S.C. § 1331, and 28 U.S.C. § 1343 because Plaintiffs’ claims all arise under—and seek redress pursuant to—the U.S. Constitution and 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

Admitted.

13. Under 28 U.S.C. § 2284, a three-judge panel should hear and determine this case.

Admitted.

14. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b), venue is proper in this District because the Office of the Secretary of State, Defendant Jocelyn Benson, is located in this District.

Admitted.

THREE-JUDGE COURT REQUESTED

15. In this action, Plaintiffs challenge the constitutionality of the Commissioners' reapportionment of Michigan's congressional districts.

Admitted.

16. 28 U.S.C. § 2284(a) provides that “[a] district court of three judges shall be convened . . . when an action is filed challenging the constitutionality of the apportionment of congressional districts or the apportionment of any statewide legislative body.”

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

17. For this reason, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court “immediately notify the chief judge of the circuit” so that the Chief Judge may “designate two other judges, at least one of whom shall be a circuit judge,” to “serve as members of the court to hear and determine th[is] action.” 28 U.S.C. § 2284(b)(1).

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

45. In November 2018, Michigan amended its Constitution to establish the Michigan Independent Citizens Redistricting Commission (“the Commission”), a citizen-comprised entity vested with the exclusive authority to adopt district boundaries for State and congressional elections after each decennial census. See Mich. Const. art. IV, § 6(1).

Admitted.

46. The 2018 amendment also prescribed the criteria the Commissioners must apply when adopting each district plan.

Admitted.

47. Specifically, Article IV, Section 6(13) of the Michigan Constitution provides that the Commissioners must abide “by the following criteria in proposing and adopting each plan, in order of priority”:

- A. Districts shall be of equal population as mandated by the United States Constitution, and shall be geographically contiguous. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.
- B. Districts shall reflect the state’s diverse population and communities of interest. Communities of interest may include, but shall not be limited to, populations that share cultural or historical characteristics or economic interests. Communities of interest do not include relationships with political parties, incumbents, or political candidates.
- C. Districts shall not provide a disproportionate advantage to any political party. A disproportionate advantage to a political party shall be determined using accepted measures of partisan fairness.

- D. Districts shall not favor or disfavor an incumbent elected official or a candidate.
- E. Districts shall reflect consideration of county, city, and township boundaries.
- F. Districts shall be reasonably compact.

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

48. The criteria enumerated in the Michigan Constitution track the traditional (and traditionally accepted) redistricting criteria used in several jurisdictions across the Nation.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 48.

49. The Supreme Court recognizes these traditional redistricting criteria. See, e.g., Karcher v. Daggett, 462 U.S. 725, 740 (1983).

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 49.

50. These traditional redistricting criteria serve as means to prevent unconstitutional gerrymandering and ensure compliance with federal law. See, e.g., Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 50–51 (1986) (imposing a compactness requirement to determine whether § 2 of the Voting Rights Act requires the drawing of a majority-minority district).¹

¹ See also Bush v. Vera, 517 U.S. 952, 979 (1996) (“If, because of the dispersion of the minority population, a reasonably compact majority-minority district cannot be created, § 2 does not require a majority-minority district.”); id. at 962 (stating that in proving a racial gerrymandering claim under the Fourteenth Amendment’s Equal Protection Clause, “[t]he Constitution does not mandate regularity of district shape . . . and the neglect of traditional districting criteria is merely necessary, not sufficient. For strict scrutiny to apply, traditional districting criteria must be subordinated to race”).

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 50.

51. In mid-September 2020, the Commissioners met for the first time to begin drawing Michigan's voting districts.

Defendants admit that they first met in September 2020 but deny that they began drawing maps at that time.

52. According to the 2020 Decennial Census, Michigan has a population of 10,077,331 persons.

Admitted.

53. Based on these numbers, Michigan was apportioned thirteen congressional districts.

Admitted.

54. To ensure that no district suffers from vote dilution in contravention of the "one person, one vote" principle recognized by the U.S. Supreme Court, the Commissioners were obligated to adopt districts that each have a population as close to 775,179 persons as possible.

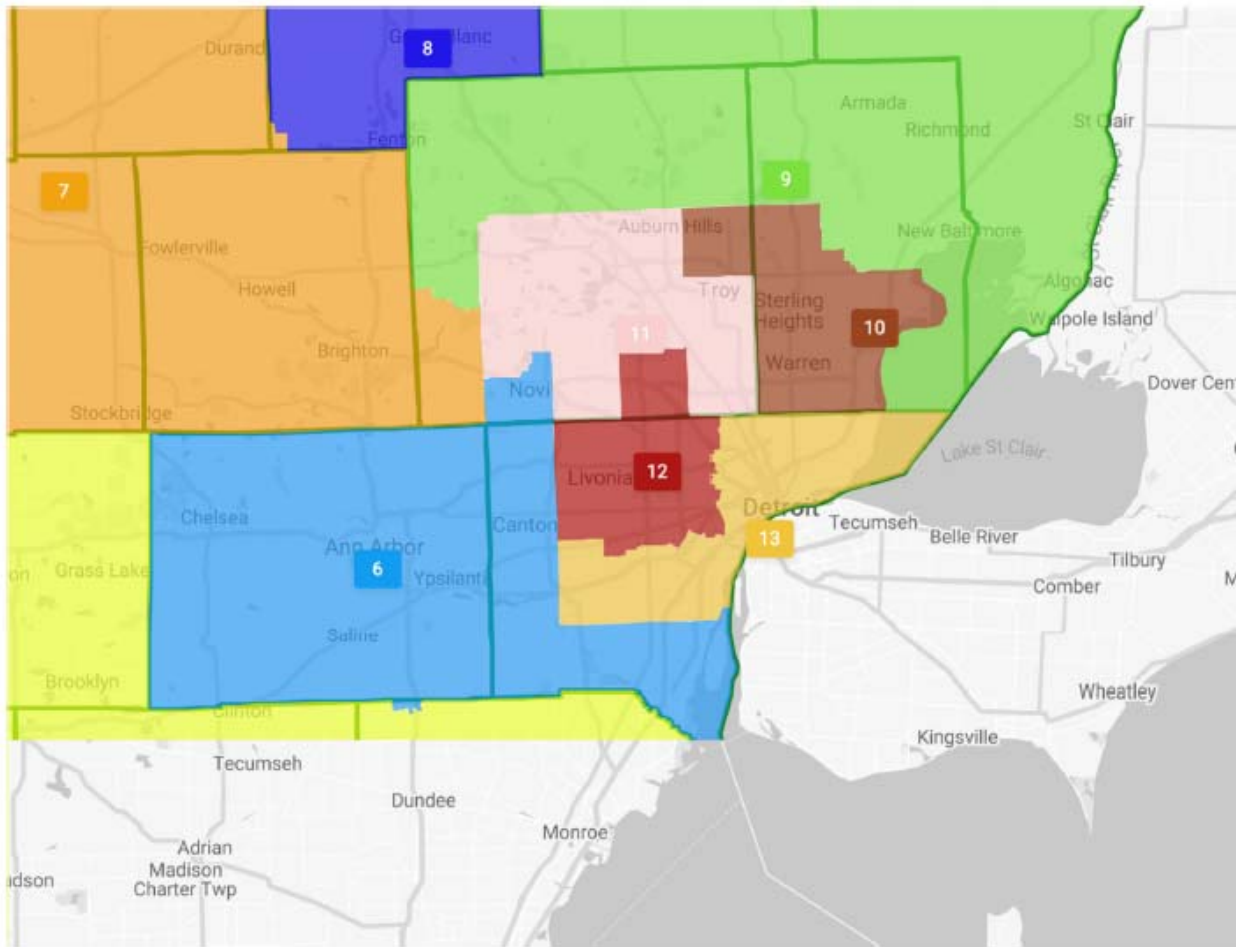

Defendants admit that the ideal district population is 775,179 persons but deny the remaining allegations in Paragraph 54.

55. According to publicly available information, the Commissioners considered five congressional plans, three of which were named after a species of tree ("Apple," "Birch," and "Chestnut") and two of which were named, respectively, after a commissioner ("Lange" and "Szetela").

Admitted.

56. On December 28, 2021, the Michigan Independent Citizens Redistricting Commission adopted and enacted the “Chestnut Plan,” which appears as follows (and is available at <https://michigan.mydistricting.com/legdistricting/comments/plan/279/23> (visited Jan. 6, 2022)):

Admitted.

57. The Chestnut Plan’s largest congressional district (District 13) has a population of 775,666 persons, which is 487 persons above the ideal population for congressional districts in Michigan.

Admitted.

58. The Chestnut Plan’s smallest congressional district (District 5) has a population of 774,544 persons, which is 635 persons below the ideal population for congressional districts in Michigan.

Admitted.

59. The difference in population between the largest and smallest congressional districts in the Chestnut Plan is 1,122 persons.

Admitted.

60. Only one congressional district (District 10) in the Chestnut Plan is less than 50 persons away from the ideal population (+39) for congressional districts in Michigan.

Admitted.

61. The following chart lists the population deviations for each district.

DISTRICT	TOTAL PERSONS	DEVIATION
District One	775,375	+196
District Two	774,997	-182
District Three	775,414	+235
District Four	774,600	-579
District Five	774,544	-635
District Six	775,273	+94
District Seven	775,238	+59
District Eight	775,229	+50
District Nine	774,962	-217
District Ten	775,218	+39
District Eleven	775,568	+389
District Twelve	775,247	+68
District Thirteen	775,666	+487

Admitted.

62. The Commissioners’ failure to create districts with equal population also suggests that they did not prioritize the criteria enumerated in the Michigan Constitution in the order mandated by the Michigan Constitution. See Mich. Const. art. IV, § 6(13).

Denied.

63. The remedy map attached to this Complaint (Exhibit A) reduces the difference in population to 1 person (nine districts have a population of 775,179 each and four districts have a population of 775,180 each).

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 63.

64. Of Michigan's eighty-three counties, the Chestnut Plan splits at least fifteen of them (approximately 18%).

Admitted.

65. In fact, parts of Oakland County are located in six separate congressional districts.

Admitted.

66. Not only does this contravene the Michigan constitutional requirement that the State's congressional districts "reflect consideration of county, city, and township boundaries," Mich. Const. art. IV, § 6(13)(f), it also carves up "communities of interest," as that phrase has been construed by the Michigan Supreme Court and federal courts across the nation.

Denied.

67. This is evidence that the Commissioners did not apply its criteria in a neutral and consistent manner but rather in an inconsistent and arbitrary manner.

Denied.

68. As such, the boundaries established by the Commissioners are arbitrary, inconsistent, and non-neutral, in contravention of the Fourteenth Amendment's Equal Protection Clause. See also Mich. Const. art. IV, § 6(13)(c) (congressional districts must “reflect the state’s diverse population and communities of interest”).

Denied.

69. The remedy map attached to this Complaint (Exhibit A) reduces the number of split counties to ten.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 69.

70. The remedy map attached to this Complaint also ensures that no Michigan county is part of more than four congressional districts.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 70.

71. The remedy map attached to this Complaint has fewer city and township splits than the number of city and township splits in the Chestnut Plan.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 71.

72. The attached remedial map more faithfully adheres to the Michigan’s constitution’s requirements to respect county, city, and township boundaries.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 72.

73. Finally, the Chestnut Plan cannot be described as “compact” under any reasonable interpretation of that term.

Denied.

74. Indeed, the Chestnut Plan's District 5 (which splits four of the ten counties it covers) touches Michigan's Eastern and Western border.

Admitted.

75. Although not dispositive, this lack of compactness is evidence that the Commissioners did not act in a good faith effort to achieve population equality.

Denied.

76. As reported by the Commissioners, the average compactness of the Chestnut Plan's districts is .41 on the Polsby-Popper measure, and .42 on the Reock Measure, with the least compact districts having scores of .27 and .19 respectively.

Admitted.

77. On both measures, numbers closer to one are more compact, and numbers closer to zero are less compact.

Admitted.

78. The remedy map attached to this Complaint (Exhibit A) greatly increases the compactness of several congressional districts, including District 5.²

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 78.

79. The proposed remedy map (Exhibit A) yields an average Polsby-Popper measure of .46 and an average Reock measure .45, with the least compact districts being at .3 and .21 respectively.

² Compactness scores provided here are computed using map projections in ESRI Redistricting software. Some popular websites for drawing districts include compactness scores computed using other map projections. This may result in a minor variation between compactness scores computed by different GIS systems. See Viewing Compactness Tests, ESRI Redistricting Review, <https://doc.arcgis.com/en/redistricting/review/viewing-compactness-tests.htm>.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 79.

80. That the Commissioners failed to abide by the constitutionally imposed traditional redistricting criteria (as reflected by the Michigan constitution) is evidence that the map they adopted inflicts constitutional harms on Plaintiffs. Bush v. Vera, 517 U.S. 952, 962–63 (1996).

Denied.

81. In short, the remedy map attached to this Complaint (Exhibit A) demonstrates that it was well within the Commissioners’ capacity to adopt a congressional map that complied with the “one person, one vote” principle while leaving far more counties intact and greatly increasing the compactness of Michigan’s congressional districts (in compliance with the Fourteenth Amendment’s Equal Protection Clause).

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 81.

COUNT I
Violation of Article I, Section 2 of the U.S. Constitution
“One Person, One Vote”
(42 U.S.C. § 1983)

82. Plaintiffs restate and incorporate by reference each and every allegation in Paragraphs 1 through 81.

No response required.

83. All Plaintiffs intend to vote in the 2022 Congressional Elections at the location where they currently reside within the state of Michigan.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 83.

84. Article I, Section 2 of the U.S. Constitution mandates that congressional districts must achieve population equality “as nearly as is practicable.” Wesberry v. Sanders, 376 U.S. 1, 7–8, 18 (1964).

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

85. According to the 2020 Census, Michigan has a population of 10,077,331 persons.

Admitted.

86. Based on these Census numbers, Michigan was apportioned thirteen Congressional Districts.

Admitted.

87. Therefore, the ideal population in each congressional district is approximately 775,179 persons.

Admitted.

88. The Chestnut Plan substantially deviates from Article I, Section 2’s command.
Denied.

89. Congressional District 13 has the highest population of 775,666 persons (487 above the ideal population) while Congressional District 5 has a population of 774,544 persons (635 below the ideal population).

Admitted.

90. The Chestnut plan has an overall population deviation of 1,122 persons.
Admitted.

91. The total deviation is therefore 0.14%.

Admitted.

92. The existence of congressional district plans with lower population deviations shifts the burden from the plaintiff to the State to justify the need for the deviations.³

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

93. As demonstrated by the remedy map (Exhibit A) the Commissioners could have enacted a map with a population deviation of nearly zero.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 93.

94. The Commissioners did not make a good-faith effort to draw a map with nearly as equal population as possible.

Denied.

95. Upon information and belief, the Chestnut Plan's population deviations were not intended to further any legitimate state objective.

Denied.

96. Accordingly, the Defendants were and are acting under the color of state law and violating Plaintiffs' constitutional rights, violating 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

³ See, e.g., Larios v. Cox, 300 F. Supp. 2d 1320, 1354 (N.D. Ga. 2004) (three-judge court) (holding that Georgia did not make a good-faith effort to draw congressional districts of nearly equal population, shifting burden to state to justify its deviations, when Georgia's plan had a total population deviation of seventy-two people and testimony was given demonstrating that a near zero population deviation map was possible) aff. mem., 542 U.S. 947 (2004). Sometimes a state cannot justify even minimal population deviations. See, e.g., Vieth v. Pennsylvania, 195 F. Supp. 2d 672, 674–78 (M.D. Pa. 2002) (three-judge court) (holding that Pennsylvania's congressional district maps violated the one person, one vote requirement where the total population deviation was 19 persons and Pennsylvania could not justify the deviation); Karcher, 462 U.S. at 728 (declaring unconstitutional New Jersey's congressional district plan with a maximum deviation of 0.6 percent or 3,674 persons and where plans with smaller population deviations were presented).

Denied.

COUNT II
Violation of Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution
Equal Protection
(42 U.S.C. § 1983)

97. Plaintiffs restate and incorporate by reference each and every allegation in Paragraphs 1 through 96.

No response required.

98. All Plaintiffs intend to vote in the 2022 Congressional Elections at the location where they currently reside within the state of Michigan.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 98.

99. The Fourteenth Amendment’s Equal Protection Clause provides that no State shall “deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.” U.S. Const. amend. XIV.

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

100. Article One, Section Four of the Constitution vests state legislatures with the authority to group voters together in congressional districts.

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

101. When a legislature draws districts, traditional redistricting criteria serve as guardrails to ensure compliance with the U.S. Constitution, including the Equal Protection Clause.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 101.

102. For example, making districts compact, respecting communities of interest, ensuring that districts are contiguous, and preventing the pairing of incumbents all serve to limit various forms of gerrymandering and vote dilution.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 102.

103. A Fourteenth Amendment Equal Protection violation arises when a legislature or commission implements traditional redistricting criteria in an inconsistent and arbitrary manner.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 103.

104. Moreover, the Equal Protection Clause prohibits laws that treat people disparately or arbitrarily.

This allegation is a recitation of law to which no responsive pleading is required.

105. The criteria enumerated in the Michigan Constitution track the traditional (and traditionally accepted) redistricting criteria used throughout the nation, all of which exist to ensure compliance with the U.S. Constitution and federal law.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 105.

106. Because the Commissioners arbitrarily applied Michigan's constitutional requirements, the Commissioners imposed U.S. Constitutional injuries on Michigan's voters.

Denied.

107. Specifically, Article IV, Section 6(13) of the Michigan Constitution requires the Commissioners to apply specific criteria “in proposing and adopting each plan, in order of priority.”

Admitted.

108. The Commissioners applied the Michigan constitutional criteria in an inconsistent and arbitrary manner.

Denied.

109. The Chestnut Plan fails to comply with or properly apply the following criteria:

- A. Districts shall be of equal population as mandated by the United States Constitution, Mich. Const. art. IV, § 6(13)(a);
- B. Districts shall reflect the state’s diverse population and communities of interest, id. § 6(13)(c);
- C. Districts shall reflect consideration of county, city, and township boundaries, id. § 6(13)(f); and
- D. Districts shall be reasonably compact, id. § 6(13)(g).

Denied.

110. Communities of interest requirements, whole county requirements, and whole township requirements ensure that when casting a vote in a congressional district, the voter is selecting a candidate that can represent both the individual’s interests and the common interests of the community within the district.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 110.

111. Because federal law, as well as the Michigan Supreme Court, have long construed the phrase “communities of interest” to include counties, cities, and townships, the Chestnut plan's arbitrary county, township, and municipality splits also violate the requirement that "[d]istricts shall reflect the state's diverse population and communities of interest." Mich. Const. art. IV, § 6(13)(c).

Denied.

112. The Commissioners applied the communities of interest criterion in an inconsistent and arbitrary manner.

Denied.

113. The communities of interest requirement and the requirement to keep counties and townships whole protects an individual's right to vote and their right to associate with their fellow citizens to advance the interests of the community, township, and county.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 113.

114. The Commissioners arbitrarily assigned voters to various locations.

Denied.

115. The Commissioners did not draw a map with as few split counties as possible.

Denied.

116. By unnecessarily fragmenting counties—i.e., Michigan's true communities of interest—the Commissioners' adopted map is arbitrary, inconsistent, and non-neutral, violating the Equal Protection Clause.

Denied.

117. And by unnecessarily splitting so many counties, cities, and townships the Commissioners appear to have used a wholly novel definition and arbitrarily and inconsistently applied the phrase "communities of interest." Mich. Const. art. IV, § 6(13)(c).

Denied.

118. For these reasons, the Commissioners violated the Fourteenth Amendment's Equal Protection Clause because some voters will be able to elect candidates who can represent the interests of both the individual and the community.

Denied.

119. Voting is both an expression of an individual's preference for a congressional representative and it is an associational act in choosing a congressional representative to represent and advance the interests of fellow voters in a community.

Defendants lack knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained in Paragraph 119.

120. In these acts, the citizens of Michigan are required to be treated equally, which Defendants' have failed to do.

Denied.

121. Thus, when the Commissioners arbitrarily and inconsistently applied their state constitutional requirements of keeping counties and townships whole and maintaining communities of interest, they violated the Equal Protection Clause.

Denied.

122. In other words, the Commissioners ignored roughly half the criteria listed in the Michigan Constitution.

Denied.

123. To the extent the Commissioners (im)properly applied any criteria, they did so out of the order of priority mandated by the Michigan Constitution.

Denied.

124. As demonstrated by the remedial map (Exhibit A) the Commissioners were required to comply with each of the aforementioned traditional redistricting criteria.

Defendants admit only that they were required to comply with the constitutional criteria set forth in Article IV, Section 6(13) of the Michigan Constitution. Defendants deny the remaining allegations.

125. The Commissioners' failure to do so renders the congressional maps they adopted arbitrary, inconsistent, and non-neutral, in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment's Equal Protection Clause.

Denied.

126. At all times the Defendants were and are acting under the color of state law and violating Plaintiffs' constitutional rights, violating 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

Denied.

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

I. IMMUNITY

1. In Count II, Plaintiffs seek relief that is barred by Eleventh Amendment immunity. Pennhurst State Sch. & Hosp. v. Halderman, 465 U.S. 89 (1984). This Court lacks jurisdiction to enjoin state officials for violations of state law.

II. ILLEGALITY

2. Plaintiffs ask this Court to "assume jurisdiction, appoint a special master, and draw constitutionally compliant congressional districts[.]" Such relief is unlawful under the Michigan Constitution. See Mich. Const. art. IV, § 6(19) ("In no event shall any body, except the independent citizens redistricting commission acting pursuant to this section, promulgate and adopt a redistricting plan or plans for this state.").

WHEREFORE, for the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs' requests should be denied.
