INTRODUCTION

Over the course of just over 48 hours, the North Carolina General Assembly enacted the state's fifth congressional plan in four years—an unnecessary, mid-decade redistricting plan that intentionally dismantles CD-1, a historic Black opportunity district that has elected a Black representative to Congress for more than 30 years. This targeted strike was accomplished by redistributing voters based on their race: not only does the 2025 Plan move several counties with significant Black populations out of the district while moving in primarily white counties from CD-3, Black voters were twice as likely as Democratic voters to be moved out of CD-1. Both the means and the ends are clear: once again, North Carolina has "intentionally target[ed] a particular race[] . . . because its members vote for a particular party, in a predictable manner," which "constitutes discriminatory purpose." N.C. State Conf. of NAACP v. McCrory, 831 F.3d 204, 222-23 (4th Cir. 2016).

The General Assembly's voluntary, unnecessary, mid-decade revision of a legislatively-enacted congressional plan must also be enjoined as a per se violation of the U.S. Constitution, on at least two grounds. First, the use of five-year-old Census data results in present-day population deviations that are not otherwise justified by a legitimate state objective, in violation of Article I, Section 2 and the Fourteenth Amendment's one-person one-vote guarantee. The legal fiction that census data remains the same for the remainder of the decade is intended to avoid the need for constant redistricting, not to enable it. Second, the General Assembly's unnecessary and unjustified consideration of race and partisanship violates the First and Fourteenth Amendments. Any leeway states have to consider race and pursue partisan advantage in the course of mandatory post-census redistricting falls away entirely when they engage in voluntary mid-cycle redistricting of a legislatively-enacted plan.

A preliminary injunction is necessary to ensure relief in advance of the 2026 midterm elections. If elections proceed under the 2025 Plan, Black voters in northeast North Carolina will be irreparably harmed, deprived of their fundamental constitutional rights to vote free from discrimination. Because all the relevant factors strongly favor a preliminary injunction, the Court should preliminarily enjoin the use of the 2025 Plan and reinstate the 2023 Plan pending resolution of Plaintiffs' Piedmont Triad and Mecklenburg claims on the existing trial record.

BACKGROUND

CD-1 has historically encompassed North Carolina's Black Belt counties, along with several other counties with significant Black populations. In 1992, CD-1 elected North Carolina's first Black congressional representative since 1901; in every election since then, voters in CD-1 have sent a Black North Carolinian to Congress.[1] Ex. 3, Expert Rep. of Dr. Allan J. Lichtman, at 11.

On October 13, 2025, in response to public urging by President Trump, Republicans in the General Assembly announced that they would—once again—redraw North Carolina's congressional map, this time specifically and exclusively targeting CD-1. Id. at 6. The next week, Republican leaders introduced S.B. 249, which reconfigured districts in the northeast but left the rest of the 2023 map untouched. S.B. 249 was rushed from introduction to passage in just over 48 hours, with almost no opportunity for public input or legislative debate.[2] Live public comment was limited to less than 90 minutes over two committee meetings in Raleigh, during which citizens were permitted to speak for just one minute each; no field hearings were held at all. Id. at 9. Every single person who spoke vehemently opposed the 2025 Plan, expressing outrage and frustration over the General Assembly's rushed and unnecessary redistricting, as well as the 2025 Plan's racially discriminatory intent and impact. Id. Similarly, nearly every one of the 12,000 comments received over an online portal decried the lack of public input, the rushed and opaque legislative process, and the "disenfranchis[ement of] Black voters." Exs. 4-5. Several legislators echoed the same sentiments, highlighting the 2025 Plan's disparate impact and discriminatory intent behind dismantling the state's longest standing Black opportunity district. Ex. 3 at 12. When they sought more time to debate and probe the map, legislative leadership cut off debate to hold a final vote just two days after S.B. 249 was introduced. Ex. 3 at 9; see also id. (Minority Leader Reives criticizing fact that public input was not "meaningfully considered," "call[ing] into question the integrity of the House and these proceedings").

During these truncated legislative hearings, Defendant Senator Hise announced that he drew the 2025 Plan without any assistance. While he disavowed the use of racial data, he confirmed that he knew that CD-1 "has a higher minority population than the state average." Id. at 12. Indeed, several members observed that Senator Hise would not need to specifically consult racial data to purposefully dilute the Black vote in CD-1. As Representative Gloristine Brown explained, "every single member of this body knows about the [B]lack population in the northeastern part of" North Carolina. Id. Senator Gladys Robinson noted that, notwithstanding Senator Hise's statements that the map was "strictly about partisan politics," its achievement of partisan goals through the disenfranchisement of Black voters was squarely "about race." Id. Senator Kandie Smith similarly and succinctly described the 2025 Plan as a "political weapon" with Black voters as the "target" because it was "designed to fracture historic coalitions" and "diminish voter turnout." Id.

On October 22, after an unprecedented, two-day sprint from introduction to passage, the General Assembly enacted S.B. 249. Id. at 6. Williams Plaintiffs asked for leave to file a supplemental complaint the following day, asserting constitutional and statutory challenges to the 2025 Plan. ECF No. 169; Suppl. Compl., ECF No. 181. Williams Plaintiffs now seek an order enjoining enforcement of the 2025 Plan and reinstating the 2023 Plan while Plaintiffs' previous challenges remain pending.

LEGAL STANDARD

"To win . . . a preliminary injunction, Plaintiffs must demonstrate that (1) they are likely to succeed on the merits; (2) they will likely suffer irreparable harm absent an injunction; (3) the balance of hardships weighs in their favor; and (4) the injunction is in the public interest." League of Women Voters of N.C. v. North Carolina, 769 F.3d 224, 236 (4th Cir. 2014) (LWV) (citing Winter v. Nat. Res. Def. Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 20 (2008)).

Though plaintiffs "must demonstrate that they are likely to succeed on the merits," they "need not show a certainty of success." Id. (citation omitted).

ARGUMENT

I. Plaintiffs are likely to succeed on the merits of their claims.

A. The 2025 Plan intentionally discriminates against Black voters by targeting and dismantling the Black opportunity district in CD-1.

The Fourteenth Amendment's Equal Protection Clause "prohibits intentional vote dilution" by "minimizing or canceling out the voting potential of racial or ethnic minorities." Abbott v. Perez, 585 U.S. 579, 585-86 (2018) (citation modified). "'[D]ilution of racial minority group voting strength may be caused' . . . 'by the dispersal of [minorities] into districts in which they constitute an ineffective minority of voters . . . .'" Voinovich v. Quilter, 507 U.S. 146, 154 (1993) (quoting Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 46 n.11 (1986)). "Intentions to achieve partisan gain and to racially discriminate are not mutually exclusive," Veasey v. Abbott, 830 F.3d 216, 241 n.30 (5th Cir. 2016) (en banc), and "intentionally targeting a particular race[] . . . because its members vote for a particular party, in a predictable manner, constitutes discriminatory purpose," McCrory, 831 F.3d at 222-23. Even if the ultimate goal is partisan gain, the "use of race as a proxy," for "political interests" is "prohibited." Cooper v. Harris, 581 U.S. 285, 291 n.1 (2017) (citation modified) (quoting Miller v. Johnson, 515 U.S. 900, 914 (1995)).

Thus, to succeed, Plaintiffs need not show that discrimination was the sole or "primary" motive for legislation, only that it was "a motivating factor." Village of Arlington Heights v. Metro. Hous. Dev. Corp., 429 U.S. 252, 265-66 (1977) (emphasis added). Because "[o]utright admissions of impermissible racial motivation are infrequent," the Supreme Court has recognized that "plaintiffs often must rely upon other evidence." Hunt v. Cromartie, 526 U.S. 541, 553 (1999); see also Rogers v. Lodge, 458 U.S. 613, 618 (1982). Indeed, "[i]n this day and age[,] we rarely have legislators announcing an intent to discriminate based upon race, whether in public speeches or private correspondence." Veasey, 830 F.3d at 235. "To require direct evidence of intent would essentially give legislatures free rein to racially discriminate so long as they do not overtly state discrimination as their purpose" and would "ignore the reality that neutral reasons can and do mask racial intent." Id. at 235-36.[3]

As a result, Plaintiffs may make their showing of discriminatory intent with any available "circumstantial and direct evidence of intent," including the five factors identified by the Supreme Court in Arlington Heights: (1) the discriminatory "impact of the official action"; (2) "the historical background" of the law; (3) "the specific sequence of events leading up" to the law; (4) any "departures from the normal procedural sequence"; and (5) the "legislative or administrative history" of the law. 429 U.S. at 252, 265-68 (cleaned up); see also Washington v. Davis, 426 U.S. 229, 242 (1976) ("[D]iscriminatory purpose may often be inferred from the totality of the relevant facts, including the fact . . . that the law bears more heavily on one race than another.").

[3] Notably, the Legislative Defendants here, and in particular Senator Hise, are seasoned litigants in combatting claims of discrimination. Likely because of this, just before beginning redistricting in 2023, the General Assembly effectively eliminated the possibility of obtaining direct evidence of discriminatory intent by repealing a longstanding law that made redistricting communications public and giving legislators the unilateral authority to delete their emails and destroy records. ECF No. 166 ¶¶ 255-63.

The Arlington Heights factors strongly support a finding that the 2025 Plan was motivated by discriminatory intent.

i. The 2025 Plan bears more heavily on Black voters than other members of the electorate.

As the Supreme Court has held, "a jurisdiction that enacts a plan having a dilutive impact is more likely to have acted with a discriminatory intent to dilute minority voting strength than a jurisdiction whose plan has no such impact." Reno v. Bossier Par. Sch. Bd., 520 U.S. 471, 487 (1997). Courts have found this factor satisfied "beyond dispute" where a redistricting plan cracks Black voters out of a performing district "into districts in which [Black voters] constitute an ineffective minority of voters." See, e.g., Common Cause Fla. v. Byrd, 726 F. Supp. 3d 1322, 1369 (N.D. Fla. 2024) (Jordan, J., concurring) (citation omitted).

That is precisely what the 2025 Plan does—it cracks Black voters out of a previously performing minority opportunity district (CD-1), dividing them across two districts (CD-1 and CD-3), leaving them extremely unlikely to elect their preferred candidates in either district. Ex. 1, Suppl. Expert Rep. of Dr. Jonathan Rodden, at 2-3. Such a "showing that a State intentionally drew district lines in order to destroy otherwise effective crossover districts . . . raise[s] serious questions under both the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments." Bartlett v. Strickland, 556 U.S. 1, 24 (2009) (plurality op.).

The 2025 Plan dilutes Black voting strength in CD-1 by moving Black communities out of former CD-1 and into CD-3. The Plan shifts heavily Black communities in Wilson (37.54% Black Voting Age Population (BVAP)), Greene (36.22%), Wayne (30.01%), and Lenoir (39.15%) counties out of CD-1 and into CD-3. Ex. 1 at 4. It swaps these Black communities for heavily white counties formerly in CD-3, including Dare (1.81% BVAP), Beaufort (22.07%), Craven (19.37%), Pamlico (17.07%), and Carteret (4.72%) counties. Id. Figures 2 and 3 illustrate the Legislative Defendants' reshuffling of Black and white communities between CD-1 and CD-3 in the 2025 Plan (Figure 3) relative to the 2023 Plan (Figure 2).

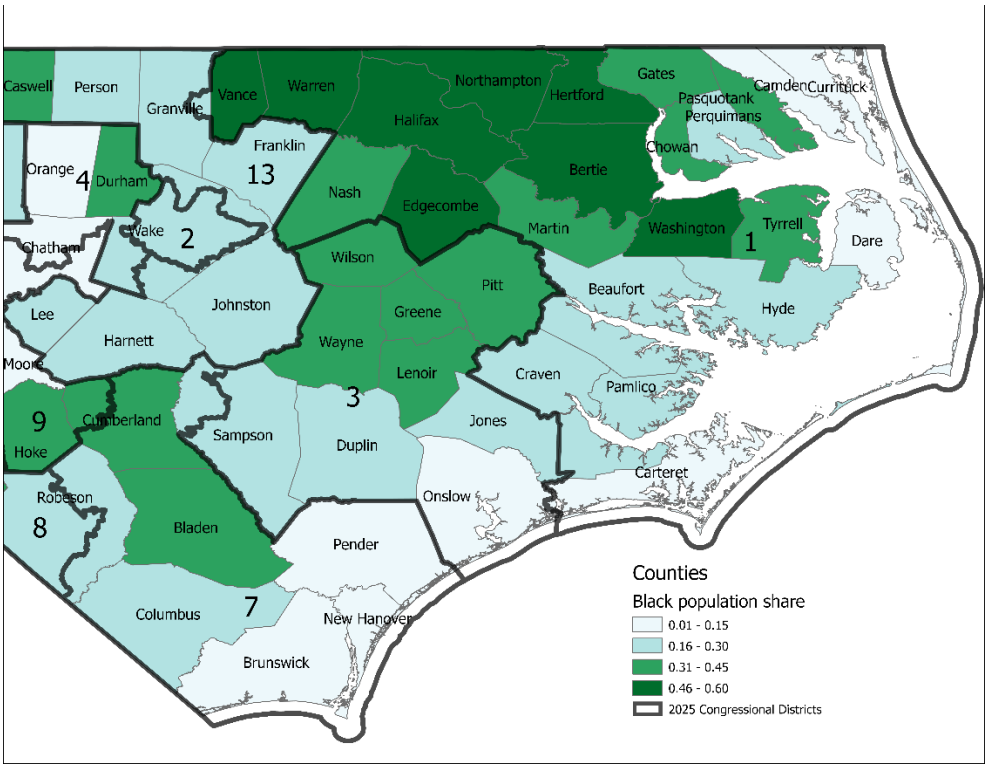
Ex. 1 Figure 2: Black Population Share, Counties of Eastern North Carolina under 2023 Plan



Ex. 1 Figure 3: Black Population Share, Counties of Eastern North Carolina under 2025 Plan

As a result, the 2025 Plan decreased the BVAP of CD-1 by 8 percentage points, dropping from 40.42% in the 2023 Plan to 32.34% in the 2025 Plan. Ex. 1 at 9-10. In turn, while the BVAP in CD-3 increased by 8 percentage points, it was kept low enough to ensure Black voters still cannot elect their preferred candidates in CD-3. Id. at 10.

The reconfiguration of these two districts comes at the expense of traditional redistricting principles and historic communities of interest. In addition to picking off counties with significant Black populations from CD-1, the 2025 Plan breaks up key metropolitan areas, separating Black communities that had been united in CD-1 since Reconstruction. Id. at 2, 7. The U.S. Census Department identifies areas with strong economic ties and overlapping labor and media markets as Combined Statistical Areas (CSAs). Northeast North Carolina is home to three such CSAs, each of which were kept together in the 2022 Plan and the 2023 Plan—and all of which are split by the 2025 Plan. Id. at 6-7. The Mount-Wilson-Roanoke Rapids CSA, which is heavily Black, accounted for almost 40 percent of CD-1's population under the 2023 Plan. Id. at 7. Under the 2025 Plan, however, Wilson County is carved into CD-3, separating it from Rocky Mount, Roanoke Rapids, and other Black Belt counties for the first time since Reconstruction. Id.

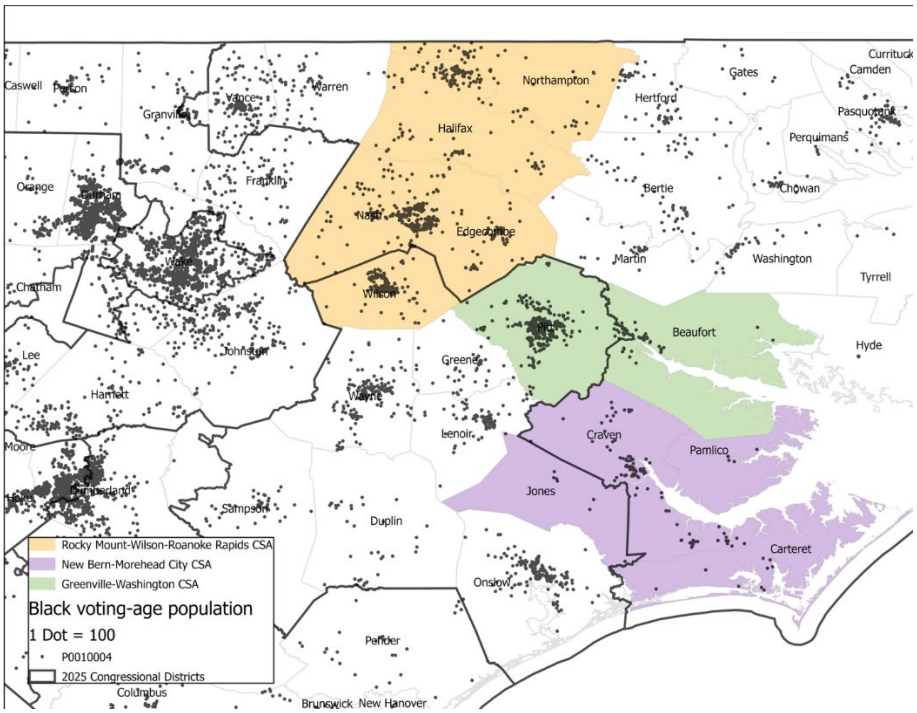
Additionally, in order to move coastal counties with large white populations into CD-1, the 2025 Plan splits the CSAs of Greenville-Washington and New Bern-Morehead City. Id.

Ex. 1 Figure 4: Combined Statistical Areas, Race, and the 2023 Congressional Plan



Ex. 1 Figure 5: Combined Statistical Areas, Race, and the 2025 Congressional Plan

The racial effects of the 2025 redraw cannot be explained by partisanship. Id. at 15. Based on the two-party vote share across statewide elections in 2024, CD-1's Democratic vote share dropped about 4 percentage points between the 2023 Plan and the 2025 Plan. Id. at 10. Its BVAP, by contrast, fell by 8 points—double the drop in the percentage of Democratic voters. Id. In other words, Black voters were disproportionately moved out of CD-1 and into CD-3, even when accounting for partisanship. The same patterns hold across registered Democrats, Republicans, and unaffiliated voters swapped between CD-1 and CD-3. In the 2025 Plan, Black voters of all partisan affiliations were moved out of CD-1 at higher rates than other voters, while White voters of all partisan affiliations were moved into CD-1 at higher rates than other voters. Ex. 1 at 2, 13-14. The significant racial differences among partisan groups does not indicate a purely partisan-driven approach. Id.

The 2025 Plan thus builds on the 2023 Plan's disproportionate advantage for white voters at the expense of Black voters. Under the 2022 Plan, 61.2% of Black voters lived in a district where their preferred candidate won. Ex. 2, Second Suppl. Expert Rep. of Maxwell Palmer, at 5. That number dropped to 40.3% under the 2023 Plan, and now, under the 2025 Plan, only 32.0% of North Carolina's Black voters live in a district where their preferred candidate won. Id. By contrast, under the 2022 Plan, 59.5% of white voters lived in a district where their preferred candidate won, and this percentage grew to 68.5% under the 2023 Plan and 70.7% under the 2025 Plan. Id. Figure 4 below shows these disparate effects.

Black voters like Plaintiffs Shauna Williams, Viola Ryals Figueroa, David Jones, and Jimmy Cochran lived in CD-1 and were able to elect their candidates of choice under the 2023 Plan but are extremely unlikely to do so under the 2025 Plan. Exs. 7-10. The indisputable "fact . . . that [S.B. 249] bears more heavily on one race than another" supports an "infer[ence]" of "discriminatory purpose." Davis, 426 U.S. at 242.

ii. The historical background and racial polarization further supports finding a discriminatory purpose.

"North Carolina's history of race discrimination and recent patterns of official discrimination, combined with the racial polarization of politics in the state" are "particularly relevant" to the second Arlington Heights factor. McCrory, 831 F.3d at 223. At trial, the Court heard extensive evidence of the state's "long history of race discrimination generally and race-based vote suppression in particular," which has continued "to the present day." Holmes v. Moore, 270 N.C. App. 7, 20-21, 23, 840 S.E.2d 244, 257-58 (2020) (quoting McCrory, 831 F.3d at 223, 225); Williams PFOFCOL, ECF No. 166 ¶¶ 312-69. As the Fourth Circuit has recently explained, "a prior legislature's discriminatory intent is appropriately considered as part of the Arlington Heights 'historical background' factor." United States v. Sanchez-Garcia, 98 F.4th 90, 99 (4th Cir. 2024).

Racial polarization is also a "critical" factor because a high degree of polarization "offers a political payoff for legislators who seek to dilute or limit the minority vote," Holmes, 270 N.C. App. at 22, 840 S.E.2d at 258 (internal quotation marks omitted): the higher the degree of polarization, the more that "[u]sing race as a proxy for party" becomes "an effective way to win an election"—and doing so "constitutes discriminatory purpose." McCrory, 831 F.3d. at 222. There is significant racially polarized voting in northeastern North Carolina. In all 63 statewide contested partisan elections from 2016 through 2024, Black voters in CD-1 and CD-3 were highly cohesive in supporting the Black-preferred candidate, with 96.5% of the vote in CD-1 and 97.5 % of the vote in CD-3, on average. Ex.

2 at 2-3. White voters, on the other hand, were extremely cohesive in opposition to the Black-preferred candidate, voting against that candidate with an average of 79.3% of the vote in CD-1 and 84.8% of the vote in CD-3 over the same time period. Id. Figure 2 below visualizes the stark and sustained racial polarization in the region.

Given the extent of racially polarized voting, it makes sense that the General Assembly would target Black voters for partisan gains. See Perez v. Abbott, 253 F. Supp. 3d 864, 946 (W.D. Tex. 2017) ("'[R]acially polarized voting may motivate politicians to entrench themselves through discriminatory elections laws' by targeting groups unlikely to vote for them." (quoting McCrory, 831 F.3d at 222)). Senator Hise, who drew the 2025 Plan, conceded at trial that he was aware that Black voters are strong and consistent Democrats. Williams PFOFCOL ¶ 573. Legislative Defendants' own expert analysis confirmed the same, id. at ¶ 295, and in prior litigation, an expert for the State conceded that "in North Carolina, African-American race is a better predictor for voting Democratic than party registration," McCrory, 831 F.3d at 225 (emphasis added) (citation omitted). In short, North Carolina's extreme racial polarization provided legislators with the racial means to achieve their partisan ends.

iii. The legislative history and sequence of events leading to S.B. 249 provide additional evidence of discriminatory intent.

The third, fourth, and fifth Arlington Heights factors examine the legislative history behind the law, including the "specific sequence of events leading up to the challenged decision," as well as "substantive" and "procedural" "[d]epartures from the normal . . . sequence." 429 U.S. at 267. Each supports a finding of discriminatory intent here.

First, CD-1's reconfiguration represents a significant substantive deviation from the State's congressional plans for the last 150 years. As described, the 2025 Plan cracks historic Black communities out of CD-1, many of which had been together since Reconstruction. Ex. 1 at 7.

Second, the unusual sequence of events leading to enactment of the 2025 Plan are indicative of a discriminatory purpose. This sequence includes the singular, express purpose of dismantling a historic Black opportunity district; the extraordinary speed with which the Plan was rushed through the legislative process; the lack of public input or opportunity for debate; turning a blind eye to racially polarized voting in the state and in CD-1 and CD-3; and the near uniform outcry among North Carolina voters against the map and the process. While these factors are "not dispositive on [their] own, [they] provide[] another compelling piece of the puzzle of the General Assembly's motivation." McCrory, 831 F.3d at 229.

Even before the 2025 redistricting process began, legislators made no secret of their intent to dismantle CD-1. News outlets reported that State Senator Phil Berger was expected to accept President Trump's endorsement in Berger's upcoming primary campaign in exchange for dismantling the historic Black opportunity district. See Ex. 6. As Representative Brenden Jones later confirmed on the House floor, Legislative Defendants went into the process to "only adjust the boundaries of CD 1 and [CD] 3." Ex. 3 at 8.

In just over 48 hours, S.B. 249 was enacted in the quickest and most opaque legislative process of a congressional map in state history. While prior redistricting efforts were monthslong processes involving multiple public hearings (61 hearings in 2010, seven hearings in 2017, 13 hearings in 2021, and even three hearings in 2023), ECF No. 166 ¶ 271, the 2025 process proceeded at lightning speed with less than 90 minutes total allotted for public input. Ex. 3 at 9. Still, every citizen who was able to speak opposed the 2025 Plan, as did almost all of the more than 12,000 comments submitted to the General Assembly's online portal. Exs. 4-5. This "overwhelming opposition to the new map" included many who decried S.B. 249's "dilut[ion] [of] the Black vote." Ex. 4. Notwithstanding the concerns of their own constituents, the General Assembly plowed ahead.

Legislative leadership similarly suppressed legislative debate, cutting off any meaningful inquiry of the mapdrawer or examination of the Plan. See Ex. 3 at 9. As the Fourth Circuit has explained, "rush[ing] [a bill] through the legislative process" "strongly suggests an attempt to avoid in-depth scrutiny," supporting an inference of discriminatory intent under Arlington Heights. McCrory, 831 F.3d at 228-29; see also Veasey, 830 F.3d at 238 (finding that "cutting debate short to enable a three-day passage [of the bill at issue]" "len[t] credence to an inference of discriminatory intent").

iv. Senator Hise's self-serving statements cannot save the 2025 Plan.

Senator Hise's assurance that he did not consider race in drawing the 2025 Plan does not rebut the significant evidence of racially discriminatory intent.

During the 2021 redistricting cycle, Senator Hise testified "several times under oath" that he had not used then-prohibited partisan data in drawing the 2021 maps, but the North Carolina Supreme Court was unconvinced, finding that the General Assembly "intentionally" used partisan data to "diminish[] the voting power of" North Carolina Democrats. ECF No. 166 ¶ 460 (quoting Harper v. Hall, 2022-NCSC-17, ¶ 194, 868 S.E.2d 499, 554, overruled on other grounds, 384 N.C. 292, 886 S.E.2d 393 (2023)). During the 2017 redistricting cycle, Senator Hise similarly claimed that racial data was not available to mapdrawers, yet every draft map on the mapdrawers' computers included racial data, including displays of BVAP of specific districts and racial data of draft districts in Excel spreadsheets. Ex. 3 at 17. Evidence also emerged that Senator Hise and other Legislative Defendants further deceived the court about when work commenced and the criteria governing a remedial plan. Id. 16-17.

More recently, during the October 20 Senate hearing, Senator Hise claimed not to have any knowledge of racially polarized voting in northeast North Carolina. But less than four months ago during the trial in this case, Senator Hise and the other Legislative Defendants heard almost entirely unrebutted evidence of significant racially polarized voting in the Northeast, a fact their own experts agreed with. ECF No. 166 ¶¶ 109-10, 285-305. Senator Hise further claimed that he nor the committee ever "received [any] information regarding specifically legally significant racially polarized voting." Ex. 3 at 15. Not so. During the 2023 process, Senator Hise acknowledged receipt of a racially polarized voting analysis submitted by the Southern Coalition for Social Justice, which warned that there was "[e]xtreme racially polarized voting in North Carolina's Black Belt" and urged the General Assembly to "perform additional analysis." Trial Ex. NAACPPX47 (Oskooii Analysis); ECF No. 166 ¶¶ 279-83.

Senator Hise's statement that he and the committee had not "received any information regarding race on this map" is also directly belied by the numerous comments that citizens and legislators made during even the exceedingly rushed recent proceedings, in which they detailed the disproportionate negative impact that S.B. 249 would have on Black North Carolinians. For example, Representative Marcia Morey told the General Assembly that the 2025 Plan "target[ed] [CD] 1, known as the Eastern Black Belt of North Carolina," by "dividing and diluting historically black" voters. Ex. 3 at 12. Representative Pricey Harrison emphasized that the plan "clearly carves [up] the Black Belt" and that Senator Hise "knows the districts well enough to know that he was splitting up the Black Belt." Id. Senator Hise could not deny this; and, in the end, he confirmed that he was aware that CD-1 contained a higher minority population than the state average. Id. In fact, Senator Hise's expertise in the racial demographics of the northeast runs deep. He has been intimately involved in more than a half dozen redistricting plans, including during the 2010 cycle which involved extensive litigation over racial redistricting in CD-1. Id. at 14-17.

In short, Senator Hise is no stranger to North Carolina map drawing, to the state's racial demographics, or to redistricting litigation. His repeated insistence that he did not consider or know information that was demonstrably within his grasp has been discredited by courts before and should carry no weight here. And his extensive efforts to shroud North Carolina's redistricting process in secrecy, see ECF No. 166 ¶¶ 463-65, only underscore the extent to which his selective statements of purported intent are of no moment. All of these facts further impugn both Senator Hise's credibility and the newly-drawn districts. See Holmes, 270 N.C. App. at 22, 840 S.E.2d at 257 (explaining that it is the political cohesiveness of the minority groups that provides the "political payoff for legislators who seek to dilute or limit the minority vote." (quoting McCrory, 831 F.3d at 222)).

Williams Plaintiffs are likely to succeed on the merits of their Fourteenth Amendment intentional discrimination claim, because all of the Arlington Heights factors weigh in favor of a finding of intentional discrimination.

B. The 2025 Plan is unconstitutionally malapportioned.

Even setting aside the district lines themselves, the 2025 Plan is unconstitutional as a matter of law because its districts are grossly and unjustifiably malapportioned. See Suppl. Compl. Count III. The Supreme Court has required states to "justify population differences between districts that could have been avoided by 'a good-faith effort to achieve absolute equality.'" Tennant v. Jefferson Cnty. Comm'n, 567 U.S. 758, 759 (2012) (per curiam) (quoting Karcher v. Daggett, 462 U.S. 725, 730 (1983)). Under the Court's "two-prong test," challengers bear the initial "burden of proving the existence of population differences that could practicably be avoided." Id. at 760 (internal quotation marks omitted) (citation omitted). Then, "the burden shifts to the State to show with some specificity that the population differences were necessary to achieve some legitimate state objective." Id. (internal quotation marks omitted) (citation omitted).

There is no question that 2025 Plan contains substantial population disparities. North Carolina's population grew by 605,000 between the 2020 census and 2024. Ex. 11. This growth has been uneven. Between July 2022 and 2023, 26 counties had higher population growth rates than North Carolina as a whole. Ex. 12. And while states generally "operate under the legal fiction" that plans remain constitutionally apportioned for ten years after they are adjusted for a given census, Georgia v. Ashcroft, 539 U.S. 461, 488 n.2 (2003), the entire purpose of that legal fiction is to "avoid constant redistricting, with accompanying costs and instability," as population patterns shift. LULAC v. Perry, 548 U.S. 399, 421 (2006) (plurality op.) (emphasis added). The Supreme Court has never applied that legal fiction to uphold an unnecessary, mid-decade change to districts that had already been enacted by the state legislature. Cf. id. at 416. To do so would perversely convert a protection against "constant redistricting" into a license for it. See id. at 422.

North Carolina cannot meet its burden to establish that "the[se] population differences were necessary to achieve some legitimate state objective." Tennant, 567 U.S. at 760 (internal quotation marks omitted) (quoting Karcher, 462 U.S. at 741). The mid-decade redistricting was not "necessary" at all. The disparities in the 2025 Plan "could have been avoided" by simply maintaining North Carolina's existing districts. Id. at 759. Courts "are willing to defer to . . . state legislative policies" that "require small differences in the population of congressional districts" only "so long as they are consistent with constitutional norms." Id. at 760 (emphasis added) (quoting Karcher, 462 U.S. at 740). Because North Carolina can offer no legitimate justification for this unprecedented mid-decade redistricting, the 2025 Plan is unconstitutionally malapportioned.

C. The General Assembly's intentional use of racial and partisan data in creating the 2025 Plan violates the First and Fourteenth Amendments.

Williams Plaintiffs are also likely to succeed on the merits of their additional First and Fourteenth Amendment claims. See Suppl. Compl. Count IV. Because North Carolina engaged in unnecessary mid-decade redistricting, it cannot consider race and partisanship in ways that might have been permitted when the state drew its constitutionally required map after the 2020 decennial census or after imposition of a court-ordered map. See LULAC, 548 U.S. at 416 ("[I]f a legislature acts to replace a court-drawn plan with one of its own design, no presumption of impropriety should attach to the legislative decision to Act.").

The Supreme Court has held that "redistricting differs from other kinds of state decisionmaking," Shaw v. Reno, 509 U.S. 630, 646 (1993), and has therefore granted legislatures some leeway to consider "racial demographics" in discharging the constitutional obligation to redistrict at the beginning of every decade, Miller, 515 U.S. at 916. "Redistricting legislatures will . . . almost always be aware of racial demographics," id., but such "race consciousness does not lead inevitably to impermissible race discrimination," Shaw, 509 U.S. at 646. The asymmetry between the consideration of race in redistricting and "other kinds of state decisionmaking," id., results from the "complex interplay of forces that enter a legislature's redistricting calculus," Miller, 515 U.S. at 915-16, when it is required to redistrict following a decennial census.

Legislatures are also given significant leeway to pursue partisan advantage in decennial redistricting, even where it leads to "excessive partisan gerrymandering." Rucho v. Common Cause, 588 U.S. 684, 719 (2019). In Rucho, the Court reasoned that, because "politics and political considerations are inseparable from districting and apportionment," determining whether a particular set of districts goes "too far" in promoting partisan aims may present difficult—and therefore nonjusticiable—questions when a legislature is tasked with the mandatory duty of redrawing districts. Id. at 701, 714 (alteration omitted) (citation omitted) (quoting Vieth v. Jubelirer, 541 U.S. 267, 296 (2004) (plurality op.)). This is true even though, as a general matter, "the First Amendment is plainly offended" when a legislature attempts to favor one particular viewpoint over another. First Nat. Bank of Bos. v. Bellotti, 435 U.S. 765, 785-86 (1978); see also Williams v. Rhodes, 393 U.S. 23, 30-31 (1968) (holding First Amendment protects "the right of qualified voters, regardless of their political persuasion, to cast their votes effectively"). But because legislatures are required by the Constitution to redistrict after every census, and because some measure of partisan considerations are necessarily intrinsic in that process, the Rucho court found that banning pursuit of partisan interests when the legislature undertakes that duty might make it practically impossible for partisan legislatures to fulfill their constitutional duty of decennial redistricting. 588 U.S. at 700-01 (2019). The same considerations apply when a legislature is required to remedy a legal violation when a court invalidates a legislativelydrawn map, or to allow a legislature to exercise its right to replace a prior court-drawn plan. See LULAC, 548 U.S. at 416.

But none of these legal necessities apply—and all of these justifications fall away—when a legislature voluntarily engages in a mid-decade redraw of a previously-enacted map. In this context, there is no legal necessity that either requires or permits the consideration of race or partisanship to draw a new map—because there is no need to draw a new map at all. And in this entirely voluntary undertaking, bedrock constitutional principles apply, including that government officials are prohibited from "subjecting an individual to retaliatory actions" on account of engaging in protected speech, Hartman v. Moore, 547 U.S. 250, 256 (2006), or expressly favoring "people whose views it finds acceptable," Police Dep't of Chi. v. Mosley, 408 U.S. 92, 96 (1972); see also City of Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Ctr., 473 U.S. 432, 439 (1985) (holding that the Equal Protection Clause requires "that all persons similarly situated . . . be treated alike").

Accordingly, the General Assembly had no justification to consider either race or partisan gain in enacting the 2025 Plan. As explained, the evidence strongly suggests that race was a factor in drawing the 2025 Plan. But because S.B. 249 emerged from an unnecessary mid-decade redistricting, the General Assembly's consideration of race is not entitled to any presumption of propriety. Cf. LULAC, 548 U.S. at 416. Likewise, when a legislature voluntarily chooses to redraw its own prior districts mid-decade, and then engages in purposeful partisan favoritism that results in the dilution of the votes of members of the rival political group, courts need not engage in an exhaustive inquiry of "how much partisan dominance is too much," Rucho, 588 U.S. at 701 (citation omitted), because the very decision to undertake an unnecessary redistricting alleviates any necessity justification for pursuing partisan advantage at all. "[I]n this context," it is entirely "clear what fairness"—and unfairness—"look[] like." Id. at 706.

II. Black voters will suffer irreparable harm absent an injunction.

Without a preliminary injunction, Plaintiffs are "likely to suffer irreparable harm." LWV, 769 F.3d at 247. If the 2026 elections are allowed to proceed under the 2025 Plan, Black North Carolinians will have their voting rights diluted in breach of federal law—a violation of their fundamental rights for which there can be no adequate remedy after the election has occurred. "Courts routinely deem restrictions on fundamental voting rights irreparable injury." Id.; see also, e.g., Obama for Am. v. Husted, 697 F.3d 423, 436 (6th Cir. 2012); Williams v. Salerno, 792 F.2d 323, 326 (2d Cir. 1986). That is because "once the election occurs, there can be no do-over and no redress" for the voters whose rights were violated. LWV, 769 F.3d at 247. If elections are allowed to occur under S.B. 249, Black North Carolinians will have their rights to vote and to have their votes counted equally irreversibly and irreparably abridged. Time is of the essence, as the State Board has indicated it needs a plan by December 1, 2025.

III. The balance of equities and the public interest favor an injunction.

The public interest and balancing of the equities also strongly favor injunctive relief. These two "factors merge when the Government is the opposing party." Nken v. Holder, 556 U.S. 418, 435 (2009). Both factors are served by protecting the right of every North Carolinian to vote on equal footing. There is "tremendous public interest in safeguarding 'the integrity of our electoral processes,' which 'is essential to the functioning of our participatory democracy.'" Griffin v. N.C. State Bd. of Elections, 781 F. Supp. 3d 411, 454 (E.D.N.C. 2025) (Myers, C.J.) (quoting Purcell v. Gonzalez, 549 U.S. 1, 4 (2006)). And "it would not be equitable or in the public's interest to allow the state . . . to violate the requirements of federal law, especially when there are no adequate remedies available." Valle del Sol Inc. v. Whiting, 732 F.3d 1006, 1029 (9th Cir. 2013) (quoting United States v. Arizona, 641 F.3d 339, 366 (9th Cir. 2011)). North Carolina "is in no way harmed by issuance of an injunction that prevents the state from enforcing [an] unconstitutional" statute. Legend Night Club v. Miller, 637 F.3d 291, 302-03 (4th Cir. 2011). Finally, because Williams Plaintiffs seek only to revert to the 2023 Plan, which is already in place and was used to conduct the 2024 elections, the relief sought here is minimally disruptive. See LWV, 769 F.3d at 248. A preliminary injunction of the 2025 Plan would bring the parties and the Court back to where they were two weeks ago: with Plaintiffs' challenges to the Piedmont Triad and Mecklenburg districts pending resolution before this Court to determine whether those districts should remain in place for 2026 congressional elections.

CONCLUSION

The Court should preliminarily enjoin the use of S.B. 249's districts and order North Carolina to continue to use the 2023 Plan pending resolution of Plaintiffs' Piedmont and Mecklenburg claims on the trial record.

SUPPLEMENTAL EXPERT REPORT OF DR. JONATHAN RODDEN

October 31, 2025

I. INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

I have been asked to supplement my earlier reports in this case by examining the newest North Carolina redistricting plan, passed on October 22, 2025 (henceforth the 2025 Plan). My previous reports and trial testimony focused primarily on the Piedmont Triad and Mecklenburg areas, which were left unchanged in the new map. The new map swapped several counties between District 1 and District 3, introducing a new county split (Onslow County), while also splitting the town of Swansboro and one of its voting tabulation districts (VTDs).

First, I have been asked to examine the implications of these changes for the racial and partisan composition of Districts 1 and 3. I do so by using two approaches. First, following the technique of my initial report, I use the North Carolina voter file. An advantage of this approach is that it allows for the examination of the changing racial composition of districts among registered Democrats, Republicans, and unaffiliated voters. A second approach, recommended by Dr. Barber in his reports, is to use census data and recent election results aggregated to the level of VTDs.

Both approaches reveal that the new districts disproportionately moved Black voters out of District 1 and into District 3, while moving White voters out of District 3 and into District 1. This is true among registered Democrats, registered Republicans, and unaffiliated voters alike. The magnitude of the changes in racial composition was around twice the magnitude of the changes in partisan composition.

I also demonstrate that the reconfigurations of Districts 1 and 3 splits the predominantly Black Combined Statistical Area (CSA) of Rocky-Mount—Wilson—Roanoke Rapids. I use historical district boundaries to demonstrate that the predominantly Black city of Wilson has been combined with the Black neighborhoods of Rocky Mount and Halifax County, including the town of Weldon, in each redistricting plan implemented since Reconstruction. The 2025 Plan represents the first time Wilson has been split from its neighboring "Black Belt" communities in over 150 years.

Next, I have been asked to examine whether the racial composition of District 1 in the 2025 plan is consistent with a race-blind approach to redistricting. As in my previous report, I use the ensemble of race-blind North Carolina congressional redistricting plans produced by Dr. Barber in this case, focusing on the counties covered by Districts 1 and 3 in the 2025 plan. I discover that a district in Eastern North Carolina with a Black voting-age population of 32.34 or less is far from typical, occurring in only 12.5 percent of the relevant simulated plans.

II. RACIAL AND PARTISAN COMPOSITION OF DISTRICTS

District 1 in the 2023 Plan followed a long history, dating from the late 1800s, of combining many of the heavily Black counties of Eastern North Carolina into a single district. Historians and social scientists refer to the Black Belt as an elongated geographic region running from east-central Mississippi to the Virginia Tidewater. The name likely had its origin in a description of the color of the soil in the region,[1] but it eventually came to be associated with the region's racial composition,[2] and is now used by geographers and social scientists to classify a swath of southern counties with large or majority Black populations, relatively low levels of urbanization, limited economic opportunities, relatively high rates of poverty and unemployment, comparatively low levels of educational attainment and public health, and relatively low population growth.[3] The Black Belt of Eastern North Carolina, along with Wilson and East Rocky Mount, played central roles in the history of the civil rights movement in North Carolina.

In the Appendix to this report, I provide maps of every congressional redistricting plan in Eastern North Carolina since Reconstruction. These maps demonstrate that since the 1870s, district boundaries have always been drawn in Eastern North Carolina in a way that combines Wilson and East Rocky Mount with rural Black Belt communities in Halifax County, including the railroad town of Weldon, and other surrounding rural Black communities.

Breaking from this tradition, the new configuration of Districts 1 and 3 moves several heavily Black counties out of District 1 and into 3, replacing them with heavily White coastal counties, splitting an additional county, municipality, and precinct in doing so. These swaps led to significant Black population being moved from District 1 to 3, and White population being moved from District 3 to 1. Figure 1 displays the geographic distribution of Black voting-age population in Eastern North Carolina, along with images of the boundaries of the districts used in the 2022 Plan and 2023 Plan as well as the new boundaries in the 2025 Plan.

A key feature of the 2025 map is that it moves the counties of Greene, Lenoir, Wayne, and Wilson from District 1 to District 3. These counties include large clusters of Black voting-age population in the communities of Kinston, Goldsboro, and Wilson, along with several smaller clusters of Black voters, including Snow Hill in Greene County, the home of Rep. Don Davis, who currently represents District 1 in the United States House of Representatives. Another feature of the redrawn map is the movement of 6 predominantly White coastal counties from District 3 to District 1. Data about the racial demographics of the swapped counties is provided in Table 1.[4]

Wilson	61,055	5,632	29,960	22,917	2,546	37.54%	49.07%

Since the reconfiguration of Districts 1 and 3 largely involved swapping entire counties, Figures 2 and 3 provide data from the most recent American Community Survey on the share of the county-level population that is Black, first superimposing the boundaries of the 2023 Plan (Figure 2) and then the boundaries of the 2025 Plan (Figure 3). Figure 2 demonstrates that the 2023 Plan kept most of the heavily Black counties in the Northeast and Black Belt counties of Eastern North Carolina together. Figure 3 demonstrates that the 2025 Plan carves off several of these counties and sends them to District 3.

[4] The source for the county-level displayed in Table 1 is the North Carolina Office of State Management and Budget: https://www.osbm.nc.gov/facts-figures/population-demographics/nc-census-data.

In addition to breaking up heavily Black and Black-Belt counties, this reconfiguration also broke up metropolitan areas. There are three Combined Statistical Areas (CSAs) in the counties covered by Districts 1 and 3. A Combined Statistical Area is a designation of the United States Office of Management and Budget and the United States Census Department identifying areas with strong economic ties and employment exchange as measured by commuting patterns, so that CSAs represent regions with overlapping labor and media markets. In Eastern North Carolina, the three CSAs include (1) Rocky Mount-Wilson-Roanoke Rapids; (2) Greenville-Washington; and (3) New Bern-Morehead City.

The 2023 Congressional Plan was drawn to keep each of these CSAs together, as demonstrated in Figure 4. The entirety of the Rocky Mount-Wilson-Roanoke Rapids CSA was included in District 1, while the Greenville-Washington CSA and the New Bern-Morehead City CSA were included in District 3.

In contrast, the 2025 Plan splits each of these CSAs, as demonstrated in Figure 5. The Rocky Mount-Wilson-Roanoke Rapids CSA is the largest of the three, with a population of 286,469. Black residents outnumber Whites in this CSA, which accounted for almost 40 percent of the population of District 1 in the 2023 Plan.[5] Wilson is now placed in District 3, while Rocky Mount and Roanoke Rapids remain in District 1.

In every districting plan enacted since the Reconstruction era, there has been a Congressional district linking Wilson, Rocky Mount, and Roanoke Rapids and combining them with more rural surrounding Black Belt counties. The 2025 Plan marks the first time since 1873 that Wilson has been cut off by a Congressional district boundary from Black neighborhoods in Rocky Mount, Weldon, and other connecting Black Belt counties.

The Appendix includes images of maps of the Wilson-Rocky Mount-Roanoke Rapids corridor in every redistricting plan since the 1870s. Note that Rocky Mount is split by a county boundary, which follows the tracks of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad that first linked these cities in 1840, and came to mark the line of racial segregation between White neighborhoods to the West and Black neighborhoods to the East. In some of the districting plans, the county boundary between Nash and Edgecombe counties was used as the district boundary, meaning that Rocky Mount was split. However, for over 150 years, each configuration has linked Wilson with the majority-black eastern (Edgecombe County) section of Rocky Mount, Roanoke Rapids, and the adjoining majority-Black city of Weldon.

The reconfiguration of Districts 1 and 3 also involved the movement of coastal counties with relatively large White populations from District 3 into District 1 (see Table 1 above.) In order to do this, it was necessary to split the CSAs of Greenville-Washington and New Bern-Morehead City (Figure 5).

As described in my previous report, the 2023 Congressional Plan went to extraordinary lengths to break up Black communities in the Greensboro-Winston-Salem-High Point CSA across four different districts (5, 6, 9, and 10). The 2023 Congressional Plan also split Black neighborhoods of the city of Fayetteville between two districts (7 and 9). As described in my previous report, these "cracking" maneuvers led districts to have lower Black voting-age population than what would have emerged from a race-blind redistricting process. With the 2025 map, the cracking technique has now been applied in Eastern North Carolina as well, in this case by swapping entire counties rather than splitting cities.

These county swaps led to significant changes in the racial composition of the two districts, which are documented in Table 2. According to the 2020 Census, the Black voting-age population share of District 1 was 40.42 percent in the 2023 Plan. In the new version of the district, it is 32.34 percent—a decline of 8.08 percentage points. The White voting-age population, by contrast, increased in District 1 by 9.03 percentage points.

	2023	2025	Difference
District 1:
Black voting-age population share	40.42%	32.34%	-8.08%
White voting-age population share	50.70%	59.73%	9.03%
Dem. share of 2-party vote, 2024	49.93%	45.73%	-4.20%
Dem. Share of vote, 2012-2018	50.89%	46.87%	-4.02%
District 3:
Black voting-age population share	21.35%	29.40%	8.05%
White voting-age population share	65.28%	56.17%	-9.11%
Dem. share of 2-party vote, 2024	40.65%	44.81%	4.16%
Dem. Share of vote, 2012-2018	40.70%	45.60%	4.90%

These county swaps also led to changes in the partisan composition of the districts. Table 2 takes two different approaches to partisanship. First, I add up all Democratic and Republican votes cast in all 15 partisan statewide races in North Carolina in the 2024 general election and calculate the overall Democratic share of the two-party vote in 2024.[6] My calculations indicate that the overall 2024 Democratic share of the two-party vote was 49.93 percent under the 2023 Plan's version of District 1, falling to 45.73 percent in the 2025 Plan—a difference of 4.2 percentage points.

Table 2 also includes the average Democratic and Republican vote shares in elections from 2012 to 2018.[7] Here as well, the decline in Democratic vote share in District 1 associated with a switch from the 2023 to 2025 version of the district is around 4 percentage points.

Table 2 indicates that the magnitude of the change in the racial characteristics of the districts was about twice the size of the change in the partisanship of the districts. Specifically, the Black voting age population of District 1 declined by 8.08 percentage points—while the Democratic vote share (based on 2024 election returns) went from 49.93 percent to 45.73 percent—a decline of 4.2 percentage points.

[6] Precinct-level results of the 2024 election were obtained from the North Carolina State Board of Elections and matched with geographic boundary files and made available on Redistricting Data Hub (redistrictingdatahub.org). I then used GIS software to assign the precincts to the 2023 and 2025 districts and then summed up Democratic and Republican votes at the level of 2023 and 2025 districts.

[7] These elections were considered in my previous reports as well as the reports of defense experts.

Next, as in my earlier reports in this case, I move beyond the overall district characteristics presented in Table 2 and distinguish between 1) the core of the district (the areas of the old district that are retained in the new district), 2) the areas moved out of the district, and 3) the areas moved into the district.

There are two ways to approach this analysis. First, as with the approach in Table 2 above, I can rely on census data on voting-age population by race, as well as precinct-level election results aggregated to the level of the relevant fragments of the districts. Second, I can utilize the voter file, which includes information on party registration as well as self-reported race of registrants. There are two advantages to using the voter file. First, it allows us to supplement information on voting-age population with information on the self-reported race of those who are registered to vote. Second, it allows us to disentangle race and party by examining whether racial differences between the old and new districts are present among partisan subgroups.

I begin with the approach using census data and election outcomes, the calculations for which are set forth in Table 3. The BVAP (black voting-age population share) of areas moved into District 1 was 15.53 percent, and the BVAP of areas moved out of District 1 was 34.68 percent: a difference of 19.16 percentage points. The WVAP (white voting-age population share) of areas moved into District 1 was 77.53 percent, while the WVAP of the areas moved out of District 1 was 55.7 percent: a difference of 21.83 percentage points.

Again, the differences for partisanship are roughly half the size of the racial differences. The Democratic share of the two-party vote in the 15 statewide races in 2024 was 36.84 percent in the areas moved into CD1, and 46.84 percent in the areas moved out, for a difference of 10.02 percentage points.

Next, Table 4 presents calculations based on the North Carolina voter file. When we focus only on registered voters, the differences between the racial characteristics of those moved into and out of District 1 are somewhat larger: 23.39 percentage points for Black registered voters and 25.43 percentage points for White registered voters. The share of registered voters who identified themselves as Democrats on the voter file was larger by 16.78 percentage points in areas moved out of District 1 than in areas moved into District 1. The share of registered voters who identified themselves as Republicans was larger by 9.59 percentage points in the areas moved into District 1 than in areas moved out of District 1. The share of unaffiliated voters was larger by 7 percentage points in the areas moved into District 1 than in areas moved out of District 1.

In sum, with the voter file approach as well, racial effects of the boundary changes are much larger than partisan effects.

Next, Table 5 displays the same calculations for racial groups, but it examines registered Democrats, Republicans, and unaffiliated voters separately. Among registered Democrats, 69.61 percent of those moved out of District 1 were Black, while only 38.49 of the Democrats moved into District 1 were Black—a difference of 31.12 percentage points. This asymmetry was roughly similar in magnitude for White Democrats, who were moved out of District 1 and into District 3 at higher rates. Among unaffiliated voters, 20.28 percent of those moved out of the district were Black, while only 6.66 percent of those moved into District 1 were Black: a difference of 13.61 percentage points. Among unaffiliated voters, almost 80 percent of those moved into District 1 were White, while around 60 percent of those moved out of the district were White: a difference of around 20 percentage points.

Table 5 indicates that there are very few Black registered Republicans in Eastern North Carolina. Even still, the movement of voters by race was still evident within this partisan group. Among registered Republicans, 3.01 percent of those moved out of District 1 are Black, nearly three times greater than the percentage of those moved out of the district: a difference of 1.94 percentage points. Among Republicans, 91.37 percent of those moved into District 1 are White, while 88.60 percent of those moved into District 1 are White: a difference of 2.77 percentage points.

In sum, the racial differences between those swapped between District 1 and District 3 are observable among registered Democrats, registered Republicans, and unaffiliated voters. If race and party were perfectly correlated, and the county swaps were purely a matter of partisanship, there would be no discernable racial differences within partisan groups. But that is not what happened here: In the 2025 Plan, Black voters of all partisan affiliations were moved out of District 1 at higher rates, and White voters of all partisan affiliations were moved into District 1 at higher rates.

III. ARE THE DISTRICTS CONSISTENT WITH RACE-BLIND REDISTRICTING?

As described above, the Black voting-age population of District 1 has been reduced from 40.42 percent to 32.34 percent. I have been asked to revisit Dr. Barber's redistricting simulations to assess whether, in an approach to North Carolina redistricting that did not consider race, one would expect to see that the largest BVAP of a congressional district in Eastern North Carolina would be only 32.34 percent.

I take Dr. Barber's ensemble of 5,000 alternative computer-generated Congressional maps and identify those for which the counties covered by District 1 and District 3 are divided into 3 districts. They are never divided into only two districts, because the algorithm never combines exactly the same counties as the 2025 Plan. I ignore simulations that divide these counties into 4 or more districts because such plans involve completely different configurations that combine the Coastal Plains via East-West districts reaching into the Piedmont region. That leaves 942 plans in which the counties of District 1 and District 3 are divided into 3 districts. I examine the BVAP of the two districts with the highest BVAP in these simulations. These are plotted in gray in Figure 2. The BVAP for Districts 1 and 3 in the 2025 plan are plotted in red.

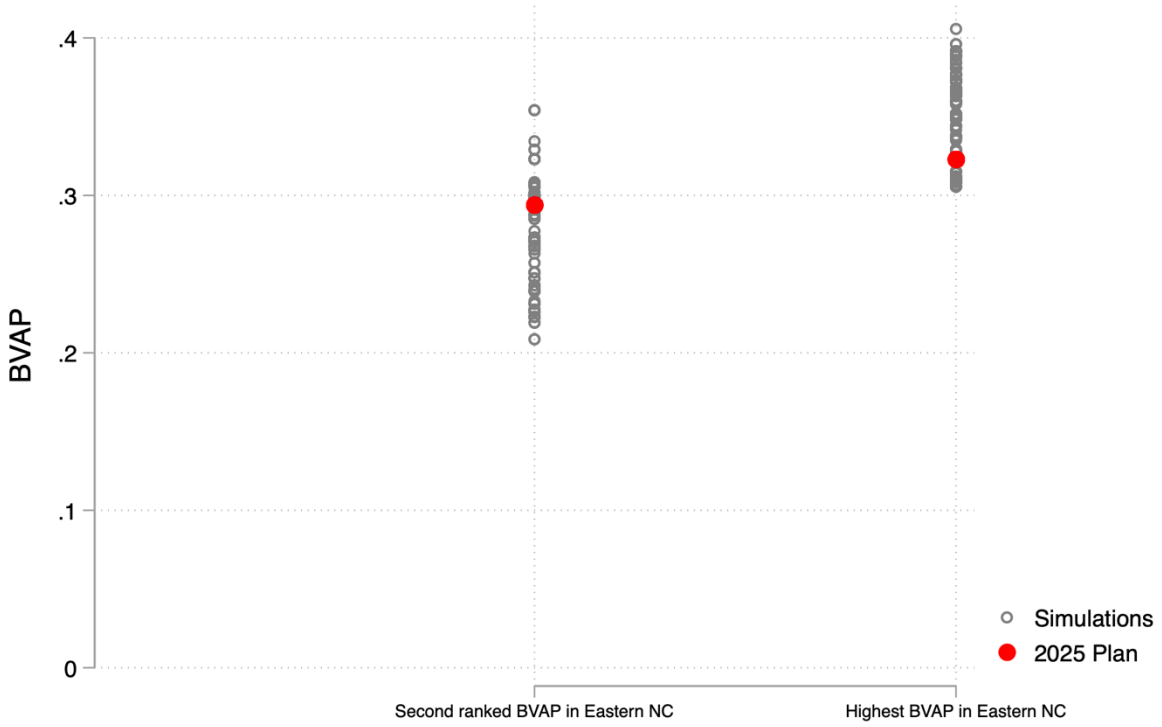

Figure 6 demonstrates that the simulations typically produce one district with a BVAP higher than the 32.34 percent of CD1 in the 2025 Plan. The median and mean BVAP of the top-ranked Coastal Plains district is around 37 percent, and the vast majority of the simulations produce a district with a BVAP higher than 32.34 percent. Only around 12.5 percent of the simulated plans produce a district with a BVAP of 32.34 percent or less. Figure 2 also indicates that the BVAP of District 3 is on the high end of the simulations. Taken together, this means that Black voters are more dispersed across districts in the 2025 Plan than in the simulated plans, where Black voters tend to be more clustered in a single "Black Belt" district. In this respect, the revised map in the Coastal Plains region is now much more similar to the districts of the Piedmont Triad, where Black voters are fractured across districts more than in the ensemble of plans that were drawn without regard for race. There as well, relative to the 2023 Plan, the simulations typically produced greater concentration of Black voters in districts where they would have a greater impact on the election outcome.

In sum, I conclude that the reconfiguration of District 1 and 3 follows the same familiar pattern that was described in my earlier reports. District lines were drawn to separate geographically proximate and historically connected Black communities, distributing Black voters across districts in ways that would not occur if districts had been drawn according to neutral criteria. As in the Piedmont Triad, these racial effects can be discerned even after accounting for the partisanship of voters.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Appendix

I have obtained geographic boundary files for each U.S. Congress from 1873 to the present. From 1873 to 2012, I use United States Congressional District shapefiles that were assembled by a team of researchers at UCLA.[8] For districts used from the November 2012 election to the November 2018 election, I use boundary files assembled by the National Historical GIS (nhgis.org). Boundaries for the plans used in November 2020 and 2022, as well as the 2023 Plan and the 2025 Plan were obtained from the North Carolina General Assembly. In the maps below, using shades of gray, I depict BVAP (Black voting-age population as a share of total voting-age population) at the level of 2022 vote tabulation districts (VTDs). In red, in each map, I superimpose the boundaries of each unique set of congressional district boundaries in Eastern North Carolina. Note that the maps are titled according to the Congress for which they were used. Elections take place in November of even years, but the Congressional term begins early in the following year.

The maps focus on the Wilson-Rocky Mount-Roanoke Rapids/Weldon corridor. As described in the my report, these cities are part of the same Combined Statistical Area. They were first linked in the mid 19th century by the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad. Prior to a series of Supreme Court decisions in the 1960s that focused on population equality, Eastern North Carolina Congressional districts were composed of entire counties. From Reconstruction until 1962, a district combined Wilson, Edgecombe, Halifax, Northampton, and Warren Counties, sometimes also including Vance to the west and Bertie to the east. This arrangement kept the largest Black Belt counties mostly together. The city of Rocky Mount itself was sometimes split due to the use of the county boundary between Edgecombe and Nash counties—a railroad track running through the middle of Rocky Mount—as the district boundary. The east side of the railroad track—the Edgecombe County side—was the predominately Black section of Rocky Mount, and it was always kept in the same district as Wilson to the South and other Black Belt counties to the North.

The same connection between Wilson, Rocky Mount, and Roanoke-Rapids/Weldon was retained in the 1960s through the 1980s, although Bertie County was dropped, and the district extended further to the West. From 1983 to 1992, these communities were kept together, but Northampton was dropped. From 1993 to 1998, respect for county boundaries was cast side, and a district was drawn that again combined Wilson, Rocky Mount, Weldon, and many rural Black Belt areas, but this time via a meandering, non-compact district that was eventually struck down as a racial gerrymander in 1999.

For the next 25 years until the current day, while some arrangements were more compact than others, the same basic architecture has characterized District 1: it combines Wilson, Rocky Mount, Roanoke Rapids/Weldon, and keeps almost all the connecting rural Black Belt counties together.

The final map below demonstrates the extent to which the 2025 Plan departs from the historical pattern. Wilson is separated from the Black Belt counties to its north for the first time. Rocky Mount and the core of the rural Black Belt are combined with White coastal communities like Carteret and Pamlico Counties for the first time.

SECOND SUPPLEMENTAL EXPERT REPORT OF MAXWELL PALMER, PH.D.

I, Dr. Maxwell Palmer, declare as follows:

1. My name is Maxwell Palmer. I am currently an Associate Professor of Political Science at Boston University. I joined the faculty at Boston University in 2014, after completing my Ph.D. in Political Science at Harvard University. I was promoted to Associate Professor, with tenure, in 2021. I am also a Civic Tech Fellow in the Faculty of Computing & Data Sciences and a Faculty Fellow at the Initiative on Cities. I teach and conduct research on American politics and political methodology.

2. I submitted my original report in this matter on August 1, 2024, a reply report on October 17, 2024, a supplemental report on March 17, 2025, and a supplemental rebuttal report on March 31, 2025. I testified in the trial in this matter on June 16, 2025.

3. In my original report I found strong evidence of racially polarized voting statewide and in the individual regions that I analyzed. I found that Black and White voters consistently supported different candidates and that Black voters are less able to elect their preferred candidates under the 2023 plan relative to the 2022 plan, while White voters are more able to elect their preferred candidates under the 2023 plan relative to the 2022 plan. Switching from the 2022 plan to the 2023 plan disproportionately harmed Black voters and disproportionately benefited White voters.

4. I have been asked by the Williams Plaintiffs in this litigation to supplement my prior reports following the adoption of a new redistricting map, Senate Bill 249, by the North Carolina General Assembly on October 22, 2025. SB 249 redraws the boundaries of the 1st and 3rd Congressional Districts and leaves the other districts unchanged from the 2023 map. I was asked to analyze racially polarized voting in the 1st and 3rd Congressional Districts and the ability of Black-preferred candidates to win elections in these districts. I was also asked to analyze how the 2025 congressional redistricting affected the ability of Black voters to elect their preferred candidates relative to the 2022 and 2023 plans. To do so, I rely on the same data sources from the North Carolina Board of Elections and the same methodology detailed in my prior reports.

Racially Polarized Voting Analysis

6. There were 63 statewide offices contested by two major-party candidates from 2016 to 2024. I analyzed racially polarized voting for the combined area of the 1st and 3rd

Congressional Districts under SB 249 for each office using ecological inference (EI).[1] The results of this analysis are estimates of the percentage of each group that voted for the candidate from each party in each election. The results include both a mean estimate (the most likely vote share), and a 95% confidence interval.[2]

7. Interpreting the results of the ecological inference models proceeds in two general stages. First, I examined the support for each candidate by each demographic group to determine if members of the group vote cohesively in support of a single candidate in each election. When a significant majority of the group supports a single candidate, I can then identify that candidate as the group's preferred candidate. If the group's support is roughly evenly divided between the two candidates, then the group does not cohesively support a single candidate and does not have a clear preference. Second, after identifying the preferred candidate for each group (or the lack of such a candidate), I then compared the preferences of voters of each group to the voters of the other groups. Evidence of racially polarized voting is found when voters of different groups support different candidates, and evidence of cohesion is found when voters of different groups support that same candidate.

8. Figure 1 presents the estimates of support for the Black-preferred candidate for Black and White voters for all 63 statewide electoral contests in the combined 1st and 3rd Congressional District area. The estimated levels of support for the Black-preferred candidate in each election for each group are represented by the the green and orange points, and the horizontal lines indicate the range of the 95% confidence intervals.[3]

10. Figure 1 also shows that White voters are highly cohesive in voting in opposition to the Black-preferred candidates in every election. On average, White voters supported Black-preferred candidates with 18.1% of the vote, and in no election did this estimate exceed 28%. Figure 1 thus demonstrates that voting is racially polarized in the combined 1st and 3rd Congressional District area.

11. There is also evidence of racially polarized voting in the 1st and 3rd Congressional Districts individually. I estimated ecological inference models for each election in each district separately. Figure 2 plots the results, and Tables 2–3 present the full results. Black voters are extremely cohesive, with a clear preferred candidate in all 63 elections in each district. On average, Black voters supported their preferred candidates with

[1] The combined area of the 1st and 3rd Congressional Districts is the same under the 2023 map and SB 249.

[2] The 95% confidence interval is a measure of uncertainty in the estimates from the model. For example, the model might estimate that 94% of the members of a group voted for a particular candidate, with a 95% confidence interval of 91-96%. This means that based on the data and the model assumptions, 95% of the simulated estimates for this group fall in the range of 91-96%, with 94% being the average value. Larger confidence intervals reflect a higher degree of uncertainty in the estimates, while smaller confidence intervals reflect less uncertainty.

96.5% of the vote in District 1 and 97.5% in District 3.

12. Figure 2 also shows that White voters are highly cohesive in voting in opposition to the Black-preferred candidate in both the 1st and 3rd Congressional Districts. On average, White voters supported Black-preferred candidates with 20.7% of the vote in District 1 and 15.2% in District 3.

Performance of Black-Preferred Candidates in the 1st and 3rd Congressional Districts

13. Having identified the Black-preferred candidate in each election, I now turn to their performance in the 1st and 3rd Congressional Districts under the 2023 and 2025 plans. To do so, I aggregated precinct-level election results for each of the 63 statewide elections using the boundaries of the congressional districts under the 2023 and 2025 plans, calculated the vote share of each candidate, and identified which candidate won a majority of the two-party vote in each district. Figure 3 and Tables 4 and 5 present the results of this analysis.

14. Figure 3 shows the performance of Black-preferred candidates under each plan. Each small green or orange point represents one election result in each district, and the larger points are the district-level averages. Points above the horizontal black line indicate that the Black-preferred candidate won that election in the district, and points below indicate that the Black-preferred candidate lost. The left panel of the figure presents the results for the 2023 plan and the right panel of the figure the results for the 2025

15. Under the 2023 Plan, the Black-preferred candidate won a majority of the vote in CD 1 in 46 of the 63 contests (73%), with an average of 51.4% of the vote. The 2025 Plan reduces the vote share of the Black-preferred candidate in CD 1 to 47.1%, resulting in Black-preferred candidates winning only 7 of the 63 contests (11%). In CD 3, the average vote share of the Black-preferred candidate was 41.0% under the 2023 plan, and Black-preferred candidates did not win any of the 63 contests. Under the 2025 plan, the vote share for Black-preferred candidates increases to 45.6%, but Black-preferred candidates would win only 3 of the 63 contests (4.8%).

Effects of the 2025 Plan on Voters by Demographic Group

16. To analyze how the 2025 congressional redistricting affected the ability of Black voters to elect their preferred candidates compared to White voters, I combined precinct-level ecological inference estimates with statewide election data to estimate the percentage of voters by race who lived in a district where their preferred candidate won under each plan. By comparing these estimates, we can see that the 2025 redistricting disproportionately advantaged White voters over Black voters. My original report (¶¶24–26) explains the methodology used for this analysis.

17. Figure 4 presents the results of this analysis, averaging across all 63 elections.[4] Under the 2022 plan 61.2% of Black voters lived in a district where their preferred candidate won a majority of the vote. This decreased to 40.3% under the 2023 plan, and to 32.0% under the 2025 plan. The percentage of Black voters living in a district where their preferred candidate won a majority of the vote decreased by 20.9 percentage points from the 2022 to 2023 plan, and by 8.3 percentage points from the 2023 plan to the 2025 plan, for a total decrease from 2022 to 2025 of 29.2 percentage points. Overall, the percentage of Black voters living in a district where their preferred candidate won decreased by 48 percent.

18. In contrast, Figure 4 shows that the percentage of White voters living in a district where their preferred candidate won a majority of the vote increased in each successive plan. Under the 2022 plan 59.5% of White voters lived in a district where their preferred candidate won a majority of the vote. This increased to 68.5% under the 2023 plan, and to 70.7% under the 2025 plan. The percentage of White voters living in a district where their preferred candidate won a majority of the vote increased by 8.9 percentage points from the 2022 to 2023 plan, and by 2.2 percentage points from the 2023 plan to the 2025 plan, for a total increase from 2022 to 2025 of 11.2 percentage points. Overall, the percentage of White voters living in a district where their preferred candidate won increased by 19 percent.

19. These results do not reflect improvements in the number of voters overall who are able to elect their preferred candidates. I also calculated the percentages of all voters, across all racial groups, who live in districts won by their preferred candidates. Under the 2023 plan, 59.9% of all voters lived in a district where their preferred candidate won a majority of the vote, and under the 2025 plan 59.6% of all voters did so. In other words, while the 2025 plan change the distribution of which voters are able to elect their preferred candidates, the overall number of voters who are able to do so does not substantially change.

I reserve the right to supplement my report in this case in light of additional facts, testimony, and/or materials that may come to light.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

EXPERT REPORT OF DR. ALLAN J. LICHTMAN

I. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

I have been asked to evaluate whether SB 249, North Carolina's 2025 redistricting plan for congressional seats was enacted with the intent to discriminate against African American voters in North Carolina. In restructuring congressional districts in the middle of the decade, SB 249 focused on Congressional District 1, a Black opportunity district that has elected Black candidates to Congress since 1992 and is currently represented by Black Congressman Don Davis, and Congressional District 3, a White dominated district represented by a White Republican. The 2025 Plan swapped voters between CD1 and CD3 and sapped Black voter strength in CD1, creating two White dominated districts.

My expected fee for this matter is $600 per hour. I have enclosed an updated CV and a table of recent cases in which I have provided written or oral testimony. My compensation is not dependent on any opinions reached in this litigation.

II. QUALIFICATIONS

This study draws on my experience in voting rights litigation and expertise in political history, political analysis, and historical and statistical methodology. I am Distinguished Professor of History at American University in Washington, D.C., where I have been employed for 52 years. Formerly, I served as Chair of the History Department and Associate Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at American University. I received my BA in History from Brandeis University in 1967 and my Ph.D. in History from Harvard University in 1973, with a specialty in the mathematical analysis of historical data.

I am the author of numerous scholarly works on quantitative methodology in social science. This scholarship includes articles in such academic journals as Political Methodology, Journal of Interdisciplinary History, International Journal of Forecasting, Social Science History, and Harvard Data Science Review. In addition, I have coauthored Ecological Inference with Dr. Laura Langbein, a standard text on the analysis of social science data, including political information. I have published articles on the application of social science analysis to civil rights issues. This work includes articles in such journals as Journal of Law and Politics, La Raza Law Journal, Evaluation Review, Journal of Legal Studies, and National Law Journal. My scholarship also includes the use of quantitative and qualitative methods to conduct contemporary and historical studies, published in such academic journals as Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, American Historical Review, International Journal of Forecasting, International Journal of Information Systems & Social Change, and Journal of Social History.

Quantitative and historical analyses also ground my books, including, Prejudice and the Old Politics: The Presidential Election of 1928, The Thirteen Keys to the Presidency (co-authored with Ken DeCell), The Keys to the White House, White Protestant Nation: The Rise of the American Conservative Movement, and FDR and the Jews (co-authored with Richard Breitman). My most recent books are The Case for Impeachment, Repeal the Second Amendment: The Case for a Safer America, Conservative at the Core: A New History of American Conservatism, and The Embattled Vote in America: From the Founding to the Present. This latter book, published in September 2018 by Harvard University Press, examines the history and current status of voting rights in America.

My book, White Protestant Nation, was one of five finalists for the National Book Critics Circle Award for the best general nonfiction book published in America. My book, FDR and the Jews, was published under the Belknap Imprint of the Harvard University Press, reserved for works of special significance and lasting impact. This book was an editor's choice book of the New York Times in 2013, the winner of the most prestigious prize in American Jewish Studies, the National Jewish Book Award, and a finalist for Los Angeles Times Book Prize in history. My book, The Case for Impeachment was an independent bookstore bestseller. In 2018, I was the winner of the Alfred Nelson Marquis Lifetime Achievement Award for top 5% of persons included in Marquis WHO'S WHO and was ranked # 85 among the world's most influential geopolitical experts by Richtopia.RiseGlobal. I am an elected member of the literary and free speech society, PEN AMERICA.

I have worked as a consultant or expert witness for both plaintiffs and defendants in some 110 and civil rights cases. My work includes more than a dozen cases for the United States Department of Justice and cases for many civil rights organizations. I have also worked as a consultant or expert witness numerous times for state and local jurisdictions. In the U. S. Supreme Court case, League of United Latin Am. Citizens (LULAC) v. Perry, 548 U.S. 399 (2006), the majority opinion written by Justice Kennedy authoritatively cited my statistical work. My work includes testimony in several cases for plaintiffs and defendants on the issues of intentional discrimination in the adoption of state redistricting plans and photo identification laws.

I have considerable expertise in voting rights matters in the state of North Carolina. Among other cases, I testified for the prevailing parties in the challenge to North Carolina's 2013 Voter Information Verification Act (VIVA), which included a photo voter ID provision. (North Carolina State Conference of NAACP v. McCrory, 1:13CV658 (M.D.N.C.)) and in the challenge to North Carolina's post-2010 state legislative redistricting plan Sarah Little Covington v. North Carolina, 316 F. R. D. 117, 176 (M.D.N.C. 2016), where I testified on the racial packing of districts. In the NAACP litigation my testimony, as in this matter, focused on intentional discrimination. I have also testified on the issue of intentional discrimination for both plaintiffs and defendants in several other cases. These include since 2011, Committee for a Fair and Balanced Map, et al. v. Illinois State Board of Elections, 835 F Supp 2d 563 (N.D. Ill. 2011), State of Texas v. United States and Eric H. Holder, 887 F. Supp. 2d 133 (D.D.C. 2012), Perez v. Texas, 891 F.Supp.2d 808 (2012), Veasey v. Perry, 71 F.Supp.3d 627 (2014), One Wisconsin Institute v. Thomsen, 198 F.Supp.3d 896 (2016), Lee v. Virginia Board of Elections, 188 F. Supp. 3d 577 (E.D. Va. 2016), Feldman v. Arizona Secretary of State's Office, 2:16-cv-01065 (2016), Anne Harding v. County of Dallas, Texas, No. 3:2015cv00131 (N.D. Tex. 2018), Pico Neighborhood Association v. Santa Monica, Case NO.: BC6l6804, (Superior Court, Los Angeles, 2018), City of South Miami v. Ron DeSantis, 1:19-cv-22927 (S.D. Florida, 2019), McConchie v. Scholz, Case No. 21-cv-3091 (N.D. Illinois (2021).

III. EVIDENCE, METHODOLOGY, AND SUMMARY OF OPINIONS

My analysis draws upon sources standard in historical and social scientific analysis. These include scholarly books, articles, and reports; newspaper and other journalistic articles; demographic and socio-economic information; election returns; court opinions, briefs, and reports; emails and letters; government and organizational documents; legislative transcripts; and scientific surveys and studies. I draw on court opinions only for their substantive findings, not for any legal analysis.

The report closely follows the methodological guidelines of the United States Supreme Court in Village of Arlington Heights v. Metropolitan Housing Dev. Corp., 429 U.S. 252 (1977). In Arlington Heights, the Court focused on five non-exhaustive actors that are relevant to ascertaining intentional discrimination. These include the (1) historical background for the current decisions; (2) the discriminatory impact of challenged law; (3) the sequence of events leading to the current decision; (4) procedural and substantive deviations from the normal decision-making process, and (5) the legislative record, especially when "there are contemporary statements by members of the decisionmaking body, minutes of its meetings, or reports," (at 268). These factors are consistent with how historians and other social scientists analyze legal enactments and other government initiatives. As in my scholarship, in analyzing these factors I rely on both quantitative and documentary forms of analysis. I have footnoted my work so it could be replicated by other scholars.

This report focuses on the Arlington Heights factors 3, 4, and 5: the sequence of events leading to the current decision; procedural and substantive deviations from the normal decision-making process, and the legislative record, especially contemporaneous statements by decision-makers.

IV. SEQUENCE OF EVENTS LEADING TO THE MID-DECADE ENACTMENT OF CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING PLAN SB 249 IN OCTOBER 2025

The enactment of SB 249 in October 2025 represents a continuation of North Carolina's long history of racially discriminatory congressional redistricting. Following the 2010 redistricting cycle, Congressional Districts 1 and 12 were challenged in litigation. Both a lower court and the U.S. Supreme Court determined that the Republican-controlled state legislature had engaged in discrimination against Black voters by excessively concentrating African Americans in CD1. Again in 2018, the Supreme Court ruled that Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act did not require drawing CD1 into a majority-Black district, as it was already serving effectively as a crossover district. Subsequently, the state redrew the boundaries of CD1.[1]

Senator Ralph Hise Jr.—the architect of SB 249—served on the Senate Redistricting Committee, including as chair, during these decisions and the subsequent revisions of congressional and state legislative districts, and he could not have overlooked the implications for the congressional plan he crafted in 2025, which specifically targeted CD1.

North Carolina's track record of racially discriminatory voting restrictions extends beyond redistricting. In 2016, the Fourth Circuit court of appeals concluded that the North Carolina General Assembly enacted a 2013 photo voter identification law with racially discriminatory intent. According to the court, the General Assembly, in the immediate aftermath of the Supreme Court decision Shelby v. Holder that struck down the pre-clearance provisions of the Voting Rights Act, "vastly expanded an earlier photo ID bill and rushed through the legislative process the most restrictive voting legislation seen in North Carolina since enactment of the Voting Rights Act of 1965."[2] It ruled that the provisions of the voter ID law "target African Americans with almost surgical precision," and provide "inapt remedies for the problems assertedly justifying them and, in fact, impose cures for problems that did not exist."[3] " Thus, the asserted justifications cannot and do not conceal the State's true motivation."[4] The Court concluded that "In sum, assessment of the Arlington Heights factors requires the conclusion that, at least in part, discriminatory racial intent motivated the enactment of the challenged provisions in SL 2013- 381."[5]

According to the Fourth Circuit opinion, the evidence "unmistakably reveal[ed] that the General Assembly used [the voter ID law] to entrench itself. It did so by targeting voters who, based on race, were unlikely to vote for the majority party. Even if done for partisan ends, that constituted racial discrimination."[6] Republican leaders in the General Assembly were therefore on notice that they needed to consider carefully the racially discriminatory implications of any legislative actions undertaken to entrench themselves in power. Notably, Senator Hise was among those Republican leaders serving in the state senate in 2013 and voted for the photo ID and other voting restrictions that the Fourth Circuit struck down due to racial discrimination.[7]

The more immediate sequence of events of SB 249 began at the encouragement of President Donald Trump to add Republican seats to Congress through an unusual mid-decade redistricting process. On October 16, the Republican controlled North Carolina legislature began the process for enacted SB 249 aimed at adding another Republican seat by again targeting Congressional District 1, held by Black Democrat Don Davis. The goal was to eliminate its capacity to elect a Black candidate of choice to Congress, invariably Davis or another Black Democrat.

The sequence of events will be additionally scrutinized in the sections below on procedural deviations and the legislative record.

TIMELINE OF 2025 MID-CENSUS CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING IN NORTH CAROLINA

DATE	ACTION
LATE SEPTEMBER	News reports that North Carolina State Senator Phil Berger was expected to receive an endorsement from President Donald Trump in his primary challenge in exchange for dismantling CD1 to unseat Representative Don Davis.[8]
OCTOBER 13	Republicans who control the General Assembly in North Carolina announce their intention to conduct a mid-decade redistricting for the purpose of expanding GOP control of congressional seats from 10 of 14 to 11 of 14.[9]
OCTOBER 20	Republicans in the North Carolina General Assembly follow through on this intention by releasing SB 249, a congressional redistricting plan aimed at netting an additional GOP seat by dismantling CD1, which Black Democratic Representative Don Davis currently holds.[10]
OCTOBER 20	SB 249 introduced and discussed in Senate Elections Committee.[11]
OCTOBER 21	SB 249 passed by Senate and reported favorably by House Select Committee on Redistricting and House Rules, Calendar, and Operations Committee.[12]
OCTOBER 22	North Carolina General Assembly enacts congressional redistricting plan that reduces the Black and minority population of CD1 to create a Republican tilting district.[13]

V. PROCEDURAL DEVIATIONS

As one of the Arlington Heights factors, procedural deviations, even if not illegal or in violation of General Assembly rules, can be indicia of discriminatory intent, even if not overtly discriminatory in themselves. The first procedural deviation pertains to an unusual mid-decade redistricting.

Congressional redistricting typically takes place in the immediate aftermath of the decennial U.S. Census report, compelled by the constitutional requirement to achieve population balance in congressional districts. Mid-decade redistricting is rare and virtually unheard of absent the impetus of a Court order or the failure to achieve preclearance under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act. According to a report by the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress:

"States typically begin their congressional redistricting processes following the decennial U.S. census and apportionment, at which point states with multiple House seats draw congressional district boundaries to account for population changes in the intervening decade. After redistricting plans are enacted, states may face legal challenges regarding elements of their plans; these lawsuits can continue for a number of years and result in courts approving subsequent modifications to states' congressional district maps. Aside from these court-ordered redistricting efforts, many states have not typically undergone significant redistricting efforts until after the next decennial census."[14]

While mid-decade redistricting has occurred in some instances, it is incredibly rare.[15] In some states, like Colorado, attempts to engage in mid-decade redistricting have been struck down.[16]

The Pew Research Center, in an August 2025 report, confirms the rarity of mid-decade congressional redistricting. The Center found:

"Midcycle redistricting efforts like the ones in Texas and California have, up to now, been extremely uncommon ... When midcycle redistricting occurs, it's usually because courts have thrown out the previous maps for violating state or federal law. In fact, 36 of the 40 midcycle redistricting changes since 1970 have either been made in response to a court order (20) or imposed by a court itself (16). In addition to Texas and Georgia, California is also an exception: After the 1982 elections, lawmakers passed a revised version of the congressional map that voters had rejected in a referendum earlier that year."[17]

The North Carolina General Assembly acknowledges the standard practice of engaging in redistricting only following the decennial Census, absent court intervention. It notes on its legislative and congressional redistricting website: "The North Carolina General Assembly establishes these districts following the return of each decennial census. Legal challenges may impact whether or not the enacted plans are used in elections, and may require additional action by the General Assembly."[18]

North Carolina has engaged in mid-decade redistricting only once in modern history. It did so in 2023 in response to a series of court orders. First, the state Supreme Court ruled that the Republican controlled legislature's 2021 congressional redistricting plan violated the state constitution's prohibition against partisan gerrymandering. When the legislature failed to come up with a satisfactory new plan, a special master drew new districts in 2022, with an advantage to neither party. When Republicans regained a Supreme Court majority, it overturned the previous decision and ruled that the state constitution did not prohibit partisan gerrymandering. In response, the state legislature redrew the congressional lines again in 2023, to reestablish a strong Republican advantage. Republicans won 10 of 14 seats in the 2024 midterm elections.

Thus, the 2025 mid-decade congressional redistricting in North Carolina represents a procedural deviation from standard practice both nationwide and in North Carolina.

A second procedural deviation occurred when Republicans in North Carolina publicly announced their intention to redraw the congressional district map ahead of the 2025 process, aiming to increase their representation from 10 to 11 out of 14 seats, and target Rep. Don Davis's seat. News reports indicated that political interests were at stake, but that they would be achieved by targeting CD1—Senator Phil Berger was expected to accept an endorsement from President Trump in his 2026 primary challenge in exchange for redrawing CD1 to oust Black Democrat Don Davis.[19] Representative Brenden Jones also confirmed on the House floor that Republican leadership drew the map to "only adjust the boundaries of CD1 and Congressional District 3."[20]

CD1 is adjacent to CD3, a heavily White district, which boasts the highest Republican winning percentage at 77.4%. Consequently, this proximity creates ample opportunity for a race-based population exchange between CD 1 and CD 3.

A third procedural deviation is that the General Assembly in 2025 provided limited opportunity for public comment and then largely ignored the comments received, violating the General Assembly's adopted policies. According to The News and Observer, "During the intervening six days" between the congressional plan's introduction and passage, "lawmakers held no public forums in the affected areas, did no outreach to voters whose districts would be changed and heard roughly two total hours of public comment during committee hearings in Raleigh where each speaker was limited to one minute. Despite that, the legislature received over 12,000 public comments via an online portal it set up."[21]

The House Redistricting Committee further limited opportunity for public comment during the already limited opportunity available in committee, restricting public comments to one minute per speaker and cutting off all public input after one hour: "It's my intention to take those public comments for up to an hour assuming we have sufficient time, which I think we will, but we're asking that members commenting or members of the public who are commenting limit their remarks to a minute so we can get through them all."[22]

Debate among legislators was also limited. While debating the bill on the House floor, Representative Robert Reives was cut off mid-speech by Speaker Destin Hall, who acknowledged that he did not "think [he] ever cut [Reives] off" before.[23] According to Representative Reives, "We were thinking we'd have a little time to debate. We don't."[24]

According to policies that the General Assembly adopted for the post 2020 redistricting, "Committee staff will provide a report to the chairs and members of the redistricting committee(s) of each chamber, containing the comments submitted, as instructed by the chair(s) of that committee."[25] The legislative record provides no indication that such a report was prepared or, if so, that Republicans in the General Assembly paid it any heed during the truncated 3-day redistricting process. Democratic Representative Pricey Harrison noted, "So I'll just say there's been inadequate time for the legislators and the public to review in those comments."[26] Democratic House Representative Beth Helfrich observed during the final day of consideration of SB 249, "As of 10:30 this morning we had received 12,280 comments. I have them printed right here. At no point in these proceedings have their input, has their input been meaningfully considered? And I believe this calls into question the integrity of the house and these proceedings."[27] No Republican in the General Assembly challenged these claims. Subsequently, in response to a press inquiry about whether he had read the submitted comments, House Speaker Destin Hall made no reference to a staff report. Instead, he said he saw a few and had some sent to him. "This issue, it's obviously going to animate folks on the left a lot," he said, "I just disagree with them."[28]

In sharp contrast to prior redistricting cycles, the General Assembly provided only two opportunities for public comment on the 2025 congressional redistricting plan. Both opportunities were in committee during hearings in Raleigh, and no hearings were held in Northeast North Carolina, the region impacted by the redistricting plan. In total, public comments were limited to less than 90 minutes between the two committee hearings. In contrast, during the 2021 congressional redistricting process, the General Assembly held thirteen public hearings across the state.[29] During the 2010 redistricting process, the General Assembly held 36 public hearings before the release of any maps and 25 additional public hearings after the release of maps so that the public had ample opportunity to comment on congressional and state legislative maps.[30] During the 2010 redistricting process, Senate and House redistricting chairs emphasized the importance of heeding public input and expert testimony, explaining that their redistricting decisions were "also supported by evidence and testimony submitted to the Joint Redistricting Committee or received at public hearings."[31]

Thus, legislative leaders preempted the redistricting process, reducing it to a mere sham performance. They had already determined their course of action before legislative hearings, public commentary, floor debates, or expert analysis of the plan's legality took place.

VI. SUBSTANTIVE DEVIATIONS

Substantive deviations are closely related to procedural deviations. As departures from standard decision-making in redistricting, such deviations are also indicia of discriminatory intent.

During the 2025 redistricting process, the first substantive deviation is the failure of the General Assembly to follow their own standards for drawing congressional district lines. According to Representative Brendon Jones, the co-chair of the House Redistricting Committee. "From day one we established clear written standards for how this map would be drawn. We instructed our consultant to follow these guidelines exactly. I'm going to share those with you." Among those standards, Jones said, are the following: "Number six, take reasonable measures to draw districts that represent and follow the continuous municipal boundaries. Number seven, take reasonable measures to draw districts that do not split vtds."[32]

As shown in Table 2, based on the state's data, the 2025 plan split significantly more municipalities than the 2022 plan, splitting 42 municipalities with population compared to 38 in 2022, reflecting an increase of 9.5%. Additionally, the 2025 plan split 21 VTDs with population, compared to just 13 in 2022, resulting in a 38.1% increase.

Another substantive deviation is that North Carolina broke a long-standing precedent by becoming the first state in over 100 years—at least since the turn of the 20th century—to dismantle a Black opportunity district that has consistently elected Black members of Congress for more than 30 years. With her victory in the 1992 general election in CD 1, Eva Clayton became the first Black person to serve in Congress from North Carolina since 1901. Since then, Black candidates have consistently won congressional elections in CD 1, including Frank W. Balance Jr., George Kenneth Butterfield Jr., and Don Davis. Republicans who control the General Assembly openly dismantled CD 1 in SB 249 without any good government purpose.

VII. THE LEGISLATIVE RECORD: CONTEMPORARY STATEMENTS BY DECISION-MAKERS

Republican Decision-Makers' Denial of Intentional Racial Discrimination in Enacting SB 249 Does Not Withstand Scrutiny

During legislative proceedings, Republican legislators denied the use of race in the 2025 Plan. They claimed that SB 249 is, in fact, race blind because they did not include racial data in the statistical package used for drawing the 2025 congressional district lines. In the October 21 Senate floor debates, Senator Hise insisted, "I will again completely state that there was no racial data used in these maps and in fact that is a verifiable fact. The computer can produce what the data set included, what it has had included since it's been uploaded as well as what was accessed and reported for those maps."[33] In the meeting of the North Carolina Elections Committee on Elections on October 20, Senator Hise said, "I think this committee has decided for several iterations of redrawing that not using racial data is an absolute and would not consider any map that had used racial data." When asked about whether the mapmakers had access to racial data, [33] Senate Floor Debates, 10.21.25, Audio, 00:07:35.

Senator Hise responded, "I did not. And I'm the one who drew the maps." He added, "We created new districts that were closer to 55 [Republican] and have no specific information onto what move of minorities or not move of minorities may have changed that even at this point."[34]

Senator Hise's Democratic counterparts in the General Assembly did not let his race-blind claims stand. In the final House floor debate on October 22, Democratic Representative Gloristine Brown noted, "You didn't need to use racial data because every single member of this body knows about the black population in the northeastern part of this state.... Redrawing districts one and three is purposefully dilutions (sic) of black votes."[35] Representative Marcia Morey confirmed, "I proudly served for two decades in the United States Air Force. I defended freedom and you don't need to use racial data to see racial impact."[36] She further explained that the 2025 redistricting plan "target[ed] congressional district 1, known as the Eastern Black Belt of North Carolina. We are dividing and diluting historically Black and Latino voters."[37] Representative Pricey Harrison added, "As has been mentioned, this map clearly carves out the black belt and whether and has been mentioned whether the sponsor used racial data or not, he knows the districts well enough to know that he was splitting up the Black Belt."[38]

In the Senate floor session on October 20, Senator Gladys Robinson said that despite "Senator Hise remind[ing] us several times. . . that this map was strictly about partisan politics. . . we know that the map is about race."[39] Senator Val Applewhite remarked incredulously, Senator Hise said, "that at no point ever did anyone look at race. He said it with a straight face. I looked around the room and not one person believed him, but that didn't stop him. He just kept saying it like as if he said it enough times it would somehow become true. Well Senator, if you didn't look at race, you sure did manage to find every black community between here and the coast when it came to slice up the map."[40] Senator Kandie Smith explained that the redistricting plan was used as "a political weapon and Black voters are the target" because it was "designed to fracture historic coalitions [and] diminish voter turnout."[41]

Neither Senator Hise nor any other backer of SB-249 arose to challenge this debunking of race blind redistricting, other than to repeat that their software did not include any racial data. Senator Hise himself admitted that CD1 "has a higher minority population than the state average."[42] The data reported in Table 3 and Chart 1 demonstrate the clear racial implications of SB-249. The redistricting primarily involved a swap of counties between existing CD1 and CD3, as demonstrated in Table 3 and Chart 1. The plan drawers, with precision, transferred majority minority counties with heavy black populations from CD1 to CD3. In turn they transferred majority white counties with minimal black populations from CD3 to CD1.

As demonstrated in Table 3 and Chart 1, on average the counties moved from CD1 to CD3 had a Black population of 37.2%, more than double the 16.5% Black population average for counties allocated from CD3 to CD1 Senator Hise and other backers of SB-249 claimed to focus solely on politics, not race. Yet, as disclosed in Table 3 and Chart 1, the 20.7% gap in Black population transfers from CD1 to CD3 is more than double the 9.1% gap in votes for Donald Trump. As further indicated in Table 3, the average percentage of white population transferred from CD3 to CD1 is 25.2% higher than the average white population transferred from CD1 to CD3. In numerical terms, SB 249 moves a net of 64,372 White population from CD1 to CD3 and a net of 58,311 Black population from CD 3 to CD 1.[43]

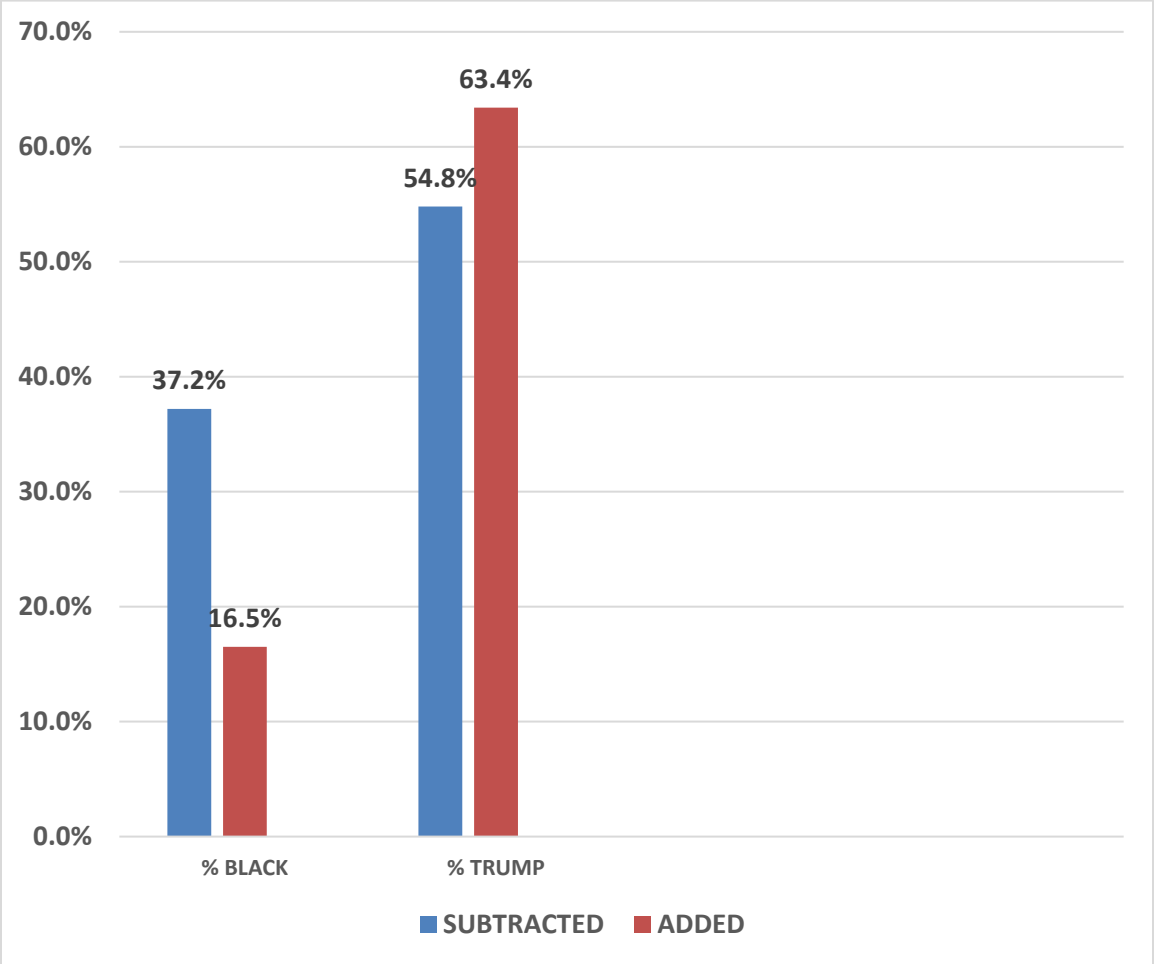
COUNTIES ADDED TO AND SUBTRACTED FROM CD 1 IN 2025 REDISTRICTING, RACIAL PERCENTAGES COMPARED TO POLITICAL PERCENTAGES



Senator Hise insistence that he did not use racial data in drawing the 2025 Plan is disingenuous and misleading. He did not need to input racial data into his computer to target Black voters and significantly weaken their ability to elect a candidate of their choice to Congress in CD1. Demographics are the lifeblood of politicians, and an understanding of demographic patterns in a state is especially crucial for legislators like plan-drawer Senator Hise, who has been deeply involved in several previous rounds of redistricting. Moreover, the 2025 redistricting was focused on only two of the state's fourteen districts: CD1, where Black Democrat Don Davis narrowly prevailed in 2024, and CD3, where White Republican Greg Murphy easily won. And the 2025 Plan did not involve the movement of small geographic units like census blocks; it primarily involved the transfer of whole counties between CD1 and CD3. It is inconceivable that, after participating in more than a half dozen congressional and state legislative redistricting rounds as

Chair of the Senate Redistricting Committee, including cycles that focused on the race of districts, that Senator Hise did not know where the Black population was concentrated in the Black Belt in the northeastern part of the state.

Specifically, Senator Hise has served in the North Carolina State Senate and on the Senate Committee on Redistricting and Elections since 2011. He began to serve as the Chair of the Senate Committee on Redistricting and Elections during the lengthy process for adopting the post-2010 congressional plan and has since served in that capacity through the multiple post-2020 redistricting processes.

Senator Hise was involved with the 2011 redistricting cycle, where plan drawers explicitly considered the racial composition of CD1 to create a Black-majority congressional district because they believed it was necessary to conform to the requirements of the Voting Rights Act. Redistricting Committee chairs Senator Bob Rucho and Representative David Lewis crafted their plan to consider race "to draw majority black districts with true majority black voting age population." They specifically noted that "African Americans represent a high percentage of the population added to the First District from Wake County," which "re-establish[es] [Black] Congressman Butterfield's district as a true majority black district."[44]

In 2017, the U.S. Supreme Court found the 2011 congressional redistricting plan unconstitutional because it needlessly packed Black voters in Congressional District 1. The General Assembly was directed to unpack CD1, which again required detailed information about the racial composition of communities in the region, which Senator Hise oversaw as Chair of the Committee on Redistricting and Elections.[45]

Despite guidance from the Supreme Court indicating that CD1 operated as an effective crossover district, Senator Hise diluted the effective Black voting strength in the district by enacting the 2025 Plan.[46] He stated that neither he nor the Senate Elections Committee conducted any racially polarized voting analysis to ensure compliance with Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act, nor did they "receive[] [any] information regarding specifically legally significant racially polarized voting."[47]

Despite Senator Hise's assertions of racial blindness and that Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act did not apply to the 2025 redistricting process, he understood based on his previous experience that the racial swaps he made in SB 249 would dilute the Black population so that CD1 would no longer function as a crossover district providing Black voters the opportunity to elect candidates of their choice. In fact, Senator Hise crafted SB 249 specifically to eliminate Black incumbent Don Davis's reasonable chance of prevailing in upcoming congressional elections, reducing CD1's Black voting-age population from 40.4% to 32.3%. At the same time, SB 249 kept the Black population in CD3 low enough that Black voters could also not elect their candidates of choice in that district. The very likely outcome of the next contest in this district will be that Black voters will not be able to elect their candidate of choice in CD1.

[46] The Supreme Court's factual findings on crossover districts are consistent with my analysis of state legislative districts. I similarly found that in North Carolina there was sufficient crossover voting for Black voters to elect candidates of their choice well below the 50%+1 majority. The three-judge court hearing the case agreed and the U.S. Supreme Court affirmed its factual findings: United States District Court for Middle District of North Carolina, Covington v. North Carolina, Case No. 1:15-cv-399, Memorandum Opinion, (2016); North Carolina v. Covington, 581 U. S. 1015 (2017).

His crafting and defense of SB 249 was not the first time that Senator Hise was involved in deception to preserve a racially discriminatory redistricting plan. After the district and Supreme Court decisions findings that North Carolina had racially gerrymandered congressional districts, plaintiffs petitioned the district court to order North Carolina to draw new lines that remedied the discrimination in time for a special election in 2017. In their brief of July 6, 2017, opposing the prompt redrawing of district lines, legislative defendants falsely claimed that they had not yet begun to work on a remedial plan and needed significantly more time to craft new districts. The legislative defendants stated "Shortly following this Court's order of July 31, 2017, the legislative leaders, Senator Ralph Hise and Representative David Lewis, met with the map drawing consultant, Dr. Hofeller. Redistricting concepts were discussed with Dr. Hofeller as leaders made plans to comply with the Court's Order."[48] Legislative defendants further claimed that it was only "on August 17, 2017, that Representative Lewis and Senator Hise notified Dr. Hofeller of the criteria adopted by the redistricting committees and directed him to utilize those criteria when drawing districts in the 2017 plans."[49]

New evidence that subsequently emerged from the files of the late Republican North Carolina plan-drawer Thomas Hofeller demonstrated that this claim about first discussing just concepts with the plan drawer was demonstrably false and misleading. The files demonstrated by June 2017 Hofeller had already largely completed the drawing of state house and senate plans that were nearly identical to the plans that the General Assembly adopted many months later, past the deadline for a special election.[50] A subsequent state court ruling validated the Common Cause contention that the Dr. Hofeller had largely completed what later became the General Assembly's redrafted district plan by June 2017 and had deceived the federal court about its capacity to complete the redrawing in time for a special election in 2017.

The court ruled, "No party has disputed that the maps presented in Plaintiffs' 290 Exhibits 124-129, 131- 133, and 140-147 accurately reflect the district boundaries in Dr. Hofeller's June 2017 draft plans and the final enacted plans."[51] It added, "Dr. Hofeller, and consequently the Legislative Defendants who retained him, by having largely completed the drafting of House and Senate maps by June 2017, did so with little regard for the Adopted Criteria, or the neutral, non-partisan criteria contained therein, which were not adopted by the Senate Redistricting Committee and House Select Committee on Redistricting until August 10, 2017, and provided to Dr. Hofeller on August 11, 2017."[52] Further, "the Court, as previously stated, is persuaded, and specifically finds, that Dr. Hofeller's intent and actions, as evidenced throughout his map-drawing process from at least early June 2017, are attributable in full to Legislative Defendants,"[53] which included Redistricting Chair, Senator Hise.

In addition, as in 2025, in 2017, Senator Hise asserted that legislative plan drawers had no access to racial data. In words nearly identical to his promises eight years later, Senator Hise said in 2017, "race was not part of the database. It could not be calculated on the system." However, in its scrutiny of the Hofeller files, Common Cause found that, "Dr. Hofeller did have 'data on the race of voters' 'loaded into the computer' he used to 'construct the districts.' Dr. Hofeller's computer in fact appears to have had data regarding the racial composition of the proposed districts for each and every iteration of his draft maps."[54]

Moreover, "every Maptitude file with draft House or Senate districts from 2017—including draft maps from August 2017 after Legislative Defendants signed an engagement letter formally retaining Dr. Hofeller to create new maps—appears to have had racial data for the districts. Images from some of the Maptitude files even reveal that Dr. Hofeller apparently was displaying the black voting age population or "BVAP" of the new districts in some of the drafts. Dr. Hofeller also had racial data on the draft districts in Excel spreadsheets."[55] Representative Lewis responded implausibly that "I had no input on or control of any play maps Dr. Hofeller may have drawn on his personal computer on his own time,"[56] a demurrer that the state court panel rejected as indicated above.

Just as Senator Hise claimed in 2017 and 2025 that racial data was not part of the map-drawing process, during the 2021 redistricting cycle, he testified under oath that he had not used partisan data in drawing the maps, yet the North Carolina Supreme Court concluded that the General Assembly had "intentionally" used partisan data to "diminish[] the voting power" of North Carolina Democrats.[57]

In short, Senator Hise has deep experience in drawing redistricting plans in North Carolina, including with using racial data, and a corresponding expertise in the demographics of the state, including the Northeast in particular. Moreover, he has made several representations to courts that have later been proved false. His denials about whether race was considered in the drawing of the 2025 Plan are therefore not trustworthy.

VIII. CONCLUSION

Republican decision-makers in 2025 disingenuously claimed to have eschewed racial data to avoid sorting North Carolinians into districts based on race. Yet, in the post-2010 round Republicans who controlled the General assembly diminished Black voting strength across congressional districts by packing African Americans into CD1. In 2025 Republicans diluted Black voting strength in CD1 by doing the opposite, cracking Black communities and submerging them in White dominated districts.

It is inconceivable that Republicans who participated in crafting SB 249 could have been unaware of the racial population swaps that led to this cracking. As Representative Gloristine Brown charged in an unchallenged debunking of racial blindness, "You didn't need to use racial data because every single member of this body knows about the black population in the northeastern part of this state." That observation particularly applies to plan drawer Senator Hise who played an important role in numerous redistricting processes over two decades, including the lengthy post-2010 process that focused on the racial composition of Congressional District 1.

Packing and cracking are the hallmarks of a racial gerrymander that erodes Black voting rights. As Fred Smith, Jr., the Charles Howard Candler Professor of Law at Emory University, explained, "Cracking occurs when a group is divided among multiple districts to diminish their collective voice, while packing involves concentrating members of a group into one district, thereby minimizing their influence in other districts. Both practices undermine the democratic power of racial groups." Ironically, in 2011 Republicans in the General Assembly invoked Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act to justify the discriminatory packing of African Americans in CD1, whereas in 2025 Republican decision-makers cracked African American communities in CD1.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Respectfully submitted,

Historical consultant to the Kin and Communities Program of the Smithsonian Institution 1974-1979

Along with general advisory duties, this position has involved the following activities:

1. directing a national conference on techniques for studying historical and contemporary families held at the Smithsonian in June 1976.
2. chairing a public session at the Smithsonian on how to do the history of one's own family.
3. helping to direct the Sixth International Smithsonian Symposium on Kin and Communities in America (June 1977).
4. editing the volume of essays from the symposium.

Consultant to John Anderson campaign for president, 1980.

I researched and wrote a study on "Restrictive Ballot Laws and Third-Force Presidential Candidates." This document was a major component of Anderson's legal arguments against restrictive ballot laws that ultimately prevailed in the Supreme Court (Anderson v. Celebreeze 1983). According to Anderson's attorney: "the basis for the majority's decision echoes the themes you incorporated in your original historical piece we filed in the District Court."

12,000 comments poured in on NC's new Trump-backed map. And they weren't positive

By Kyle Ingram

Watch as protesters leave the Legislative Building after the new NC congressional map is passed into law. The new map is intended to pick up another seat for Republicans, who already won 10 of the state's 14 congressional seats despite winning 53% of the statewide congressional vote. RALEIGH

Listen to this article

Last week, North Carolina Republicans unveiled a plan, backed by President Donald Trump, to redraw the state's congressional map in order to pick up another seat for the GOP in the 2026 midterms. Less than a week later, that map became law.

During the intervening six days, lawmakers held no public forums in the affected areas, did no outreach to voters whose districts would be changed and heard roughly two total hours of public comment during committee hearings in Raleigh where each speaker was limited to one minute.

Despite that, the legislature received over 12,000 public comments via an online portal it set up.

A cursory review of the comments, which were released to the public by House Minority Leader Robert Reives, show an overwhelming opposition to the new map.

Commenters accused Republicans of bowing to Trump, disenfranchising Black voters and shutting out the public.

A smaller group of commenters supported the map, saying that Republicans deserved another seat in Congress.

Asked if he'd reviewed the comments, Republican House Speaker Destin Hall said he saw a few and had some sent to him.

"This issue, it's obviously going to animate folks on the left a lot," he told reporters. "... I just disagree with them."

The News & Observer has compiled a sampling of the comments, organized by the key themes that motivated their responses.

'Abuse of power'

A large portion of the reviewed comments criticized Republicans for openly drawing maps intended to help their own party and Trump in the midterms.

"This is a blatant and egregious abuse of power," one commenter, who said they were from Wilson County, wrote. "... You are more worried about cheating for a dictator who doesn't care about you or the American people ... History will remember that you only win by cheating. I teach my students that CHEATERS never win in the long run. Don't take away our voices because you're scared. Win fairly or lose with dignity."

Another commenter accused Republicans of being "afraid of fair elections."

"Clearly, they know that they cannot win unless they rig the system by picking their own voters, because surveys show that more than half the voters disagree with their policies," the commenter continued. "This cheating may work over the short term, but it will fail over time. It is very sad that the once-proud GOP has become a lapdog for a lawless, vengeful, power-mad president."

Throughout the week's hearings and votes, Republicans repeatedly and explicitly stated that they decided to redraw North Carolina's map because Trump asked for it.

Senate leader Phil Berger, who faces a contentious primary election against Rockingham County Sheriff Sam Page, has denied claims that he agreed to redraw the state's map in exchange for an endorsement from Trump.

A deviation from process

Other commenters lambasted lawmakers for deviating from the traditional redistricting process, in which maps are drawn every 10 years after the census and voters are given ample time to provide public input on proposed changes.

"This is horrifying to me," one comment said. "Redistricting happens every ten years after the census. Republicans know this. I am a registered Republican and as much as I hate the direction Democrats have gone, I will be voting Democrat if this happens. People are rapidly turning and will do the same as me. We know the law. Those who were ignorant to the law are now researching and seeing the laws being broken and are extremely hurt, angry and feel stabbed in the back."

"You claim to accept public comments, but your actions betray you," another wrote. "You release maps only at the eleventh hour, you schedule few public hearings, and you rush this process while almost every corner of the state is watching. That is disrespectful, dismissive, and undemocratic."

One comment said the process "appears to be happening in the shadows, with the intent to rush through changes before voters can react."

Allegations of racism

Other commenters noted that the redistricting plan primarily affects the 1st Congressional District, located in northeastern North Carolina, home to the state's historic "Black belt."

For over 30 years, the 1st district has elected Black members of Congress, including current Democratic Rep. Don Davis. But under the new map, the influence of Black voters is diminished as the 1st district is redrawn to include Republican-leaning counties along the coast.

"This new redistricting plan is intended to further dilute the Black vote in our state, which is racist and immoral," one comment said. "We need fairly drawn districts to fairly represent all North Carolinians. Districts should not be drawn to benefit one party over another or to curb the voting power of any particular demographic. Proceeding forward with this redistricting plan is deeply undemocratic."

Another comment called the map a "shameless discriminatory gerrymander, surgically diluting the power of Black voters and cracking communities apart."

"They packed and cracked the state's most urban and diverse communities, diminishing the voting power of these areas, despite the fact that they have driven population growth over the past decade," they continued. "Towns and communities are senselessly split for no other reason than to give politicians an unfair advantage. Counties with vastly different issues and values are now grouped together in far-reaching districts. Residents in Rocky Mount and residents in the Outer Banks face very different problems — how can one lawmaker fairly represent both communities? They won't."

Support for independent redistricting

Many comments expressed support for establishing an independent redistricting commission, a process used in several states that is intended to take the politics out of the mapmaking process.

"I urge you to support and advocate for the establishment of an independent redistricting commission and ensure that any future redistricting efforts are guided by fairness, transparency, and the principle of 'one person, one vote,'" one comment wrote.

North Carolina's redistricting process has always been carried out by the state legislature, which has frequently been found to have illegally gerrymandered maps under both Republican and Democratic rule.

The state constitution also prohibits the governor from vetoing electoral maps, meaning they become law after achieving a simply majority in both chambers of the General Assembly.

"If North Carolina prioritized democracy, federalism, and political fairness, it would overhaul its redistricting process to ensure transparency, equity, and accountability," another comment said. "First, it should establish an independent redistricting commission to remove partisan influence and draw maps based on nonpartisan criteria like compactness, community integrity, and compliance with the Voting Rights Act. The process should be open to public input, with hearings and online feedback tools... This isn't a radical process, just a commonsense approach for a good democracy."

Misguided priorities

Commenters consistently derided lawmakers for focusing on enacting a new congressional map instead of passing a comprehensive state budget.

Republican leaders in the House and Senate have been unable to reach a budget deal since the fiscal year ended over three months ago.

"This is just plain, flat out, despicable and amounts to election theft," one commenter wrote. "The budget, which was supposed to be passed by July 1, is still not passed and teachers and other state employees have not been given a raise, but you have found time to rig the election for King Trump. You are nothing short of despicable and worthless."

Lawmakers have passed some smaller spending bills this session, but have failed to enact across-the-board teacher raises or efforts to fund Medicaid.

"For the life of me, I do not understand the priorities of our legislature," another comment said. "For the last year, I heard you consistently say that Bidenomics destroyed our state and that things were too expensive. So to me, I voted for the party that I believe would help reduce those costs and make things more affordable. But instead of doing that, here we are redrawing a map AGAIN. What are you scared of? If you are doing the right thing, you should not worry about losing power."

Support for the map

While debating the bill on Wednesday, Democratic Rep. Pricey Harrison said that after reviewing most of the comments, her assistant was able to find only three in support of the map.

Likewise, The N&O found few comments in favor of the map in its review of the data.

"I am in total support of your proposed district changes!" one commenter wrote. "Thank you for your efforts! Now, let's get it done! Districting should have never been race-based."

Courts have historically interpreted Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act to require the creation of majority-minority districts in some circumstances. An upcoming case from the U.S. Supreme Court could gut that law, though.

Some comments in favor of the map were more general, such as "proud of you guys" or "Great! Keep going. I agree with the redistricting plan."

Another commenter wrote that the new map "better reflects the values and voices of the majority of our state."

"This adjustment would help ensure fair representation, strengthen conservative leadership, and keep North Carolina moving in the right direction," they continued. "Thank you for standing up for our communities and for your hard work on this issue."

10/16/25 3:01 PM	Adam Austin	NCGA	THIS IS A TEST.
10/16/25 3:45 PM	Mrs. Melissa Price Kromm	N.C. For The People Action	I strongly oppose redrawing congressional maps outside the constitutionally intended decennial cycle unless there is a court order or demonstrated necessity. Mid-cycle redistricting undermines public trust, destabilizes communities, and tilts representation toward political advantage. Under the state constitution and longstanding practice, redistricting is tied to the decennial census to reflect population shifts. Frequent or mid-cycle adjustments encourage mapmaking for partisan gain, not fair representation, and erode the principle ‚Äúone person, one vote.‚Äù When incumbents or factions redraw maps for political and electoral gain, voters lose the ability to hold representatives accountable. Communities are split or merged not to improve representation, but to dilute or concentrate voting power. This is especially problematic for historically marginalized and minority communities whose influence can be eroded through targeted map changes. Democracy isn‚Äôt served when politicians get to change the rules mid-game. I urge you to reject partisan, mid-cycle map changes and preserve fairness, stability, and integrity in our elections.
10/16/25 3:46 PM	James Morrison		It's pretty obvious why the change--to dilute my vote. You have to be better than this, we expect better.
10/16/25 3:48 PM	Nicholas Whitmer		Stop trying to secure permanent seats for the GOP. This is blatantly undemocratic and something I'd expect in Turkey or Russia, not here.
10/16/25 3:51 PM	Jonah Snyder		I am very disappointed by the Redistricting on display here in NC. This is very obviously a power play by the GOP to maintain power, because they know they'd loose power if they didn't do this. This is blatantly authoritarian, and is actively hurting voters in areas with heavy Black and Hispanic communities. I will not stand for this blatant attempt at Gerrymandering.
10/16/25 3:58 PM	Greg Murphy		Yall are a disgrace. This is a fucking shame.
10/16/25 4:03 PM	George Hogan		Berger - You are an ant-Democratic, anti-American piece of trash. DO NOT PASS THIS illegal map.
10/16/25 4:08 PM	George Brickhouse		No. Just no. Breaking two counties up into three different districts. Just no. Stop playing your gerrymandering games in order to disenfranchise your voters. Ya‚Äôll are some spineless people to sit there and think oh yes. This is a good idea. You‚Äôre so scared of losing your rule it‚Äôs sad. Give these maps to a non-partisan organization to do. I remember when we had fairer maps for the 2022 election. Let‚Äôs go back to those instead of this hot mess.
10/16/25 4:09 PM	Mrs Penny Holland		How dare you! Do your jobs! Pass a budget instead of acting like a bunch of crooked thieves! Worry about North Carolinian's who need food, shelter and health care!
10/16/25 4:10 PM	Obvious gerrymandering Austin Whaling		Pretty obvious gerrymandering attempt here. Nobody can sanely argue this is an improvement in representing the will of the people, this is about maintaining control by an otherwise unpopular minority.
10/16/25 4:11 PM	Deb Murphy		I'm sick of this gerrymandering. I moved to NC 18 yrs. Ago and this problem has gotten completely out of hand. Our governor is democratic because the majority of North Carolina leans left. The only way Republicans can win is to steal the votes. Disgusting!!
10/16/25 4:11 PM	New Maps Claire Carr		This is egregious. The maps do not reflect the status of voters! This state does lean republican and that's fine, but three times more republican? No. If y'all are doing all this "winning" what are you afraid of midterms for? Good administration would negate the need to manipulate voter representation. This is shameful.
10/16/25 4:12 PM	Nancy Pike		This isn‚Äôt the way to go. Instead of doing what President Trump is telling you to do, listen to the people of NC. I‚Äôm registered democrat but I vote for the most qualified and anyone voting for this will not get my vote.
10/16/25 4:12 PM	2025 Redistricting Map Donnie Brown		Needs of all of the people of NC are not being addressed or represented with this map. These new maps does not reflect the demographics of everyone that lives in this state. The schools are in worse shape, healthcare cuts are unacceptable and the leadership of the current elected officials care more for companies than about the people in the state.
10/16/25 4:12 PM	Robert Campbell		The redistricting plan is blatantly undemocratic. We deserve fair representation. This plan is widely unpopular across partisan lines. I implore the legislature to back down from this awful proposal.
10/16/25 4:12 PM	Mr James Bartlett		I am in total support of your proposed district changes! Thank you for your efforts! Now, let‚Äôs get it done! Districting should have never been race-based. Respectfully, Jim Bartlett PO Box 85 Jefferson, NC. 28640
10/16/25 4:13 PM	Ms. Carly Wild		do not redistrict, this is not popular with democrats or republicans - you need to keep the maps as-is as we are already Gerry meandered to death. stop Gerry meandering our great state of north Carolina, it's bad for everyone.
10/16/25 4:13 PM	Mr. Lucas Young		This is a terrible map! You do not work for Trump! You work for the people of North Carolina!

10/16/25 4:13 PM	Mrs. Vivienne Graves		Do NOT go through with your redistricting plan. I am an Independent voter and I feel this not only hurts District 1 but all North Carolinians. If you do, it will look like you are trying to ensure a Republican majority and since you are already in the majority- will look to me and other independents, that you don't believe in working with the other party- therefor want to be a monopoly, not a democracy.
10/16/25 4:14 PM	Unconscionable Kathleen Kittrick		I find it absolutely ridiculous that the NC General Assembly is bowing down to Trump to make the gerrymandering even worse in North Carolina. How dare you. I guess your motto is if you can,Äôt win, it,Äôs ok to cheat? We will remember this and all the cowards to vote for this map. Shame!
10/16/25 4:16 PM	Insanity Melvin Phoenix		Why on earth would 3 counties need to be divided? This is an obvious power grab and is shameful and disgusting. Instead of caring about North Carolinians, you bowed down to a power that will shit on all of us. Grow a spine and actually do your jobs.
10/16/25 4:17 PM	Ryan Steffes		The proposed map is a disgusting abuse of power. The shape of district 13 is ridiculous.
10/16/25 4:18 PM	Virginia Skarpalezos		I am just a retired old person that's been around the block a few times. This midterm redistricting is just plain wrong. The initial gerrymandering is wrong but this is taking it to a new level. It makes me very, very sad. It's basically saying if you're in the other party, your vote just doesn't count. We don't care what you think. So much for coming together. You KNOW this is wrong but more than that, it's SAD.
10/16/25 4:20 PM	Jonathan McPherson		What an outrageous map. An absolute farce of a thing that dilutes my vote so much that it no longer matters. Which, obviously, is the point. I honestly don't know how you people sleep at night, but I imagine it's with visions of authoritarian hellscapes and not sugarplums.
10/16/25 4:20 PM	Dr Jacob Williams		I want a clear explanation as to the purpose of the redistricting. What has changed so drastically in the state of NC, not in the nation, just NC, that would necessitate this map be redrawn? If this can't be answered, then it would seem this is a waste of time and resources that could be put into making NC better. If there is an answer that is justifiable, then proceed.
10/16/25 4:21 PM	Mark Swallow	Democracy Out Loud	In 2024, votes for Democrats in our state were about 51% of all votes. Votes for Republicans were 48% of all votes. Yet, the Republicans have a super majority in the NC Senate and just 1 seat shy of a super majority in the NC House. Why? A scheme called gerrymandering. Normal people would call this cheating. Now you are going to do it again because Democratic States like California are doing it? So you,Äôre going to follow California,Äôs lead so that you can defend Trumps ‚Ámandate‚Äù? Well, I actual wish you would follow California,Äôs lead on gerrymandering. They actually haven,Äôt gerrymandered anything. They are putting a referendum on the November ballot to determine if Californians want to gerrymander their state. So, PLEASE, go ahead and follow their lead and put a referendum on the NC November ballot and see what North Carolinians want! But you won,Äôt do that. You won,Äôt do that because you are liars and cheats and you know that North Carolinians would never approve of this. Republicans in this State, like the rest of the country, are morally and ethically bankrupt. This hair-brain scheme of Berger,Äôs is so that he can get in the good graces with Trump and defeat his opponent in the March primary. This is corruption at its best. But, of course, you can prove me wrong and turn aside this scheme,Ä¶ but I doubt that you will.
10/16/25 4:25 PM	What,Äôs fair and important Ruth Ann Griggs	Concerned voter in nc	Is this the most important matter before you at this time in NC? Where is the fairness when what you are proposing puts republican representation at a higher level in congress thN democrats. Are your ‚Ástrings‚Äù being pulled OR maybe you,Äôre being pressed to do what some other states are doing to Trumps request/suggestion, etc,Ä¶ to make midterm elections work in his favor. There are other major matters like passing a budget here in nc, providing teacher and retirees an increase in pay/ cost of living increase, handling Medicare/medicaid concerns for all of the people you represent and helping them 1st. I believe if you don,Äôt turn your attention to matters of the people you will lose in the elections. I am a retired educator, proud of my 30 years making a difference in the lives of many children and I now am a caregiver for my 94 yr old mom. I,Äôm blessed to have her with me, but it isn,Äôt easy and I am truly disgusted with your antics taking up redistricting map AGAIN. Enough is enough. Thank you for your attention to the matters at hand that are of importance to the people.
10/16/25 4:29 PM	Susan Hayek		This map is unfair and unjust plus a waste of North Carolinians money. Please focus on issues like funding healthcare and leave the map alone. Or if you want to redraw it, redraw the districts in a fair, non-partisan manner. The people of North Carolina deserve to have their representatives use their time and money more wisely.
10/16/25 4:29 PM	Mr Charles Fortanbary		This is un American. To game the system in such a way that you effectively eliminate any dissent is a step stone to worse things to come in the dismantling of our democracy.
10/16/25 4:31 PM	Subverting democracy Alison Domnas		It,Äôs not enough that we,Äôre the most gerrymandered state in the union, you all have to grasp at even more power because your policies are so unpopular you can win in a fair fight. Absolutely shameful.
10/16/25 4:36 PM	Joyce Nash		NO redistricting. Stop gerrymandering.

10/16/25 4:37 PM	Cynthia Ryan		Shame on the Republicans who are redrawing these maps every couple of years just to stay in power. And to those who are bending the knee to the current administration. You are playing selfish & bullying games by making sure Democrats don,Äôt have a chance to win. How sad for our state & this country that civility has been buried by your actions.
10/16/25 4:39 PM	mr. jeffrey Monroe		Map Looks like a positive change for charlotte and surrounding communities! I would Vote in favor!
10/16/25 4:41 PM	Ms Margaret henschel		This plan is a blatant attempt to disfranchise more Democratic votes and people of color.
10/16/25 4:42 PM	Mrs. Wanda Sullivan		I formally oppose the newly proposed congressional and legislative maps, which clearly prioritize the entrenchment of partisan power over fair representation. North Carolina is a competitive state, yet these maps are designed to create a dramatically disproportionate partisan split (e.g., 10-4 or 11-3) that does not reflect our statewide political balance. This practice diminishes the power of my vote and eliminates electoral competitiveness. My opposition is rooted in three key concerns: 1. Reduced Accountability: Creating uncompetitive districts removes the incentive for elected officials to represent the entire electorate. 2. Dilution of Minority Voting Strength: The maps appear to "crack" or "pack" communities of color, hindering their ability to elect candidates of choice, which violates the spirit of the Voting Rights Act. 3. Disregard for Communities of Interest (COIs): The proposed lines unnecessarily fracture cohesive communities (cities, counties, and regions), making it impossible for a single representative to effectively address common policy needs, such as transportation or economic development. I urge the General Assembly to reject this partisan redraw and adopt maps that ensure voters choose their representatives, not the reverse. Thank you for your time and consideration. Sincerely, Wanda Sullivan Mecklenburg County Resident
10/16/25 4:42 PM	Jeff Stephens		For the people, by the people? Shame to all those who dilute the American democratic system. You know this is wrong.
10/16/25 4:42 PM	William Goldsmith		I write as a private citizen. I am saddened and ashamed that those who lead the General Assembly have decided that doing Pres. Donald Trump's bidding is more important than representing the voters of North Carolina. Is it not enough to squeeze what is already a sharply partisan advantage through districts that crack communities of interest such as Winston-Salem and Greensboro, or split those within the metro areas of Charlotte and Raleigh? You feel compelled to reach further, blaming Democrats in California (where at least voters have the opportunity to weigh in the gerrymander), rather than Donald Trump for starting this by demanding a gerrymander of Texas. Will you put a referendum about these maps before voters in North Carolina, or do you not trust us? Your actions leave me despondent about the future of the union at the heart of the United States of America. My ancestors fought on both sides of the Civil War, and I am afraid you are leading us to a path too much like the 1860s or the 1770s. Are there no Christians among you who believe it is better to turn the other cheek and to work for the benefit of your neighbors, seeking to deescalate and rebuild trust in our polity?
10/16/25 4:45 PM	Christine Carruthers		I do not support the proposed plan to redraw voting district lines to benefit Republicans at the expense of Democrats at the request of President Trump. This is an obvious maneuver to rig the voting system in Trump & the maga party favor. ??
10/16/25 4:46 PM	Mr Walter Trott		This is choosing your voters not allowing voters to choose their representatives. NC is a 50/50 state as shown by statewide elections whereas President was republican but governor and other key statewide positions were democratic. This is cheating and should not be done or allowed!
10/16/25 4:46 PM	Sarah Holcombe		This is absolutely an unnecessary use of time and resources. There is no valid reason for this. VOTE NO
10/16/25 4:48 PM	Mr Wayne H.	Voter	Stop the gerrymandering! These are petty attempts to hold power and continue racism. You are not focusing on constituents, but pandering to the GOP and president! This is an illegal action; its quid pro quo for endorsement! Stop disenfranchising us or you will learn that the power is in the people's hand, not oligarchs and wannabe faschist dictator
10/16/25 4:51 PM	Angela Wood		I am VERY concerned resident of Wake Forest, NC. The current redistricting proposals are unfairly drawn. I urge you to support and advocate for the establishment of an independent redistricting commission and ensure that any future redistricting efforts are guided by fairness, transparency, and the principle of "one person, one vote." In case you forgot, IN AMERICA, POLITICIANS DO NOT CHOOSE THEIR VOTERS. VOTERS CHOOSE THEIR REPRESENTATIVES.

10/16/25 4:55 PM	Jenny Herring		Win fairly and on merit. Not on dishonor and cheating. Don,Äôt do it.
10/16/25 4:55 PM	Hilary Knause		ABSOLUTELY NOT! Our state is already gerrymandered so egregiously that voters' voices cannot be heard. Enough is enough! This is supposed to be a representational democracy, not a Do-Whatever-Politicians-Want-to-Retain-Power free for all. Also, you are not elected to represent the will of the president. You work for us. And you're already doing a terrible job with no budget in sight. No more redistricting. Do your job!!!
10/16/25 4:55 PM	Ed Mathis		NC is already so heavily gerrymandered in the Republicans' favor that it in effect disenfranchises tens of thousands of people who are Democrats. Their votes are essentially meaningless because they live in districts that were drawn specifically to cancel out their votes. Is that fair or right? HELL NO, it is not! There is no moral or righteous reason to justify it. This redistricting exercise just makes it even worse. It is proof that the Republicans fear that they cannot win a fair race.
10/16/25 4:57 PM	Mr Perry Hayes	Citizen f NC	I guess our state is actually owned by Trump. We didn,Äôt all elect him or vote for him. Many of us are disgusted by virtually everything he does. He ,Äúorders,Äù states to redistrict to favor one party over another. Let the voters decide.
10/16/25 4:58 PM	Annie Gordon		You must think we are fucking stupid if you think the state is going to bend the knee and let this redistricting happen.
10/16/25 4:58 PM	Arianna Story		I strongly oppose any mid-decade redistricting - especially redistricting which is undertaken at the call of the President. I recognize that we are in a period of high partisanship and low trust, but further gerrymandering is not the answer. It undermines voter confidence in elections and reduces my trust in my own representation when I'm lumped in with whomever is most convenient for the majority party. Texas and California,Äôs actions do not need to spill over to North Carolina. I urge you to maintain our current maps to reduce confusion, litigation, and uncertainty for voters. I would much rather see the General Assembly focus its efforts on passing a budget that provides much-needed relief to state employees and supports those still recovering from recent natural disasters - particularly given the uncertainty at the federal level.
10/16/25 4:59 PM	Mr Thomas Sweeney		This map is a disgrace to the citizens. Stop selecting who you want to represent and let us decide who we want to represent us. What happen to the morals of the GOP party? What happen to fighting for state rights? Stop pandering to Trump and do what is best for North Carolinians.
10/16/25 4:59 PM	Sidney Grant	NC Resident of Guilford County	I am writing as a concerned citizen and resident of North Carolina to express my strong opposition to the proposed redrawing of the U.S. House district map. This redistricting effort appears to be a clear attempt at partisan gerrymandering, undermining the democratic principles of fair representation and equal voice for all voters. The new map threatens to diminish the political power of communities across our state, particularly minority and urban populations, by manipulating district boundaries to favor one political party over others. Such actions erode public trust in our electoral system and weaken the legitimacy of our democratic institutions. Voters should choose their representatives ,Äî not the other way around. I urge you to prioritize transparency, fairness, and the will of the people when determining congressional districts. North Carolinians deserve a map that reflects the true political and geographic diversity of our state ,Äî one that encourages competitive elections and ensures all voices are heard. I strongly encourage you to reject this map and instead support an independent, nonpartisan redistricting process that protects the integrity of our elections. Thank you for your time and service to the people of North Carolina. I respectfully ask that you stand for fair representation and against partisan gerrymandering. Sincerely, Sidney Grant

10/16/25 4:59 PM	Sidney Grant	NC Resident of Guilford County	I am writing as a concerned citizen and resident of North Carolina to express my strong opposition to the proposed redrawing of the U.S. House district map. 10/16/25 5:01 PM	BENNY JOYCE		With as many times that NC has had to go to court over redistricting maps and those have been thrown out due to Racial imbalances, this is just another ill advised gerrymander that attempts to have legislators shopping for their voters and dilutes the will of the people. There are more independents in NC than ever before due to the fact that both parties have ignored the will of the people.
10/16/25 5:02 PM	Sarah St. Peter		I strongly oppose the current North Carolina redistricting plan. This plan appears designed to give one party an unfair advantage, which is a clear example of gerrymandering. Gerrymandering undermines fair representation, splits communities, entrenches partisan power, and erodes trust in our democracy. Every North Carolinian deserves legislative districts that reflect our communities and ensure that every vote carries equal weight. I urge the General Assembly to adopt fair, transparent, and non-partisan maps that prioritize the interests of all residents rather than political gain.
10/16/25 5:03 PM	Ariel McCabe		I do not support redistricting for political purposes.
10/16/25 5:03 PM	Josh Hardin		I disagree with the Republican-led effort to redistrict North Carolina. Redistricting was intended to more accurately allocate proper resources, represent the population, and give voice to their voting preferences after the completion of the census. Redistricting halfway through the 10-year schedule means there has either been a massive population shift that would disrupt resources and protocols, or..... There are partisan motivations to stay in power. Representatives are supposed to be chosen by the people, not the other way around. The state legislature should not have any say in their own election maps and instead should hand over that power to an independent commission. If you want the people of North Carolina to start trusting you again, you've got to start trusting North Carolinians to choose their representatives fairly.
10/16/25 5:03 PM	Deni Niethammer		Please do not redistrict North Carolina. You just did this several years ago and it does not need to be done now. I vehemently object redistricting.
10/16/25 5:04 PM	Wayne Diehl		Proud of you Guy,Äôs!!
10/16/25 5:04 PM	Beth Ingram		Against! Do not draw a new redistricting map!
10/16/25 5:05 PM	Jason Surname		Do not do this. Do not go forward with your redistricting plans. It is an affront to representative democracy and only serves to limit the voices of voters you don,Äôt agree with. I understand you won,Äôt actually read this and I understand you are beholden to a megalomaniac with authoritarian designs, but for all that is decent and right, do not do this.
10/16/25 5:06 PM	Mr Gregory Snyder		I think it,Äôs wrong to redraw districts to favor one party over another. Tax paying voters should be equally and fairly represented in congress
10/16/25 5:06 PM	Whitney Setser		Absolutely not! Our state is gerrymandered already and you shouldn,Äôt be allowed to redraw because you're scared you can,Äôt win on your own ideas and platform. What a shameless abuse of power.
10/16/25 5:06 PM	DAVID BROWN		I oppose this redistricting trend on every level, including all parties. North Carolina needs to buck the trend by simply doing nothing.
10/16/25 5:06 PM	Mr Charles Rhyne		It is unnecessary . Is illegal. And I strongly Strongly oppose the redistricting . Please do not do this !!!
10/16/25 5:07 PM	Andrew Atherton	--None--	How about you redraw the map to make all the races competitive? You know you cannot win by fighting fair. The majority of North Carolina is against Republican control. That is why the governor has been an elected Democrat for three straight elections. Draw competitive races across NC and let the voters decide their representatives.
10/16/25 5:07 PM	Una Harrison		Trump is calling for redistricting only in states where Democrats have a chance of flipping a seat. Gerrymandering maps is not the will of the people. It is UNFAIR. Shame on North Carolina for even considering this.
10/16/25 5:07 PM	New map Zach Halewood		Absolutely insane gerrymandering. Already a bad map made even more unfair given the vote share in our state. Get off trump's dick you cowards.

10/16/25 5:08 PM	Mrs Evelyn Perkins	Citizen	Do not redraw the maps. It looks and feels shady and unprofessional, unethical, dishonest. I do not feel the members are interested in public perspective. The current strategy of the GOP, to ignore voters, will come back in a negative way in mid terms. It definitely will affect my votes in future elections.
10/16/25 5:08 PM	Kristopher Nordstrom		The new map sucks. Please stop breaking our democracy. Get a new (less racist) hobby.
10/16/25 5:08 PM	New Drawing Map John France	N/A	Stop with the cheating. If republicans views was so popular, you would have to redraw maps. NC residents don,Äôt want this. We want a fair race. Trump is unpopular and so or y,Äôall. Let the NC people choose who they want.
10/16/25 5:09 PM	Charlene Carpenter		DO NOT CHANGE THE DISTRICTS!!!
10/16/25 5:09 PM	Elizabeth Habel		I think gerrymandering should be outlawed, no matter what party you are associated with.
10/16/25 5:09 PM	Melissa Koons		I think redistricting goes against what voters actually want. Allowing voters to choose their representatives is crucial for democracy and stacking the deck to get an outcome that political leaders desire instead of the people you serve is corrupt and deeply problematic. Our nation is founded on the principle of ‚ÄúWe the people,,Äù and those people have the right for their voices to be heard in their districts and their chosen, elected officials to serve and represent them in the Senate and Congress. Do not redraw maps because you,Äôre wanting to rig an election and terrified that you will be voted out. Allow the people their right to a fair vote and serve your constituents by stepping aside or leading as they elect.
10/16/25 5:10 PM	Adam Duncan		I am a registered Republican and feel that the effort to redraw the congressional map simply so the chances of Democrats winning a seat is greatly hindered and for the purposes of gaining an electoral advantage is extremely unnecessary.
10/16/25 5:10 PM	Mr William Brownlow		There is no need to redraw districts based on party affiliation as it creates problems should the administration change.
10/16/25 5:10 PM	Dr. Joseph Collins	Joe Collins	I hope that NC representatives and Senators have more integrity than other states who are engaging in political gerrymandering to benefit their party just prior to an election. It signals to nearly half of North Carolinians that their vote really doesn't count. Of course, I do not believe career politicians in any state or party should be in charge of districting. It amounts to politicians choosing their voters rather than vice versa.
10/16/25 5:10 PM	Lindsay Carter		I do not support this mid-decade partisan map. My representatives should not be taking orders from the president and rigging elections even further.
10/16/25 5:11 PM	Brian Hjalmarson		Who cares what Donald Trump wants? You as legislators are beholden to your citizens, not one man that will be gone in three years. This is wrong for the state of North Carolina. It,Äôs sad to know that the GOP feels it is so outclassed by independent and Democrat voters that they feel the only way they can win elections and seats in the electorate are to gerrymander districts. Just do right by people and you will keep the majority!
10/16/25 5:11 PM	Mr Greg Howell		The only way the districts need to redrawn if ever man and women of every color in North Carolina gets a seat at the table and we all know republicans are going to cheat this is coming from someone non affiliated leave if up to the people to decide not our officials after all you work for us and you have forgotten that
10/16/25 5:12 PM	Ms. Phyllis Rathbone		Politicians, whether Republican, Democrat, or other party, should NOT be involved in redrawing congressional seats/maps. This process and decision needs to be led by non-partisan representatives who will abide by the will of the voters in that district.
10/16/25 5:12 PM	Stop the Gerry mandering Christine Elyseev	Resident of NC	Do not redraw the map. Donald Trump is not your god and he doesn,Äôt speak for those of us in NC. You,Äôve already messed with the maps enough and they don,Äôt represent the people of our state. Pass a NC budget and stop playing games with our elections. All the people of NC deserve a voice not Washington DC and the people who don,Äôt live here and call NC home
10/16/25 5:13 PM	Ms Claire Eye		I absolutely do NOT support the redistricting, or -- more accurately termed, gerrymandering. It is obviously a GOP attempt to "steal" votes due to the awareness that the GOP will likely not "earn" said votes. It is cowardly and patently unfair.
10/16/25 5:13 PM	MELISSA BENHART		This is racial Gerrymandering.I guess one African American congressional member is one too many for the Grand Old Racist party.
10/16/25 5:13 PM	Lucas Freeman		I strongly oppose the 2025 redistricting plans proposed by the North Carolina General Assembly. These maps are a blatant attempt to entrench partisan power and silence voters, not to ensure fair representation. Drawn mid-cycle and outside the normal post-census process, these maps serve no purpose other than political gain. This gerrymandering undermines accountability by letting politicians choose their voters instead of the other way around. It erodes public trust and ignores the will of North Carolinians across party lines, who overwhelmingly support fair maps. We call on lawmakers to halt this redistricting process immediately and adopt an independent, transparent system that protects every voter,Äôs voice. Democracy depends on fair maps ‚Äî not rigged ones.
10/16/25 5:13 PM	Mr Eric Lindblom	Retired - live in NC	STOP THE GERRYMANDERING - LEAVE THE MAP AS IS (EVEN THOUGH YOU ARELADY GERRYMANDERED IT IN 2020. STOP, STOP, STOP. THIS IS TERRIBLE TO CHANGE TH EMAP MID CENSUS CYCLE.
10/16/25 5:13 PM	Bonnie Smith		NO.. do not redraw voting district maps.
10/16/25 5:13 PM	Teri Stahara		No to redistricting now....if Republicans are worried they will lose some power, they should work to bring down grocery costs, build affordable housing, and stop saying voting is not fair.

10/16/25 5:13 PM	Ms Ann McElhany		If you feel the need to redistrict before the next election that is a clear indicator that you know you have not done your job. You know you have failed your constituents . I,Âôve voted Republican in the past. I will not make that mistake again as I do not vote for cheaters!
10/16/25 5:14 PM	Ms. Leata Rich		You are being unfair by redistricting!!! What happened to a fair & just America???? Some scruples on the Republican side would be nice!
10/16/25 5:14 PM	Stop the Steal Karrie Marchbanks		MAGA republicans are ruining this State and the Country. There is absolutely no basis for this unlawful power grab. Instead of stealing votes, do right by your constituents and the country and you MIGHT get the votes you,Äôre looking for. Stop cheating, we,Äôre tired of it!
10/16/25 5:14 PM	Donald Berger	Retired	Do not approve this new redistricting map. It is a shameless political move to further disenfranchise NC voters. It makes no sense that a state which favored Trump by 2 percentage points has a 10-4 Republican house representation. The voice of 48% of our State's voters is barely being heard.
10/16/25 5:14 PM	Jane Wyatt		No!!!! We do not need anymore Republicans in NC. You have gerrymandered enough. We have 10 republicans to 4 democrats now. This is not fair. I usually vote for whom I think is the better person for the job whether it is Republican or Democrate. You are trying to shove the Republican party down our throats. This is not equal for both sides. You do this and I will never vote for another Republican.....
10/16/25 5:16 PM	Rebecca Caldwell		Absolutely shameful!!!!!
10/16/25 5:16 PM	Betty King		This is so unfair to the people of NC. You are teaching our younger voters it is ok to cheat!!!!! Don't vote for this. You will lose in the end
10/16/25 5:17 PM	Redistricting Concerns Ryan Sink		To the Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I am writing to express my deep concern regarding the recently drawn congressional maps that shift North Carolina,Äôs representation favoring 10 Republicans and 4 Democrats to 11 Republicans and 3 Democrats. While redistricting is a constitutional requirement following the census, this mid decade redistricting appears to have been guided more by partisan advantage than by the principles of fair and representative democracy. This change is not merely a matter of party balance,Äîit is a matter of the health of our democratic system. By heavily favoring one political party, the new maps risk silencing the voices of millions of North Carolinians who deserve meaningful representation in Congress. When legislative districts are drawn in a way that pre-determines electoral outcomes, voters lose faith in the power of their vote. That loss of faith erodes public trust, discourages participation, and deepens divisions within our communities. North Carolina has long been a politically competitive and diverse state. Our citizens do not all speak with one partisan voice, and our congressional delegation should reflect that diversity. A fair redistricting process should ensure that elections are decided by the people,Äînot by the drawing of lines on a map. The consequences of continued partisan gerrymandering extend far beyond state borders. When one party consolidates power through engineered maps, it contributes to a national trend toward one-party dominance and growing polarization. This undermines the checks and balances that our republic depends on and weakens the democratic institutions that protect all Americans, regardless of political affiliation. I urge you to revisit and reform North Carolina,Äôs redistricting process. Establish an independent, nonpartisan redistricting commission that prioritizes fairness, transparency, and equal representation. Our democracy functions best when every voter,Äôs voice carries equal weight,Äîwhen representation is earned through persuasion, not manipulation. The strength of our state and our nation depends on leaders willing to put democracy before party. I hope you will take that responsibility
10/16/25 5:17 PM	Miguel Morgado		The introduction of this new redistricting is just more evidence of Republicans admitting that they do not care or support free and fair elections. It's just another racist attempt to disenfranchise voters. They know they are forced to resort to this ad allowing people to actually have a voice would never allow them to gain power to begin with. Another step in solidifying the downfall of not just this beautiful state, but also the downfall of the United States of America. Giving in to the demands of a Dictator will not save you from consequences.
10/16/25 5:17 PM	Rhoda Groce		I,Äôm totally against any further ,Äúredistricting,Äù. It,Äôs itching but a blatant attempt to disenfranchise Democratic voters across the state!
10/16/25 5:17 PM	Ms Jodie Stamey		No redistricting

10/16/25 5:18 PM	Mr Kennedy Queen	N/A	The proposed NC Congressional Redistricting Plan is unfair and should not be put into place. NC is roughly evenly divided between registered Republican, Democrat, and Unaffiliated voters. With 14 Congressional districts, NC should have 7 Republican representatives and 7 Democrat representatives in The House of Representatives. The current 10-4 split is already gerrymandered inappropriately with 3 more seats for Republicans vs. Democrats. Gerrymandering is cheating. Gerrymandering does not give everyone an equally-weighted vote. Do the right thing, and if candidates platforms align with their constituents, they should able to win fairly, without having to cheat to gain a seat.
10/16/25 5:18 PM	Jennifer Brown		I believe a vital bedrock of America is free and FAIR elections and that no party should gerrymander district maps to unfairly favor their party. Maps should be fairly drawn to accurately and fairly represent ALL voters. If a party cannot win fairly on their policies alone then they don't deserve to win. Winning by cheating is not truly winning and it certainly has no place in a free and fair democracy. If EVERY voter is not fairly represented then our elections are effectively worthless and "We the People" have our voices silenced. For those reasons, our already heavily gerrymandered maps should NOT be redrawn. I pray Republican legislators will be brave and do the right thing, which is protecting every NC resident's vote by not unfairly further gerrymandering our district maps.
10/16/25 5:18 PM	Joyce Keever		This is so unfair to NC residents....Stop acting like Trump!!!!!
10/16/25 5:20 PM	Rosemary BuShea		To Whom It May Concern: No redistricting should be done outside of a ten year limit. To do otherwise is partisan politics that reeks of power grabbing. Republicans already have issues with the appearance of authoritarianism. Rosemary BuShea Hickory, NC
10/16/25 5:20 PM	Kirsten Vidinhar		I oppose the efforts to re-district North Carolina. (Shame on you all.)
10/16/25 5:20 PM	Mrs Elaine leisy		I'm opposed to the proposed redistricting of our counties in an attempt to dilute Don Davis's district. As a member of Pitt County I will still be voting for Don Davis!
10/16/25 5:20 PM	New Redistricting Maps Joshua Kloss		We need an independent and non-partisan committee to be in charge of districting, because this is ridiculous. It's not slick or sly, and it goes against the very idea of representatives of the citizens. District maps shouldn't have zones that look like the Nickelodeon logo. No taxation without representation. Those in power look to remain in power by loading the maps instead instead of appealing to their base and constituents, and goes against the entire premise this country was built on. This isn't democracy, it's coloring by the letter.
10/16/25 5:21 PM	Curtis Smerker		I think it is a total sham for Republicans to be trying to redistrict in the middle of a census due to their failed policies and having a authoritarian, fascist pig in the presidency. Trump started this b.s. in Texas and to try to convince the general public that Democrats started it Ludacris and damn shameful on the NC GOP. Grow a pair of balls and stand up to this orange menace before our country falls to a fascist regime fro Christ sake. He will screw you also as soon as he is through with you! That is a proven fact.
10/16/25 5:22 PM	Flo H		This plan should make everyone very concerned about the future of politics in North Carolina. The 2023/2024 congressional map redistricting literally made the US House race in District 13 an ease for the GOP candidate. The candidate literally had to do nothing, not even run campaign ads, after the primaries. He only had to exist. Are we satisfied with fixing elections so much through congressional redistricting that it makes a person not have to make a good faith effort or work diligently to earn an election win? Where is the honor in that? In my opinion, any candidate who wins an election supported through redistributing should have an asterisk by their victory. Redistributing is the ‚Äústeroids‚Äù of politics.
10/16/25 5:25 PM	Terry White		I'm not in favor of any redistricting!
10/16/25 5:25 PM	Mr. David Conroy		This is just plain, flat out, despicable and amounts to election theft. The budget, which was supposed to be passed by 1 July, is still not passed and teachers and other state employees have not be given a raise but you have found time to rig the election for King Trump. You are nothing short of despicable and worthless.
10/16/25 5:25 PM	Redrawing Maps Matthew Marshall		There‚Äôs no reason to redraw the maps in the middle of a decade. The census exists for a reason, this is nothing but a partisan attempt to seize more power. If maps are redrawn now, expect that democrats would redraw them again once in power. We have a democratic AG and governor. The power in the state will shift eventually.
10/16/25 5:26 PM	Phyllis Engels		Do not do this. You represent the people of North Carolina not Donald trump. This is cheating in my opinion.
10/16/25 5:26 PM	Ronnie Redden		Do so at your own peril!
10/16/25 5:27 PM	Ms Betty Dishman		Do not redraw the US House Districts! This is just a power grab proposed by Trump. Start thinking about winning fair and square and serving the people!

10/16/25 5:27 PM	Sylvester Carolan	N/A	These proposed maps are an unacceptable betrayal of the public's trust. With 84% of North Carolina voters demanding an end to gerrymandering, your duty is to listen. Pushing through maps that are clearly designed to benefit a political party over the people is a dereliction of that duty. We, your constituents, demand that you abandon these unfair maps and create districts that represent North Carolina communities, not the ambitions of politicians
10/16/25 5:29 PM	Mr. Jordan Samuels		Truthfully, I am dismayed by this plan to disenfranchise so many North Carolinians and take away the power of their votes. The courts may have said that partisan gerrymandering is A-OK, but we all know deep in our hearts that this is a deeply unfair and undemocratic thing to do. Power shouldn't be sought for the sake of power, and the NC General Assembly needs to govern with ALL North Carolinians in mind rather than drowning out the voices of half the residents of our state with this plan.
10/16/25 5:29 PM	Ms Sarah Hoss		Allowing so much power to be held by so few will not encourage the free expression of ideas, or true talent to advance. You will "cut off your nose to spite your face" or maybe "kill the chicken that lays the golden egg" is a better saying. A real debate and democratic process allows new ideas for improvements to be heard and consensus to grow. Then advances are realized. Please do not lock out the Democratic party in this state. Listen to others and make the elections match the true population's choices by decreasing political gerrymandering not increasing it. Thank you
10/16/25 5:30 PM	Adam Wiseman		I DO NOT support additional redistricting. NC citizens deserve equitable representation.
10/16/25 5:30 PM	Ms Barbara Morris		No changes should be made until after the next census.
10/16/25 5:30 PM	Anna Eason		DO NOT redistrict our state to favor one party. That is extremely dangerous and should be illegal. I used to be a republican, but you all have lost your collective minds.
10/16/25 5:30 PM	Jake Morrow	NA	I support redistricting via non partisan/ non profit organization redistricting input. Thank you.
10/16/25 5:31 PM	Mr. Ronald Godfrey		Do not redistrict!
10/16/25 5:31 PM	Faith Kirkland		This is shameful and a complete waste of resources. Our public leaders need to come together and pass a budget not cheat a congressional district! Work to improve schools, work to improve access to healthcare,Ä¶list can go on!
10/16/25 5:31 PM	Rusty Shackleford		This isn't the will of the people. It is unconstitutional and a blatant power grab to control the votes of the people. Work for you constituents and not for the Convicted Felon Pedophile sitting as president.
10/16/25 5:31 PM	John Pilson		Shame on the NCGOP. Gerrymandering is cheating, and Republican "public servants" know it. It is a practice that should be banned outright, not expanded even further simply to curry favor and serve the wishes of an authoritarian president. Trump is staring down very ugly midterm results without their obedience.
10/16/25 5:31 PM	Caitlin Marshall		Redrawing the district lines is all for 1 persons political gain and everyone knows it! It's cheating! It's trying to fix the system! I encourage you to stand up for what's right and DO NOT redraw those lines. Thee only reason the GOP has power is because those higher up aren't saying "No". Literally all it takes is to say "No".
10/16/25 5:31 PM	Marisa Thomas	Voter	My question is why? I,Äôve asked my representatives, Frank Iler and Charlie Miller, but nobody will explain why the urgency in this. It seems you should be working on the budget. Explain the reasoning behind these changes. Have there been significant population changes that warrant this?
10/16/25 5:33 PM	Mrs. Diane Rutledge		It is shameful that the Republicans swear allegiance to the Constitution but trade their integrity to an amoral man like Trump. Shame on all of you for not voting on what's best for the people of North Carolina--higher salaries and support for teachers and education, continued aid for Obamacare, taxing the rich to help fund what is needed. Corporations looking for a place to bring their companies and money look for states that support education so they can have an educated workforce and a variety of arts, culture and opportunities for recreation. You are setting North Carolina up to lose businesses and educational leaders. Do what's right: work with the Democrats and produce a workable budget and plan that will benefit the citizens of North Carolina, not Trump.
10/16/25 5:33 PM	Ms. Cassia Imholz		Shame on you NC GOP! Caving to the Orange Felon's quest to turn American into his own personal fiefdom. You know very well he - and you - and your policies- are very unpopular and without this additional gerrymandering you will lose the midterms and your majority in the House and Senate. Shame on you for putting party and yourselves before your constituents and the constitution. You are on the wrong side of history. Shameful!
10/16/25 5:33 PM	Mrs Hiawatha Penland		Stop the GOP Gerrymandering Power Grabbing!!! Allow people to elect their choice of representatives for their own districts!!!
10/16/25 5:34 PM	Patrick Cotten		I am opposed to this redistricting in the strongest possible terms. Firstly this is an horrible precedent, one that if enacted we all will come to regret. Secondly, we redistrict every ten years when the census and we have data on population change. And while I acknowledge that there is always some level of politics and gerrymandering in doing so. Mid-cycle purely politically motivated redistricting is a can of worms that we should not open.
10/16/25 5:34 PM	Jolene Overbeck		Absolutely not. A president does not get to say the opposing party,Äôs votes should be nullified nor do you.
10/16/25 5:34 PM	Mandy Smith-Thompson		This partisan map made at the direction of the president in exchange for an endorsement is an example of corruption. I do NOT want my state representatives taking orders from the president. I do not support this. Please work, instead, on a state budget that strengthens communities and pays teachers a living wage.
10/16/25 5:35 PM	Laura Lillard		I am opposed to this extreme gerrymandering attempt! The people of North Carolina deserve fair representation, not blatant power grabs!

10/16/25 5:35 PM	Chuck Brodsky		Don't do it! Show some integrity!
10/16/25 5:37 PM	Catherine Lieberman		What is the reason for redistricting? Is it just stack the deck in Trump/GOP favor? Do you REALLY think this allows for free elections?!?!? NO REDISTRICTING!!!! There is no valid reason to do this!
10/16/25 5:37 PM	Mrs. Ruth Haskett	Democratic Party	I am not in favor of redrawing lines. They are constantly redraw to help the in-house political party. Both parties should work together, for the betterment of the country, and "all" citizens. We want a democracy, Not a kingdom!
10/16/25 5:37 PM	Nathan Hawkins		No. Districts need to be more competitive. North Carolina has fairly equal proportions of voters for the two main parties and our state and federal legislative branches do not reflect that. In this state, the politicians are choosing the voters when it is supposed to be the voters choosing the politicians. This gerrymandering garbage needs to stop.
10/16/25 5:38 PM	JUSTIN PEED		Stop your power grab! Stop claiming its to stop California's redistricting efforts when TEXAS started the mid year redistricting. GOP Powegrabs must STOP
10/16/25 5:38 PM	Jennifer Errico	A Concerned Constituent	I,Âôm writing to oppose any redistricting plan designed to favor a political party. Gerrymandering,Äîregardless of which party benefits,Äîundermines fair representation and weakens public trust in our democracy. I urge you to reject maps drawn for partisan advantage and instead support a transparent, nonpartisan process that ensures every vote counts equally.
10/16/25 5:39 PM	Martha Nourse		I do not agree with the proposal to redraw the maps outside the normal timeframe and use of census data.
10/16/25 5:39 PM	Mark Karels		No. Lines shouldn,Äôt be redrawn. Stand on your own merits instead of rigging the system.
10/16/25 5:41 PM	Mr Andrew Miracle	North Carolina Citizen	This power grab by the NC GOP is hardly surprising. Instead of growing spines and standing up for the values they have laid claim too for my entire life they shamelessly cuck themselves to a fail son authoritarian grifter. North Carolina is a 50/50 state and the only redistricting I would support would be non-partisan and fair. Unfortunately these are two things the current NC GOP is incapable of.
10/16/25 5:41 PM	Ryan Lubbers		Please stop partisan Gerrymandering! It,Äôs un-American! Fair maps that represent the people are top priority.
10/16/25 5:41 PM	Objecting Constituant Rachael Mullins	NC State	I highly object to the redrawing of the congressional maps on the consideration that they are not being redrawn in the interests of North Carolinians. It is the job of the the GA to work for the people of North Carolina not the politicians of DC. It,Äôs an egregious offense to be redrawing the maps with such a partisan hand and disregard to North Carolinian Voices.
10/16/25 5:42 PM	Mr. Paul Pavlis		Do NOT redistrict under any circumstances.
10/16/25 5:42 PM	Alec Higgins		This continued attempt to gerrymander North Carolina is a testament to the inadequacy of the Republican platform to actually care for Tar Heels. If Republicans thought they could win a fair election, they wouldn,Äôt need to tie our state,Äôs districts in knots ,Äî not to mention illegally taking over the State Board of Elections and further disempowering the Governor, who beat their embarrassment of a candidate in a landslide ,Äî to get it done. Every vote for this flagrantly unconstitutional redistricting plan is a vote against democracy, and even if voters lose our power to punish the responsible Republicans for it at the ballot box, we will fight to take back our Supreme Court and punish them in our courtrooms.
10/16/25 5:43 PM	Ms. Jan Pavlis		Do NOT redistrict under any circumstances.
10/16/25 5:44 PM	Susan Coe		ABSOLUTELY DON'T REDISTRICT. The state's delegation to Congress should represent the political leanings of ALL the state. As it is, the state has been openly gerrymandered to favor the Republican party. Making it even more skewed will not serve the state or its population. Constituents should choose their representatives, not the opposite. Also, the Republicans won't be in power forever and they won't like it when the gerrymandering is changed
10/16/25 5:45 PM	Ms. Teresa Corn		North Carolina is a deeply divided state. Redistricting as proposed is nothing more than an attempt at extreme partisan gain. This has been going on for decades. The current reshaping of the interpretation of 1965 Voting Rights Act will lead to environment that seeks to silence the voices of minorities. That being said, gaining House seats will be not be determined by gerrymandering but by the Healthcare crisis. Lines on a map are meaningless when my Healthcare costs double and the government can send billions overseas rather than taking care of the real problems in the economy here. I hope you realize that certain things go beyond party lines. Consensus and negotiation is negated by gerrymandering. Draw lines with fairness in mind. Lines should reflect equal representation and the diversity of North Carolina's population...not just the registered voters.

10/16/25 5:45 PM	Matthew Mullins		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the newly proposed congressional district maps. The maps appear to prioritize partisan advantage over fair representation, undermining the foundational principle that voters should choose their representatives ,Äî not the other way around. North Carolina,Äôs voters deserve districts that reflect genuine communities and ensure that every vote carries equal weight, regardless of political affiliation. Extreme gerrymandering erodes public trust in our democratic institutions and diminishes the accountability of our elected officials. I urge you to adopt fair, transparent, and nonpartisan redistricting practices that serve the people of North Carolina
10/16/25 5:46 PM	Mr Ian Burney		I see this redistricting as a complete abuse of power and not the voice of the people you represent. Redrawing the maps under the orders of your "Dear Leader" is further showing you are not serious about your position in government. Please resend this map and stop the gerrymandering your group has been pushing through for the past 15 years.
10/16/25 5:46 PM	Sarah Patton		Stop the bowing and scraping. He is not a god, and he won,Äôt be around forever. When the Trump era/nightmare has ended, where will you be?!? I don,Äôt know what happened to my party. I am ashamed.
10/16/25 5:46 PM	James DeFelice		Civilized societies fail, when the minority seeks to control the majority.
10/16/25 5:48 PM	Kerry Shackleford	Self	Don,Äôt redraw the districts. It is election tampering and a threat to democracy. Follow the census as has been done traditionally. Voters of both parties do not like this. If you proceed, I will sell my lovely mountain home and take my tax dollars to a state that provides fair representation. I will not be the only one who does.
10/16/25 5:48 PM	Cate Rheney		Disgraceful and a disgusting power grab! Why are you doing Trump,Äôs bidding? His policies (tariffs, BBB, $40B to Argentina, weaponizing the DOJ) have hurt North Carolinians. I am ?? against the redistricting of an already gerrymandered map. I,Äôm a republican BTW.
10/16/25 5:48 PM	Nancy B		There is zero need to redraw our maps.
10/16/25 5:49 PM	Ms Cynthia Lopez	None	Please do not engage in redistricting at this time. NC is an evenly split state and our representatives should reflect this. If Democrats were still in control and engaged in this behavior, Republicans would object. NC should remain above the fray of the crazy political maneuvering going on in our country right now. We are better than this! Thank you for soliciting citizens input.
10/16/25 5:52 PM	Dr Stephen Strock		Shame on you, NC Republicans. We already have one of the most heavily gerrymandered states in the country and you,Äôre seeking to make it even less representative of the population. Trump won NC last year by 2%, yet we already have 71% Republicans in the House BEFORE your planned worsening gerrymander. This is ridiculous! Not to mention that you,Äôre throwing in with a fascist trying to claim dictatorial powers. There is supposed to be a separation of powers. Do your bit and claim back legislative power before it,Äôs gone. Give power and representation to the people.
10/16/25 5:53 PM	Ms Virginia Himmelheber		I oppose the proposed changes. It is important that any redistricting reflect the true proportions of our political parties.
10/16/25 5:53 PM	Earnest Murray		I am unequivocally opposed to this plan for redrawing our state's Congressional districts. While those proposing the plan call it "legal" -- and no matter if the current majority in our courts agree with them -- all who have any conscience or hold Christian values know this plan is unethical, immoral, and does not in any way represent all the people of our state fairly or equitably. I ask our legislators to abandoned this plan and and all such gerrymandered plans in the future, and to pass the "Fair Maps Act" as proposed in House Bill 20 and Senate Bill 638 of the 2025-2026 legislative session. Thank you.
10/16/25 5:56 PM	Delton Oxendine		I'm a Veteran who fought for the very Freedoms the NC Republican Leadership is trying to take away. Elections should be Free and Fair for all of the people of NC. Not just the ones that vote for you. That's cheating. You're being selfish and this is something a true Christian wouldn't do. If you're afraid you're going to lose, then you need to ask yourself why? Republicans need to stop following the orders of an evil man and do the right thing.
10/16/25 5:57 PM	Robert Robert McDonnell		NC demands that , based on actual voter %'s, the honest and correct thing to do is a fair representation for all voters. Basing on district per Party, rather than actual voter representation , flies in the face of honest and fair election. Sooner or later the tables will turn, or not, based on this outcome
10/16/25 5:57 PM	Bob Ballard		This is s terrible idea. You,Äôve gerrymandered the state enough already.
10/16/25 5:58 PM	Ms Helaine Cuddy		I am totally against it. Make them fair. Stop cowtowing to the pedo.g
10/16/25 5:58 PM	Wyatt Salus		This is a blatant attempt to subvert the will of the voters in NC. Don't do it. This state is much more purple than Republicans would have us believe, and our district maps should represent that, quite contrary to the recently proposed map. That map would make an overwhelming majority of NC house seats Republican safe districts, when a 50/50 or 60/40 representation is much more accurate to the state's population. If this map goes through, you show that you no longer care for democracy and seek only to enable a fascist agenda.

10/16/25 5:58 PM	James Talbott		Any redistricting not directly tied to more fairly distributing representation and moving away from North Carolina's already extant extreme and radical republican gerrymandering is nothing more than a cowardly attempt to maintain power against the obvious unpopularity of the republican party's policies. The current proposition is both without any legitimate basis and a full admission of the complete abandonment of the even remote idea that elected officials are meant to represent their constituency. This plan should be scrapped in its entirety and a new map drawn that accurately reflects the near 50/50 nature of North Carolina's population.
10/16/25 5:58 PM	AYFKMRN? Chuck Gore		NC does not need leaders who kowtow to a dictator. The districts are fine the way they are. Quit trying to kiss Trump,Äôs ass and focus on NC,Äôs issues.
10/16/25 5:59 PM	Katherine Brinkmann		This is completely unacceptable. Y,Äôall are supposed to be representing us, the citizens, not blindly following what the President tells you to do. Gerrymandering is wrong and you shouldn,Äôt be redistributing mid-decade.
10/16/25 6:01 PM	Scott Engels		Before you elevate the wishes of the wannabe king or his lackeys, you should do your job and represent the people of NC. There is no need, absolutely none, to further gerrymander a 50-50 split state through redistricting. Get back to work for the people and pass a budget.
10/16/25 6:02 PM	Celeste Collins	Retired	Please make the districts make sense for all North Carolinians. Do NOT splinter progressive communities because we deserve representation too. Please do NOT manipulate the districts to eliminate competitive races. Let the people decide in free and fair elections. Do NOT bow to Donald Trump,Äôs pressure to redraw maps outside the normal census results. And we need a state budget! That,Äôs what y,Äôall should be doing. Please. We are counting on you!!!
10/16/25 6:03 PM	Redistricting Joe Bolenbaugh		How dare you cowards do this. You are disgusting fascists. You were losers in the Confederacy, losers in the Klan, and now you're just losers in the Republican party. Get fucked you traitors.
10/16/25 6:05 PM	Erick Tang		The proposed maps are a travesty. In what world is it fair to award 79% of the State's representation to the GOP when North Carolina is a battleground state that votes close to 50/50 during Presidential elections? The GOP likes to say that it stands for fair elections and is against rigging the vote. What do you call this?
10/16/25 6:05 PM	Mr Edward Pratt	Unaffiliated Voter	I am a registered (Unaffiliated) voter in Henderson County, NC. I am appalled by the naked political shenanigans associated with mid-term (of census) redistricting. While I have traditionally voted for conservative candidates, this action makes it unlikely that I will be able to continue to do so. This is political corruption.
10/16/25 6:06 PM	State Gerrymanding Jason Kinney		Howdy. I,Äôm a resident of Randolph County. As far as I,Äôm aware, my County is not significantly changed in the new District Map. That being said, I think it,Äôs important for the Congress to hear your constituents issues with this. It is unarguable that this is a massive breach of conduct and you, the State Congress, are using our state as a battle ground for Federal politics. The states are independent (in regard to voting) for a reason, please keep it that way. If you want to say ,ÄúHe won the state before so he should win the state again,Äù then you should be okay with not changing the map. Please do not ruin our great state by trying to win browny points with Trump.
10/16/25 6:06 PM	Kelly Sloan		The gerrymandering in the proposed map is an egregious abuse of power by Republicans bending over backwards to bootlick an administration that has done nothing for this state but abandon working families, leaving them to struggle through the war zone left by Helene and stripping them of the basics healthcare they need to survive. If it were possible for the Republicans who rigged not only this map but the Supreme Court at both the state and national level to feel shame, they should feel it now.
10/16/25 6:06 PM	Diane Oggoian		NO! Why do you have to cheat in order to secure more GOP seats? I am a white female senior citizen and I am absolutely HORRIFIED at what the GOP is doing.
10/16/25 6:07 PM	Eli Thorn		Are you so incapable of governing appropriately that the only way is to force your way into homes via redistricting. The GOP is unable to even grift appropriately; every change made to pull power is just another point to come back around when the votes swing the other way. If your beliefs and policies were popular this wouldn't be needed, but they aren't; they're not popular politically or culturally. Vultures wouldn't waste their time on you.
10/16/25 6:08 PM	Eddie Faw	None	Why waste the time and money. It is obvious that Republicans control the state. The cost is not worth another seat to support Trump. Plus our state has a large number of unaffiliated voters therefore regardless of how heavy a district is in either party, the unaffiliated could change that in each election.
10/16/25 6:09 PM	Kayla Igo-Kneasel		This is a disgusting abuse of power at the directive of a dementia-riddled psychopathic white supremacist. Republicans can't win on their own merit because their agenda is so unpopular, so they cheat. Shame on all of you.
10/16/25 6:10 PM	Mr. Brian May		Redistricting should be done without bias whether that bias is political or otherwise. Districts should be geographically compact, and of equal populations. Software should be developed and used to create the districts without any input of demographic information beyond population. There is no excuse to complicate things beyond this in this day and age.
10/16/25 6:10 PM	Dean Schultz		Having voted republican in the past I find it embarrassing and despicable that the Republicans are stooping into the sewer to win elections!!! Shame on you and if you can't win fairly get out of the race!!!
10/16/25 6:12 PM	Robert MacDonald		Don't redistrict.

10/16/25 6:12 PM	Ms. Alicia Swaringen		As someone whose ancestors have been in NC since the 1700s, I am appalled at the unfairness of Republicans trying to gerrymandering EVEN FURTHER the votes of NC. NO to changing the lines unless it is to create a MORE BALANCED playing field to reflect the fact that there are more Democrat leaning voters than are represented by representatives.
10/16/25 6:12 PM	No gerrymandering! Rosemary Pugliese		What are you afraid of? How about we have honest voting and see how the people feel? No gerrymandered and rigged maps! No redistricting mid census!
10/16/25 6:12 PM	Stop stealing elections Julia Teneralli	Citizen	Why is the GOP so scared to have honest elections? If you really cared about citizens voting and are concerned about upholding the Constitution, like your oath states, let each vote count honestly. Maps should be drawn by third parties with no political affiliation. That would be the most fair thing to do. Wanting to redistrict because the president states he wants it done to get more votes is reprehensible. Grow a backbone and stand up for the citizens of NC like you are supposed to. You represent the people and are supposed to uphold the Constitution, not your party or the president. It is truly embarrassing to be from The U.S. right now.
10/16/25 6:13 PM	Tom Brooks		This is shameful power grab by people who know they are doing things their constituents don‚Äôt want. I am old enough to remember when the voters picked their representatives instead of this plan that has the representatives picking their voters
10/16/25 6:13 PM	Anti-Democracy Michele Hughes		Further gerrymandering our already highly gerrymandered state because the president told you to is absolutely disgusting and not democratic at all. This goes against the will of the people, much like many of your policies. Your job is not to protect your own prospects and impose your will, it is to carry out the will of your constituents and you are directly opposing that with all the gerrymandering. I hope that those responsible for this map get voted out and have the lives they deserve.
10/16/25 6:15 PM	mike scow		Absolutely no more redistricting. This is partisan to its core. Asheville is already split in half to dilute progressive votes. Gerrymandering voting districts is tantamount to treason; intentionally disenfranchising North Carolinians is morally offensive and unAmerican.
10/16/25 6:15 PM	Guy Stevens		How about work on the state budget instead? This is baloney and everyone knows it. Supporting this is an attempt to thwart the voters from expressing their desire for change in government and take the power away from the citizens and keep it with our felon president.
10/16/25 6:15 PM	Joe Michael		Why can‚Äôt we simply play fair and not try to cheat? This proposal is disgusting and does not have this Republican‚Äôs support. You‚Äôre making us look like fools.
10/16/25 6:15 PM	Gabriela Scarritt		Voters voices matter.
10/16/25 6:17 PM	Dr Cristina Germond		I wholeheartedly disagree with this outlandish redistricting proposal. Our purple state should have an opportunity to elect representatives that actually REPRESENT the people.
10/16/25 6:18 PM	Matt Levin		Do Not Do This. NC has been gerrymandered enough. Protect Democracy. We need free and fair elections. This would destroy that.
10/16/25 6:18 PM	Mr William Neel	N/A	This is a terrible idea that promotes the perception of minority rule in North Carolina. It is antidemocratic and is akin to shoplifting when the shopkeeper is distracted. We need a nonpartisan redistricting process in NC, not disenfranchisement if voters.
10/16/25 6:19 PM	Commissioner Susan Rodriguez-McDowell		Have you no shame? Lying, cheating and stealing are wrong. Sending you my comment will not make any difference, I know that, but your egregious lack of fairness, decency and honor should not go by without comment. You are on the wrong side of history and the people will not forget. SHAME!
10/16/25 6:19 PM	Mrs. Casey Piatt		I am deeply concerned that the proposed redistricting maps do not fairly represent the voters of our state. The maps appear to be drawn in a way that favors one party rather than reflecting the more moderate and balanced demographics that truly define our communities. Redistricting should ensure fair representation, not entrench political power. The timing of these proposed changes raises additional concerns about intent and transparency. I urge the Assembly to reject any maps that fail to honor the will and diversity of the people.
10/16/25 6:20 PM	Jodi Casher		Please do your jobs to represent We The People (all the people) and uphold the constitution. The maps in NC should be an actual representation of constituents in this state and not gerrymandered to suit your political gain.

10/16/25 6:21 PM	Miss Paula Counts	Public Citizen - Democrat	Here we have another underhanded scheme of trying to steal an election that should be decided by a fair election under democracy. Since the Republicans feel that they cannot gain power or win an election the fair way, then their only recourse is to cheat or gerrymander or redraw the map of NC to give republicans the upper hand. All North Carolinians need to be represented fairly regardless of race, creed, or sexual orientation. Taking the country back prior to civil rights is nothing but rascist and bigotry. A fair representation is required, for all the people regardless of their status of class, (upper, middle, and lower), and those experiencing poverty. Community and everyday issues like unemployment, childcare, food insecurity, and homeless need to accurately be addressed by our government and not overlooked or bypassed. The people are tired of not having the right representation in office. It has become overwhelming for so many people who are unable cope and make it. The reason why so many people are unable to cope is due to the hands of top administration is unfathomable, unreal, but most of all heartbreaking, because we have a President that cares nothing for Americans regardless of whether they are Democrats or Republicans. The lines were just redrawn not long ago, and the census does not warrant another redrawing of the map. It is unjustified and illegal. It is only being done in retaliation because California redrew their map, which was done because Texas redrew their map at the request of a Convicted Felon (which is an Official Government Record), that is a bigot, and hates 60% of the Americans in the United States that he is supposed to represent, (also stated by the President in an article not an allegation). I am against redrawing of the NC Map, it is illegal. he Republicans already have the majority of representation in NC. Prior to this most recent election of the Govenor and State Attorney General, the power of the Attorney General and Govenor was stripped away because the Republicans can veto or had a clause that takes the power away from the Attorney General to file particular cases against the Fedeal Government. Because of this, the majority of North Carolinians suffer from their power being reduced and are not being fully represented or receiving the benefits that should be afforded to them.
10/16/25 6:21 PM	David Tate		No, just no to redistricting in the middle of the decade.
10/16/25 6:22 PM	Jeanette Van Vickle		I am IRATE that North Carolina continues to face issues with partisan gerrymandering. If a new redistricting plan is truly necessary, it must be one that ENDS POLITICAL MANIPULATION of district boundaries once and for all. Any member of the state legislature who supports further gerrymandering is undermining the will of the people and should be HELD ACCOUNTABLE by voters. Partisan gerrymandering has eroded the foundations of democracy in North Carolina, leaving many citizens feeling that their votes no longer matter. This must change,Äîour elections should reflect fair representation, not political advantage.
10/16/25 6:23 PM	Don,Âôt tread on NC Nelson Leonard		I doubt the party that has already gerrymandered themselves in the state assembly will care what anyone who disagrees with them says. But still, it needs to be said. It is unpatriotic to take away what little representation the Democratic Party has in this state. Time and time again we show that we are a purple state, much like how time and time again, this country shows that it is purple. But like so many other states, gerrymandering has made it impossible to accurately represent the voters. If you do this, you will prompt another state to mitigate republican representation. We as Americans, as North Carolinians, are not divided. We are BEING divided by people like Berger and Caldwell because it,Äôs the only way they can survive politically.
10/16/25 6:23 PM	Redistricting C F		Hi. Voters depend on fair voting processes. Let voters decide who wins, don,Âôt cheat to get the vote you want. It is unconstitutional and un American.
10/16/25 6:25 PM	Ms. Ragena White		I do not support the redistricting plan that is proposed. Redistricting should be done after a census, every 10 years. Gerrymandering by either side is unacceptable.
10/16/25 6:25 PM	MS. Patricia Gill		I do not approve any congressional redistricting in North Carolina.
10/16/25 6:26 PM	Ms Angela Hines		Leave the maps alone. You,Âôve gerrymandered them to death. Cheating isn,Âôt a good look.
10/16/25 6:26 PM	Trenton Braswell		I disapprove of the gerrymandering that is happening. The people should be choosing their representatives, not the government choosing their people.
10/16/25 6:27 PM	Redistricting Elizabeth Conder		I am strongly opposed to this redistricting proposal for our state. It,Äôs a blatant attempt to try to hold onto the House of Representatives, which the Republicans are now poised to lose. Shame on you! If you want to hold onto the house, appeal to voters with policies which you know as well as I the Trump administration is incapable of doing!
10/16/25 6:28 PM	Mr. George Hahn		I am 100% against the NC Republican Party,Äô redistricting plan. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. This plan reeks of desperation and if Republicans are worried about losing elections, they should consider policy changes first.
10/16/25 6:28 PM	Patrick Patton		To quote Thomas Paine, "A body of men holding themselves accountable to nobody ought not to be trusted by anybody." By seeking to create a further illegitimate representation of the republican party you are showing yourselves to be completely unworthy of any trust from voters of any stripe. If you continue to push this measure forward without any public support I hope you appreciate the harsh times it will create for many.

10/16/25 6:28 PM	Casey Watkins		I STRONGLY oppose and condemn the possible redistricting. I will call it what it is- a blatant attempt at further gerrymandering our already unfairly gerrymandered state. I hope our lawmakers can actually listen to the people and respect their needs- not just pass legislation and create districts that seem to only serve themselves and their corporate overlords. I used to be proud of North Carolina. Don,Äôt make it worse. Thank you.
10/16/25 6:29 PM	Joseph Hightower		Gerrymandering is a plague on this nation, regardless of who does it.
10/16/25 6:29 PM	Sharon Kanipe		I wish you could do something about Buncombe County. The city of Asheville is blue and the republican party can't get a single republican on either the City or County commissioner boards. We have zero say - zero representation. Turn all of NC RED!
10/16/25 6:29 PM	Denise Messer		It is frustrating to live in a state that consistently ignores fairness in favor of politics. North Carolina is a swing state, with close % of Republicans and Democrats, proven by our statewide and national voting, but the state legislature continues to shut down the voices of half the citizens by gerrymandering Democratic areas and votes. The state legislature should be ashamed of itself.
10/16/25 6:30 PM	Mrs Carolyn Ledford	Retired RN	NO, I do not approve of any redistricing or gerrymandering because our Autocratic President Trump called for it. I am saddened by these NC Congress members who say "How High" when Trump says jump. You should listen to average citizens who are being harmed by Trump's inflation.
10/16/25 6:31 PM	Timothy Campbell		The proposed redistricting plan is a blatantly partisan effort by the Republican party to secure political power at the expense of their constituents. The idea that this new map could be considered anything other than an an attempt to disenfranchise non-Republicans is nothing short of laughable, and anyone who makes such a claim is either delusional or lying. The proposed Republican map, or any similar gerrymandered map, should not ever be used.
10/16/25 6:31 PM	No Gerrymandering Lauren Roland		I am not in favor of further Gerrymandering NC. Please consider independent redistricting.
10/16/25 6:32 PM	Sep. Of Powers. St.Rights Benjamin Boyd		By no means should any state be beholden to the executive branch to redraw it's districts based on the executive's preferred party having a majority. States reserve the right to draw their boundaries as best meet the representation needs of the state's people, not the needs of the executive branch. NC is "purple" at best, attempts to force us into a representation of "deep red" to align with the will of the White House is disingenuous to North Carolinians. I have voted across both parties many times and do not see the reason for any redistricting unless it is to more realistically reflect the fairly evenly divided electorate of our state.
10/16/25 6:33 PM	Dr. Kathryn Pollak		To Whom It May Concern: I strongly encourage you to not redraw the maps for North Carolina. Already, our maps do not represent people in NC fairly. We should have a 7-7 split, but we have a 10-4 split favoring Republicans. If we redraw the maps to give Republicans yet another district, this disenfranchises voters by putting them all in the same district. Please do not make NC even more gerrymandered. And honestly, I think a nonpartisan body should be responsible for drawing the maps in NC. No matter who is in power, they will be tempted to draw the maps in their favor. Democrats have done this as well as Republicans. I think maps need to represent the people. Thank you. Dr. Kathryn Pollak
10/16/25 6:33 PM	William Smith		North Carolina should have fair districts to allow all to have representation. We should not be concerned about consolidation power or trying to move forward Donald Trump's agenda.
10/16/25 6:33 PM	Eric Prouty		Voters are supposed to pick their legislators, not the other way around. Do NOT do this.
10/16/25 6:34 PM	Beverly Brendle		Definitely redraw the map!
10/16/25 6:34 PM	Matthew Dolian		I strongly oppose this power grab.
10/16/25 6:34 PM	Jeremy Smith		Recent calls to redraw North Carolina,Äôs legislative and congressional districts raise serious concerns regarding stability, legal precedent, administrative cost, and public confidence. While redistricting is essential following each decennial census, excessive or politically motivated redraws between cycles can erode voter trust, invite costly litigation, and destabilize representation. This memorandum outlines the principal reasons why the state should not pursue another redrawing of district boundaries at this time. The arguments presented are grounded in considerations of governance continuity, constitutional prudence, fiscal responsibility, and institutional integrity.
10/16/25 6:35 PM	Joseph Smith		The federal government is already grossly overreaching its authority into states and individuals,Äô rights as it is. This call by the federal government for state governments to rig the maps is unconscionable and undemocratic. As a proud American and North Carolinian, I implore you to stand up for our republic and our constitution by standing against this partisan assault on American democracy.

10/16/25 6:36 PM	Vera Greene		Absolutely not. Please immediately withdraw this blatant and transparent attempt to monopolize power. Remember that you were democratically elected. Remember that the Founding Fathers intended to establish an enduring democracy. Do not fail them. Do not betray your constituents.
10/16/25 6:36 PM	William Smith		It's also disingenuous to say this is an attempt to nullify Democrat redistrcting. The push to redistrict was begun in August by Republicans in Texas. Both parties should focus on the economy to support all of us!
10/16/25 6:37 PM	A Shehan		Stop with the gerrymandering and let everyone's vote count or you are bringing about the end of the Democratic experiment of America.
10/16/25 6:37 PM	Stop Redistricting John Parson		I am wholly against the NCGOP,Äôs attempt to redistrict to appease Trump and maintain the Republican congressional majority. This is not the will of the people. This is making it harder for one party to win by lessening the voting power of areas that tend to vote a certain way and if that,Äôs how the republicans have to win, isn,Äôt that a tad pathetic? Couldn,Äôt they win by maybe appealing to voters and changing their policies?
10/16/25 6:38 PM	Joel Martin		I,Äôm sure this will fall on deaf ears but this is nothing but gerrymandering But you know that already and obviously don,Äôt have the principles to care
10/16/25 6:39 PM	Starr Cash		Non partisan independent maps.
10/16/25 6:39 PM	Marisa Clayton		Please DO NOT redistrict. As a proud North Carolinian and American, I value fair and free elections, not an immoral grab for power.
10/16/25 6:40 PM	Redistricting Abigail Gilmor		If you,Äôre going to redistrict, then I encourage you to do to reflect the actual state data. 50%\50% else I,Äôll work to vote out everyone responsible for this.
10/16/25 6:40 PM	Sidney Pidgeon		Redistricting for a 3rd time in 3 years is manipulative of North Carolinians. We deserve maps representative or our people. Please do not change our congressional maps again to appease a political party. Let North Carolinians have a voice over their representation and let fair voting tell us what policies are popular and truly representative.
10/16/25 6:42 PM	Lori Willis		Our household is in favor of the newly redrawn maps! President Trump has a mandate from the voters of NC and our country by winning every swing state, the popular vote and the electoral college! We need a larger majority in the House to accomplish the goals set forth in his election campaign!
10/16/25 6:42 PM	Terrible plan James Robinson	Self	The off-census-year redistricting proposal is a shameless gerrymander kow tow to the President's attempts to further avoid the threat of checks and balances.
10/16/25 6:43 PM	NC Williams	None	Please do not redraw the maps outside the standard timeframe based on the ACS. This really further erodes the public trust. The party is already distrusted & disliked over not passing a budget, cancelling the NCDHHS HOP program (incredibly cost efficient & beneficial health program, not supporting & funding teachers, taking money away from public schools to benefit the wealthy & private schools, etc.etc.etc. The party is no longer any semblance of what it used to stand for-limited government & fiscal conservatives. Doing the bidding of an authoritarian is not american. It's an incredibly sad & disheartening day when you only care about power, rigging elections, & NOT YOUR CONSTITUENTS. It's not a good look. Sad & pitiful. :(
10/16/25 6:43 PM	Stephanie Lowder		I do not approve of the proposed redistricting. The voice/will of NC voters are being ignored by GOP leaders in our General Assembly. Oppression, tyranny - call it what you want, but all NC citizens know it is Un-American and unacceptable.
10/16/25 6:43 PM	Mr. Adam Arthur		Please do not give in to this un-American drive towards a one-party rule. Trump's authoritarian tendencies need to be curbed, not encouraged. History will not look kindly on this.
10/16/25 6:44 PM	Mr Eric Knupp		This is absolutely ignorant and abhorrent. YOU DO NOT WORK FOR Donald Trump, you work for us CITIZENS OF NORTH CAROLINA. You need to quit gerrymandering this state and do the right thing. You know it,Äôs wrong and you know doing this crap after you just did it for the 2024 elections is wrong. STOP being power hungry and start being true Americans, not a billionaire,Äôs puppet!
10/16/25 6:45 PM	Alirio Estevez		Members of the General Assembly: This irresponsible and antidemocratic proposal should not be passed. The people of North Carolina are fed up with politicians gerrymandering districts to benefit themselves instead of serving the people. I hope you have the bravery to reject this proposal and stand up for the people of North Carolina.
10/16/25 6:46 PM	Opposition To Redraw Nick Jacobsmeyer		What is wrong with you guys? You are disenfrancing the over 10 million voters across the state by gerrymandering the district boundaries in favor of your political party. The map is already gerrymandered because it gives the GOP an 10-4 advantage in the delegation. Now you guys want to redraw the map to make it even more rigged into an 11-3 map. You all are spineless cowards who could give less of a damn on what voters want. North Carolina is a swing state, but the district lines guarantee it,Äôs not. Instead of caring about what NC constituents want, you would rather serve the abhorrent and traitorous agenda of Donald Trump, the orange who is pissing all over this country like the plague.

10/16/25 6:47 PM	Ms Pam Williamson	N/A	It's all very clear to all of us, regardless of political party. You're looking to rig elections before a single vote is cast to further consolidate and entrench your power even more than you already have. It doesn't matter to you that this map is fundamentally undemocratic and contributes to even more extreme political polarization because you really don't give a damn about either of those two things. Heaven forbid you should choose instead to encourage compromise, listen to opposing views, or appeal to moderate voters to get the votes you need to win when adopting this map is so much easier. Besides, adopting this map also removes all accountability you owe to anyone other than your financial backers. Is this really the person you are or that you want to be? Or that you want to go down in history as? Because that's where you're headed.
10/16/25 6:47 PM	Richard Cooke		Sad. You Repugs are destroying NC by bending over for Trump.
10/16/25 6:47 PM	Ms Linds Mulvihill		Gerrymandering should be illegal. Shame on all of you. If you,Äôre good at representing your constituents, there would be no need to cheat. American democracy depends upon the vote of the people and not rule by the minority.
10/16/25 6:48 PM	Kathy Sears		I do not believe that North Carolina needs any more gerrymandering. The proposed maps unfairly silence the voices of those that go to the ballot box and may not agree with whatever majority the new districts are drawn to achieve. This is blatant cheating and I would hope that all politicians would be above this. They should not be allowed to move forward.
10/16/25 6:49 PM	Jason Lux		Our democracy is being distorted by gerrymandering. We all know what it is, the deliberate manipulation of district lines to give one party an advantage over the other. But what we often forget is just how deeply undemocratic it truly is. Gerrymandering allows politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. That,Äôs not democracy, that,Äôs political engineering. Let,Äôs talk about what that actually looks like in our state. Our population is split almost evenly roughly half support one party, half support the other. Yet somehow, the map we would live under produces a legislature that,Äôs 75% controlled by one party and only 25% by the other. How is that representative of the people? It isn,Äôt. It,Äôs a manipulation of geography and math to entrench power. In practice, it means that half of the voters in this state half of the taxpayers, half of the citizens who care about their schools, roads, and communities get only a quarter of the voice in their own government. This isn,Äôt a matter of partisanship. It,Äôs a matter of fairness and accountability. When maps are drawn to guarantee outcomes, elections stop being real contests. Politicians no longer have to earn their constituents,Äô trust or answer to them, because the results are baked into the lines. That erodes public confidence and turns our elections into formalities rather than choices. A 50/50 state should have a 50/50 legislature ,Äî or something close to it. That,Äôs what representative government looks like. Anything else means that votes don,Äôt carry equal weight, and the idea of ,Äúone person, one vote,Äù becomes a slogan instead of a principle. I,Äôm asking you to recognize this imbalance for what it is: an assault on democratic representation. We need fair maps drawn transparently, by independent commissions if necessary, so that every citizen,Äôs voice counts equally ,Äî not just the ones who happen to live in the right district. Thank you.
10/16/25 6:49 PM	Christy McDaniel		Severe partisan redistricting is wrong and our state should be ashamed for stooping to this level. The constitution entitles us to a free election and our NC citizens should be fairly and accurately represented in government.
10/16/25 6:49 PM	Kelsey Crawford		Hello, There has been no reasonable justification for a mid decade districting plan. Please focus your efforts on actual improvements in quality of life for your constituents.
10/16/25 6:51 PM	Lisa Clemens		Stop gerrymandering our state!!! NO redistricting to fit Republican agenda!!
10/16/25 6:53 PM	Mr Michael Holquist		This redistricting map is no more than the Republican Party choosing the voters rather than the voters deciding their representation. Gerrymandering is wrong no matter what major political party is doing the map drawing. It should always be done via nonpartisan.
10/16/25 6:53 PM	Nathan Oglesbee		Your role is to serve the public,Äôs best interest, not your party,Äôs.

10/16/25 6:53 PM	Elizabeth Woodard	Resident of North Carolina	I do NOT support redistricting. It is explicitly against the state constitution (see below for the exact text). Furthermore, I expect the elected representatives of my state to represent ME, your constituent. You work for ME, and every other citizen of this state. You do NOT work for Donald Trump, and by putting his interests before ours, you are betraying your duties to us. History will remember what happens here. North Carolina Constitution ,Äî Article II, Section 3 ,ÄúSenate districts; apportionment of Senators. The Senators shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly, at the first regular session convening after the return of every decennial census of population taken by order of Congress, shall revise the senate districts and the apportionment of Senators among those districts, subject to the following requirements: (1) Each Senator shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants that each Senator represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district that he represents by the number of Senators apportioned to that district; (2) Each senate district shall at all times consist of contiguous territory; (3) No county shall be divided in the formation of a senate district; (4) When established, the senate districts and the apportionment of Senators shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial census of population taken by order of Congress.,Äù North Carolina Constitution ,Äî Article II, Section 5 ,ÄúRepresentative districts; apportionment of Representatives. The Representatives shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly, at the first regular session convening after the return of every decennial census of population taken by order of Congress, shall revise the representative districts and the apportionment of Representatives among those districts, subject to the following requirements: (1) Each Representative shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants which each Representative represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district he represents by the number of Representatives apportioned to that district; (2) Each representative district shall at all times consist of contiguous territory;
10/16/25 6:54 PM	Mel Green		As a direct descendant of more than one of the original signers of the Tryon Resolves of 1775 (predecessor to the Declaration of Independence), I am appalled at such a blatant disregard for North Carolina,Äôs residents. Shouldn,Äôt our citizens be allowed to choose through a vote who will represent them? Only failures would try to game the system in this way!
10/16/25 6:54 PM	Melissa Gough		Why do we allow the process to be changed mid decade? Follow the procedures already in place.
10/16/25 6:54 PM	Jason Davis		I oppose this plan and our state representatives should as well. In a democracy, the electoral maps should reflect the genuine will of the people, never the party. This proposed redistricting risks undermining voter trust in the system. Fair representation ensures that every voter,Äôs voice carries equal weight. This plan is nothing to benefit anyone in NC, but to help Phil Berger weasel an endorsement from Trump because he,Äôs weak and unpopular. He knows he will lose his election.
10/16/25 6:56 PM	Taylor Alphin		Partisan gerrymandering is unacceptable and should be illegal. North Carolina needs to form a Bipartisan Citizens Commission to draw fair voting maps. Our officials need to step up and do what is right for the citizens of North Carolina by not re-drawing the voting map.
10/16/25 6:56 PM	Dont bend the knee Travis Goodwin		I know it,Äôs tempting. You think you will get something on the backside. But Trump will never reward you and you will go down in history as a sycophant , bending the knee to a dictator and self serving politician. You are doing this for one reason and thats to curry favor to the Cult leader.
10/16/25 6:57 PM	Mr Chris OBrian		. It,Äôs wrong. You know it,Äôs wrong. And it literally takes away the votes of a majority of North Carolinians. Fascism does at some point. It always will because its purpose is to oppress. Oppression leads to rebellion. History will show you as crooks and cowards and using it as your guide you should pay attention to your acts.
10/16/25 6:57 PM	Mrs. Morgan Powell		Redistricting is silencing the votes and voices of your constituents. We do not want redistricting. Stop the gerrymandering!
10/16/25 6:58 PM	michael carmody		Please do not redistrict. The state is set up fairly. Let the voters decide without gerrymandering. No wonder the general public has no trust in politicians. It's for reasons like this.
10/16/25 6:59 PM	Mr Erskine Smith		There is NO NEED for this. Wait until 2030 with the new Census. Please look at keeping counties whole and not split.
10/16/25 6:59 PM	No Dictatorship John Scheuer		No do not. Stop the bs!!!
10/16/25 7:00 PM	Barbara Sinclair		This attempt to subvert for voting for all NC residents cannot be tolerated. It is clearly for gain of Republican seats, as admitted by ranking Republicans, and not democracy

10/16/25 7:00 PM	Liz Hoekwater		I write to express strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps currently under consideration. These maps prioritize partisan advantage over fair representation and an equal voice for all voters. By redrawing the 1st Congressional District and others to create additional ‚Äúsafe‚Äù partisan seats, the legislature would diminish competition and discourage voter participation. Voters should choose their representatives ‚Äî not the other way around. The lack of transparency and accountability in this process further erodes public confidence. Although public input has been solicited, it is unclear whether citizen comments will genuinely affect the final maps. This redistricting effort represents an unnecessary mid-decade redraw, unconnected to new census data or population changes, strongly suggestsinh political motivation rather than a legitimate demographic rationale. The proposed maps do not serve the people of North Carolina‚Äîthey serve partisan interests. I urge the legislature to reject these partisan maps and instead adopt a fair, transparent, and nonpartisan redistricting process that protects the voices of all North Carolinians. Respectfully submitted, Liz Hoekwater
10/16/25 7:03 PM	Gene Gauvin		The proposed redistricting is an obvious desperate partisan power grab which flies in the face of the very concept of a democratic society. If you have even a vestigial sense of fidelity to the concept of a government of, by and for the people, you will reject this proposal for the shameless, craven betrayal that it is.
10/16/25 7:04 PM	Fuck no Tanner Harris	Me	Get your fucking hands off the district map you trump sycophant
10/16/25 7:05 PM	Redistricting Comment Clayton Burleson		Given the state of the country and the intensity of the political divide, I would want to see a fully public disclosure of sources and consultants that were used for the creation of this redistricting map. This feels very irresponsible and very one way considering the areas of higher population do not become as accommodated or as represented as those in smaller populated areas, at least as far as I can see.
10/16/25 7:05 PM	Citizen Lucas Myers	Public	Please don't change, any change would be detrimental to our democracy
10/16/25 7:05 PM	Fuck off John Doe	Myself	Keep your hands off the already gerrymandered map you cowards
10/16/25 7:06 PM	Akemi Fahey-Rinelli		It says a lot about the GOP‚Äôs lack of confidence of maintaining current seats in the next elections that you are planning redistricting. You can redistrict and contribute to the decline of our Foundung Fathers ideals of our constitutional republic by supporting the convicted criminal in the White House. I don‚Äôt ever foresee voting for a Republican ever again.
10/16/25 7:07 PM	Ms. Jessica Harris		Redistricting, the drawing of lines to create a proposed Congressional district plan, is considered unethical. It is allowing politicians to choose their voters by manipulating district lines. Drawing lines undermines democracy. Drawing lines to entrench one party's power in election outcomes could lead to low turnout for minority voters. Gerrymandering is not illegal under the US Constitution.
10/16/25 7:09 PM	Kathy Coutu		This is the cowardly way to try win votes. This takes the voting power away from the residents of North Carolina. Trying to win by cheating
10/16/25 7:09 PM	Ms Vicki Pettit		I am absolutely disgusted with our Republican legislators right now! Instead of passing a budget, which you are late with every single year, now you have decided to bow to Donald Trump‚Äôs will by changing the voting district maps,¶again! As a State of NC retiree, I am disgusted and ashamed of the clown show in Raleigh. Do what we, the NC citizens voted for you to do. Put your focus on us, not Washington DC!!!
10/16/25 7:10 PM	Mr Benjamin Wrench		What other reason does the Republican-Led legislature have to redraw maps except for the whims of our evil president who longs to turn the American project in to an autocracy. I don‚Äôt claim to understand political maps, but I do understand gerrymandering (I have a book on it). This all feels wrong to me, a power grab, outside of the established rules of the land, and it must be stopped.
10/16/25 7:10 PM	Mrs Sylvia Colvin		If Trump had a mandate why would you need to steal seats? We will not forget your support of an authoritarian, a grifter who is blatantly corrupt; using the justice dept to go after his political opponents; stripping away people‚Äôs rights to due process and using the govt to gobble up every dime he can for his family and friends. You‚Äôre enabling this tyrant and we SEE you.
10/16/25 7:11 PM	t scarborough	voter	play by the rules. i do not support surprise redistricting. i do not support non-evidence based rule changes. i vote no redistricting in 2025.
10/16/25 7:12 PM	Mark Peifer		It's time to end this endless effort to gerrymander districts and ensure that a state where 50¬±5% of voters vote for each party has a ridiculous advantage for one party. STOP. This unconstitutional--""one person, one vote" is enshrined in the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

10/16/25 7:13 PM	Ms. Dawn Rookey	As a constituent and lifelong North Carolinian, I am writing to express my strong objection to any effort to redraw our state,Äôs legislative or congressional districts in ways that manipulate boundaries for partisan advantage. Gerrymandering,Äîno matter which party benefits,Äîundermines the foundations of representative democracy and the trust of the people it serves. Our courts have long recognized that districting practices which dilute votes or segregate citizens by race are unconstitutional under both the U.S. Constitution and the Voting Rights Act. Yet even where the motive is partisan rather than racial, extreme redistricting still violates the spirit of constitutional governance. It weakens the right to equal protection and distorts the guarantee of free elections enshrined in the North Carolina Constitution. While recent court decisions have narrowed the judiciary,Äôs ability to intervene, the moral and constitutional principles remain clear: government derives its legitimacy from fair representation of the people, not the entrenchment of political power. North Carolina has endured repeated rounds of litigation and public frustration over partisan maps. Our state should lead by example,Äîcommitting to transparent, nonpartisan redistricting that uses objective criteria such as population equality, compactness, and respect for communities of interest. I urge you to reject any redistricting proposal designed to favor one political party. Please support reforms that safeguard every citizen,Äôs right to an equal voice in our democracy.
10/16/25 7:13 PM	Duston Mason	Please don,Äôt do this. We should have fair non partisan districts. This only works until the side you disagree with does it to you.
10/16/25 7:13 PM	Grethel Rickman	I do not support theremapping. of the Congressional districts. It's not fair for your voting citizens. I am 52 years old and born in raised in NC. Please don't do this in my home state. Thank you.
10/16/25 7:13 PM	Racial Gerrymandering Julia Bishop	This is absolute racial gerrymandering and political gerrymandering. To rig districts in favor of one or the other is strictly against the Constitution. We have to keep this equal to party or three party or five party system. We cannot give up our fair voting rights. With liberty and justice for all does not mean just for one party. For all means everyone every race, every color, every sex., national origin. We must inform and keep our voting rights fair. Right now we have an administration that's following the project 2025 playbook right to the letter. I do not want Hitler. I do not want a dictator. I want to be able to vote knowing that my vote will count no matter where I live. I redistricting this and politically gerrymandering it in this state and others, you skew the balance of politics. You skew the Constitution. If this happens across the country, Republicans will be in charge of everything. That is not a democracy. That is not a fair and equal voting system. We must shut down this issue now and stop bowing down to the orange man in charge. The entire administration is not one I'm proud of right now. I'm not particularly proud to be American as I used to be. I said to people outside the US constantly about this and even the people in Pakistan are laughing at him because he didn't stop eight wars. He didn't even stop a war here in Israel and Palestine. He simply got a few few days of peace. Hanas still has guns. This is simply a ceasefire. I want to go back to what this country was built on too. Equality. Freedom of speech. The right to be an individual that has been taken away from us in the last year. We have no control over our bodies. We have no control over our votes. We have no voice.
10/16/25 7:13 PM	Ms Laura Armour	As a concerned resident of North Carolina, I strongly oppose the proposed congressional redistricting map recently released by the North Carolina General Assembly. This map is a blatant attempt to manipulate electoral boundaries for partisan gain, specifically targeting the 1st Congressional District currently held by Rep. Don Davis. The redrawing of this district to include more Republican-leaning counties and exclude Democratic-leaning ones is a clear effort to eliminate competitive districts and silence the voices of voters who do not align with the majority party. Redistricting should be a fair and transparent process that reflects the will of the people,Äînot a tool used to entrench political power. The proposed map would leave North Carolina with no true swing districts, undermining the principles of representative democracy and reducing voter choice. This is especially troubling given that the changes are being justified as a way to ‚Äúprotect President Trump,Äôs agenda,,Äù rather than to serve the interests of North Carolinians. Furthermore, the timing and intent behind this redistricting effort,Äîjust two years after the last map was drawn,Äîraise serious concerns about the abuse of legislative power. The fact that the governor cannot veto this map only heightens the need for public scrutiny and accountability. I urge the General Assembly to reject this proposal and instead pursue a redistricting process that prioritizes fairness, transparency, and the rights of all voters. Our democracy depends on it.
10/16/25 7:14 PM	Lisa Wehe-Davis	Please don,Äôt redistrict agin just for political gain. It,Äôs not fair or right. NC is great and always has been. We have been through a lot epically here in WNC. Let,Äôs come together both sides and do what,Äôs right for all people of NC wwjd
10/16/25 7:14 PM	Ms. Ashley Fortune	I am an independent voter. If you go forward with this I will register as a Democrat. I do not believe any states should have done this. It,Äôs another disgusting thing started by Trump rather than focusing efforts on what matters to the people. We the voters decide who goes in office. If you go forward with this it won,Äôt be the gop winning voters over. It will be the gop screwing voters over. It,Äôs bad when Dems do it. It,Äôs bad when the Republicans do it. Don,Äôt do it. Stay out of the Trump mess.

10/16/25 7:16 PM	Elizabeth Dewitt		I whole heartedly oppose any effort by Republicans to redistrict North Carolina,Äôs voting maps. The proposed districts completely eliminate voters,Äô legal right to fair representation. These actions are blatantly an unfair power grab designed to further the authoritarian efforts of the Trump administration. My ancestors fought in the American Revolution against tyranny, against kings, and against a system that deliberately disempowers entire groups of people. NC Republicans should be ashamed of themselves.
10/16/25 7:17 PM	Julia Boses		I am vehemently opposed to the proposed redistricting. Gerrymandering is never a good idea, and the current proposal takes it much too far. No one should support drawing lines to benefit one party rather than to accurately represent constituents.
10/16/25 7:17 PM	Ms Karen Riddle		If redistricting must be done, at the request of a president, solely for the purpose of rigging a fair election, democracy is already lost. If you were playing a board game with a child and they caught you cheating, they would call you out. Im calling you out. Gerrymandering is cheating. Only bullies cheat. North Carolina needs to be better than that.
10/16/25 7:17 PM	Mr Peter Wallingford	None	Partisan gerrymandering to acquire political power despite he demographics of the constituency is a perversion of democracy. Until we stop hamstringing the few remaining checks and balances on power we actually have, we will continue to further slide into a government that doesn,Äôt act in the best interest of the people, but rather licks the boots of the wealthy. That path is unsustainable and doesn,Äôt end in such a way that is good for anyone.
10/16/25 7:19 PM	The Maps Dont Make Sense Hailey Dunn		The new district map is bullshit. Theyve all been bullshit for decades. Give us some decent reasonable districts that accurately represent the communities within them and stop getting in the way of democracy thanks girlies???
10/16/25 7:20 PM	Mr. Duncan McCormick		I strongly support an independent and non-partisan redistricting commission with a primary goal of drawing maps allowing the people to choose their representatives rather than a partisan legislature drawing maps designed to ensure the majority party - whether Repub.ican or Democrat - stays that way. I oppose the new Congressional map.
10/16/25 7:20 PM	John Umberger		This is a blatant power grab by a failing party who can,Äôt win without cheating and lying. Fascists will always lose. Donald Trump is not our King.
10/16/25 7:21 PM	Steve Armitage		No more redistricting! No more gerrymandering!
10/16/25 7:21 PM	Clare Bass		As a native North Carolinian, and an unaffiliated voter, I am absolutely against this new effort of redistricting. Furthermore, as I read the State Constitution (and yes I have!), redistricting is only allowed in the year following the US census. The goal is a fair distribution of votes, not an attempt to gain power by any political party.
10/16/25 7:21 PM	Kathy VanFussen		So disappointed in this shameful grab. Only working for your entitled greedy selves and as suck ups to the current king. Disgusting. Be human. All of you suck. Remember why you ran in the first place. I bet it wasn,Äôt this. Most people are moderate but you,Äôre catering to the extremes and threats from the federal top - wasting the people,Äôs money and time, playing dirty and diverging from the constitution and your duty as public servants for sure. How do you sleep at night? Leave the map alone!
10/16/25 7:21 PM	Dr Elizabeth Pagano		I am writing as a concerned constituent to express my strong opposition to the ongoing efforts to redraw our state,Äôs legislative maps in a way that undermines fair representation. Gerrymandering erodes public trust and weakens the foundation of our democracy. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Manipulating district lines for political advantage silences communities and makes it harder for citizens,Äô voices to be heard. I urge you to stand for transparent, fair, and nonpartisan redistricting. Our state deserves maps that reflect real communities and ensure that every vote carries equal weight, regardless of party or geography. Please do everything in your power to oppose any gerrymandered redistricting plans and to support reforms that make our elections fair and accountable.
10/16/25 7:23 PM	MSgt Retired Dana Pike		I am a registered republican. I am ashamed at what the republican party has become. All I see is a party that is following a person that is using his position for revenge on anyone who does not agree with him. The republican party is not trying to solve the issues of the budget when the current laws as passed will hurt the middle lower class people. With this redistributing you are falling in-line and hurting the people of NC who do not want this gerrymandering done. Voting for democrats or independents again is looking better.
10/16/25 7:23 PM	Heather Owen		No to redistricting. How about passing a budget that is 100 days overdue
10/16/25 7:23 PM	Mr Michael Miller		I am firmly against any redrawing of the district maps for partisan gains.
10/16/25 7:24 PM	Andrew Hager		Leave it alone you fricken cry baby sore loosers. You didn't get what you want so you rewrite the rules. real classy. You didn't get what you want our of the 2023 redistricting? pathetic. Try running better campaigns and representing the constituents you have. Have a fair fight.
10/16/25 7:24 PM	Gerrymandering Joel Bennett		Gerrymandering is not the will of the people. Robbing the population of their voice is a coward and cheats way to steal power. This is not the Republican party I thought it was growing up and I am ashamed to be registered as such today. Do the right thing and lead with your hearts and not your wallets.
10/16/25 7:24 PM	Mr Michael Sander		Let's keep the integrity of our state and decide on restricting in the traditional period.

10/16/25 7:24 PM	Do NOT redistrict NC Jacob Hensley		The NC General Assembly should absolutely NOT redistrict our state. I am saying no. Our state was already unfairly redistricted, taking away Democratic representation in our state. Was that not enough? Do y'all answer to Donald Trump or do you represent the people of North Carolina? NC has become more and more purple, yet our districts have become redder. You all are hurting the people of North Carolina and if y'all believe in fairness, you need to start showing it with your actions! Pass the state budget! Give the teachers a raise! Give the people fair representation.
10/16/25 7:25 PM	Emily Muse		No!!! You have no right to change districts just to suit you.
10/16/25 7:25 PM	Michael Morris	Michael L Morris	Like most North Carolinians, I strongly oppose this effort. What makes America great is that we are a REPRESENTATIVE democracy. Our elected leaders are supposed to be accountable to their constituents. NC's gerrymandered electoral maps have already effectively disenfranchised a significant proportion of the voters. Redistricting along partisan lines will only make the problem worse. Donald Trump took 51% of the NC vote in the last election. That means 49% of the electorate does not support him (and the share is probably higher by now, given what the Administration has done). Redistricting in the name of " defending President Trump's agenda" is not what most North Carolinians want.
10/16/25 7:26 PM	Teresa Morgan	Retired	No to redistricting!
10/16/25 7:26 PM	No, JUST NO SHERRY FRANKLIN	NC	If MAGA policies are SO great, why do you need to cheat the populace of NC? Because there will be a blue wave November 2026 and all you Trump crap eaters know it.
10/16/25 7:26 PM	Redistricting Denes KOVACS		This is a terrible idea and is not a road that our State's legislature should be going down. I oppose any redistricting that reduces our states already underrepresented groups and assorted minorities. In a solid purple state with rough 50/50 voting over the past several election cycles, the representation in both the state and nation's legislative bodies should be similar. Otherwise, we return to what our country's fathers fought against- taxation without representation.
10/16/25 7:28 PM	No need to redistrict John Traylor		NC should not redistrict. This is a gross attempt to remain in power by the GOP. The statement about doing this in response to Democratic redistricting is gross hypocrisy given that the GOP initiated the process with Texas.
10/16/25 7:28 PM	Ms Tia Cheek	N/A	This map is terrible all is doing is just disenfranchising minority voters so president Trump could get a representative to just pump up his base this is wrong for voters and this is wrong for democracy and this map is a bad map and it needs to be redrawn immediately. Draw a better map so Democrats and Republicans can both win elections without being just one party to win
10/16/25 7:29 PM	8286960524 Dawn Kucera		This re-districting effort is despicable! Republicans can't win elections based on their policy, so they are desperately seeking ways to make sure the votes of those opposing their policies won't matter. This plan shows the absolute lack of integrity and any sense of right and wrong of those perpetrating it. How do you face your children?
10/16/25 7:29 PM	Mark Mulhern		There,Äôs no basis for redrawing these maps I,Äôm against any changes
10/16/25 7:31 PM	Dr Patricia Fitzsimmons		This map circumvents democracy. I do not support.
10/16/25 7:31 PM	Katherine Cunningham		Gerrymandering is a bad look for NC. Work for your constituents. Quit trying to cheat.
10/16/25 7:31 PM	Jonathan Chambers		Don,Äôt do it.
10/16/25 7:31 PM	Jonathan Chambers		Those who can win clean play dirty. Don,Äôt do it.
10/16/25 7:32 PM	Justin Siegwald		If the GOP goes through with this, as an independent, I will never vote Republican again. Win an election fair and square. You're traitors to this country.
10/16/25 7:32 PM	Brenda Daniel	NA	HELL NO !!!!!!!!!!
10/16/25 7:32 PM	Johnny Wales		I oppose this redistricting. The clear intent is to rig the elections even harder so Republicans win even more. We should not have rigged elections. Our state constitution specifically says our elections shall be free, and this behavior by the legislature is directly in opposition to the idea of a free and fair election. We should either have a system where districting doesn't matter (Parliament/Ranked choice) or we should have an independent committee or a computer algorithm create the districts. I vote no redistricting, no gerrymandering, let's have a fair election where you win on the ideas and the organizing, not on underhanded tricks and rigged maps.
10/16/25 7:32 PM	Erika Weber		As a voter, I do not believe that redistricting now and per the proposed map matches the will and best interest of the voters of the state.
10/16/25 7:35 PM	Ms. Jan Mullen		It is OUTRAGEOUS to try and change the rules just to "follow what the president wants." Do Republicans ALWAYS have to cheat to make sure they win?
10/16/25 7:37 PM	Scott Crew		Please, please, please make a fair map. We are a 50/50 purple state. We deserve equal representation.
10/16/25 7:37 PM	Greg Philipp	Self, veteran, first responder, white male, freedom seeker	If you redraw them make them more equitable to all North Carolinians. They are already gerrymandered, what are you scared of? Unpopular policies that people don,Äôt approve of so you have to skew the playing field? Follow the Voting Rights act. Follow the constitution. Protect our democracy, protect free speech. The speaker said the people said the president was given a mandate from voters. I thought you were for states rights? Stop the hypocrisy. It only looks like what you call a mandate because of the already gerrymandered districts. We the people means all people
10/16/25 7:39 PM	Kelly Klug		I oppose this plan which uses gerrymandering to take a 50-50 state and sway it 11-3 in favor of one party.

10/16/25 7:39 PM	Ryan Bridges		I firmly disagree with the decision to change NC districts. Doing this to manipulate the legislature is an outright embarrassment, Y,Äôall should be ashamed of yourselves.
10/16/25 7:39 PM	Molly Haines		I dont agree with the redistribution of districts. Its unnecessary and unconstitutional. Please actually listen and heed their to your constituents' comments and opinions, seeing as how your literal job is to do so.
10/16/25 7:40 PM	Redistricting= Rigging! Samuel Spade		I wish we could just call it what it is. A desperate attempt to rig the game in Republicans favor. With all the hoopla about rigged elections - this is being rigged right in front of our eyes! Very bold, and likely illegal. Just let the slow overwhelmed courts sort it out. Right? Is this the game plan? I think it is. Someday try to reintroduce the term ‚Äúhonesty‚Äù into our supposed ‚Äúfree and fair‚Äù elections. You should be ashamed of how you have perverted our constitution and betrayed the American people.
10/16/25 7:41 PM	Elizabeth Cheever		This is the most UNAMERICAN thing - in the United States of America, EVERY vote should be counted and heard. Every demographic should be presented. Th south has wanted to stop Black people from voting since before they even had the right to vote and you‚Äôre trying to fulfill the white suprmacy dream here. You know yoj can‚Äôt win because your policies are unpopular so you gerrymander to silence any opposition. It has been hard fought but We the People means WE the PEOPLE, not only the Republicans, not only the rich, not only the white people. Gerrymandering is not patriotic, it‚Äôs undermining democracy. Every voice should be represented.
10/16/25 7:41 PM	Matthew Grant		This is a dangerous play, we all know all the republican politician lost their spine with hope of some scraps from Donalds table. So sad to see you are selling out your country and your ste for this. This is so not what the GOP stood for 25 years ago, you are about gain not we the people. You know this wrong and if the other side had all the power and was pulling this yall would have done lost your minds calling for war. What is the end game? King Trump? Dictator Trump? Keep Trump dynasty in power for rest of time?
10/16/25 7:42 PM	Glenda McCarson	N/A	Do not do this!!!
10/16/25 7:42 PM	Mrs. Megan Andrejko		More gerrymandering is not what NC needs. It is not playing fair and it is untrustworthy due to silencing our voices and not allowing the People to vote on the right advocates of their choosing. If the party at that term limit is not doing their job, then we the people get to vote them out. What it makes you look like are sore losers who don't listen to their constituents needs, who have bad policies that the majority people don't like.
10/16/25 7:44 PM	Stop cheating democracy! James Thurston		This gerrymandering scheme is completely antithetical to a properly functioning democracy. The NCGOP obviously understands their policy platform is wildly unpopular with voters and this is their poorly disguised effort to escape accountability. Everyone associated with proposing these maps should be utterly ashamed. Oppose this scheme to manipulate the electoral process and evade accountability!
10/16/25 7:47 PM	Redistricting Chris Plummer		Please proceed with the proposed redistricting.
10/16/25 7:47 PM	Helena Redman		Aren‚Äôt the voters supposed to pick their representatives instead of the other way around? I‚Äôm appalled that you‚Äôre actually thinking you can get away with this. That you can try to silence even more NC voters than you already do with the current immorally Gerrymandered maps you drew the last election. It‚Äôs completely anti-democratic and it‚Äôs only gonna backfire. Why don‚Äôt you come up with some popular policies that will earn you votes instead of trying to cheat! Try doing popular things. Protect people‚Äôs healthcare etc Newsom is only temporarily re-districing to offset Texas cheating on Trumps orders. And also, Newsom is putting it up for a vote with his voters. You need to do the same. Put. It. Up. For. A. Vote!! And you‚Äôll that Nobody wants it!! Let us vote for the leaders we want!! Stop cheating.
10/16/25 7:49 PM	Despicable James Hart		Stop taking away our votes - this is absolutely shameful
10/16/25 7:50 PM	Eddn6 Lewis		I do not agree with redistricting that will change the voting make up of the districts.
10/16/25 7:50 PM	Ms Susan Russo Klein		I oppose the proposed redistricting. Government should be fair and transparent. Republics s are transparent that they want to redistrict to benefit themselves. That‚Äôs unfair and unAmerican.
10/16/25 7:50 PM	Jessica Vantrease		Over 80% of NC residents oppose gerrymandering. I urge you not to pass this map, which was created with the very obvious intent of tipping the scales to the GOP. If you are the party of law and order, then cheating should have no place in your playbook. If the Trump agenda truly is the will of the voters, you should not have any need to redistrict. The urgency to do so ahead of midterms shows the GOP‚Äôs cynicism and refusal to engage meaningfully with the actual concerns of GOP voters, simply playing a numbers game instead of listening to their constituents.

10/16/25 7:53 PM	Jeremiah Elmore		Stop the gerrymandering and draw the districts as evenly as possible based on party affiliation. If you're scared you'll lose, change your policies to that of the majority of the district you're REPRESENTING.
10/16/25 7:54 PM	Mr James Halpin		The elected state official need to find another hobby, how many times do you want to redraw the maps. The elected officials are only doing this to secure more republican seat in Congress. The maps have been redrawn not too long ago. The maps were done in 2023 they are supposed to done every decade. My eduction tell me that every 10 years so your trying to gerrymander. I don,Äôt ever think elected representatives should be allowed to redraw maps. They should be done buy neutral parties so no one can get an advantage from it.
10/16/25 7:54 PM	Courtney Brock		This is absolutely the last thing that the residents of North Carolina want and go against the civil rights act. Redrawing district lines to favor the president is unamerican and undemocratic.
10/16/25 7:56 PM	Mark Redd		The Republican Party should be ashamed of themselves for this blatant attempt at a power grab. They are clearly aware that they can't win by playing fair, so they're trying to change the rules in the middle of the game. I do not support this attempt at all.
10/16/25 7:57 PM	Kevin Shaughnessy		Please do not ruin our state with this map. I may have only moved here 5 years ago, but I enjoy living in North Carolina. I consider myself an independent and see good ideas can exist on both sides, but this is objectively a bad one. Maps should be fair and represent the people, not a twisted snake to gain political power. Stop putting politics before the people you are supposed to be representing and allow them to truly vote for the representatives of this great state. A county shouldn't be split into 3 districts to score political points. Let's be better than all of these other states and show how we can do the correct thing to represent the interest of the people that call it home and not distort reality to push what only 50% of the state wants. Everyone matters equally.
10/16/25 7:58 PM	S.D. Bradley		This is by far a HOAX and farce of the highest order. To skew in possibility of favor and rig elections is unconscionable and disgusting. The GOP has gotten themselves in quite a mess and the pile keeps getting deeper. The GOP should run against the same criteria by which it won (but they won,Äôt because they KNOW they can,Äôt win that way - the public is disgusted with them)
10/16/25 8:00 PM	Ms Cathi Goldie		Redistricting in a way that disenfranchises voters is corrupt, and also clearly tells the whole world that the GOP cannot win on its own merits. Do not take away our votes.
10/16/25 8:01 PM	Ms. Sheri Razz	Private Citizen	Completely for it. It's about time we catch up with the northern states. Well done.
10/16/25 8:02 PM	Tara Strickland		This redistricting attempt is a blatant violation of the Voting Rights Act. It is a clearly politically-motivated move to further racially gerrymander our state and disenfranchise millions of eligible voters. VOTE AGAINST THIS ILLEGAL, GERRYMANDERED MAP. This is a country OF the people, BY the people, and FOR the people. This country and this state are not and never have been of, by, or for ONE president or corrupt state senate leader.
10/16/25 8:04 PM	Carrie Barlowe		This is disgusting and unfair.
10/16/25 8:05 PM	Mary Steinback		This redistricting is disgusting. As a voting Republican for 30 years, the GOP has lost what it means to be a conservative. They don,Äôt follow laws anymore and don,Äôt care about their constituents. They only care about themselves and kissing up to Trump. You are an embarrassment to our state.
10/16/25 8:06 PM	Jonathan Brown		Long before the national decline of the Republican party, it was gerrymanding by the NC GOP to gain seats in Southeastern NC by creating a disctrict going from the coast of Brunswick County to the suburbs of Raliegh that made me change my affliation to independent. The riduclousness of lumping areas and people together, who live hours apart, diluting the ability of people to have a represntive who actually understand their communities and needs is anti-democratic. Republicans have long been the ones leading our ever spiraling partisan politics and the NC GOP is continuing its' betrayal of the Constitutions of the US and the State of North Carolina by choosing to consolidate their own power, rather than to fufill their vows and serve the people of NC.
10/16/25 8:06 PM	Mrs Kate McAllister Taylor		I OBJECT to the General Assembly Republicans once again gerrymandering our beloved PURPLE stare beyond recognition. You should be ashamed of yourselves. I don,Äôt even know how you all sleep at night.
10/16/25 8:07 PM	Kate Beach		The job of congresspeople is to represent their constituents, not to protect their own power. Redistricting is not warranted currently and is clearly a power grab by the state republicans. If you have a shred of conscience left, at least ensure honest elections.
10/16/25 8:07 PM	Abbey Hudson		Changing our congressional maps for the third time in three years is manipulative of North Carolinians and strips us of true representation of our state. North Carolinians deserve fair voting maps. Please do not move forward with the 2025 redistricting.
10/16/25 8:07 PM	Erin Munson		This redistricting is not what the people of North Carolina want unless it will be fair, non-partisan, and unbiased. From what I can tell, this redrawing is anything but fair to the people of this state. We want you to focus on helping your constituents rather than your pockets. Do what's right for us, the voters, and focus on things like the budget, that are more important right now.
10/16/25 8:07 PM	Redistricting Mary Ward	Lee County Democratic Party	Did you all forget that it once took 2 blocks to equal one vote in this country. Then it took until 1920 before a woman could vote. Now you feel comfortable wanting to take away the districts that includes us as if we are still slaves. We call that call that a racist agenda that acts as if the Liberty and Justice for all is not for all just Yall? That is not the great Tarheel State. This proposal will put our heels buried in tar to trap all fair voting rights actions for thosecwhom God made Equal. God is not partial so can you acknowledge that strength comes from Diversity not Exclusion but equal access?
10/16/25 8:07 PM	Scott Roberts		Gutless. Spineless. Representation should reflect true makeup of the public which clearly it does not.
10/16/25 8:08 PM	John Hipps		This is a terrible idea. The redistricting maps try to whittle down the public,Äôs control over its own government. I wish the nc legislature worked on issues that benefit the people of North Carolina instead of just finding ways to entrench themselves.
10/16/25 8:09 PM	Nathan LaValla		DO NOT change the districts mid-decade. This is an obvious and unconstitutional power grab. Absolutely disgusting.

10/16/25 8:10 PM	Mary Jensen		Repugs need to stop cheating on elections. How about do your work to have things people want.
10/16/25 8:11 PM	Carleton Collins	Carleton Collins Architecture	I am totally against redistricting, especially since it gives undue advantage to Republicans. If anything it should create more equity and fairness. Your plan does not do this. Shame on the Republicans!
10/16/25 8:11 PM	Gerrymandering is cancer Robert Livengood		The push for off-cycle redistricting across the country is shameful. Please don,Äôt add NC to that list. Gerrymandering strips citizens of their voice.
10/16/25 8:11 PM	Deana St. Peter		I don,Äôt think drawing any district with the intention of representing either political party more heavily is in the best interests of the citizens of our state. The citizens of NC need representatives who serve their interests, and redrawing maps to favor one party or the other does us all a disservice.
10/16/25 8:12 PM	Mr. Jacob Fries		The "mandate" that the legislature is using to justify its actions, a mere 3.21% margin, was among the closest in the country and ignores the 47% of North Carolinian voters that did not support this administration in 2024. The unjust maps are made glaring obvious when comparing that 47% to the 28% (4 of 14) of congressional seats held by the opposing party from that same election, which this map seeks to shrink further to 21% (only 3 of 14). This is a failure to respect democracy, a willful undermining of the right of voters to choose their representatives (not the other way around), and nothing but a shameful power grab to defend an agenda that is clearly unpopular among the American people. History will not look favorably upon these actions.
10/16/25 8:13 PM	Tammie Page		I do not believe that redistricting is needed due to the advantage the republican party has with the current plan. Also, the proposed plan cuts Don Davis's residence out of the district that he currently represents. This move to redistrict before mid-terms reeks of deception and subterfuge.
10/16/25 8:14 PM	Anti-American Maps Bennett Deddens		The proposed maps are antidemocratic and frankly anti-American. In America the people choose their leaders to represent their best interests. The war for our independence was predicated on ending the subjugation of the people by an anointed elite and establishing fairness in our representation. This is the exact opposite. Utterly despicable.
10/16/25 8:16 PM	Carmen Rosillo		As a North Carolina resident & independent voter, I do NOT support the manipulation of voting to help neither party. The GOP needs to STOP succumbing to the pressure of an authoritarian President, it,Äôs embarrassing! This is NOT how state representatives should be working. You chose to be public servants, and putting the needs of your constituents as a priority! Not a self-serving agenda. Enough is enough! We shall NOT allow North Carolina to be a spectacle or tool for an authoritarian President!
10/16/25 8:18 PM	Mrs Cindy Strock		I am against the proposal to draw up new redistricting of maps in North Carolina. It is not n the interest of the state. Only serves to appease Trump.
10/16/25 8:19 PM	Sean Stevens		This is a gross abuse of power and another step down the road to fascism. Until we have a map that truly represents the makeup of this state, we will not have actual representation as citizens.
10/16/25 8:19 PM	Kevin Barger		North Carolina has already been gerrymandered beyond all reasonable scope. Whether the GOP likes it or not, this state is purple. There is a reason that the ONLY way Republicans can hold power is through cheating by choosing their own voters. Redrawing the maps - again - after the huge legal battle the last time is a waste of taxpayer money, is unethical, and serves no one but those few greedy for power at the cost of lives and livelihoods.
10/16/25 8:19 PM	Mr Henry Strock	Retired	This redistricting attempt is absurd and is nothing more than an attempt to disenfranchise any North Carolina citizen that likely would not vote Republican. Is this America or a fascist authoritarian state?!
10/16/25 8:20 PM	Mrs Susan Perone		I oppose the redistricting plan designed to appease president Trump. I am appalled that it is being considered and proposed.
10/16/25 8:22 PM	Mr. Charles Lanahan		This is an absolute travesty for the Republic. NC is about 50-50 Democrat/Republican and we won't even go into how the State shuts out viable third parties like the Libertarians from ever gaining ground. The fact that you're going to try and blatantly gerrymander the districts even more than they already are shows that you have no shame or sense of honor. History will not be kind to anyone who advocates for this.
10/16/25 8:22 PM	Mr Vincent Perone		I am opposed to the latest proposal to redraw congressional district maps.
10/16/25 8:22 PM	Alice Watts		I do not believe you should redraw maps for North Carolina at this point in time. It may be tempting since you have full GOP power, but the pendulum can easily swing the other way and I think moderation is always best. Let the voters decide who they want to be in office instead of gerrymandering.
10/16/25 8:23 PM	Dr. Bruce Burnett		In a roughly 50:50 state, you are creating an 11 to 3 map to allow for permanent minority rule in the US house. I moved here for work and contribute this state,Äôs economy. This is a personal affront to our republic and democracy. It is unfair and reminds me of all the reasons I do not trust the south having learned of your exclusionary history of minorities during Jim Crow studying your history when I was in school. You are creating a new Jim Crow. You already gerrymandered me into Brad Knott,Äôs district. What you,Äôre doing is wrong. What you,Äôre doing is anti-American. What you,Äôre doing is fascism. My neighbors formerly Republican have changed party affiliations because of you and Trump. We will fight you forever to restore fairness to the maps in NC. You are more interested in pleasing a dictator than taking care of the people in your state. SHAME will be your history when people remember you.
10/16/25 8:23 PM	Remapping Carl Junaluska		Please keep in mind all the things trump has destroyed. I don,Äôt care if you,Äôre republican , democrat or a Martian. Trump is destroying everything America is about. There won,Äôt be an America if he gets to keep getting his reckless ways.

10/16/25 8:24 PM	Erika Potter		I wonder why the gop feels like they have to cheat to win an election my vote should be counted regardless of my political affiliation. You're either for the constitution or you're aren't you can't have it both ways. NC is already gerrymandered which that is still in the courts. I'm going to repeat myself why do you have to cheat in order to win an election
10/16/25 8:24 PM	Elizabeth Hubbard		I'd say I can't believe the NCGOP is trying this, but we all know they are craven cowards who are afraid to face voters in a fair election. Phil Berger and Destin Hall have absolutely no shame. They will go to any lengths to bootlick for their god-king Trump and every other Republican "lawmaker" will follow happily along, grinning and back-slapping while committing election theft. The NCGOP is a wholly owned subsidiary of Trump, Inc. I hope you all end up in prison.
10/16/25 8:25 PM	Patricia Atkins		This redirecting is wrong!!! We need 1 vote for 1 person. This blatant cheating to gain Republican votes shows how weak and scared you are knowing that Trump is soooo despized and will definitely be voted out as soon as possible
10/16/25 8:25 PM	Mrs Nancy Scott		I am not only strongly opposed to mid-decade redistricting, but am appalled that the Republicans are blatantly trying to gain another congressional seat through further gerrymandering, when they already have 10 of 14 in a state that has almost equal numbers of Democrats as Republicans. It is a greedy power grab that should be voted down by all with a conscience. Thank you.
10/16/25 8:26 PM	Mrs Jean Mabe		I do not like the redistricting map because it is very partisan in favor of the Republican party. I would be against it regardless of the party doing it. Changing the maps does not fairly represent the voters living there. How can a 11 to 3 representation possibly be fair? Elections should be determined by the voters & not by withdrawing of maps to favor a particular party. It seems like the Republican party wants total control & that is not good for any of us. There needs to be a better bipartisan effort on both sides. Please listen to the voters!
10/16/25 8:27 PM	Sara Lamkin		I am against continuing to gerrymander the maps in NC. I am against the new proposed maps.
10/16/25 8:27 PM	Mayor Marcia Almond	Village of Forest Hills	No to redistricting. Have a little pride and self respect.
10/16/25 8:28 PM	John Clay		I do not approve of these new maps. First of all, why on earth are you drawing more maps when you literally just drew new, highly gerrymandered, maps ahead of the 2024 election? Why is this necessary? It seems its only purpose is to win a political endorsement. If your policies are popular with North Carolina voters, why do you have to lie, cheat, and steal to ‚Äúget elected?‚Äù What a farce, and we are tired of this in North Carolina . We deserve leadership with INTEGRITY. Stealing votes and disenfranchisement is the exact opposite.
10/16/25 8:28 PM	Erica Smithdeal		Do not redistrict again. Stop trying to rig elections and focus on passing a budget already!!
10/16/25 8:29 PM	Christian Beamguard		This is an unacceptable dilution of democratic party voters. As a Jackson country voter, thinking about us being in the same voting district as Avery county is insane to me. You are making a naked power grab based on an illegitimate supermajority in our state legislature and history will remember you for doing so.
10/16/25 8:29 PM	Megan Banks		I urge you to reject the proposed plan to redraw congressional districts mid-cycle for partisan gain. Doing so undermines trust in our democratic process, dilutes voters‚Äô voices, and invites costly litigation. Our districts should be drawn based on fairness, communities of interest, and equal population, not to entrench one party‚Äôs power. The new proposal appears targeted toward flipping a Democratic seat (District 1) by removing and shuffling counties, which is a classic partisan gerrymander. Such changes threaten to dilute the voting strength of minority communities, and risk violating both the North Carolina and U.S. constitutions. Elections should be competitive so voters have real choices, and representatives feel accountable. Frequent redrawings lead to confusion among voters, reduce civic engagement, and waste taxpayer money fighting in courts. I respectfully request that you instead adopt a transparent, nonpartisan process for redistricting, with meaningful public input, protections for minority voting rights, and criteria that prioritize fairness over political gain.
10/16/25 8:31 PM	Kathleen Hofstadter		This is a very unfair way to rig the system for one party. Why not keep things fair instead of creating a system where the same party wins every time ? I am very opposed to this kind of voter suppression and consider it cheating. Please vote no on this map and give fair representation to ALL North Carolinians!
10/16/25 8:31 PM	Megan Whitlow		I strongly oppose gerrymandering in N.C. The will of the people of North Carolina will prevail, and you will ALL be voted out for being complicit in the downfall of democracy in our country.
10/16/25 8:31 PM	8564729736 Graysen Pack		This is absolute garbage and antithetical to our democracy.
10/16/25 8:32 PM	Mr Robert Davis		I think our districts need to be left alone. We shouldn‚Äôt be trying to redraw them to make it more beneficial for one party over the other. They should be left in place and if redrawn then make it more fair than it is.
10/16/25 8:33 PM	If you can‚Äôt win, cheat Getfucked Yousuck		Gerrymandering should be illegal and is the tool of weak, cowardly men who know they can‚Äôt win on policy alone. I wonder how black your souls are.
10/16/25 8:34 PM	Akeria Timothy		Since when is redistricting to win ok? If your policies work then you wouldn't have to cheat to win.
10/16/25 8:35 PM	Outrageous Bob Ringle		Absolutely inexcusable! I feel that NC is disenfranchising more and more voters! Haven‚Äôt you done enough damage already by the lopsided representation in Congress??
10/16/25 8:36 PM	Melissa Cope	Small Business Owner	The new redistricting plan is heavily partisan, and takes the election away from the voters. NO redistricting!
10/16/25 8:36 PM	Ann Pitts		Redrawing maps for purely political reasons is un-American. It makes the Republic party look weak and petty. Please reconsider.

10/16/25 8:36 PM	Sabrina Henry		I strongly oppose the proposed congressional redistricting plan. The new maps clearly prioritize partisan advantage over fair representation, effectively silencing large segments of North Carolina,Äôs voters. Redistricting should reflect communities and their shared interests,Äînot political manipulation. This proposal fractures cohesive communities, dilutes the voices of urban and minority populations, and undermines the principle that voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. North Carolinians deserve competitive districts drawn through a transparent and nonpartisan process, not maps designed behind closed doors to entrench power. Our democracy depends on fair maps that ensure every vote counts equally. I urge the redistricting committee to reject this plan and start over with a process that prioritizes fairness, public input, and compliance with both the state constitution and the Voting Rights Act.
10/16/25 8:36 PM	Kathleen Laufenberg		I am unequivocally AGAINST these redistricting efforts. It is a blatant attempt to gerrymander our state in a way that benefits one specific political party, and practically guarantees their dominance in state politics. This is anathema to the spirit in which our Republic was formed. It is antithetical to the democratic process. Most of all, it is obviously not motivated by ensuring better representation for all North Carolinians. It is a partisan effort to guarantee certain electoral outcomes. The NC Republican Party refuses to actually campaign on their policy ideas. Instead they have to manipulate district boundaries to make elections little more than a performative formality. This kind of politically mandated redistricting should be illegal.
10/16/25 8:37 PM	Paukine Mckee		No to this how obvious can you be!!!,Äô
10/16/25 8:39 PM	Mr. Jeffrey Jones		This idea lies in direct opposition to the principles of a democratic republic. To throw aside the will of the citizens of North Carolina for political power is an unforgivable offense. This is not a game, and there should never be one "winning" side that holds all power and has no accountability to the people it should be representing. Please, do not do this. Don't say, "well California did it, so now we have to do it." Compromise. Consider the best interests of ALL North Carolinians, not only those that agree with you or those that fund your campaigns. Please, do the right thing!
10/16/25 8:39 PM	Allie Hurtgen		I am NOT in favor of redistricting. Leave the current maps alone.
10/16/25 8:40 PM	Nancy Grindstaff		Republicans have done enough gerrymandering in this state - NO MORE!
10/16/25 8:41 PM	Ms Elizabeth Pedersen	Private citizen of North Carolina	We are a moderate state. We are a purple state. We have approximately a 50-50 split, but it's not reflected in our representation. This is another politically motivated gerrymander designed to take away voters's rights by packing and cracking. It is shameful and anti-American. Our forefathers fought against these kinds of shenanigans. History will not look kindly on this.
10/16/25 8:41 PM	Mr Mark Lemke		I am against this map. Gerrymandering is not popular across this country. I encourage the NC Assembly not to implement this congressional map.
10/16/25 8:42 PM	Mr. Concerned Citizen		It's on brand for a bunch of racist fascist Nazis to do the bidding of their painted-orange pedophile fuhrer and screw the state of NC out of proper representation even more than they already have.
10/16/25 8:42 PM	Amy Forbis		It,Äôs Illegal. If your policies are so strong why not rely on the people to vote fairly? Your message is democracy doesn,Äôt matter.
10/16/25 8:42 PM	Diane Powell		Why are you drawing ANOTHER new map when you literally just drew one? Why do you think your need for a political endorsement should disenfranchise NC voters? Are there any people in the NC GOP who actually care about our constitutional freedom? Where is your conscience? Why are you willfully trying to destroy our beautiful state? Enough of this.
10/16/25 8:45 PM	Mrs Wendy Holub		No more gerrymandering! It is absurd that the Republicans are trying to gerrymander more and steal more seats. Be honest about representation!
10/16/25 8:46 PM	Mrs Shannon Christie-wickham		I do not support this plan to redraw the existing districts. Our state does not allow for fair representation already. This plan goes farther and is being done at the request of Trump. No fairness or equality just partisan gerrymandering.
10/16/25 8:46 PM	Dr Bonnie Crosier		I am ashamed of the fact that my state is joining in trying to unfairly draw districts to keep republicans in office. You as congressman should be listening to your constituents and working on passing a budget not falling to pressure from a tyrant who is destroying the country. The state is already unfairly gerrymandered. Why are you making it worse? If you feel that Republicans should run everything, why can,Äôt they win an election that is actually fair and not swayed in your favor. Do not change the districting of our state!
10/16/25 8:47 PM	Mrs. Ashley Whittle		This is illegal. You are continuing to gut the VRA. You enable a corrupt administration and SCOTUS. You are racist, old, white men who know the only way to keep your party in power is by cheating. You are not representing your constituents. If you want to do something worthwhile, extend Healthcare subsidies and Medicaid and get Trump and Vance out of office, before they make more of a mockery of this country! Your constituents are watching and WE WILL VOTE YOU OUT. THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IS DYING.

10/16/25 8:49 PM	Andrea Ducklow		I am absolutely and categorically against redrawing these maps to gerrymander this state even further. Enough is enough. Candidates should win on their platforms and qualifications/merits, not by rigging the system.
10/16/25 8:50 PM	Sean Rankin		The new redistricted map does not represent the people of North Carolina. In a state with near 50/50 Left vs Right political lean, gerrymandering to have only 3 democrat majority districts to 11 republican majority districts is too blatant to be able to pretend its anything other than a hostile partisan act. Redistricting of this nature has been voted down by courts countless times in recent years, and while the current higher court has shown an unprecedented partisan lean, I hope that if today's courts would not put a stop to this, future courts, and the views of history will show how immoral this is. I plead to any an all voting on this map, if you care at all about the people you represent, if you care at all about preserving democracy, preserving our way of life in this country where people of different beliefs can disagree respectfully because everyone has a voice, if you care about the rule of law and the intent of the Constitution of the United States of America, I plead for you to vote against this map.
10/16/25 8:50 PM	Mrs. Tracy Berry		I am vehemently opposed to the redistricting. This is unconstitutional. Our great NC Constitution provides for redistricting once every 10 years after a census. That has already happened. I,Äôm opposed to all gerrymandering and this is the worst gerrymandering I,Äôve ever seen. NC does not bow to a wanna be king/authoritarian/dictator. You are clearly not representing the people of NC. You all should be ashamed of yourselves.
10/16/25 8:51 PM	Larry Hicks		This is pure bullshit. Hey republicans, you simply can,Äôt win over the will of the people. How about passing a budget?
10/16/25 8:51 PM	Heather Fisher		I am appalled that the Republicans are taking away the voting power of NC residents. This is a blatant attempt to hold onto power at the expense of the people of NC.
10/16/25 8:51 PM	Andrew Weniger	Firstview LLC	A representative democracy cannot continue to have gerrymandered representation. Logical map drawing would follow Principled Criteria for District Drawing Most fair systems start by defining clear, transparent criteria, typically including: Population equality: Each district must have roughly the same population ("one person, one vote"). Contiguity: All parts of a district must be connected. Compactness: Districts shouldn,Äôt sprawl unnecessarily ,Äî often measured mathematically (e.g., Polsby-Popper, Reock, or convex hull measures). Respect for existing boundaries: Keep counties, cities, or communities of interest intact when possible. Competitiveness and responsiveness: Districts should allow voters to hold representatives accountable and avoid ,Äúsafe seats.,Äù Why not have that in NC?
10/16/25 8:51 PM	Ms Laura Ford	Self	My country was founded on the principles of free and fair elections. Playing fair is the only choice in a state that historically is proud to stand on the side of citizens first amendment rights and open and fair government. This moment is only a brief snapshot of history and the people will make things right with or without their representatives taking a mature view of this time.
10/16/25 8:52 PM	Ms Bridget McCurry		Let the voters choose the politicians, not the other way around.
10/16/25 8:53 PM	Jake Stowe		This new map is a blatant power grab and completely unconstitutional. My understanding is that there is no taxation without representation, so this sure sets us up to stopped paying taxes. I,Äôm sick of seeing representatives who claim they have my best interests at heart come out and redraw maps to steal votes. This isn,Äôt what democracy means and the state of NC is better than this. I refuse to sit back and accept a map like this.
10/16/25 8:55 PM	Dr. Elizabeth Wagner		Gerrymandering (which is what you are doing with the proposed redistricting) prevents voters from having their say. I wonder why Republicans are so afraid of letting the voters in the current districts have their say? If you can't win without cheating, maybe you need to take a look in the mirror.
10/16/25 8:57 PM	Ceirra Ayers		If you believe in your position and your ability you shouldn't have to GERRYMANDER AND STEAL VOTES. This redistricting is disgusting and deceptive. You all really think we are stupid. History has its eyes on you. Shame. Shame. Shame.

10/16/25 8:57 PM	Dr. David Collins	retired	I grew up in NC. I lived and practiced my profession in other states for many years and have now returned to live out my retirement in NC, which I consider my home state. I consider myself politically independent and I value NC's status as a "purple" state, with large numbers of independent voters. And I find myself now horrified at the degree of Republican-favoring gerrymandering in the state ,Äî currently reported as a most pronounced gerrymandering in the U.S. ,Äî and am stunned at recent reporting that the Republicans are looking to gerrymander NC even further.
10/16/25 8:57 PM	Carla Pike		it is shameful that any elected official would attempt to dilute the will of the people. Gerrymandering has to stop!
10/16/25 8:58 PM	robyn Josephs		Do not use your power to take away power from the people. Do not redistrict to make it harder for democrats to get elected. Do not do anything to make anyones vote less than anyone elses.
10/16/25 9:00 PM	Robert Hannon		Congressional districts should never be used to manipulate the electoral results for either party. This process is disingenuous and unethical as it usurps the will of the people and allows the government more power over the people. I am completely opposed to the current North Carolina congressional redistricting plan.
10/16/25 9:01 PM	Cynthia Holmberg		Redistricting to the advantage of one party over another is wrong.
10/16/25 9:01 PM	Amy Dawley		No redistricting needs to be done. Stop trying to rig elections
10/16/25 9:04 PM	Julie Hester		Redistricting for political advantage ahead of elections goes against the core principles on which the United States was founded. The Constitution was designed to protect fair and equal voting rights. Today,Äôs redistricting practices often fall short of that standard. Partisan politics are dividing citizens instead of uniting them. It's time we set a better example for the next generation.
10/16/25 9:04 PM	E R		You are elected to serve the people of NC. The redistricting is not for the benefit of your constituency, but rather to consolidate and protect your own power. It is a sad day for NC that our representatives are putting personal aspirations and party over the job they were elected to do. Do not pass this redistricting map, and instead preserve your power by bringing voters to you with accomplishments benefiting the people of NC.
10/16/25 9:04 PM	Cari McGregor		It is so typical of Republicans to cheat. This is not what we want. We want our voices heard fairly. Why cant we just let the people vote. STOP suppressing our votes. What are Republicans sacred of. If the republicans ideas were so popular, then why do they have to cheat in every election and gerrymander, the shit out of north carolina.
10/16/25 9:04 PM	Lindsey Evans		Do not redraw the districts.
10/16/25 9:05 PM	Mrs Nichole Salley		This is an outrageous gerrymander to re-gerrymander the maps. I DO not agree with this decision, it,Äôs against the rules and a violation of the state constitution. I am so tired of politicians choosing their voters and not the voters choosing their representatives. This is wrong, it,Äôs destroying the will of the people and destroying this country! NO taxation without representation and at this point, I feel that most of us agree, you do not represent us, you,Äôre all in it for the money or the power, disgusting and un-American!!! Just wait until the shoe is on the other foot. VOTERS ARE TIRED of this BULLSHIT!!!!!!!!! Get your asses to work for the state of North Carolina, not the president!
10/16/25 9:05 PM	Daniel Smith		Changing our congressional maps for the third time in three years is manipulative of North Carolinians and strips us of true representation of our state. North Carolinians deserve fair voting maps. Please do not move forward with the 2025 redistricting.
10/16/25 9:05 PM	Mr Ian Hurley	Citizen	There is no need to redistrict at this time and the only reason you are choosing to come to attempt it is because you are beholden to a narcissistic leader who can't stand democracy and the democratic process. I urge you to pass a budget instead since our state is almost 4 months past due on that.
10/16/25 9:05 PM	Sara Burrows		Absolutely not. Nothing will guarantee my voting you out more, than this act. Do not do this.
10/16/25 9:06 PM	Ellen Hott		Redistricting/gerrymandering to steal another Congressional seat is undemocratic. It is wrong. Republicans can,Äôt win on their policies so they need to cheat. There are more registered Democrats than Republicans in this state, by 32 percent to 30 percent. If you believed in actually governing, you would be confident in running candidates in competitive districts. Gerrymandering is cheating. It is immoral. You would think that people who claim to be Christian would actually care about that.
10/16/25 9:07 PM	No Mid-Decade Redistricti Andrew Garrett	N/A	The state maps were already redrawn due to the last census. There is no need to redraw them just because you were told to. Our state votes at about 50/50 every election. Giving approximately 75% of the representative seats to one side, no matter which side it is, defeats the purpose of our representation at the Federal level. The maps have historically been redrawn every decade and doing it mid-decade just makes everyone doing it look weak and afraid, once again on both sides. Stop being so afraid of losing and let the people decide who they want representing them with the current maps redrawn based on the census and not because the executive told you to help him win.
10/16/25 9:08 PM	Tammy Holt		The NCGOP is a public disgrace. You don't even try to hide your ignorance. The people of North Carolina will remember your cowardice.
10/16/25 9:09 PM	Mary Ault		It appears the intent is to allow current elected officials to determine the outcome of the next election, rather than allow the citizens of the state to do so. This is against everything this country used to stand for. North Carolina is already gerrymandered to give one party a majority and this would make it even worse. It,Äôs shameful and ought to be illegal. I urge you to not only discard the proposed redistricting, but revert to a common sense map which gives the power back to the people where it belongs.

10/16/25 9:09 PM	Carolyn Ward	I am strongly opposed to the redistrcting plan. North Carolina has already been subjected to gerrymandered maps that dilute the will of the people so that an unpopular minority can continue to run over the rights of the people. Independent maps should be the expectation and the norm. If the only way you can win is by cheating, then shame on you. Set a better example and let the people of North Carolina determine who represents them.
10/16/25 9:10 PM	Joan Brasier	There should absolutely not be any mid term redistricting. Districts should be drawn by an independent group and not by partisan hacks. You all seem to be very worried that you might actually lose seats in the midterms that you need to go to these lengths to steal them. Please think again and don,Äôt do this. The more you push the more likely it is you get voted out in the end. Can you not see what is happening to our Country,Ä¶ why is it that you want to live under a dictator?
10/16/25 9:10 PM	Against gerrymandering!!! Theresa March	We do not need more gerrymandering in North Carolina!!
10/16/25 9:10 PM	RALPH HAYES	Please listen to the people of NC that elected you to represent them. All the polling shows that the voters don't support redistricting out of the normal traditional time frame
10/16/25 9:12 PM	Mr James Curtis	This is. Atrocious!
10/16/25 9:13 PM	Doctor Maria Smith	Please please please if you have any decency at all do not do this. Please look at your children in their eyes and tell me you truly think this is ok. Shame on this party
10/16/25 9:13 PM	E Robeson	North Carolina voters should be able to decide this- not one or two people. You know we don,Äôt approve of gerrymandering in North Carolina right?
10/16/25 9:13 PM	James Bridges	This another unnecessary attempt to further empower elected representatives to choose their constituents rather than constituents choosing their elected representatives.
10/16/25 9:16 PM	Dru Willis	This is a horrible thing. For too long you have meddled in district making, all to consolidate power. For what? So a few can have power? To instill policy that is harmful to many? There is a lack of love in the GOP right now, a lack of service to the many, and a lack of integrity. It,Äôs not too late to change your minds and put North Carolina first.
10/16/25 9:16 PM	Mrs Roneice Geer	I do not agree with the redistricting at all. Thank you.
10/16/25 9:18 PM	Ms. Celeste Robinson	As a native North Carolinian that cares deeply for the welfare of this state, i think that gerrymandering at all is not a good practice. It is unfair and undermines democracy. It creates a situation that appears as though the reason it,Äôs being done is to cheat the elections for a desired outcome. Fixing an election is not democracy. I am very much opposed to this and would like to see this new map scrapped and for all elected officials regardless of political affiliation an equal chance on election day so that the people of this great state can decide for themselves who is to represent them.
10/16/25 9:18 PM	An Egregious Violation Colin Brough	This is an egregious violation in every way, shape, and form. Voters are supposed to choose their representatives, not the other way around. What an embarrassment to the state of North Carolina.
10/16/25 9:18 PM	No Changes Midstream Alissa Mellis-Gruba	Redistricting off the normal cycle is highly partisan and lacks credibility. Our state is already heavily gerrymandered in favor of the Republican Party.
10/16/25 9:20 PM	John Masterson	They say "those that can't do, teach". I say "those that can't win, cheat". This aggressive gerrymandering is pathetic. This state is 50/50 red and blue. This map is 80/20 red and blue. I don't consider any cheating or generally pathetic behavior beyond MAGA at this point but I sure do hope you all pay for what you're doing to this country, eventually. This map is a joke. You're drunk with power and attempting to capitalize on it regardless of the betterment of society. I know you're not, but anyone who supports this should be ashamed of themselves. Maybe consider doing your jobs and representing the people for once.
10/16/25 9:21 PM	Laurel Calabek	I strongly oppose this redistricting. It would not represent the State as a whole or our best interests.
10/16/25 9:21 PM	Holly Schaper	As a resident of Madison county, I do not want more gerrymandering. You work for North Carolinians not Donald Trump! I ask that you not move forward with the outrageous redistricting in plan.
10/16/25 9:21 PM	Monty Coleman	This is a completely unfair map.
10/16/25 9:22 PM	Dr Elena Perea	Gerrymandering your state does not fairly represent our populace in the congress. The congressional maps currently in existence in the state are an Embarrassment, and to further restrict the voting power of left-leaning voters is a travesty. If you truly ascribe to democracy, the rule of the many, representational government, you will NOT redistrict the first congressional district in a way that makes it uncompetitive. You will, additionally, redistrict the rest of the state to return it to the 50/50 split that best represents our people. History has its eyes on you.
10/16/25 9:23 PM	Brittany Lasley	Please do NOT redistrict! We deserve fair and equal representation in Congress and the state is already heavily gerrymandered! I urge you not to approve this plan!
10/16/25 9:24 PM	Mark Cool	I vote no!
10/16/25 9:25 PM	Mr Kerry Yi	This is all built and designed to get more GOP seats which is deeply concerning.

10/16/25 9:26 PM	Charlotte Mcranie		I am totally and completely opposed to your plans to redistrict NC at this time. There is no reason to do this that serves the interests of NC voters ,Äî your constituents. Instead please use your time in Raleigh to pass a budget!
10/16/25 9:28 PM	Jorden Masson		I am completely against this movement. It is wrong, it is immoral and you are on the wrong side of history if you follow in that orange buffoon's footsteps. We are watching your moves and preparing for our next vote.
10/16/25 9:29 PM	Dr Kathy Hotelling		I strongly disagree with this redistricting. This is not what democracy looks like.
10/16/25 9:29 PM	Ian Bjorgen		Please do not gerrymander the state any further.
10/16/25 9:30 PM	Deborah Carraway		I strongly disagree with the proposed redistricting map. It is unnecessary to make a change and will create voter confusion. Further, it has the appearance of partisan gerrymandering, which would be contrary to our foundational American values: no taxation without representation. The fact that gerrymandering is not prohibited by law does not mean that it is the right thing to do. Designing the map to ensure that certain politicians win is wrong. It gives a group of voters more power than others, which negates the democratic principle that all people's votes count equally. Leave the map alone, or get a system that designs fair maps without political interference.
10/16/25 9:31 PM	Mrs Linda FranciscoDemers		I am utterly 100% opposed to the call to this redistricting move in NC. It is a shameless power grab by the GOP. No - no - no to redistricting!!!
10/16/25 9:32 PM	Megan Reilly Buser		No gerrymandering in favor of any party. I am tired and exhausted by this. It is not representative of the will of the people but only by the will of those in fear of losing their power. North Carolina needs fair elections and districting that represents where they live.
10/16/25 9:33 PM	Paul Wilczynski		Redistricting for political purposes is abhorrent. Voting should fairly represent the wishes of the voters, and this redistributing effort deliberately subverts this goal. All this does is cause Democrats to feel it,Äôs necessary to circumvent your efforts by doing the same in their states, making this a political downward spiral.
10/16/25 9:33 PM	Kyle Hoyt		The redistricting is very sad and I will no longer vote republicans that support this. The people elected to office should represent the people.
10/16/25 9:34 PM	Raishawn Brown		This is plain wrong and unjust. The people should choose their politicians. NOT THE OTHER WAY AROUND. The Republicans need to run on policies that the people like instead of gerrymandering the hell out of NC to cheat!
10/16/25 9:34 PM	Amanda Francis		Please stop this nonsense. We want democracy! Remember when NC was declared no longer a democracy a few years ago? Stop the madness and get back to real, American values. A government of the people, by the people, for the people. Quit trying to rig the game. Draw fair lines that speak to the people who live in those areas. I have no relation to people in High Point! I live in Greensboro! I barely even drive over there.
10/16/25 9:36 PM	Grant Palmer		This is simply a ploy for Republicans to gain more seats than is proportional to votes in the House, knowing all full and well they cannot win with fair tactics. North Carolina does not want gerrymandering; we want fair, proportional representiotion, i.e. the 2022 map.
10/16/25 9:37 PM	Ms Cheri Nipper		I DO NOT agree with having our NC districts redrawn or gerrymandered
10/16/25 9:37 PM	Re: Redistricting Erin Flynn		I do not agree with the redistricting. It is disappointing to see our elected officials act in such a way. You should represent the people who voted you in and be cognizant of the decisions made by NC voters. Don Davis would be drawn out of his district. He won the election and that should be respected. You are here to serve and represent North Carolina, not gift more power to Trump. Please do not play into the dismantling of our democratic systems that you were elected and trusted to protect.
10/16/25 9:37 PM	Victoria Jager		I am opposed to redistricting based on political affiliation. I will vote against any candidate to votes yes for this plan.
10/16/25 9:38 PM	Echo Townsend		Gerrymandering undermines the very foundation of democracy in North Carolina. When political maps are drawn to favor one party over another, voters lose their power to hold elected officials accountable. Instead of citizens choosing their representatives, politicians choose their voters ,Äî and that breaks trust in our institutions. In a state as diverse and dynamic as North Carolina, fair representation matters. Gerrymandering silences communities, especially rural, minority, and urban voters whose voices are diluted for partisan gain. It discourages competition, limits new leadership, and makes compromise nearly impossible because too many districts are ,Äúsafe seats.,Äù Every North Carolinian deserves an equal voice and a meaningful vote. Fair maps ensure that policy reflects the will of the people ,Äî not the political interests of a few. Independent redistricting is not a partisan issue; it,Äôs a pro-democracy issue. North Carolina can and should lead the South in restoring faith in our elections through transparency, fairness, and accountability.
10/16/25 9:38 PM	Kyle McKnight		Stop doing this. It's wrong and you're being cowards for following a fascist regime
10/16/25 9:39 PM	Susan Annis		I am writing this to express my disagreement with this proposed redistricfing plan. This partisan gerrymandering needs to stop! Trump won the election barely. He does not have a mandate and for you to award him another congressional seat by these means is wrong. Let the people decide! Not you! We have rights as citizens of this country to decide who should represent us! Let the people be heard, because we are not happy with the state of things in this country!
10/16/25 9:42 PM	Mr Gary Templeman		Enough is enough, you were elected to do the peoples will, not to blindly follow an obey the president 's agenda out of fear of repercussions.

10/16/25 9:42 PM	Sharlita Cole-Ekman		No redistricting. No gerrymandering.
10/16/25 9:42 PM	Cynthia Crowder		Districts should be fair and reflective of the populations they serve. NC has been unfairly gerrymandered for years, if you can,Äôt win without cheating then you know what you,Äôre doing is wrong.
10/16/25 9:43 PM	Dalton Vance		Horrible idea takes the most important representation and gerrymanders the biggest cities to the point of no representation.
10/16/25 9:45 PM	Jessie Little		This is completely ridiculous and should never be implemented. Independent and fair, reasonable maps. From the state board of elections website here is the party break down: Democratic: 2,311,181 Green: 4,184 Libertarian: 46,282 Republican: 2,303,264 Unaffiliated: 2,934,001 How is it reasonable in any sense to provide republicans who are abdicating their constitutional responsibilities and turning the country into a fascist hell hole. My own representatives currently call me a radical leftist when I reach out to their offices via email. This is completely unacceptable.
10/16/25 9:45 PM	Mrs Myron Jones	Individual	This redistricting is not fair and equal. This is an underhanded attempt to control the elections so that Republicans have the majority of the vote and Democrats and people of color in these areas will never be able to see their party win.
10/16/25 9:46 PM	Anne Enberg	None	Redistricting NC's congressional maps so that they are even more gerrymandered is a failure of government and a move that is opposed by North Carolinians, Republicans or Democrats alike. It is a blatant power grab. Voters should choose their leaders; not the other way around. Our representatives should work on producing a budget, and one that better funds vital programs like public education, instead of politically maneuvering for the sake of one political party, or one person, in power.
10/16/25 9:46 PM	Mr. Jeff Doe		This new map and bending for President Trump is an outrage and effectively dilutes the vote of your constituents. If, as you keep saying, President Trump had such a successful and huge mandate, then why do you need to redraw districts again to help Republicans keep control. This type of partisan gerrymandering is a disgrace. Let your constituents, both Dem & Rep, decide who should have power, not the other way around.
10/16/25 9:47 PM	Pathetic Michael Davis		Pathetic you are so afraid of voters that you resort to stupid things like this.
10/16/25 9:47 PM	Alex Tucker		Don,Äôt do it to appease King Trump. Grow a spine.
10/16/25 9:48 PM	Redistricting Marla Somerville		I urge you not to redistrict North Carolina. North Carolina deserves fair representation in Congress.
10/16/25 9:48 PM	Natalie Thompson		I deeply opposition to the proposed redistricting plans. Our state has become a cautionary tale of extreme gerrymandering. Voters,Äô voices are systematically diluted to serve political interests rather than democratic ideals. It is deeply troubling that this latest redistricting effort appears designed not to represent the people of North Carolina, but to appease the wishes of an abhorrent president whose influence has no place in a state-level process meant to ensure fair representation. Lawmakers are elected to serve their constituents, not to follow the marching orders of a national political figure seeking to rig outcomes in his favor. The fact that legislative majorities in this state so often resort to manipulation of district lines is a clear sign: they cannot win on ideas, merit, or honest engagement with the electorate. They can only win by cheating. And that is a shameful legacy to continue. This is not representative government. This is not democracy. It is a betrayal of the public trust. I urge you to reject this partisan redistricting plan and commit to a fair, transparent, and independent process that puts the people of North Carolina first.
10/16/25 9:49 PM	Anne-Marie Chenault		As a lifelong Republican I have been disenfranchised by my own party for years now. Highly disappointed in both parties and these redistricting plans to gain an up for a President who hasn't done anything he oroi. Food prices are the worst I've ever seen. I'm worse off than even the Regean recession. Now I have to worry about insurance or medical care while raising my grandson by myself. Please stop and don't set any more precedence. What what party does, the next does worse. When does it end? Please, please stand up and start working for us the people, not him. Thank you
10/16/25 9:49 PM	Sharon Spiewak		You have already created an additional Republican seat with your last unfair redrawing of districts. You should work to win elections on your platforms, not by rigging the districts in your favor.
10/16/25 9:50 PM	Redistricting Jennifer Prouty		Leave them as they are.
10/16/25 9:50 PM	Michael Rasche		The makeup of the North Carolina delegation to the House of Representatives should accurately represent the population of the state of North Carolina. The proposed changes are cynically intended to give undue advantage to the goals of one federal political party, rather than accurately represent the people North Carolina.

10/16/25 9:50 PM	Ms Dawn Johnson		I strongly oppose the use of gerrymandering in the redistricting process. Voting districts should reflect the genuine makeup and interests of their communities,Äînot be manipulated for political gain. Gerrymandering undermines the principles of fair representation and equal voice in government by allowing politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives.
10/16/25 9:52 PM	Jennifer Cross		I am completely against this redistricting. It is obvious gerrymandering.
10/16/25 9:53 PM	Beth Farrell		I strongly oppose redistricting North Carolina. The constant change in maps feels that we as North Carolinians do not have representation from our elected officials and that our representatives do not feel they need to earn our support.
10/16/25 9:54 PM	Ms Martha Smith		Leave the districts as they are currently drawn. Do not change them.
10/16/25 9:56 PM	Amelia Johnson		I am vehemently opposed to redistricting. Stop trying to manipulate the system.
10/16/25 9:58 PM	NO. Andrew Kraai	The People (your boss)	Do not do this. You,Äôve sold our country out enough and today your scheduler confirmed to a member of the public that you (Berger, and almost all other republicans) are bending the knee to trumps every wish and demand including this attempt at gerrymandering. This is a fact. You also should remind your staffers that they work for us, and to remember to properly hang up the phone when they hang up on your constituents. You should be ashamed of yourselves. This ‚Äúredistricting plan‚Äù Is a power grab in a 50/50 state to afford you, republicans, 79% majority of our state. We are not stupid we see what you are doing with this, immigration, and choosing to spend OUR money on your personal political agenda or lining your own pockets. This goes back to no taxation without representation a CORE principle of our country. Those who are ignorant of history are doomed to repeat it, and by cowering to trump you are responsible for repeating it.
10/16/25 9:58 PM	Lesa Peterson		Stop gerrymandering to maintain control because you can‚Äôt win the popular vote!
10/16/25 9:59 PM	Mrs Margaret Kelman		This is not the American way. Republicans do not want what is right,just to follow their dictators wishes. Do you have no moral compass? Do what is right.
10/16/25 9:59 PM	Ridiculous redistricting Jacob Fehr		This state has been roughly 50/50 for years. Your proposition is absurd and insulting to this state, all who reside in it, and this country. You should all he ashamed of yourselves. If republicans saw the democrats present the same map with switched colors, the GOP would lose their God damned minds. Snap out if it guys. Wake up.
10/16/25 10:00 PM	Stop Cheating Eric Wargin	None	If you had good policies you wouldn't need to cheat to win. It is simple as that. Donald Trump is destroying this country. Stop letting it happen. Grow a spine and stand up for this country and it's citizens before this shit backfires on you guys.
10/16/25 10:01 PM	Rebecca Bayham		This is an openly corrupt attempt to sway voting results. It is very clear what is intended with this redistricting proposal, and it is not ensuring fair elections for North Carolinians. I strongly protest these changes.
10/16/25 10:03 PM	Lauren Taylor		Voters choose representatives. Representatives should not be allowed to choose voters. Everyone deserves fair representation and to have their vote count ‚Äî not to have it decided for them. Just because you can does not make it right. This is undermining what our democracy stands for.
10/16/25 10:05 PM	Mrs Debra McSorley		85% of North Carolinians oppose all gerrymandering. Voters voices matter. Voters should choose their politicians, politicians should not choose their voters.
10/16/25 10:06 PM	Helen Pace		Shane on you for even considering this. You want to expand your power by limiting the power of the voters. I think the government has forgotten that you work for US, we the people. How is it even legal to rig the system so that one party can win more easily? Absolutely shameful.
10/16/25 10:06 PM	Sue Hamann		I respectfully request that you do NOT gerrymander our NC map. Democracy is too important to lose.
10/16/25 10:06 PM	Sanica Allen		These are the ugliest maps I‚Äôve ever seen. I live in a county (Cumberland county)that is split between two districts and neither one of the representatives that ‚Äúrepresent‚Äù Fayetteville live anywhere near it, at least on the national stage. I am a truck driver that travels a good portion of the state regularly so I know how far some of these districts span. My advice is, stop trying to draw these jigsaw puzzle looking maps to forward your agenda. Because I guarantee that the ones that are making these, really don‚Äôt have the will of the people they are supposed to be representing in mind as evidenced by the cuts we‚Äôve already seen. As I matter of fact, I want my district redrawn and have my county represented by the same person and NOT split into two districts.
10/16/25 10:08 PM	Christopher Erdelyi		I strongly oppose any partisan district drawing. If maps should be redrawn, use an independent commission that represents North Carolina voters, with transparency in their decision making process and impacts to voters.
10/16/25 10:08 PM	Anna Barnes		This attempt to steal another seat from democrats is unconstitutional. EVERY person in this state deserves equal and fair representation. Gerrymandering needs to be controlled if we want to preserve our democracy. Please don‚Äôt let it continue to get worse.
10/16/25 10:09 PM	Bad Timing Jeffrey Moss		Although raised in a republican home, I do not agree with this redistricting at this time as it will be seen as an abuse in power for purely partisan reasons, at the beckoning of an increasingly unpopular President. I also believe you can and should win without cheating.

10/16/25 10:10 PM	Prof Theresa Domagalski	Retired from Western Carolina University	By following the lead of Texas state lawmakers, you are aiding and abetting corrupt, dishonest behavior. You - our North Carolina legislators - know that maps are drawn following the census every decade, and not mid-decade. This is a blatant abuse of the process. Do not pile on with the illegitimate behavior of a state that is not ours.
10/16/25 10:11 PM	Mr Bruce Sawyer		This is a terrible idea to which I am vehemently opposed. The only reason this is being considered is because Trump wants it, and I cannot think of a worse reason.
10/16/25 10:11 PM	K Reynolds		To whom it may concern, I do not agree with redrawing the state districts map when it has already just been redrawn. I am so outraged, ashamed and embarrassed at the GOP they would do this to their constituents. Can you not be voted in on your merit?
10/16/25 10:12 PM	C. A. Kelly		NC residents deserve fair representation. Republicans have gerrymandered us to the extreme at this point. We are being taxed to death without fair representation. I hope this backfires mightily against the Republican party. There are many independents and Republicans who do not like where Trump is leading our country.
10/16/25 10:13 PM	Lori Wyrick		I am against redrawing these maps. This is shameful. Let the voters voices be heard. If republicans weren,Äôt afraid of the outcome, they wouldn,Äôt have to redraw the maps. It is unnecessary and a waste of time. Do something productive to help the people, not yourselves. Shame.
10/16/25 10:13 PM	Meredith Kapler		Gerrymandering the voting districts to get your desired outcome is calculating and unethical. And it is certainly not democracy for the people and by the people. Elected public leaders should be help to the highest standard of democracy and those seeking this action should be ashamed of their bold faced power grab.
10/16/25 10:14 PM	MD Steven Ackerman		Attempts at gerrymandering the state's electorate is highly immoral and should be illegal. I believe an apolitical, independent body of voter-eligible citizens should create the districts. The current system functions not to give each voter an equal say in governing our state, but is merely a blatant maneuver to get politicians reelected.
10/16/25 10:14 PM	Undemocratic/republican Adam Gill		One of the main pillars that has made our democratic republic an envy of the world is our diversity of thought and representation that represents "we the people". This blatant partisan gerrymandering making a purple 50/50 state nearly 80% one party is a travesty to our system of governance. It is deeply disappointing to see the partisan power grabs not be an issue we resolve and eliminate in general (on both sides of the aisle), but this entrenchment of party in power rule is a slippery slope to a one party system of representation. I encourage you all to show courage when in power and supports checks and balances like our framers intended instead of perpetuate a vicious cycle and further divide our country, state, and communities.
10/16/25 10:16 PM	Elie Fares		Not sure what the point of leaving comments is when you,Äôre all up your supreme leader,Äôs behind, and you,Äôll do whatever he asks you to. This is already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country. Our representation is not fair, and there will come a day where all your cheating will come to crumble. Your current hyper gerrymander wasn,Äôt enough so you want one more? Enjoy it. It truly is disgusting and you call yourselves ,Äúelected,Äù officials
10/16/25 10:17 PM	Nancy Nelson		I do not think NC should redraw the maps. We should have an independent non partisan commission to make the maps fair which they are not now. The people of NC are being denied fair representation.
10/16/25 10:18 PM	Jeff Cannon		The democrats would certainly do this and worse. They would have no problem dragging us and pushing us into being a communist country. Please do what,Äôs right in spite of the media and re-draw the districts.
10/16/25 10:18 PM	Christian Hoermann		As a voter, I will not endorse any candidate who supports redistricting in a manner that undermines a fair democratic process.
10/16/25 10:20 PM	Gerald Buckner		This is in absolute opposition to American democratic values. This is on the steep end of the slide to facism. As an American and a US Marine I am disgusted by this idea.
10/16/25 10:20 PM	Anonymous NC Resident	Citizen	You all haven't passed a budget, yet you want to make one of the most historically gerrymandered states even more gerrymandered. New low.
10/16/25 10:20 PM	Mrs. Carol Van Doren		This is to let you know that I am AGAINST GERRYMANDERING by either party. Manipulating the public,Äôs right to a voice in elections is wrong. There is no other way to look at it. Do the right thing.
10/16/25 10:20 PM	EBONY MERRITTE		As a social worker in this state you are making it harder for your constituents to exist here! Whether they are republican, democrat or anything in between and you want to further Gerrymander the state to make things worse? Homeless has risen 19%, the budget is over 100 days late, and you want to focus on redistricting? Shame on all of you. I do NOT approve of the further gerrymandering (what you call redistricting) of North Carolina.

10/16/25 10:21 PM	Mr. Timothy McDevitt	None	I have read our NC Supreme Court alredy ruled in the past the nc GOP unconstitutionally redistrict maps in favor of more power. Considering this is not a census year I strongly oppose this grossly partisan move. I strongly distrust both sides of government and this does not help. You are losing the trust of all residents and respect for the rule of law.
10/16/25 10:21 PM	Gerrymandering Austin Buige		Gerrymandering is antithetical to an authentic democracy. Our state representatives should actually reflect the voters, not whoever happens to be in power when maps are drawn (or forcibly redrawn outside of the normal timeframe). History will not look back kindly on this.
10/16/25 10:21 PM	Susan Cunningham		NO REDISTRICTING!!
10/16/25 10:21 PM	Erik Johnson		I am strongly opposed to this proposed redistricting. It is a gross and naked power grab. Just because people with no morals or integrity are doing this in other states does not mean that NC must do it as well. The gerrymandering needs to stop. People must have actual representation in their government in order for our system to work. This redrawing of maps at this time in this way is just plain wrong.
10/16/25 10:23 PM	Michelle Tongue		Mid-decade redistricting undermines democratic norms, creating maps that respond more to partisan interests than voter representation. This effort likely violates the Voting Rights Act by weakening the ability of minority voters to elect their candidates of choice. I do not agree with this and feel it is part of a larger problem of executive branch overreach by the current administration.
10/16/25 10:23 PM	Dawn Liebetruth		There is absolutely no reason for gerrymandering on either side of the aisle. This needs to stop.
10/16/25 10:25 PM	Nancy Treadgold		I think it‚Äôs totally WRONG to redraw maps just because the president wants you to DONT do it. Be fair to the citizens of this state and maybe think about passing some kind of state budget instead of doing this
10/16/25 10:25 PM	Aidan Swatzell		It is the constitutionally established right of the state legislature to redraw congressional maps in order to best represent the citizens of this state. Many Democratic controlled legislatures of other states have given no representation whatsoever to Republicans on the federal level. I see no reason why this Republican controlled body should offer their contemporaries across the aisle a courtesy that they have not and will not show in return. I encourage the legislature to exercise their power to ensure our federal delegation truly represents the interests of North Carolinians by ensuring there are as many Republican controlled districts as possible.
10/16/25 10:27 PM	Dr Michael Smuth		I do not think that NC should be redrawing districts at this time. I am an unaffiliated voter and I just don‚Äôt feel it‚Äôs right. . I get both sides participate in gerrymandering but it does not make it right. The people of NC deserve fair representation.
10/16/25 10:27 PM	Joel Bowling		As a lifelong Republican, I'm ashamed of this latest political stunt to redraw the district maps merely to gain more GOP USHoR representatives in our state.
10/16/25 10:28 PM	ms michele seagraves		NC has already been gerrymandered to give the GOP far more representation than the population calks for. Doing it again because DJT wants to maintain control of Congress is unAmerican and wrong.
10/16/25 10:28 PM	V H		Do not do that. Absolutely not
10/16/25 10:31 PM	Kimberly Leverette		This is another trick up Republicans sleeves to control everything! Leave well enough alone!
10/16/25 10:33 PM	Jasper Calhoun		Pres. Trump and the NC Legislature do NOT have a mandate to turn America into a one party political system through redistricting maps or eliminating voting rights. You DO have a mandate to support democracy, guarantee and fair elections, protect and uphold the constitution and work for all NC citizens. This republican majority, NC legislature can't even manage to issue an annual budget; that's your mandate, you have no business rigging the districts if you can't even find your way out of a paper bag!
10/16/25 10:35 PM	Meg Gray		Voters are supposed to select their representatives- representatives are NOT supposed to select their voters. Do not draw districts because you cannot win outright.
10/16/25 10:36 PM	Jake Bramhall		The Republican party's proposal for redistricting is extremely inappropriate. This new district plan would prevent North Carolina residents from getting the fair representation they have a right to. Additionally, it has the potential to prevent fair representation for years to come, which will devastate resident's faith in our state's government. I am calling for this proposal to be rejected entirely.
10/16/25 10:36 PM	Mr Win Worrall		50% of North Carolina votes red and the other 50% votes blue. Taking away more democratic seats and telling the public ‚Äúbecause Trump said so,‚Äù is a wild power grab. As an independent who has voted both ways this worries me. Please DO NOT redistrict just because Trump said so. The Republicans are losing my vote in the future and many others in the center feel the same.
10/16/25 10:38 PM	A B	Home	Jackson Pollack would have a less sick map if he just threw colors on the page than the way these lines are drawn, wholly misrepresenting our state of North Carolina
10/16/25 10:38 PM	Ms Karen Hardin		Please don‚Äôt make such an unfair move on redistricting voters .
10/16/25 10:39 PM	Steve Brown		Let the citizens of NC decide where the district lines are. Do not, I repeat do not gerrymander the districts to prevent voters from having a vote to determine who represents us in Washington.

10/16/25 10:40 PM	Teresa Bunner		Stop. You have failed the citizens of this state by delaying a budget. This is a completely unnecessary and unethical act. Start doing your job which is to ensure that your constituents can afford daily living, have access to public services and that our children have a well-funded, solid public education system with teachers who are compensated accordingly. Signed, An Unaffiliated Voter Who Is Sick of This Hyperpartisan Nonsense
10/16/25 10:40 PM	Proposed New Districts Matt Jamison		This is an attack on democracy and pure politics. I intend on voting against any politician who endorses this- Democrat or Republican.
10/16/25 10:41 PM	Cassie Koester		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps currently under consideration. Fair representation is the cornerstone of our democracy, and this proposal undermines that principle by prioritizing political advantage and power plays over the voices of North Carolina,Äôs citizens and over other critical needs that our legislators should be focusing on such as passing a state budget. I urge lawmakers to reject this plan and instead adopt a transparent, nonpartisan process that ensures fair and competitive districts. North Carolinians deserve maps that reflect genuine community interests, protect the integrity of our elections, and restore public trust in the democratic process. As a North Carolinian, I urge those who represent me to vote no and to demonstrate integrity and leadership by doing so.
10/16/25 10:43 PM	Robb Hartman		I do not believe that we should be redistrict our state at this point in time. This feels like playing politics rather than serving the needs of the state. We still do not have a budget passed despite the Republican party holding both the State House and Senate. Please focus on important issues instead of this.
10/16/25 10:43 PM	Susan Gallagher		I'm vehemently opposed to this redistricting proposal--and any gerrymandering EVER in North¬†Carolina. Voters' voices and fair voter representation matters, and 85% of North Carolinians also oppose gerrymandering. It is clear that elected officials are pushing through this redistricting proposal¬†to appease Trump, preserve their power, and control the voting outcomes in North Carolina. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around.¬†
10/16/25 10:44 PM	Ms Teresa Johnson		I would have thought that there were real priorities for the citizens of North Carolina that you should be concentrating on, rather than doing favors for the spoiled bully in Washington. How about you start trying to fix our healthcare programs, or find a way to fund food banks or provide lunches to schools or do something about our astronomical child care costs. You just redrew the lines! For pete,Äôs sake do something to help others, not just yourselves.
10/16/25 10:46 PM	Elliot Lunsford		Thank you for taking public comments. I am completely against this redistricting plan. Where to even start? Over the past several years, the North Carolina legislature, led by Republicans, have gerrymandered this state unfairly. When the people of North Carolina have elected both Republican and Democratic governors as well as Republican and Democratic presidents, with the vote mostly split about 50% either way give or take, you would expect that our representatives would reflect that split for the most part. And yet the Republicans gerrymandered the state to give an uneven balance of representatives. To redraw the lines now would be downright selfish, hateful, and cowardly. I don't think it's right when Democrats do it, and I don't think it's right when Republicans do it. Please stop. If a candidate's ideas are worth supporting, then they should get elected on merit and running a good campaign, not because they had an unfair advantage or were just gifted it. The people of North Carolina deserve better. And it's ridiculous as a public school teacher that this legislature hasn't passed a budget yet, hasn't given significant raises to veteran teachers like myself, and has raised the cost of my healthcare---and yet it seems they want this to be the priority. Of all the things to to do to help everyday North Carolinians, they are choosing this? It's just absurd. I have voted for both Democratic and Republican candidates based on who I feel has the better ideas and will represent me well. Why do you feel you have to cheat to win? What are you scared of? Please don't do this.
10/16/25 10:47 PM	Megan Oneill	Underwire	This redistricting goes against the very core of democracy. It prevents the will of the people and creates seats so sage for republicans that they do not need to listen to constituents. Shameful
10/16/25 10:53 PM	Ariella Anderson		I am vehemently opposed to the proposed map as it is not an accurate representation of North Carolina,Äôs voting public. These maps are an intentional power grab by one party to ensure that they remain in power which is a blatant violation of our democracy.
10/16/25 10:54 PM	Dr. Lara Bryant		People should choose their representatives. Politicians should not choose their voters. I see this move as a deliberate attempt to silence voters voices. It is deplorable. North Carolinaa is already one of the most gerrymandered state in the nation. I also think this move is going to backfire for the GOP. It is interesting that Trump won by only 3 % in this state and Stein won by 14%. There are a lot of independent voters in this state you are losing because of moves like this. It not a democratic move in the constitutional terms not the party name. It instead supports exactly what the Republicans are being accused of creating a more authoritarian government. It makes people feel they don't have a voice and erodes the very important civic notion of public civic participation and a mistrust in government. Voting to change the map is the very definition of rigging the election by legislative decree. You voting to make the political situation worse instead of better and increasing tensions that are already high.
10/16/25 10:55 PM	Philip Leftwich		Gerrymandering districts further means our elected officials are not accurately representing their constituents. Please do not do this.
10/16/25 10:56 PM	Michelle Mitchell		It is immoral and unconscionable that our district maps are changed every single year just to entrench political interests. North Carolinians want FAIR maps created by non-partisan groups, not politicians. Shame on the NC GOP.
10/16/25 10:56 PM	Y'all Are Shameless Fools Caleb White		You know that what you're doing is wrong. What you don't seem to know is that it's strategically foolish and will end your party's tyrannical reign over this state. I hope you go through with it!

10/16/25 10:56 PM	Loretta Leman		Leave the maps as they presently are.
10/16/25 10:58 PM	Rachel Kirk		Do not redraw the voting districts in our state! This is outrageous, the vast majority of North Carolinians oppose gerrymandering. The choice to go forward with this when you have not even done your basic duty to pass a budget is repugnant and irresponsible. The Republican party has failed to pass even the most basic legislation to make our state better. They are clawing onto power in a way that is morally bankrupt. If their policies are so unpopular that the only way they can win is to cheat, then they are not working for the majority of North Carolinians.
10/16/25 10:58 PM	CEO Joshua Martinez-Onstott		If you truly believe in democracy and are patriots you will allow that every vote to count, to have the virtues and values of your leaders move the people choose their leaders based on moral superiority and their ability to embody what makes America great. If one side is truly more patriotic the people will elect their leaders without needing to stack the deck. Heroes don,Äôt need to cheat to win, let the people show they can choose rightly.
10/16/25 10:59 PM	Dr kim masters	none	i disagree with this plan. It disenfranchises black NC citizens and is mid cycle so it should not be addressed until 2030
10/16/25 10:59 PM	Jennifer Eagle		Shame on those who are going to even greater lengths to deny fair representation to the people of North Carolina (including myself) in favor of their own partisan political gain. To do so is to treat the values on which our nation was founded with utter contempt. The map already provides a generous advantage to Republicans. To those who want to stretch it as far as humanly possible, pease show a little respect for your constituents and at least pretend to care about genuine political representation for the people of North Carolina.
10/16/25 11:00 PM	Do not redistrict Dawn Champiny		Please stop gerrymandering. We the people demand that all facets of the election process including distracting are fair and that every citizen is represented fairly and equitably. Stop Gerrymandering
10/16/25 11:02 PM	Do not redistrict NC!!!! Chloe Swanger		Do not redistrict and gerrymander NC! It is already bad enough but this proposal doesn,Äôt even look like you tried covering your tracks! It is so disgusting and blatant how you all would rather kiss up to a man who doesn,Äôt give a shit about you than think about the American people and fellow citizens of your own state. You could have been working on proposals for healthcare, crime, education and so much more but you,Äôd choose profit and power over the people YOU are supposed to represent.
10/16/25 11:04 PM	Why my representation? Alvarez Jones		Why does our legislature believe it has the authority to strip away our representation whenever it feels compelled to do so? Why must it repress the will of the people? Has our Constitution ceased to hold any meaning for our legislators, both within this state and across the nation? Is upholding the principles of good governance, grounded in the fundamental right of the people to be represented by their duly elected representatives, no longer a priority? As a lifelong North Carolinian and American citizen, I deserve an answer to these questions. Millions have made unfathomable sacrifices to secure our civil liberties and protect our right to be heard, to ensure that the unalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness cannot be hampered, restricted, usurped, or revoked, and that the general welfare of the people remains continuously promoted and protected. This redistricting will only enable immoral, unjust, and transgressive malpractices that threaten to decimate the ideals that not only hold our nation together, but define its greatness. I implore the legislature to reconsider these unethical policies and to uphold the values enshrined in our Constitution. "We the people" insist that democracy be honored and preserved.
10/16/25 11:06 PM	Please no Justin Dickenson	None	Please don't mess with the voting counties. This goes against democracy we should not be trying to finesse our way into making things more favorable for one party rather than the other. Especially when the founding fathers warned of the dangers of political parties
10/16/25 11:07 PM	laurie nagle		The redistricting plans for NC is an affront to fair elections. All voters should be fairly represented. Our state representatives should be bound to refute this, as this is their duty to protect voter rights. The people are watching this unfold and they will remember how it was handled by the parties.
10/16/25 11:09 PM	Kendal Blythe		I'm an independent who will vote Democrat in state races if this passes.
10/16/25 11:10 PM	Absolutely not Michelle Murray		as a resident of Wake County I strongly object to the GOP overreach here and the continued gerrymandering of already illegal districts. Stop it.
10/16/25 11:11 PM	Margaret Kellner		No! I'm a registered unaffiliated voter, who was originally a Republican. It's actions like this one that made me leave the party. The Republican legislature has already done enough to ensure there are no truly fair elections in this state anymore. This would be catastrophic to any remaining bipartisanship left in North Carolina. State legislatures are not beholden to nor answer to the federal executive branch; however, you ARE beholden to and answer to the people of North Carolina...all of us. Please stop cheating!
10/16/25 11:11 PM	Deborah Allen		I strongly oppose any and all attempts to further redistrict North Carolina in a manner that does not accurately represent its people and their ability to vote for their interests.

10/16/25 11:12 PM	Jayne Jaramillo		This new redistricting plan is absolutely criminal. GOP representatives of this state think the people of NC are idiots. This is a reflection of how little they care about their constituents. This redistricting is a blatant attempt to ensure politicians can choose their voters. NC is the "First in Freedom" state because we chose to stand against tyranny before any other state in this nation. That reputation will be destroyed this redistricting plan which will have the consequence of putting 50 to 60% of North Carolinians under the tyranny of voting district manipulation. It is Taxation without Representation and a disgusting spit in the face of our democracy. I am completely against this redistricting plan.
10/16/25 11:13 PM	kathryn mason		As a voter and resident of NC, redistricting is a terrible idea.
10/16/25 11:15 PM	campbell dunne		This is harmful to not only every individual in our towns, our cities, each of our 100 counties, and our state as a whole, but also hurts the very being of the United States of America. THIS IS NOT FREEDOM
10/16/25 11:18 PM	Aaron Adams		This is clearly a bad faith effort to stack the deck. I understand why it is "correct," do you understand why it's unamerican?
10/16/25 11:19 PM	Heather Honnold		I find it alarming and highly anti democratic what the current NC GOP is doing with regards to gerrymandering. It,Äôs unethical and completely in opposition to what the people of NC support.
10/16/25 11:20 PM	Hannah Norcutt		I strongly oppose the proposed Congressional district plan. As a voter, North Carolina House Speaker Destin Hall is incorrect that this proposed congressional map reflects my interests. I am not ‚Äúwith him,Äù. This proposed map fails North Carolinians and their voting power.
10/16/25 11:22 PM	Andrew Summar		How about you redistrict in a way that is fair and balanced and not so overtly gerrymandered like the proposed map by republicans clearly is. I would prefer that my vote carries as much weight as the vote of my neighbor down the street but apparently fair elections aren,Äôt part of the GOP,Äôs lexicon. Throw out these unfair maps and redistrict fairly based on people, not land.
10/16/25 11:22 PM	Mr. David Naiman		I am an unaffiliated voter and I strongly oppose the General Assembly's redistricting plan. Your job is to represent and serve the people of North Carolina, not to do whatever Donald Trump asks you to do. This blatant attempt to manipulate district lines for partisan gain is an insult to every voter in this state,ÄîRepublican, Democrat, and unaffiliated. It is appalling that the legislature is allowing the president,Äôs political agenda to override the democratic principles that should guide this process. North Carolinians deserve fair maps, and if you truly believe your ideas are best, you should have nothing to fear from giving voters a real say for once. By drawing maps that deliberately weaken competition and undermine the will of the people, you are eroding public trust and violating the spirit, if not the letter, of our Constitution. If you proceed down this path, history will remember the North Carolina General Assembly not as public servants, but as cowards who enabled a power grab instead of accurately representing the will of the public. I urge you to reject this power grab, put North Carolinians first, and adopt fair, nonpartisan maps that truly reflect the people you claim to represent. Of course, I have little faith that you will. Your actions reveal what you value: power, money, and loyalty to Trump above loyalty to the United States of America. So remember this: one day, you will not hold the reins of power. When we the people reclaim power we will hold you accountable ‚Äî at the ballot box, in the press, and through every lawful channel available.
10/16/25 11:23 PM	Connie McCombs		I don't see the necessity of redistricting again. We just went through this before the last election and through court cases challenging the redistricting. Why as a voter should I have to worry each time I vote that I am in a different district. I am against redrawing the voting districts. I feel there are other matters in NC that you can turn your attention to.
10/16/25 11:23 PM	Mr. John Bay	super-voter	GOP members: Please do not vote for this proposed change. Have the courage to fairly compete with your political rivals without disenfranchising legitimate NC voters. Thank you, John Bay
10/16/25 11:23 PM	Michael Woods		Why do you all have to cheat? There are slightly more registered democrats, here. Why can't we have fair representation? This is outrageous. You all should be ashamed.
10/16/25 11:23 PM	Anon Ymous		This proposal is, on both a legal and moral level, disgusting. The attempt to remove the voices of so many people is astounding. While it is obvious the intent is to disenfranchise many voters, even if there are word games a congressman feels they can play to argue otherwise to the public, to ignore even the perception of this issue given the hostile political climate in this country is a dereliction of duty and an abdication of responsibility.
10/16/25 11:27 PM	Thomas Kirkland		Everyone hates gerrymandering. Blatantly undemocratic and all that jazz. But beyond that, doing it to follow Trump,Äôs desires indicates this isn,Äôt something any representative thought was a good idea. It,Äôs only being pushed because of pressure from above. That implies that everyone who supports this will always bend to the will of their party, to political-levels of peer pressure, even to North Carolinian,Äôs harm. No integrity among anyone who votes for this.

10/16/25 11:27 PM	Ms Debra Broido	Self	I object to going through another redistricting map change. The current maps cut up Forsyth and Guilford counties to favor Republicans. Now you want to do more! Totally unfair.
10/16/25 11:28 PM	Dr Lora Hawkins		Redistricting in North Carolina increasingly reflects partisan manipulation rather than fair representation. In the 2024 U.S. House elections, Republicans won 10 of 14 seats while earning only about 53 percent of the statewide vote. Such a mismatch between votes and seats indicates that district maps are shaping outcomes instead of reflecting voter choice. The maps passed in 2023 are already under legal challenge for racial vote dilution, with concerns that Black voters have been ‚Äúcracked‚Äù across multiple districts to weaken their influence. At the same time, the state Supreme Court reversed its earlier ruling that allowed review of partisan gerrymandering claims, removing a critical safeguard against legislative overreach. These developments run counter to public opinion‚Äîpolling shows that the vast majority of North Carolinians, across party lines, oppose using redistricting for partisan advantage. When voters feel their districts are manipulated, confidence in our democracy erodes. I urge the General Assembly to adopt redistricting practices that restore fairness and public trust. Specifically: 1. Establish an independent or bipartisan redistricting commission. 2. Guarantee full public review and transparency in the process. 3. Prioritize compactness, community integrity, and the protection of minority representation over political advantage.
10/16/25 11:30 PM	Ms Priscilla Peters		No gerrymandering please and thanks
10/16/25 11:31 PM	brian mullan		I am a veteran and I'm retired and I am ashamed of what you were doing. Is that the America that me and our fore fathers fought for ????
10/16/25 11:35 PM	Dr. Margaret Silvers		I am writing today as a concerned citizen to oppose the proposed plan, which is a blatant power grab based on a false mandate and will prevent numerous North Carolina voters from voting for people who actually represent their interests. It should be abandoned immediately and instead state Republicans should concentrate on actually helping the people of North Carolina by funding Medicaid and supporting Hurricane Helene recovery.
10/16/25 11:37 PM	Dr. Nancy Wilson		I have lived in NC for over 20 years, and this is a constant theme. Popular vote is close to 50/50. that should be reflected in our representation, and the incessant push to keep skewing it to the Republicans disgusts me. The only way you win is to rig the system. Put it back to the districts where we saw ACTUAL representation...we got one round to show that done right, we must have actual representative government. so yes, redistrict....to make it a 50/50 again, but that is not what you would ever choose to do would you?
10/16/25 11:41 PM	Ricky Hurley		Not appropriate at this time. Redistricting should be occurring after the 2030 Census.
10/16/25 11:44 PM	Human Steve Houtchings	Not fascist	Your are a sore loser and this cheat move will be the end of your racist, anti American nazi party.
10/16/25 11:44 PM	Marya Oakes		Stop gerrymandering the maps! Have you no shame? People have had enough of these slimy antics!
10/16/25 11:45 PM	Vishnu Gangadharan		This plan moves us even further away from outcomes that reflect the true will of the people. If that's the GOP's intention behind it, then the reps should stand behind that intention and speak the truth that power is your motivation. Tell the people of this state that NC is not in actuality functioning as a representative democracy, and that you believe that that's a good thing - for whatever reasons you think so. I disagree with this plan completely, and I don't expect you to consider or agree with my take. I do expect you to stop lying that the congressional body is somehow enacting or faithfully representing the will of the state's citizens. It is not, and this redistricting plan moves us further from ideal governance. I love this state for many reasons, but so many of the state GOP's actions over the past decade or so are plain wrong and an embarrassment to explain to others. This proposal is another one.
10/16/25 11:47 PM	Allison Sandifer		Please stop trying to steal the midterms. It is insane that the GOP is going above and beyond to do what they can to keep power when the people don‚Äôt want and shouldn‚Äôt be represented by someone that doesn‚Äôt fairly represent them.

10/16/25 11:47 PM	No to Gerrymandering Alex Pauncz	North Carolinians	Bill Pherger should take a flying leap through a rolling donut, then sit down in the corner in timeout and think about how he has sold his soul to kiss Tronald Dump's ring. First, you Trojan Horse us with Tricia Cotham, now you openly admit to gerrymandering so Dump can have an ill-gotten majority and never have to release the Epstein files. You're taking away the same healthcare you just passed, all to appease a wannabe dictator. I hope you miss every exit wherever you drive. I hope you step on Legos every time you visit a grandkid. I hope every burger you ever buy is overcooked and disappointing. Most importantly, I hope you leave office and I demand you STOP gerrymandering this state into being Mississippi!
10/16/25 11:51 PM	Barry Thornburg		I do not support the redistricting plan as proposed.
10/16/25 11:52 PM	Mr Brett Ericksen		This is the most shameless anti-American act I have seen in this state. I am absolutely ashamed of you. If this happens to go through, I will never vote republican again. I believe in country before party.
10/16/25 11:52 PM	Cole Sawyer		I vehemently oppose the proposed redistricting of North Carolina‚Äôs congressional districts. It is a corrupt and petty practice that will further worsen our rights as constituents. I urge every lawmaker of every political party to stand against it and give their constituents fair elections. You are abusing us resident‚Äôs ability to have proper representation. You serve the people not the party!
10/16/25 11:53 PM	Jennifer Sanders		This is an attack on democracy. Everyone who pushes this will be remembered and voted out. Earn our vote, dont manipulate it.
10/16/25 11:57 PM	PW Benesch	Tax Payer	Totally against this. You should be ashamed! Help your constituents who need healthcare and stop giving our hard earned taxes to billionaires. Seriously, how do you sleep at night!
10/16/25 11:57 PM	Mr. Cody Simmons		Do you not believe in democracy? I‚Äôm an independent, but will never vote Republican again if this redistricting happens. You‚Äôre supposed to represent the people of North Carolina, not one person even if they are the president. Shame shame shame
10/17/25 12:05 AM	Mr. Grant Welch	Communications Workers of America	I‚Äôm deeply disappointed by the new congressional map. It‚Äôs obvious that CCM-2 was drawn to give one party an unfair advantage instead of giving voters a fair choice. By carving up the 1st District and moving Rep. Don Davis out of the community he represents, this plan silences the voices of eastern North Carolina voters who deserve to be heard. Our state is evenly divided, yet this map would lock in an 11‚Äì3 advantage for one party. That‚Äôs not democracy ‚Äî that‚Äôs manipulation. North Carolina voters deserve fair maps, competitive elections, and leaders who earn their seats, not ones protected by political lines. Reject this map and start over with a fair, transparent process that puts people before politics.
10/17/25 12:07 AM	Rebel Siweumptewa		Redistrict fairly so that the state is properly represented in Congress instead of trying to manipulate the map in your favor. You are putting party before the state and before the country.
10/17/25 12:13 AM	Tracy Thomas		I want to ask one thing...when is enough enough? Stop the cheating. Stop the unfair maps. Find some integrity. Find decency. Let the people have a voice. Please.
10/17/25 12:17 AM	Mary Graden		Our 14 Congressional Districts already do not represent our state fairly. We are a purple state and our districts should represent the people of North Carolina. To further gerrymander our districts represents a gross negligence and will not fairly represent the people of North Carolina. Further more our Election maps should be drawn by a nonpartisan group with no affiliation with anyone in NC Saye Government.
10/17/25 12:26 AM	Stacy Gray		Hasn‚Äôt the state of NC been redistricted enough? North Carolinians deserve fair representation in congress. Please don‚Äôt do any further redistricting, it‚Äôs unnecessary to do so and just let the people of NC speak with their votes.
10/17/25 12:28 AM	Jim Sitts		In addition to the fact that voting districts should never have been drawn based on race the 2020 census errors should provide just cause for redrawing the districts.

10/17/25 12:30 AM	Steven Newman	North Carolina doesn,Äôt need another mid-decade gerrymander; it needs competitive, community-centered districts. The newly floated plan would deliberately reengineer the map to flip the state,Äôs lone swing seat (NC-01) by reshuffling counties to make it safely Republican,Äîpushing the delegation toward an 11,Äì3 split even though North Carolina is a closely divided state. That,Äôs not representation; that,Äôs politicians choosing their voters. Redrawing maps now isn,Äôt about better governance,Äîit,Äôs about power. The move comes in direct response to national pressure to lock in additional GOP seats ahead of 2026. If your legislative strategy hinges on surgically targeting one district to entrench a partisan edge, you,Äôre admitting you can,Äôt win fair fights under neutral lines. It also sidesteps accountability. North Carolina is the only state where the governor is explicitly barred from vetoing redistricting, leaving voters with fewer checks on one-party mapmaking. That,Äôs a structural invitation to abuse,Äîand it,Äôs exactly why the public is right to be skeptical of mid-cycle remaps. Courts have warned against this ,Äúanything goes,Äù theory. While the current NC Supreme Court majority declared partisan gerrymandering claims non-justiciable under the state constitution in 2023 (making today,Äôs power-plays easier), the U.S. Supreme Court in Moore v. Harper reaffirmed that state courts still have a role in policing how legislatures run federal elections. In short: extreme maps can still invite legal risk, uncertainty, and more chaos for voters. There,Äôs a better path. Independent or non-partisan redistricting processes consistently reduce partisan bias and improve responsiveness,Äîso legislators compete on ideas, not cartography. North Carolinians deserve fair maps that keep communities intact, pass basic symmetry tests (like avoiding wildly skewed seat shares relative to votes), and restore real competition. Redrawing lines now to manufacture one more ,Äúsafe,Äù seat may help a party, but it hurts voters,Äîdiluting choice, inviting litigation, and undermining trust. If the plan is sound, let it win under fair maps.
10/17/25 12:31 AM	Adrienne Bolten	I urge you NOT to redistrict the state. As a proud resident of NC, specifically Wake county I,Äôm grateful for the diversity that makes up the community. And nothing would be better then to continue to have districts represented appropriately. What is being attempted by Rep. Berger is criminal at best. I do not approve of gerrymandering in an attempt to gain more republican seats when that is not representative of NC. I want fair representation for all North Carolinians!
10/17/25 12:35 AM	Joe Craighill	To these Carolina cartographers who seem to think democracy is a coloring contest where they get to scribble outside the lines: Gentlemen, your redistricting prowess suggests you'd struggle to draw a fair circle around a whiskey barrel, much less an electoral map. If cowardice were a renewable resource, you'd have powered the whole state by now; sadly, your only renewable talent is rigging elections. Perhaps instead of gerrymandering, you should try gerry-building: construct something resembling integrity for once. Until then, rest assured your political legacy will be measured by your laughable eagerness to violate your oaths of office, lack of independent thought, and utter inability to represent anything more than your own bank account.
10/17/25 12:37 AM	Tayler Barnard	North Carolina is already gerrymandered to the point that our representatives do not support what the majority of our state voted for. Updating the maps to appease the current administration is a disgrace and goes against what our country was built on. Do the right thing and do not redraw the maps to further disenfranchise the people you are supposed to represent.
10/17/25 12:40 AM	Lois Petersen	I oppose redistricting, as this is a flagrant attempt to manipulate the outcome of the election in the favor of the majority party. It is clearly an effort to abuse power, as it is initiated by the majority party with a clear objective of securing continuation of majority status. It would be difficult to think of a more corrupt effort on the part of our state legislature at a time when the priority should be balancing the state budget and attending to appropriate state priorities such as public education and releasing disaster funds for recovery efforts in areas of the state still recovering from natural disasters such as Hurricane Helene.
10/17/25 12:41 AM	Jonathan Parshall	The maps are already gerrymandered. Making them worse is just greedy. Either appoint an independent commission to draw the district lines or leave things alone.
10/17/25 12:41 AM	Dr Lee Moore	The leaders of the state should reflect the will of the people. When one party tries to exaggerate their representation by gerrymandering, they are willfully misrepresenting their constituents. You shouldn,Äôt have to cheat to win.

10/17/25 12:43 AM	Kate Carey	I,Äôve lived in North Carolina for most of my life and left for four years but came back in my early twenties and have been here for more than fifteen years. Really am so thankful for the communities that have always been here and those that have been built and grown since I was a teen who felt embarrassed to be from a place that seemed so boring and like a place of just endless strip malls and no third spaces. Love what Raleigh has grown into and how it,Äôs always been a place people have been thankful to move to and yet again and again it feels devastating when as a constituent I have to show up to the legislature constantly because our elected officials don,Äôt actually represent the majority of what our state wants because our elected official come from these extremely biased gerrymander maps from people who specifically mean to only favor one party, that already holds overreaching power in both the house and senate, along with the constant looming threat that at any moment they can override any future governor,Äôs veto of a bill/law that citizens vocalize we do not want passed. As someone that,Äôs attempted so many years to get people interested in candidates that want to actually serve their communities or to simply registered folks to vote annual I am increasingly met with people that are more and more socially disenfranchised with voting because they don,Äôt see any point in voting in democrats if the gop will still hold a majority and hold that over everyone else until they receive even more power. There,Äôs absolutely no reason for us to continue to allow this obvious long game that,Äôs lead but a racist, bigoted, and hateful tactic of gerrymandering as a means for one particular party to again keep power over everyone else because they can,Äôt win seats running in a fairly mapped out process. North Carolinians just need y,Äôall to do what you promise, what,Äôs we ask of you as our representatives, and when your refuse to do so, we should have every right to insure that the role you aren,Äôt fit to keep is no longer your position if you refuse to represent our wishes. We have always deserved better.
10/17/25 12:48 AM	Kimberly Nelson	I am a resident of Weaverville, NC. Redistricting our maps and gerrymandering our state further is just heaping more corruption onto an already unfair system. Please do not redistribute at this time.
10/17/25 12:52 AM	Redistricting Pat Levitin	Please do NOT do any more changes. Republicans already have 10-4. How much more do you want to disenfranchise us. You diluted Guilford County so Much. We are the only county with 3 Reps. My vote is gone! Please stop!!!
10/17/25 12:57 AM	Diego dos Santos	I'm writing to state my strong opposition to this proposed redistricting. NC voted 51% to 48%, Republican to Democrat, in the 2024 presidential election. This proposed map does not represent the distribution of how we, NC voters, vote.
10/17/25 12:59 AM	Proposed redistricting Mark Burdette	This is a bad idea. A mid-decade redistricting done at the request of the president is an awful precedent to set. Texas was wrong to do it and any other state following them will be wrong.
10/17/25 1:17 AM	Laura Dendy	This is cheating plain and simple. Have we come to this?! If we continue down this path, each turn of leadership will redraw in √†n endless cycle. Listen to your constitutes!!! No more smoke and mirrors. Win on your own merrits, or be humble and accept defeat. If you win , then know it is earned. It cheapens and dilutes the validity of the outcome when you stack the deck.
10/17/25 1:26 AM	Mr Jesse Roberts	The people of North Carolina are sick and tired of watching our votes be disregarded. You were just forced to draw fair maps a few years ago and you,Äôre already trying to disenfranchise North Carolinians again. You don,Äôt work for Donald Trump, you work for the people of this state. Grow a conscience and try and do what,Äôs right instead of catering to the whims of the most pathetic excuse for a leader this country has ever seen.
10/17/25 1:41 AM	Ms Virginia Davis	Legislating half of the residents of North Carolina out of having a voice is not governing. It is dictating. The people of North Carolina deserve better. Just because Donald Trump ask you to do something doesn,Äôt mean you should. Your obligations are to the people of North Carolina and not to anyone in Washington D.C.
10/17/25 1:44 AM	Melinda Buschor	Do not rig the election this is what communist do to stay in power.
10/17/25 1:44 AM	Justin Hawkins	North Carolina has been embarrassingly poorly districted in a way to poorly represent parts of its voters, for decades. Repeatedly some of our representatives have fought against letting an unbiased outside source, so that we could have fair representation that reflects the actual people our Congress serves. Moving to redistrict again, outside of normal schedules, to further the wants of a political party, is a pathetic power grab and act of disrespect to the people of this state. North Carolina deserves better, and if our Congress continues to fight against that, it will be replaced, as necessary.
10/17/25 1:46 AM	Catherine Babula	No. Do not redrawn the map. Dems are already greatly underrepresented due to the last gerrymander. If you want to make changes, go back to the fair court drawn map from 2022 reflecting 7-7 districts. Please do not squeeze out another republican district. This is un-American. Enough.
10/17/25 1:50 AM	Robert Harmison	I do not believe you should move forward with redistricting until the official time which is after the decade census. This is over reach by the Executive branch to impose its will to make more seats for one party. In 2030, redraw based off what the census says, not the President.
10/17/25 1:53 AM	Kathleen Kraynick	North Carolina voters are nearly evenly split between Democrats and Republicans. A gerrymandered map that hands 79% of the state to Republicans isn,Äôt representation. North Carolinians should choose their representatives, not be chosen by them. State legislators should be focused on passing a budget, funding Medicare, paying teachers what they deserve, and providing support for storm recovery in western NC.

10/17/25 1:57 AM	Miss Kathy Wiggins		Districts do not need to be further redrawn. NC used to be a leader in progress in Education, Business, and Innovation. By being continually Republican led, we have fallen behind in all areas. We used to be a state where both sides worked together for the common good of its people...
10/17/25 1:59 AM	Gregory Andora		The people should be choosing their representatives, not the other way around.
10/17/25 2:01 AM	Stop the steal Jerry Mander	Myself	Develop better policy so you don't have to steal seats in a purple state.
10/17/25 2:29 AM	Mr. D Floyd	Self	This cannot be allowed to pass, it is a shameless upheaval of democracy. If republican policy is so favorable why should they be allowed to gerrymander one of the most balanced states in the nation?
10/17/25 2:32 AM	Ms Virginia Underwood		What does a weak and corrupt,, power-hungry party do when they realize that most voters DESPISE their policies, their practices and their golden idol in DC? Simple! Rather than considering their constituents' needs and desires, thus potentially improving their popularity, , they CHEAT! They render your vote useless and pick their voters accordingly. It's not a new strategy for the NC GOP by any means, but it's usually associated with the 10-year census. The timing alone of this move absolutely stinks of sweaty GOP fear and desperation. SHAME ON YOU. You'll lose your hold on power -- hopefully sooner rathe than later. And I hope that NC Dems treat you exactly like you're treating the citizens of our formerly great state right now. Tou seem to have forgotten what a democracy is, but WE haven't.
10/17/25 3:17 AM	D Mc		The only acceptable redistricting plan would be one done with a neutral third party. Stop the madness.
10/17/25 3:30 AM	Dr Barbara Blackburn Hale		Please put partisan political national concerns aside and do not do this. I have yet to hear how this is good for the people of NC.
10/17/25 3:41 AM	Mike Dunmore		Power hungry and completely unfair. Maps should be redrawn every ten years. Why do I vote if it does not matter? This is not the NC that I grew up in and loved.
10/17/25 3:43 AM	Redistricting Brody Eastep		Attempting to rig elections is one of the most underhanded things politicians can do. All because they are trying to create more republicans votes. What is the difference in that and having an illegal alien vote? Make good decisions that benefit all citizens and have some integrity and you won,Äôt have to worry about redistricting anything. Don,Äôt be surprised when you try and follow Trumps lead, half of the people resist because he,Äôs simply a terrible person. Don,Äôt be terrible.
10/17/25 4:02 AM	At Its Worst Monica Hasan		At its worst, this is an absolute abomination, or quite simply, this is gerrymandering. Further, it is unnecessary at this point in time, considering Republicans control all three branches of the government already. What exactly is to be gained from this redistricting other than furthering an agenda that leaves most Americans, and by default most North Carolinians worse off than they are now? Civil liberties are being stripped away from people faster than the Epstein files are released or a feasible plan to give people affordable healthcare is implemented. Clearly the things that should matter to any decent person who is a public servant serving under this administration are not in the best interest of the very people who they should serve.
10/17/25 4:39 AM	Mr. Brandon Dooris		I am writing to express my firm opposition to the proposed redistricting map. The redrawing of districts in this manner is a clear and shameful attempt to suppress the voices of the people you were elected to represent. It undermines the very foundation of democracy ,Äî fair representation ,Äî by manipulating boundaries for political advantage rather than serving the public good. Every voter deserves an equal voice and a fair chance to choose their representatives. When district lines are drawn to dilute or silence certain communities, it is not just unfair ,Äî it is an abuse of power. These maps do not reflect the will of the people; they distort it. I urge you to reject this redistricting plan and instead commit to a transparent, nonpartisan process that prioritizes fairness, equality, and the preservation of community interests. The people of this North Carolina deserve maps that empower, not erase, their voices.
10/17/25 4:44 AM	Mr Evan Halley		The proposed Congressional district plan is a complete and partisan travesty.
10/17/25 4:57 AM	Shawna Hampton	@lifeinfullviz	Three times in five years? Your racism is showing. This could turn into a dummymander. Good. Fake Christians need to check in. There is not much time. You,Äôre doing your religion wrong. Tik tok. ??
10/17/25 4:58 AM	Jo Rose		Apparently NC Republicans are scared to death by their MAGA leader, believing him telling them that they can,Äôt win ,Äúfair & square,Äù! So, instead they (& yes, I am a registered Republican, but still don,Äôt agree with this, nor any of the MAGA ideology) redraw districts to pick up another in an attempt to cheat their way into winning. That,Äôs not democracy folks - that,Äôs authoritarianism ????
10/17/25 5:01 AM	Scott Lesser		I am firmly against this.
10/17/25 5:16 AM	Mary Blatchford		I oppose this blatantly partisan move. Districts should reflect normal geographic boundaries and our total representation should reflect an approximate balance between party membership. Skewing it through gerrymandering undercuts our democracy and insults voters. We need a healthy balance.
10/17/25 5:20 AM	Monica Smith		This is a wildly inappropriate and obvious power grab that undermines the will of the people of NC. This will essentially disenfranchise thousands. I will cast my vote against anyone that supports this in the mid-term election.
10/17/25 5:29 AM	Melissa Gray		The people of NC deserve better and we do not support the redistricting of our state to allow for more republican seats.
10/17/25 5:32 AM	Leah Rhodes	AFPENC	I urge you NOT to redistrict. You know it is cheating, gerrymandering, and goes against the values of democracy. Have some integrity and treat North Carolina voters fairly instead of bowing down to the aspiring dictator in the Whitehouse.

10/17/25 5:35 AM	Robert Anderson		Please do not redistrict to please President Trump. North Carolina districts are already drawn to massively favor the Republican Party. Enough is enough. More gerrymandering is obscene. Trust that if you do a job, voters will support you.
10/17/25 5:36 AM	Redistricting is not ok Laura Arnall		I do not approve of redistricting in my area we. It is unconstitutional and I,Âôm not happy about it.
10/17/25 5:47 AM	Alysse Tyler		DO NOT redistrict the maps for North Carolina. This is not something the people of North Carolina want and it,Äôs just another way to oppress the voice of the people and capitulate to this evil administration. We are not in a census year and just because the trump admin and the republicans are scared of losing (because what they are doing is wrong) isn,Âôt a reason to rig the system and ensure it goes there way no matter what. This action doesn,Âôt happen in a democracy and would take away the people,Âôs voice and puts us in a dictatorship.
10/17/25 5:48 AM	Angela Glennon		I do NOT support redistricting at this time.
10/17/25 5:51 AM	Rigging elections Andy Laws	Simple Pleasures Farm and Disc Golf	Gerrymandering only benefits the Republican party and I've noticed it as a 38 year old independent who keeps tabs on politics. How about you guys try and election that's based solely on the popular vote and see what happens?
10/17/25 5:53 AM	Courtney Murdock		I am writing to express my deep frustration and disappointment over the renewed efforts to redistrict our state. This blatant power grab, especially when we still don,Âôt have a state budget, is a disgrace to the people you were elected to serve. You do not work for Donald Trump or any political party; you work for the citizens of North Carolina. Our state deserves fair representation and leaders focused on real issues such as education, healthcare, and infrastructure, not political manipulation. Do your jobs for the people, not for partisan gain. Sincerely, Courtney Murdock 8640 Blue Heron Dr Terrell NC 28682
10/17/25 5:53 AM	FAFO John Q. Public	We the people	Voters are supposed to pick their representatives. Representatives are not supposed to pick their voters. You can continue to try to undermine democracy, but the people are getting tired of it. We won't stand for it. The North Carolina General Assembly is complicit in the erosion of the basic principles that guide this nation. History will not look favorably on you. Your children and grandchildren will be ashamed of you. You are capitulating to a wannabe dictator, a rapist, a pedophile. Go ahead. FAFO
10/17/25 5:56 AM	Daniel E		This is a shameful attack on democracy and entirely anti-American. This takes a near 50/50 state to 79/21.
10/17/25 5:57 AM	Hell No! Go to work! Fritz Robinett		This is a clear attempt to subvert democracy and the long standing norms of drawing districts. Just because Texas and CA are playing into Trumps divisiveness doesn,Âôt mean NC lawmakers get to break rules too. Jesus, didn,Âôt your folks ever teach you two wrongs don,Âôt make a right. Pass a budget now and stop with this politically charged garbage meant only to divide and restrict rights of voters. GOP members should be ashamed of themselves
10/17/25 6:00 AM	I don,Âôt want To tell you my name	NC Voter	This is ridiculous. You should be ashamed of yourselves. Do your job and pass a budget.
10/17/25 6:01 AM	Blake Baxendell		This disgusting gerrymandering goes against everything I and fellow soldiers fought for. It's already bad enough that NC doesn't allow voters to vote on specific issues you are now taking away more rights. You obviously know that already. The people of NC deserve to vote on this matter. Unchecked control is not a democracy. People should be working towards abolishing gerrymandering. AI can easily redraw fair districts.
10/17/25 6:05 AM	Jim Schott		Why on earth do republicans think they have to cheat to win. That is true but it,Äôs still very wrong and disgusting. Why don,Âôt you republicans come up with policies that benefit all constituents instead of trying to demonize opponents. Seriously done with your tactics. As a registered independent I,Âôm calling bs.
10/17/25 6:06 AM	Paula Tayson		It is a sad day for the residents of this state when our elected representatives manipulate voting districts to control their voice and vote . Leave the already gerrymander districts alone.
10/17/25 6:07 AM	Tyler Beamer		I propose that you quit gerrymandering the state so you can win every election. Let the people decide the result of elections not politicians with an agenda. You could also do your job and pass a budget. But I guess getting re-elected is more important. Since when did representing your constituents become a career instead of a public servitude?
10/17/25 6:07 AM	Gene McAbee	Retired Law Enforcement	I do not support gerrymandering by either party.
10/17/25 6:08 AM	Matthew Barker		NO to more partisan gerrymandering! We need more accountability for our representatives, not less. (And how about passing an actual state budget? Isn,Âôt that your job?)
10/17/25 6:08 AM	BEG YOU NOT TO DO IT Bridget Bryant		Please do not do another redistricting map until it is the normal time after a census where the maps can be fair. No one should be allowed to cheat no matter the party. We must respect the constitution and laws that were designed to create equal representation for our state. Doing this will violate voting rights laws and create true inequality for democrats and people of color. We are all Americans. Please don,Âôt be unfair. I beg you!

10/17/25 6:09 AM	Congressional maps Paula Griffin		Our state should have fair maps that accurately represent our people and who they want to represent them. Do not continue to cheat by making them more unfair. My current representative doesn't care what I want or need because he doesn't have to have my vote, and he has made that clear. You work for us. Stop cheating.
10/17/25 6:12 AM	Elicia Senff		This is representative of the voters in NC. This is gerrymandering and cheating. You aren't listening to the voters and giving them what they want when nearly 50% are being silenced by this map. This makes me sick. NC is better than this. If Republicans want to win votes, come up with better platforms and policies.
10/17/25 6:13 AM	Fairness and equality Shawn Meier		Please finally allow fair districting in North Carolina: stop gerrymandering!!!
10/17/25 6:13 AM	Joanne Andrews		This is wrong and corrupt. Why do Republicans have to cheat to win? Why haven't Republicans passed a budget? Why is our healthcare, education and environment suffering under Republican leadership. No to Redistricting. Obviously.
10/17/25 6:16 AM	Amy Gillie	American Nurses Association	Please help me understand why this needs to occur? Are people being under represented. Is there a concern voices aren,Äôt being heard. If this is about Washington and following orders for Trump-this is a huge disappointment. You should be focusing on the people of these counties, ensuring they are represented accordingly. If you lived in one of these counties, how would you feel about a redistricting plan that doesn,Äôt really need to happen?
10/17/25 6:16 AM	Kristin Potts		All of NC deserve representation NOT just Republicans. No to redistricting. In fact if we weren,Äôt already gerrymandered to the extreme you wouldn,Äôt be sitting in the house right now
10/17/25 6:16 AM	Ginny Barker		No. Just no.
10/17/25 6:17 AM	stop the gerrymandering Joseph South		the districts should be fair for all North Carolina citizens. these maps are not setup to be fair. doing this every year eventually will be your undoing. it shouldn't matter wether we live in cities or rural areas all of or votes should be equal and count. with these maps lots of votes will be lost on all sides of the political spectrum. please design these maps and agree to them with everyone in all political parties not just one parties thoughts on how the maps should be drawn.
10/17/25 6:20 AM	Dr Val Summers		Do no redraw maps
10/17/25 6:21 AM	Christa Sperling		I oppose redistricting at this time. The citizens of NC need the state government to focus on the issues that impact them and their communities. Things like Hurricane Helene recovery, fixing the rural healthcare system, education, substance abuse, etc.
10/17/25 6:23 AM	Erin Shope		NO TO REDISTRICTING! You are all CHEATERS working at the behest of a president who thinks he has no limit to his power. If you don,Äôt win the game, you don,Äôt get to change the board or the playing pieces. This is a Democracy - of the people, for the people, and by the people. This is not Trump,Äôs country and we are sick of watching cowardly politicians follow his commands without any regards to public concern. You work for US, not him. We the people are watching and we will remember who does not stand for our Democracy.
10/17/25 6:25 AM	Diane Olson		No. No redistricting, as it is politely being called. Real word - gerrymandering. I am vehemently against this, and my future votes will go to politicians rejecting this.
10/17/25 6:32 AM	Katie Kelley		Please do not redraw district lines. The midterm elections should use the same maps as 2024.
10/17/25 6:32 AM	Alyssa Tabor		It,Äôs becoming more and more obvious that this redistricting isn,Äôt about fairness ,Äî it,Äôs about fear. Republicans know there,Äôs power in numbers, and they,Äôre desperate to change those numbers to keep control. They can,Äôt win on merit, so they manipulate the system instead. This isn,Äôt leadership, it,Äôs self-preservation. They,Äôre not protecting the people ,Äî they,Äôre protecting their power.
10/17/25 6:33 AM	Ms Debi Hyatt	Resident , Voter	This is shameful, you do not have a budget yet! Take care of NC, Vote no to redrawing the lines
10/17/25 6:37 AM	Me Steve Jones	None	As a once proud NC citiszen, I am appalled and feel betrayed by this blatant power grab. If you complete the passage of this bill, we will know that you stand not for democracy but authoritarian rule. The maps I have reviews tinn a purple state that votes approximately 50/50 in most elections into a 79% R vote. How is that fair, representative or democratic ? I doubt this letter will change anything as R controlled legislators are doing the bidding of an authoritarian ruler and I expect no different from you, Bending the knee, kissing the feet of a vengeful and demented old man. It,Äôs what my former Republican Party does best. What happened to your integrity.
10/17/25 6:38 AM	Matt Gregg		I am against the proposed GOP map redistricting changes.
10/17/25 6:40 AM	DR. Patricia Thompson		I am a registered independent but I have a horse in this race because I am a registered voter. When you gerrymander these voting districts, you nullify our voter rights as citizens of this state and country. Your efforts to win power in congress is a slap in the face to the people you serve because it illustrates that your only goal is to access power at our expense. Cut the crap and start working to win a majority by pushing policies that help the voting public. Sadly, we are currently your last priority.
10/17/25 6:40 AM	James Barbour		I do not support changing the redistricting lines in North Carolina.
10/17/25 6:42 AM	Kim Horton		I am an independent voter, but I feel that I am others have no representation in NC. I'm very against redistricting at this time. It's not right for many reasons. I encourage the Republicans to stand up to Trump and refuse to listen to what he wants. If you redistrict again, I will hold you accountable for continuing to take apart democracy and leading our nation into authoritarianism. Is there anyone among you left who has morals and can stand up to Trump?
10/17/25 6:42 AM	Greg Stollerman		I do not redistricting in my state.

10/17/25 6:45 AM	Melissa Getchell		I absolutely oppose redistricting maps in NC. We just had our maps redrawn and they just recently took effect. Stop this. It is a waste of time, money and looks a very lot like cheating. I am seeing more and more our state representatives do not match the constituents they are supposed to represent.
10/17/25 6:45 AM	Congressional Map A C		As a North Carolina constituent, I,Äôm deeply concerned about the decision to redraw our congressional map. Representation should reflect the people, not partisan interests. Every voter,Äîregardless of where they live or who they support,Äîdeserves a fair chance to have their voice heard. I,Äôm asking our lawmakers to prioritize fairness, transparency, and accountability in this process so that trust in our democracy can be restored.
10/17/25 6:45 AM	Geoff Beaston	Geoff Beaston	Please also do anything possible to respond to ridiculous leadership of Gavin Newsom. Newsome is a disgrace to the United States.
10/17/25 6:48 AM	No redistricting for NC Michelle Piccirillo		Redistricting in North Carolina with the goal of securing Republican seats that voters would not otherwise elect undermines fundamental democratic principles. When district boundaries are drawn not to reflect communities or equality of voting power, but instead to favor one party, fairness and representation suffer. This violates the idea that elections should enable voters to choose their representatives, not representatives choosing their voters. Democracy demands maps that are fair, open, and reflective of the people, not lines drawn for partisan gain. I am 100% against this move and urge our representatives to kill this motion.
10/17/25 6:49 AM	Mr Niels Hempel	Self	I would love to see more competitive districts across the state. Use computer drawn maps to split the district using these key metrics: Compactness (e.g., Polsby,ÄìPopper, Reock scores) ,Ä¢Contiguity (districts must be connected) ,Ä¢Equal population (within ~1% deviation) ,Ä¢Respect for county geographical and municipal boundaries ,Ä¢Preservation of communities of interest ,Ä¢Partisan fairness (measured by efficiency gap, mean,Äìmedian difference, or partisan symmetry) ,Ä¢Compliance with the Voting Rights Act
10/17/25 6:49 AM	Gerrymandering Maya Angelou		I,Äôm a North Carolina voter, and I,Äôm tired of seeing our congressional maps redrawn to benefit politicians instead of the people. Gerrymandering cheats voters out of fair representation and weakens our democracy. I want a map that represents communities honestly, not one that divides them for political gain. Our voices and our votes should decide elections,Äînot the way district lines are drawn.
10/17/25 6:50 AM	Ms Terri Daniels		I heard someone say, if the republicans were doing such a good job, why would they need to steal votes. They know they can't win without cheating and that's a damn shame. I would love to vote for who in the hell I want to vote for and not who they want me to vote for. What's the point of having an election? They might as well just fill out all of the ballots. What's the point of these comments when we have thieves running our legislature?
10/17/25 6:50 AM	Mr Richard Brouse		Please do not redistrict using your proposed map. This is absurd. You know it. Everyone knows it. We are a 50/50 state and our maps should reflect that fact. Shame on you removing my constitutional right to representation with this heinous act of treason. Shame on you.
10/17/25 6:50 AM	Unacceptable Martha Cutler		Absolutely insane and unacceptable redistricting lines. Stop trying to destroy our country.
10/17/25 6:53 AM	Dr. Lucy Bradley		Legislative districts should be drawn to give everyone an equal voice in selecting representation.. These gerrymandered maps are an unethical abuse of power.
10/17/25 6:53 AM	Fair Play James Guidici	Person	Let,Äôs play fair and remember that Texas was the first to begin this operation. Texas Republicans not Democrats. The Supreme Court already ruled that North Carolina Republicans gerrymandered our state years ago.
10/17/25 6:55 AM	Ian Beaver		This is a waste of time and money which our government is good at wasting our tax dollars on! Work on fixing our country and state first!
10/17/25 6:55 AM	Mrs JoDee Collins	NC constituent	No redistricting, no gerrymandering.. don't rig the game just to win! That goes for both sides
10/17/25 6:55 AM	Dr Audrey Pettifor	University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill	I am strongly opposed to these maps which are gerrymandered and do not represent the people of NC. Redrawing maps to favor one party is undemocratic and denies the people their right to representation.
10/17/25 6:55 AM	Richard Allen		No! Don't stoop to another new low!
10/17/25 6:56 AM	Jennifer Wilson		As a NC resident and constituent, I strongly oppose redrawing the district maps. I am joined in this position by a large majority of NC residents who also oppose redistricting, and as our elected officials, we urge you to listen to our voices, which you were put in office to represent.
10/17/25 6:56 AM	No Allison Bradley	Citizen of NC	North Carolina is already the most gerrymandered state in the nation. It is disgusting and shameful that we already allow politicians to choose their constituents instead of citizens getting to choose who represents them. This administration has proved to be wholly incompetent, with policies that are actively harming the people of America, including North Carolina. To answer the call to continue to implement insidious legislation to take away first amendment rights is despicable. We do not need to be gerrymandered further. Do not redistrict North Carolina before the midterm. North Carolinians do not want it and we deserve better than a general assembly that can't even manage to pass our budget that was due in July. Maybe try doing that job first?

10/17/25 6:57 AM	Gustav Cappaert		Please don't do this. Stick up for our state, stick up for fair elections.
10/17/25 6:57 AM	Ms Anne Whitefield	Durham Association of Educators	Voting districts have been designed to the advantage of Republicans which mimimizes the impact of Democrats and Independents. A fair district could be a zip code but it also groups by income to some extent. A fair system would be one person, one vote. Justice demands we adjust government.
10/17/25 7:00 AM	Mr Scot Dail		There has already been too much meddling with the voting districts, it is ridiculous. They should go back to and even split, as we are a swing state. We need equal representation from both sides. Dont encourage more gerreymandering.
10/17/25 7:03 AM	Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Scheidler		This redistricting plan is outrageous. The general assembly is already gerrymandered -- don't add to it. The people should select their representatives in free and fair elections. The republicans in this assembly currently select their voters.
10/17/25 7:03 AM	John Vann		This is a way to steal elections and an attempt to end democracy and the electoral process.
10/17/25 7:03 AM	Mr William Danielson		I was a Republican most of my adult life. However, over the past 15 to 20 years, I have seen a decline in the morality and ethics of the party so now I am Unaffiliated. North Carolina's already republican slanted gerrymandered Congressional Maps are a disgrace. The population is fairly split yet republicans currently have a majority of the Congressional Districts. This is so wrong. What needs to be done is to have an independent NON-PARTISAN group control the Congressional Map process to ensure fair Congressional Districts that represent THE PEOPLE and not a specific party.
10/17/25 7:05 AM	Mr Christopher Delcalzo		If you vote to redistrict I and people around me will do everything In our power to campaign and vote for your opposition
10/17/25 7:05 AM	Mr Robert Waldrop		This redistributing is a clearly being done in a partisan manner to favor the Republican Party. This is NOT representational government and is part of the problem regardless of it is being done from either party. Phil Berger,Âôs comments clearly state the reasoning which shoud make this action illegal and wrong. STOP IT! Robert Waldrop
10/17/25 7:09 AM	Denis Elliott		"If conservatives become convinced that they cannot win democratically, they will not abandon conservatism. They will reject democracy." (David Frum). A more blunt way of describing the NC GOP is that since they can't win fair and square they CHEAT. There are slightly more registered Democrats than Republicans. Independents outnumber each yet the GOP has supermajorities in both chambers of the legislature. If maps were FAIR both state and federal districts would be fairly even in the number of Democrats or Republicans elected. But the GOP is AFRAID to allow for fair elections. We the voters should choose our politicians - they shouldn't be choosing their voters. You hate me for not being a Republican. Fine, I will hate your cheating, fascist asses right back. Gerrymandering to give one Party a skewed number of elected officials is wrong no matter where in the country it happens. And this vile practice is far more common with Republicans than Democrats so don't go trying your "both sides" do it bullshiite. If YOU Republicans had actual courage of your convictions you wouldn't cheat. But to protect your power and tend to the desires of the few you eagerly skew the voting maps and screw over the masses. Why? You can read LEGITIMATE polling as well as I can. On most issues your views don't reflect that of the electorate. So you've cheated. And now you want to cheat even more. Most of you GOP types claim to be Christian. Good luck trying to talk your way into heaven after a lifetime of lying, cheating and abusing your power to give more to those who don't need it than follow the teachings of the Jesus you only claim to worship. Do you and your policies help most people or do they help the relative few? The answer is the latter. Despite having so much you DEMAND more and use the ill-gotten power you've attained to take MORE from the masses. What you've done with your maps has been wrong in the past and now you're compounding the wrong by doing it again. You are vile, despicable people and deserve to rot in hell. Go ahead and send your MAGA goobers to deal with me you gutless a-holes. This ole jarhead is old and disabled but when you come for people like me who dare to challenge you and the Turd God Orange Emperor you worship instead of your "Jeebus" I will die in a crowd. I won't start anything because unlike you I don't go around looking for ways to bend or break the law. But I will damn well finish it if you come to kill or imprison me for daring to challenge you and your greedy, hateful to average and poor people ideology. Do the right thing. Abandon this effort to STEAL even more. Allow true non-partison election/district maps, make your case to the voters come election time and live with the results.
10/17/25 7:09 AM	Elaine Shaver		Do not re-draw the already gerrymandered NC map! Let the voters decided their representatives, not the other way around. We still have a democracy, despite GOP attempts to turn the US into a fascist autocracy. Stop bowing down to the pedo felon Trump! Remember - NC is basically a 50/50 state!
10/17/25 7:10 AM	Jeff Laufenberg	Unaffiliated	If Republican policies were as widely accepted in NC as you claim, we,Äôd have a Republican Governor and you would be offering policies that wouldn,Äôt require you to gerrymander our state further than it already is. Your fealty to Donald Trump is pathetic, and history will not be kind to any of you sycophants. Appropriate greetings from beautiful Chapel Hill, NC, Jeff Laufenberg
10/17/25 7:11 AM	Denise Miller	self	It is moves like this and the Allison Riggs issue that make me change my affiliation to Democratic. Focus on the important issues. North Carolina deserves better than this.

10/17/25 7:11 AM	courtney grimsley		I would like to know how this proposed map represents the registered voters of this state. According to the NC voter registration there are 2.303 million registered republicans and 2.311 registered democrats but this map allows for well over 50% of our congressional representatives to be republican. This is the very definition of taxation without representation. My vote, and the votes of many others, seem to be diminished through gerrymandering. It appears that the current system allows for an imbalance in representation that does not reflect the composition of registered voters. My vote is being gerrymandered because the republicans can't win seats on their policies and platforms so they have to steal another seat after being allowed to steal many seats previously. Phil Berger doesn't believe in free and fair elections if his party can't win thus he doesn't believe in democracy.
10/17/25 7:11 AM	Doctor Ezekiel Watts	Family Circle Chiropractic	I am vehemently against redrawing district maps. Gerrymandering is wrong and it is a cancer for our democracy. All electoral maps should be drawn my independent, non-partisan, boards. Otherwise we dilute the power of the votes of the us citizens and make out government less accountable to its citizens. Just like competition is good for the economy, it is good for democracy. Anyone who Gerrymanders does so because they care more about their own power than they do about America and those people are not worthy to serve our great nation.
10/17/25 7:12 AM	Susan Terry		I wholeheartedly disapprove of this redistricting effort. North Carolina is already gerrymandered - as indicated by the fact that we have a Democratic governor, but our representatives are overwhelmingly Republican. If you have to cheat to win, you don't deserve to win. You are sore winners (how is that even a thing?), and cheaters, and you ought to be ashamed of yourselves. If you want to win, have popular policies. Two thumbs way down on this redistricting and on the GOP as a whole. For shame.
10/17/25 7:14 AM	Ami Greene	Private Citizen	This is wrong. It was wrong when Democrats did it. It will be wrong if you do it. The maps were JUST redrawn because the state had been gerrymandered. Please have integrity.
10/17/25 7:15 AM	Tracey Dryden		I am troubled by the idea that we are redistricting maps in between elections. It is cheating. There are currently 2.3 million registered Democrats and 2.3 million registered Republicans and 2.9 million voters registered unaffiliated. How can you draw maps to "ensure" that 11 congressional seats will go to Republicans? My god, we know that you don't care about the people of this state, but at least you used to care about the constitution and fairness.
10/17/25 7:17 AM	stop gerrymandering matt riddle		Win your state fair and square, stop trying to twist the system so that you don't have to be as successful to win. Show you are the better party on topics and benefits for Americans. Is this what you'd want your children to do in their lives?
10/17/25 7:18 AM	Morghean McPhail		We have had enough with cheating in order to win. Too many legislators here represent only the most conservative voters, caring nothing at all for the teachers, nurses, seniors, children and those living in the brink of poverty. We are already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country! Enough is enough.
10/17/25 7:20 AM	Undemocratic Mitch Mrus		This redistricting is blatant gerrymandering, and is completely undemocratic. These republican fucks can only win by cheating. Anyone okay with this is going to burn in hell at best. Fucking losers. I'm not paying my state taxes if this goes through - no taxation without representation - yall don't even understand what your actual constituents want.
10/17/25 7:20 AM	Spencer Butler		There is no need for redistricting. Please leave well enough alone and work for the people in NC. Pass the budget that includes raises for teachers and doesn,Äôt hurt anyone,Äôs well being!
10/17/25 7:21 AM	Richard Rumer		This corrupts the legitimacy of Congress, and of our General Assembly, through its openly partisan motives. The General Assembly should serve only the people of North Carolina, and represent their votes in an equitable manner. This proposal is not that.
10/17/25 7:26 AM	Staci Noel		Once again this is a disgusting display of partisan politics of the worst kind. Politicians choosing their voters vs voters having the ability to choose their actual representative voice goes against everything the founding fathers intended. My family has lived in this country since before it was a country; including my 7x great grandfather who raised a militia in Virginia, fought under Washington at the battle of Yorktown and later served in the Continental Congress three times, as well as the Virginia ratification convention. My family has served in every war and conflict this country has ever had and we have always been proud to be Americans. Bowing down to an executive branch to retain political power and establish one party rule is antithetical to everything it means to be American and you should be ashamed of yourselves. I would ask that every real American stand up for the right of the common man to have his voice counted and his vote heard and vote no on this blatant abuse of power.
10/17/25 7:26 AM	Beth Robrecht	None	Redistricting (otherwise known as gerrymandering) used either party as has been done in the recent past undermines representative democracy, reduces political accountability, reduces, bipartisan cooperation, and reduces the power of the vote. It should not be allowed for either party if our democracy is to work properly. The individual vote is one of the most powerful aspects of our democratic system and it should not be tainted by partisan politics. Please clean this mess up!!
10/17/25 7:28 AM	ACV		I am firmly against this plan. Redistricting is only done after a census, as necessary. To do so now for partisan gains may not be illegal but it is certainly immoral. The legislation of this great state works for the benefit of ALL the people of this state. You are employed by us, not the president or a political party. Compete in a free and fair election like a grown up. I was a Republican most of my life. Not any more; and I,Äôm not the only one who has left. Shame on you!
10/17/25 7:28 AM	Dr. Laura Parra		I oppose redistricting at this time. Right now and so soon after the last it appears to be a total power grab and very unethical. In the future a nonpartisan form of drawing these maps is the only way to keep our democracy strong,
10/17/25 7:28 AM	Mr. Joseph Cothran III		I an strongly opposed to this redistricting. It does not allow for the will of the people to be heard.
10/17/25 7:29 AM	Mrs Sandra Trotter		It is not in the best interest of North Carolinians to redistrict at this time. Shame on the politicians who deny the will of the people.

10/17/25 7:30 AM	Ellen OCONNOR		I strongly oppose redistricting NC mid-census! Doing so is a blatant power grab when the majority in power (Republicans in this case) do not promote policies that are popular enough to win them seats without rigging the district map. District maps should only be re-drawn once a decade when new census data is available. This work should be done by a non-partisan group (separate from the NC Legislature itself) who will create maps that represent the population fairly so that all citizens are able to exercise their right to vote and have their vote count, no matter their political affiliation. That's what a fair democratic system looks like.
10/17/25 7:32 AM	Paresh Gala		No redistricting. No new maps
10/17/25 7:33 AM	Judy McLendon		I say no to the proposed redistricting plan. GOP stop trying to manipulate the votes.
10/17/25 7:35 AM	Julia Loughlin		I have never seen a more blatant attempt to steal elections than this latest version of a highly gerrymandered map. There is no way this map allows for true representation of the North Carolina voter. Is the GOP that afraid of facing the voters? You already will not hold town halls where people can voice their concerns or ideas. You already hide from the voters while soaking up all your money and benefits from our tax dollars. I will be joining any and all court actions to block this from ever taking place because this shows is the very definition of taxation without representation.
10/17/25 7:35 AM	James Page		Your redistricting push is absolute garbage. In no way should a state that is as close to a 50/50 split electorally have such a skewed electoral map modification. It's a naked power grab in public view. It's my sincere hope that you reconsider this measure to not align yourself with the whims of the President, but ensure your representation reflects that of the people of North Carolina accurately.
10/17/25 7:40 AM	Dr. Steven Meyerson		We are against the partisan redistricting of NC. This proposal defies the basic American concept of ‚Äúone person, one vote,‚Äù because it intentionally deprives many North Carolinians of fair representation. The idea undermines democracy in NC and the U.S. so just say NO to Trump in this obvious power grab.
10/17/25 7:40 AM	Unfair Maps Megan Rafidi		Instead of cheating and lowering yourself to the level of the Trump administration, perhaps republicans could change their incredibly unpopular policies instead of having to cheat to win seats. This is a disgrace. It‚Äôs crazy to think how desperate republicans are to hold onto power. You should be ashamed. Vote against unfair restricting. Do the right thing.
10/17/25 7:40 AM	Ms Wendy Jebens		Please do not make our NC maps uneven more unfair just to please President Trump! NC should be a 7/7 split by population - gerrymandering is a detriment to our country and only keeps us more divided.
10/17/25 7:41 AM	Mrs. Robin Lamb		Gerrymandering should be illegal for BOTH parties. The result of an election should represent the true will of the people. Our current GOP run state government has not been focused on taking care of NC...budgets, sensible laws, taking care of public servants, taking care of health care needs..it's not happening with our current GOP led government. And to think they need to getrymander (chest) to continue this irresponsible governing makes me sad for NC. The new district should not happen. It's unethical, it should be illegal, and it's no good for the true will of the NC people, which I'm sure the GOP knows.
10/17/25 7:42 AM	Laura Pate		I absolutely do NOT support this redistricting plan.
10/17/25 7:43 AM	Nina Tovish		Any redistricting that only increases the unfairness of NC's highly gerrymandered maps is a terrible idea. Disenfranchising voters by squeezing them into absurdly unbalanced districts destroys people faith in fair elections. Do the right thing: establish a non-partisan districting board that does its work openly and publicly.
10/17/25 7:43 AM	Joe Moore		Stop trying to manipulate elections! It‚Äôs illegal you know,
10/17/25 7:44 AM	Richard Ambler		This GOP power grab is ludicrous and should never be allowed to happen!
10/17/25 7:45 AM	Phillip Loughlin		It is time to stop the nonsense. This ridiculous gerrymandering has gone too far already, and making it worse is both undemocratic and criminally unethical. This is essentially drowning the voices of The People, negating the votes of millions of citizens. In exchange for a brief political advantage, this action will deepen the partisan divide and will result in years of work to reverse the negative impacts. Return the voting maps to non-partisan agencies, and restore equal representation for the citizens of this state, and of this country.
10/17/25 7:45 AM	David Black		Our votes are already diluted by gerrymandering in North Carolina. This is a purple state that frequently elects a Democratic governor. Redistricting for no reason other than to grant Republicans another seat is outrageous. The state assembly should be passing a long overdue budget, not further entrenching their power.
10/17/25 7:45 AM	BRUCE KIBBEY	Resident	I am OPPOSED to the proposed changes. This is just another attempt to RULE instead of REPRESENT. It is shameful and UNAMERICAN.
10/17/25 7:45 AM	BG (Retired) Louis Wilham		I retired from the Army to North Carolina specifically because of the state‚Äôs political balance (almost 50/50). When I moved here, the maps were drawn into a seven-seven split. This has dramatically changed already, and the proposed changes should be an embarrassment to anyone who has an ounce of moral fiber. I‚Äôm already dismissed by my state and federal representatives any time I bring up an issue which runs counter to their base‚Äôs beliefs. This will only further make my voice unimportant. This is shameful.
10/17/25 7:45 AM	Ms D Roha		Cowards. Cheaters. Stop bowing to the Dictator in Chief. Grow a spine. You are on the wrong side of history! Save our democracy before it's too late!
10/17/25 7:46 AM	Ms Elizabeth Felton		As a Democrat, I am already under represented in this state. I oppose further gerrymandering of our state. Let the people have the voice guaranteed in our constitution.
10/17/25 7:48 AM	Sarah Van de Berg		For a 50/50 dem/repub state, this map is horrendous. If ever there was a time for an independent redrawing, it‚Äôs now. Do better.
10/17/25 7:49 AM	Michelle Marshall		Your new map proposal is grotesque. How is it fair that Republicans represent roughly 50% of NC, but get 11 out of 14 seats? This is a an attack on democracy and you know it.

10/17/25 7:50 AM	Egregious Power Grab Pamela Cheney		I am disgusted by your blatant attempt to disenfranchise millions of North Carolina citizens by snatching away their opportunity to be represented in a way that reflects their values. Half of NC are ashamed of you.
10/17/25 7:50 AM	Mrs Elizabeth McDavid		Do not re district NC in order to obey trump and try to gain a other seat for republicans. Better yet, redistrict to a fairer 7-7 map which reflects reality. You are cheating to take a seat from Dems. Shame on you.
10/17/25 7:50 AM	Hannah Moses		Gerrymandering the state of NC is an insult to democracy and a blantant way to cheat and steal elections by silencing voices across the state. Do not allow this to pass. Do not sour this state with Republican lies and cheating.
10/17/25 7:50 AM	Robert Drew		Stop acting like children following the bully around the schoolyard, and doing everything he says instead of making decisions that are fair and morally right. There is absolutely nothing wrong with the current districts. To shape them in bizarre ways to take away citizens right to fair representation is just wrong.
10/17/25 7:50 AM	Mrs. Judy Ott		Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 7:51 AM	Nicholas McVane		Your redistricting plan reveals several things: - Since you did this explicitly at the request of the president for the obvious purpose of trying to ensure he maintains control of Congress despite his many failures, you have no capacity or desire to think on your own. - You have no respect for the will of the people to vote in competitive, free, and fair elections. - You are nakedly pursuing power for its own sake and for your own benefit, and have no interest in being responsive to the needs of anyone other than your donors and primary voters. Given these facts, we must conclude that you, the legislators of our state, serve no meaningful or positive purpose. Your only function is to be unthinking patsies for other people with money and power. You are small, terrible people who are causing real harm to our state, our republic, and to people in pursuit of your tiny fiefdoms of meaningless power. Not only do I not support this effort, I refuse to support any incumbent Republican candidate for any office in NC. I will vote against all of you in your primaries and donate to your opponents. Shame on you. None of you are stupid. You know better than this, and you know the harm you are doing in this effort and all of your other petty, unthinking efforts to hoard power and influence. Look yourselves in the mirror and ask yourselves if you are really working for the good of others. We already know the answer. So do you.
10/17/25 7:51 AM	kelly gee	none	Stop stealing our voting rights. No mid cycle redistricting. For the love of country and God, let the people , NOT the the current regime decide.
10/17/25 7:51 AM	Nathan Farber		The NC Republicans care more about appeasing Trump than doing what,Äôs right for the citizens of North Carolina. North Carolina overwhelmingly does not approve of redirecting, that includes republicans. Taking away people,Äôs power to fairly vote is unconstitutional and disgusting. Instead of putting policies forward to try and win over people,Äôs votes you,Äôre just going to take away people,Äôs ability to vote fairly. NC republicans are cowards and will be on the wrong side of history.
10/17/25 7:51 AM	Michele Dunbar	NC voter	I am beyond furious with the NC GOP for their cowardice and subservience to Donald Trump while abandoning their duty to the people of North Carolina. To take an already ridiculously gerrymandered map and make it even more so demonstrates the inability of the NC GOP to do its job.

10/17/25 7:52 AM	Susan Hulbert	League of Women Voters	No Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. Voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. I am firmly opposed to these manipulative tactics. I will continue to advocate for independent, transparent redistricting processes that protect the voice of every voter ,Äî regardless of their political affiliation. Thank you
10/17/25 7:53 AM	Christine Buchanan		I am against redistricting the first Congressional District. All constituent's votes should be counted in a fair election. Get rid of Gerrymandering!
10/17/25 7:53 AM	Graham Via		So since republican policies are so unpopular yall want to do rig the system to take advantage of uninformed voters. Have you no shame? Does every republican in NC have orange around their mouth from having in on Donald,Äôs ass for so long? Rigging the state legislature wasn,Äôt enough so now you have to take away the majority of voters representation in the state to bow down to a fascist who wants to turn this democracy into a Russian like autocracy.
10/17/25 7:53 AM	Jaime Dean		I very strongly disapprove of rewriting districts in NC. NC is a purple state to begin with and the republicans have stripped power from a democratic governor that was dually elected so that they can maintain more power for themselves. The republicans rhetoric has become increasingly unpopular and this is a way to solidify that power without the approval of the constituents in the state. I also think it,Äôs time we all start working together to regain some public trust in both parties and I think this is only accomplished by NOT playing right into being loyal only to Donald Trump.
10/17/25 7:54 AM	Ms Andrea Watson		Redistricting is dishonest, unlawful and blatant cheating. It reeks of Authoritarianism. This must be put up for a vote by your fellow citizens and constituents of the North Carolina. I do not consent to the manipulation the system of free and fair elections. I demand our legislators grow up and do the right thing for this state and our country.
10/17/25 7:54 AM	Tonya Ballard		I,Äôm sickened and disgusted by this! Gerrymandering is always wrong and we need better laws to stop it. We will remember those who support this and eventually vote you out!!
10/17/25 7:54 AM	Ms. Geraldine Azzata		I guess you are afraid you can't win fairly, so you are trying to stack the deck. Despicable. I am a registered voter in Brevard and we won't forget this come next November.
10/17/25 7:56 AM	Ad Kee		Wow I did nazi that coming. How about you all focus on something important and do your damn jobs. This is illegal and complete bullshit. Get out of office if you,Äôre going to act like little kids.
10/17/25 7:56 AM	Ms Amy Conley		I strongly oppose any partisan redistricting efforts, regardless of the party promoting it. Redistricting should be a nonpartisan exercise to best represent all North Carolinians
10/17/25 7:56 AM	Mrs. Ashley Fazal		Drawing maps to strongly favor one party is an undemocratic way to gain power. It also leads to even more polarization and gridlock. I am opposed to redrawing the maps and taking away the voting power of every North Carolinian rather than working towards a balanced, and free and fair election process. If a party can't win without manipulating the maps, then maybe that party should let the people decide fairly who they want to be elected to office.
10/17/25 7:57 AM	Ms Diane Amos		Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.

10/17/25 7:57 AM	Mrs. ARLENE FILKOFF	League of Women Voters	Please do not allow additional gerrymandering! Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 7:58 AM	Mr Thayer Jordan		Both parties need to listen to what the voters would like to see as far as voting is concerned. The GOP should not try to Gerrymandering NC.
10/17/25 7:58 AM	Stacey Jenkins		As Chair of the Mecklenburg County Information Services Technology Advisory Committee and a leader in the League of Women Voters, I am deeply concerned that the proposed Congressional map undermines the democratic principles I work to uphold. Gerrymandering erodes public trust and silences communities. North Carolinians deserve fair, transparent representation,Äînot politically engineered districts. This map fractures Mecklenburg County and the Charlotte metro area, diluting the voices of our diverse and engaged electorate. As someone who hosts civic forums and educates voters, I see firsthand how these manipulations discourage participation and distort outcomes. Our communities deserve to be kept whole and represented authentically. I,Âôve spent years fostering civic engagement across Charlotte, and I know how vital it is for voters to feel their voices matter. This map sends the opposite message. It prioritizes partisan gain over public good and risks alienating voters who already feel unheard. We must reject this map and demand one that reflects the will of the people. North Carolina has a history of court interventions due to unconstitutional maps. As a civic educator, I urge lawmakers to learn from that history and avoid repeating it. This proposed map invites legal challenges and undermines ethical governance. We need a map that withstands scrutiny and serves all North Carolinians fairly. The redistricting process must be transparent and inclusive. As a public servant and advocate for democratic participation, I call on legislators to engage the public meaningfully and reject maps drawn in secrecy. Our democracy depends on it.
10/17/25 7:59 AM	Mrs. Janet Greene		I am opposed to the partisan redistricting effort in North Carolina. This is a waste of taxpayer dollars and creates confusion among voters. I believe in democracy and our Constitution. All voices need to be heard in elections. Elections should be free and fair so people are encouraged to vote.
10/17/25 8:01 AM	Mrs Kimberly Turpin		If you have to redraw the districting maps to win an election, I consider that cheating. Please let the voice of the people honestly and with integrity be the way that North Carolina represents itself.. All voices in North Carolina should be represented in a fair election.
10/17/25 8:02 AM	Stop Gerrymandering!! Kara Schrader		This is outrageous. Republicans are trying to stop vast swathes of votes from mattering! You can,Âôt gerrymander to win the state and not consider this election interference. Stop this!
10/17/25 8:02 AM	Susan Guarino		I am opposed to any mid cycle redistricting plan. Votes should choose their candidate, a candidate should not be able to choose the voters. It seems like a pretty basic concept for a democracy!
10/17/25 8:02 AM	Truly Ball		Please no redistricting!! Try to win fairly and not corrupt our democracy.
10/17/25 8:02 AM	Mr. Alan Jenkins	North Carolina citizen	I vigorously OPPOSE the Republican lawmakers plan to redraw district maps.
10/17/25 8:02 AM	Caroline Bonds		I am very upset about the current redistricting efforts particularly redistricting using the proposed 2025 Congressional map. I'm especially concerned about: *The lack of voter participation in this process ,Äì Please consider initiating a ballot referendum that prohibits gerrymandering & establishes a nonpartisan redistricting commission *The brazen effort to allow elected officials to choose their voters ,Äì Voters should be able to choose their representatives ,Ä¶ not the other way around Please support a healthy democracy & fair elections in NC. Reject the proposed redistricting maps & do not redistrict without nonpartisan redistricting commission. Thank you so much for your time & consideration!

10/17/25 8:03 AM	Diana Shaw		ONE man says you should contort the state to make sure he can be less affected By The People. Please search your minds and remember the whole of The People of North Carolina are who you should be representing, not getting your marching orders from one who isn't even part of being here. How about spending your times and the taxpayers money to help the needs of the people of your state instead of doing this type of work - trying to twist away our freedoms and our wishes. Make sure instead that all people of NC are given all access to free and meaningful voting. By, For and Of the people. NO more Gerrymandering
10/17/25 8:03 AM	R Hawes Harper		It seems to me that ‚ÁúThe Don‚Äù is demanding his minions to rig future elections. He does seem to like the word ‚Äúrigged‚Äù doesn‚Äôt he?
10/17/25 8:04 AM	Ms Myra Woods	League of Women Voters Henderson County	Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ‚Äć It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ‚Äć It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ‚Äć It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party‚Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ‚Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 8:04 AM	Mr William Little		Redistricting for the sake of gain one political party over another should be illegal and you should be ashamed of yourselves for attempting it. You have a responsibility to represent all of your constituents not just the ones that follow your ideology. You shouldn't get to draw the lines so you win. That is lazy. Do the work. Earn the trust of the voters in your district. That is the only way to deserve win. This whataboutism has to stop. Dont pretend this was started by the democrats. Irrelevant and its a lie. We are one america, one North carolina. You shouldn't
10/17/25 8:04 AM	Shameful and unAmerican Will Pellisero		This is disgusting. You‚Äôre taking an already gerrymandered map and making it worse, mid decade too, because your king told you to. This is not the behavior of anyone who calls themself a leader. America doesn‚Äôt have kings and you changing the rules to give a wannabe one free reign is embarrassing, infuriating, and anti-American. You should be ashamed of yourselves. NC is a 50/50 state and you want to rig the map to be 11-3,‚Äî it‚Äôs cheating. The people should be able to have a fairly represented Congress that holds the other two branches accountable. You know, checks and balances: the elementary-school concept y‚Äôall have thrown out the window.
10/17/25 8:06 AM	Ms Donna Kaye	US Citizen and North Carolina Resident	Partisan redistricting before the next census occurs is outrageous and weakens our representational democracy. North Carolina is already strongly politically gerrymandered and now to follow Texas's lead so that President Trump can thwart the will of the people in the midterms elections is making a mockery of letting voters choose their candidates. I know that if Democrats did this, you would be opposed. We need two strong parties Republican and Democrat functioning in our state- which is politically purple. We don't need abuse of power and bullying, which is what this type of redistricting will do.
10/17/25 8:06 AM	Ms Roseann Zoggyie		I think this is very unjust. You're helping Trump cheat to try to win the House in 2026. Of course GOP doesn't care what constituents want. You only care about retaining power. Everyone in our State deserves to have representation.
10/17/25 8:07 AM	Patricia Rieser	self	I strongly oppose mid-term redistricting for political gain. Texas started this at the direct request of the President, which is shameful enough. California is responding with a voter referendum so VOTERS CAN DECIDE if they want to respond to Texas's move. This has only to do with political advantage, and if you look at the polls, voters are sick of it. I strongly oppose this for the following reasons: Destabilizes representation: Redrawing maps mid-decade confuses voters and disrupts communities‚Äô relationships with their elected officials. Invites partisan abuse: Mid-cycle redistricting is often used by those in power to manipulate district lines for political gain rather than public interest. Violates the principle of equal representation: Redistricting should be based on new census data. Changing maps mid-cycle uses outdated population information and weakens fair representation. Wastes taxpayer money: Constantly redrawing maps drains public funds and resources that could be better utilized to serve voters. Erodes trust in democracy: Frequent and politically motivated redistricting leads voters to believe the system is rigged, lowering confidence and participation. Voters should choose their representatives,‚Äînot the other way around. I have little doubt that Republican leadership will pursue this even in the face of public opinion to the contrary, and that is yet another tragic and perhaps fatal "nail in the coffin" of our dying Republic.
10/17/25 8:07 AM	Melinda Bowe		Our family stands strongly against any further legislative efforts to tamper with or redistrict the voting rights or districts of the state,‚Äôs voters. If republicans want to win seats, they should do so on merit, not pulling these tricks.
10/17/25 8:07 AM	Katherine Wu		I am very distraught to hear that the NC Legislature is redrawing our congressional map to favor Republican representation. This will dramatically diminish fair representation and weakens voter choice. Partisan gerrymandering is wrong --and if the tables were reversed, I am sure my Republican friends would agree. Please do the right thing and do not move forward with this change!!

10/17/25 8:08 AM	Amanda Boda		This new map is ensuring that the people of our state do NOT have people in congress who represent their interests and values. It is a disgusting bow to a want to be king and has no anchor in the reality of our state. Please think about the voters, not the president. We are already gerrymandered into oblivion. If you can't win with ideas ans policy, I guess you will just cheat!
10/17/25 8:08 AM	Mrs Elsa Desrochers	General public	Brazen gerrymandering! This proposed redistricting should NOT be allowed.
10/17/25 8:08 AM	Vicky Brennan		We want NC representatives to listen to the people, we have shown that we are not in agreement with the Presidents agenda and do not want you to go along with this. Our maps are already unfair, don,Äôt make it worse. Help bring down costs and maintain our health care. Be leaders, not followers, please!
10/17/25 8:08 AM	Mr William Valentin		We need to ensure that when we are performing redistricting it should ensure that voters are choosing their representatives and not representatives choosing their voters. This is the foundation of our country being a constitutional republic with democratic principles Redistricting should reflect equal population distribution to guarantee that each vote carries the same weight, we shoud be preventing gerrymandering that favors specific parties or groups. Redistricting should preserve natural or socio-economic communities, promoting effective representation rather than splitting communities for political advantage. We should employ accurate data and advanced technology to create fair districts based on objective non-partisan criteria.
10/17/25 8:09 AM	Robert Dalton		How many more ways will NC Republicans find to corruptly rig elections in their favor?
10/17/25 8:09 AM	Nancy Lesesne		I strongly oppose this mid-cycle redistricting bill. I fear for its impact on our democracy. Do not silence voters.
10/17/25 8:09 AM	Dr Kathryn Martinuzzi		I am completely opposed to mid-decade redistricting. The practice of partisan gerrymandering undermines the point of ‚Äúone person, one vote,,‚Ù which is foundational to our constitutional republic. Gerrymandering is an awful practice in general, but it is especially offensive when it‚Äôs so clearly being done because officials are worried that the people they represent oppose their policies and will vote to oust their party. If you actually care about representing North Carolinians, then listen to us. Don‚Äôt try to change the rules so that you can ignore us.
10/17/25 8:10 AM	Michelle Sandridge		I strongly oppose any efforts to further gerrymander the districts in NC. It is a disgrace that Republicans have succeeded in creating districts that allowed only 1/3 of the Congressional seats to go to Democrats last year even though Democrats received half of the votes in the state. We should have fair maps that reflect the will of the people, not the will of politicians or political parties.
10/17/25 8:10 AM	Ms. Fredilyn Sison		If you believe in democracy, there should be no gerrymandering.
10/17/25 8:10 AM	Mrs Caitlin Craven		This is a disgusting attack on democracy. GERRYMANDERING. Why don‚Äôt you try to win without cheating? Why don‚Äôt you do something good for the citizens of your state so we WANT you in office? Because you are too busy pretending trans people and immigrants are the problem when the real problem is trump‚Äôs agenda of taking away health care, education, special education services and doing anything about the cost of living!
10/17/25 8:10 AM	sue frederick		Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ‚Äì It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ‚Äì It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ‚Äì It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party‚Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ‚Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. PLEASE! Do the right thing for democracy.
10/17/25 8:10 AM	Michael Whyte		I am in opposition to any gerrymandering of NC. It silences voters and destabilizes elections. Gerrymandering is a violation of the US and NC Constitution and weakens our democracy.
10/17/25 8:12 AM	Mr Joseph Moran	Retired minister	Partisan scurrility is the only way I can describe this base maneuver. It is spitting in the face of a large segment North Carolina's citizens by eliminating their voice in the electoral process. Shame on you for stomping on this bedrock of democracy!
10/17/25 8:12 AM	2032600624 Gail Bromer		I do NOT feel that the districts should be changed.
10/17/25 8:12 AM	Katelyn Jones		GET OFF YOUR KNEES!! This is absolutely ridiculous and YOU KNOW IT! Cheat any way you want! You‚Äôll have your god to answer to! So WW2 happened and you didn‚Äôt learn anything? This is absolutely so much bigger than an imaginary line drawn in the sand!! Stand up to the tyranny! Thank you

10/17/25 8:12 AM	Sarah Robins	Why the heck am I living in apex, and am proposed to be voting with people from Chatham county?
10/17/25 8:13 AM	mr Craig Francis	Please do not undertake this next misadventure. If the policies of your political leanings were positive and popular, this unnecessary 'redistricting' would not be needed. As you are very much aware, if there was FAIR districting the current unpopular political environment would not stand a chance of being reelected. We all know that this is your only way to force your agenda upon us. We live in sad times. You should be ashamed at what you have done to this country.
10/17/25 8:13 AM	Ms Gayle Stone	I'm writing in opposition to mid-cycle redistricting for partisan gerrymandering. There is so much wrong about this: It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 8:13 AM	Jacob Singleton	It's absolutely embarrassing that North Carolina elected officials are even thinking of doing this. Redistricting is fine after the cencus but that's only time it should happen
10/17/25 8:13 AM	Eric Olano	It is appalling that legislators are manipulating the system so that they can rig the election and take away the voice of regular people, all people that are citizens of this country. Honor and integrity have become antiquated terms unfortunately especially where politicians are concerned. I hope for a day when laws are set in place that will once again balance power since no one elected can be trusted to do the right thing.
10/17/25 8:13 AM	Ms Patricia Sperling	The Republicans' maneuvers to redistrict ahead of the 2026 midterms is an antidemocratic abuse of power that robs NC citizens of their power to choose their representatives. It's cheating, plain and simple. The people of North Carolina overwhelmingly oppose this type of gerrymandering, and our representatives need to act ethically and oppose it.
10/17/25 8:15 AM	Mr. Glen Welch	This is criminal and should not be redrawn. Leave it alone you are public servants. History will remember you for the good and bad choices you make.
10/17/25 8:16 AM	David Hill	I am opposed to more redistricting. This is done on the orders of the White House, not NC citizens. This is pure politics by the party currently in control of the NC General Assembly and not in the best interest of NC citizens. This is a power grab by the NC General Assembly and NC citizens will not tolerate this. More frequent redistricting is a waste of taxpayer time and money. Thank you for listening.
10/17/25 8:16 AM	Dr. Sharon Contreras	Dear Members of the General Assembly, I am writing to urge you to reject the newly proposed congressional map. North Carolina is a politically competitive state, and our congressional districts should reflect that reality rather than predetermine electoral outcomes. North Carolina is a competitive, closely divided state. The evidence is clear: In the 2020 presidential election, North Carolina voters split nearly evenly, with Trump receiving 49.93% and Biden 48.59%. That same year, Governor Cooper was re-elected with 51.52% of the vote. In 2022, under court-drawn maps widely regarded as fair, the statewide House vote was approximately 52% Republican to 48% Democratic, and the congressional delegation split 7,Äì7,Äîaccurately reflecting our state's partisan balance. Additionally, unaffiliated voters now constitute the largest voter registration group in North Carolina, further underscoring the competitive nature of our electorate. The proposed map does not reflect this competitive reality. According to independent analysis and local reporting, this proposal would create 11 Republican-leaning seats out of 14 by converting the current swing district NC-1 into a safe Republican seat. This outcome is fundamentally inconsistent with North Carolina's closely divided electorate and would produce a congressional delegation that does not represent the actual political composition of our state. After court oversight produced fairer maps for the 2022 elections, the 2023 redistricting was identified by nonpartisan experts as among the most gerrymandered in the nation, with particular harm to communities of color. The current mid-decade proposal would compound rather than correct these issues. When maps systematically convert a competitive electorate into a near-supermajority delegation for one party, it undermines public confidence in our democratic institutions. Such maps shift electoral competition from general elections to party primaries, which encourages ideological extremism and reduces accountability to the broader electorate. North Carolina deserves fair and representative maps. Our state needs congressional districts that respect community boundaries and comply with the Voting Rights Act, accurately reflect North Carolina's genuine partisan composition, and avoid manipulating district lines to

10/17/25 8:16 AM	Paulette Slater		I can tell you as an Unaffiliated/Independent voter, I have always voted for who I thought would work for the people. But after what I have seen this corrupt republican government be accomplices in destroying our country, United States Constitution and our people. I will never vote for another republican. What you are doing just to please your leader is wrong, you were voted into office by the people, not a wannabe dictator. And you can and will be voted out by the peoples. You work for the people not a dictator.
10/17/25 8:16 AM	Undemocratic Jacob Peterson		The proposed redistricting maps are terrible. Get an independent commission to draw the maps so that our purple state can have representation. GOP maps are undemocratic and un-American.
10/17/25 8:16 AM	Emily Cochran		This is illegal. Our country was founded on free and fair elections. This is not that. If 50% of North Carolinians voted for Trump, that means 50% did not,Ä¶ so you need to balance the seats. You work for North Carolinians, not this wannabe dictator. Do the right thing and balance the seats.
10/17/25 8:16 AM	Jan Lavey		We see what you,Äôre doing to insure your power grab! Extremely UNAMERICAN!!!
10/17/25 8:16 AM	No redistricting! Summer Goon		I am writing to state my opposition to redistricting. North Carolinians deserve fair representation.
10/17/25 8:16 AM	Kris Finnigan		North Carolina lawmakers are making bold and politically motivated steps to propose mid-cycle redistricting. They are doing this at the request of the Trump administration with a goal of securing a partisan advantage ahead of the 2026 elections. This move is not about representation. It's about wielding power. What,Äôs at Stake Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 8:16 AM	Jennifer Hurst		Changing the rules mid-cycle to help those in office is authoritarian and wrong. How would you feel if the shoe were on the other foot? Don,Äôt do bad things!
10/17/25 8:17 AM	Charles Nintzel		Power Corrupts. Absolute Power Corrupts, Absolutely.
10/17/25 8:17 AM	Mary Troutman		I strongly oppose this out of time redistricting. You just redid the maps before the last election to move away from fairer representation of the actual voter registration breakdown to tilting heavily Republicans. The only reason to do this one is to appease the current President and curry favor with him. This does nothing to help NC citizens get healthcare or even get an approved budget. NO to this plan!
10/17/25 8:17 AM	Ms Sarah Gayle		No!
10/17/25 8:17 AM	Cindy Viehman	Constituent from Tryon, NC	I am opposed to the chair mandarin that,Äôs going on in North Carolina. I do not support redistricting for the efforts of one party to try to win votes unfairly
10/17/25 8:17 AM	Jane Ratteree		Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. I oppose these manipulative tactics and the redistricting efforts currently underway in North Carolina.

10/17/25 8:19 AM	Dr. Ryan Rickels		As a North Carolina voter, I strongly oppose the proposed Congressional district plan. North Carolinians deserve fair maps that reflect the true political and geographic diversity of our stat, not districts drawn to serve one party,Äôs interests. Gerrymandering undermines public trust in our democracy. It dilutes the voices of voters, divides communities, and makes elections less competitive and less representative. Every voter should have an equal opportunity to choose their representatives, not the other way around. I urge the committee to reject this partisan map and instead adopt a fair, transparent, and nonpartisan redistricting process that prioritizes community integrity, competitiveness, and public input. North Carolina voters deserve better than another round of maps designed for political advantage. Thank you for your consideration.
10/17/25 8:19 AM	Tracy Vosburgh		Our democracy depends on representation for all citizens. Using redistricting as a partisan political tool is anathema to our values. This process uses old data, it discourages participation by individuals, undercuts our democracy and creates unfair, unequal representation for the citizens of North Carolina.
10/17/25 8:20 AM	Ms Barbara Mueller		I am opposed to this redistricting attempt.
10/17/25 8:20 AM	Gerrymandering Jane Ruffin		The proposed redistricting is simply an attempt by Republicans to cheat, so they can remain in office and enact an agenda that most North Carolinians oppose. Shame on state legislators who are subverting democracy.
10/17/25 8:21 AM	Mrs Amy Rickels		I,Äôm a North Carolina voter, and I strongly oppose the proposed Congressional redistricting plan. Our state deserves fair maps that reflect our communities. Partisan gerrymandering damages confidence in our elections and weakens the voices of the people. It splits neighborhoods, silences voters, and denies North Carolinians real representation. Every election should be competitive, transparent, and fair so that voters, not politicians, decide the outcome. I urge the committee to reject this plan and create maps through an open, nonpartisan process that truly serves the people of North Carolina. Thank you.
10/17/25 8:21 AM	Ms Martha Shafer	Self	You,Äôre making a mockery of democracy by your mid decade redistricting. I guess you don,Äôt care if people stop voting because they understand that their vote doesn,Äôt matter. Our General Assembly has already determined the outcome of the election! You,Äôre showing that you care more about raw power than your oath of office & democracy. I,Äôm disgusted by the lot of you.
10/17/25 8:21 AM	Melanie Ellis		Not in favor
10/17/25 8:21 AM	Ms Vicki Klavins		This is a disgusting attempt to give a dictator what he wants. This will take away democracy and does not fairly represent the people.
10/17/25 8:23 AM	Rebecca Abel	Retired	NC is already the most gerrymandered state in the nation or nearly so. A mid-decade redrawing is unusual and unnecessary. It is evident that the proposed effort will make it virtually impossible for voters to ever elect a balanced representation. Every decade, some hanky-panky goes on with map redrawing, but it is unconscionable to continue to cripple the General Assembly and Senate from being able to fairly represent citizens. Just remember, the pendulum always swings back.
10/17/25 8:23 AM	Mr Peter Thorwarth	Self	Do NOT redistrict. Wat until 2030 as the Constitution says. Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ‚Äì It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ‚Äì It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ‚Äì It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party‚Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ‚Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 8:23 AM	Dr. Carole Kimmel		Redistricting mid-cycle is unfair and gives an artificial advantage based simply on politics and not what is good for voters or citizens of our state. This is not what a democracy means.
10/17/25 8:25 AM	Melinda Sheldon		I am NOT un support of your redistricting efforts. Every 10 years only.
10/17/25 8:27 AM	Eric Hussey		Redistricting undermines constitutional protections and the integrity of democratic representation. Spend this much energy on the actual issues that North Carolina residents are facing.

10/17/25 8:28 AM	Allison Rice	none	I urge the legislature not to adopt new gerrymandered districts mid-decade. This is taking away any political power from Democrats. This is unfair and legislators know it. Vast majorities of both parties oppose gerrymandering. They realize that it's just not fair play. Why are legislators doing something so unpopular? They know that they can't win based on policy and principles, so they have to steal power. This will not come to a good end. Please don't get involved in this game of trying to make republican power permanent nationally. It is shameful and unAmerican.
10/17/25 8:28 AM	Toni Wooten		Three points: The president should not be interfering in NC politics. No vote should be watered down by any party through gerrymandering. Each vote should count equally, regardless of party. If, as is being touted, this is a mandate that NC voters gave to the president and his party, why does the General Assembly feel the need to rig the system in order to secure wins?
10/17/25 8:29 AM	Christopher Gordon		I am unequivocally opposed to this redistricting proposal. We can not call ourselves a democracy if we allow representatives to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. This is a further attempt to steal the election in a state that is already so heavily gerrymandered that representation has been compromised
10/17/25 8:29 AM	Mike Baranski	Citizen	Mid-term redistricting isn,Âôt about serving the people,Âîit,Âôs about clinging to power. And frankly, it,Âôs an insult to every voter in this state. North Carolina has been purple for a long time. Sometimes Democrats win statewide races, sometimes Republicans do. That,Äôs how a healthy democracy works. But when lawmakers start shifting district lines in the middle of a decade just to protect their party,Äôs hold on power, it tells me they,Äôre afraid of real competition. We should be choosing our representatives and not the other way around. If representatives can't get elected fairly, they should change their platforms or find another job. These backroom map changes don,Äôt reflect the will of the people, they just carve up communities and silence voices that don,Äôt fit the agenda. Please stop this. Stop wasting time and taxpayer money on another round of political map-rigging. Let,Äôs have fair districts drawn transparently, by an independent process, so that North Carolina,Äôs elections actually mean something again. We deserve better than this.
10/17/25 8:30 AM	Maureen Montgomery	None	Please do not do support this redistricting! This is so wrong and everyone knows it. Shame on Republicans! It is Un-American and does not reflect NC.
10/17/25 8:31 AM	We know what you,Äôre doing Kate K		Dirty Republicans playing dirty tricks again to have authoritarian rule because your ideas are unpopular and out of touch. Make sure we have fair electoral representation or quit your jobs immediately for failing to uphold the most basic value of our democracy.
10/17/25 8:31 AM	Dr. Loren Schiavone		Re district ion is an unconscionable move. It is already pathetic that we have to endure gerrymandering. The ,Äúruling‚Äù class is not ruling and has no class. A bunch of racist, sexist cowards grasping and gasping for power. Stop it. We the people want democracy. One person, one vote. No brainer
10/17/25 8:32 AM	Mrs Susan Kimbrell	N/A	Phil Berger was elected to support the best interests of NC citizens. He was not elected to ensure Trump gets elected in a rigged system Voting districts should be designed by a non partisan group- not representatives (on either side) who are only interested in their party and their own position. The state of NC deserves leaders who care about their citizens- their health, good jobs, housing, good public school education, and equal rights and that includes voting rights. If you have to rig the system to win you don,Äôt deserve to be in office. A big NO to gerrymandering ordered by any president of the United States especially when it,Äôs only to stay in power and knowing you can,Äôt win any other way
10/17/25 8:32 AM	Ronald Smith		Redistricting outside of the 10 year census flies in the face of the process long established to maintaining fair representation. This is nothing more than a power grab and will be met with a response in the reelection efforts by those in power. We need to insure that all residents of North Carolina have fair and equal representation.
10/17/25 8:33 AM	Eric Jackman		Gerrymandering is wrong. I would say that I am surprised that we as a state would sink to this level but I'm not. We gerrymandered the maps back when we wanted a supermajority in order to override the Governor any time he vetoed a bill. It was wrong then and it is wrong now. It is disgusting behavior and we should rise above not sink into the mire.
10/17/25 8:33 AM	Kelsey Howell		Congressional districts should be drawn to be representative, not to help give handouts to politicians. Charlotte is a contiguous city that ought to have contiguous districts.

10/17/25 8:34 AM	Linda McGowen		There have been that say NC must redistrict to counter CA,Äôs move to redistrict (which is in response to President Trump,Äôs demand that TX redistrict!). Where does it end?? Gerrymandering is in opposition to true democratic values and is NOT fair nor balanced. ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. I am strongly opposed to mid term redistrict if.
10/17/25 8:35 AM	Ms Kathryn Smith		Gerrymandering districts in order to win is despicable. If you can't win honestly, without manipulating the results, you don't deserve to even be in the race. One vote per person should count.
10/17/25 8:35 AM	Rev Linda Higgins		Stop the gerrymandering. No more. You already have gerrymandered me out of my county it has to stop. We the people elect our representatives not the representatives pick their constituent. And until you pass a budget nothing else should be done.
10/17/25 8:35 AM	Zachary Tidmore		No. Set up an independent, non-partisan commission to make and manage electoral maps. I heard Republicans complain for a decade about how morally wrong gertymandering is/was. Now you want to do it yourselves? Why? Has it stopped being immoral because you are in power? Are things only wrong when done by your opponents? Is the Republican party against fair elections and Democracy?
10/17/25 8:35 AM	No Taxation Without Rep,Ä¶ Terrayle Amorello	The Coven of Leaves	This sort of blatant power grab, disenfranchising tens of thousands of voters, flies in the face of the principles this country was built on. Just because you don,Äôt like how someone votes doesn,Äôt mean you have a right to interfere. I don,Äôt like how republicans vote or who they vote for, but I,Äôd fight to my dying breath for their right to do it and would never try and deny it to anyone for any reason. Every person should have the right to vote in a way that matters to them, and this effectively robs people of that right.
10/17/25 8:37 AM	William McGowen		Mid term redistricting is undemocratic, and can make elections unfair. Gerrymander of any kind should be illegal. It disenfranchises voters, divides communities, causes people to stop voting, and skews elections. I strongly oppose this proposed plan.
10/17/25 8:37 AM	Kristi Mizen	Title*	Please know that mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. Thanks for doing the right thing. Kristi Mizen
10/17/25 8:37 AM	Ms. Cynthia Zimmerman		This is an abomination. Do not divide counties. Do not make isolated parts to include with areas far away. Make a new map that creates a fair division so that representatives actually represent a number of counties. Stop disenfranchising voters and represent us fairly!
10/17/25 8:37 AM	Ms Teresa McLean		Absolutely wring! Leave it alone.
10/17/25 8:38 AM	Mr Matthew Cole		North Carolina has been redistricted enough. This partisan nonsense needs to end. It hurts our state and has for the last 15 years. NCians, left and right, need to figure out how to WORK TOGETHER. Make NC an example for the rest of the country, let,Äôs drop the partisan politics and come together as Americans again.
10/17/25 8:38 AM	Blalant manipulation Adam Koliadko		This is beyond and obvious attempt at manipulating the results of upcoming elections. As a state that is almost 50/50 between the two parties, this rediculous plan is tailored to eliminate all democratic votes. This most must stop.
10/17/25 8:39 AM	Bret McMillan		Naked gerrymandering like this is one of the reasons I left the Republican Party. The people of North Carolina deserve maps that genuinely represent them, vs ones that favor one party over another.
10/17/25 8:39 AM	Ms Rhonda Galey		This wrong. Ethically and morally. Doing this disenfranchises MORE NC voters. Shame on all of you for even considering this.

10/17/25 8:41 AM	Robyn Lay		We want fair representative maps in NC. This is an affront to every single voter in this state and it will not be tolerated. If you want to be able to win without cheating, create policies that work for all. This though is pathetic and it,Äôs cowardly. You have no desire to govern for all and this clearly shows your priorities. We will not be silenced.
10/17/25 8:41 AM	Chuck Brownson		This is an attempt to disenfranchise a good chunk of the population and should be immediately rejected. Democracy is about respecting the will of the voters and this is an attempt to reject the will of the voters. If the members of the legislature have any respect for popular sovereignty, the Constitution, or any of the principles the US was founded upon, they will reject this blatant power grab at the expense of North Carolina voters.
10/17/25 8:41 AM	Kendall Harris		This is a transparent effort to take away the influence and voice of citizens that do not support the current administration,Äôs agenda. This is in direct opposition to the duty of elected officials to represent the voice of the individuals in their districts. This is not how our country or our state works. I am vehemently opposed to this.
10/17/25 8:42 AM	Stop Gerrymandering Meghan Blake		This is vile and completely undemocratic.
10/17/25 8:42 AM	Jennifer Williams		Y,Äôall need to stop messing with the maps. Let there be fair and honest elections.
10/17/25 8:44 AM	Emily Kitchen		The redistricting (gerrymandering) of NC is not in the best interest of the constituents who live here. It is an attempt of the Republican Party to gain more power and I urge the people in power right now to listen to the people and NOT allow this to happen. Your decision will be noted and we will remember it when it comes time to vote. You are supposed to be our representation in DC. If you won,Äôt make decisions based off of what we want and what is in our best interest, then we will find someone else who will. Thank you.
10/17/25 8:44 AM	Sharon Stephens		Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. Do not change our maps again.
10/17/25 8:45 AM	Laurie Micholychak		No more redistricting
10/17/25 8:47 AM	Mrs Elizabeth Loehfelm		Please resist this latest redistricting map. North Carolinians elect state legislators to represent them, not the President.
10/17/25 8:47 AM	President Larry Sutton	NAACP Sampson County Branch	First, I thank you for allowing me to comment. This effort is moving NC in the wrong direction, creating an even more immeasurable distance between partisans in our community. I suggest that we begin to move toward an independent commission for redrawing districts following each census to account for changes in population; otherwise, we are deepening the general divide among races and cultures in NC beyond measure. For the sake of sanity and reasonableness, let's pause these extreme measures for the future posterity of NC. At some point, our young people are going to begin to question the general fairness of these practices and will call you out for your hypocrisy contrary to the ideals and values espoused in our constitution. Fair and equal representation is the hallmark of our society, the goal we must return to before it's too late. Thank you.
10/17/25 8:48 AM	Meredith Dowling		I am writing as an independent voter and patriotic American. I hold an MPA from Indiana University and have dedicated my career to public service in the nonprofit sector. My family has lived in the Carolinas for many generations. My relatives have served as attorneys, judges, and in state legislatures for generations. Nothing matters more to me than the future of our great democracy. With this in mind, I urge you to create a map that is genuinely fair and ensures representation for all of our state,Äôs citizens. We deserve a congressional district map that creates an even playing field among political parties. The currently proposed map is inappropriate and should not be accepted.

10/17/25 8:48 AM	Stop Gerrymandering Ashley Brice	The Republicans in North Carolina are disgraceful. The only way they get into power is by cheating the system in some way shape or form. Every time we have a vote that they don't think is going to go in their favor, the default to redistricting in a way that would nearly guarantee that one of their own gets into another position of power while completely diminishing the opportunities for a fair vote from the people of North Carolina. This is disgraceful and illegal. This tactic is called gerrymandering and has been addressed several times with a Republicans of this state. Despite that, they continue to push for legislation that is allowing this to happen. I'm disappointed in this government and this administration for their dirty tactics. If you care even a little bit about the people of North Carolina, please take the comments from everyone submitting this form seriously and reconsider the actions that are about to take place.
10/17/25 8:49 AM	Gabriel Horner	What an embarrassing and out of touch plan for this committee to propose. This isn't what 84% North Carolinians want - https://www.commoncause.org/north-carolina/press/gerrymandering-poll/ . We want equal and fair representation. We already live in a very gerrymandered state. All the major offices were won by Democrats and the majority barely voted for the presidential Republican candidate, yet the proposed redistricting has Republicans representing 78.5% of the state. The voters choose their representatives, not the other way around. We'll see you at the polls.
10/17/25 8:49 AM	Mrs Elizabeth Loehfelm	Please resist supporting the redistricting map. North Carolinians elect state legislators to support them, not the President.
10/17/25 8:49 AM	Molly Petrey	Please do not redistrict to hand over new gerrymandered districts to Republicans. That does not accurately reflect the people of North Carolina, whom you represent.
10/17/25 8:49 AM	Dr. Audrey Atkinson	The redistricting of district 1 (impacting district 3 as well) is such an obvious and corrupt gerrymander. To change a competitive district to one that will go over 10 points to Republicans is absurd. This is literally taking power away from the people and disenfranchising voters. We all know this redistricting is also in direct relation to the president's request and works to protect pedophiles. I literally have no idea how you all sleep at night given the level of unethical and immoral behavior this represents.
10/17/25 8:50 AM	Aaron Lay	Please stop gerrymandering maps!
10/17/25 8:50 AM	Haven Carter	Redistricting without a new census makes zero sense and only shows that you are hoping for favors from a retributive President. Stop this childish behavior and enact legislation that your constituents voted you into office to enact - pay teachers and police officers decent wages, take care of those who cannot take care of themselves like special needs children in education (since the current administration has fired all the people who oversee that these programs are being properly operated and that the children are being educated and cared for). There is so much real work to be in done in NC without spending taxpayer monies on this issue. GET TO WORK!
10/17/25 8:50 AM	Hope Alexander-WIllis	During this time of hyper-partisanship I would like to think that my state and the people who represent ALL of us would play fair. Let's lead the way!! Let's show the nation, and the world, that North Carolinians can come together without rancor or pettiness. I urge you to do the right thing and leave the maps where they are, or better yet, to return them to what they used to be before the last gerrymandering!!
10/17/25 8:50 AM	Olivia Dittrich	Redrawing congressional districts again, barely a year after the last map, makes a mockery of democracy in North Carolina. Redistricting is supposed to happen once per decade after the census, not whenever one party fears losing power. This repeated manipulation of district lines is a blatant abuse of authority, designed not to reflect population shifts but to entrench political control. North Carolina is the only state where the governor has no power to veto redistricting maps. That loophole allows lawmakers to rewrite the rules of representation without oversight, accountability, or restraint. It is an intentional design that silences voters and shields partisan gerrymandering from any check. The new CCM-2 map is an insult to fair representation. Splitting counties like Guilford into three districts shreds communities apart just to protect incumbents and punish competitive regions. This is not democracy; it is a power grab. North Carolinians deserve stable, fair maps that reflect people, not politics. Legislators should not redraw boundaries to appease national figures or secure partisan advantage. This process betrays the very voters it is supposed to serve. Enough is enough.
10/17/25 8:50 AM	Rissa Hanneken	I think it‚Äôs inexcusable behavior by people who swore an oath to the Constitution. You are bowing down to a dictator and your actions show your cowardice. Shame on you.
10/17/25 8:50 AM	Andrea Konicki Strychalski	I am opposed to the mid-cycle redistricting. Voting should be a non-partisan activity and this unnecessary mid-cycle redistricting will create confusion and disrupt communities,‚Äô relationships with their elected officials. It is also a huge waste of taxpayer dollars that could be better spent elsewhere to benefit your constituents.

10/17/25 8:50 AM	Jennifer Martin		I am writing as a concerned constituent to express my strong opposition to the recently announced plans by Senator Phil Berger and Speaker Destin Hall to redraw North Carolina‚Äôs Congressional maps yet again. It is deeply troubling that, in the midst of a delayed state budget and a Medicaid funding shortfall that directly affects families and health care providers, legislative leaders are prioritizing political power over the people of North Carolina. The notion that redistricting efforts are being pursued to ‚Äúcounter‚Äù moves by other states rings hollow when our state has already undergone significant partisan map-drawing in 2024‚Äîmaps that overwhelmingly favored one party‚Äôs interests. Equally concerning are reports that these new maps are being discussed in the context of national political maneuvering and personal ambitions, including efforts to secure endorsements for future elections. This kind of transactional approach to redistricting undermines public trust and erodes the very foundation of representative democracy. Fair maps are not a partisan issue‚Äîthey are a moral one. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. I urge you to oppose any further gerrymandering efforts and to instead focus on restoring integrity and transparency to our redistricting process. North Carolinians deserve fair representation and a government that places the needs of its people above political advantage. As elected representatives of our state, I trust you to act in the best interest of all North Carolinians and not bend to the whims of Washington. I look forward to your response.
10/17/25 8:51 AM	Dr. Juanita Coleman		Gerrymandering is wrong, no matter which party does it. Mid-cycle gerrymandering to help a wannabe dictator grab even more power is terrifying. Our country‚Äôs founders knew that checks and balances were necessary to sustain a healthy democracy. Now we have a president who wants to run the whole show, breaking laws, rewarding his rich cronies and punishing those who dare to stand up to him. So he ordered NC legislators to redraw maps to ensure that Congress won‚Äôt get in his way. Don‚Äôt do it, NC! Our voter maps are already gerrymandered‚Äîdon‚Äôt make them worse. We need non-partisan maps to protect voter‚Äôs rights to choose our elected representatives.
10/17/25 8:52 AM	Stay true to NC: No Games Chris Ashley		I came to call North Carolina my home over eight years ago. And as a North Carolina resident and a homeowner, a mom of three grown young men, an educator, and one who loves to invest in local community wellness and well-being, I believe in a North Carolina that supports and reflects the will of all her residents. This redistricting process is not coming from North Carolinians; 94% of us disagree with this move, which is coming from Washington DC. And 76% of us believe that partisan gerrymandering should be illegal! Nearly all voters (that 94% referenced above) want districts that represent all communities and political viewpoints. The North Carolina General assembly should be listening to North Carolinians and not be puppets played by partisan politics and Washington DC. I urge the North Carolina general assembly to stay the course and not be played.
10/17/25 8:52 AM	Janet Ceonemiller		Redistricting for partisan gain violates your oath and disrupts the democratic process. The separation of powers exists to prevent one branch from controlling the others‚Äîor the people. Uphold the Constitution, protect fair representation. If you were protecting your voters you wouldn‚Äôt need to cheat
10/17/25 8:52 AM	Janice Milin		I STRONGLY OBJECT to the proposed redistricting in NC. This process should be controlled by a bipartisan committee to ensure fair distribution of voters. Elected officials should NOT be allowed choose their voters.
10/17/25 8:53 AM	Rebecca Schuit	NA	I am totally opposed to redistricting plan. This has been in the courts for several years. It has been resolved just lately. Let it be! Do not try and take voters rights away from them by redistricting so that Republicans will continue to win without justification. I am opposed!
10/17/25 8:53 AM	Kyle Munn		The currently proposed maps are a travesty and not what North Carolinians wants. Give us competitive districts across the state so that we can be assured that the best candidates win.
10/17/25 8:53 AM	Ms Nina Hart		I'm absolutely appalled at the repeated attempts to FURTHER gerrymander our already heavily gerrymandered state! This time, at the behest of the president. In plain talk, this amounts to cheating. If we took a VOTE of NC residents, Democrats and Republicans alike would be against this unprecedented move. Shame.
10/17/25 8:53 AM	Cynthia Heil		You were elected to serve your constituents, not a crooked, pedophile Prez. Why not try to be honest and see if you can win elections without gerrymandering/rigging them?
10/17/25 8:54 AM	Adrian Sanders		As a North Carolinian I completely OPPOSE the redistricting of any maps. This is blatant gerrymandering and I strongly disagree with it.
10/17/25 8:54 AM	Alec Hughes		This is blatant gerrymandering that does not represent North Carolina. The entire job of the state government is to represent North Carolina as well as you can, and this redistricting clearly diminishes certain people‚Äôs voices. Please do not pass this district plan.

10/17/25 8:55 AM	Ms Mary Buttitta		This mid-cycle redistricting is an outrageous attempt to appease Trump instead of serving this state. Voting districts should be drawn by a neutral committee. Some consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. Have some integrity and respect for differences.
10/17/25 8:55 AM	Ms. Helen Livingston	LWV	Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 8:55 AM	William Wheaton	Self	The effort by the Republican Party to further gerrymander congressional districts between decennial censuses will destroy voters' confidence in our elections and in our democracy. This effort is anti-democratic at its core. Without fair districts, voters know their votes won't count (which goes for both parties). Do not be cowards and bow to Trump's will to destroy our democracy. Stand up and say no to this effort to bring our democracy down.
10/17/25 8:55 AM	Richard Beck		I,Äôm writing as a North Carolinian deeply concerned that the General Assembly is again moving to redraw congressional districts mid-decade to entrench partisan power. This is not routine post-Census redistricting,Äîit,Äôs an intentional, mid-cycle rewrite designed to tilt outcomes before the next federal elections. Legislative leaders have publicly discussed plans to pass a new U.S. House map that would likely convert North Carolina,Äôs current 10,Äì4 delegation into an even more skewed partisan advantage by targeting the state,Äôs remaining competitive districts. This follows the 2023 maps, which were enacted after the state supreme court reversed earlier precedent and already produced a heavily lopsided result in 2024. Federal courts are currently reviewing racial gerrymandering challenges alleging that these maps unlawfully dilute Black voting strength. Compounding the problem, North Carolina,Äôs governor has no veto power over redistricting. That means meaningful checks must come from the legislature itself and from the courts. The U.S. Supreme Court,Äôs decision in Moore v. Harper confirmed that state courts can and should review legislative actions on elections to ensure they are lawful and constitutional. Your committees therefore carry a heightened responsibility to adopt maps that are transparent, equitable, and consistent with the principles of equal protection. This mid-decade effort appears to be a coordinated attempt to manipulate the upcoming elections rather than reflect the will of the voters. It erodes public trust and weakens our democracy. North Carolinians deserve competitive, community-based districts that reflect our diverse population and ensure every vote counts equally. Please put voters first, abandon this mid-cycle power grab, and commit to a process and outcome that restore trust in our democratic institutions.
10/17/25 8:55 AM	Erika Koning		We urge you to NOT to redistrict on the proposed Congressional district plan. We deserve fair representation in Congress.

10/17/25 8:55 AM	Ms Margaret Dickinson		This is shameful, disgusting, repugnant and disgraceful to the state of NC! The legislature is supposed to be legislating for NORTH CAROLINA not Washington! We don,Äôt even have a State Budget because they cannot legislate. Allowing for a redraw specifically to get another Republican seat is CHEATING and does not represent NC voters in any way! The current president DID NOT GET A MANDATE AND HIS POLICIES ARE THE WORST IN HISTORY and to force NC to continue his propaganda regime, when he knows he is going to lose is SPINELESS, UnAmerican AND A DISGRACE TO THIS COUNTRY and the Union!
10/17/25 8:56 AM	Molly Lewis		There is right and there is wrong. And this is wrong. There is no way to justify this redistricting, and it,Äôs a sad day to see our NCGA use their time and resources to take this on rather than pass a budget, make our schools and streets safer, provide affordable childcare and healthcare or any other honorable cause. Republicans behind this measure don,Äôt want fair elections. They want safe elections. They don,Äôt want to do what,Äôs right for the state. They want to do what one person tells them to do. It,Äôs disheartening to see.
10/17/25 8:56 AM	Jesus Christ	Son of God	If you little Facist ghouls think you can get away with gerrymandering you can kiss your spot in heaven goodbye... There is nothing more low and pathetic and disgusting than trying to disenfranchise a entire state to stay in power because you all aren't popular enough to do so with your policy so like the usual snowflake babies you are you stomp your feet and try and rig the game instead....YOUR actions have consequences and you live among us surrounded on all sides just remember that.... We are your neighbors, your doctors, your teachers... We're all around you always watching and you don't know but we see you all with your red hats.... When all this is over there will be no hiding for you all and we will stop at NOTHING to ensure you are all held criminally liable for your crimes against North Carolina and humanity in general. You all are objects of Satan and will spend eternity in his fire with the rest of his demons.
10/17/25 8:58 AM	Jacqueline McGraw		Please do not redistrict!
10/17/25 8:58 AM	Kenneth Strychalski		I am opposed to the mid-cycle redistricting. Redistricting should be based on new census data - by redrawing the maps mid-cycle you are utilizing outdated population information, weakening fair representation. This politically motivated redistricting will send the wrong message to voters, discouraging participation and lowering confidence in the legitimacy of our elections. It is also a big waste of taxpayer dollars that could be better utilized to serve voters.
10/17/25 8:59 AM	Dr. Paul Ringel		I deeply oppose these changes. This is a shameless power grab, and does not serve the will of the voters. Since I know you do not care about anything but yourselves, I will remind you that there will come a time when you lose control of the legislature and the rest of us will now be fully justified in locking the Republican Party out of power for as long as possible. Do NOT do this.
10/17/25 8:59 AM	Cynthia Piasta		You all need to focus on serving your constituents, rather than playing games with redistricting lines. We elected you to represent us for pressing measures. We will vote you out if you believe your time should be spent manipulating votes. Healthcare, affordable, housing, affordable, healthy food, jobs. Pick one and actually do something.
10/17/25 9:01 AM	Notabillionaire Valerie Van Pelt	Stop The Cheating	If Republicans were good at what they do, they wouldn,Äôt need to cheat which is EXACTLY what gerrymandering is. This new map is an attempt to disenfranchise North Carolinians and force in an additional Republican (as is your plan). What happened to merit hiring? Y,Äôall talk out of both sides of your mouths. You have absolutely no interest in representing all North Carolinians. You only care about power, grifting, lying, cheating, stuffing your damn pockets with other people,Äôs money, while you sit back and do nothing good for your constituents. Where,Äôs the Helene relief? Where,Äôs the funding to fairly pay our teachers? Where,Äôs the money to fund first responders? Where,Äôs the money for education (I guess you don,Äôt mind that we have sunk to the bottom in education in the US). You are the people whose tables Jesus would have turned over. You are the Pharisees. You are the people other nations loathe. Why not try doing an honest day,Äôs work and representing all of North Carolinas people fairly.
10/17/25 9:02 AM	Dr. Heather Koons	N/A	Please do not redistrict our state again! There has been too much redistricting already and this new change makes the districts even less representative of our state. This action is truly shameful pandering to the president. Legislative leaders have said so clearly. It's shocking that our Republican members are willing to forego any sense of decency or desire to have our state's representatives truly reflect the will of the people. Please DO NOT create these new maps!
10/17/25 9:02 AM	George Elam		Instead of passing a much needed budget, which is your primary job, you wish to stack the deck in one parties favor. What happened to letting the voters choose? In my opinion, if you can,Äôt do your job of working for the people of North Carolina, why should we vote for you?
10/17/25 9:03 AM	Mrs. MARGARET REYNOLDS-JONES	NONE	The state already redrew the map to add three seats for the 2024 election. I oppose undertaking this again and certainly, representatives are choosing their voters rather than voters elected their representatives.
10/17/25 9:04 AM	Ms Catherine Jones	None	Stop the redistricting efforts! We do not want nor need it.
10/17/25 9:05 AM	Ms NANCY HILLMER		North Carolina's congressional districts are already the most unfair gerrymandered in the whole country. I need to be fairly represented. North Carolina is a purple state, 50-50 so stop the politics of greed. The already gerimanderd districts are greedy enough. Please pass a budget and stop these distractions. Thank you
10/17/25 9:05 AM	Lauren Halmi		Gerrymandering is a thorn in our democracy and undemocratic. We the People, should be choosing our representatives not the other way around. It is a blatant abusive power and as a resident in North Carolina, I am asking you NOT to redistrict.
10/17/25 9:05 AM	Justin Snyder		Maps need to reflect voter makeup. Gerrymandered maps are highly unethical, and eventually, they will backfire on the party currently in power. Please reconsider, and follow the will of the voters.

10/17/25 9:07 AM	Jesse Martin		Please stop redistricting our state. Gerrymandering should be made illegal and it is a blatant threat to the very tumultuous democracy we have left. It is eroding people's faith in the voting practice, and once that fades, all this left is autocracy. Please allow our votes to be fair and just.
10/17/25 9:07 AM	Tom Dyszkiewicz		Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 9:07 AM	Shelley Townley		A reprehensible and obvious power grab. We are only 1/3 republicans as a state. We are 1/3 democrats and 1/3 independents. No more gerrymandering. If you can,Äôt win honestly it,Äôs cheating.
10/17/25 9:07 AM	Redrawing voting maps Elizabeth Nursey		I would like to see a NONPARTISAN committee set up to draw fair maps for the whole state. If the Republicans can't run on actual policies to try and win , it's unfair to stack the deck against other candidates. We are not currently being fairly represented, and haven't been for years.
10/17/25 9:08 AM	Eleanor Collins		I am opposed to mid-census redistricting. It is a attack on democracy.
10/17/25 9:08 AM	J Clayton		Integrity matters. It,Äôs what we teach our kids, and it,Äôs spiritually important. Disenfranchising voters and manipulating maps is wrong, and not only should you not have the power to do it, you should know just how wrong it is.
10/17/25 9:09 AM	Nancy Breeding	Retired NC State	You don,Äôt work for Donald Trump, you work for the people of NC, ALL the people, not just Republicans. We must ALL be fairly represented. I,Äôm a registered Independent. This is the US, there are no kings here.
10/17/25 9:09 AM	Amanda Fisher		This seems like an attempt to try to circumvent the will of the voters, to gain more power. Are ethics now a thing of the past?
10/17/25 9:09 AM	Samuel Saunders		The proposed redistricting is anti-democratic. My high-earning, high-taxpaying family will literally leave the state if these districts are enacted.
10/17/25 9:10 AM	Cristin Gregory		Stop the gerrymandered maps. The president should have NO say in what happens in NC, and yet here we are changing our maps and taking away fair representation from NC citizens for Trump. Don't do it!! We are all North Carolinians and all deserve representation.
10/17/25 9:10 AM	William Davis		The new map is a blatant attempt at a partisan power grab. Our state is close to 50/50 in each election between the two main parties, and yet this map is so clearly designed to remove the representation of democratic voters. This proposal should be illegal, and I know these comments fall on deaf ears, but if you have any dignity you will not vote for it, and instead should allow a non partisan redistricting that accurately represents the will of North Carolinian voters
10/17/25 9:11 AM	Joanna Gover		I think this is an absolutely ridiculous idea. Restricting because you think you,Äôre going to lose seats to a FAIR VOTE is just cheating. Our map is all ready gerrymandered ENOUGH!
10/17/25 9:12 AM	Ms. Elizabeth Carlson	self	Shame on the NC GOP. There is no decency left when it comes to the enablers of the lawless, corrupt, immoral DJT. One day it will come out that he was a useful idiot/ person of influence for Russia and that you, his dupes, betrayed your country's values to align with Putin's pet. This blind obedience to a mob boss president aligned with Russia and transnational crime syndicates poses a national security risk, putting at risk not only your constituents but all who live in our state and country, History will judge you and the NC GOP harshly, and I hope the voters of our state will as well. Your actions against our democratic form of government are neither wise nor godly.
10/17/25 9:12 AM	Ms. Emily Scott		This is a transparent move. Nothing more than a power grab and a dangerous one at that. Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. For the good of North Carolina voters, you must reject this politically motivated and highly partisan Congressional map!

10/17/25 9:13 AM	Ms Nancy Lenk	self	Please stop messing around with our Districts. I have lived in NC for 15 years, moving back here from Georgia. When I lived in Georgia I had the same District for 30 years. Since I have been here it seems I am moved around every couple of years and don't even know what district I am supposedly in. We need to leave things alone. I am not pleased that I was already gerrymandered into Virginia Foxx's District since there is no way she represents me or my fellow Guilford County residents. She is NOT representative of the PEOPLE and you need to stop riging the system. Leanr to win on your vision and plans for the future and if your ideas are unpopular maybe YOU need to change.
10/17/25 9:13 AM	Sandra Repinski	an American citizen	No, Stop it! Stop trying to redistrict for politics. This does not help the people in North Carolina. You should be ashamed of yourselves, this is not about the people.
10/17/25 9:14 AM	Anne Bristow		Please please stop gerrymandering. The new maps are more of the same and should be illegal, were this not a time of rising authoritarianism. Let‚Äôs balance our state government fairly as it is supposed to be in a democracy.
10/17/25 9:14 AM	Liz Kasberg		Please stop political map drawing. Balanced districts by population. All votes should count. Voting is an American privilege that belongs to all. Western NC has 3x the representation that Charlotte has. It is just wrong. Do your jobs and earn the votes of your neighbors.
10/17/25 9:14 AM	Cynthia Landwehr		What happened to integrity and fairness? Please do the right thing and keep the districts fair.
10/17/25 9:14 AM	Lesa Sass		Please do not redistrict North Carolina. We deserve fair representation in congress.
10/17/25 9:15 AM	Mrs. Janene Ackles	Community Advocate	This is unfair. How many more times will we have to change maps to take away the representation of minorities as though they don't matter. Everyone deserves fair representation. Let the people decide, not the General assembly.. The fate of 11.05 million shouldn't be decided by just 170 people.
10/17/25 9:16 AM	Luke Whitaker		Somehow you found a way to gerrymander the NC map even further. This is a sham, and an insult to the millions of NC residents that you should be representing. This map is fascist power hoarding at its most blatant, and Berger should be put on trial for the mere suggestion of this redistricting. Keep MAGA out of NC.
10/17/25 9:16 AM	Dr. Dianne Rahm		I am opposed to the plan. The attempts to undermine democracy by artificially engineering seats for the Republicans is against the will of the people. Support for this plan is a direct attack on democracy. It should not go forward.
10/17/25 9:17 AM	Sandra Mowell		I do not support this mid-cycle redistricting effort. It will be using already outdated data as the census is only conducted every ten years, waste taxpayer money on something that doesn't need to be done for another five years, and is clearly an abuse of power when the stated objective of the exercise is to further consolidate power of the Republican party in Congress. Elected representatives represent ALL of their constituents and should make decisions based on what is best for NC instead of kowtowing to party politics. The Speaker's rationale that there is some mandate in NC to support the current president's agenda is delusional. 50.9 percent of the vote received in NC for Donald Trump does not a mandate make.
10/17/25 9:17 AM	Dr Marian Swinker	individual citizen	Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ‚Äì It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ‚Äì It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ‚Äì It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party‚Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ‚Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. I am opposed to such manipulative tactics. We need independent, transparent redistricting processes that protect the voice of every voter ‚Äî regardless of their political affiliation.
10/17/25 9:17 AM	Sherman Alfors		Redistricting for the purposes of deliberately giving power to one party over another is wrong. It is wrong in Texas, it is wrong in California - it is just wrong. How can you have a democratic society when only one side is deliberately given and allowed to keep political power, in spite of the population demographics. In NC there are more registered Democrats than Republicans. A gerrymander divide of 11 (R) to 3 (D) is already blatantly wrong - and they want it to be 12 (R) to 2 (D)?! Our representative districts should be evenly drawn to reflect the population - 3 republican, 4 democratic and 7 completely unaffiliated. Representatives would actually need to earn their right to be the winner. With the current gerrymandering going on in our country we are headed for a one party system - reminds me of Russia and China.

10/17/25 9:17 AM	Angela Holland		When a party gerrymanders districts, they typically use two strategies: ‚Äúpacking‚Äù opponents into a few districts they‚Äôll lose badly, and ‚Äúcracking‚Äù remaining opponents across many districts to dilute their votes. This creates many narrow-margin districts for the gerrymandering party. The problem? These narrow margins are vulnerable. A modest shift in public opinion‚Äîperhaps 5-7%‚Äîcan flip multiple districts simultaneously, creating wave elections that wipe out the gerrymandering party‚Äôs advantage entirely. Instead of having a few safe seats and accepting some losses, they will create a house of cards. Secondly, while district maps last a decade, one needs to consider that populations constantly shift. What looks like a clever gerrymander in 2026 can become a liability by 2032 as young people move into cities, suburbs diversify, and political preferences evolve. You cannot gerrymander your way out of demographic change‚Äîyou can only delay the inevitable while failing to adapt your platform to new realities. Ultimately, gerrymandering is a strategy that mistakes winning seats for building durable political power. Real political success comes from adapting your platform to win voters, not from drawing creative maps to avoid them. The party that gerrymanders may win the next election, but sets itself up for a devastating loss down the road‚Äîwhile poisoning the political system for everyone. It‚Äôs a tempting short-term tactic that guarantees long-term failure.???????????????? Beyond the strategic disadvantages, gerrymandering fundamentally contradicts the core principles that make elections fair and democratic. The principle of ‚Äúone person, one vote‚Äù becomes hollow when district lines determine whether your vote matters. In a fair election, voters choose their representatives, not politicians or mapping software! How would this be considered a fair election if this goes through? How is it fair that a majority of voters will not have a say in the elections?
10/17/25 9:18 AM	Redistricting Ann Hester		Approximately 30 percent of registered voters in NC are Republican. Yet, thanks to political and racial gerrymandering by the General Assembly, approved by the unapologetically political Republican majority of the NC Supreme Court, the General Assembly is one vote shy of a Republican supermajority, and Republicans hope to increase their majority in the US House delegation from 10 -4 to 11-3. This is objectively outrageous. But thanks for giving Democrats more ammunition in statewide races. Pretty soon Republicans‚Äô legislative overreaching will prevent them from winning a statewide race, and Democrats will be able to take back the courts and the last remaining Republican spot on the Council of State. The General Assembly‚Äôs lack of restraint may win this battle, but they are firing up Democrats and unaffiliated voters to win the war in statewide races.
10/17/25 9:19 AM	Janice Workman		Leave the Districts exactly as they currently are.
10/17/25 9:19 AM	Donald Stevens		Pass a Budget vs prioritizing redistributing our state. So many more pressing issues impacting us North Carolinians.
10/17/25 9:19 AM	Shannon McFayden		This is a describable display of the abuse of power. It‚Äôs unconstitutional. Just stop it.
10/17/25 9:19 AM	Patricia Coogan		I am a voter in NC. I am STRONGLY OPPOSED to this redistricting proposal. It has been initiated at the request of President Trump to achieve a partisan outcome. The districts are already unfairly gerrymandered. DO NOT DO IT. DO NOT DO IT.
10/17/25 9:20 AM	Hilary F		Do not allow gerrymandering! Do not redistrict.
10/17/25 9:20 AM	H Kick		Please. The only way Republicans win is through cheating & manipulation. Here's just another effort at it. Be brave enough to stand up to Trump & MAGA. Be on the right side of history. This is a terrible decision.
10/17/25 9:21 AM	SCOTT STURGIS		If the only way you can win is by cheating or disenfranchising voters, what does that say about your party? Gerrymandering is wrong. The GOP won't be in power forever. What goes around comes around. For once, try to be moral and honorable.
10/17/25 9:22 AM	Linda Kooiker	self	I oppose redistricting of our state
10/17/25 9:22 AM	MR ARTHUR OCONNOR		It is shameful that the Republican majority has chosen to wield its considerable power to further disenfranchise North Carolina voters. Based on party affiliation and political leanings, fair maps drawn by an impartial panel would result in a near even split of congressional seats, and candidates seeking office would find it expedient to pursue more moderate positions in order to get elected. It is becoming increasingly apparent that the Republican majority cannot control its basest instincts to maintain power at all costs and with indifference to the founding principles of our state and country--"one person, one vote"...
10/17/25 9:22 AM	Mark Earl		Make it fair for the whole state. The last election was almost a 50/50 split. 10 Republicans to 4 Democrats is not an even split. Quit obeying King Trump's commands and act like actual representatives of your state of which is 50% Republican and 50% Democrats. Stand up for the constitution and instead of your donors. We the people are who you represent, not your donors or Trump.
10/17/25 9:23 AM	Carolyn White	--None--	I am opposed to partisan and gerrymandered redistricting. It is wrong for democracy and wrong for North Carolina. It silences voters because it creates noncompetitive districts. It will destabilize the election because it is being done just before an election. And it weakens our democracy. Please work to create fair maps so that all NC voices are heard and counted.

10/17/25 9:24 AM	M Stuart		I urge the NC legislature to base districts on fairly representing the citizens they serve. If one party can only win by gerrymandering it seems this best serves politicians' aspirations for personal power. Not the citizens. Shame on any party that does this as a power grab.
10/17/25 9:25 AM	Geoff Azaroff		Please do not redistrict
10/17/25 9:26 AM	Kelly Hughes		This is truly disappointing. Are there not more important issues in NC to focus on than making sure Republicans have the edge? This is democracy on the surface, authoritarianism in practice. Minority rule. Shameful.
10/17/25 9:27 AM	Sarah Smith		I do not want NC to be redistricted. Gerrymandering is wrong.
10/17/25 9:27 AM	April Pendley		It would be nice if you would draw redistricting maps that make sense instead of trying so hard to disenfranchise left leaning voters. Not every Dem lives in Asheville, there are a lot more of us than you realize in rural areas and we are sick of the games you are playing. Just let us pick who we want to represent us, stop trying to cheat just because it's the only way you can win. It's pretty obvious and we are not too stupid to notice no matter what you think. Why don't you try campaigning on what is important to voters instead of gaming the system. You are what is wrong with this country, not immigrants. Unless you are Native American, your family came from immigrants.
10/17/25 9:28 AM	Robert Bacon		This is terrible. We need Fair Elections!
10/17/25 9:28 AM	NC GOP ARE CHEATERS Kathy Gillen	North Carolina resident	This map is a joke. NC is a 50/50 state and this silences half of the population.
10/17/25 9:28 AM	Miriam Smith-DeCoster		There is no logical reason to redraw NC congressional maps again. This is absurd. I truly do not know what else can be said.
10/17/25 9:29 AM	Gabriele Edwards		Enough! It‚Äôs never acceptable for politicians to draw districts to help their own party win more seats. Authority needs to serve the public rather than dominate it. This is not democracy!!
10/17/25 9:29 AM	John Beck		Gerrymandering plain and simple. The General Assembly just redrew the map 2 years ago! Are we now going to redistrict every election cycle if the party controlling the Assembly doesn‚Äôt like the results of an election? My precinct has been moved to a different congressional district 4 times over the last 14 years. It‚Äôs a wonder many of us know what district we live in or who our representative is. This is not how the system should work.
10/17/25 9:29 AM	Ms Susanne Watson		Allow fair voting and the Democratic process to work. Redistricting isn't a fair way to get votes.
10/17/25 9:30 AM	Dr Karl Brandspigel		We are already unfairly districted. Don‚Äôt make it worse. Do the right thing for our country.
10/17/25 9:31 AM	Chenoa Davis		This weakness the representation of Eastern North Carolina. First how can anyone provide Equitable representation for this massive proposed district of District 1. I know is based on population but when citizens live in rural areas access are limited to resources and information. That is probably the goal of current majority in our state legislature. Keep the poor, minorities less educated so they can‚Äôt speak out against injustice.
10/17/25 9:32 AM	Sharon Goldstein		NC voting district maps pushed the boundaries of fairness when redrawn in October 2023 and faced legal challenges based upon unfair representation of the population. These are the maps that stand today. To do any further damage to minimize the NC representation of the population will be a terrible waste of time, money and court time. Do the job you were elected to do and pass a budget.
10/17/25 9:32 AM	Voter M D		The maps should be rewritten to end gerrymandering, not make it worse. This is actively taking the vote away from the people, simply because republicans cannot win on policy. We deserve better.
10/17/25 9:33 AM	Jennifer Brooks		North Carolina is already one of, if not the most, gerrymandered states in the country. That is undemocratic and unacceptable. To redraw districts now for the sole purpose of benefitting an autocratic President is shameful. History will not look back kindly on anyone who plays a part in this. No more redistricting.
10/17/25 9:34 AM	Mr Lawrence Dodson		I am against any mid-decade redistricting plan. You were elected to govern for a term, not to circumvent the will of the people by any means possible. You were elected to serve the people of North Carolina not Trump. This shows a clear sign of desperation by the Trump government. Why are you so afraid of this man?
10/17/25 9:36 AM	Elizabeth Polfus		I‚Äôm so incredibly disappointed that you would choose to use the honor of the office you hold to disenfranchise voters to hold power it‚Äôs clear you don‚Äôt believe you can earn outright. You are not elected leaders, you are elected REPRESENTATIVES, who, with this effort, deny representation for all. Please. Uphold the ideals of our country, and our democratic republic. Allow representation for all. Do not re-gerrymander our districts.
10/17/25 9:36 AM	Dr. Martin Flynn		NO on gerrymandered redistricting; it‚Äôs a short term gain, followed by long-term pain when the citizenry rises up. Don‚Äôt force unpopular policies down our throat!
10/17/25 9:36 AM	Mr Donald Baker	Retired	This plan is un-American. Negating the will/votes of the people of NC is disgusting. Whatever the people vote for should be honored. History will call this an embarrassing, illegal stain. Do not do this. Display some honor.
10/17/25 9:37 AM	Pamela Brown		This mid-decade redistricting is a horrible idea. The president does NOT have a mandate to his lawless rule and North Carolina‚Äôs General Assembly has more important things to do than redistricting (pass a budget, fix Medicaid, etc.) North Carolina is a purple state and congressional representation should reflect the people of this great state.

10/17/25 9:37 AM	Dr. Susan Appt		I have lived and worked as a veterinarian and scientist in North Carolina for 25 years. North Carolina residents overwhelmingly do not approve of gerrymandering and as representatives of North Carolinians you need to listen to your constituents. These maps are a shameless discriminatory gerrymander, surgically diluting the power of Black voters and cracking communities apart. They packed and cracked the state,Äôs most urban and diverse communities, diminishing the voting power of these areas ,Äì despite the fact that they,Äôve driven population growth over the past decade. Towns and communities are senselessly split for no other reason than to give politicians an unfair advantage. Counties with vastly different issues and values are now grouped together in far reaching districts. Residents in Rocky Mount and residents in the Outer Banks face very different problems- how can one lawmaker fairly represent both communities? They won,Äôt. Our democracy is built on the idea that voters choose their representatives, not the other way around. !!!
10/17/25 9:38 AM	Mary Leet		Stop this. Every citizen has a right to have their matter. Earn votes. Don,Äôt gerrymander the system.
10/17/25 9:38 AM	Marilyn Stanley		I am extremely opposed to this redistricting! The people of our state have a right to have our views represented. By redistricting to win an election, you are taking these rights away. NC already has a map that is skewed. This radical way of keeping power in the hands of a minority of our population will eventually make people angry enough that the Republicans that are supposed to work for the people of NC will lose all support of all of their constituents no matter their party affiliation. The people of our state can see right through this ploy. Democrats and Republicans as a whole are good, honest people and will have none of this. We outgrew the idea of changing the rules any time we were losing a game when we were six or seven years old. We are past ready for a fair and honest state government to work on our behalf
10/17/25 9:38 AM	Campbell Williams		I would like to speak out regarding the proposed redistricting in our state. It seems challenging to find issues the left and the right agree on these day but I think we can all agree that every citizen,Äôs vote is important and drawing district lines to intentionally limit the value of specific groups,Äô voting power is both unethical and undemocratic. No matter which party is in power, I hope we can all honor the values our state and greater nation stand for and keep our elections fair. Thank you for considering public comments!
10/17/25 9:38 AM	Mrs. Kim Porter		I strongly oppose the newly proposed Congressional map. Redrawing districts in the middle of the cycle is an abuse of power and a disservice to North Carolina voters. These changes are being pushed for partisan reasons, not to improve representation. Mid-cycle redistricting divides communities, silences voters, and undermines confidence in our democracy. It creates confusion, discourages participation, and wastes public resources that could be used for real needs in our state. Our legislators should focus on solving problems and representing the people ,Äî not manipulating district lines to protect their own seats. North Carolina deserves fair, stable, and competitive maps that give every voter an equal voice.
10/17/25 9:39 AM	Mrs Karen Daniel		Please do NOT redistrict. Gerrymandering is not good for a democracy.
10/17/25 9:39 AM	Stephanie Watson		Gerrymandering is wrong. This blatant attempt to steal seats for the Republican party is not going unnoticed. We see what you are doing, public opinion is vastly against you, and we will not remain silent while you try to hurt your constituents and help a would-be dictator remain in power.
10/17/25 9:39 AM	Dru Buesing		I disagree with redistricting. Everyone's vote should count and this state is already gerrymandered in a way that dilutes my vote
10/17/25 9:40 AM	John Taylor	Retired NATIONAL GUARD	I think what's being processed is not good for the people of this state. It is a Republican effort to control this state with no concern for the people!
10/17/25 9:40 AM	Ms Sydney Mitchell		The partisan manipulation of voting districts must stop. Whether gerrymandering is done by democrats or republicans the damages done to our democracy are great. Do not make voting a farce in this state.
10/17/25 9:41 AM	Ms. Kellie Capps	Retired State Employee	It is absolutely ridiculous that our congressional districts have been redrawn 5 out of the last 6 years when they are only supposed to be redrawn every decade after the census. The fact that our representatives think it is acceptable to gerrymander and choose their voters is reprehensible! It is a waste of our tax dollars to constantly revamp this map. Your focus needs to be on passing a budget to give all our state employees a well deserved raise to help offset the increase in the cost of the state health plan. If our lawmakers were truly doing the job of making decisions in the best interest of the constituents rather than what is in the interest of your special interest donors and your political party, there would be no need to gerrymander because voters pleased with the job you are doing would actually vote to re-elect you. We have repeatedly not have not had a state budget passed on time in many years - you are not doing your job! My votes will go to anyone who has never served in our legislature before because surely they can do a better job than who is in office now.
10/17/25 9:41 AM	Disappointment and Concer Javier Henderson	Independent	Hi fellow constituents. Hope yall are having a good day. I wanted to leave a little note of concern regarding the recent proposed congressional map; the map seems to give a weird advantage to the Republican Party. It seems a bit undemocratic and I,Äôm very disappointed we have gotten to this stage. I beg yall to obtained a better conscious and reasoning. Thank you!
10/17/25 9:41 AM	Charlene ODonnell		No. No more gerrymandering to give republicans an advantage in elections. Everyone deserves an equal voice in our government. Please do not redraw the maps to further gerrymander our state.

10/17/25 9:42 AM	Stan Szlauderbach		Redistricting for the sole purpose of political advantage is a fool's game because the party in power now will not always be that, and it is clearly undemocratic because it is an attempt to nullify the votes of segments of the electorate. What is particularly egregious about this attempt is that it is being done at the behest of an authoritarian president who tried to overturn the 2020 election by, among other things, bullying Georgia election officials and to this day claims he won that election. Why does the North Carolina legislature want to take our democracy down?
10/17/25 9:42 AM	Elizabeth Parry	Citizen	Dear General Assembly, particularly leadership: I have lived in NC for over 40 years, moving here from the Midwest after college. I met my husband here, we raised two sons, and have lived in Charlotte, Raleigh and on the coast. Its safe to say I have a broad perspective on our state. I am an unaffiliated voter. My key issues are (1) quality public education, (2) a flat tax rate for ALL wage earners, with no tax loopholes and (3) responsible governance. I have NEVER seen a more corrupt group of politicians than our current GOP legislators. The majority party is only there due to extreme gerrymandering, and now you want to do more to ensure the convicted felon you worship can stay in office, along with the unqualified team of criminals he has working for him. Shame on you. You are supposed to be working for Nc citizens, and instead you enrich yourselves while aiding and abetting a corrupt administration. Do your job and work on the behalf of NC, not against the citizens of our state, Elizabeth Parry Cary, NC
10/17/25 9:43 AM	Sandra Birckhead		Proposing new maps at this point in the election cycle undermines democracy and sets a dangerous precedent for the future. North Carolina is a VERY purple state with many voices. Further silencing those voices is the likely result of another gerrymandered map. The power should belong to all of the voters, not a select few that agree with the party in power. This action only furthers the deep polarization that our country is now experiencing.
10/17/25 9:43 AM	Anne Brown		Please stop redistricting to favor one party. You redistricted Greensboro into 3 districts which has hurt us tremendously. I am a Republican but vote across the aisle depending on the candidate. I am now stuck with a representative who is useless to Greensboro. None of the reps have offices in Greensboro, nor do they have town halls, etc,Ä¶ Districts should be representative of the people and city, not for one political party.
10/17/25 9:43 AM	tom tulip		stop the steal.
10/17/25 9:43 AM	Sherrell McDuffy		I do not agree with this redistricting. There is no need for this to be done, and it is morally wrong. All of the hardworking and good people of North Carolina deserve to be fairly represented in the house.
10/17/25 9:43 AM	Redistricting Steve Creech		Redistricting is set to be done AFTER each census. Not in the middle of the decade to placate a president who knows he's going to lose his house majority. Your job in Raleigh is to play by the same rules as we always have. And, lest you forget, he will be out of office in 3 years.
10/17/25 9:43 AM	Opposed to Redistricting Mary Way		I am opposed to Redistricting in order to favor one party over another. I am opposed to our state taking direction from DC administration on how to disenfranchise NC voters in order to favor Republicans over any other party.
10/17/25 9:44 AM	Ms S. Clendenning		Gerrymandering is CHEATING. ps When can we expect a budget?
10/17/25 9:44 AM	Dr Anna Ruderman		My name is Anna Ruderman. I am a pediatrician living in Durham, NC, but I take care of children and families all across the state. Voters voices matter. I believe that everyone deserves fair representation in our state. Drawing one of our only Black members out of the district he represents is despicable political manipulation to appease the president,Âôs request. We know based on polling that a large majority of North Carolinians oppose gerrymandering. Voters deserve better than to have Raleigh picking politicians for them. Voters deserve to have their voices heard. Drawing district lines for no reason other than political games is disgusting, especially when the people who have suggested it refuse to pass a budget to increase teacher and law enforcement salaries. It shows that all the care about is staying in power. And for what? For their own self interests and to pass culture war bills. Because it,Âôs certainly not to help North Carolinians. If it were, budget bills and Helene Relief bills to help small businesses and communities would be prioritized. I strongly oppose this district rigging. We need fair maps in NC. If Republicans can win with fair maps and fair elections (rather than partisan led efforts that attempt to change the rules after an election or target minority voters with ‚Äúsurgical precision‚Äù), then so be it. But they know they can,Âôt win fairly, and that,Âôs why they,Âôre doing this. Because they can,Âôt win on their policies alone. Voters deserve to choose their politicians and should be able to hold them accountable. This scheme makes doing so impossible.

10/17/25 9:45 AM	Ms Leigh Dougherty		PLEASE oppose the attempt to redistrict NC. We must hold onto a fair democracy. The attempt to silence voters can't go forward. STOP the confusion with changing district lines which only create an UNfair system to enrich one party, while failing anyone who wants to see honest change and return to a democracy for all Americans.
10/17/25 9:45 AM	Tammy Turek		I live in Carteret County, one of the counties that you are considering redistricting. You are taking away our voice and representation, and giving it to someone who is not familiar with the area nor our best interest. Therefore, I am respectively, requesting that you vote no to redistrict strictly for political purposes.
10/17/25 9:45 AM	Lynn Martin		Gerrymandering is wrong, but specifically gerrymandering by Berger to buy an endorsement of a felon is criminal. I am against this power grab that silences the will of the people!
10/17/25 9:46 AM	Margaret Birkemeier		I oppose the current effort to redistrict the voting maps by the state legislature. This is a totally unnecessary and irresponsible grab of power at this time. Voting districts should be determined after each census, in a fair and timely manner. Voters rights are being disregarded in this current effort, and this diminishes our democracy, creating confusion and lack of good faith in our state government.
10/17/25 9:46 AM	Heather Martin		I am VEHEMENTLY opposed to redistricting efforts by the GOP for the following reasons: Destabilizes representation: Redrawing maps mid-decade confuses voters and disrupts communities,Äô relationships with their elected officials. Invites partisan abuse: Mid-cycle redistricting is often used by those in power to manipulate district lines for political gain rather than public interest. This state is already heavily gerrymandered - - don't make it worse. Violates the principle of equal representation: Redistricting should be based on new census data. Changing maps mid-cycle uses outdated population information and weakens fair representation. Wastes taxpayer money: Constantly redrawing maps drains public funds and resources that could be better utilized to serve voters. Erodes trust in democracy: Frequent and politically motivated redistricting leads voters to believe the system is rigged, lowering confidence and participation. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around.
10/17/25 9:46 AM	Autumn T		This is asinine. We don,Äôt have a budget. We don,Äôt have a plan for Medicaid and we have a legislature full of people who do not know how to govern so they rather cheat instead. What are yall so scared of with the midterms??
10/17/25 9:47 AM	Jean Sibbers		representingRepresentatives in Congress should reflect the will of the people, not serve their own interests and agendas. Redistricting in order to ensure opponents of the Republican party are elected is not only cheating, it's a reprehensible misuse of the power you have been given. It's sickening that state representatives find the abuse of power occurring at the presidential level find it so acceptable as to follow suit. Elections are intended to be free and fair, not manipulated to ensure that one political party wins. If Trump jumped off a bridge would Republicans Congressional reps do the same?
10/17/25 9:47 AM	Mara Gardner	Mission Hospital	I strongly opposed redistricting efforts in my state. It goes against everything that our democracy stands for. It goes everything that "We the People" stand for. I do not support this. It is your duty as public servants to protect our democracy, and this action would completely go against that.
10/17/25 9:49 AM	Amy Spangler		Go fuck yourself and your Republican ways for trying to steal votes away from the citizens of NC. If you redistrict this state your going to lose votes. DO NOT DO THIS!! Also, FDT
10/17/25 9:49 AM	Martha Almond		Leave the districts as they are. There is no need to change them.
10/17/25 9:50 AM	End Gerrymandering Tom Cooper	None	Do your job! Pass a budget, increase teacher pay, fund the medical needs of NC and stop the blatant grab of power of gerrymandering. Our Governor Stein has done more for this state in one year than the republican majority has done in a decade. Also help WNC, there,Äôs still a lot of need here in the mountains.
10/17/25 9:50 AM	Patricia Cease		Please let the voters choose our elected officials and do not gerrymander our state so the elected officials choose their voters!! President Trump is not in charge of NC. Our state is full of differing opinions and we need to allow those to be heard through equal representation in our house and senate. VOTE NO on Gerrymandering!!!
10/17/25 9:50 AM	Jennifer Burkins		We the People. We elect our officials by exercising our voting rights. The lines have been drawn in such a way our voices are diluted and muted. This is no way to lead and govern. We the People demand our individual and combined voices be heard. End gerrymandering in NC and do not perpetuate this practice of drawing in who you want in office.
10/17/25 9:50 AM	Diane Finn		The plan to consider redistricting at this point midway through the ten year census period is a naked power grab. It seems that Republicans are not in favor of actual democracy. They just want to keep power. They undid the fair maps that had gotten judicial approval when the Democrats had the majority off the state Supreme Court. those maps, with a 7-7 split in partisan representation reflected the actual percentages in registered Dems vs Republicans. Once having the upper hand two years ago, the Republican led legislature redistricted to 10 R and 4 D leaning seats. Now, at Trump's command, the Republican legislature seeks to skew the likely balance to 11 R leaning seats to 3 D leaning seats. This is a pure power play. Coming in the middle of the decade, it goes against all precedent. We should not allow this kind of unfair practice in our state.

10/17/25 9:50 AM	Anna LaBarre		To the Senators and Representatives willing to desecrate their oath: North Carolinians, your constituents, are imploring you to invest time and tax payor dollars in veritable collaboration and fair compromise to pass a comprehensive budget. Instead, you are prepared to spend time and tax payer dollars on political favors, for political gain. Moreover, it is unconscionable to use acceleration of tax cuts as a pretext for this impasse, while squandering resources on unnecessary redistricting,Äîwhich is inconsequential to the suffering North Carolinians are experiencing RIGHT NOW. Our State Constitution is clear and explicit regarding this matter, having the foresight of its potential abuse,Äîdistricts shall ,Äúremain unaltered until the return of another decennial census of population taken by order of Congress.,Äù Therefore, not only is this redistricting maneuver unnecessary and a waste of resources, it is unconstitutional. How is it that you allow NC families to have less than 24 hours notice regarding the specifics of Medicaid cuts? How can you expect to address the mental health crisis among our youth without funding and filling the positions for more school psychologists and counselors that you agreed are necessary? How can you expect already underpaid teachers to continue their tireless efforts while you choose to prioritize dubious political schematics over their livelihoods? To focus on redistricting in the upcoming session is demoralizing and is NOT the will of the people. It is NOT prioritizing the good of the whole, and prolongs the unnecessary suffering of North Carolinians. I pray that the words you uttered upon taking office lay on your heart and your mind, ring in your ears, wake you from sleep, reverberate to your core, to restore your moral responsibility,Äî,Äúl solemnly swear that I will support and maintain the Constitution and laws of the United States, and the Constitution and laws of North Carolina not inconsistent therewith, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office, so help me God."
10/17/25 9:51 AM	Redistricting Jacqueline Porter		Hello, I disapprove of this redistricting plan. For the sake of true democracy, gerrymandering must stop.
10/17/25 9:51 AM	Dr Joseph Woolley	Retired Research Scientist	I strongly OPPOSE the redistricting plan being considered by the NCGA. It is antithetical to what North Carolina citizens expect of their government. It silences voters. It destabilizes elections. It wastes taxpayer money. It violates the principle of equal representation. It weakens democracy. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around.
10/17/25 9:51 AM	Jessica Streck		Redistricting mid-decade seems underhanded. Don,Äôt do it.
10/17/25 9:52 AM	Ms Felice Nord		I am asking you not to do a mid term redistricting. It's unprecedented and unnecessary. Voters vote for someone to represent them. If you gerrymander districts, than the voters are not being properly represented. It is wrong to 'choose' your voters. Please do not make the choice to redistrict midterm. It's totally improper and should be illegal if it's not already. I know the supreme court has ok'd partisan districting. I think that is wrong. I believe there should be a non partisan group that does the districting not the party in power.
10/17/25 9:52 AM	Ms. Bobbi Mullins	Resident of NC	North Carolina is a purple state where people with various political leanings, faiths, and priorities live. Gerrymandering is simply a way to ignore at least half, if not more, of the citizens in our state and impose unwanted policies on them to enrich and consolidate power among the few elites. We are already extremely gerrymandered. The movement should be toward fairer maps, not obliterating maps. Your job would be much easier and rewarding if you truly respected all people. Please don,Äôt cheat. Follow your parents,Äô advice from long ago: It,Äôs not whether you win or lose, it,Äôs how you play the game (which means, cheating is not the way to win, and respecting all players is what counts).
10/17/25 9:53 AM	Sally Jameson		"Redistricting" is merely a sleazy way for Republicans to cheat because they know they can't win on their policies and popularity. Disgusting! Don't allow them to cheat!!!!!
10/17/25 9:53 AM	Amy Dotson		Please focus on giving us a budget! NC is a purple state and our representatives should reflect that reality.
10/17/25 9:54 AM	Dr. Debbie Swift		I am opposed to redistricting to gain party seats. Our legislature should accurately represent the population of our state, regardless of party. I am a Democrat and I oppose both parties gerrymandering. If you can't win legitimately, then cheat and stack the deck? Fair, honest and unbiased is the honorable path. If redistricting is called for, it should be done by a non-partisan, independent method that does not favor either party. Our legislature's only job is to fairly represent the people of the state.

10/17/25 9:55 AM	Martha Zeigler		Did you take an oath to the North Carolina and US Constitution or to the President? Where in the North Carolina or US Constitution does it direct arbitrary redistricting when an upcoming election creates fear in the ruling party that it will be turned out due to popular discontent? Wouldn,Äôt you agree that no relationship -- whether personal, business, or political -- can exist without trust? Why are you breaking your oath to the NC and US Constitutions while violating your responsibility to represent the voices of all of your constituents? If you need a reminder, Section I Article 2 of the NC Constitution establishes the Sovereignty of the People: ,ÄúAll political power is vested in and derived from the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.,Äù I urge you to abandon this unlawful process and follow your oath to engage in redistricting only when an authorized census indicates population changes warrant. Your plan could backfire if enough voters are outraged at this political injustice.
10/17/25 9:55 AM	Nicholas Smoden		Instead of gerrymandering in order to win, perhaps NC politicians could devise policies that actually help the people of North Carolina? Then you wouldn't have to cheat to win elections--imagine that!
10/17/25 9:56 AM	Beth Curley		I am appalled with the redistricting plan by the assembly. We teach our children growing up that cheating is wrong but here are our government officials essentially cheating their way into control. The only way to have an effective government is for all sides to be represented fairly. This redistricting will not allow for that. I,Äôve long since lost faith in government officials who only seem to serve their own self interests. It,Äôs time to get back to work for the people who pay your salaries and to stop kowtowing to bullies and billionaires.
10/17/25 9:57 AM	Mr. Hiram Chicurel-Bayard		I urge member of the committees to reject this redistricting plan. I find it very shameful to engage in mid decade redistricting for the sole purpose of pre-determining outcomes of our elections before they,Äôre even held. I believe it,Äôs a cowardly act and goes against fundamental democratic principles, I urge lawmakers not to be complicit in the dismantling of our republic.
10/17/25 9:57 AM	Debbie Ward		The GOP should stop appeasing Trump and understand they work for us. Not the other way around. They don,Äôt get to pick their voters. This state is purple whether they like it or not. Our districts should reflect that. Shame on them. Blatant power grab because they know they would never win that many seats on their policies and ideas. Stop shoving your religious values down everyone,Äôs throats. Separation of church and state remember?!! End the gerrymandering!!!!
10/17/25 9:59 AM	John Smith		I dont think the map is right. Why are there 3 democratic leaning districts? Cant we make that like 1? Thats all they deserve. Why go halfway? Let's go all the way.
10/17/25 9:59 AM	NO to Gerrymandering! DJ Oronzio		As a NC constituent, I do not support the proposed gerrymandering, which will make a mockery of our elections. We, the people, are charged with selecting our lawmakers not the other way around. No gerrymandering! ????????
10/17/25 10:00 AM	Kate Alton	NA	This is the only way Republicans can win is by cheating the system. This is oppressing voters rights by swinging the maps in their favor, I don't know how North Carolina can be considered a democracy when this is being done. This was just done in 2023, this legislature is corrupt and bows to the power grab from the so called president of the United States. People are not going to stand for this, we are supposed to be able to have free and fair elections. Shame on you, this should be completely illegal. You won't get away with this, we will fight every step of the way. There are no kings, we will not kiss the ring like all of these weak Republicans.
10/17/25 10:00 AM	Sharon DiRienzo		Even though I am a registered Republican voter I am not in favor of redistricting for the reason it is being done. A ,Äútit for tat,Äù approach to governing is childish and shortsighted. The consternation shown to Gov Newsome for what is being done in California is appropriate so why then turn around and do the same thing???
10/17/25 10:00 AM	Susie Hicks	None	I never dreamed my beloved state would be kidnapped by a bunch of self serving republicans. What you are attempting to do is blatantly wrong and you know it.
10/17/25 10:01 AM	Rachel Benton		There is no need to redistrict anything at this point in time. This is gerrymandering and an attempt at a power grab in upcoming elections. If you can,Äôt win fairly, you don,Äôt deserve to win. Stop it!
10/17/25 10:02 AM	Laura Sell		I am extremely opposed to this proposed highly partisan redistricting plan for these reasons: 1. Redistricting only needs to be done once each decade, following the census. Constantly changing the maps confuses voters and destabilizes our election process. 2. Partisan gerrymandering silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. 3. Partisan gerrymandering weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system and many will cease voting entirely. 4. Partisan gerrymandering supports the victory of the most extreme candidates of either party, since the competition is moved to the primary rather than the general election, and the most partisan voters are the ones most likely to vote in the primary.
10/17/25 10:03 AM	Quinn Sanders		North Carolina does not need to be redistricted. We deserve fair representation. Do not redistrict.
10/17/25 10:03 AM	Robert Hughes		Stop screwing the voters. You already screwed most democrat voters out of their vote inn2023. Now you want to flip a competitive district to red. Enough is enough. I hope the voters turn against you and vote every Trumplican out of the NC House.

10/17/25 10:03 AM	Denise Sturdy	Citizen	Distinguished Members: As a 4th generation North Carolinian and practicing attorney I am outraged by the continued attempts of this General Assembly to thwart the will of the electorate they are sworn to serve and devote the entirety of its time and effort into rigging the system in order to favor one party over another. What is the point of having an office if you aren't going to do anything with it other than to strive to maintain that office? Why is it suddenly so difficult for you to just do your jobs? Give us a budget, start working on ways to make up the short falls that are going to decimate this state as the Federal cuts hit. Pay our teachers, feed our kids, save our rural hospitals. Stop monkeying around mimicking the antics of the mess that exists at the Federal level. Elon Musk and Jeff Bezos do not live in North Carolina, there is no one here to praise you for what you are trying to do to us. Thank you, Denise M Sturdy JD
10/17/25 10:04 AM	Helen Romano		I believe gerrymandering should go away. Whoever is in power gerrymanders to make it work for their candidates and as soon as the other party is in power, we are gerrymandered again. This is completely unacceptable and not fair for either party. Vote no on redistricting. We want free and fair elections. No more rigging it for your side whether, you are a democrat or republican.
10/17/25 10:04 AM	S Teresa McBennett		NC residents deserve to elect their leaders. Here's an idea, rather than creating districts that guarantee the outcome, create policies that the voters want. Obviously, the legislature wouldn't have to gerrymander the districts is they actually had policies that the voters want. I urge you to vote NO on the proposed Congressional redistricting plan.
10/17/25 10:05 AM	Diana Ericson		I am completely against mid-cycle (non census) redistricting. This is a power grab for the party in power. I will disenfranchise voters because this means their vote does not really matter when you roll it up into a district like you have done what is the point but that is what you want. I live in Harnett county. My district will include several rural counties in on the border between NC and VA. HARNETT county is a growing county with urban issues and you have diluted us and our causes with this map. Bottom line I am an independent voter and I am against this.
10/17/25 10:06 AM	Jennie Locklear		NO, NO, NO!!! Do not redistrict our maps to further gerrymander our state. You are taking away the voice of the people. We do not want this. This is a political stunt and it's dirty!
10/17/25 10:06 AM	Ms Ymani Simmons		The people of North Carolina deserve fair representation and do NOT need the current plan of redistricting.
10/17/25 10:07 AM	Mr ERIC JOHNSON		This map is a gross misrepresentation of our state, and Republicans should feel shame for trying to create a permanent majority. If your ideas are so bad that the only way to win elections is to cheat, then what you're offering is bad. I am firmly opposed to this map and demand my representatives, people sworn to uphold American values, reject their fake patriotic rhetoric of party over people, and give the people fair honest elections.
10/17/25 10:07 AM	Sarah Williams		The GOP is once again trying to manipulate voting maps at the last minute in its favor. You look corrupt, NC GOP.
10/17/25 10:07 AM	Redistricting Beth Paquin	Retired	If redistricting is going to occur it should be to restore the equal split that was undone in 2022, not continue to gerrymander the state to erode a fair representation of the citizens.
10/17/25 10:07 AM	Tina Feyalso		Let's call this what it is: GERRYMANDERING, which only benefits the people drawing the maps, and disenfranchises the will of the people at the ballot box. I DO NOT SUPPORT THIS POWER GRAB!
10/17/25 10:07 AM	Jennifer Apple		As a registered Republican, I think this blatant ploy to make the gerrymandering in our state even worse is shameful. It does not serve democracy. We need independent commissions to draw our congressional districts.
10/17/25 10:08 AM	Mr Dalton Lanier		This is ridiculous! The citizens in Greensboro will have three different representatives! I think North Carolina needs new representatives that are actually going to focus their on their constituents rather than being told what to do from the national government. It,Äôs a shame it,Äôs a joke and everyone sees it. I really hope you get the power you are looking for because when you,Äôre replaced we are going to make sure it can never happen to another generation like you boomers have put us through. Tax the Rich. Raise the minimum wage.
10/17/25 10:08 AM	Harris George		I think it,Äôs horrible, absolutely horrible that the Republicans would try to steal our votes. Doesn,Äôt matter if you are a Democrat or republican. This is no longer a free country
10/17/25 10:09 AM	Katherine Breckheimer		Stop Gerrymandering. Our democracy depends on fair representation ,Äî not shifting lines for partisan convenience.
10/17/25 10:09 AM	9196160312 Barb Lang		Gerrymandering is just wrong. A non political group should decide the boundaries. Republicans can't win fairly so they're trying to cheat.
10/17/25 10:09 AM	Kristen Hester		Our maps should reflect the will of the people of North Carolina. Our voting maps should not be redrawn to appease the President or the self interest of the GOP. Gerrymandering is wrong, plain and simple and those proposing this revision should be ashamed.

10/17/25 10:10 AM	Play fair Melody Zaremba		Do you want to win because you,Äôre the best person to represent us or do you prefer to win knowing you rigged the districts so far in your favor, there was no other outcome? The proposed changes are unnecessary and unconstitutional. The maps have already been gerrymandered to gut Democratic leaders from representing NC constituents. The people of NC will soon see their healthcare get worse and their paychecks get lower and we will remember who is leading us to the dark descent into authoritarian rule. Who will be left to blame once the immigrants and transgendered are gone? When ICE raids, abortion bans, and banning 5 trans kids from playing sports doesn,Äôt make your constituents finally happy with their life, you will be the only ones left to blame. Play fair!
10/17/25 10:11 AM	Deborah Thomas		The Republicans know they can,Äôt win without cheating, so they won,Äôt let the citizens vote freely and fairly. This ,Äúredistricting,Äù is antithetical to the Constitution, as well as being illegal and immoral. The Republicans need to put forth sound policies that support their constituents, not billionaires and corporations. Vote NO on gerrymandering!
10/17/25 10:11 AM	David Johnson		You may think that you're fooling North Carolina voters, but you are not. I am a Republican, but I am disgusted with the shenanigans of NC Republicans. What ever happened to free and fair elections????
10/17/25 10:11 AM	Jonathan Gibson		DO not redistrict. Just another sad GOP attempt to overthrow the will of the people. You should not have to cheat to get more congressional seats to swing the election in GOP favor. This is unconstitutional and I expect our elected officials to do what is right.
10/17/25 10:11 AM	Patricia Campbell		NO to the proposed plan. It,Äôs racist!
10/17/25 10:11 AM	Mrs Kristina Hornsby		I am against gerrymandering. If you can't win without changing districts to favor you, then maybe you should start listening to the people.
10/17/25 10:12 AM	Mr Ron Brendle		Everyone can see exactly what you,Äôre doing. You know the majority of Americans disagree with Trump,Äôs policies, but you want minority rule. You know if you can,Äôt win, you have to change the rules. You may think you,Äôre pretty slick now, but this is going to backfire someday. You people are about as unAmerican as they come.
10/17/25 10:12 AM	Dr. Elizabeth Butala Flores		I am strongly against redistricting of NC, especially mid-census cycle and at the request of the Executive branch. As a representative republic, the very foundational principle is that the people choose who they want to represent their, the people's, interests in government. To have these elected representatives then flip and only do the executive branch's directives (to specifically "give" the president's party more seats at the federal level) is a blatent abdication of the role and responsibilities they are supposed to play. The power in the USA government comes from the people, for the people. This is the greatness of America. To change all of our history, to dismantle the guardrails of our system of government, is the most unpatriotic of acts. The office of the President is not the boss of the states. Please, do not throw away our amazing country's greatness by moving forward with this redistricting.
10/17/25 10:12 AM	Mrs Anna Monroe	N/a	Redistricting to change our true voting outcome is wrong. Districts should not look like elongated puzzle pieces in order to put candidates from either party in office. Be honest enough to not distort our voting districts.
10/17/25 10:13 AM	NC Voter		While I prefer to stay semi-anonymous, I hope this comment is seen as legitimate. I am a NC voter who strongly disagrees with both the need for this redistricting and its timing. Overall, North Carolina is a "purple state" with a slight conservative/traditional lean. Yet, the state's voters still elect Democrats to prominent positions -- including governors and attorneys general -- while sending two Republicans to the US Senate in the state's other non-gerrymandered elections. To represent everyone fairly and reflect this dynamic, our Congressional delegation should have an 8-6 Republican-Democrat split. NC might see 9-5 split happen in a particularly good year for the GOP. But the current 10-4 split is egregious and the proposed 11-3 split is borderline criminal. Why? The proposed map does not allow some Eastern North Carolina voters to elect representatives that reflect their views. There also is the separate concern of packing Congress with lawmakers who are too willing to cede their Constitutional duty to be a co-equal branch of government to the president. And when that president is not a Republican but a power-grabbing Democrat, Republican leaders in North Carolina might regret the hasty, partisan decisions they made in 2023 or 2025 that helped weaken Congressional guardrails. In short: Just because NC can redraw its map, doesn't mean it should, unless new districts better represent all citizens in this state, including the 47% to 55% of the electorate who vote for Democrats. (47.3% is Beasley's US Senate loss to Budd. 54.9% is Stein's gubernatorial win over Robinson.)
10/17/25 10:13 AM	Jeannie Inskeep		The corruption of the GOP in NC is only rivaled by the crap in Washington. It's time for the election meddling to stop. And while you're at it..stop restricting the governor. We chose him to lead the state, not you. Do something to support the entire state, that is supposed to be your job.
10/17/25 10:13 AM	ms cynthia morgan	retired	This is a ridiculous proposal to Gerry Mander our voting districts. How about working on a budget?
10/17/25 10:14 AM	Mary C Seaborn		Do you really think the state of North Carolina needs more gerrymandering? How about if we try free and fair elections again. With everything that you have done to this state, I,Äôm not sure how you put your head on a pillow and sleep at night.
10/17/25 10:14 AM	Dr Laura Bottomley		This is a blatant effort to disenfranchise voters. Instead of doing this make gerrymandering illegal, as it should be.
10/17/25 10:14 AM	Sherry Borushok		The district needs to remain as is. Redistricting is NOT needed

10/17/25 10:14 AM	DO NOT REDISTRICT Josie S	Several in WNC	If you gerrymander this already atrociously gerrymandered state it would be an unprecedented level of corruption which shows that you DO NOT SERVE US, the people. You do not serve us, you serve Trump because HE serves your wallet and YOUR career, not the people you are supposed to serve. It is disgusting and you should be ashamed for bending to someone that clearly has no regard for the Constitution for nothing but useless political power and money. You will lose anyway after a president that actually follows the law starts to crack down on the illegal activity our elected officials are responsible for and guilty of. Do you all seriously think this will go unpunished in the long run? I have never been more dissatisfied and disappointed with this state that I love so much. I had a little faith in us, I thought we could be better. So many did. But North Carolina is now acting so shamefully. Revolting.
10/17/25 10:15 AM	Dr. Laura Sonday		Partisan gerrymandering undermines our democracy and is unethical! We the people will continue to vote against people who engage in and support this practice!!
10/17/25 10:16 AM	Scott Jarvis		I am against the proposed redistricting of North Carolina. The districts need to be drawn by independent parties to ensure competitive elections. Remember Sean Hannity and Rush Limbaugh telling us we need to debate in the arena of ideas? I do. Apparently the leadership of this committee has forgotten that and would rather model Orban's Hungary or Erdogan's Turkey and bring us competitive authoritarian regimes. Republican rule is better than Democratic rule, I've heard you say. You don't get to make that choice for us. We make that choice at the voting both. What are you afraid of? Are you afraid to debate in the arena of ideas? I thought you championed free markets. I thought those of you who supported Charlie Kirk wanted free and open debate; let the best ideas win. You have heaped piles of mud and stench on top of his legacy and all that he died for. Do what you will. You will anyway.
10/17/25 10:17 AM	Andrew Merrick		NC's better than Texas. Come on now, we know what this is really about.
10/17/25 10:18 AM	Mary Cummings		Eliminate gerrymandering completely. All NC citizens should be fairly represented in our state legislature and today, very few are. Polls show the majority of voters are against this map and previous maps designed to eliminate our voting rights and choices. Do better.
10/17/25 10:19 AM	Ms Virginia Sullivan	LWV	For NC to join the clearly illegal redistricting move at this time is a clear sign that the Republican Party is no longer interested in democracy.
10/17/25 10:20 AM	Frank Luther Jr	Citizen	ALLOW a true NON partisan committee to draw perfectly normal, none gerrymandered, fair, equal, redistricting maps. Maintain this committee in NORMAL time of redrawing. STOP this PARTY over Country and voice of the people NONSENSE. You are ignoring the people of this STATE and Country at every turn you make. If your honest, straight forward, then people will vote for your party. If you can only win by stacking the deck maybe you are not servicing the people. YOU ARE SERVING SELF.
10/17/25 10:21 AM	I do not approve Heidi McNeilly		I do not approve of more redistricting! Please focus your time and efforts on approving a budget and actually improving the lives of people in this state. Gerrymandering is illegal. Instead of focusing on securing your own power. Please do what you were elected to do which is represent your current district.
10/17/25 10:22 AM	Jennifer Fuller		85% of North Carolinians oppose gerrymandering and this mid-cycle redistricting feels like a complete power grab and pandering to the Trump administration. Our voters voices matter and politicians in the General Assembly should not be choosing their voters; voters should have a fair and unbiased chance to choose their elected officials. If you believe in your policies, platform, and have confidence in your voting base, why can't you let the voters speak for themselves without manipulating the districts and gerrymandering our voices away? Shame on this cowardly and weak General Assembly for choosing such a unfair, unconstitutional path forward for the people of North Carolina.
10/17/25 10:22 AM	Jessica Burke		I,Äôm a constituent from Fuquay-Varina and am concerned about gerrymandering and the lack of fair representation in North Carolina,Äôs electoral maps. I believe that voters should choose their representatives ,Äî not the other way around. Partisan map-drawing undermines confidence in our democracy and limits the voices of communities like mine. I urge our representatives to support fair, nonpartisan redistricting processes and to advocate for transparent, accountable methods that ensure every vote counts equally.
10/17/25 10:23 AM	Karen Marshall		I am TOTALLY against the proposed redistricting! It smacks of bias, racism and fascism
10/17/25 10:23 AM	Samantha Price		Please please PLEASE be careful. We're getting so divided its going to be impossible for us to meet in the middle. Remember that while some folks disagree with others, we have every right to equal representation, especially in how our districts are drawn. No matter what side of the aisle, making one voice more important than others is unconscionable. Please do the right thing.
10/17/25 10:24 AM	No to Redistricting KATHRYN CARLTON		This is wrong. It is serving this corrupt administration and NOT North Carolina. Get to work on the budget and stop cowtowing to Trump. Its only supposed to be done every 10 years anyway! Hands off! No means no!
10/17/25 10:25 AM	Ms Vicki Rowan		Redistricting in mid cycle isn,Äôt provided for by the Constitution. And all for partisan advantage and to butter up the current administration. Give ordinary North Carolinians a real voice!
10/17/25 10:25 AM	Miriam Caswell		Redistricting is gerrymandering, and it is wrong. Do not disrespect your constituents. You must represent us, regardless of the votes. We want to be represented fairly.
10/17/25 10:25 AM	Mr. Eugene Thomas		I am vehemently against this blatant abuse of power to deny a large portion of the public the right to be counted equally. What ever happened to EVERY VOTE COUNTS.?? Perpetuating of the rule of one party (or worse one person) is the opposite of democracy and everything our Founding Fathers agreed upon in the Constitution. Do you remember, that YOU swore an oath to uphold and defend it?

10/17/25 10:26 AM	Mr Paul Turner		Gerrymandering redistricting by either political party is undemocratic and unacceptable. I will do everything in my power to stop this from happening.
10/17/25 10:26 AM	Sandra Capps		Changing the redistricting map every election is a big waste of time and money! You need to be spending your time on getting a budget instead of playing politics. I am so frustrated with our elected officials in the General Assembly doing nothing but trying to play political games, you were elected to serve the people and to do what is best for your constituents and not what is best for you to get re-elected. This election, I plan to vote for individuals who are not now in office and who have never been in a public office. Anything is better that what we have now!
10/17/25 10:26 AM	Ms. Mary Beth Parker	NCLWV	I am very much against the current redistricting that NC is considering along with other states. This action appears to be at Trump's request, and is unfair and destabilizing to our Democracy.
10/17/25 10:26 AM	Ms. Robin Harris	None	No...I do not want you redistricting NC again and further designating districts that favor any political parties. All districts should be fair and logical and allow the people to vote freely and have their voice heard fairly. Stop ALL gerrymandering and have maps drawn by committees outside of the influence of political parties
10/17/25 10:26 AM	Ted VAHAN		It seems the GOP can't win without cheating. How about an independent process that would end up with a result representative of the State of NC? It seems amazing that in a year where we elected a Democratic Governor that we went from an equal number of seats for each party to an overwhelming majority of 11 to 3 this cycle. Now they want to rig another district? If the GOP is so "great" maybe they should prove it by winning fair elections.
10/17/25 10:26 AM	Christine Cicotello		This out of cycle redistricting is an attempt to gerrymander more seats for Republicans goes against all that is right and fair. In our representative government it is important all voices feel they can be heard. Our state that is fairly evenly divided between right and left, Republican and Democrat, conservative and liberal should not have our representatives so unevenly divided. This new gerrymandering will make the imbalance even more pronounced. The voices of half of the electorate are being shut out. Remember the Golden Rule: do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Be upright and just; not lowdown and dirty.
10/17/25 10:27 AM	Sudie Rowshan		I am against the plan to redraw the districts in NC for the republican party to gain another House seat. I believe gerrymandering is wrong, no matter which party does it. This shows that the Republican party doesn't believe that they can win without cheating.
10/17/25 10:28 AM	Did nba Harris		What the legislature is doing is wrong and most North Carolinans agree. It is bad enough that after having fair maps for just 2 years after years of litigation, the legislature redrew maps to disproportionately represent GOP. Now at the request of the President, you are redrawing maps to GOP advantage between census years. People need to choose their representatives, not the other way around. What the NC legislature is doing is tyranny.
10/17/25 10:28 AM	Dr Rose OMahony		Voting districts should be created to ensure elected officials are representative of NC voter demographics. The proposed districts amount to taxation without representation. This voter opposes the proposal.
10/17/25 10:30 AM	Bob Sides		Redistricting (i.e. gerrymandering) undermines the foundation of representative democracy by allowing politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. When district lines are drawn to favor one party, the result is not fair competition,Äîit,Äôs pre-determined outcomes. This practice silences communities, discourages voter participation, and breeds mistrust in the political system. In North Carolina, we,Äôve seen this cycle before,Äîdistricts repeatedly struck down by courts for being unconstitutional. Redrawing them again for partisan gain doesn,Äôt serve the people; it serves politicians. Regardless of which party is in power, manipulating maps for political advantage is a form of election rigging that weakens accountability. Fair maps ensure that every vote counts equally. If leaders believe in democracy, they should support independent redistricting that puts voters, not politicians, in charge. Gerrymandering is not about winning ideas,Äîit,Äôs about rigging the rules to avoid losing power. That,Äôs not democracy. That,Äôs manipulation.
10/17/25 10:31 AM	Dr Richard Auten		A naked power grab to appease an out of control president.
10/17/25 10:31 AM	Shameless power grab David Tysinger	N/A	This is a shameless power grab all because Trump wants it. NC Republicans are complicit in the ushering in of fascism.
10/17/25 10:31 AM	Heather Danziger		I am opposed to any redistricting! This is an unfair grab which lead to the end of democracy both in our state and in our country.
10/17/25 10:31 AM	Erica Loring		This action is unconstitutional and a slap in the face to al people of NC. Redistricting to win is cheating. Cheating will be your legacy. It does not represent NC. No to this redistricting action.
10/17/25 10:32 AM	Cynthia DiMattia		This is an outrageous power grab and completely undemocratic. Our representatives should be a true reflection of our population, not gerrymandered so a minority is in control.
10/17/25 10:32 AM	Mrs Kimberly Cathers	LWV Henderson County	Mid cycle redistricting is a blatant attempt to make sure MY vote doesn't count in a Republican do.inated map. The same thing is happening All over the state. The results are clear when the vast majority of our representatives are Republican but half of our votes statewide are close to even between the parties. It's anti-democratic, totally unrepresentative, and a generally reprehensible partisan power grab.
10/17/25 10:32 AM	Ms. Carolyn Miller		Stop mid-cycle redistricting! North Carolina should not join the partisan bandwagon, should not fuel the escalation of unprecedented gerrymandering that was started by President Trump. Public sentiment strongly supports nonpartisan map-making nationwide. North Carolina should not exacerbate this spiraling partisan warfare.

10/17/25 10:32 AM	Jesse Bailey		This is a gross tactic at manipulation for control. Rather than serving constituents fairly and honorably, NC GOPs are showing how power hungry and desperate to appease Trump they are. Do not do this redistricting. Stop gerrymandering (and no more arguments of ‚Äúthe Dems do it too,‚Äù. And? I guess if one side is immoral, you get to be too? Not very christian or honorable).
10/17/25 10:32 AM	Sallie Gentry	Sallie Gentry	It is totally undemocratic (ie: AGAINST OUR DEMOCRACY) for the Republican Party to re-draw districts that consolidate specific populations of folks (ie: Black people) in order to reduce the possibility of their representation in the communities in which they live. Stop cheating to get what you want. Start trusting the people to vote to maintain a Democracy - and vote to end a move to Fascism.
10/17/25 10:32 AM	Jami Reese		Thank you for keeping North Carolinians,Âô best interests in mind, while ensuring fair elections for all.
10/17/25 10:33 AM	Fair Maps Wise Jeremy		Please stop trying to redraw maps and consolidate power. Do yours jobs to represent the people. This redistricting plan is shameless evil.
10/17/25 10:33 AM	Ms Denise Long		This is a blatant abuse of power and a shameful disregard of democracy. I feel my vote does not even count anymore. Do not proceed with this shameful course of action.
10/17/25 10:33 AM	Larisa Moore		We want fair maps, full stop. Fair maps or face accountability.
10/17/25 10:33 AM	Mr. Bill Kjems		No more gerrymandering is needed. We're already the most gerrymandered state. Get to work on real NC issues.
10/17/25 10:33 AM	Joy Gochman		Stop with these political games. Appoint a bipartisan group to come up with fair districts that don't disenfranchise voters
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Charles Donninger		An excellent job well done. A step forward in the right direction and a better NC for all.
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Holly Fishback		I believe that the redrawing of the maps to give one party an advantage is a misuse of your power. If you choose to follow through, we will do all we can to ensure republicans are voted OUT if offices across our state. If you cannot win with the maps as they are, this redrawing is cheating.
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Ashley whittaker		This is clear abuse by the republican party. Stop gerrymandering
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Alberto Rodriguez		This is an absolute disgrace to the constitution and an abuse of power.
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Christina Anderson		I am not in favor of redistrciting!! We need to provide fair and equal opportunities, especially for voting, for all in our state and communities! Our state has had enough gerrymandering and we, the citizens, deserve to have our voices heard and represented equally! It should be an embarrassment for any representatives in NC (and our country) to think this is acceptable way to "win" elections! I'm not for either political party doing this.
10/17/25 10:34 AM	STOP THE STEAL Alora Enneking		You should be ashamed of yourselves. If you win by cheating and further gerrymandering districts that already have BS lines drawn then you are truly bottom of the barrel. I don,Äôt know how you sleep at night. Stop taking away peoples power in their vote for your own selfish gain.
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Cynthia Smith		I am extremely disgusted and disappointed in the North Carolina general assembly. We are already one of the most gerrymandered states in the nation and you want to steal more seats. It,Äôs just blatant cheating. Do you have a conscience or a backbone? This is not the will of the people do your job.
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Ms Maggie Panther		You're asking for public opinion on gerrymandering NC even more in favor of your party? On violating the very bedrock foundation of democracy, which is voting? I vote NO.
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Unfair practices Amy Besemer		I am incredibly disappointed with the Representatives who are playing along with this redistricting effort. It is UNJUST, UNFAIR, and UNCALLED FOR. We, the people of NC use our voices/vote ti determine our Representatives, not the other way around. The idea that NC is following suite with TX, MO, IN simply makes me very sad and angry. I WILL use my vote at every opportunity to change the course (aka the Representation) in the Senate and House. Please,Ä¶NO more gerrymandering. Let the people,Äôs vote make the decision.
10/17/25 10:34 AM	Kimberly O'Neill		Gerrymandering by any political party is unethical and a blatant attempt to silence minority voices. North Carolina is already the most gerrymandered state in the nation because Republicans saw the writing on the wall that they were losing popularity and decided that rather than listening to their constituents about what's important to them and adapting to the modern era they would double down on their antiquated policies and cheat because they couldn't win fairly. The fact that they are now proudly declaring their intention to rig the maps in favor of Republicans on the orders of a President that has made a habit of violating the constitution in an attempt to illegally consolidate power is absolutely shameful and anyone that votes for it should be removed and never allowed to hold anything resembling public office again.
10/17/25 10:35 AM	Dr. Joshua Hammer		Please do not redraw districts to unfairly favor the Republican party. The districts should accurately represent the constituents of North Carolina, a famously purple state. Republicans should focus their efforts on championing popular policies that benefit North Carolina, rather than trying to pick up seats in government by gaming the system.
10/17/25 10:35 AM	Ms Mary McLees-Lane		Do your job and pass a budget. Stop trying to take away voters' rights to choose their elected officials.
10/17/25 10:35 AM	Wilson Crawford		It's unfortunate that the only way the GOP can win is through the cheat of gerrymandering and denying the citizens of North Carolina a fair election.

10/17/25 10:35 AM	Kimberly Weisenhorn		I think Gerrymandering is disgustingly undemocratic and you are undermining fundamental American values. Bending the knee to the Trump administration will win you no votes. Your malice and cowardice is on display for the entire world to see and we will not forgive you ,Äúfor just following orders.,Äù You were voted to represent the will of your constituents and the NC GOP works only to harm its constituents by silencing the voices of most vulnerable citizens. Pass the budget not another redistricting map. I thought the GOP was about fiscal responsibility and small government? Where is that now? What promises have you failed to keep? What promises to INTEND to fail to keep? An Angry North Carolinian
10/17/25 10:35 AM	Elizabeth Mcintyre		I am gravely concerned about this attempt to reduce the voting power of North Carolinians! In the last decade, I have seen many attempts at this process that have all been unconstitutional! And to think that this is the priority when we don,Äôt have a state budget! Do your actual job first!! The people of NC want our voices heard and we say NO to redistricting!
10/17/25 10:35 AM	Victor Westbrook		There's only one reason to redraw maps mid cycle like this, and that's to try and cling to power when you know Republicans aren't winning any points with their constituents. Instead of cheating, consider policy North Carolinians actually want to vote for.
10/17/25 10:35 AM	Mrs. Cheryl Lauer		Our state is already so gerrymandered, it does not represent the citizens of the state. Anything further is just undemocratic.
10/17/25 10:35 AM	R Dedmon		We the people should choose our elected officials. We the people should choose how we want to be represented and by whom. Not gerrymandering. Not redistricting. We are paying attention! We want good ideas and good leaders NOT CHEATERS. RD
10/17/25 10:35 AM	Kathryn Turner		Why should we pay taxes if our representation is stolen? Gerrymandering is bad no matter which of the two self serving parties does it. Most of you don't deserve your offices and fail to serve your constituents. Do better. Don't further gerrymander us.
10/17/25 10:36 AM	Penny Martin		Respectfully, this simply isn,Äôt fair to your constituents. Regardless of party affiliation, fair representation should include of NC population.
10/17/25 10:36 AM	Mrs Cynthia Goodman		It,Äôs my understanding that redistricting is appropriate when population change generates a change in the number of representatives for a state. Why do you see the need to redistrict every year or 2? Isn,Äôt the goal to properly represent us, so the Representstives,Äô votes are the voice of North Carolinians? The state is already gerrymandered to favor Republicans! STOP THIS INSANITY AlREADY!!
10/17/25 10:36 AM	M. Elizabeth Turner		NC voted almost 50/50 in the last presidential election. But due to districting, the state is overwhelmingly represented by one party. Trying to draw and redraw maps specifically to ignore certain voters is blatantly wrong and not what real representation is. I wish those who choose to do such things felt shame and had difficulty sleeping at night but I'm sure the power and favors they receive are enough of a conscience balm for morally compromised individuals.
10/17/25 10:36 AM	Kindra Rajaniemi		This is completely unfair to the citizens of North Carolina. We already have the most gerrymandered state. We need fair and proper representation, not more gerrymandering.
10/17/25 10:36 AM	Dr. Murtuza Shah-Khan		You should be ashamed of this partisan power grab. We need an independent, bipartisan group in charge of setting boundaries of our districts, for both federal and statewide elections.
10/17/25 10:36 AM	Sally McCraw		Why are we redrawing voting maps now after they were just redrawn? I've been in a gerrymandered district before and it's ridiculous. Focus on North Carolina and what needs to get done in your own state. Represent the people who voted for you and want you to take care of our state.
10/17/25 10:36 AM	Johnny Ferraro		About time! Needs to happen. For too long democratic cities have run the entire state. That,Äôs not fair and any opposition is just simple gerrymandering.
10/17/25 10:37 AM	Stacie Stigall		These changes do not represent North Carolinians. This is a blatant power grab. Ask yourselves, would you approve this map if the parties were switched? If democrats presented a map that essentially eliminated all republicans districts, would you approve? You were elected to serve North Carolina, not the president or yourself.
10/17/25 10:37 AM	Concerned Citizen		This is a shameless power grab that takes away the rights of NC voters to elect officials they see fit to serve their districts. Anti-democratic!
10/17/25 10:37 AM	Ms. Erika Hanzely-Layko	Citizen	I firmly oppose the latest redistricting plan proposed by Republicans in North Carolina. Our state should have free and fair elections - not elections based on maps intentionally drawn to give one party an unfair advantage. Politicians should earn their seats by proposing legislation that benefits their constituents, not steal it by moving district lines to benefit one party so blatantly. I am appalled to see NC join states like Texas in answering the president's demands for more Republican seats!
10/17/25 10:37 AM	Mark Schurtman		When districts are engineered to guarantee a political outcome, elected officials stop worrying about losing elections,Äîand that kills accountability. Healthy democracy depends on competitive races where every vote matters, not safe seats carved out by political insiders.
10/17/25 10:37 AM	Ms Anna Lunch		It is a travesty to redistrict North Carolina at this time. Restricting should only happen after the census period tradition.
10/17/25 10:38 AM	Mrs Camela Moulder		What happened to the will of your constituents? Or do you not bother yourself with what we want! This move is shameless on your part! North Carolina residents deserve honest representation!

10/17/25 10:38 AM	Martha Woofter		There is no reason to redraw our district voting maps. The motivation is not fairness but only to appease a "king". Do NOT redraw our districting maps until a current census shows we must.
10/17/25 10:38 AM	Linda McPhail		I am totally against the proposed redistricting plan. What happened to the principles that founded this country. This plan essentially codifies ,Äútaxation without representation,Äù since it disenfranchises so many voters. Please post to the NCGA website.
10/17/25 10:38 AM	Samantha Beach		This is an absolute disgusting use of power. This is in no way shape or form bi-partisan. Govern the people as a whole and not just republicans. It,Äôs time to take care of the constituents.
10/17/25 10:38 AM	Jennifer Schlotfeldt		The districts in North Carolina should represent its people and their priorities, not the presidents. Do not do this.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Ms Cindy Eads		This is illegal..We did not put you in your seat for this corruption..Stop being a thug and do the right thing.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Owen Brown		Enough is enough! Let,Äôs leave the maps as they are until the next census.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Barry Dellinger	None	The mid-cycle redistricting is a blatant attempt to silence the voices of voters. It is despicable that republicans have stooped to this level in order to appease trump
10/17/25 10:39 AM	New redistricting plan Joy Ebenhoeh		I think this is a terrible plan. NC just finished redistricting and we don,Äôt need to do it again. This not fair to ALL citizens of NC.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Pete Tannenbaum		This represents everything wrong in our country today. NC has voted for Democrats and Republicans and this gerrymandering is just wrong and is shameful.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Ms Natasha Trent		Redistricting should be fair. North Carolina is pretty much 50 50 between Democrats and Republicans. We're not all Republicans. Our seats should represent this fact
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Laura Comer		I want to voice my opposition to the redistricting plan. Recent polls show that 87% of people in the United States think that gerrymandering is wrong, no matter which party does it. I agree that it is wrong and I am ashamed that the NCGA would consider this. Elections should be fair and if this is done, it will be solely to "stack the deck" or cheat in order to win. I don't care which party does it, it is wrong! The fact that this is being done only a few years after the last time and before the 2026 midterms indicates that Republicans think they cannot win without doing this. And to do it at the request of a sitting President makes it even worse. It makes it pure politics and it is unethical for the President to request or demand this, and it is unethical for the NCGA to comply. I urge you to do the right thing and leave the districts as they are -- or better yet, be fair and ethical and come up with a map that is more evenly divided and better represents the wishes of NC constituents. Stop playing politics with our lives!
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Districting Halli Everhart		In a time of so much uncertainty within federal government, North Carolina has an obligation to protect the rights, safety, and comfort of its citizens. Re-districting is a direct violation of this.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Sandra Bridges		Redistricting to take away votes from half of your population is not only unethical and illegal, but shameful to the democracy we live in. None of us like to lose, but rigging the game is no way to win. Allow the people to truly make the decisions. If our current reps are doing their jobs and doing them well, they shouldn't need to rig the elections. Please find your decency and democracy, and stop trying to win by such obviously shameful methods. You were elected to represent the people of your state, not abuse them.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Virginia Duplessis		Your constituents, the people you are supposed to represent, do not want this. It is career suicide to push this through. Read the room and grow a spine. Trump is underwater on every single issue. Don't drown yourself in that swamp.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Ashley O'Donnell		I am writing to express my deepest disdain and disgust at the redistricting proposal. As someone who has voted for every party at some point in my life, I am appalled that any party would consider doing something so blatantly, and transparently against everything our democracy stands for. If a party or people feels so strongly in their messaging they can win at the voting booth-- not by gerrymandering their states, districts, etc to death. It speaks to their inability to actually govern or have any functionally sound ideas, plans, or policies, and as a North Carolinian I implore you to stop your bias politics and start working together. By "redistricting" to blindly adhere to a single President or party you are automatically the antithesis of what a true democracy stands for-- and never is that lasting, nor is it on the right side of history.
10/17/25 10:39 AM	Col (ret) Jim Parrington		If you have even one iota of respect for a representative democracy you will not move forward with this redestricting effort that in no way benefits the people of North Carolina. This blatant attempt to further gerrymander our already gerrymandered state districts removes any pretense that we are fairly represented and openly suggests that a state that is politically diverse will be ruled vice governed. In my line of work we had a phrase, ,Äúl know you can do it, but should you do it?,Äù Is your consolation of power of such importance that you ignore the politically diverse needs of the people of North Carolina? Are you so insecure of your positions on policy that you can,Äôt withstand an alternative argument? Are you so small of intellect that you cannot see the damage this will cause to this state? Instead of consolidating power for power,Äôs sake perhaps you should consider the needs of all the people in this great state. You will be forever vilified for pushing this through.

10/17/25 10:40 AM	Sabrina Sigmon		Hello, I,Âôm writing to comment on my disdain for the current map redistricting. As an American, I take pride in this country,Äôs state as a democracy, where every vote counts and fairness takes priority. Unfortunately, this is quickly becoming not the case. I love the state of North Caroline and I feel it is only right that the diversity and varying opinions of the people here are all counted during elections and not rigged to benefit either side over the other. As a constituent, I hope you respect the wishes of North Carolinians and draw a fair and unbiased map. Thank you, Sabrina Sigmon
10/17/25 10:40 AM	Tatem Miley-Lineberry		I strongly oppose the North Carolina General Assembly,Äôs attempt to redraw district lines yet again. Constant redistricting erodes public trust and undermines the integrity of our elections. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Every North Carolinian,Äôs vote should carry the same weight. One vote should truly mean one vote,Äînot one that,Äôs weakened or dismissed because of where politicians decide to draw imaginary lines. These politically motivated boundaries silence communities and distort fair representation for personal or party gain. Districts should reflect real communities and shared interests, not partisan agendas. I urge lawmakers to stop this process and instead support an independent redistricting commission that ensures fair, transparent, and equal representation for all North Carolinians.
10/17/25 10:40 AM	Wendy Yodet		I am completely opposed to this! North Carolina is one of the most gerrymandered states in our nation and to further disenfranchise voters is reprehensible. To further gerrymander districts so that Republicans can have an even more advantage than they do now is irresponsible. This is not something we do during the middle of a census cycle. I am opposed to this completely!
10/17/25 10:40 AM	Leslie Broberg		No, you,Äôve done this over the last two voting cycles, and technically are only supposed to do it every 10 years after the census. Please let your constituents of North Carolina have a fair vote and get back to dealing with the state budget, please.
10/17/25 10:40 AM	Katherine Rowe		This is wrong and very possibly, illegal. It is a waste of taxpayer money and time. What North Carolinas want is money for public schools, better health insurance, and a clean environment. A better use of time would be to turn your attention to the Leandro decision.
10/17/25 10:40 AM	Dr. Joseph Sisk		This redistricting bill is inappropriate and robs North Carolina citizens of appropriate representation. It should not be allowed to pass.
10/17/25 10:41 AM	Phyllis Velez		I am opposed to the redrawing of voting districts. This should only be done by a non partisan committee. To do this to help any political party get more votes should be illegal. This is only being done to help the Republican Party stay in power. I live and vote in North Carolina.
10/17/25 10:41 AM	I love America Jake Failor	Christianity	Please do not bend the rules. It's wrong when anyone does it. Christians do not break rules to enrich themselves while in this earth. Please reconsider. Thank you for reading. Cheers!
10/17/25 10:41 AM	Jill Kern		I am writing as a North Carolinian to express my strong opposition to the current redistricting efforts in North Carolina. I believe the proposed maps would undermine fair representation for all North Carolinians and I'm concerned about partisan gerrymandering that dilutes voter voices. These maps could disenfranchise communities and I support keeping communities together rather than dividing them for political advantage. As a voter in North Carolina, I urge you to oppose these redistricting plans and support maps that are fair, transparent, and truly representative of North Carolina's diverse population.
10/17/25 10:41 AM	Ms Patricia Soat	Retired Special Ed teacher	It is unconscionable that you have already gerrymandered NC so that voters no longer have equal voter representation but to further divide us is unacceptable! What,Äôs next taking our rights to vote. You should be ashamed!!!
10/17/25 10:42 AM	Hannah Butts	Constituent	Gerrymandering is unethical. My vote should count the same as any other voter not due to the lines that separate us.
10/17/25 10:42 AM	Dr Stephen Compton		An effort to stack the decks by redistricting now is a cynical ploy. All of us who make NC our home state deserve a chance to be represented fairly. I am a Democrat, but have voted for both parties. If my party were redistricting now, I would have the same objection. I strongly disagree with this proposed action.
10/17/25 10:42 AM	Ms. Sarah Oram		I am a member of the league of women voters and adamantly oppose any decision to redistrict Nc mid term. It is destabilizing to proper representation of each voter and a bald faced move to try to tip the voter balance away from true representation to over representing Republican voters. Is this the kind of unfair democracy you want? If so, it will be a democracy no more.

10/17/25 10:42 AM	Paul Graves	This is yet another power grab by republicans. This is a purple state. You will be voted out, even if you are successful in doing this. What is going to be next - are you going to send troops from other states in North Carolina to control us? That will not work. There will be a breaking point. You are pushing people to that point.
10/17/25 10:43 AM	Ross Sloan	I,Äôm opposed to the proposed redistricting. I believe in conservative principles but protecting democracy is a higher principle. The only reason to redistrict is to gain political advantage, and that is a lousy reason for either party. Both parties need to stop claiming a mandate when they win an election.
10/17/25 10:43 AM	No to NC redistricting Marina Toth	NC does not need to redistricting, we need government support for Asheville, we need affordable housing, we need unwavering support for women's health, we don't need redistricting and we don't need Republicans rigging the system even more.
10/17/25 10:43 AM	megan hackett	Redistricting to ensure a party,Äôs win is not representing all of your constituents fairly. It,Äôs not a census time, nor is restricting necessary. If republicans want to win fairly, then have better policies. The God I believe in cares for all, not just one party. He will be your judge. I,Äôm an independent, for what it,Äôs worth, and vote by policy and person (not party). I will remember this in my future votes. Republicans, it,Äôs not looking good for you right now.
10/17/25 10:43 AM	Mrs. Robin Cook	My home was gerrymandered into Rep. Addison McDowell's 6th district. My little sliver of Guilford County was lumped in with rural Davidson and Davie Counties. Rep. McDowell has failed to have in person meetings with his constituents. He has failed at responding to comments on his facebook page. I write and receive pre-written boilerplate responses. His mode of operation is to meet with businesses not people. All he does is whatever Trump wants. He continues to divide not unite our community. This is not representation. Redistricting for the sole purpose of getting more Republican seats is cheating and theft of our democracy. Shame on those who are supporting this.
10/17/25 10:43 AM	Allie Faulkner	Shame! Disgraceful! This country was founded on ,Äúno taxation without representation!,Äù Your actions are an egregious display of party corruption.
10/17/25 10:44 AM	Cynthia Lemon	I am against the redistricting in our state. This is nothing but a political grab. If you cannot win an election without rigging it, then you need to look at your parties' political views and whether they stand for the general population. Let us have a free and FAIR election without gerrymandering!
10/17/25 10:44 AM	Mel Ness	How shameful! Shame shame shame. Worry about NC not rumpy
10/17/25 10:44 AM	Laura Moore	To our Honorable Legislature: North Carolina deserves to have all our citizens be fairly represented and to hold a true election. District lines should be drawn based on population NOT party. Gerrymandering should not be a means for tilting an election. The timing of this particular Redistricting map is suspect as well. We see what is happening in our state and are appalled. Stop Redistricting. Laura Moore
10/17/25 10:45 AM	Hillary Walker	The republican party did this last year, this should be completely illegal. This should not be allowed just so one party can maintain the power. Let the voters decide this fairly!
10/17/25 10:45 AM	Elizabeth Jackson	I do NOT approve of more redistricting!
10/17/25 10:45 AM	Gregory Pridgen	North Carolina is a purple state. This map disenfranchises half of the state,Äôs voices and is an obvious abuse of power. All to bend the knee and lick the boot of a man who could care less about us. The citizens of North Carolina won,Äôt forget this.
10/17/25 10:45 AM	Rev. Dr. Amy Rio	I am horrified by this new Republican plan to further gerrymander our districts. It is un American to create a system which negates votes from our citizens. I have seen what would happen in my own district and how I would be in the same district with people who live almost two hours from me, when I live in a densely populated urban area. We need leadership for every citizen of North Carolina, and not just ones who are in one political party.
10/17/25 10:45 AM	Patrick Chace	Stop trying to gerrymander outside of the times set aside by law to do this. This should occur once every 10 years, after a census. The fact that you are doing it now just shows that Republicans are not confident they can win an election based on their polices alone. It's shameful.
10/17/25 10:45 AM	Ms Kim Brown	Stop bending the knee to the orange in the White House. You should not be picking voters, rather they should choose you. If cheating is the only way to possibly win, you are already a loser.
10/17/25 10:45 AM	No to redistricting plan Brian Matlock	It is highly irresponsible and disrespectful to be pushing this redistricting plan when legislators have not even done their appointed and elected job to develop a budget for the state. It is blatantly obvious what is going on here and im highly disappointed. Those legislators should be ashamed of themselves. Do your job, get a budget passed, then if you still want to unethically push for a redistricting plan before it is usually done them so be it. Do your job! Thank you!

10/17/25 10:45 AM	Mr Cole Saylor		Are you kidding republicans? The citizens of NC want free and fair maps. We can all see what you are doing, all for trump. You are acting un-American. You will disenfranchise millions of voters all to do trumps bidding. Why? What are you so scared of? The people don't support your attempts at permanent GOP rule. Do better and work for your constituents.
10/17/25 10:45 AM	Charles Mills		You should NOT be restricting to further gerrymander districts in your favor. We are known as a "purple" state, and the Republican Party has already skewed the state's representation through gerrymandering. If you can't win elections on your policy positions, then you don't deserve to be elected because you have rigged the maps in your favor. Let the voters of NC have a fair chance to decide who they want to represent them!
10/17/25 10:46 AM	Lindsey Taureck		The plan drafted up for redistricting my state is not representative of the people living and voting and paying taxes here. This is not only an illegal power grab, it is shameful. I am asking as an unaffiliated voter to please not move forward with this. It is not what the people of North Carolina want or need. If you truly care to represent all North Carolinians, you would not support this plan which silences so many of our voices.
10/17/25 10:46 AM	William Bowe		Looking at the plan, it appears to be principally based on counties. The next question is as a population increases to the point where another district is necessary...is that the driving force. I am NOT for doing this time and again and both parties, Democrats & Republicans, do this depending on who is in power. If it says race is NOT a factor...then I'm all for it. It becomes fair and the people elect versus whomever is in power.
10/17/25 10:46 AM	Joyce Loring		Stop gerrymandering this state! I have never liked it, regardless of which party is doing it. If you,Äôre cheating to win, we North Carolinians are losing our voices. STOP IT!!!
10/17/25 10:46 AM	Kamas McLeod		This is absolutely SHAMEFUL. This is not what We The People want. This is not Democracy. I hope you all get voted out.
10/17/25 10:46 AM	Nicole Mott		This is exactly why I left the Republican Party. It seems the Assembly is more interested in pleasing Donald Trump than in representing your constituents. These new maps are beyond disproportionally skewed to strip representation from many of our citizens. I think it is shameful to choose the lazy (albeit easy) path to cheat and manipulate the system rather than doing the hard work of winning hearts and minds through respectful dialogue and persuasion.
10/17/25 10:46 AM	Cathy Queen		This is a shameful abuse of power. I will never vote for another NC Republican candidate.
10/17/25 10:46 AM	Carly McCall		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps appear to reflect blatant partisan gerrymandering that undermines the principle of fair and equal representation. Rather than creating districts that reflect the political and demographic realities of our state, these maps are drawn in a way that entrenches political power and silences the voices of many communities,Äîparticularly urban residents, young people, and communities of color. While some may argue that similar tactics have been used in the past or are happening in other states, that does not make it acceptable,Äînor does it justify repeating those mistakes. North Carolina should strive to be a model for fair, transparent, and democratic governance. We have the opportunity to set a higher standard, not perpetuate a race to the bottom. Allowing this kind of redistricting to stand only deepens public mistrust in our democratic institutions and further alienates voters from the political process. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. I urge decision-makers to reject these maps and commit to a redistricting process that is nonpartisan, transparent, and accountable to the people of North Carolina,Äînot to political interests.
10/17/25 10:46 AM	Nicole Ingersoll		Please stop gerrymandering. Just stop. As an independent, I want both parties to stop this practice.
10/17/25 10:46 AM	Adam McClellan		Redistricting should only occur after a census when new information is available. Gerrymandering by either party is not acceptable and should not be allowed to occur. This is not being completed to represent the people of NC but as a power grab.
10/17/25 10:47 AM	Jon Lauterer		Hello. I am a lifelong North Carolina resident and native of Western North Carolina. I am deeply disturbed at the redistricting gerrymandering that is happening in our state. You know exactly what you,Äôre doing and we all know who is behind this. If you are truly a patriot and a leader of our state you will fairly draw the districting lines so that The voters will is accurately expressed. Always remember that you are working for us and you should be putting country over party every time not the other way around. Please reconsider your current path and remember that you will be judged by history for your actions today.
10/17/25 10:47 AM	Scott Wegner		Quit cheating and do your job. Cheaters never win in the end. All you show is your weakness.
10/17/25 10:47 AM	Missing: Representation Kate D		I am sickened by my NC legislature. As a nearly lifelong citizen of this great state, I am aghast at the willingness of the majority in the NC legislature to steal away the representation of my fellow citizens. The vast majority of our citizens, nearly 80%, are against this hate-filled power grab. This is being done to attempt to placate the big bully, Donald Trump, but we all know you can never placate a bully. Our citizens deserve better. DO BETTER!
10/17/25 10:47 AM	Miss Lisa Lass		We demand fair maps, do not gerrymander our future in a desperate attempt to force thru unpopular agendas. The rest of the country is watching.
10/17/25 10:48 AM	Leave the maps alone Courtney Williams	Myself	You are taking away my voice to equal representation if this was about politics and policy then why do majority of people vote blue because they have better policies for the poor and working class not the billionaires how dare yall from cheating cheating cheating cheating ughhhhhhhhhh it,Äôs not fair sour losers
10/17/25 10:48 AM	Mrs Cheryl Pratt		I am very disappointed in the deliberate redistricting along party lines. I am also angry that Guilford county is cut into thirds. I used to proudly vote for Howard Coble. Today,Äôs Republicans are power mad!

10/17/25 10:48 AM	Peggy Lyle		Republican lawmakers are making bold and politically motivated steps to propose mid-cycle redistricting. Your party is doing this at the request of the Trump administration with a goal of securing a partisan advantage ahead of the 2026 elections because Trump is afraid that his horrible tactics are loosing him votes. This move is not about representation. It's about wielding power. It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. This is not Democracy, it is a desperate play at gerrymandering these districts to one party's benefit; in other words, PLAYING DIRTY! You all are better than this. Act like it!
10/17/25 10:48 AM	Leah Steelman		This proposed redrawing is abhorrent. Please reconsider. Please listen to your constituents. Please do what,Âôs best for North Carolinians.
10/17/25 10:48 AM	Anne Lopez	NC Resident	I strongly oppose the redistricting plan proposed by the House Select and Senate Elections committees. NC is already the most gerrymandered state in the nation, while the state is virtually 50-50 Republicans and Democrats. Stop stealing the right and will of the people to elect their own representatives. Our founding fathers did not intend for elected representatives to choose the people who vote for them. I am positively disgusted by this blatant power grab and I sincerely hope that our representatives stop this plan in its tracks.
10/17/25 10:48 AM	Whitley Ward		I am deeply concerned that the proposed districts appear drawn primarily to protect partisan interests rather than to fairly represent the people of North Carolina. Gerrymandering - by any party -undermines the integrity of our democracy. It allows politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. The result is predictable: less competition, lower voter turnout, and a legislature that does not reflect the true political and geographic diversity of our state. This erodes public trust and discourages meaningful civic engagement. Our state deserves districts that promote accountability, transparency, and genuine representation. Fair maps should prioritize compactness, respect for county and municipal boundaries, and the preservation of communities of interest,Äînot political advantage. As a constituent of a small, rural county (Bladen), I want a government that listens to and represents all of us, not just those who happen to live in politically engineered districts. I urge you to adopt a nonpartisan, transparent redistricting process that puts the interests of voters first. Thank you.
10/17/25 10:48 AM	Mrs Nancy Mcswain		This speaks to the republicans,Äô confidence in their party. Our democracy is teetering and now election interference is threatening the peoples,Äô representation. The whole administration. Is deplorable.
10/17/25 10:49 AM	Kari Farmer		Redistricting, better known as gerrymandering, is absolutely unjust, unethical and abhorrent. Republicans simply cannot win votes without changing the game. Let voters be represented as they are, not twisted to meet some made up narrative. No state Rep or congressman will EVER get my vote if they are in favor of this.
10/17/25 10:49 AM	Gerrymandering 2025 Lynette Cullom	Private Citizen of NC	Your latest gerrymandering effort, no doubt at the behest of Donald Trump, is anti-American. We, the voters, have the right to choose our elected officials. You do not have the right to choose your voters. This is an attack against the people of NC, and you show us daily that you are mere puppets of an insane man who wants to be a dictator. Please stop this, and begin to stand up for what is right. You have done enough damage! By the way, do your jobs in service to the people of NC, and pass a budget!
10/17/25 10:49 AM	Linda Routhier		We the people vote for our representative. You -Berger and Hall - do not pick your voters. If you have to rig maps to stay in power, your policies are not what your constituents want.
10/17/25 10:49 AM	Chantelle Miles		The GOP's mid-decade redistricting effort is anti-democratic. The proposed map is another example of voter suppression and a deliberate effort to dilute the people's voice in our government. I'm ashamed of our state legislature. Also, the land area that one representative will have to cover in the proposed map is a disservice to the area's residents and the representative who will have to serve them.
10/17/25 10:49 AM	New districts Stephanie Horne	None	Stop gerrymandering. If you can,Äôt win on policies, you shouldn,Äôt win at all. The current state we,Äôre in is due to republicans not wanting to write a budget. All republicans want to do is take away the power from the governor we elected and the state attorney general because they are democrats. Stop the nonsense.
10/17/25 10:50 AM	Catherine Stadelman		Gerrymandering by any party is wrong. Don't make a bad district plan worse!
10/17/25 10:50 AM	Mr Russ Elliott	NC Citizen	I denounce redistricting unless it is done fairly, constitutionally, and in such a manner as to include everyone, Especially Minoritys. It should NOT be done to favor one party, or group over another!
10/17/25 10:50 AM	Stop the gerrymandering Janet Ivey		The state of NC deserves equal representation. The NCGOP has already gerrymandered too much, now at their ‚Äúleader‚Äôs‚Äù request they are trying to finagle more seats! You represent the people of this state, not one man in Washington. Your loyalty should be to the Constitution and your constituents not a would be king. Stop this gerrymandering of NC.

10/17/25 10:50 AM	Jennifer Fogle		This is an absolutely disgraceful abuse of power. Our state has redrawn maps 5 times in the last 6 years, and Mr. Berger has made it clear that his intent is not to represent the people of North Carolina but to push an agenda. This agenda is not representative of a majority of North Carolinians, nor does it help those who were promised help in the western part of our state. I am a teacher who is STILL waiting for my representatives to pass a state budget. Please focus on your actual job of representing the people of North Carolina! I vehemently oppose the redistributing plan proposed.
10/17/25 10:50 AM	Jerome Bias		I strongly urge you to reject this proposed redistricting plan. It is un needed, dangerous and does not properly reflect the population of our state. Thank you, Jerome Bias
10/17/25 10:51 AM	John Knapp		North Carolina should not redistrict unfairly,Äîor engage in partisan or racial gerrymandering,Äîfor several serious reasons. Redistricting in itself is a regular and necessary process (done after each census), but the way it's done can either uphold or undermine democracy. Here,Äôs why North Carolina should not redistrict in a partisan or unfair way: 1. Undermines Voter Representation Gerrymandered maps dilute the power of certain groups,Äîespecially racial minorities or political opposition,Äîby: "Packing" them into few districts (concentrating their votes) Or "cracking" them across many (diluting their influence) This results in election outcomes that don,Äôt reflect the will of the voters, undermining the concept of representative democracy. 2. Erodes Trust in the Political System When voters see that elections are rigged through district manipulation: Trust in government declines Voter turnout may drop Citizens may feel disenfranchised or ignored Long-term, this damages civic engagement and public confidence
10/17/25 10:51 AM	REDISTRICTING ARE YOU NU Lyn Bluford		Look.....maga republicans are proving with every step that y'all know you wont win another election without cheating. You are also denying ALL of our rights to vote!!!! I am sick of it, just totally fed up with politicians that are NOT doing The People's Work or adhering to The People's Will to have honest elections of politicians The People WANT to elect. MAGA/REPUBLICANS ARE AN ABSOLUTE DISGRACE to thos State and to this COUNTRY. STOP IT!!!!
10/17/25 10:52 AM	Mrs Tricia Biggers		I strongly oppose the current redistricting plans in North Carolina. These maps are not fair, not transparent, and not representative of the people of this state. They are designed to entrench power, dilute the votes of entire communities, and undermine the very foundation of democracy ,Äî equal representation. When politicians choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives, democracy fails. This kind of gerrymandering divides neighbors, weakens communities of interest, and silences voices ,Äî especially those of minority and rural voters. North Carolina has a long history of fighting for fair elections, and it,Äôs shameful that we,Äôre back here again demanding what should be basic: one person, one vote, counted equally. We need an open, nonpartisan, citizen-led redistricting process that prioritizes fairness, not political advantage. Anything less is an abuse of public trust.
10/17/25 10:52 AM	Duchess Robbin Smith	The People	No more gerrymandering. Thank you
10/17/25 10:52 AM	C Moon		I strongly oppose any efforts to redraw voting district maps for the purpose of repressing fair representation of the people of North Carolina. We the people are watching you.

10/17/25 10:53 AM	Carrie Brock	I think this is a very shameful attempt at a power grab by our general assembly. I cannot believe that the people we voted for would kowtow to the president. It is obvious that he is trying to turn our republic into an authoritarian regime, and you all are allowing it to happen. You may say that I voted for this, but I can assure you I did not vote for anyone in the General Assembly who would do this to our state and our country. I hope you all enjoy the power grab you think you have now, because people are going to get tired of all of this, and you will be voted out.
10/17/25 10:53 AM	Megan Payne	As a resident of North Carolina for most of my life, I am truly saddened and appalled to see this proposed plan. I am a registered independent who saw my majority Democrat district decimated by previous redistricting. The idea that we are considering changing maps to become even more gerrymandered is beyond comprehension. The values that we are supposed to stand for as Americans are antithetical to this power grab. We, the constituents, should choose our representatives, not the other way around. If Republicans are concerned about losing the house in 2026, I suggest you adjust your platform accordingly. Disenfranchising voters further is not the answer. I know there is no political incentive e for you to listen to independents and democrats such as myself in North Carolina, and the threats from the current administration are real. However, I implore you to do the right thing and give all NC voters a right to be represented and to have their voice heard.
10/17/25 10:53 AM	Kathryn Berkheimer	No to redistricting
10/17/25 10:53 AM	Aubrie Miller	I am writing as a concerned North Carolina resident to express my strong opposition to the current redistricting efforts underway. Congressional redistricting is intended to occur only once every ten years following the census ,Äî not to be manipulated mid-cycle for partisan advantage. Attempting to redraw the maps now is a clear and deliberate attempt to rig the upcoming 2026 election by silencing the voices of many North Carolinians. This kind of gerrymandering undermines the integrity of our elections, weakens trust in government, and dilutes fair representation. Our state should be working to expand democratic participation, not restrict it. Redistricting should reflect the will of the people ,Äî not the interests of any political party. I urge you to abandon this plan and commit to fair, transparent, and nonpartisan districting that honors both the spirit and the letter of our democratic process. North Carolina voters deserve to choose their representatives ,Äî not the other way around.
10/17/25 10:53 AM	Mr. Jim Addison	You repre You were elected to represent the people of North Carolina, not Donald Trump. Do what's expected of you as representatives of all North Carolinians--not just the Maga Republicans.
10/17/25 10:54 AM	How zan Yao	A shameful abuse of power from Republicans in our state. This is tantamount to simply cheating to keep a dictator in the White House. North Carolinians won't forget this nor ever forgive this abuse of representation for the people.
10/17/25 10:54 AM	Dee Kennedy	NC Republicans are catering to the president's authoritarian whims. The voters will remember this, and hopefully ALL OF YOU will be voted out. The districts are already gerrymandered to the extreme... by Republicans. You won't be happy till there are NO democratic districts at all. Shame on you!!!
10/17/25 10:54 AM	Kimberly Leners	This is a horrible map and a shameful example of how far the Republicans party will go to cheat. Instead of redrawing maps, why don't you just make a platform people support?
10/17/25 10:54 AM	Michael Clark	I am strongly opposed to the idea of redistricting North Carolina for partisan gain by either party. A state with a nearly 50-50 split in party affiliation should have its congressional delegation reflect this proportionally.
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Sheila Cote	Not in Favor of this biased 2025 redistributing in our ST. Shameful
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Dr Teri Kaasa	Stop the extra gerrymander in the name of your orange god. The map is already gerrymandered. You have no shame. You continue to rig elections
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Mrs Melissa Wilson	I am appalled by this proposal- stop the steal as you all like to say! It is painfully apparent that the GOP can no longer win on their policies so now you want to cheat in our 50/50 state. Get to work on the BUDGET since you obviously have the time.
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Kimberly Renner	Small men cheat. You are all very small men who do not have the best interest of your constituents. Your legacy is tainted with Trump. History books will not be kind to your party in the years to come. Shameful.
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Mrs Julie Harrison	Shame on the NC gop. Obviously you can,Äôt win without cheating
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Redrawing of districts Emily McNeilly	It is OUTRAGEOUS to even consider redistricting NC. Our maps are already gerrymandered and now you want even more power. The only way you can do that is by cheating. You can,Äôt win on policy or position. Your party has become a party of crooked, corrupt men and women that have long forgotten the constituents that they,Äôre supposed to represent. IF you actually wanted to hear from NC residents, you should put this as a measure on the next ballot. Let the voters decide if NC needs redistricting. AND GROW A FREAKING SPINE!! QUIT BOWING TO A WANNABE DICTATOR. How you vote and how you participate in our democracy will be remembered. Maybe try to be on the right side of history??

10/17/25 10:55 AM	Moira Keller	The plan to redistrict the congressional maps is absolutely obscene! There is no reason for this, except to further the agenda of the abysmal Trump administration. With the limits that the NC GOP already placed on the governor, there will be no checks and balances with an overtly gerrymandered general assembly. I already feel as though my voice has been silenced the maps as they currently are, and more redistricting will silence millions of people in this state. Who will represent those who are disenfranchised?
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Gary Roberts	Just draw the districts strictly by county lines jeez.
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Gerrymandering Lucas Woodruff	My name is Luke Woodrudd, and I,Äôm a North Carolina (Carteret County) resident deeply concerned about the current redistricting process. North Carolina has a long history of partisan gerrymandering ,Äî our congressional and legislative maps have been struck down multiple times over the last decade for violating state and federal standards. Yet despite those rulings, the most recent maps once again appear drawn to predetermine outcomes rather than reflect the will of voters. Independent analyses, including from the Brennan Center, show these maps heavily favor one party ,Äî projecting 11 of 14 congressional seats for Republicans even when statewide votes are evenly split. That,Äôs not representation; that,Äôs entrenchment. Since the 2023 Harper v. Hall decision, courts have limited their ability to review partisan maps, meaning it,Äôs now up to the legislature ,Äî and the public ,Äî to ensure fairness. Gerrymandering doesn,Äôt just skew election results; it weakens accountability, suppresses competition, and erodes faith in our democracy. I urge the legislature to draw maps that are transparent, compact, and community-focused ,Äî not partisan. North Carolinians deserve districts where voters choose their representatives, not the other way around. Thank you for your time and your service.
10/17/25 10:55 AM	Mindy Mock	North Carolina deserves fair and free elections where citizens are allowed to choose the elected officials they want to represent them. By artificially designing districts that favor your own party, you not only act against the citizens you are supposed to represent, but it shows you are afraid your positions are weak and unpopular, so you must be looking for other ways to win that are not based on your merit, character, and political positions. Please reconsider the unfair redrawing of the districts and instead pass a bill where an independent, non-partisan group is given the task to draw fair districts that give all of our citizens fair representation.
10/17/25 10:56 AM	Linda Gibbs	VOTING NO to redrawing the map-- this is an outrageous overstep. Our districts should reflect our local community not the directives from a political party.
10/17/25 10:56 AM	Amanda Wendland	Redistricting at the behest of the President (ANY president) outside of the normal redistricting process is blatantly anti-democratic. Politicians from both sides should adjust their platforms to meet the needs of their constituents if they wish to be elected versus redrawing district lines to ensure a certain party or politician wins. I'd like to remind the General Assembly that they work for US, not the President.
10/17/25 10:56 AM	Mrs Jayne Mallwitz	Thank you for giving a voice and vote to rural areas which get overwhelmed by urban centers
10/17/25 10:56 AM	Mrs Tammy Dorfman	Here,Äôs mine: I am deeply concerned that the proposed districts appear drawn primarily to protect partisan interests rather than to fairly represent the people of North Carolina. Gerrymandering - by any party -undermines the integrity of our democracy. It allows politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. The result is predictable: less competition, lower voter turnout, and a legislature that does not reflect the true political and geographic diversity of our state. This erodes public trust and discourages meaningful civic engagement. Our state deserves districts that promote accountability, transparency, and genuine representation. Fair maps should prioritize compactness, respect for county and municipal boundaries, and the preservation of communities of interest,Äînot political advantage. As a constituent of a small, rural county (*), I want a government that listens to and represents all of us, not just those who happen to live in politically engineered districts. I urge you to adopt a nonpartisan, transparent redistricting process that puts the interests of voters first. Thank you.
10/17/25 10:56 AM	Peggy Holland	I agree that maps need to be redrawn. They are currently horribly gerrymandered. Communities should not be represented by a hodgepodge of elected officials. To the greatest extent possible, keep counties in 1 district. There should never be more than 2 representatives in a county or city. Make sure our representatives look like the people of North Carolina.

10/17/25 10:56 AM	Gabe Morrison		It is clear from statements made by Republicans like Phil Berger that this redistricting effort is in support of "Trump's agenda". To gerrymander in this way dampens the power of North Carolina voters to have their priorities reflected by their elected officials. To bend over backwards in this way to the administration, at the expense of citizens having equal representation using their vote, is shameful. NC Republicans may think they know what's best for this state, but if your positions alone can't win over voters without changing the game board then you are putting your own idea of "what's best" ahead of the ideas of the people you are supposed to represent.
10/17/25 10:56 AM	Not Good for Anyone Cory Lewis		Neither party should stoop to re-drawing maps solely based on making a particular party win more seats. Especially not in a 50/50 state. It‚Äôs just cheating. Plain and simple. Your ideas, platform, and candidates should be the only defining factor in whether you win or lose elections. If you have the right ideas, platform, and candidates to make our state great and our people better off than they have been, why do you need to rig district maps to win elections? It‚Äôs as embarrassing as it is ridiculous.
10/17/25 10:56 AM	Mrs Rhoda Davis	Self	The proposal for North Carolina is outrageous. and clearly partisan. With the Republican Party leadership openly saying that they are doing this to win more seats, they continue to undermine the constitution.
10/17/25 10:57 AM	Barbara Babcock		North Carolina is my new home. I, and all my neighbors, have the right to fairly elect officials. I do not support this redistricting plan put forth by the current state leaders in congress. I do support them spending their time to get a state budget passed and lawmakers should make THAT their highest priority, NOT this unfair election map.
10/17/25 10:58 AM	Riann Shackett		Gerrymandering by either party is wrong but doing to appease a president that has little regard for norms and the law is just disgusting. I believe maps should be drawn by a bipartisan committee or some other leas biased means. Since there is an almost equal distribution of voters among the parties our representatives should reflect that. If you cannot win based on your policies then you should not rig the maps to help you win.
10/17/25 10:58 AM	Martin Johnson		I am against redistricting to gerrymander representative districts to favor one party over another. It is shameful petty behavior by those who fear their loss of power. The citizens deserve to have their voices fairly represented.
10/17/25 10:58 AM	Tracia Mills		No more redistricting to silence voters!
10/17/25 10:58 AM	Faith Josephs		I oppose the redistricting efforts. We need fair elections that support democracy, not gerrymandering. I urge you to do the right thing for NC families and oppose the redistricting efforts as well.
10/17/25 10:59 AM	Sheri Petrequin	WWHM	The further gerrymandering of our state is unconstitutional and undemocratic. The rule of law is being undermined and we will not stand for it.
10/17/25 10:59 AM	Meredith Hebden	Self	We need more fair districting not less. Our state is already badly represented.This is an abomination, do the right thing don‚Äôt redistrict, thank you.
10/17/25 10:59 AM	Lynn Jones-Hoats		I do not want us to be redistricted again. In fact I didn't want it the first time. Let us both the way we're supposed to be voting based on our location.
10/17/25 11:00 AM	Elizabeth Morefield		Absolutely immoral and unethical. You are caving to a tyrant's request and forfeiting your careers while doing so. Shameful.
10/17/25 11:00 AM	Mrs Heather Harding		Just stop! Please
10/17/25 11:00 AM	Joy Dias		This idea of redistricting is an abuse of power. It is disgraceful.
10/17/25 11:00 AM	Robin Sinford		We need an independent drawn map, not more gerrymandering. I want you to know if you do this, we are working to have everyone register for primaries as Independent. We will vote in your primaries. We will fight this. You will be stuck with Mark Robinson looking crazy in every single race.
10/17/25 11:00 AM	Ms Kim Rosenberg		This is a shameless grab at power. You should be ashamed of yourselves. But nothing else matters to the NC GOP. Not fairness, democracy or healthcare.
10/17/25 11:00 AM	Matt Bryant		The pattern is clear: when politicians are running on a complete lack of substance and anything meaningful and productive for their constituents, all they have left to do is manipulate the system and twist the facts. NC GOP: leave your corruptive paws off our maps, and trying to cheat your way into having the votes you want to push through radical right agenda. We The People are who you serve, not Trump.
10/17/25 11:00 AM	Ms Eileen Burdett		If you can't win legally you redraw the maps?! NO to redistricting!

10/17/25 11:01 AM	Ms Christi Costigan	My response: I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps appear to reflect blatant partisan gerrymandering that undermines the principle of fair and equal representation. Rather than creating districts that reflect the political and demographic realities of our state, these maps are drawn in a way that entrenches political power and silences the voices of many communities,Äîparticularly urban residents, young people, and communities of color. While some may argue that similar tactics have been used in the past or are happening in other states, that does not make it acceptable,Äînor does it justify repeating those mistakes. North Carolina should strive to be a model for fair, transparent, and democratic governance. We have the opportunity to set a higher standard, not perpetuate a race to the bottom. Allowing this kind of redistricting to stand only deepens public mistrust in our democratic institutions and further alienates voters from the political process. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. I urge decision-makers to reject these maps and commit to a redistricting process that is nonpartisan, transparent, and accountable to the people of North Carolina,Äînot to political interests.
10/17/25 11:01 AM	Kylie Parker	This redistricting is shameful. Quite frankly, it is cowardice. The newly proposed map clearly is aimed at removing counties that lean democratic, because Republicans know their policies are unpopular and actively hurting North Carolina residents. The General Assembly needs to be working for North Carolinians, not Donald Trump.
10/17/25 11:01 AM	Christopher Snell	The Republicans are in the majority already in the US House and Senate, and they can't even avert or stop a full government shutdown. Why should we grant them even more seats to get nothing done?
10/17/25 11:01 AM	Jason Hamlett	This is a complete sham. Only being done because Republicans can't win based on merits.
10/17/25 11:01 AM	Mr Raymond Spanjers	Gerrymandering is thievery ! Stop this unethical and immoral practice and create an independent commission to create voting districts.. I want my vote to count!
10/17/25 11:02 AM	Mrs. Elizabeth Boulter	I am strongly opposed to the redistricting scheme by the Republicans in NC. We should be choosing our representatives and this unconstitutional action will further gerrymander our already grossly gerrymandered purple state. It,Äôs cheating.
10/17/25 11:02 AM	We are better than this Ian Massey	I'm sure Jesus is going to be so happy when you say, "I managed to get more 'Christians' into Congress by lying and cheating just like the Democrats in Illinois and California! Aren't you proud??" You should all be ashamed, but you apparently stopped believing in shame and the principles of truly representative goverent when told to do so by big daddy strongman Trump. Two wrongs don't make a right. Now I have to tell my children that NC lost its way just like everywhere else.
10/17/25 11:02 AM	Anna Barbosa	Fair representation is the foundation of a healthy democracy. The new redistricting maps should ensure that every North Carolinian,Äôs voice is heard equally ,Äî not amplified or silenced based on political advantage. District lines must reflect the genuine communities and shared interests of the people, not the short-term goals of any political party in power. When districts are drawn to favor one party, voters lose trust, participation declines, and elected officials become accountable to political strategists instead of citizens. North Carolina deserves districts that promote competition, transparency, and accountability ,Äî maps that empower voters to choose their representatives, not the other way around. I urge decision-makers to adopt a redistricting process that prioritizes fairness and the will of the people over partisanship. Our democracy depends on it.
10/17/25 11:02 AM	Dr Pat Sommers	I vehemently oppose redistributing in NC to create another republican congressional seat. The cheating has to stop. Get a spine.
10/17/25 11:02 AM	Joshua Stuckey	Restricting at the behest of the President when multiple maps previously have been declared illegal due to gerrymandering is a waste of taxpayer money when a budget has yet to be passed. Pay our teachers and give them classroom resources!
10/17/25 11:02 AM	Stephen Woodard	Make it fair. No gerrymandering. Have it done by a non-partisan, outside group - OR - have it done by equal numbers of representatives from BOTH major parties.
10/17/25 11:02 AM	Ms Cindy Hamilton	I am writing to you to express my strong opposition to redistricting the maps. I do not want any more gerrymandering in the state. I am an unaffiliated voter, and I will purposely vote the Republican ticket to eliminate these elected officials from office. Again, I do not want redistricting
10/17/25 11:02 AM	Ashleigh Verdier	Seriously, what is wrong with you all? I've been here 13 years and watched you try to repeatedly steal seats because you know your ideas for the state and country aren't actually popular. Pathetic. You should remove yourself from office, at the very least. If you won't, we will. We will fight you and we won't give up no matter how many times you try to steal elections from the people. Grow the fuck up.
10/17/25 11:02 AM	Ms Virginia Matsey	Stop! You already gerrymandered yourselves into a fake majority. Why do you need more?

10/17/25 11:03 AM	Karen Lee		I am appalled that the Republican representatives in NC have no backbone to stand up the Donald Trump abuse of power and they are just as guilty denying equal representation in our state. It just proves they don,Äôt care about the people of this state that elected them just the monies and powers
10/17/25 11:03 AM	Sharon Pawson		I DO NOT support the proposed plan! It's gerrymandering and should be illegal for all parties!
10/17/25 11:03 AM	Stop! Chris Hohman	Retired	Typical Republican move these days. Whatever Dear Leader says you guys can,Äôt wait to suck up. Revolting move to deprive NC residents their voice.
10/17/25 11:03 AM	Mr. Scott Holbrook		The proposed Congressional district plan would remove representation and public voice from many who already have precious little ability to make their voices heard, and while I'm quite confident that's the point, I'm far from convinced it's a good idea. This act of illegal gerrymandering would take what is very much an ideologically 50-50 state and represent it congressionally to be skewed upwards of 80% in one direction. North Carolina is already one of the most gerrymandered states in the nation. The current Republican administration continually boasts in characteristic exaggerated fashion of how it won a "landslide mandate" in 2024 to govern with impunity; if this is even remotely true, then it is both nakedly hypocritical and unnecessary for that party to have to resort to underhanded cheating to game future elections and kneecapping any opposing pushback.
10/17/25 11:03 AM	Great Job GOP John G		Don,Äôt let the likes of Fred Stein and his ilk dissuade you from doing this work. They want to draw lines based on race (see Supreme Court case in consideration now where dem attorneys says as such) . Don,Äôt let them gaslight. Stay the course, my prayers are with you.
10/17/25 11:04 AM	Peter Jorgensen		Mid-decade redistributing is a cowardly and blatant power grab, twice in the same decade is shameful, and you,Äôre not representing the people of North Carolina just suppressing the voices of the people.
10/17/25 11:04 AM	Redistricting Stacey White		It is absolutely reprehensible that you are looking to gerrymander once again. What is this, the 6th time in seven years?! You have to cheat to win because your policies are so unpopular. The GOP is killing people. I don't know how you can look at yourself in the mirror. I guess if you have no soul its easy. SHAME ON YOU
10/17/25 11:04 AM	Thank you Inez Santana		Thank you Republican leaders and Supreme Court. The color of your skin shouldn't dictate whether you vote counts or not. Let's leave segregation and discrimination behind us.
10/17/25 11:04 AM	Monica Thibodeau		WHY do you think this is a good idea to rig the districts so that voices are not heard? It is an embarrassment to our state. Why don't we just run on issues, and let voters tell their representatives what they want? I feel that this is limiting debate and hampering the citizens. Let people run on the merits of their policies and stop trying to overwhelm the system with gerrymandering. A variety of views, ideas and inputs is vital to a healthy democracy. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.
10/17/25 11:05 AM	Mrs Tonya Weil		It is a disgusting abuse of power from elected officials to draw partisan maps. An official unpolitical board should be the only ones allowed to draw maps. Its unfair to both parties to gerrymander. The sane people want fairness! It is not fair to draw maps to help either party! Im so tired of being a sane person in the middle watching constant favoring. Draw maps that represent the people NOT a party!
10/17/25 11:05 AM	Karen Eubanks		The Republicans have gerrymandered districts to where my representatives have no incentive to listen their constitutes. My US Congressman hasn't had a town hall since 2017. When we lived north of Greensboro we had a chance of being represented until we got gerrymandered into Phil Berger's district and our vote never counted again. The districts should be drawn by a nonpartisan group not by the majority in the General Assembly, no matter who has the majority. Gerrymandering is cheating, you know it and we know it!
10/17/25 11:05 AM	John Woodson		Nothing is more destructive of democratic government than partisan gerrymandering. It is time for an independent commission to set competitive voting districts that reflect the makeup of the voters not for the purpose of maintaining power.
10/17/25 11:05 AM	No Gerrymandering Lauren Dyson		Please no gerrymandering. Make sure all citizens are represented fairly. Please don,Äôt heap more shame onto the already marred Republican name
10/17/25 11:06 AM	Diane Leblanc		I think the maps are already pushed too far against Democrats and Independents. Not everyone is a Republican in NC.
10/17/25 11:06 AM	Clarissa Miller		I am deeply concerned that the proposed districts appear drawn primarily to protect partisan interests rather than to fairly represent the people of North Carolina. Gerrymandering - by any party -undermines the integrity of our democracy. It allows politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. The result is predictable: less competition, lower voter turnout, and a legislature that does not reflect the true political and geographic diversity of our state. This erodes public trust and discourages meaningful civic engagement. Our state deserves districts that promote accountability, transparency, and genuine representation. Fair maps should prioritize compactness, respect for county and municipal boundaries, and the preservation of communities of interest,Äînot political advantage. As a constituent of a small, rural county (Lee), I want a government that listens to and represents all of us, not just those who happen to live in politically engineered districts. I urge you to adopt a nonpartisan, transparent redistricting process that puts the interests of voters first. Thank you.

10/17/25 11:06 AM	Mary Ellen Osborne	This map is basically supporting authoritarianism. With a Republican do nothing Congress who ignores or rubber stamps anything thing this president does, they show the voters they do NOT care about doing their jobs as a branch of government & certainly do not care about the best interests of their constituents.
10/17/25 11:06 AM	Mary Bracey	Our state is already gerrymandered enough, please leave it alone or fix it so it reflects the population. If the republicans continue with their plans I think they will find themselves jobless.
10/17/25 11:06 AM	Mrs Jayd Rowles	The representatives of the state of NC work for the citizens of NC, not the President of the United States! You should be doing what your constituents (not President Trump) need you to do!
10/17/25 11:06 AM	NO Redistricting Roger Brink	Redistricting is absolutely not needed and is simply political gerrymandering. It should be illegal. Stop!
10/17/25 11:07 AM	Cindy Hill	If you redistrict to favor one party over the other then you have taken democracy away from the citizens, Because only one group has an equal say when they vote. I am a 1950s Republican who hasn't voted Republican since the 90s...
10/17/25 11:07 AM	Megan Anderson	,ÄúThe #NCGA is ready to help Republicans secure Congress and move @realDonaldTrump,Äôs agenda forward!,Äù - Phil Berger The goal of dividing a state into districts is not to deliver votes to a political party, but rather to represent the interests of the whole state and all its citizens. This partisan takeover of NC democracy is an absolute shame and embarrassment. Phil Berger and Republicans are extremist partisan operatives who do not represent the citizens of North Carolina.
10/17/25 11:07 AM	Amanda Reese	I am in North Carolina resident who is opposed to any gerrymandering.
10/17/25 11:07 AM	Michael Wade	Worsening the already severe gerrymandering in NC that erodes public trust in government is a very bad idea. It is a bad idea ethically. And a bad idea politically for everyone, including Republican politicians. The only benefit of this bad idea, ultimately, is the hastening of long-overdue reform that will lead to independent redistricting.
10/17/25 11:08 AM	Hannah Simmonds	As a NC Voter I am concerned with the plan to redistrict the NC map. There should be ZERO partisonship involved and each district needs to be represented appropriately. Any plans, republican or democrat, to create favored election results goes directly against the will of the constituents. It is unacceptable. Remember that elected representatives work for the NC people and not for a political party. Be mindful that this action will have consequences.
10/17/25 11:08 AM	Jamie Siemens	This action would disenfranchise voters by re-drawing (read: gerrymandering) maps in such a way that favors those in power (the Republicans), and at the expense of the wishes of North Carolina voters. As an engaged NC voter, I reject this action!
10/17/25 11:08 AM	Melissa Cruz	Public Comment: I strongly oppose the redrawing of North Carolina,Äôs district maps. This is a power grab, and blatant distraction from the real work our communities need: passing a state budget that prioritizes people over politics. Our public schools are underfunded, and our teachers,Äîwho shape the future of this state,Äîare overworked and grossly underpaid. Instead of manipulating maps to secure power, this legislature must deliver a budget that includes significant raises for teachers and vital investment in public education. Stop the political games. Do your job! Fund our schools.
10/17/25 11:08 AM	Tia Hagnas	It is absolutely unconscionable that you want to add another district simply because Republicans need to read the system in order to win. I am absolutely disgusted.
10/17/25 11:08 AM	Barb Wheeler	This is an abuse of power falling right in line with this corrupt Administration. When what the people want and vote for on their own accord is dismissed we no longer have free and FAIR elections. This is a disgraceful move to try to win an election you otherwise could not. When the GOP can,Äôt win they simply cheat. Not sure if you are paying attention but the people of NC whether Dem, Republican or independent do not agree with this move. Hope you all are voted out.
10/17/25 11:08 AM	David Lewis	It,Äôs past time for this nonsense to be dropped. You have a responsibility to the people of NC, not Donald Trump and his band of fascists. You folks need to get a budget in place that is fair for all of NC. Stop this political gamesmanship in order to temporarily satisfy Trump, a man who will never be satisfied.
10/17/25 11:08 AM	Lauren Taylor	It,Äôs clear no one wants to elect you guys, maybe try running on good policy and helping people instead of rewriting the districts.
10/17/25 11:08 AM	Comments on Redistricting Erin Hennis	As someone born and raised in NC on Christian Republican ideology I am appalled at the gerrymandering involved in this proposed redistricting plan. I was raised in the idea of a small, but fair government that listened to the people and does not interfere with the people,Äôs right to vote for their elected leaders. I am ashamed to see my government manipulating the people,Äôs ability to have a fair and free election. This redistricting proposal is a shameless attempt to rig elections for one party,Äôs favor and should not be allowed to happen.
10/17/25 11:08 AM	Shelagh Clancy	This attempt to super-gerrymander our state of North Carolina is self-serving and against every principle of democracy. You well know that our state is almost evenly divided politically, yet you plan voting districts that will disallow nearly every Democratic vote. Do better.

10/17/25 11:08 AM	Summer La Rue		The further gerrymandering of NC Congressional Maps is an affront to the American tradition as well as the Constitution. For once, PLEASE put the people of North Carolina FIRST! WE, as citizens, should have the right to elect our officials rather than the current officials choosing for us. Uphold your OATH! Uphold the CONSTITUTION! Stand up for fairness and justice FOR ONCE and STOP running this State and the Country as if it were a communist state. The state, the country and the world at large will ALL suffer if you continue down this extremely undemocratic, unconstitional, un-American road.
10/17/25 11:09 AM	Mr Wayne Penn		this is an unnecessary redistricting. The maps were just redrawn in the last couple years. The stated reason for the redistricting is to protect Trump's policies and plans. If those ideas are good for voters they would be supported with votes. Apparently you don't believe that voters are intelligent enough to pick the candidates and policies they want to support and have to hide behind partisan gerrymandering of districts.
10/17/25 11:09 AM	Stop NC gerrymandering Julie Tyndall	Constituent	NC has been redrawn for Rebuplicans to win enough, the only way they can win is by CHEATING and moving the goalpost. LISTEN TO YOUR CONSTITUENTS, we do NOT want this. Do yall want to go down as contributors to a fascist America or no? THE PEOPLE HAVE PLENARY POWER, NOT YOU.
10/17/25 11:09 AM	Allison Hawks		I,Äôm urging you all to not redistrict our maps. This continues to be a tactic used to benefit a particular political party. If you actually cared about the people of North Carolina, you would allow their voices to have equal say.
10/17/25 11:10 AM	Susan Creech		Leave the districts alone.
10/17/25 11:10 AM	Mrs Mary Schultz		I strongly object to the proposed congressional redistricting. It is extremely upsetting to see this constant attempt to redraw maps to promote more republican districts. We have lived in Morganton NC for the past 10 years and in that time we have been represented by 4 different representatives...Mark Meadows, Virginia Foxx, Patrick McHenry and now Tim Moore. Whenever more republican votes are needed Burke county is combined with a district that is north south east or west of us. How is that acceptable representation? We need nonpartisan redistricting!
10/17/25 11:10 AM	Ashley Locklear		I'm completely against this and it's absolutely disgusting how far you all will go to try to remain in power.
10/17/25 11:10 AM	Mr. Stanton Allaben		Redistricting is normally done after a census. NC did this, but because the map was gerrymandered it was thrown out. This new effort is just a repeat of the Republicans' effort to gerrymander the map again and should not be permitted. A non-partisan group needs to be in charge of drawing up a non-gerrymandered map for the 2026 elections. The Republicans cannot be trusted to be fair in developing any map as they will always gerrymander it to their benefit.
10/17/25 11:10 AM	Ms Sharon Broussard	Public School Strong NC	The Republican dominated NC state legislature has gutted public education funding and continues to work to eliminate public education in the state. It would be criminal to allow these legislators to use their muscle to redistrict any portion of the state and to continue their dominance of public education funding at this time.
10/17/25 11:11 AM	Lisa Babcock		Please leave our maps alone. This is not right! Why does our state have to join what others are doing? Listen to your people!
10/17/25 11:11 AM	Rev Karla Miller		Do NOT like redestricting. Call it what it is,Äigerrymandering. Do your jobs and earn your votes by representing ALL your constituents . Serve the people, not your power.
10/17/25 11:11 AM	Anita Hunt		This should be illegal. It's definitely unethical and deeply racist. Our elected officials should be decided by the voters- not the voters decided by the elected officials. This is corruption. The people deserve free and fair elections. Leave our districts alone. This is a swing State. If you are an elected officials who supports this- WE WILL VOTE YOU OUT. That is a promise.
10/17/25 11:11 AM	Robert Sherrill		This is a shameful, politically biased, arguably criminal attempt by state Republicans to unfairly arrange voting districts to keep themselves in power in North Carolina state government. Any Republican in NC government that participated in this bogus power grab should be voted out of office starting with Phil Berger in 2026.
10/17/25 11:11 AM	Ashley Sitarski		Stop wasting money with this. Do what is right for the people of NC and focus on the issues at hand. Not cheating to win.
10/17/25 11:12 AM	Mrs Melissa Vowell	Retired citizen	I am so angry at the arrogance and the entitlement of this move by Republicans. This is not just unpatriotic and anti-democratic, it's openly dictatorial and fascist. My family has been in NC since 1700. My husband's family was here in the 1600's. This is not the NC or US that our ancestors and family have fought for in every war from then til now. This household is appalled by your actions and we urge you to step away from this decision. History is not going to validate your descent into authoritarianism and autocracy.
10/17/25 11:12 AM	This is ridiculous Helen Hyatt	Retired	This State is purple. Let the best candidate run. Have a decent policy and appeal to the public. As an independent voter I don't want to be told who to vote for., as chosen by a decrepit old man.
10/17/25 11:12 AM	Redistricting Myra Neill		This is cheating, plain and simple. Perhaps you should listen to your constituents, who do not want this, instead of pandering to wealthy donors and the administration. You are destroying our democracy and we are, both Republicans and democrats, fed up with it. Do your job and pass a budget and stop playing with our lives.
10/17/25 11:12 AM	Ryan Carpenter		At a fundamental level, the purpose of election district maps is to ensure people in an area are well represented. Altering maps to create districts that are not based on community needs but rather to selectively encompass individuals in such a manner to pre-determine election outcomes is inherently out of line with American values. Voting maps ought to be created by an non-partisan body around the census, not the General Assembly whenever they feel inclined.
10/17/25 11:12 AM	Gloria Cline		How can the Republicans do this to steal control! This is just wrong. Please do not move forward with cheating our democracy.

10/17/25 11:13 AM	Gabriele Edwards		Enough! It,Äôs never acceptable for politicians to draw districts to help their own party win more seats. Authority needs to serve the public rather than dominate it. This is not democracy!!
10/17/25 11:13 AM	Nancy Long		North Carolina is already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country. This map goes beyond the pale at taking away the voices of the voters . Instead of allowing voters to choose their candidates, you are allowing candidates to choose their voters. North Carolina is a relatively 50-50 state of Democrats and Republicans, yet what you are doing here takes away the voices of half of our states voters. Shame on you for following the request of Trump instead of taking care of the interests of ALL North Carolinians and allowing their votes to be meaningful!
10/17/25 11:13 AM	Jean Graff		Just say NO! This redistricting attempt is a power-grab.
10/17/25 11:14 AM	Angela Ponzini		This is illegal redistricting meant to obliterate Democracy and disenfranchise thousands of voters. We are woke and we are watching everything you do.
10/17/25 11:14 AM	Jackie Latek		Stop your illegal redistricting. Allow fair voting. Focus on winning us over with your ideas not by cheating.
10/17/25 11:14 AM	Lashawn Jonas		Do you think we are stupid???? Do you think we don't see or understand that you are trying to silence us???? No man just no.
10/17/25 11:14 AM	Abuse of Power Jennifer McCabe		This has all gone entirely too far and is turning into a country I no longer recognize. Everyone should leave the districts zoned as they are. It's worked just fine for many elections if you are truly worried about keeping an election "honest."
10/17/25 11:14 AM	Together, NOT alone Jason Rogers		As an Independent voter, as a proud American, I would take a stand against any that would seek to silence the voices of roughly half of our nation. That's why I stand against this. Currently, most of the Republican party in charge has gone off the rails. We must stop this authoritarianism that's tearing the country apart. We are stronger as a nation when we can draw ideas and solutions from a variety of voices, not just the narrow few in charge.
10/17/25 11:15 AM	Michael Colter		The proposed redistricting is an abomination. It is anti-democracy, anti-American, and subverts the will of the people that you claim to represent. You're obviously scared that your ideas are not strong enough to keep you in power. You should be. Republicans are destroying a country that has great, if unfulfilled promise. Do the right thing. It's not too late. Enough harm has already been done to the republic.
10/17/25 11:15 AM	Mr THOMAS LEASE		No more redistricting, it goes against our democratic process.
10/17/25 11:15 AM	Scott C		What an embarrassment power grab by the GOP because they can,Äôt win elections without RIGGING it to honor their orange-hued Messiah. This is unAmerican and embarrassment. What a bunch of losers.
10/17/25 11:15 AM	Porter Lewis		It would be really cool if y,Äôall would go ahead and not try to rig the election ahead of time. Politicians aren,Äôt supposed to choose their voters, it,Äôs the other way around. Just the idea you,Äôre ,Äòcreating safe republican seats,Äô tells you all you need to know.
10/17/25 11:16 AM	Kimberly Emery	Eastern North Carolina Resident	These maps are ALREADY gerrymandered to the right, and this does nothing but gerrymander even worse towards Republicans. North Carolina is FACTUALLY one of the worst gerrymandered states IN THE ENTIRE COUNTRY. So do better. You are clearly pandering to the orange cheeto and it's disgusting. I live in Eastern North Carolina, which will be affected the most by this new round of Republican-leaning gerrymandering. This is not democracy and you know it.
10/17/25 11:16 AM	Shawn Dodge		Please do not betray our country by passing this ridiculous excuse to grab power from voters.
10/17/25 11:16 AM	We are better than this Tarik Woods		North Carolina deserves fair representation. Gerrymandering has no place diluting votes.
10/17/25 11:16 AM	Mrs. Janel Cherry		I am against the proposed plan to redraw district lines unless our legislatures are willing to use an independent commission, with regulations limiting input by elected officials. I believe that members of the independent commission should also not be legislatures, staff, lobbyists, or public officials. Voting districts should represent the voters, not the will of any political party.
10/17/25 11:16 AM	Kim Frickhoeffer		I am writing to strongly oppose the proposed redistricting maps. Let,Äôs call this what it is,Äîanother attempt to cheat North Carolinians out of fair and equal representation. If you actually governed with sound plans and policies that worked for We the People instead of the wealthy few, you wouldn,Äôt need to keep rigging the system. Gerrymandering isn,Äôt leadership,Äîit,Äôs cowardice. These maps silence communities that already fight to be heard: working families, younger voters, and people of color. That,Äôs not democracy,Äîit,Äôs manipulation. And while some may argue ,Äúeveryone does it,,Äù that,Äôs no excuse for lowering the bar. North Carolina should be leading by example, not racing to the bottom. When you carve up districts to secure your own power, you,Äôre telling voters their voices don,Äôt matter. You,Äôre proving you can,Äôt win on ideas, only on boundaries. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Do the right thing. Stop cheating the process and start governing for all North Carolinians.

10/17/25 11:17 AM	LuAnne Pendergraft		As a resident of the 1st District, residing in Elizabeth City, I am completely opposed to this redistricting. It is an underhanded and morally reprehensible tactic to undermine the ability of our appropriately elected representative, Don Davis, to continue to serve this district. He has done good work here and deserves the opportunity to continue to serve this district, as determined previously, and without input from Washington DC. I fear for the direction this country is taking and truly hate seeing North Carolina entering this divisive fray. Please do not allow this to happen. Thank you.
10/17/25 11:17 AM	Redistricting plan Lanna Evans		This plan to redistrict is shameful. The fact that our elected representatives are using their power to obey a dictator that wants to get more power, while current republicans are bowing down to him despite his abuse of power and disregard to the Constitution is detestable and illegal. Please reconsider this choice that will firmly place you in line with a fascist regime. Your choice will follow you for the remainder of your future in politics.
10/17/25 11:17 AM	Stephanie Valeche		I am opposed to redistricting. We should all be in favor of fair districts and not partisan districts.
10/17/25 11:17 AM	We don‚Äôt want this T Williams		As a North Carolinian, I think it is shameful for our leaders to engage in this type of behavior that ultimately hurts our state. We did not ask for the lines to be we drawn and we do not want them redrawn. You represent the people of our state and not the current or future presidents. Please think of your constituents and do not move forward with redrawing partisan maps.
10/17/25 11:17 AM	Mr Jackson Fairbanks	Tworedjags	The map looks great hopefully we can get some paved roads now
10/17/25 11:17 AM	Amy Stern		Why not try to win fairly verses cheating? Just curious.
10/17/25 11:18 AM	Michelle Arndt		Redistricting with the sole purpose of adding a republican seat will only further disenfranchise voters in NC. If you felt you had the best policies for NC constituents, you would believe you could win on the merits of your policies. Since you obviously can't, you cheat. Please do not further gerrymander voting districts in NC.
10/17/25 11:18 AM	Sophronia Flowers		I am writing to express my concern regarding the proposed redistricting efforts in North Carolina. Redistricting in its current form risks undermining fair representation and the principle of one person, one vote. Creating districts that favor a particular political party or group diminishes the voice of many communities, reduces accountability, and weakens public trust in our democratic process. I urge lawmakers to ensure that any district maps are drawn transparently, fairly, and without partisan bias, so that all North Carolinians have an equal opportunity to elect representatives who truly reflect their communities."
10/17/25 11:19 AM	Janice Canon	Just a regular NC citizen	You have already gerrymandered the hell out of NC. It's cheating to win. Stop it immediately. This is not why you were elected to the NC Congress.
10/17/25 11:19 AM	Mrs. Robin Tingley		Phil Berger and his GOP cronies are discarding democracy to gain points with Trump. How is redistricting to prevent half of North Carolinians from having a say in our state's governance democratic?
10/17/25 11:19 AM	A disgrace David Singletary		Political gerrymandering is a blight on this country. Doing it brazenly off cycle at the behest of the president is disgraceful. The will of the voters is being suppressed and the people of NC will not be fairly represented in Congress as a result. Draw fair districts so everyone's vote counts and their interests are represented. Politicians should compete for votes on policy, not stack the voting map to win and keep power.
10/17/25 11:19 AM	Miki Collins		Leave it as is.
10/17/25 11:19 AM	Jo Ann Mitidieri		I am quite concerned that the proposed districts appear drawn primarily to protect partisan interests rather than to fairly represent the people of North Carolina. Gerrymandering - by any party -undermines the integrity of our democracy. It allows politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. The result is predictable: less competition, lower voter turnout, and a legislature that does not reflect the true political and geographic diversity of our state. This erodes public trust and discourages meaningful civic engagement. Our state deserves districts that promote accountability, transparency, and genuine representation. Fair maps should prioritize compactness, respect for county and municipal boundaries, and the preservation of communities of interest,Äînot political advantage. As a constituent of District 11,, I want a government that listens to and represents all of us, not just those who happen to live in politically engineered districts. I urge you to adopt a nonpartisan, transparent redistricting process that puts the interests of voters first. Thank you.
10/17/25 11:20 AM	No Redistricting Dillon Howard		Please do not allow this district plan. We are all terrified of the consolidation of power that our federal government is moving towards and this is a direct step. We do not want this! - Literally Every Educated Citizen
10/17/25 11:20 AM	End partisan gerrymanderi Linda Morrison		End partisan gerrymandering for good! I am a registered Republican and I say the only acceptable way to redistrict is through an independent nonpartisan redistricting committee..

10/17/25 11:20 AM	Ms Deanna Springall		Your power grab is patent. Redistricting should only be done once every 10 years. I fully support a non-partisan, computer designed redistricting effort to avoid this stuff that is purely and obviously for political gain.
10/17/25 11:20 AM	Jordan Rogers		Y'all ought to be ashamed of yourselves. Legislative NC Democrats won more votes than Republicans in the last election. You have no mandate to gerrymander us. NC is an even 50-50 state. We have 14 districts. 6 should lean toward each party with two tossup districts. An 11R-3D map is undemocratic and shameful. Reject this partisan map and put in place a fair one.
10/17/25 11:20 AM	Patti Schigoda	American citizen	Please just stop with the gerrymandering! It‚Äôs an embarrassment to NC that the Republican Party has to cheat to win. You‚Äôve done enough damage to our democracy with your redistricting, lawsuits against legitimate election results and your attacks on women‚Äôs health. You can help turn the tide of this country by taking a stand and doing the right and just thing. No partisan redistricting!! Start representing ALL the people of NC!!
10/17/25 11:22 AM	Lori Ann DiPalo		Absolutely FANTASTIC! Play by the Dems rules, they hate that!
10/17/25 11:23 AM	Ms Mary Pleil		No rewriting the lines!!
10/17/25 11:23 AM	Redistricting Brenda Hall		Yes, I wholeheartedly agree with redistricting the maps. It takes away no one‚Äôs rights.
10/17/25 11:23 AM	Brent Cherry		I am against the proposed plan to redraw district lines unless our legislatures are willing to use an independent commission, with regulations limiting input by elected officials. I believe that members of the independent commission should also not be legislatures, staff, lobbyists, or public officials. Voting districts should represent the voters, not the will of any political party.
10/17/25 11:23 AM	Darlene Brown		Please do away with gerrymandering and big money and pacs buying our elections.
10/17/25 11:23 AM	Elizabeth Sanders		I am solidly against redistricting to eliminate a democratic representative. NC is evenly split in ideology and we deserve to have representatives who actually represent us.
10/17/25 11:23 AM	Douglas Hager		This is a blatant attempt to rig an election and take away citizens rights to their representation. All in order to appease a rapist, convicted felon and pedophile. Absolutely shameful.
10/17/25 11:23 AM	Emily McCarthy		The redistricting plan is a shameful power grab from a party that knows their policies are becoming increasingly unpopular. To make the time to vote on this instead of passing a state budget, funding medicaid, increasing law enforcement pay and giving teachers a pay raise says a lot about how GOP leaders prioritize their constituents. To put themselves first instead of the people they represent is deplorable.
10/17/25 11:24 AM	Dr. Katherine Glasgow		You should all be ashamed of yourselves. Districts should be established for the good of the PEOPLE living in them, so their representative can look after their shared interests. Slicing up towns and neighborhoods in political gamesmanship should be illegal. It is already unethical.
10/17/25 11:24 AM	Stephen Benz		Redistricting in the middle of a decade without new census data is disgraceful. This is clearly unfair play. This is political engineering. This is aggressive and destabilizing. Our state has a history of striking down new maps for violating free elections and equal protection. I hope this one is struck down as well.
10/17/25 11:24 AM	Andrea Green		No redistricting!
10/17/25 11:24 AM	Hannah L		I am a registered Republican and I am ashamed of what this party has become only listening to Trump!! I oppose the redistricting just for political gain. If this goes through, I will be voting for the opposite party.
10/17/25 11:24 AM	Ms Allison Amer		This is absolutely atrocious and a shameful act by elected officials who voters have entrusted to act in their best interests. The weak act in such ways to stay in power and we should not as citizens of this state and our country stand idly by while our rights are being systematically taken from us. Unfortunately we are not the only state where this is happening and that is even more shocking and shameful that the ideals of the founding fathers of this country are relatively nonexistent anymore. I am so tired of the division and actions of the majority of elected officials who clearly have no moral compass.
10/17/25 11:25 AM	Sharon Withrow		I would remind the leaders of the General Assembly that they work for the people of North Carolina, not the Trump Administration. Your job is to pass a state budget, which you have failed to do more than 100 days after the start of the fiscal year. Your job is not to ensure that Republicans hold a perpetual majority in the House of Representatives. Large majorities in both parties oppose gerrymandering in North Carolina, including 87% of Democrats and 78% of Republicans. Voters should pick their representatives rather than representatives picking their voters.
10/17/25 11:25 AM	Mrs Bonita Holliday-Guy		This is shameful and spineless. We will still make you work for every vote. We will highlight the negative impact of your policies on all North Carolinians.
10/17/25 11:25 AM	Esther Koppel		Do not do this. You know as well as all the rest of us that this is simply a power-grab for the current administration. Represent North Carolina fairly!!!!
10/17/25 11:25 AM	Drew Rhodes		Please do not redistrict our legislative body for the US Congress. These moves are unconscionable and you're taking away the voting power of North Carolinians. You're also setting a dangerous precedent. What happens when the other party eventually comes in control and they redistrict you out of your representation. This is not how politics should work. This is not what the founding fathers had in mind when they created the greatest democracy in the world. We are supposed to be represented at the Federal level in a way that is equitable, and you're taking that right away from people all across the state. You should not do this, please, do not do this.

10/17/25 11:26 AM	NC GOP redistricting Clark Howerton		I staunchly oppose this gerrymandering effort. It is not giving a true representation of North Carolina voters. This is an extremely partisan and unacceptable overreach of power.
10/17/25 11:27 AM	CJ Breland	Retired Teacher	No redistricting! District #1, currently the only competitive district at R+1, elected a Democrat in 2024. The only other districts that elected Democrats to the U.S. House in 2024 are rated D+17, D+23, and D+24. The 10 districts that elected Republicans are rated R+8-10. How is this fair in a state where voters by political party are 32% Democrats, 30% Republicans, and 38% Unaffiliated? It isn't. That is clear. If Republican policies are not sufficient to keep Republicans in office without extreme partisan gerrymandering, you need to change those policies, not rig elections in your favor. You are supposed to work for the Great State of North Carolina, not the current POTUS. The strong-arm tactics of the Republican Party make me sick.
10/17/25 11:27 AM	Ms Stephanie Johnson		I am completely against changing the districts and take away our rights to vote for people who represent the our values and needs. And absolutely against disadvantaging minority groups and not allowing us the representation we deserve as Americans. Instead of changing the maps the elected officials needs to start to represent the great people of NC. And needs to start with approving the NC budget and give our public school teachers the raise they earned. Stop playing politics - you are elected to represent the people of NC and start doing your job.
10/17/25 11:27 AM	Mrs. Amanda Leggett		I am a resident of District 1 and strongly object to the proposed redistricting. When politicians, on either side, arrange districts in a way that takes away the people's right to choose, you take away our choice. To do it in a way that targets racial minorities is even more dishonerable. The population of NC is 20% Black/African American. Currently, the NC Congressional Delegation contains only 2 Black/African American individuals, roughly 12%. This is second time you have attempted to redraw this district to force out Representative Don Davis. Choose fairness, and allow NC voters to chose their representatives.
10/17/25 11:28 AM	Why ? Patrick McCollum		Gerrymandering should not be allowed by ANY political party. The map should be drawn based on population alone, not politics.
10/17/25 11:28 AM	Ossi V		I feel violated and misrepresented by your actions in gerrymandering even further our state. Shame on you and your raciest tactics. White supremacy will end one day!
10/17/25 11:29 AM	Stop redistriciting plans Lee Carden		NC does not need district lines redrawn again. This should only be done when needed after a new Census has been obtained and never mid-decade. You are taking away voter,Äôs decisions on their representatives they voted for!!
10/17/25 11:30 AM	Against Ths Redistricting David Nicholl		This is the opposite of what democracy should be. You are rigging the election for one party.
10/17/25 11:30 AM	Marilyn Graham		Stop what you are doing. We will vote you out Just wait and see. Why don't you help us? Why did you take away our health care? Where is the fema money?
10/17/25 11:30 AM	Matthew Hamilton		This is nothing more than a blatant power grab by a Republican Party that cares more about keeping themselves in power than doing the will of the people. This is not democracy, this is FASCISM!
10/17/25 11:30 AM	Congressional district ma Kevin Barnett		This childish method of taking away the rights of the citizen to choose their representation goes against everything the founding fathers stood for. Republican leadership needs to abandoned partisan policy making and start actually working for the people of nc.
10/17/25 11:31 AM	Redistricting Victoria Hussey		The duty of the NCGA is to serve ALL constituents in NC. Please pay attention to the actual work that needs to be done like addressing healthcare gaps, food access inequality and education. There are people in this state that need help. Stop protecting Trump and other GOP reps in other states and clean up your own house.
10/17/25 11:31 AM	Kate Shelton		I do not support any of this redistricting. Our congressional maps should be based on population, not whatever party is in control. The fact that our state leaders have declared they are doing this to support President Trump,Äôs agenda is outrageous. Legislators work for the people of NC, not one individual. The fact that the citizens of NC do not get to vote on changes to congressional maps is not democratic or ethical.
10/17/25 11:32 AM	Sarah Robinson		This is waste, fraud and abuse to try and steal the elections. It's not necessary, North Carolina is already gerrymandered, and we have more pressing problems that the Assembly needs to focus on.
10/17/25 11:32 AM	Mrs Sylvie Horvath		Voters should be choosing their representatives rather than vice versa. What Texas has done with redistricting before the allotted time frame is causing a domino effect. Should this continue, there will be no reason to district for representatives in any state because they will have been preordained. Every voter in our state should be represented, but is not due to gerrymandering. The plan to redistrict makes it even worse than it already is. If one can't win honestly, they shouldn't be in Congress.

10/17/25 11:33 AM	Shannon Holmes		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps appear to reflect blatant partisan gerrymandering that undermines the principle of fair and equal representation. Rather than creating districts that reflect the political and demographic realities of our state, these maps are drawn in a way that entrenches political power and silences the voices of many communities,Äîparticularly urban residents, young people, and communities of color. While some may argue that similar tactics have been used in the past or are happening in other states, that does not make it acceptable,Äînor does it justify repeating those mistakes. North Carolina should strive to be a model for fair, transparent, and democratic governance. We have the opportunity to set a higher standard, not perpetuate a race to the bottom. Allowing this kind of redistricting to stand only deepens public mistrust in our democratic institutions and further alienates voters from the political process. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. I urge decision-makers to reject these maps and commit to a redistricting process that is nonpartisan, transparent, and accountable to the people of North Carolina,Äînot to political interests.
10/17/25 11:33 AM	Mrs. Lauren Davis		The North Carolina House Select Committee,Äôs attempt to redraw congressional districts for President Donald Trump,Äôs political gain is a disgrace to this state and everything our Constitution stands for. Article I, Section 2 of the North Carolina Constitution states clearly that ,ÄúAll political power is vested in and derived from the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.,Äù Let me repeat that...the will of the people, not the will of Donald Trump, not the will of a party desperate to cling to power. This effort to manipulate district lines for partisan advantage is shamefully un-American. It betrays both the people of North Carolina and the democratic principles that define our state and our nation. These legislators know exactly what they,Äôre doing: they are rigging the system because they know they cannot win a fair fight. It,Äôs pathetic, it,Äôs cowardly, and it,Äôs an insult to every North Carolinian who still believes in free and fair elections. Our representatives swore an oath to uphold the Constitution. They should be ashamed of themselves.
10/17/25 11:33 AM	Gerry Mandarin Robin Doyle	Self	You are cheating and diluting the vote to swing in the right wing direction this is wrong minorities deserve equal representation so do Democrats cause if minorities like the Republican vote votes, they would vote for them. They don,Äôt because Democrats look out for the common people the poor, the needy, the middle class the working class. if Republicans want the minority vote, they should do better policies instead of giving it to the fucking billionaires.
10/17/25 11:33 AM	Ms. Terry Futrelle	NC voter	Free and fair elections, are the very bedrock of democracy. Redistricting, only to weaken one party,Äôs vote, is illegal. Gerrymandering, should never happen to give one party an advantage. Weakening minority votes, is the reason we must still fight the good fight, to ensure the minority voters, will have a rightful voice.
10/17/25 11:33 AM	Lisa Warren		Shameful. Do not infringe on our rights with this blatant power grab.
10/17/25 11:33 AM	Pathetic J. Mausteller		This is just embarrassing at this point. Stop rigging the map. This is all about retaining power and nothing to do with serving the people of a state that is nearly 50/50. Stop blaming California for what Trump started in Texas. No integrity or decency at this point, just lying, cheating and stealing. Create fair and competitive maps. Why are politicians so afraid to work and earn their votes from the people? The people should decide who represents them in a free and fair election.
10/17/25 11:34 AM	Red or Blue Rebecca Stephens	None	Gerrymandering needs to stop, it should be based on population not party.
10/17/25 11:34 AM	Catherine Armentrout		This is a flagrant attempt to change the balance of representation against the wishes of the people of North Carolina. I, as a voter, am decidedly against this redistricting plan.
10/17/25 11:34 AM	Lynette Weaver		No redistricting. stop gerrymandering. They are both cheating. free and fair elections for All.
10/17/25 11:34 AM	Megan Crotty		You aren't even hiding it anymore ,Äî this is all for Donald Trump. You are kowtowing to a dictator. Shame on the NCGOP.
10/17/25 11:35 AM	Esther Widgren		I am writing to strongly oppose redistricting as proposed by North Carolina,Äôs Republicans. North Carolina already has a terrible history of political gerrymandering, and this will only make it worse. I believe in small d democracy but apparently North Carolina Republicans are more interested in power than our constitutional government. I will use my voice, my dollars, and whatever influence I can muster to fight this proposal and anyone who votes to enact it.

10/17/25 11:35 AM	Erin Delgado		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed Congressional district plan currently under consideration. This proposal is a blatant example of partisan gerrymandering that undermines the democratic principle of fair representation. Voters should choose their representatives ,Äï representatives should not choose their voters. By manipulating district boundaries for political advantage, this plan silences communities, dilutes the voting power of countless citizens, and erodes public trust in our electoral process. North Carolina deserves maps that reflect genuine communities of interest and the will of the people, not maps engineered to guarantee one party,Äôs dominance. As a life-long North Carolina resident, I urge this committee to reject this plan and instead adopt transparent, nonpartisan methods for drawing districts. Democracy functions best when every voice counts equally ,Äï not when maps are designed behind closed doors to entrench power.
10/17/25 11:35 AM	Marcia Morey		This mid term congressional map redraw undermines our democracy. It is Trump bootlicking by Republican politicians who are rigging the system to stay in power.
10/17/25 11:35 AM	Maps Doris Williams	Democrats minorities	You are cheating and making it harder for me to vote by mail in ballot. I usually vote Republican, but this year I want to vote Democrat. Y,Äôall have gone too far. Y,Äôall should open this up for the people to vote on this not y,Äôall taking away the power of the people it,Äôs wrong and you know it you,Äôre cheating. Evil god bless y,Äôall,Äôs souls why cheat if you aren,Äôt scared your gonna lose shouldn,Äôt of gave all that stuff to the billionaires
10/17/25 11:36 AM	Mr. James Robinson		Regardless of your political association. Gerrymandering should be illegal and is a disgusting act that takes away the voting power of the American people.
10/17/25 11:36 AM	Kristine Porter		I am 100% against this redistricting plan. You are there to represent us equally so the district plans should represent that. This is disgraceful and anyone who votes for this should be ashamed of themselves.
10/17/25 11:36 AM	Mrs Laurel Mitchell		Quit it!!
10/17/25 11:36 AM	Undemocratic & Deceitful David Welch		The new redistricting is obviously made to be in favor of the Republicans. The amount of gerrymandering needed in this swing stat proves that the GOP can't win unless they top the scales. It's shameful and deceitful to the people of NC, whom they're supposed to represent.
10/17/25 11:37 AM	Scott Dixon		I don't think anyone should be able to redraw the lines. I think we should just have an equal number of people from each party. If we don't make everything 50/50 we are not properly represented. The population is not mainly one party or the other. It is a equal mix. We should have Dems and Republicans equally in Washington. No more gerrymandering.
10/17/25 11:37 AM	Jaclyn Sheridan		This is a joke, right? This map is a blatant power grab that clearly limits representation of individuals so that Republicans remain entrenched in power. Maps like these also encourage increased polarization WITHIN the benefiting party, so this will only make subsequent GOP candidates more and more extreme. This is terrible for NC and terrible for democracy.
10/17/25 11:37 AM	Emmy Marshall		Please stop this outrageous power grab by the Republicans. They can only stay in power by rigging the system. We've seen what they have allowed to happen to our democracy in this country. Thanks to Republicans we are now in a fascist country controlled by billionaires. Stop the craziness while we still can.
10/17/25 11:38 AM	Shadia Kirk		I do not support redistricting! Please protect everyone,Äôs right to vote and be represented!
10/17/25 11:38 AM	Redistricting Julie Young		Stop tampering with our right to vote. We have a 2-party system. Stop trying to disenfranchise and eliminate the Democratic citizens,Äô votes. Why do you think so many people are protesting right now?
10/17/25 11:38 AM	Amy Dark		No redistricting unless it's fully independent and bipartisan. The PEOPLE should pick their representatives. The representatives shouldn't PICK their people. Y'all have it backwards. This move is blatantly racist and undemocratic.
10/17/25 11:38 AM	Lindsay Bennett		I oppose the redistricting of North Carolina. It is a blatant attempt to cheat by the Republican Party. Please uphold the integrity of our state and stop this.
10/17/25 11:38 AM	Ms Randi Thoresen		Another redraw? Seriously? Are you not tired of embarrassing our state repeatedly with your blatant gerrymandering? This would be the fifth time in 6 years, absolutely no one wants this on either side of the aisle. I need you guys to explain to us like we are five what you think this is going to accomplish besides getting a pat on the head by Trump. It is absolutely pathetic the lows you will sink to to cheat and keep power. What you guys don't realize is how unpopular this is, even in the deepest red States. You assume you have the Republican vote, however you do not have as much of it as you think. North Carolinians are tired of being embarrassed by weak egos and desperate power plays. You took an oath, maybe actually pretend you care about it. Disgraceful actions by you all, and I will be doing everything in my power to spread the word about this.
10/17/25 11:38 AM	Mica Crouse		Rigging the system by gerrymandering maps only to benefit one party is an abuse of power and certainly not why you all were elected. It,Äôs truly as low as it gets. You,Äôve failed to pass a budget, failed to pay our children,Äôs teachers, and failed to fully fund Medicaid for North Carolinians who need it most. Please do what we,Äôve elected you to do and TAKE CARE of NC residents rather than working so hard to redraw maps in the GOP,Äôs favor.

10/17/25 11:38 AM	Ms Christine Conley		Instead of serving the constituents of this state by passing the budget and paying teachers and law enforcement their due, you choose to alienate millions by redrawing voting districts. You are in violation of your oaths to the US and state constitutions. You have snubbed your noses at people of color who you also serve because 45/47 knows the people of this country are unhappy with humans to ensure the oligarchs and he win, he has to have his yes men and sycophants like redraw the voting maps. You are a disgrace to your office, your state and your constituents.
10/17/25 11:39 AM	Maps Micheal Williams	Hard worker	my daughter has been waiting for disability and you,Äôre gonna take away her Medicaid while she waits that,Äôs evil now your gonna cheat and re do the maps instead of letting the PEOPLE vote on it like it should be in a democracy,Ä¶ how can you guys sleep at night minorities deserve equal voting rights and your taking them away because yall scared you can,Äôt win the mid term shouldn,Äôt of gave tax cuts to billionaires and forget about the poor Jesus would be ashamed !
10/17/25 11:39 AM	Mitchell Price		Hard to believe that you have no shame. Embarrassing that you would spend your time trying to ensure your side wins the election, instead of spending your time fixing Medicaid, recovering from Helene, and doing the business of the state of NC. I am 100% opposed to redistricting. We should have non-partisan mapmaker redraw the districts after the 2030 census.
10/17/25 11:39 AM	Not Right. Christopher Creech		Voters should determine their representatives. Representatives should not choose their voters. It,Äôs not right that they are doing this in Texas. It,Äôs not right that they are doing this in California. And it,Äôs not right that North Carolina is attempting to do this now. Run on your policies with maps determined by non partisan groups. If your policies are popular, they would win every time. As someone who is a true independent, this really pushes me away from those who would promote such blatant gerrymandering in a state that is truly bi-partisan.
10/17/25 11:39 AM	Anna Futrell		This is ridiculous. You are redrawing maps to take away the will of the voters. We are truly a purple state - voting close to 50/50 for republicans vs democrats - yet our representation does not represent that whatsoever. BRING BACK FAIR MAPS
10/17/25 11:39 AM	Ms Jennifer Krause		I am disgusted by this blatant attempt to keep power in the hands of republican politicians by once again redistricting. If lines are drawn, it should be done by an equally representative, non-partisan group. This has to stop.
10/17/25 11:40 AM	Mrs Haley Mclester		This is unamerican and vile. Gerrymandering should be condemned in ANY circumstance. None of your constituents want this.
10/17/25 11:40 AM	B. C. Sugg		Further gerrymandering NC districts (yes, tgey are already way too gerrymandered) to specifically benefit one party, the crumbling GOP, is not only a sign of weakness, but shows a lack of faith that you can win based on the administration's recent authoritarian behavior and a failure to act to maintain constitutional norms and laws. In addition, it is illegal. It is time for an impartial group to take over districting of North Carolina and a denouncement of the actons and desires of the current administration before it completely destroys the once United States of America.
10/17/25 11:41 AM	Cheaters maps Kenny Williams	For the people	I usually vote Republican, but this year I,Äôm gonna vote Democrat because y,Äôall gave all those tax cuts to the billionaires and cut from the poor made fake promises to the middle class and won,Äôt release the Epstein files now y,Äôall scared you can,Äôt win and redoing the maps instead of letting people vote on it. That,Äôs what a democracy does they vote they don,Äôt take away from minorities in blue votes. They don,Äôt dilute them cheaters how can you sleep at night?

10/17/25 11:41 AM	Kevin Stearns	I,Äôm deeply concerned about the new North Carolina congressional maps. This latest redistricting plan is a clear partisan gerrymander designed to protect political power rather than represent the people of our state. This isn,Äôt about fair maps or balanced representation ,Äî it,Äôs about politicians picking their voters instead of voters choosing their leaders. Under the proposed plan, Republicans are redrawing competitive districts, like the 1st District currently held by Don Davis, to give themselves a built-in advantage. That,Äôs not democracy. A few points everyone should care about: 1.Democracy depends on competition. Voters deserve elections where their votes actually matter. Gerrymandering takes that away. 2.Mid-decade redistricting is a red flag. There,Äôs no legitimate reason to redraw maps before the next census except to lock in partisan gains. 3.This hurts accountability. When politicians don,Äôt have to compete, they stop listening to the people they represent. 4.It also harms communities of color. Historically marginalized voters are the first to lose influence when maps are manipulated for partisan advantage. North Carolinians deserve transparency, fairness, and a government that reflects the will of the people ,Äî not one that rewrites the rules to stay in power. I,Äôm calling for an end to partisan map-drawing and for the adoption of an independent, nonpartisan redistricting process. Every citizen should have an equal voice and an equal vote. Our democracy only works when it,Äôs fair. This map isn,Äôt.
10/17/25 11:41 AM	J Godsey	I believe this legislation should be rejected as it is a means for redrawing districts to a Republican advantage. It is yet another attempt at election rigging. Please vote No on this legislation.
10/17/25 11:41 AM	Nancy Alenier	The majority is shamefully stealing future elections by doing Donald Trump,Äôs bidding. The NCGA has become an embarrassment of supine toadies for a deranged tyrant, ignoring the people who you work for. History will not be kind to any of you.
10/17/25 11:41 AM	Redistricting Map Alison Hurwitz	These maps are a shameless discriminatory gerrymander, surgically diluting the power of Black voters and cracking communities apart. They packed and cracked the state,Äôs most urban and diverse communities, diminishing the voting power of these areas ,Äì despite the fact that they,Äôve driven population growth over the past decade. Towns and communities are senselessly split for no other reason than to give politicians an unfair advantage. Counties with vastly different issues and values are now grouped together in far reaching districts. Residents in Rocky Mount and residents in the Outer Banks face very different problems- how can one lawmaker fairly represent both communities? They won,Äôt. Our democracy is built on the idea that voters choose their representatives, not the other way around.
10/17/25 11:41 AM	Pamela Hay	You serve the people, all the people, of North Carolina, not the president, and not an authoritarian agenda. Gerrymandering districts is unethical and antithetical to the spirit of the Constitution and our rights as voters.
10/17/25 11:41 AM	Amanda K	Redistricting the election map right now is a blatant attack on democracy and voter representation. It,Äôs a political power grab meant to predetermine outcomes rather than let voters decide them. This action destroys public trust in fair elections. Representation should serve the people, not GOP leaders trying to manipulate the map for their own gain. We must reject this scheme and demand truly fair districts and elections.
10/17/25 11:41 AM	Candace Shugart	It is shameful that the NC GOP feels emboldened to continue to steal votes from hard working NC people. Your party did NOT receive a mandate to take NC back to a disgraceful time period.
10/17/25 11:42 AM	Jennifer Cocklin	I support the efforts to create voting districts that reflect the distribution of constituency. NC voters have already shown that we elect the most qualified candidates, let,Äôs make our districts less complicated and support merit in our elected leaders.
10/17/25 11:42 AM	Mrs Joyce Johnson	I am opposed to the proposed Congressional redistricting plan. Please do not do it.
10/17/25 11:42 AM	Susie Collins	I am against redistricting! If you can't win fair and square, we the people don't want you in office!
10/17/25 11:43 AM	Lynn Fell	Redistricting at the President,Äôs request in order to keep him in power is wrong and further disenfranchises over half of the state. This is not what the Founders intended. It is an abuse of your power and a betrayal of the voters in this state.
10/17/25 11:43 AM	Janet Thew	This is blatant cheating. Un-American, cowardly cheating. You know that NC is purple and districts should reflect that more bipartisan reality, but have chosen and are choosing to cheat instead of trusting voters to fairly pick their representatives. THIS IS BENEATH YOU. You will someday regret bending over for Trump. You know this, but are doing it anyway. Shame on every Republican in NC.
10/17/25 11:43 AM	Tammy Bailey	No! This is just another effort to silence voters!

10/17/25 11:43 AM	Jane Deane		It is the wrong thing to do. Texas already has, now California has to the same to even it up. Where does it stop? I am against it, it is almost always racial.
10/17/25 11:43 AM	Dr. Sandra Hochel		I am appalled at your redistricting efforts. NC is already one of the most politically districts states. Please don't join the nationwide bandwagon just to appease one person. As an independent, i hope my new state will stay above this mania.
10/17/25 11:44 AM	Mrs Elizabeth Lucas		I am NOT in support of the Congressional redistricting plan. This is a shameful act to steal votes and deny NC residents their wishes.
10/17/25 11:44 AM	Patricia Higley		I am totally against your plan to illegally redistrict. If you can't win on the issues, you don't deserve a seat at the table. Start representing all the citizens of North Carolina rather than doing the bidding of Donald J. Trump.
10/17/25 11:45 AM	Dr G Wilson Gunn	Citizen	The proposed Gerrymandered voting districts are an assault on democracy. Time for a nonpartisan, statistically driven FAIR system of district allocation. The present plan is bad. The proposed plan is worse.
10/17/25 11:45 AM	Redistricting comments Caitlin Sy		I would like to seek some answers- data drive , not emotionally driven or anecdotal, as to why the map needs to be redrawn and, specifically, why it needs to be redrawn in this way. For a state that- statistically- is split down the middle in terms of republican and democratic voters, to imagine a world in which this districting truly represents the will of its citizens is difficult given the expected ratio of republican to democratic representatives this will send to Washington represent our state. Without data-driven, empirical evidence, this map appears on the surface to be a shameful power grab by one party with callous disregard to what is best for your constituents.
10/17/25 11:45 AM	Dr Thomas Register		Partisan politics are destroying democracy across the US, and I hate to see such polarizing behavior by our NC politicians. Gerrymandering just further divides us and generates ill will. Please do not add to the disruption.
10/17/25 11:45 AM	Katie Daughtry		I am very opposed to any effort to further gerrymander North Carolina. Our representation should REPRESENT our electorate. This is an erosion of our democracy and you all should be ashamed.
10/17/25 11:45 AM	Dr. Michael Morse		Redistricting should be done by a nonpartisan committee to ensure fair representation for all. Partisan redistricting is undemocratic.
10/17/25 11:45 AM	Ms Helen Bell		There is NO reason to redistrict NC again! The current district maps are still undergoing court challenges. Unless the redistricting addresses the issues that are currently before the court, which this redistricting effort obviously is not geared to do, another round of redistricting will merely result in even more court challenges. The courts likely will not allow any new map to go into effect before the 2026 elections due to the unconventional nature of mid-cycle redistricting combined with the clear intent to make our state even more severely gerrymandered than it already is. And redistricting mid-cycle sonly serves to confuse ALL voters, regardless of political affiliation, so they don't know which district they are now in or who they should be voting for or against.
10/17/25 11:46 AM	Eric Pederson		Gerrymandering should be illegal in all states. Nobody should be allowed to draw maps or configure districts to purposefully favour or disfavour a party, or candidate. Please do the honorable thing and don't join the bandwagon of gerrymandering for political points and power. Thank you.
10/17/25 11:46 AM	Bradford Lane		How do you expect us to take the current legislature serious if this is what they spend their time doing? Pass a budget! If they want to redistrict, then have the people of NC vote on it!!
10/17/25 11:46 AM	Natalie Marzouka-Gould		I stand against the Republican redistricting,Äîit,Äôs unfair, undemocratic, and threatens to dilute voter voices while compromising the integrity of fair elections.
10/17/25 11:46 AM	Aleta Alade		I am deeply concerned about the repeated gerrymandering efforts in North Carolina. Our lawmakers should be focused on urgent issues like homelessness, healthcare access, and fair labor policies instead of manipulating district maps. Redistricting should be transparent, accountable, and reflect the true voices of our communities. I strongly oppose any secretive or unfair redistricting practices.
10/17/25 11:46 AM	Ms Linda Jackson		Hi. We all know that Gerry mandering is cheating. Do not to trump. If you ever want people to vote, Republican again, you,Äôre gonna have to play fair. If the only way you can win an advance, the Trump agenda is by cheating then we don,Äôt want any part of that. Your oath is to the constitution to the democracy and to we the people not to the Trump administration. No Gerry mandering.
10/17/25 11:46 AM	Kids future maps Jackie Williams	Being a kid	You are taken away minority votes, diluting them, cheating taken away my future women,Äôs rights I deserve equal representation for my future rights in this country I matter we matter you should not do this with out a vote from the people for the people by the people this should be illegal that,Äôs right the Republicans filibustered it and blocked it cheaters a democracy works by voting not a dictatorship yall scared you can,Äôt win ? Maybe not give cuts to the billionaire and take away from my special education. I have a IEP number and it,Äôs not being respected this year. Thanks for that.NoT that,Äôs evil Jesus would be ashamed.
10/17/25 11:47 AM	Elizabeth Hoane		I oppose, I. The strongest possible terms, the planned off cycle gerrymandering of yet another Congressional district in NC. Donal Trump is not a NC resident and should have absolutely no say in how we draw our maps. The fact that the GOP leadership is planning this redistricting to please Trump is abhorrent. NC is a diverse state and should not be unethically handed to the GOP and the felon president.

10/17/25 11:47 AM	Amy Wadia		2022-NC Supreme Court ruled gerrymandering unconstitutional under state constitution which guarantees free elections. Fair maps were court ordered and the result in 7 Republican and 7 Democrats elected to represent the state of NC. In 2023, Republicans win a seat on the NC Supreme Court flipping control from Democrats to the Republicans. The newly empowered Republican majority reverees the 2022 ruling-ending judicial oversight. New maps are drawn and the Republican party holds the majority in NC Congress. In 2025, Beger asked Trump for an endorsement in exchange for another redrawing of NC maps. This is not only unconstitutional, it does not depict the political landscape of our amazing state. Trump did not win our state by an overwhelming majority. In fact, he won with 50.86% of the vote. We are a purple state with more people voting for Democrats in the NC legislature than Republicans. We demand free and fair elections; not ones that are based upon gerrymandering.
10/17/25 11:47 AM	Carolyn Pugh		This is a ridiculous power grab.
10/17/25 11:47 AM	Christine Hoepfner		It is not consistent with states' rights--or democracy--that the General Assembly abide by orders from the White House to redraw congressional districts. GA leaders admit they will follow ‚ÄúPresident Donald Trump‚Äôs call‚Äù to install a new congressional map. This shows they are not thinking independently about what is best for NC voters. The creation of a one-party state will not promote voter engagement. If voters prefer Republicans, that will show in a fair election. If not, the will of the voters must prevail.
10/17/25 11:47 AM	Mrs. Eileen Hanson-Kelly	Piedmont Unitarian Universalist Church (Salisbury Gathering), AARP, AAUW	This is a terrible idea and a direct attack on our democracy. Those controlling the General Assembly admit they are doing this to please President Trump. He cannot dictate who gets to vote in which districts. Our Congressional seats ae already gerrymandered to favor one party (Republican). This mid-decade redo is a total compilation to a "would be king". I object!
10/17/25 11:47 AM	Captain Cynthia Womble		I am horrified you are choosing to spend your time on redistricting instead of the REAL issues and work you should be doing like PASSING a budget ON TIME! And I do not agree thus reduatrictibg us in the best interests of the citizens of NC.
10/17/25 11:47 AM	Gregory Boles		Time and time again the GOP has tried to redistrict and gerrymander the maps to circumvent the will of their constituents. Each time this has been brought before a non-partisan review it is struck down because it is wrong and unconstitutional. This is a further continuation and escalation of the GOP's attack on our rights as citizens and against democracy and must be rejected. We deserve a map that ensures we are all represented fairly and equally and creates a level playing field among political parties.
10/17/25 11:47 AM	Ms Taylor Haag		North Carolina is an extremely purple state with a near 50/50 split in political affiliations. The citizens of North Carolina deserve a map that ensures we are all represented and creates a level playing field among political parties. This map is grossly biased to ensure suppression of opinions that do not align with the GOP. Cheating is antithetical to a free and great America.
10/17/25 11:48 AM	Patrick Mills		You know this is not allowed by the NC Constitution. It will COST the taxpayers of NC money to defend against legal challenges, because of the NC Constitution. Everyone who votes 'Yes" is negligent in their duty to uphold the Constitution of North Carolina. Let that sink in. You are willfully, and consciencely, violating the Constitution of North Carolina. Article II - "shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial census." Any belief to the contrary is delusional, and you should ask your personal counsel and counsel for your particular chamber. You do not have to be lemmings and follow your party blindly. I know each of you have the cognitive ability to understand the plain language in Article II. You should not concern yourself with retribution from a political party, you did not swear an oath to a political party!
10/17/25 11:48 AM	Kelly Davidson		This is an egregious abuse of power, you are not operating as faithful servants of the state. Shame on you. We are 50% blue, and you are reprehensible.
10/17/25 11:48 AM	Olandine Natoya		Such efforts like these interfere with fair and balanced elections! Shut this crap down--now!
10/17/25 11:48 AM	Ms. Sarah Fitzellen		I am writing to express my strong opposition to any efforts that may undermine fair representation in our state through redistricting or gerrymandering practices. The manipulation of district boundaries for partisan advantage erodes the fundamental principle of democracy,Äîthat each vote should carry equal weight. Gerrymandering not only distorts the will of the voters but also weakens public trust in the electoral system. Every citizen deserves to have their voice heard in a system where districts are drawn fairly and transparently, rather than being shaped to benefit one political party over another. It is crucial that we uphold the integrity of our elections by creating fair, competitive districts that reflect the true diversity and interests of all North Carolinians. I urge you to support reforms that prioritize independent, nonpartisan redistricting processes and work toward ensuring that every voter has an equal opportunity to influence the future of our state. Thank you for your time and consideration.
10/17/25 11:48 AM	Sarah Stokes		I am strongly against the proposed Congressional district plan. To do so would further rob the citizens of North Carolina of our voice. I am born and raised here in North Carolina and the gerrymandering that has already happened is a disgraced. Congressional maps should be drawn by a nonpartisan committee and should not be partisan on either side. This is just common sense and common decency. Cheating is always wrong, isn't that what you teach your children?

10/17/25 11:48 AM	Laura Moore		Please stop this Redistricting plan now. The citizens of NC need representation and a voice. A rushed set of new district boundaries will not meet that criteria. District lines should be based on population not politics. Laura Moore
10/17/25 11:48 AM	Patricia Goff		Guessing Berger and friends don,Äôt believe they can win clear, so they don,Äôt play fair.
10/17/25 11:48 AM	Nick Smith		This is wrong. Pure and simple. The representation we have in Congress should roughly match the distribution of voters in this state - which is almost 50-50. The idea that you're doing this to put forth an agenda that almost half of your state didn't vote for shows that you really don't care about that half. Politics isn't about your side winning and the other side losing. It's about electing serious people who are committed to doing the most good for the most people. These new maps utterly fail in that mission. Stop trying to gaslight your population, and stop treating half of them like second-hand citizens that don't deserve a voice just because it doesn't agree with yours.
10/17/25 11:49 AM	Kedrik Eddlemon		This is a shame to North Carolina voters. The fact that this is a constant issue should be addressed. North Carolina is a bi partisan state. Our representatives should act like it.
10/17/25 11:49 AM	Stacy Hancock	LWV	Midcycle partisan gerrymandering is WRONG because it will severely and negatively impact communities in North Carolina. Partisan gerrymandering at this time will divide communities to ensure predetermined outcomes, reducing competition and accountability. It creates confusion by the constantly changing district lines and it is a waste of taxpayer dollars. It entrenches one party's power and weakens democracy-there is no balance in government. Most importantly, partisan gerrymandering silences voters, many stop believing their votes matter. Partisan gerrymandering midcycle is WRONG!
10/17/25 11:49 AM	Tammy Howard-Ofsanik		I want to say this is unbelievable but anymore from my former Republican Party it,Äôs not anymore. Cannot win honestly so you redraw lines?! No moral compass. How is this ok to disenfranchise citizens from the officials they,Äôve already elected and would want to elect. This is taxation without representation truly and we fought a war over that because America,Äôs values were that this was NEVER ok. And high court judges have ruled gerrymandering is unconstitutional. How is this even being allowed to go this far? Absolutely vile behavior.
10/17/25 11:50 AM	Eric Boggs		Remember in 2016 when the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals said that the NC GOP created voter suppression laws that "target African-Americans with almost surgical precision"? Is the NC GOP a racist voter suppression organization? Or just more broadly interested in disenfranchisement for the lulz? How does a 50/50 state with a Dem governor end up with a 10 R / 4 D congressional delegation? How does the side with a 10 / 4 delegation majority justify the need for an 11 / 3 delegation? Shame on the NC GOP. This is a shameless, brazen attack on democracy.
10/17/25 11:50 AM	Save us John McElek		Please redistrict! How many more people have to fall victim to Stein and CO,Äôs soft on crime agenda? Why are we putting criminals above law-abiding citizens???
10/17/25 11:50 AM	Ms Kyle Queen	Self	Pass a budget that serves the people of NC. You are our servants, right? Public servant? Redistricting at the behest of a wannabe dick tater makes you the servant of a soulless vile person and a vile soulless person yourself. He,Äôll toss you overboard as soon as he no longer has use for you.
10/17/25 11:50 AM	Mrs Sherita Hall		This is a sham and a shame that you all are so fearful of losing ,just like you did in the Allison Riggs case, that you would create this map to appease the wannabe dictator of the United States of America. However, when you make your bed in hell prepare to lie in it. God sees all and you will pay for your sins: THOU SHALL NOT STEAL!
10/17/25 11:51 AM	Amanda Willis		It is absolutely unforgivable and a travesty that the Republicans are attempting to further gerrymander our state and disenfranchise tens of thousands of citizens. Republicans know their policies are widely unpopular and the only way they can win is to cheat. Phil Berger is a Trump sycophant that is selling out his state in order to get a Trump endorsement. It's disgusting, unfair, and un-American.
10/17/25 11:51 AM	Calile DeThomas		Stop disenfranchising voters in NC!! Our votes are already horribly gerrymandered and this would make our votes count even less. I,Äôm very angry at my lack of representation in my state. The backlash against the Republican Party is going to be severe and the terrible things this administration is doing will be a blight on the history of our country, stop being on the wrong side of history for NC while you can!
10/17/25 11:51 AM	Chelsea Parker		You represent North Carolina, why are we spending time pandering to Trumps agenda? We can,Äôt even get money for WNC from the federal government. Get your priorities straight, gerrymandering for a president that doesn,Äôt care about this state is not the way.

10/17/25 11:51 AM	Clarence Sell	Retired	I know that from time to time with changing populations in different areas of the state that redistricting may become necessary. However, gerrymandering is NEVER required or necessary. You know our state is a purple state that is roughly evenly divided. Our elected representatives should come close to reflecting that 50-50 division. Everyone knows our current representation is heavily represented by the current majority party because of the already computer aided gerrymandered districts. If fairness does not rule the current majority party, I can promise you it will soon not be the majority party. Saying well it was done in the past by the other party (before more data & computer aided gerrymandering) will soon be a very weak excuse. In the interest of fairness & democracy you should certainly not attempt to redraw districts to squeeze more unfairness out of an already unfair system. If you do, you are only providing more reason for your majority to be overturned.
10/17/25 11:51 AM	Wendy Dierk		Voters are supposed to elect their representatives, not the other way around. This is so wrong! For anyone who votes for this, your day will come when are held accountable.
10/17/25 11:52 AM	Mr. Craig Retzlaff		You should be absolutely ashamed. This is not what our founding fathers had in mind or all our soldiers fought for in our previous wars. This is closer to governments we fight against than what our country stands for. This is a despicable abuse of power.
10/17/25 11:52 AM	Mr. James Ramsay		These Republican drawn maps shout the quiet part out loud: They WANT to do an authoritarian,Äôs bidding and in the process not give a damn about anyone who doesn,Äôt support his egregious policies. These maps are heinous. Republicans should be ashamed.
10/17/25 11:52 AM	Joanne Haigler		Instead of redistributing and cheating how about supporting policies that help NC
10/17/25 11:52 AM	Disgusting Tyler Crabb		It,Äôs disgusting that you continue to serve Trump instead of your constituents. This gerrymandering needs to end across the board. The US is becoming a facist oligarchy and you are aiding in it. Talking to you NC republicans!
10/17/25 11:53 AM	Ms Katherine Noel		I am opposed to this redistributing plan. You are taking actions against voters wishes. You should be ashamed.
10/17/25 11:54 AM	Kaitlin Jones		I am against redistricting. You NC republicans wouldn't have to slant the maps in your favour if you were working for the people--listening to us and doing the things that benefit the people who elected you into office. Just sayin.
10/17/25 11:54 AM	Gerrymandering is wrong Melissa Harrison		Gerrymandering by any party is wrong. Our districts should be drawn after a census gusibg computers to create population based, non partisan districts. Creating them just to win an election is cowardly corruption. I,Äôm so disappointed in the severe lack of ethics and morality shown by the GOP.
10/17/25 11:54 AM	Ms Rhiann Wynn		It is absolutely disgusting that once again the NC GA Republicans are attempting to gerrymander the already unfair voting map to eliminate their competition. It is so clearly a ploy to get by cheating what they can't win with policy, in addition to being an effort to please the wannabe-dictator in the White House. If their policies were worth a plug nickel, they wouldn't object to a fair map. But rather than negotiate a budget and craft policies that help the working North Carolinians, retirees, and vulnerable populations, they cook up a plot to steal votes. This is tantamount to taxation without representation and we all know where that led. The whole world is watching and NC Republicans are making me ashamed to call NC home.
10/17/25 11:54 AM	PAIGE HACHET JACOB	Red, Wine and Blue	Gerrymandering is wrong ,Äî no matter which party does it. It,Äôs a way of cheating voters, plain and simple. Many of you claim to be Christians, yet you draw maps that lie about who we are as a state. If lying and cheating are against your own moral code, why build your political power on exactly that? Many members of this legislature speak openly about faith and values. But values mean very little if they aren,Äôt reflected in your actions. Cheating voters through district lines is not moral leadership ,Äî it,Äôs self-interest at the expense of democracy. Do better. Draw fair maps. North Carolinians deserve honesty and representation, not manipulation.
10/17/25 11:54 AM	Amanda Jones	NC resident	As a lifetime resident of NC, I vehemently DISAGREE with your attempt to redistrict the state of North Carolina. I vote NO for redistricting, and you should as well.
10/17/25 11:55 AM	NCGOP is Anti-Democratic Philip Williams		This is a shameful, partisan trick by the GOP to try and steal more power away from Democrats, all while disenfranchising thousands of voters in this state. It's shameful and antithetical to the ideals of pluralistic, representative government. We will NOT forget this.
10/17/25 11:55 AM	Zack Fowler		I do not support this heavily gerrymandered map. I would not support a map like this with any political party because it is a blatant power grab.
10/17/25 11:55 AM	Gerrymandering North Caro Jonathan Hinton		Where is our democracy? Looks like our state leaders are scared and will cheat to hang on to power, not develop responsible policies but cheat. Gerrymandering for one more Republican is irresponsible and child like. If you are doing everything wrong because Democrats did it, than stand up and show us the correct way of governing. Thank you

10/17/25 11:56 AM	Adrian Morgan	Redistricting 5 times in 6 years is not only extremely suspect, it is un-American. North Carolina is a purple state; we are 50/50, but trying to be shoehorned into a 79% red map by people who will do anything to keep from losing. Virginia Fox's numbers were steadily going down until the maps were re-drawn a few years ago. Phil Berger said the quiet part out loud "We are doing everything we can to protect president trumps agenda, which means safeguarding republican control of congress". Voters choose their representatives. Politicians don't choose their voters.
10/17/25 11:56 AM	Pissed Off Hope Lanier	Your trying to redistrict the state so that orange cheeto felon can stay in power? Fuck that. Fuck yall. Fuck this entire state. Republicans ruin everything they touch.
10/17/25 11:56 AM	Brooke Farrell	As a resident of Buncombe County, I am not in favor of the proposal to redraw North Carolina,Äôs congressional districts. Please vote NO to this proposal.
10/17/25 11:56 AM	Carly Fortune	This redistricting is undemocratic and does not represent the will of the people. This is a shameless power grab by republicans. The state representatives could better spend their time by passing a budget, of which they are already MONTHS past due. I do not support this initiative to further gerrymander this state.
10/17/25 11:56 AM	Martha Delaney	As a citizen of North Carolina it is shameful that our representatives believe only Republican votes should count within our state lines. To no longer have a voice is unconstitutional and if you proceed further with gerrymandering, you are not living up to the values of this great country. Please do better, don't gerrymander further and please ensure that every North Carolina voice and vote matters.
10/17/25 11:56 AM	Lashayna Jackson	Serious question: why are you trying to cheat? Because you don't need to cheat when you are doing the right thing and your ethics are right and you are right with the universe. And if you need to redistrict and cheat that means you are not acting right and if you are not acting right you should not be in office.
10/17/25 11:57 AM	Ms Donna Lovick	Five times in 6 years. When is enough, enough. I am tired of NC being the petri dish in the nation for GOP projects. And with the recent announcements of Senate Leader courting an endorsement from the president and a recent domain registered for KevinBerger4Congress, this all sounds a tad quid pro quo to me. I am not a lawyer but I recognize deceit when I see it. We don't need new maps again, NC has already been surgically excised to hemorrhage RED in almost every district. The NCGOP has no time for budgets, healthcare, farmers but they will make time for gerryrigging again Shame on you. Enough is enough.
10/17/25 11:58 AM	No new maps Mia Burroughs	There is no reason to change the NC Congressional district maps now except utter disregard for voters and their opportunity to pick their own representation. Have y,Äôall completely lost respect for our shared love of democracy? Sure it can be messy but it,Äôs by far the best form of government. Just because you can grab more power doesn,Äôt mean you should do it. I,Äôm a descendant of signers of the Declaration and the Constitution. They knew that leaders needed checks and balances to govern fairly. Y,Äôall are demonstrating what happens when those checks are disrespected. Please do not redistrict now.
10/17/25 11:58 AM	Kay Horst	Here is the answer to your question: would you allow redistricting if the other party was asking for it? If the answer is no, then you know it is not the right thing to do.
10/17/25 11:59 AM	Garth Smith	This is an unacceptable power grab on the behest of President Trump. The NC districts are already gerrymandered to the nth degree. President Trump will be out of power soon. Your actions now will have politcal repercussions sooner than you think.
10/17/25 11:59 AM	Ms. Sareet Taylor	This is disgusting. It's pretty clear by our state wide elected officials that we are a purple state. What right do you have to choose your voters? We are supposed to be choosing our representatives, not the other way around. This state is already heavily gerrymandered. Could you make your attempts at cheating any more obvious? And all because trump told you to do it? He's terrified about the mid terms and wants you to rig it in his favor. That's not how representative government is supposed to work. History will not be kind to you if you do this.
10/17/25 11:59 AM	Mrs Linda Scholz	I urge you to refrain from changing voting districts without having public hearings on the issue. To do so right before elections would compromise the election process and suggests a blatant attempt to disenfranchise some voters. I call upon each of you to maintain the integrity of our elections and the foundations of our democracy by rejecting the lastest redistricting bill.
10/17/25 11:59 AM	Elaine Guice	Leave our voting districts alone! The push to gerrymander in North Carolina is unacceptable. This is just a move to kiss Trump's ass and consolidate power, ignoring the rights of the people. We deserve fair representation, not manipulation! You damn spineless cowards!!
10/17/25 12:00 PM	Mr. Marv Mininger	Dear repulsive and repugnant Republican "representatives" in Raleigh, Why are you fixated on redrawing congressional district maps only to protect a 34-time felon and pedophile? Would your time not be better spent focusing on your actual jobs of passing an actual state budget? You are focusing on the wrong priority, to say the least. Also, such a redraw will no doubt be found to be unconstitutional if not downright illegal. For once, do your actual jobs. You are disgusting. Sincerely, A concerned NC voter

10/17/25 12:00 PM	Lisa Lyons		Redistricting is just another step to interfere with free and fair elections and i won't stand for it! We the people in North Carolina will not sit down and be quiet and watch you steal out deomcracy!
10/17/25 12:01 PM	Kyle Lanasa		This is NOT A PRIORITY for the CITIZENS of NORTH CAROLINA. Fund our schools Fund our first responders.
10/17/25 12:01 PM	Michael Abshire		This is Taxation without Representation. You take my taxes and then take my voting power. Revolutions were started over less. The core American phrase embodies the idea that it is unjust to be subjected to taxes if you have no say in the government that levies them. Gerrymandering takes my say away from my government. This is Taxation without Representation.
10/17/25 12:01 PM	Dr. Adam Rosenfeld		The proposed map for this redistricting is brazenly undemocratic. It has been made with the clear intent of maximizing beneficial results to one political party. Regardless of intent, it has the material consequence of discounting the impact of the votes of millions of North Carolina citizens for no other reason than where they happen to live. This is an arbitrary reason for some to have a greater share of liberty than others. It is unjust, and I fear it's authors know full well of its injustice and simply don't care.
10/17/25 12:01 PM	Elizabeth Allyn		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps appear to reflect blatant partisan gerrymandering that undermines the principle of fair and equal representation. Rather than creating districts that reflect the political and demographic realities of our state, these maps are drawn in a way that entrenches political power and silences the voices of many communities,ÃîparticularIy urban residents, young people, and communities of color. While some may argue that similar tactics have been used in the past or are happening in other states, that does not make it acceptable,ÃînOr does it justify repeating those mistakes. North Carolina should strive to be a model for fair, transparent, and democratic governance. We have the opportunity to set a higher standard, not perpetuate a race to the bottom. Allowing this kind of redistricting to stand only deepens public mistrust in our democratic institutions and further alienates voters from the political process. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. I urge decision-makers to reject these maps and commit to a redistricting process that is nonpartisan, transparent, and accountable to the people of North Carolina,Äînot to political interests.
10/17/25 12:01 PM	Callalily Schnider-Hood		I am firmly against the proposed redistricting plan. North Carolina's congressional districts have been redrawn multiple times already, most recently in 2023 - barely 2 years ago, if that. This redraw is a blatant attempt to silence and oppress the citizens of North Carolina. Senate Leader Phil Berger is already on record stating that this redraw is being proposed to protect the current presidential administration and their agenda - an agenda that is not only wildly unpopular, but an active threat to democracy. If the North Carolina GOP cannot win their seats with the already heavily gerrymandered map currently in use, then perhaps they should begin to question why they (and their platforms) are so unpopular to constituents to begin with.
10/17/25 12:01 PM	Susan Jones		The ‚Äúnew‚Äù redistricting map is AWFUL! Why is this necessary?! Shame on all of you who voted for this!
10/17/25 12:01 PM	Gary Kenton		This is an abomination, as Mr. Berger well knows. Democracy is dead in North Carolina.
10/17/25 12:01 PM	Kristin Arnold		I do not consent to redistricting. As a native resident of NC I am ASHAMED that this is even being considered. If you are worried about losing your seat, then you should consider changing your ways. Criticism is feedback, you are supposed to be representing the people of this state not some GOP backed dream of all dominate power. If you do not want a revolution to start don't give us a reason, we will kick you out don't forget who backs your paychecks.
10/17/25 12:02 PM	Carolina Resident	United States of America	I probably would not if I were y'all, history will not be kind to those who betray their oaths. You are all public servants and the people you serve are suffering and all you can think about is how to suck the cheeto of dictator loving, Nazi wannabe pedophile. You are all doomed for reelection and all you can do is cheat...perhaps maybe give the people a reason for you to stay or get the hell out of the way for those that can uphold an oath.
10/17/25 12:02 PM	Mrs. Erin Evans		The fact that North Carolina Republicans constantly redraw maps to favor the Republican party is antithetical to democracy. Voters pick their representatives. Full stop. This is just more of the same maneuvering by Trump sycophants who care more about a pat on the head from the president than a single North Carolina citizen. How about the NC GOP passes a clean budget that helps the people of North Carolina before they redraw the maps again. How about the NC GOP focuses on rebuilding Western NC before they redraw the maps again. How about the NC GOP stops trying the cheat because they can't win free and fair elections. The only new maps North Carolina needs are ones that accurately represent the will of the people, NOT maps specifically tailored to favor a failing political party. Do not do this.
10/17/25 12:02 PM	Alyssa Gross		This map is insane. I didn‚Äôt think NC could get more gerrymandered but I guess it was naive to assume that the GOP party has even a shred of integrity left. Can you all be actual human beings for even a minute? Jesus.
10/17/25 12:03 PM	Woodrow Walker		Do not redraw maps! You are taking away the power of voters to pick their desired representatives.

10/17/25 12:03 PM	James Langly	Please stop gerrymandering! Make it illegal! There is absolutely no reason either side can redraw the map to their advantage anytime they feel like it. Make an even distribution map and lock it in as law. THIS is how we have free and fair elections. By letting the people decide who to vote for. Not the politicians voting for their own parties to keep their hold on the left or right. It,Äôs wrong.
10/17/25 12:03 PM	Ms Eileen McMinn	Please do not proceed with any redistricting at this time. This totally plays into the current polarization and claims that Republicans want to do anything to stay in control. Will just make things worse.
10/17/25 12:04 PM	Mr. Zachary Collins	Dear Members of North Carolina Senate, As a North Carolina voter, I am deeply concerned about the direction our redistricting process has taken. Recent actions by Republican lawmakers have undermined confidence in our democracy and the principle of fair representation. Gerrymandered maps whether drawn by Republicans or Democrats,Äîerode public trust and silence the voices of countless citizens across our state. We want fair balance maps not gerrymandered maps. We want fairness for republicans, democrats, libertarians, and etc. Some may point to other states as justification for partisan maps, but wrongs elsewhere do not make it right here. North Carolina can and should lead by honoring fairness, balance, and transparency in the redistricting process. We want to set a great example for the nation that we honor fairness, balance, and must importantly democracy. As a Democrat I would implore both Republicans & Democrats in the NC Senate to create maps that are fair and reject these partisan maps that Trump has pushed on North Carolinians. Sincerely, A North Carolina Voter
10/17/25 12:04 PM	New map before a budget? Eleanor Mrozkowski	I believe the General Assembly is making a major mistake by pursuing a third round of redistricting this decade while North Carolinians anxiously wait for the budget. States are supposed to redistrict once every decade, but for every election in this decade we have had a different map, and the General Assembly wishes to continue on that path of politicians choosing voters, not voters choosing politicians. Our state is required to pass a new budget every two years by contrast, and we are dramatically behind on our 2025-2026 budget. I demand that the discussion of redistricting be tabled and the NCGA begins the actual work of writing the budget that North Carolinians are waiting for.
10/17/25 12:04 PM	April Duritza	I am absolutely opposed to this plan. Please draw districts that allow everyone,Äôs vote to count, instead of creating maps that overturn the will of the people of our state. Our maps should encourage political competition and responsiveness to the will of the voters, not subvert democratic principles to lock in a political monopoly and render half of the state,Äôs voters powerless.
10/17/25 12:04 PM	Michael Foster	Lose with dignity. Cheating us now wont save you from jail when Trumps gone.
10/17/25 12:05 PM	1LT Ashley Reid	The republican party is attempting to gerrymander our state. Again. This is un-american, plain and simple. We have become a fascist country and the current administration thinks citizens should be afraid to speak out against it. Well we are not. The proposed redistricting is an absolute insult and our elected represenatives need to do the job they were voted to do. Fairly represent the peoples will, or you will be forcefully removed. Our constitution has not been torn up yet
10/17/25 12:05 PM	Tanner Lames	Gerrymandering is not a good practice. Please make it illegal and stop this one form happening. The GOP should not be allowed to redraw the voting map whenever they feel like it to suit them. This goes for Democrats also. No one should be allowed to change it. Maybe do like a once every 10 years review the map thing, but not constantly. It benefits no one doing this back and forth and just hurts the voters in that area of who they are voting for that year.
10/17/25 12:05 PM	Tiffany Smith	I am writing hoping this email does not fall on deaf ears. I am concern about the lack of public transparency. This seems like it was done in a back-office deal and forced upon us in District 1. There should have been a public comments period and voting on the plan by the people or at least the representatives whose counties will be impacted. I understand a simple majority vote is what is required, but this disproportionately dilutes black voters, and the timing of this redistricting plan seems suspect. We had one of the last competitive voting districts and now this has been seemingly strategically and systematically dismantled. More openness in government and transparency is my request.
10/17/25 12:05 PM	Noah Tamson	I'm quite appalled by this, once again, power-grab redistricting effort by the General Assembly to further restrict voters' influence over who represents them in the US House of Representatives. Congressional Map CST-4, the current one, is already one of the most unfair and unconstitutional maps for the House in any state this decade. Rather than implementing a nonpartisan redistricting process, the General Assembly continues to decide who represents me, not the other way around. My vote for a US Representative should not be unrealistically "wasted" as it has for generations that came before me, even under Democratic control of the redistricting process prior to 2011. This redistricting effort is being done, by Speaker Hall and Senator Berger's own admission, solely to benefit the President and national Republicans into the midterms. Mid-decade redistricting will have been done twice now here to consolidate the power of one political party. I'm honestly quite sick of it, my voice and my vote clearly does not matter to the Republican majority now as it didn't to the former Democratic majority for decades. Gerrymandering in North Carolina is only getting worse and worse. I'd like to thank the Chairs and the Redistricting Committees of the House and Senate for hearing my input but I am not a happy camper nor a happy voter.
10/17/25 12:05 PM	Ms Joni Carter	By redistricting you are trying to steal an election and disenfranchise your constituents. Shameful display in order to please Trump who is doing everything he can to destroy democracy in our country.

10/17/25 12:05 PM	Shameless Timothy McGuire		This is a shameless attempt at a power grab at the behest of the current president. These new maps do not reflect the will of the people of North Carolina
10/17/25 12:06 PM	Lifelong North Carolinian Benjamin Vernon	N/A	As a registered unaffiliated voter and native North Carolinian, I strongly oppose the proposed mid-decade congressional redistricting plan. North Carolina has a long history of unconstitutional gerrymandering, and this proposal mirrors those same patterns,Äîprioritizing partisan advantage over fair representation. This map raises serious legal concerns under the Equal Protection Clause and the Voting Rights Act. It dilutes minority voting strength, weakens competitive districts, and undermines the growing number of unaffiliated voters who expect elections to be fair, not engineered. As someone born and raised here, I care deeply about the integrity of our democratic process. Redrawing maps mid-cycle without demographic justification erodes public trust, deepens polarization, and signals that political power,Äînot voters,Äîis driving outcomes. I urge the General Assembly to reject this proposal and recommit to transparent, non-partisan redistricting. North Carolina deserves fair maps,Äînot partisan entrenchment. Respectfully, Registered Unaffiliated Voter Charlotte, North Carolina
10/17/25 12:06 PM	Grace C		Hello, This plan is vile and does not at all represent the constituents of North Carolina. If these republican policies are so popular, why would we need to redistrict the entire state? That doesn,Äôt make any sense. These plans are entirely un-American and unconstitutional and go entirely against democracy and what American citizens have fought tirelessly for since the inception of the country. You can,Äôt ignore what your constituents believe in forever, you must listen to their feedback. Voter suppression is disgusting and goes against our protected rights in America. Again, unconstitutional and unamerican to silence voters simply because you do not agree with them. I would be absolutely horrified to see this pass and extremely disappointed that our representatives have suppressed the North Carolina people. No taxation without PROPER representation!
10/17/25 12:06 PM	Ashley Wakowski		Why is this possible???? Why can we just redraw the map when we feel like it??? PLEASE stop redistricting!!!!!
10/17/25 12:06 PM	Sane American	Sane Americans for Democracy	What about the proposed redistricted map seems fair or appropriate to you? Let,Äôs grow up and try to get equal representation like a real grownup democracy should have. I will campaign heavily against anyone who votes in favor of this hyper-partisan gerrymandered map.
10/17/25 12:06 PM	Ali Bernard		You know most North Carolinians despise gerrymandering, right??? I,Äôve seen the polls. Why do you think it,Äôs to do this?? Why do you think it,Äôs okay to steal from us???
10/17/25 12:06 PM	Mr. Adan Orellana		I believe it,Äôs not a good idea as we just redistricted a few ago. I think it will cause a lot of confusion.
10/17/25 12:07 PM	Hannah Chang		AGAIN???? Why is it legal to do this?!?!
10/17/25 12:07 PM	Tony Owens		These redistricting plans are a blatant attempt to steal an election!
10/17/25 12:07 PM	Gene Granstaff	NC citizen	This new redistricting plan is obviously yet another attempt to select your voters and further dilute non-Republican voices. In a state where the electorate is approximately 50/50, republicans have managed to steal BOTH senate seats and some 2/3 or more of the representative seats in DC. You call yourselves ,Äúconservative,Äù. When did cheating and voter suppression become conservative or Christian or American values?
10/17/25 12:07 PM	Redrawing Maps Jamie Simpson		The Maps in NC do not need to be redrawn in order for Trump to get what he wants. NC does not need to be a part of the problem or contribute to the decimation of our constitution and further ruining of the United States. It is way past time for EVERYONE: Republicans and Democrats to come together and work FOR their constituents. It is clear from all of the protests in the US including NC that the majority of us are not ok with this. Do the right thing!

10/17/25 12:07 PM	Karen Puckett	Various	Dear NC legislature, As a person of faith, I ask that there NOT be a mid-term redistricting action. I am joining others across the state in expressing my view that this move to employ mid-term gerrymandering does not come from the majority of the people in NC. Constituents would prefer to see the legislature working to create a budget and legislation that helps the people of NC. Even California is letting its citizens vote on their initiative. NC needs to set an example. Thank you, Karen Puckett
10/17/25 12:09 PM	Zan Liccione		The redistricting plan is biased in favor of Republican party outcomes and is clearly an act of voting gerrymandering. It should not happen.
10/17/25 12:10 PM	Joyce Wolford		Instead of further rigging NC elections, do your job and pass a budget. You work for all of NC, not just republicans, and certainly not for Donald Trump.
10/17/25 12:10 PM	Mrs Keely Armour		No. No more gerrymandering in NC!! Absolutely not!!
10/17/25 12:10 PM	Taryn Madey		The people of NC reject partisan mapmaking and support neutral, citizen-driven redistricting. We need nonpartisan reform and for redistricting to be removed from closed partisan control. We call on state legislators to abandon these maneuvers and instead adopt a fair, transparent redistricting process with full public hearings across the state.
10/17/25 12:10 PM	Andrea Botelho		87% of people in the United States think that gerrymandering is wrong, no matter which party does it. If you have to cheat to win, then you don't deserve the position. Stop capitulating to this horrible administration - you were elected BY THE PEOPLE to REPRESENT THE PEOPLE. History does not forget - let your legacy do better.
10/17/25 12:10 PM	June Smith		Redistricting is just a way to silence North Carolina voters! In a democracy, all people get a voice and a vote! I implore you to reject this anti-democratic nonsense!
10/17/25 12:11 PM	Mr. Gene Granstaff	Citizen of NC	This new redistricting plan is obviously yet another attempt to select your voters and further dilute non-Republican voices. In a state where the electorate is approximately 50/50, republicans have managed to steal BOTH senate seats and some 2/3 or more of the representative seats in DC. You call yourselves ‚Äúconservative‚Äù. When did cheating and voter suppression become conservative or Christian or American values?
10/17/25 12:12 PM	David and Sylvia Greeson		NO. This is a blatant attempt to make the current gerrymandering of our state even worse. It makes the GOP look weak. You are clearly stating that you can't win unless you stack the deck!! Shame on you!!!
10/17/25 12:12 PM	Angelle Booc		I write as a citizen deeply concerned about the proposed redistricting plan and the clear attempt to gerrymander legislative maps in order to secure an additional Republican Congressional seat. I strongly oppose this plan, and I believe it undermines the integrity of our democracy for the following reasons: 1. It distorts the principle of ‚Äúone person, one vote‚Äù A fair redrawing of district lines should reflect population changes, not be manipulated to guarantee a predetermined electoral outcome. When legislators draw lines to fortify partisan advantage, they are effectively diluting the votes of citizens whose political views differ from theirs. 2. It risks disenfranchising minority and opposition voices Gerrymandering often works by ‚Äúpacking‚Äù or ‚Äúcracking‚Äù, concentrating voters of one party into a few districts or spreading them thin across many to render them ineffective. This can disproportionately harm minority communities or organized opposition groups, reducing their capacity to elect representatives. In North Carolina, critics have already raised legal challenges to maps that they argue dilute Black voting power. ? 3. It further erodes public trust in government When maps are drawn behind closed doors for overt political gain, citizens can reasonably conclude that the system is rigged. Democracy depends on the belief that elections are fair. Once people lose faith that their vote matters, participation and civic engagement suffer. 4. It undermines electoral competition and accountability One effect of extreme gerrymandering is to convert contested seats into safe seats, which means fewer competitive elections. When incumbents feel secure, they have less incentive to respond to constituents, listen to dissenting voices, or govern responsibly. Independent

10/17/25 12:12 PM	Ms Susan Poole		The State legislature represents the people of NC, not Trump's agenda. Since the state is,EQUALLY divided into Republicans and Democrats, the voting districts should reflect that, regardless of the president or in spite of the president. Why doesn't the State legislature promote what is best for our State instead of forcing Trumps agenda down the throats of the citizens of this state? Once again, its clear whoever decided that this is what the people of NC want is in fact in favor of an autocracy, is not considering our State's needs, and is not taking into consideration the will of the people. The current state legislature not only supports a vindictive, power hungry president who does not have our best interests at heart, who is the antithesis of Christian values, who kowtows to our enemies, and who is orchestrating the demise of our beloved democracy. Do you really want to disenfranchise half of the States population? By giving NC another Republican district, you will have made that choice.
10/17/25 12:12 PM	Dr Melanie Paff		I strongly disagree with any changes to a congressional districting map that favors one political party or another. This is gerrymandering and is unconstitutional.
10/17/25 12:13 PM	Alexander F	NC Resident	the 2025 congressional map redistricting nearly 80% of our purple swing state as a red state is a shameless, underhanded subversion of our states democracy and constitution. Anyone that accepts this is not a man of virtue or a patriot, but instead a snake usurping our nation's values. The citizens of North Carolina deserve a map that accurately represents the feeling of our population and not a puppet representing a wanna be dictatorship that fails to uphold the core values of America's founding
10/17/25 12:13 PM	C Keels		The GOP should be ashamed of themselves. If the only why to win is cheat....what does that say about them? What are they teaching future generations? SMH.
10/17/25 12:13 PM	Mrs. Angela Robinson		North Carolina lawmakers are making bold and politically motivated steps to propose mid-cycle redistricting. They are doing this at the request of the Trump administration with a goal of securing a partisan advantage ahead of the 2026 elections. This move is not about representation. It's about wielding power. Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Äìlt silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Äìlt destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Äìlt weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 12:13 PM	Ellem Ivers		Redistricting should only happen in scheduled years and not at the request of the president. Districts should be fair and drawn by an independent commission. Allowing one party to draw districts is not democratic and disenfranchises the voters of our state.
10/17/25 12:13 PM	Kristen Poulson		To the North Carolina Congress (which is dominated by sleazy Republicans): We voters see what you're doing and we know that you are trying to cheat. And believe me, we will remember this during the next election and we will VOTE YOU ASSHOLES OUT!

10/17/25 12:13 PM	Heather Lewis		I am writing to express my deep concern and outrage over the latest attempt by the North Carolina GOP-controlled legislature to redraw congressional and legislative districts yet again,Äîmid-decade,Äîto strip fair representation from voters. As a veteran and an independent registered voter, I value the democratic principles our nation and our state were founded upon. This blatant partisan gerrymandering undermines those principles. Swinging a solid-10 GOP advantage to 11-3: The 2023 redistricting effort already produced a map that favored Republicans, resulting in a 10,Äì4 advantage in U.S. House seats,Äîdespite a relatively even partisan split statewide. Under the Bren¬≠nan Center,Äôs analysis, the new GOP-crafted map could yield 11 safe Republican seats and only 3 for Democrats, making it one of the most extreme gerrymanders in the country. [brennancenter.org], [rollcall.com] Targeting a pivotal swing district: Republicans are specifically redrawing the new 1st Congressional District,Äîcurrently held by Democrat Don Davis, who won by under 2 points in 2024,Äîto make it more conservative-leaning. This maneuver alone could flip a crucial seat and further skew state-wide representation. [msn.com], [rollcall.com] The courtship of racial bias concerns: Federal lawsuits allege the plan dilutes Black voters,Äô influence,Äîan allegation now before courts. Testimonies indicate that the 2023 map split Black communities and undermined minority representation, possibly violating Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act. [usnews.com] North Carolinians Strongly Disapprove! Recent polling by Common Cause showed that 84% of NC voters,Äîacross party lines,Äîoppose partisan gerrymandering, with 78% of Republicans, 87% of Democrats, and 85% of unaffiliated voters united in rejecting it. Even more, 70% support an independent redistricting commission over legislative control. [commoncause.org] Court reversals and state constitutional violations: When partisan control shifted, the North Carolina Supreme Court reversed course on judicial involvement,Äîtacitly allowing legislators to implement deliberately biased maps. The resulting congressional map ranks as one of the country,Äôs most extreme. [brennancenter.org]
10/17/25 12:14 PM	Do Not Redraw Map Lines Kelly Moncavage	None	I am an unaffiliated voter and resident of Alamance County. I am completely opposed to any redistricting of the political map of NC. Gerrymandering, by any political party, only serves to undermine democracy & does not honestly represent the people being represented by elected officials. North Carolinians should be able to CHOOSE the candidate that BEST REPRESENTS the voice & needs of the people of our state and not be subjugated by the views and inclinations of any one specific political party
10/17/25 12:14 PM	No More Gerrymandering! Elizabeth Farrington	Taxpayer and North Carolinian	We already have one of the most gerrymandered states in the USA. The extreme the power grab is a point of embarrassment when you see how blatantly the districts have been drawn in order to sway elections to the GOP. The GOP knows their policies are deeply unpopular, so they are cheating to remain in power. It will not stand. Shame on all of you who contribute to voter suppression.
10/17/25 12:14 PM	Laura Nix		I,Äôm a resident who is extremely concerned about this redistricting. The effort of the Republican party to gain yet another seat via blatant gerrymandering is inexcusable and diminishes the will of the people of North Carolina. In a state whose voter ideologies are diverse, there should be a reflection of that in the makeup of our government officials. The voters choose the representatives, not the other way around. There is no valid reason for denying citizens a fair process for choosing their representatives. The assertion that this is only in response to Democratic maps is patently false and cherry-picks information to suit the party,Äôs purposes. It is well-established fact that the escalations are caused by the initial decision of Texas to steal seats at Trump,Äôs request. ¬† I ask of our assembly to put the people you represent above party politics and do the job you were all elected to do ,Äì serve the will of the people in your districts and the state at large. There is no compatibility of this gerrymandering effort with that duty. Do not support this redistricting.
10/17/25 12:15 PM	Michael Runy		Redistricting should not be done on a partisan basis. Trying to steal more seats by creating ridiculous districts is asinine and anyone who does so should be held to account and removed from office.
10/17/25 12:15 PM	Bren Mcaneny		This map seems blatantly unfair. Why not appoint a non-partisan commission to draw the map and give every voter in NC equal say in who represents them in Congress?
10/17/25 12:15 PM	Abraham Post		A core tenet of democracy is that the people's ideals and concerns are represented in their government. It is clear that this map has no intention of accurately representing the will of the people. To remove people's ability to participate in politics is despicable, and whoever votes in favor of this should be ashamed of their willingness to abandon the democratic principles that so many Americans have fought and died for.
10/17/25 12:15 PM	Jacob Nelson		No, I don't like this. The maps should reflect real voters, not your lies and your illegal bs.

10/17/25 12:16 PM	Ms Judy Lotas	LWV dare county	Outrageous, the unconscionable grouping of umpteen counties in CD 1. As it stands we harden ever get contact with our Republican representative. Putting this great swath of NC under one national rep will change it to zero. R,Äôs are totally stealing my voice.
10/17/25 12:16 PM	Dr. Kathryn Adams		Another gerrymandered district silences the voices of NC citizens who deserve to be heard. Please vote against this corrupt effort.
10/17/25 12:16 PM	Courtney Ptak		It is absolutely despicable, immoral, and unethical for ANY party to redraw maps in order to rig elections to keep themselves in power! If one cannot win based on their position on issues then they do NOT deserve to be in office! You can't cherry-pick what type of justice you're willing to follow-and gerrymandering is CHEATING PLUS STEALING proper representation from the people of North Carolina!!!
10/17/25 12:16 PM	Janet Rhodes		I strongly object to redistricting here in North Carolina and anywhere in our country!! It's an attempt to undermine our democracy!
10/17/25 12:17 PM	Mrs Rachael Morris		This is unacceptable. North Carolinians deserve the right to fair representation . We should not redraw congressional maps!
10/17/25 12:17 PM	Mrs. Jennifer Payne		If you have confidence you can win on merit you wouldn,Âôt need to gerrymander our state. This is cheating. A text book example of rigging to win because your policies are so unpopular. You can,Âôt even give our state a budget but you can do this? It,Äôs shameful which is an emotion you have no connection to.
10/17/25 12:17 PM	Lorraine Johnson		I am appalled at this early drawing of the maps. I would say this regardless of which party is responsible for it, One reason to follow the 10 year rule is so that one party--Democratic or Republican--can't cherry pick the year that redistricting is done in order to increase that party's hold on power. This is a blatant power grab. You should be ashamed of yourselves.
10/17/25 12:18 PM	anny playdon		shame on these people who are trying to steal seats by redrawing our map!! it should be unlawful. i am disgusted and in high hopes this backfires!
10/17/25 12:18 PM	Nicole Haynes		I vehemently oppose the proposed congressional redistricting plan. It is unconstitutional.
10/17/25 12:18 PM	Madison Bui		The current maps do not need to be redrawn as it will inherently negatively affect those within our state. It is your responsibility to act with the best judgment of and with consideration of the citizens you represent. Redrawing our maps does not fall in line with what North Carolinians are asking for.
10/17/25 12:18 PM	Kristin Roberts		This is blatant partisanship and not the will of the people. NO REDISTRICTING!
10/17/25 12:18 PM	Jonathan Winger		Why does the NCGOP even pretend to care about our comments? In a state with a near 50-50 split, we already suffer from such ridiculous gerrymandering that any opposition to the trump party line is already suppressed. This is just another power play toward diminishing any actual democratic representation and further enabling the anti-democratic measures of an authoritarian regime. Our votes are becoming as irrelevant as our opinions and concerns.
10/17/25 12:18 PM	Sheila Rouse		"NC Congress tried to lie, cheat, and steal elections, and I said, no, no, no." (sung to Amy Winehouse's tune Rehab). Even not singing, I say no, no, no to redistricting!
10/17/25 12:19 PM	Shelden Goodwin		I do not think that there should be redistricting now and should wait till after the next census. It's confusing for people to have their district changed
10/17/25 12:19 PM	Allison McKenzie		This is an atrocious act by cowards. Stop wasting our tax dollars and stop gerrymandering NC.
10/17/25 12:20 PM	H M		Do not do this. You are knowingly and willingly disenfranchising voters by unjustly rigging the voting system. Every American deserves to have their voice heard and vote count.
10/17/25 12:20 PM	Kirsten Arnold		I am deeply concerned and strongly opposed to this proposal to further gerrymander the NC maps to give the sitting President an additional seat in the House. It doesn't matter what President asks for this or what political party they affiliate with, the State govt exists to represent the people who live in this state. It does not exit for the sole purpose of rolling over to Presidential requests. If the State Govt has a desire to redistrict it's maps, bring it to vote for the residents of NC to decide.
10/17/25 12:20 PM	Kelly Whitley		You announced that you will be following "President Trump's call" to redistrict... I want to remind you of the North Carolina constitution: The Senators shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly, at the first regular session convening after the return of every decennial census of population taken by order of Congress, shall revise the senate districts and the apportionment of Senators among those districts, subject to the following requirements: (1) Each Senator shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants that each Senator represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district that he represents by the number of Senators apportioned to that district; (2) Each senate district shall at all times consist of contiguous territory; (3) No county shall be divided in the formation of a senate district; (4) When established, the senate districts and the apportionment of Senators shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial census of population taken by order of Congress. At the rate you're going, NC is going to be redistricted every other year. You do not work for Trump, you work for us, the voters. NC voters should be able to freely choose our representation. You should not be choosing your voters. If you want to stay in control, do the work to earn the right to stay, stop rigging the vote to keep something you haven't earned. Redrawing the maps on a political whim is unconstitutional and unethical. Please do right by North Carolinians. Please care more about us than you do about pleasing a president who will not be in power in 3 years. We deserve better than this.
10/17/25 12:20 PM	Mrs Joanne Brewer		This will make everything unfair and not equal. Everyone has a right to be heard and by changing this u are jeopardizing democracy. Don't do it!

10/17/25 12:20 PM	Ms. Barbara Gregg	I am opposed to a new redistricting map in mid-cycle. It weakens democracy, breaks tradition, and is a power grab in an election year. Support democracy and reject a new map. Sincerely, Barbara Gregg
10/17/25 12:21 PM	Anna Johnson	This redistricting is an attempt to skew elections in your favor and at the expense of the wishes of the north carolina people. Stop it! Stop it right now!
10/17/25 12:21 PM	Brian Gordon	Love it. Redistrict. Democrats gerrymandered thr whole country already and now they want to cry when Republicans want to make elections fair again.
10/17/25 12:21 PM	Juan Bobadilla	Dear Members of the House Select Committee on Redistricting and the Senate Elections Committee, I am writing to express my opposition to the proposed Congressional redistricting map. I do not agree with this redistricting plan because it undermines fair representation and appears to be designed to favor certain political interests rather than reflect the true distribution and diversity of North Carolina,Äôs population. Redistricting should ensure that every community has an equal voice and that districts are drawn transparently and fairly. This proposal instead risks diluting the voting power of several regions and communities that deserve equitable representation. Fair maps are fundamental to maintaining public trust in our democracy and to ensuring that all citizens,Äîregardless of party affiliation or background,Äîhave a meaningful say in choosing their representatives. I urge the committees to reconsider this plan and prioritize transparency, fairness, and public interest above partisan objectives. Thank you for the opportunity to share my comments. Respectfully, Juan F. Bobadilla
10/17/25 12:22 PM	J. Brown	I have been a lifelong Republican up to recently and am waiting for this party to return to its senses. I am adamantly opposed to this redistricting effort. The will of the voters needs to prevail without manipulation,Ä¶And our party needs to break from the toxic hold of Trump who has brought nothing but division and higher costs on everything since he took office. NC is a progressive state, rooted in strong values, and its citizens should be able to influence who is elected and which policies represents it. This will backfire. You must not proceed.
10/17/25 12:22 PM	Carol Gray-Adler	I am against the current proposed redistricting in NC. I am for FAIR maps. Legislatures should agreed to third party, unbiased maps that allow more competitive districts. The current hyper partisan environment is a result of decades of manipulation by both parties. Please do the right thing! Fair Maps Now!
10/17/25 12:22 PM	Redistricting Amy Popp	This plan is corrupt, dishonest, and just plain shameful. Redrawing voting district maps to gain or retain power for a specific party is akin to cheating. I don't care which party it is. If a candidate can't win on their own merits, perhaps the problem is that candidates are too focused on party politics instead of the good of the constituents. Therefore they need help to win, in the form of gerrymandered maps. The NCGA should be ashamed. It's clear they don't care about NC's citizens. They just care about winning.
10/17/25 12:23 PM	Gerrymandering Robert Patton	Using California as an excuse is not valid. They were moving back what republicans had already done. Our state is and should be purple. This is disgraceful.
10/17/25 12:24 PM	Clara Burrus	This is outrageous and completely unnecessary and wrong,Ä¶no voice deserves to be represented more than others and you,Äôre essentially taking away our voices. It,Äôs beyond crooked and deceitful. If you can,Äôt win by our votes alone you don,Äôt deserve to be in power, no matter what your party is.
10/17/25 12:24 PM	Niki Sutton	NC democrats better not allow the republicans to ,Äúredistrict,Äù the state. Let,Äôs call it what it is, gerrymandering! Absolutely no no noooo!!
10/17/25 12:25 PM	Jennifer Gerow	This is a blatant abuse of power. Stop bowing down to the felon president and do what is RIGHT for the people of North Carolina. Stop wasting OUR money on this nonsense, when people like me-I,Äôm a teacher-don,Äôt get raises and their health insurance almost triples. You will get voted out for the abhorrent way you are running this state into the ground.
10/17/25 12:25 PM	Mrs Rebecca Sims	I am against gerrymandered redistricting because it is not fair for the voters. Politicians are supposed to work for us. Republicans have done nothing for the middle class or young people. The cost of living and health insurance is outrageous, while Republicans favor their rich donors. The trump administration is implementing project 2025 and I don't want to live in an authoritarian country. I like democracy.

10/17/25 12:25 PM	Rebecca Coates	Gerrymandering, the deliberate drawing of electoral district lines to advantage one party over another, is a violation of several core moral principles. Even within Christian teaching, there‚Äôs a clear call for truth, justice, and respect for every person. Gerrymandering breaks those values by silencing people and twisting representation for power. When politicians redraw districts to ‚Äúlock in‚Äù their power, they warp the reality of representation, silence the voice of their neighbor, and favor their own ambitions over the common good. By manipulating electoral maps to entrench their party, NC GOP acts out of self-interest rather than service. That runs counter to the Christian ideal of servant leadership, which calls believers to lay down their preferences for the welfare of the whole. Proverbs warns against ‚Äúdishonest scales,,‚Äù and a gerrymandered map is precisely a dishonest scale in political form, favoring the powerful at the expense of fairness and equality. In North Carolina‚Äôs case, the abuse is clear and severe. After the 2020 Census, the Republican-led General Assembly drew extreme partisan maps that converted a more balanced 7-7 congressional split into one that can elect as many as 11 Republicans and only 3 Democrats, regardless of shifts in voter sentiment. They dismantled competitive districts, spread Democratic-leaning voters across multiple districts to dilute their influence, and packed others into already safe Democratic seats so Republicans could dominate in surrounding districts. The process was done behind closed doors, affording minimal public input, a blatant subversion of transparency and accountability. Such systemic entrenchment of power is not just bad politics; it is a moral breach. It treats citizens not as equals made in God‚Äôs image, but as chess pieces to be moved. To maintain its legitimacy, a Christian-aligned party, which the NC GOP claims to be, must refuse to gerrymander, and instead stand for fair representation, humility in governance, and respect for every voter‚Äôs voice. If appeals to faith and morality don‚Äôt move people, then simple fairness should. Gerrymandering hurts everyone, no matter which party does it. It twists elections so that outcomes are decided before anyone votes. It tells people their voices don‚Äôt matter, that their neighborhoods are just numbers to be sliced up on a map. That kind of politics drains hope from democracy. At this point, it‚Äôs hard not to see intent behind it. The North Carolina GOP‚Äôs maps aren‚Äôt just unfair, they look designed to disenfranchise. The lines are drawn in ways that break apart communities, weaken the political strength of young people and people of color, and make it nearly impossible for change to happen through normal elections. It‚Äôs not an accident; it‚Äôs a strategy that puts power over people and treats voters as obstacles instead of citizens.
10/17/25 12:25 PM	Cameron Panagrosso	The congressional district‚Äôs proposed are disgrace. It heavily benefits one party over another and tramples on the will of the people of North Carolina. If a party‚Äôs platform does not appeal to the majority of people, that party should not hold a majority of seats.
10/17/25 12:25 PM	Doug Llewellyn	This redrawing is neither necessary, nor wanted, except by the spineless toadies who are too afraid to not lick the boots of the Trump administration, to do what's right for the people of NC. Way to go, guys and gals, way to go!
10/17/25 12:25 PM	Mrs Melissa Goodman	NC is already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country to gerrymander it further it‚Äôs disgusting. Gerrymandering needs to be banned period. No more of it. Let the people‚Äôs voice be heard. Most Americans are against it. Please listen to the people.
10/17/25 12:25 PM	Allison Peterson	Shameful power grab. Completely un-democratic and un-American! The last redistricting was already unfair, and this is WORSE. We are a 50/50 state and this plan further silences voter voices. Republicans should be embarrassed by their blatant attempts to steal seats.
10/17/25 12:25 PM	Janice Holzworth	This redistricting is wrong! It robs citizens of their fair representation - the very representation that our forefathers fought for. Gerrymandering has gone on far too long and has gone way too far. Anyone that votes for this brings shame to themselves and to the great state of North Carolina.
10/17/25 12:26 PM	Elizabeth Conyers	Those of us in the Gaston/Mecklenburg area of the state notice when lines are redrawn to weaken the voting power of our most diverse communities.
10/17/25 12:26 PM	Meagan Wagoner	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 12:26 PM	Kristi Lauffenburger	I am vehemently opposed to the proposed redistricting maps. NC is a state made up of virtually half R and half D. You making it nearly impossible for anyone other than Rs to be represented in state legislature is not only illegal, but a prime example of your power grab. Rise above the will of the President and do what is actually RIGHT by every citizen. If you TRULY love America and how we are supposed to work, then you would want ALL voters to have a say. Not just the ones you agree with.
10/17/25 12:27 PM	Danielle Boulanger	The people of NC oppose any attempt to redraw congressional district maps before the 2026 midterm election. This blatantly partisan redistricting process would set a dangerous political precedent and rob voters of their rights. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. Thank you for your time and consideration.

10/17/25 12:27 PM	Amy McComas		5 maps in 6 years all for an ENDORSEMENT?!?! How can this possibly help North Carolinians? Passing the BUDGET should be your priority right now. We the People demand better!
10/17/25 12:27 PM	Kyle Atkinson		Love what the republicans are doing, finally playing the game the left has played for years. Love seeing them freak out.
10/17/25 12:28 PM	Kelly Teague		I am highly opposed to this attempt from the Republican party to gerrymander our maps, ONCE AGAIN!! Our democracy is on the line in this country. All this blatant cheating just to appease this wanna-be dictator President. All of these actions by Republicans is abhorrent.
10/17/25 12:28 PM	Karen Windate		I am in strong opposition to the 2025 NC redistricting plan. Gerrymandering in NC, past and planned, invalidate the free and equal voting rights of every North Carolinian.
10/17/25 12:28 PM	Ellen Pearson		I strongly oppose redistricting in this manner. North Carolina's district maps are already horribly and illegally gerrymandered. This would make it worse. Don't cheat. Don't violate the law any further.
10/17/25 12:28 PM	Nancy Pellegrini		Gerrymandering is un-American. It silences voters, divides communities, destabilizes elections and weakens democracy. Voters should be able to choose their elected officials, not the other way around. Stop the gerrymandering!!!
10/17/25 12:29 PM	Deanna Hackler		This is a deplorable action! Gerrymandering should be illegal!!! NO NO NO NO NO NO!!
10/17/25 12:30 PM	Cassandra Broshears		Redistricting is unnecessary unless the goal is to gerrymander voting. Please give as much consideration and effort to legislating in the best interests of your state and all constituents. The State of North Carolina deserves serious, credible leaders to address and solve the serious, credible issues we face.
10/17/25 12:30 PM	Ms Jamie Presgrave		No! Redistricting needs to be done when census is updated not before and especially not right before midterms. This is crooked and wrong. The size of some of the proposed districts are grossly unbalanced. Stop bickering and do your jobs! There's way more important issues that need to be handled. Look at the state of Cape Hatteras national seashore. That's a real emergency not this.
10/17/25 12:30 PM	Linda Foster		I would appreciate republicans listening to their constituents for a change. We want to have fair elections and ask that you do not gerrymander our maps.
10/17/25 12:30 PM	Claire Ricci		The last thing our legislators need to focus on right now is more gerrymandering! Support our public schools by passing a state budget that at the very least moves us out of last in the nation on per student spending!
10/17/25 12:31 PM	Dallimis (Diane) Evia-Lanevi		The maps suggested by the NCGOP clearly demonstrate partisan gerrymandering, at its worst, without regard to the principle of fair and equal representation. Rather than designing districts that accurately represent the state's demographics, they are drawn to preserve political dominance and diminish the voices of specific communities, especially communities of color. I urge you not to pursue this shameful redistricting plan.
10/17/25 12:31 PM	Debbie Sloan		No, I see no just reason for redistribution!!! 4th generation nc voter. Leave it alone.
10/17/25 12:31 PM	Anthony Sarris	None	You are disenfranchising voters and diluting the will of the people by gerrymandering Congressional districts just to try to ensure your party maintains control of Congress, at the direction of the President so that Congress can continue to blindly support every action taken by him. That's not serving all the people of North Carolina. You are serving yourselves, your political party and your special interests. Shame on you for this blatant power grab.
10/17/25 12:32 PM	Shawn Madey		Our democracy is for the people, by the people. The citizens of North Carolina reject partisan gerrymandering and support neutral, citizen-driven redistricting. We need nonpartisan reform and demand redistricting be removed from closed partisan control. We call on state legislators to abandon these maneuvers and instead adopt a fair, transparent redistricting process with full public hearings across the state.
10/17/25 12:32 PM	Mrs Donna Utt		Stop! Just STOP
10/17/25 12:33 PM	Ms Barbara Gibson		It was a nice surprise to see that the NCGA is returning to session, only to discover that it is not to pass the budget to help with paying teachers and civil servants and fund Helene recovery, but to redistrict (gerrymander) our Congressional seats to cheat on us. They are only coming together at the call of Trump to rig the 2026 midterm elections. I oppose their newly manipulated maps which is not a true picture of our state. Shame on each and every one of them.
10/17/25 12:34 PM	Betty Vogel		ONCE AGAIN THIS IS NOT FOR THE PEOPLE! You know those YOU represent!! DO YOU REMEMBER ? ‚Äú of the people ; by the people; for the people!,Äù SHAME ON ALL OF YOU How‚Äôs this working out for you ,Ä¶ if you and yours are people too? Do you truly believe that you‚Äôre going to be exempt from all the horror that is coming upon the people of this country?
10/17/25 12:35 PM	Redistricting S Arrington		Its truly shameful to ignore the people of NC for Donald Trump who doesnt wish to provide funding, care, jobs or programs to NC. Gerrymandering our state even more just silences the majority.

10/17/25 12:35 PM	Jeanne DeJong		Stop disenfranchising people and their vote. The new maps are made for one purpose only, as Republicans have stated, to keep in power. I guess because you do t think you can earn your constituents votes on your own Sad.
10/17/25 12:35 PM	Abigail Arnett		I am so incredibly disturbed and disgusted at how spineless our NC officials are for even CONSIDERING redistricting. I am so disappointed.
10/17/25 12:36 PM	Alison Lacy Sherrill	None	Please focus on issues that will help your constituents in your state. In Charlotte, we have state maintained roads that don't have working lights. We have potholes that are so big that tires to be blow out when hit, including one of my own. Fund our police and state highway patrol. Fund our schools. Pay our teachers more. Fund mental health programs. These are issues that impact our daily lives, and you are focused on aiding a national politician and keeping hm in power? I can't think of a more ridiculous, non helpful thing that the state government should be doing. We don't even have a budget, yet you have time to throw this together? We are paying attention. We are tired of this. Do your jobs. I pay you. You work for me. You work for my fellow North Carolinians. We are going to fire you. We will. Voters always win.
10/17/25 12:36 PM	Gerrymandering is wrong Elizabeth Pollack		Please be fair about representation. Gerrymandering voting districts in an attempt to influence election results is wrong.
10/17/25 12:36 PM	Kathryn B O,ÄôHanlon Jordan		I will vote against the redistricting proposal.
10/17/25 12:36 PM	Zack Green		This is an abuse of power. Congressional districts should be competitive and not one sided, forgone conclusions. Representative,Äôs from NC should match the political will of the people. In a purple state, the representatives should be equally mixed!
10/17/25 12:37 PM	Emily Lawless		What a bald-faced attempt to steal power from the people of NC. Shame.
10/17/25 12:37 PM	Lola Massad	NC resident	Abusing power to take away the basic rights of NC voters to gain more power is the most unpatriotic and corrupt move of public officials that were sworn in to serve NC residents. Stop this power grab that is unlawful and unpatriotic.
10/17/25 12:38 PM	B D		The redistricting does NOT reflect the true composition of this state. Gerrymandering is not the answer. Solid beliefs and your record are all one needs to run on. If that,Äôs not enough to win, work harder to earn the trust of your constituents. Don,Äôt cheat.
10/17/25 12:39 PM	Mary Riddle		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every North Carolina resident deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting must be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 12:39 PM	John Floyd		If you redistrict you,Äôll be sealing your own political fate. If you no longer want a position in government, by all means, continue on with your redistricting plans and you,Äôll be voted out. Listen to your constituents and stop cheating just to win. If your policies were popular, you wouldn,Äôt have to cheat anyway.
10/17/25 12:39 PM	Undemocratic David Berkey		I don,Äôt really care whether redistricting is legal or not, it should be in proportion to the population of voters. If a state has 45% Democrat voters it should have that percentage of districts. Same with racial composition. Anything else deprives people of representation
10/17/25 12:39 PM	Tara Holden		This is disgraceful. NC is ALREADY heavily gertymandered to favor republican districts. You are not being honest in who needs representation. You know if we weren't so gerrymandered now we would be a mostly democratic state so you're scared & are going to cheat to retain control. And you say you're the family values party of religion. This is NOT what Jesus would do. Shame on all of you
10/17/25 12:39 PM	Mrs. Genna Hunt		I have voted Republican all my life, but the antics we have gone through to cheat our way to a win are just indefensible at this point. The state is already gerrymandered up the ass. You will all have your judgement day with God and this is another stain on your book. Shame on the NCGOP
10/17/25 12:40 PM	Ms Rose Malone	Private citizens of Snow Hill, NC	I do not approve of this redistricting plan as a resident of Greene County.
10/17/25 12:40 PM	Jenny Edwards		Shameful. So transparent in working to be a Trump puppet rather than representative of all the people of NC. SHameful. Shameful
10/17/25 12:40 PM	Paula Poggi		Please do not vote to district North Carolina again. We have had Enough of this! Let the people,Äôs voices be heard. We did not elect you to office to fool around with our votes. 87% of Americans do not like redistributing. STOP DOING THIS!
10/17/25 12:41 PM	Jack Sinclair		This is shameful! We all know that the supposed mandate barely a win. You are just afraid of what the future will bring for our state. You didn,Äôt see democrats doing this when Obama won in 2008. If you felt confident in your ability to sway voters, you wouldn,Äôt be changing the maps.
10/17/25 12:41 PM	Mrs Georgiana Hill		The way you are dividing districts to further the Republican party is corrupt and not at all a part of a fair impartial election. You all should be ashamed of yourselves if you vote for this. I will certainly look for who voted for this and remember it in the next election. I am a registered independent.

10/17/25 12:42 PM	Erin Isgett		Voters are supposed to choose their legislators. Legislators are not supposed to choose their voters. If, as House Speaker Destin Hall said, ",ÃúPresident Trump earned a clear mandate from the voters of North Carolina and the rest of the country, and we intend to defend it by drawing an additional Republican Congressional seat," then gerrymandering would be unnecessary. If the GOP had a mandate, they wouldn't have to rig maps in order to silence the will of the voters in our state. The fact that North Carolina had fair maps just a few years ago, allowing us to send 7 Republicans and 7 Democrats to Washington to represent our very purple state, and we are now looking at an 11-3 GOP/Democratic split with this newly proposed map, is absolutely undemocratic and anti-American in every way. Please do your jobs as our elected representatives and do not kowtow to President Trump's demands. You were put into office to serve your constituents well, not to serve at the whims of the Oval Office. Please vote against this newly proposed Congressional redistricting plan.
10/17/25 12:42 PM	Nicholas Boutross		Why do you feel the need to kowtow to Trump all for a reelection endorsement. You can't even pass a budget but you worry about how more unfairly you can draw maps. Do your actual job and stop sucking up to Washington elites!
10/17/25 12:42 PM	Patricia Smith	Private NC citizen	Fairness counts. Redistricting mid decade at the request of President Trump is displaying favoritism to one political party. Our state needs a budget! Use your time to pass a much-needed budget instead of this totally irrelevant (and probably illegal) quest to gerrymander our state even more than it is now.
10/17/25 12:42 PM	Ms Deborrah Chapman		This redistricting is yet another abuse of power designed to strip representation from Democrats. You are undermining democracy for the sake of power. You are grievously harming the citizens of North Carolina.
10/17/25 12:42 PM	Todd Killian		Stop eroding democracy to maintain power. If you had better policy, you would not need to gerrymander. One day, Trump will come for you and/or your loved ones, but it will be too late, because you will already have ruined democracy past repair.
10/17/25 12:42 PM	Ms. Mary Vaught		I am opposed to redistricting with the intent of creating districts that are more likely to elect a majority party candidate. My interpretation of legislative representation is allowing minority voices, encouraging all to be active citizens and participate in their community. I am opposed to any redistricting to promote Party dominance which is then used to push their Party policy. I appreciate the solutions born from cooperation. I want those opportunities to be encouraged not eliminated through redistricting.
10/17/25 12:43 PM	Ellen Westbrook		As far as I,Âôm concerned this is a blatant attempt by NC Republicans to stay in power. We are already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country. Another redistricting is basically cheating to win. North Carolina is a purple state, and our districts should reflect the will of the people, not serve the interests of one political party. The continued practice of drawing maps to secure an advantage for one party erodes public trust in our democracy.
10/17/25 12:43 PM	Kelly Smith		DO NOT GERRYMANDER MY STATE YET AGAIN! We are already the most gerrymandered state in the USA! You cannot even PASS A BUDGET and pay our teachers and schools more but you,Äôre all fired up to get this passed? This ISNT DEMOCRACY! Do you revere the flag as I do? Have you read the CONSTITUITION as I have ? Then stand up for DEMOCRACY and UN-gerrymander North Carolina! You shouldn,Äôt pick your voters WE SHOULD PICK YOU!!
10/17/25 12:43 PM	Redistricting map Daniel Patton		The proposed map is a blatant stealing of seats in congress. This is undemocratic. The map needs to be fair for both parties. The people need fair representation. If you aren't what the people want, then you are voted out. Don't act like a child to try and hold onto power
10/17/25 12:44 PM	Laura Kilcrease		Stop disenfranchising voters in NC!! Our votes are already horribly gerrymandered, and this would make our votes count even less. I,Äôm furious at my lack of representation in my state. The backlash against the Republican Party is going to be severe, and the terrible things this administration is doing will be a blight on the history of our country. Stop being on the wrong side of history for NC while you can!
10/17/25 12:44 PM	Dr John Oksanish		If the Republicans in NC can,Äôt win elections on ideas, they deserve to lose.
10/17/25 12:44 PM	Victoria Taylor		I am 100% opposed to this redistricting. It,Äôs an abuse of power; an attempt to give the General Assembly all of the power, essentially allowing them pick representatives. The people are losing their power, and WE THE PEOPLE deserve our voices to be heard.
10/17/25 12:44 PM	Mrs Melissa Reichmann		I do not support elected representatives redrawing the district lines for their own governmental body. I would like to see North Carolina using an independent bipartisan redistricting commission or adopt a specific set of nonpartisan mapping criteria to prevent partisan gerrymandering where districts are drawn to favor one political party over another.
10/17/25 12:44 PM	Shannon Hall		Please do not continue the gerrymandering of our state. We deserve fair representation. This is WRONG!
10/17/25 12:44 PM	Mr Jacob Dunn		I unequivocally oppose any attempts to redistrict. No.
10/17/25 12:45 PM	Ms Deborah Ahlman		This is a shameful grab for power in our state by the republican members of our legislature. I,Äôm disgusted by their blatant disregard for the will of the people of North Carolina.

10/17/25 12:45 PM	Mrs. Jessica Hoshko	N/s	I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps appear to reflect blatant partisan gerrymandering that undermines the principle of fair and equal representation. Rather than creating districts that reflect the political and demographic realities of our state, these maps are drawn in a way that entrenches political power and silences the voices of many communities,Äîparticularly urban residents, young people, and communities of color. While some may argue that similar tactics have been used in the past or are happening in other states, that does not make it acceptable,Äînor does it justify repeating those mistakes. North Carolina should strive to be a model for fair, transparent, and democratic governance. We have the opportunity to set a higher standard, not perpetuate a race to the bottom. Allowing this kind of redistricting to stand only deepens public mistrust in our democratic institutions and further alienates voters from the political process. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. I urge decision-makers to reject these maps and commit to a redistricting process that is nonpartisan, transparent, and accountable to the people of North Carolina,Äînot to political interests.
10/17/25 12:45 PM	Stuart Madey	NC CITIZEN	I have lived in NC since the early 90,Äôs and most of the Governors have been from the Democratic Party. Also during this time there have been both Republican and democratic senators. Not sure why the house would be so skewed toward republicans, if any redistricting is to be done it should be to represent more closely the 50/50 demographics of the two parties in the state not to eliminate the underserved communities that would most likely vote Democratic
10/17/25 12:46 PM	Melodie Miller		I am against the proposed redistricting plan. NC is already horribly gerrymandered to keep Republicans in charge, regardless of the public's wishes.
10/17/25 12:46 PM	Ben Thomas		Two points. First, partisan gerrymandering by either party is the death of democracy. All you are doing is ensuring that the most extreme voices on either side are elected. This eliminates any chance at the compromise that is needed for true governance. Second, please stop claiming that the voters have given you a mandate. A 2% majority is not a mandatory. You have already drawn the districts such that they are not representative of the voting populace and are now proposing to make it worse.
10/17/25 12:46 PM	Kristen Mills		Stop the Gerrymandering of North Carolina: Our Votes Deserve Fair Representation North Carolina deserves fair maps ,Äî not political manipulation. Our state is nearly evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats, yet the new congressional map being considered will heavily favor the Republican party. This is not democracy ,Äî it,Äôs gerrymandering, plain and simple. This is a simple case of politicians choosing their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. Gerrymandering silences communities, deepens division, and erodes faith in our elections. North Carolinians,Äîrural and urban, conservative and progressive,Äîdeserve maps that reflect our real political balance. We deserve competitive districts that encourage cooperation and accountability, not safe seats that reward extremism. Fair maps mean fair elections. Fair elections mean a healthy democracy. The legislature must stop rigging the system and start respecting the people it serves. I value democracy and demand nonpartisan redistricting. Because North Carolina belongs to all of us,Äînot just the politicians who draw the lines. And most certainly not to the whims of Donald Trump.
10/17/25 12:47 PM	Jennifer Long		Enough is enough. It,Äôs time to let the citizens decide who should be elected, and not the elected decide who should be their citizens .
10/17/25 12:47 PM	Cheri Kivisto		I am completely against the continued gerrymandering of All voting maps. You are taking the vote away from the people who live there you are eroding our constitutional rights to a free fair election.
10/17/25 12:48 PM	Karen Anderson		I am strongly opposed to the proposal to modify the district maps between census years and for nakedly political purposes. NC did not give Donald Trump a mandate, as is so disingenuously being stated as the reason for this gerrymander. He won barely more than 50 percent of the vote. I mean, seriously -- if we're using votes as the rationale for making maps, we should be allocating half of the districts to Democrats. Gerrymandering disenfranchises voters, and is contributing to the destruction of our democracy. We certainly did not give Donald Trump or Republicans a mandate to do that.
10/17/25 12:49 PM	William Tracy		Do not pass this redistricting plan. You do not work for Trump. You are SUPPOSED to work for the people of North Carolina, but you haven't even passed a budget. Republicans are obviously not fit to serve this state and are making a blatant power grab. You are a disgrace to North Carolina.

10/17/25 12:49 PM Benjamin Soto		The newly enacted redistricting map for North Carolina's district mapping is a blatant and unconscionable act of gerrymandering. This map does not reflect the will of the people; it serves only the narrow, partisan interests of those who drew it. The map utilizes classic gerrymandering techniques, such as 'cracking' and 'packing.' This process deliberately draws district lines to predetermine election outcomes, effectively eliminating competitive races and silencing the voices of thousands of voters across the state. The result is a political system where politicians choose their voters, rather than voters choosing their politicians. You all have forgotten who you work for, and it shows more by the day. The fall of America will be on your hands that approve this, and history, nor we, will forget.
10/17/25 12:49 PM Herb Pomfrey	Retired	North Carolina is already sectioned into all sort of contortionist shapes to favor one party over the other. This is wrong. Everyone knows it is wrong, yet year after year the fight continues. This is bad for democracy and is not a true voce of the people who are voting. To rig the districts mid cycle and at the request of the president is against all president. Rigging an election is 180 degrees from democracy! If this kind of governing continues, we are heading towards a civil war and the blood will be on the hands of those that imposed these lawless districts.
10/17/25 12:49 PM Deborah Godshall		Our state is already one of the most Gerrymandered in the country. The people of North Carolina are NOT being appropriately represented. I am fully and totally AGAINST any further Gerrymandering. The current maps have already been found to be illegal but because of Gerrymandering and deceptive practices the GOP found a way to ignore the laws and nullify the courts. The GOP in North Carolina is corrupt and dirty and needs to be stopped at all costs.
10/17/25 12:51 PM Spencer Carroll		This is a disgusting assault on democracy at the behest of an aspiring fascist. There is no good reason to redraw these all ready deeply gerrymandered maps. All this accomplishes is solidifying the fact that the Republican Party doesn,Äôt believe in democracy or the will of the people. This doesn,Äôt help improve the material conditions of any North Carolinian and you all now it. Anyone who votes for the new maps is a spineless partisan hack that is no better than a dog at Donald Trump,Äôs beck and call. When he says ,Äújump,Äù no thought enters your head besides ,Äúhow high.,Äù Vote these maps down and spend your time instead passing a budget that actually helps your constituents and can let people be proud to live here.
10/17/25 12:51 PM Sarah Stiltner		I,Äôm a registered independent voter, and if you think that this is going to be popular with the public, you have greatly lost touch with what is really going on. I strongly disagree with redistricting our state and I absolutely stand against gerrymandering.
10/17/25 12:51 PM Mr Chris White		I am wholly concerned by the, in my view, latest attempt at a power grab by the ruling party in the Legislature. Instead of passing a budget, leaders have turned their attention to yet another districting map redraw that further perpetuates what should be an unconstitutional gerrymander. It should also be illegal, in my view, for either side to redraw maps in any way without the voting consent of the people of North Carolina (i.e. a ballot measure). For more than 100 days teachers have gone without promised bonuses, underinsured and uninsured North Carolinians have worried about funding for Medicaid, and funding of other programs perilously hangs in the balance. I sincerely ask that you forgo this unequivocal nonsense and go back to doing the business of your constituents.
10/17/25 12:51 PM Mr. Timothy Kurtz	Retired self	I am strongly opposed to mid-cycle redistricting. It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 12:52 PM Mr Jimmy Blue		Hi, I,Äôm a left-leaning Democratic voter and a North Carolinian. I,Äôve lived in this state my entire life. This redistricting effort seems to be the state telling me that my vote shouldn,Äôt matter, though. It,Äôs telling all of North Carolina that half of our votes shouldn't matter. I,Äôm sure the justification is ,Äúwell, other states are doing it,Äù. But here,Äôs a novel idea: instead of trying to cheat half the voters in the state, why not push for a national reform of some sort to end political gerrymandering? Why try to cheat if this conservative agenda is so popular? Also, to Rep. Berger specifically, I hope the endorsement is worth it.
10/17/25 12:53 PM Commander Susan Polizzotto	USCG (Retired)	I strongly oppose this redistricting plan. Gerrymandering in this or any other manner is blatantly undemocratic. It skews the results of elections to satisfy partisan ends rather than the common good of the people. Furthermore, it robs North Carolina voters of the ability to elect representatives of their own collective choosing. Lastly, it erodes public confidence in the State and Federal government, undermining our rights as citizens to free and fair elections. For twenty years I served the American People as a Coast Guard officer in a nonpartisan way. I took an oath to do so, and although I,Äôm retired, I have not abandoned that oath, my values, or my commitment to democracy. As a firm believer and supporter of our democratic norms and ideals, I go on the record saying that this proposal undermines democracy. Do not sell us, your constituents, for personal political gain.
10/17/25 12:53 PM Elaine Brown		Please let the people speak in a fair and manipulated fashion. Power to the people, not the people in power..

10/17/25 12:53 PM	Rev. David Mellnik		Redistricting now is illegal, and the only reason to change is a partisan attempt to disenfranchise millions of voters. Shame on you.
10/17/25 12:54 PM	Gerrymandering Jennifer Bosk		Cheaters never win in the long run. May you feel shame. Your legacy is tainted. STOP GERRYMANDERING NORTH CAROLINA MAPS!
10/17/25 12:55 PM	Mr Mark Fuller	NA	This a terrible, Un American plan. The brave men and women who fought numerous wars for our freedom would be appalled at the stance the GOP is taking currently. If you have to cheat to retain power then what have you really accomplished? It is a dangerous path you are taking us down that very well may result in the demise of our great nation. Blind submission to the aims of the trump administration is NOT in the best interest of the country.
10/17/25 12:55 PM	Do Not Gerrymander! Sara Hale		Maps for political representation should not be draw and determined by whichever political party is in power. Maps should be created by independent commissions, and much less frequently. Maps should not be drawn in some nonsensical way that only serves to increase votes and guarantee seats for a certain party, while disregarding the actual priorities and needs of North Carolinians. We already see that most of our representatives do not uphold the true interests of their constituents, as our legislators continue to vote for/veto things that are in complete opposition to the will of a majority of citizens (such as allowing lax gun control laws, allowing Duke Energy pass the buck to customers, and failing to do the bare minimum of their job and passing a budget). Our representatives still have not passed a budget for this fiscal year, schools are not funded, yet they have time to draw and debate new maps? To pass new gerrymandered maps only proves that our representatives have no right to say they represent us, and will only serve to worsen the divide between the will of North Carolinians and their government.
10/17/25 12:55 PM	Gerrymandering Daniel Stein		DONT EVEN THINK ABOUT GERRYMANDERING WHEN THERES NO BUDGET!!!!!!!
10/17/25 12:56 PM	Melissa Brantley	NC Citizen	This plan is absolutely outrageous. It it unacceptable to change the voting maps again this close to elections without a citizen voting option on the matter. It should not be allowed as it will take away the voice of citizens.
10/17/25 12:56 PM	Margaret Butler		We need fairly drawn maps so that ALL NC voters are fully represented in our state. Voters in Watauga County overwhelmingly rejected the current map and 20,000 plus were disenfranchised. Serve our state fairly.
10/17/25 12:56 PM	Mr. Andrew Johncox		Just food for thought. If legislation is passed that would further skew NC congressional representation that‚Äôs far and beyond what the general public believes in from a popular vote to purely advance a culture war, then that might make you a poor advocate for representative democracy. Want to ensure a level of voice for people from all over NC? Great. Further pushing it because Trump encouraged you to is unfortunately going against the general will of the heart of NC, where that be conservative, liberal, or something else entirely. Imagine if you were on the other side of the coin and what that would look like.
10/17/25 12:56 PM	James Hines		Do not go through with this politically-biased redraw.
10/17/25 12:56 PM	Mr Lauren Wise		if you are so terrified that you will be voted out of office that you are willing to disenfrancise the people of North Carolina, perhaps you should rethink why you are in office in the first place. I encourage you think what you stand for. Is it Gerrymandering? Is it trying got cheat the people out of their voice? That is the only reason you are engaging in this ridiculous endevour in the first place. There is so much more important things to work on.
10/17/25 12:56 PM	Kevin Lusk		If Trump and his policies were SO popular, you would keep The House without rigging the election.
10/17/25 12:56 PM	Ms Rhonda Stogner		Shamless disgusting abuse of power
10/17/25 12:57 PM	Lauren Perkins-Davenport		As a North Carolinian, I strongly oppose the proposed redistricting, which is a clear, politically-motivated power grab. North Carolinians deserve democratic representation, something made impossible through this proposal.
10/17/25 12:57 PM	Marie Pomfrey		NC lawmakers are making politically motivated steps to propose mid cycle redistricting. It is being done with the goal of securing a partisan advantage in the 2026 election. The purpose of this move is about POWER. This gerrymandering has severe consequences. It silences voters. It destabilize elections. Wastes taxpayers money. Weakens democracy. Weakens voters' confidence in fair elections. This is WRONG no matter which party is doing the gerrymandering.
10/17/25 12:57 PM	Richard Akashambatwa		Fair elections means convincing voters that you have better ideas and policies on how to make their lives better. Gerrymandering is when you realize you cannot win in a free and fair election, so you resort to cheating and choosing your voters.
10/17/25 12:58 PM	Kevin Lusk		You answer to the people of NC, not Trump.
10/17/25 12:58 PM	Ron Kraynick		Discussions on redistricting should simply not be taking place. North Carolina should reflect a state where our leadership rises above the political fray and concentrates on representing ALL people in NC. Please do the right thing for the future of the people in NC and leave the voting districts as they are. Thank you.

10/17/25 12:58 PM	Mr. Aaron Edwards		You guys know full well what you're doing. NC is at worth a 50/50 state; no map should give one party in that circumstance nearly 80% of representation. This is a brazenly antidemocratic power grab and should be rejected outright.
10/17/25 12:58 PM	Stop this James Goodnight		I want the voters to choose their representatives. Not the other way around. The republican party is full of cowards who want to cheat to get their way. Stop trying to take voters' choice away.
10/17/25 12:58 PM	Stop Subverting the Vote Julie Montanea		There is no excuse for the NCGA to waste time and money, and to further disenfranchise the legitimate choices of North Carolina voters, by drawing yet another set of hyper-partisan Congressional maps! Do your REAL job and PASS A BUDGET!
10/17/25 12:58 PM	Ms Isabel Geffner		I am outraged at the notion that the North Carolina General Assembly would even begin to entertain the idea of redistricting our state when we are legally bound to act otherwise. Republicans should be ashamed of themselves, particularly Mr. Berger, whose son is in the wings. You are an embarrassment to us.
10/17/25 12:59 PM	Uphold democracy William Heffley	Patriotism	Do not undermine NC democracy by gerrymandering our districts. Doing so would be a betrayal of your oath to protect and uphold the constitution. It would be a betrayal of the people of NC. It would be a betrayal of basic Christian values of fairness and love.
10/17/25 12:59 PM	Laura Thornton		As a life long NC resident, I oppose redistricting our congressional maps. I implore the General Assembly to please pass a state budget and NOT redistrict the congressional maps.
10/17/25 12:59 PM	Ann Gates		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 12:59 PM	End Gerrymandering Colby Watson	Colby Watson for Congress	North Carolina deserves better than political maps drawn in back rooms to guarantee one side wins before a single vote is cast. This isn,Äôt about party, it,Äôs about power. When politicians twist district lines to protect themselves, they,Äôre not serving the people, they,Äôre betraying them. My district may not be under threat right now, but that doesn,Äôt make this any less wrong. Gerrymandering anywhere in our state weakens representation everywhere. And to Mark Harris, you,Äôve had your chance. No amount of redistricting will save you. I,Äôm coming for your seat, and I,Äôm not asking for permission. I,Äôm here to earn votes, not cheat my way to the top. Colby Watson for Congress
10/17/25 12:59 PM	Peter Wells		This does not seem like a good idea. You should be in the business of representing the citizens of your state, not protecting the current president from multiple impeachments if the House of Representatives is run by democrats in 2027.
10/17/25 12:59 PM	Ms Sandra Rountree		What are you thinking? This is a terrible idea and so contrary to what our country stands for. Stop the gerrymandering and let the districts be equal - not favoring one party or the other.??
10/17/25 1:00 PM	Mr Vincent Amodeo		Redistricting an already in biased NC map is a sham. The GOP seeks 100 percent control of a state that clearly has a 50/50 voting population. This will only cause further chaos among states. Gerrymandering should be illegal in every state. I vehemently disapprove of this mid decade attempt to appease the current regime in the oval office.
10/17/25 1:00 PM	Mrs. Shelly Mountain		Stop illegally gerrymandering our elections. Stop acting like grade school bullies and serve the people who you represent, all the people, not just those in your party. Your jobs are to represent the citizens not the political party you ran under.
10/17/25 1:01 PM	Patrick Hayes		Republicans cannot win on policy so they cheat. Stop gerrymandering our State districts.
10/17/25 1:01 PM	Amanda Bone		End gerrymandering. If you can't win on the merits of your policies, you shouldn't win.
10/17/25 1:01 PM	Mr Perry Russell		Why do Republicans find it imperative to redistrict yet ANOTHER map in favor of Republicans in a 50/50 state? I have a moral compass and wouldn't feel right disenfranchising the voters o f this state, but Republicans do it over and over again. If Republicans are confident their policies are good for the state the people will following suit and vote accordingly. What you're doing now is choosing voters. We the people deserve the right to choose OUR representation based OUR desires, not those of a single party nor a wanna be dictator.

10/17/25 1:01 PM	Dr. Natalie Schulte		Democracy and the right to vote is sacred. It was established years ago through our constitution. Our founders wanted people to have a say in who supported them in government; it is a right to have people in power who accurately represent you and your community. It is a right to have people who have lived in your area, experienced your city, and the vibrant people within them to represent you. It is a right to have people that represent you that will listen to your grievances because they understand where you're coming from. But all of that ends if you redraw those congressional districts. Redistricting will destroy our trust in the people in power, it will destroy democracy as we know it, and it will taking away the rights of North Carolinians to be represented by people that know them and their communities best; all because you would rather support the head leader of your party, the president, than accurately represent the people of this state. I am begging you to not redraw the congressional maps and put the people of this state first. Stand for democracy, not just with the president.
10/17/25 1:02 PM	Disgraceful Kelly Leal		Phil Berger has brought disgrace and shame to NC. Our state is beautiful from our mountains to our beaches. Tourism supports our economy. People are watching what the NC GOP are doing with plans to gerrymander our state even further. People do not want to spend their hard earned money in a state that has to cheat to win. You work for the people of this state and this does NOT align with what we want! There is no integrity in this. No integrity in the NC GOP.
10/17/25 1:03 PM	Ruben Ortiz		I feel that this does not allow a fair level playing field to truly represent the people of North Carolina. GOP has been lacking in morals and supporting not only immoral policies but candidates and politicians. Also release the Epstein files.
10/17/25 1:03 PM	Melissa Bryant		This does not need to happen. If it does it should be done by a non political entity. Approve the budget.
10/17/25 1:03 PM	K R		I think this is a silly waste of time when NC is already so gerrymandered. It will hurt so many constituents. I think your time should be better spent passing a budget!!
10/17/25 1:03 PM	Representative of Broadwater Family		Representation of Democrat, Libertarian, and others matter. The audacity to only represent Republicans as taxpayers of all political parties pay legislators is shameful. Do not allow this redistricting to pass.
10/17/25 1:03 PM	Nathan Dolde		Maybe pass a budget instead of wasting time on cheating the people you serve.
10/17/25 1:04 PM	Michael Benham		This is deplorable. In a state close to evenly divided, a heavily lopsided seat result suggests that the map is doing too much of the ‚Äúchoosing the winners‚Äù rather than letting voters choose. This is partisan gerrymandering and is a corruption of the democratic ideal that majority preferences should broadly guide governance. Such a map is anti-American to the extent that it subverts foundational democratic ideas (popular sovereignty, fair representation, peaceful turnover) in favor of entrenched partisan control.
10/17/25 1:04 PM	christopher wilms		I'm a white, male, middle class, highly educated, unaffiliated voter with an 811 credit score that voted for Nikki Haley in the Republican Primary last year, and I absolutely will not stand for this underhanded crap. Create fair districts, show some integrity, and actually earn my vote. Otherwise you're going to radicalize me and a lot of people like me to never trust the Republican party to serve our interests.
10/17/25 1:04 PM	Don't redirect Lawrence Confer	US Navy Veteran	There is absolutely no real need to redistrict. This is a blatantly obvious attempt to obtain an additional republican seat in the House of Representatives.
10/17/25 1:05 PM	Andrew Bullaro		The proposed changes to our congressional districts is a shameless power grab. We deserve to have an independent analysis and a fair distribution of representation. This map marginalizes HALF of our state. Shameful.
10/17/25 1:05 PM	Anne Bell		IF your NC GERRYMANDERING EFFORT PASSES: Republicans will have drawn yourselves into an 11 to 3 seat map (79% representation), while only 31% of North Carolina residence are registered Republican. 7 years ago my family all switched from Republican to democrat or independent. These are the facts: In the latest Reuters pole of NC, 87% of Democrats and 78% of Republicans were anti-gerrymandering. What you‚Äôre doing is antidemocratic. We deserve better!
10/17/25 1:05 PM	Mrs Anna Cruz		The maps in NC are already gerrymandered and the Republicans know it. The NC Supreme Court will not strike down the current map because the NC Supreme Court does not fairly uphold the laws. NC Republicans know that they will lose their current majority if the maps are fairly drawn. This new attempt to gerrymander already gerrymandered maps is an attempt to bow down to their king Trump, however, we live in a democracy where representatives are elected by the people. I DO NOT AND WILL NEVER SUPPORT THIS PARTISAN ATTEMPT BY THE NC REPUBLICANS TO GERRYMANDER MAPS TO CEMENT THEIR POWER. This not the will of the people.
10/17/25 1:05 PM	Faith Hendrickson		I do not agree with gerrymandering, and it seems that recent polls show that 87% of the people in the entire US also think this is wrong. This is a pure power grab that President Trump is pushing. Gerrymandering is a problem because it undermines representative democracy by allowing politicians to choose their voters instead of the other way around. Manipulation of district lines can lead to less competitive elections, increased political polarization, and the erosion of voter trust. Gerrymandering simply cannot reflect the actual wishes of the citizens of our state!

10/17/25 1:06 PM	Comment on the Redistrict Jane Doe		This is an absolutely shameless and pitiful attempt at disrupting the democratic process in North Carolina. This move by the state government will only inflame and cause further strain on the union. Like a fire, we cannot easily recover the damage already dealt, but we can decide where to put an end to the carnage. North Carolina should rise above partisan and federal combat. NC is poised to become a powerhouse state, we need not disrupt the prosperity of our home to appease Washington. I beg our representatives to do better. Sincerely, a resident of North Carolina.
10/17/25 1:07 PM	John Cunningham		This is a disgusting attempt by the craven NC GOP to deny fair representation for all of the residents of North Carolina. It is not surprising since they can never and will never win on sound policy and good governance. Pathetic.
10/17/25 1:07 PM	Randy Collins		This nothing short of a power grab and not representing the people of NC. You are taking away the power of the people and their votes and giving it to a want a be dictator who's only interest is to line his pockets and not to serve the will of the American people. Put redistricting to a public vote since it is the people that will get hurt the most by this power grab. Let us pick who will represent us instead of you picking your votes.
10/17/25 1:08 PM	Amanda Hawks		This is a theft of our democracy and is against the will of the people. Do right by the citizens of North Carolina and do not further gerrymander our maps.
10/17/25 1:08 PM	Cari Hamm		The newly proposed redistricting map shifts districts in a manner that is purposely intended to give Republican legislators an unfair advantage over the people of North Carolina. This map does not properly represent our diverse population. I would like to see it redrawn.
10/17/25 1:08 PM	Ms Nancy Heinberg		Please, no redistricting. Not fair, not good for the people of NC.
10/17/25 1:09 PM	John Branscum		Don‚Äôt cheat, don‚Äôt redraw the maps. I‚Äôm an independent voter and I know right from wrong. Redrawing the maps is wrong.
10/17/25 1:09 PM	Katherine O'Malley		No! I oppose this proposal to redistrict mid-cycle. Mid-cycle redistricting disrupts communities' relationships with their elected officials. Redistricting should be based on new census data. This idea is a complete waste of taxpayer money. If you have money to spend, give it to our schools so they can fix their HVAC, mold, and sewer issues. If you have time to even consider this, then you certainly have time to negotiate a fair budget for NC. Shame on Berger and the Republicans for even proposing this.
10/17/25 1:09 PM	Kathryn Horton		This is an unacceptable power grab because you can't stand to have anything equal, fair, or balanced no matter how much you love to throw those words around like you know what they mean, you don't. If you actually want to redistrict fairly and divide up regions based purely on population, then go ahead, but doing it soley for political gain and to squeeze out your opponents is immoral and wrong. I hope one day there is a reckoning on this behavior and you have to rethink how you've behaved and how you've treated others.
10/17/25 1:10 PM	Ms Cynthia Norton		I do not support additional redistricting for several reasons. One being that this state is already one of the most gerrymandered in the nation, and two is that this will leave a large proportion of voters with basically no representation. I do not think that this should be done just because Donald Trump said so. It should not be done period.
10/17/25 1:10 PM	Wesley Stokes	Eastern North Carolina Civic Group	The Eastern North Carolina Civic Group, a longstanding organization that fiercely defends equitable access to the ballot box and the protection of voting rights, requests that you refrain from introducing any mid-decade congressional redistricting. Doing so would erode North Carolinians‚Äô power to elect candidates of their choice and further distort our state's federal voting maps. Particularly, the proposed map threatens to significantly reduce political power and representation for Black communities by cracking the district to dilute the current population. Our organization proudly represents the residents of the 1st Congressional District and constituents of the counties you serve. Many of them have lived in the state long enough to have been gerrymandered by race and party for some or all of their lives, albeit in increasingly sophisticated gerrymanders passed with minimal public input. Therefore, our state is not only accustomed to it, but it is exhausted by it. A recent September 2025 poll by conservative pollster Opinion Diagnostics found broad agreement on the importance of fairness and transparency, strong support for independent mapmaking, and growing opposition to all forms of gerrymandering. In fact, 76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law. While we elect state and federal lawmakers under a partisan banner, we must carefully guard the People‚Äôs confidence that, once elected, you will represent all North Carolinians and protect their votes equally. In other words, just because you can redraw North Carolinians‚Äô voting maps and thereby manipulate the upcoming 2026 elections, doesn‚Äôt mean you should. Deciding to redraw this map will create a disproportionate impact on Black voters, significantly reducing their ability to elect representatives of their choice, which will effectively weaken their voice on issues that directly impact them most, such as education, funding, criminal justice reform, health care access, etc. The change also risks violating the Voting Rights Act as it currently stands, as well as undermining the constitutional guarantee of equal protection by reducing the influence of Black communities' consolidated vote. That is why the Eastern North Carolina Civic Group implores you to refrain from implementing any mid-decade redistricting map
10/17/25 1:10 PM	Liz Simkins		Why is this bad when Democrats do it all the time? If they can do it, so can Republicans.

10/17/25 1:10 PM Get it done Kevin Costello		Draw Don Davis out, district is trending red anyways. Sorry Democrats, you get what you deserve.
10/17/25 1:11 PM Liz B		NC deserves fair congressional maps. The current maps already provide an advantage to Republicans (https://gerrymander.princeton.edu/redistricting-report-card/?planId=recfKJhzcbV8tf8vW), and these new updates make it even worse. Make things fair, represent the people like you are supposed to!
10/17/25 1:12 PM Catherine Everett		As a resident of North Carolina, I strongly oppose the proposed redistricting changes. Our current maps already fail to reflect the true voice of the people, and further changes risk taking us even farther from fair and representative governance. Every voter in this state deserves an equal voice. Redistricting should never be used to protect political power or silence communities. Instead, it should ensure that all North Carolinians are represented fairly and that our democracy remains accountable to the people it serves. Please put the interests of citizens above politics.
10/17/25 1:12 PM Mrs Rebecca Cater		"NC voted almost 50/50 in the last presidential election and is a state inhabited by almost equal numbers of republicans and democrats. However, due to districting, the state is overwhelmingly represented by one party. Trying to draw and redraw maps specifically to ignore certain voters is blatantly wrong and not what real representation is. I wish those who choose to do such things felt shame and had difficulty sleeping at night. You are elected to serve the people, ALL the people. Even the ones you disagree with.
10/17/25 1:12 PM Joan Berger		just moved from the mess that Texas has become,Ä¶. please don,Äôt make the same mistakes Be fair, impartial and respectful to all voters!
10/17/25 1:12 PM Amanda Sosebee		Please make voting maps that represent the popular vote.
10/17/25 1:13 PM Mr Joel Dabrowski		Gerrymandering has a long tradition. That don,Äôt make it a patriotic act. Making the unitary goal of a political party to win regardless of cost to the people that may or may not be represented by such means as also unpatriotic. At some point, you,Äôre in this to win at any cost to America, North Carolina, democracy, or the Constitution regardless of excuses made by others in power. It,Äôs unethical, un-American and illiberal (in a classical sense, not in a contemporary political connotation). Districting is about who you represent, who you listen to. This effort is a clear abandonment of any desire to listen or represent the people. By supporting this, you,Äôre abandoning the principles we at least have tried to aspire to for the last 250 years. Any failures in those efforts are an opportunity to improve, make amends for and make right. I expect nothing of this except a naked grab for power for its own sake. Prove me wrong.
10/17/25 1:13 PM Grace Schaffner		As a Gaston County resident, this map makes no sense. I have more in common with my neighbors next door in Lincoln county than I do with Burke. This is a shameless gerrymander meant to disenfranchise voters even more than previous maps. We are a clearly purple state as is shown by our consistent splits in national, state, and local elections. Represent your people fairly. Don't take away votes from your constituents. Keep this state a stronghold for free and fair elections.
10/17/25 1:13 PM Ms Gretchen Inglis		This vote to redistrict is shameful and conniving. Also, undemocratic.
10/17/25 1:13 PM Gary Brown		Don,Äôt do it. The system should not be manipulated out of fear that voters may want to make a change.
10/17/25 1:14 PM John Malone	NC citizen	I wanted to express my concern with the efforts to redistrict North Carolina in 2025 when that is typically only done every 10 years with the census it's already been done two or three times since the last census and I think it's ridiculous that we're going through this effort when you haven't even passed a budget for this year
10/17/25 1:14 PM Teresa Siegel		I disagree whole heartedly with what y'all are doing. You won't be in power forever, no matter how much you try.
10/17/25 1:14 PM Kathleen Bateman		Democrats have spent decades making a joke out of every district in every state.
10/17/25 1:14 PM Alan Young	No affiliation, voter	I am strongly opposed to wasting our taxpayer funds on an unnecessary and counterproductive redistricting in mid-terms. It appears to me: Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: - Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. - It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. - It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. I am strongly opposed to this wasteful and negative use of taxpayer funds.
10/17/25 1:14 PM Kim Sandland		The Republican party has far overstepped its authorities in many aspects of governing, and has disenfranchised the rights of many of our citizens with partisan tactics. It does not matter to which party you belong--gerrymandering is yet another tactic to ensure that governing power remains with just one side. It is wrong, it is ugly, it is cheating like bullies on a playground. It flies in the face of the very tenets of this country. Supporters of gerrymandering should each ask themselves, "How is it that I want to be remembered?" Because in the end, memories of our actions are all that we have meaningfully to leave behind. Do not allow cheating no matter how "right" you think you are in your own agendas.
10/17/25 1:14 PM Mr. Michael Henthorn		I do not support this idea. It is uncalled for.

10/17/25 1:14 PM	Mr Stephen Mercer		Make it fair for all parties. Gerrymandering is a sign of corruption. If you want to represent all people of North Carolina make sure their votes are cast fairly.
10/17/25 1:15 PM	Regina Argo		This is terrible overreach showing a complete lack of ethics and morality by those doing this. Districts should be fairly drawn to accurately represent all the people in the state. The only way you can get into or keep office is to cheat.
10/17/25 1:15 PM	Haley Kirse		I am completely OPPOSED to the NC GOP,Äôs plan to redraw the districts. This is blatant gerrymandering that will result in taking away the voices of so many NC voters. I am disappointed in NC senators bending to the demands of Donald Trump, when their primary allegiance should be to the residents of NC. This Redistricting is a blatant power grab from the GOP- and should be unlawful.
10/17/25 1:15 PM	Redistricting Ronald Brigman		I am a resident of Buncombe county. This redistricting proposal is a slap in the face to everything that has made our nation great. It is an unabashed power grab intended to disenfranchise citizens and impose the will of a minority of people. I am against this and implore you to do what is just.
10/17/25 1:16 PM	Margaret Rubin		I am a centrist in this state. I have voted both republican and democrat in elections and mixed down the ballot. Our state is undeniably gerrymandered as it is. Using political power to control elections is anti American and just plain wrong. A representative map is fair. A representative map allows the people,Äôs voices to be heard, as they see fit. If you are concerned about reelection, create better policies! Fund the budget! Make better choices for the people of NC. WE THE PEOPLE SAY NO TO REDISTRICTING.
10/17/25 1:16 PM	Laura Wetsch		You are making a mockery of the democratic process. Do you think people won,Äôt remember? Stop the unfair gerrymandering!
10/17/25 1:16 PM	Lisbeth Fillard		This is clearly a power grab because you are afraid you won,Äôt win the elections. That isn,Äôt how a democracy works. How about you do your job well and you will be reelected!
10/17/25 1:16 PM	Jennifer Moore		We the People SEE You. There are definitely more important things you could be doing (like pass a state budget, give teachers a raise) instead of gerrymandering maps to cheat on elections. Maps are to REPRESENT ALL Constituents. DO YOUR JOBS. PROTECT THE CONSTITUTION AND DEMOCRACY!!!
10/17/25 1:16 PM	Unfair Maps Brian Esposito	NC resident	This redistricting is completely unfair and undemocratic. Redistricting should reflect population changes and ensure fair representation,Äînot entrench political power. In what world does it make sense for someone living in urban downtown Greensboro to be represented by the same Congress person as someone hours away in rural Ashe County? The Founding Fathers envisioned a republic where representatives are chosen by the people, not where politicians manipulate district boundaries to choose their voters (see Federalist No. 10 from James Madison). The NCGOP's repeated redistricting stands in stark contrast to the principles of fair representation, checks and balances, and government accountability. Thomas Jefferson emphasized the importance of an informed and engaged citizenry. When voters in NC see their districts redrawn repeatedly for political gain, it breeds cynicism and political disengagement, and I fear this is exactly the intention. If North Carolina prioritized democracy, federalism, and political fairness, it would overhaul its redistricting process to ensure transparency, equity, and accountability. First, it should establish an independent redistricting commission to remove partisan influence and draw maps based on nonpartisan criteria like compactness, community integrity, and compliance with the Voting Rights Act. The process should be open to public input, with hearings and online feedback tools. Redistricting should occur only once per decade, unless legally required, to maintain electoral stability. Maps must reflect local communities, not national party agendas, and judicial oversight should be guaranteed to uphold constitutional protections and prevent voter suppression. This isn't a radical process, just a commonsense approach for a good democracy.
10/17/25 1:17 PM	Mrs Shirley Petroline		I am opposed to the redistricting of and redrawing of our current congressional map as it is intended to flip votes to favor one party over the other. This new draw would be the only district in the State decided by less than 10% of the vote leaving NC with no swing districts. This was a call from a tryannt instead of a leader for all the people. We the people includes all the people not just those in current power. This is an abuse of power.
10/17/25 1:17 PM	Brendan Doran	None	The proposal is an unconscionable effort to retain power by disenfranchising particular voters. Instead, you should legislate an end to gerrymandering!!
10/17/25 1:17 PM	Dr Ashraf Alsaidi		This marks the sixth map drawn in just five years. That kind of frequent redrawing isn,Äôt just irregular ,Äî it sets us on a a dangerous trajectory, one that deepens divisions across our state and our country. At this rate, it feels like decisions about North Carolina are being made in Washington instead of by the the people who live here. We need to push back. This is a clear grab for power under the guise of redistricting. Please stop undermining fair representation ,Äî the voters should decide our fate, not those drawing lines behind closed doors.
10/17/25 1:18 PM	Laura Moody		Nope. NC candidates must play fairly and not depend on redistricting to obtain a win. Seems like those who support this gerrymandering are doing so because they are fearful about winning an election. I would call that cheating.
10/17/25 1:20 PM	Ms Jeannine Guthrie	Private Citizen	I oppose gerrymandering in all its forms. The NCGOP is not the only party guilty of rigging elections through redistricting but in recent years it has done so flagrantly. If the NCGOP cannot win elections fairly and without resorting to this kind of manipulation it needs to disband. I oppose the proposed redistributing plan. It is an assault on free and fair elections.

10/17/25 1:20 PM	Mr. Andrew Dancy		UNACCEPTABLE!!!! NC is a state that play FAIR!!! Changing the rules mid-game is not the play!!! GROW UP!!! GET A BACKBONE!! And tell the president that NC will follow the rules and norms of this country!!! We don,Äôt cheat and steal!! We don,Äôt disenfranchise NC VOTERS!!!
10/17/25 1:20 PM	Colleen Murphy		Are you kidding me? I strongly oppose this redistricting plan. It's unnecessary, rushed, and costly. Our state has been redistricted twice since 2020. This isn't normal. Also, the public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal also serves to disenfranchise Black North Carolinians, which I'm sure is your goal, but don't pretend like we aren't aware. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 1:20 PM	Dr Barbara Kamholz		Legislators! Our country was founded on equal rights, and redistricting will undo those. I fail to understand this march straight backward for our beloved country. How can you do this to your kids??????
10/17/25 1:21 PM	Paul Cupp		Don't assume you have a public mandate when the President, you blindly support, barely won the state by 3 percentage points. Maybe you should focus the General Assembly's energy and do what its supposed to be doing- like finalizing a budget so you can continue to fund the critical services to the residents of this state, or helping WNC recover from a disaster (remember that?) that received little from our dear leader. The People of this state are not happy with the way things are headed in this state.
10/17/25 1:22 PM	Mallory Blue		Redistricting should not be a partisan football that changes to promote the party in power. North Carolina districts should be formed to equally represent all North Carolinians, so that every citizen,Äôs vote counts equally.
10/17/25 1:22 PM	Ms Maggie Shelton	NC Voter	To every NC Senator and Representative: DO NOT redraw any NC state, county or city voting Districts boundaries. To do so is robbing NC voters rights to have Constitutional representation in any NC election. We, the voters in NC, elected you to uphold our voting rights in the State of NC. I will not accept any political party cheating me or any NC voter of our voting rights. We elect - you do not!
10/17/25 1:23 PM	Dr, Deborah Hooker		Once again, the GOP-dominated legislature is demonstrating how they cannot win elections on the power of their ideas but must cheat so that they, rather than the citizens of this state, elect our Congressional representatives. This cannot and will not stand. Just wait.
10/17/25 1:23 PM	3025 redistricting commen Kathryn Wheeler		If the NCGA truly represented the citizens of NC, the NCGA would NOT redistrict now to get more GOP seats. That is unconstitutional and cheating and proves that the NC GOP serves only Trump - and does not care about North Carolinians. The NC GOP is killing democracy,
10/17/25 1:23 PM	Robin Schwartz	NA	Dear Honorable Committee Members, As a longtime voter and community member. I believe that the process of drawing congressional maps, redistricting, is outlined in the United States Constitution and should take place every 10 years after the census. Doing this now is not normal. The NCGA has already done this twice since 2020! The proposal is unnecessary and costly especially since we are in the midst of local election now AND it would be better if the NCGA could focus on passing a budget, This is to create maps that elect legislative houses that reflect and represent the residents. Redistricting is supposed to reflect population changes not the will of political parties. Voters should choose their representatives. Representatives should not choose their voters.
10/17/25 1:23 PM	Mrs. Deena Hayes-Greene	Gorrell Street Neighborhood Association	Dear Members of the General Assembly, I urge you to reject the proposed congressional map. North Carolina is a politically balanced state, our elections consistently show near-even support for both major parties. Fair maps should reflect that reality, not distort it. The current proposal would create 11 Republican-leaning districts out of 14, even though voters are almost evenly divided. That is not representative democracy; it,Äôs manipulation that weakens public trust and silences communities, especially communities of color. North Carolinians deserve fair maps that honor our state,Äôs true political diversity and protect every voter,Äôs voice. Please reject this gerrymandered plan and commit to maps that ensure real competition and accountability. Respectfully, Deena Hayes-Greene
10/17/25 1:23 PM	beth Silberman		If you can't win on your ideas and governance...pack and crack/gerrymander. Our state deserves better than to jump to an unpopular/criminal/autocrat. Checks and balances are essential to continue to have a constitutional democracy but I guess our NC legislature disagrees. SHAME

10/17/25 1:23 PM	Irrelevant &irresponsible Cassie Grubbs		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's. Stop supporting systemic changes that are irreparably causing damage to our country. Stand on the correct side of history, not the side that lines your personal pockets. Your positions are to serve the PEOPLE, not to fall in line with hate-led practices or to further your individual self. Do the job you were elected to. Doing the right thing isn't always the easy thing, but it's always the thing that should be done.
10/17/25 1:23 PM	Linda Calloway		I firmly believe in the two party system of our government. America does not need one party making decisions without regard to other input. I wish the parties would work together and not look at the other as the enemy. Redraw the map if you must but don't look at voter registration but at the area it encompasses.
10/17/25 1:23 PM	Jennifer Mullins		I am writing to urge the state NOT to redistricting. There has been no new census, no new studies, no new information to warrant this change.
10/17/25 1:24 PM	Mr. Andrew Johncox		Just food for thought. If legislation is passed that would further skew NC congressional representation that‚Äôs far and beyond what the general public believes in from a popular vote to purely advance a culture war, then that might make you a poor advocate for representative democracy. Want to ensure a level of voice for people from all over NC? Great. Further pushing
10/17/25 1:24 PM	Ms. Robin Hammond		Stop making NC regressive and attacking the strides we have made in civil rights. You don't have to cheat. Let everyone vote in fairly drawn and representative districts and be brave and honest enough to accept the results.
10/17/25 1:24 PM	Eli Hardin		North Carolina consistently votes close to 50/50 in statewide elections as evidenced by the vote for President Trump and Governor Stein in the same election. NC maps should reflect this realty and anything other than 7/7 or at minimum 8/9 congressional maps are a naked partisan power grab. I urge the Republicans in the legislature to stand on their policies if they think they are so great and trust the people of NC with fair maps. No party should have to rig the game to win if they are truly acting in the best interests of the people. Vote no on this map and draw a fair one.
10/17/25 1:25 PM	Lindsey Herr-Borkowskk		Gerrymandering is wrong. People deserve a voice. Our founding fathers fought against taxation without representation and you are set to take people's vote away. PEOPLE vote for their representatives , politicians don't choose their voters. This is wrong and you deep down know it it. It doesn't matter what party does it, it is wrong.
10/17/25 1:25 PM	Ms. Debbie Presley	American Citizen	Republicans are under represented and the maps need to be redrawn. Excellent work.
10/17/25 1:26 PM	Kristin Johnson	n/a	I respectfully oppose the proposed 2025 congressional redistricting plan for North Carolina. The new map raises serious concerns about fairness, transparency, and equal representation for all voters. District boundaries should reflect genuine communities of interest and promote competitive elections, not diminish them. When lines are drawn in a way that appears to predetermine outcomes or favor any political group, it erodes public trust in the democratic process and discourages voter participation. I urge lawmakers to reconsider this plan and commit to a fair, open redistricting process that prioritizes balanced representation and accountability to the people of North Carolina, rather than political advantage.
10/17/25 1:26 PM	Allison Cox		This is shameful! I am so disappointed and disturbed by the redistricting of our state. If you are so unpopular that you can't win without cheating then maybe change your policies! And if you can't do that then resign, you don't belong in the role of public servant if you are unwilling to serve the public!
10/17/25 1:26 PM	Mrs Amy Legge		This is utter bullshit! It is bad enough that a state with about the same number of democrats and republicans has already been gerrymandered into biased representation. Phil Berger and the GOP are not acting in good faith and representing the people's wishes when conducting the business of the state but instead serving the authoritarian, gun wielding business from this fascist Trump regime! This is top down, power politics at its worst and it is not democracy!

10/17/25 1:26 PM	K Taylor	I,Äôm sure you feel invincible as a Republican legislative majority with gerrymandered districts, but you also must know that many Trump voters are deeply regretting their support of him, what with the economic hardships he,Äôs inflicting and the shameful pedophiles his DOJ is covering for. Members of MAGA are furious. You,Äôre planning to hand NC seats over to him at a pretty precarious time, and it could cost you your seats. I would also mention how a continued spineless GOP Congressional majority kowtowing through the remainder of his term would be really bad for the country, too, but it,Äôs abundantly clear to those of us paying attention that you don,Äôt give a shit about that.
10/17/25 1:26 PM	CAROL BOERSEMA	Another redistricting? We have had 6 within 5 years which seems illegal to me as this should only happen every 10 years when the census is taken. The republicans hold more seats due to gerrymandering than they deserve since the state is pretty much 50/50. Spend your time on a budget instead of frivolous measures. This is all getting out of hand!
10/17/25 1:26 PM	Dr. Margaret Bruder	North Carolina is already one of the most gerrymandered states in the US. The Gerrymandering Project (from the non-partisan Princeton Election Consortium) gives NC an F for its current maps. NC has repeatedly elected Democrats to statewide positions, while sending a Congressional delegation that is so skewed towards Republicans that many Democrats feel unrepresented. THE primary tenet of democracy is that the power is invested in the voters who can expect a fair chance to elect representatives who reflect their needs and values. North Carolina ditched this with the aid of SCOTUS when it decided partisan gerrymandering was ok, and that the party in power has a right to do everything possible to keep itself in power. This is a classic case of the politicians choosing their voters rather than voters choosing their representatives. Now the NCGA wants to take this even further illustrating a disdain for everything we thought this country stood for. We had a chance for fair maps in 2020, but the NC Supreme Court decided to overturn relatively fair maps for extreme gerrymandering. Do we really want a system where political maneuvers outweigh what voters want and need?
10/17/25 1:27 PM	No redrawing of maps! Chloe Zachary	I strongly oppose an early partisan redistricting. It is a waste of our badly needed tax dollars intended to weaken the voice of our Black voters.
10/17/25 1:27 PM	Mrs. Karen Collins	I find it appalling that the NCGA cannot pass a budget, but has time to further gerrymander voting districts. I am disgusted that you openly proclaim you are doing it to ,Äúsupport Trump,Äôs agenda,Äù. All this time, I thought we redistricted to make all voices heard & help all be people represented. I understand the growing population & shifting population trends here in NC, but this attempt ensure Republicans will win is absurd. I question the legality of it.
10/17/25 1:27 PM	Elizabeth Dunn	I am appalled by the clearly partisan and racist plan to redraw North Carolina's electoral maps now, rather than after the next census. This is an unnecessary maneuver, which will be costly to the taxpayers. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 1:27 PM	Rosalie Turner	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 1:27 PM	William Apple	Drawing lines in such a way that the Riad is completely split is ridiculous and unlawful. Especially for Greensboro, there should be no world where Boone and Greensboro are represented together. I wholeheartedly hate this.
10/17/25 1:28 PM	Redistricting Susanne Jewell	I don,Äôt think the legislature should decide to redistrict. Let the people vote on it.
10/17/25 1:28 PM	Mr Michael Reilly	Thanks to those who are standing up for North Carolinians to call out the extreme gerrymandering efforts now underway in our state. Republican lawmakers, pushed by the Trump campaign, are redrawing maps to silence voters and secure power and not to serve the people. With Governor Stein unable to veto redistricting plans, true leadership is one of the few defenses we have left to protect fair and diverse representation that honors the Voting Rights Act. Please continue fighting for democracy, for fair maps.
10/17/25 1:28 PM	Ms. Julia Storm	There is absolutely NO need to redraw congressional districts for a third time since the last census! This is not normal; it is unfair. Congressional districts should represent the people and not be gerrymandered to represent Republicans. This is an unnecessary and unwanted waste of money. Instead, you should be passing a budget that serves the interests of all North Carolinians!
10/17/25 1:28 PM	Cory nance	I do not approve this redistricting, and would suggest to have the people of North Carolina vote for or against this
10/17/25 1:28 PM	Ms Wendy Lawrence	This is utter nonsense. Go back to an accurate and fair congressional map. I am one of your constituents and this is a blatant and pathetic attempt to protect a criminal. Stop bowing to him and start doing your job for us.
10/17/25 1:28 PM	No to Gerrymandering Carmen Bondy	Gerrymandering so you can skew districts is cheating and if you have to cheat to win then you,Äôre not actually winning. How you try being better candidates that are worth voting for instead of.

10/17/25 1:29 PM	Bryan Hunt		For the life of me I do not understand the priorities of our legislature. For the last year, I heard you consistently say that Bidenomics destroyed our state and that things were too expensive. So to me, I voted for the party that I believe would help reduce those costs and make things more affordable. But instead of doing that, here we are redrawing a map AGAIN. What are you scared of? If you are doing the right thing, you should not worry about losing power. How about acting like grown adults and sitting down and discussing a common sense budget. One that gives raises for state employees that helps ease the burden of high prices. Instead of submitting to the will of the President at his every becking call. He will not always be the President so the actions that you take now will backfire if the other party were to regain power. Please focus on the issues that are important to North Carolinians. PASS A BUDGET.
10/17/25 1:29 PM	Mrs Tara Lewis		I am asking for all NC Legislators to reconsider this bid that is being made to redistrict in our state AGAIN. There are actual issues in our state that need to be addressed by you. It is being said that you are just at President Trumps beck and call and doing his bidding no matter your duties and obligations to our state and the people of your state. Is that true? Are you going to make that a true statement with your actions? If so, shame on you. You are in a position to truly make a difference for the good for North Carolinians. Surely, this is not what you would choose to do instead. I ask you to consider your role in history and what will be said about what you stood for in your life. Do not vote to redistrict our state once again.
10/17/25 1:29 PM	Tabatha Merchant		In this day of easy technology there's no excuse for redistricting in such a way that is not representative of the state. We should be using the available tools to ensure our federal representation matches our population. In case it's not clear I am not in favor of this proposed redistricting.
10/17/25 1:29 PM	Mr John Sparks		As a proud American and North Carolinian, I stand firmly against gerrymandering,Äîand you should too. In a healthy democracy, voters choose their representatives, not the other way around. Manipulating district lines to serve political interests undermines the integrity of our elections. This isn,Âôt just a problem for North Carolina,Äîit,Âôs a threat to the democratic principles that define the United States.
10/17/25 1:29 PM	Judy Lee Thurber		I strongly oppose the Republican leadership,Âôs proposed redrawing of North Carolina,Âôs Congressional maps. This blatant gerrymandering is a disgraceful abuse of power that silences voters like me and undermines the principles of fair representation and democracy. Every North Carolinian deserves to have their vote count equally, regardless of where they live or which party they support. Redistricting should be transparent, nonpartisan, and guided by fairness,Äînot political self-interest. I urge the General Assembly to reject this plan and adopt an independent redistricting process that restores trust, integrity, and true representation to our elections and our state.
10/17/25 1:30 PM	Brian Schick		This redistricting plan is completely unrepresentative of the people in this state. This will probably fall on deaf ears, however I am compelled to say as a citizen of the state of North Carolina for my entire life, this is not what we want, nor does it help our state in any fashion. It only serves a political function that helps individuals. If redistricting is to happen, then a neutral third party should draw up several options for the people to vote on, not by a few people in the GA who only wish to serve their own interest.
10/17/25 1:30 PM	Brandon Messer		The proposed redistricting is beyond ridiculous. It is nothing more than an attempt to subvert the will of the people by isolating urban areas.
10/17/25 1:30 PM	Cameron Mcelhany		North Carolinians are tired of being political pawns, we want to be represented by people working in the best interest of their constituents. Fair representation is vital to democracy.
10/17/25 1:31 PM	Mr Richard Boulter		Our legislative districts are already absurdly gerrymandered such that most congressional and state districts are a joke and completely non competitive so that we have the worst representation possible. If any redistricting is to be done it should be with the intent of making nonpartisan district maps so that the voters of NC can again elect their representatives as the constitution envisioned rather than the grossly gerrymandered system we now have.
10/17/25 1:31 PM	Poultry Overlord Sean Cox	The Church of Eris	This is a terrible idea, un-American, and anti-democracy. Knock it off, ya chowderheads.
10/17/25 1:31 PM	Harold Breece		There's no reason for our state government to create an even more imbalance in representation. Please do not let this measure pass.
10/17/25 1:31 PM	Redistricting Erin Kirk		My comment is: this is utter BS. No one wants this except those just greedy for power. I 100% oppose this move. It,Âôs abhorrent, and frankly embarrassing. Let the voters decide their representation-don,Âôt let the representatives choose voters. Insanity.
10/17/25 1:31 PM	Martha Gail Hamner		My dad was a lifelong Republican. I respected him very much and I admired his political affiliation because, for him, Republicans were Law and Order, they were Family First, they were about fiscal responsibility. I opposed this proposed Congressional redistricting because it is not about order but about sheer power. It is no about Family but about division and hate. I am sad that the Republican Party has become so vile. I wish good-hearted, truly Christian Republicans would stand up and resist this nonsense and do what is right for the country, not for felon-in-chief Donald Trump.
10/17/25 1:31 PM	Miss Rachel Schroeder		This redistricting is unacceptable, unconstitutional, and a disgrace! A majority of NC residents do not agree with this blatant act of corruption, vote rigging, cheating and stealing of our votes to kiss Trumps ass. We will not stand for it and you will all be held accountable and hopefully locked up for your treason at some point!

10/17/25 1:31 PM	Thomas Harrison		Voting districts should reflect the population of North Carolina and not be influenced by arbitrary lines drawn to benefit one party or group of people over others. This is true no matter which party is currently in power. Legislators should make it easier to vote not more difficult or restrictive. Is it too obvious to state that this is a basic tenet of our form of government? Please vote against any further gerrymandering of voting district lines in North Carolina. Thank you.
10/17/25 1:31 PM	Ms Margaret Whitham		STOP THE BS! Return the map to the one two versions ago. Stop making this state inequitable and unfairly undermining voters ability to be FAIRLY represented. And do you damn jobs and work for ALL North Carolinians not just the MAGA cult you seem to cater to.
10/17/25 1:32 PM	Bailey Hubner		I,Äôm asking you to oppose a redistricting special session and any attempt to redraw North Carolina ,Äôs congressional district maps. This blatantly partisan redistricting process would set a dangerous political precedent and rob voters of their rights. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. You serve the people, not the President.
10/17/25 1:33 PM	Roberta Nix		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 1:33 PM	Patricia Smith		Absolutely shameful to redistrict NC,Äôs maps. Please don,Äôt do this.
10/17/25 1:33 PM	Michaele Dutton		No no no. We needed fairer districts not more naked power grabs from the GOP
10/17/25 1:33 PM	Do not redistrict Neil Matson		I am writing in opposition to the unnecessary and unfair proposed redistricting plan for North Carolina. End gerrymandering.
10/17/25 1:33 PM	Liz Brown		NO, NO, NO to redistricting. It's a deceptive, dishonest, and UNAMERICAN power grab.
10/17/25 1:33 PM	Nikki Arcuri		Redistricting as a power grab is wrong. Stop listening to your wannabe king, Donald Trump. Just because he,Äôs told you to eliminate Democratic seats wherever you can doesn,Äôt mean you should. This isn,Äôt right and you wouldn,Äôt advocate for any other party to do the same.
10/17/25 1:33 PM	Constituent William Evans	Veterans	Have you not have a soul? Do you not carry the body of the holy-spirit inside of you? Christ died on the cross for you to resist the Pharaoh's wickedness.. stand in front your mirror with the Holy Bible pressed against your chest and listen to what GOD is saying to you..Just listen to him.. It will come time when you are longer here, it will be those of your children, their children and their children that will left with your legacy.. It will be written, your aspiration for greed, control and power that will carry!!! I pray for the will of Christ (not Christians) to intercede in all your decisions that would affect your neighbors, your community,Äôs and your life that could be condemned with the never-ending burden of guilt.. I pray for you my fellow follows of Christ!!peace-love-&-blessings???????????
10/17/25 1:34 PM	Roxanne Chesnes		No redistricting under GOP control. I'm just sick of the corruption
10/17/25 1:34 PM	Glenda Bell-Cotten		This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters.
10/17/25 1:34 PM	Mrs Theresa Dellinger		Thanks for doing this!!!! About time republicans grew a pair
10/17/25 1:34 PM	Esq Daniel Lion	Red Hat	I urge the North Carolina General Assembly to reject plans for mid-decade redistricting. This proposal undermines democratic principles and violates the historical norms that have protected fair representation: US House districts are traditionally redrawn only after each decennial census. This established practice provides stability and predictability in elections. Mid-decade redistricting converts redistricting into a political weapon that can be wielded whenever one party seeks advantage, destabilizing the democratic process and forcing candidates and voters to constantly adjust to new boundaries. This Is Partisan Power-Grabbing, Not Legitimate Governance. The North Carolina GOP explicitly acknowledged this is being done following Trump's directive to "secure more GOP seats nationwide." This isn't about fair representation,Äit's about one party unilaterally rewriting rules to entrench power. The current map already heavily favors Republicans (10 of 14 seats after 2023 redistricting). Redrawing it again serves no legitimate policy purpose except partisan gain. This Sets a Dangerous Precedent of Perpetual Conflict. If North Carolina redraws districts mid-decade, it invites endless retaliatory redistricting by whichever party holds power next. California Democrats are already reciprocating similar moves by other states. This race-to-the-bottom approach will consume legislative resources, invite more litigation, and further erode public faith in elections. Stability, fairness, and democratic integrity demand rejecting mid-decade redistricting.
10/17/25 1:35 PM	Jason Bailey		Please stop this extreme gerrymandering. It is not good for our democracy and promotes extremism. It doesn,Äôt represent the people of this state.
10/17/25 1:35 PM	Warren Hicks		This is outrageous! Democracy dies in the arms of the Republicans! There is no way I would support this redistricting plan!
10/17/25 1:35 PM	Anna Levy		I am a US Citizen and a resident of North Carolina. The GOP led NCGA is not putting the residents of NC first by trying to redistrict once again. They are trying to hold onto power and following the orders of their supreme leader, Trump. The citizens of NC deserve better and deserve to have their voices heard by electing the officials that represent them, not the officials that only serve Donald Trump.

10/17/25 1:36 PM	Rev Sherry Driscoll	United MethodistChurch	This is absolutely ridiculous redrawing maps to gain a seat or two in Congress! If the platform of the Republican Party was what most want, you wouldn,Âôt have to cheat to win elections. This state is already severely gerrymandered. Get back to doing meaningful work and helpful work for the people of North Carolina!
10/17/25 1:36 PM	Evyan Durham		I am deeply disturbed by continued success of gerrymandering occurring across the state. Constituents being strong armed into a permanent Republican majority is morally reprehensible. Candidates from all parties should allow their policies and past to dictate elections, not rigged mapping. If it takes a rigged map to ensure your party stays in power, your policies need amending, not a map.
10/17/25 1:36 PM	Fransien Schuller		Stop Congressional redistricting in NC.!!! Instead of making voting difficult for NC residents candidates need to run with the districts in place and win fairly. Republicans already are the majority of the NC legislature and are just trying to keep it that way. Start serving your CONSTITUENTS and NOT only your party! What happened to the morals and ethics of our so called Public Servants?!
10/17/25 1:36 PM	2025 Redistricting Commen Bram Dunehew		This map appears to suppress voters in Guilford County. This is unacceptable. Cabarrus County should be in a single district. District 13 should not exist on both sides of Raleigh, this is unacceptable. City limits should not be divided between districts, yet the three largest cities are. This map has overall poor representation, as unrelated areas are cut into common districts, while adjacent areas that share demographics are separated into two and sometimes three districts. This map is unacceptable.
10/17/25 1:37 PM	Mr Shawn Starks		There's no reason for the GOP to do this. This is not right. You are oppression and suppressing black and brown people in this state. And you are trying to have an power imbalance with your party. GOP you should be ashamed of yourselves. Racism at its best. NC is a Systemic and structural of racism state.
10/17/25 1:37 PM	Elizabeth Slee Arnold		This process was rushed and ridiculously expensive. With these "new" districts, Black North Carolinians will be at a disadvantage and not have the same opportunities as all populations in North Carolina. Fair maps for all in North Carolina are a must for everyone. Let's finish this year before dropping such big changes and diverting the information. We should do it "right" and not slide into a new system with such short notice. Thank you for listening to NC citizens and doing what is right for all.
10/17/25 1:37 PM	Nichole Hollingsworth		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. No party or partisan body should be drawing maps. Instead, an independent commission should do this work on a set schedule, not at the requests/whims of politicians. Districts should be drawn so that they are fair and equal in a way that groups votes by similar needs. Our coastal constituency shouldn't share a district with our central areas. They have different needs and concerns. The maps that have been drawn look like drunken Rorshach test blots and are intentionally drawn to reduce competition. That is not fair or just. Please abandon these maps and try again, drawing for fairness and not partisan politics.
10/17/25 1:38 PM	David Boeke	Citizen	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters.
10/17/25 1:38 PM	Mr. Stephen DeMay		Redrawing North Carolina's congressional district maps is a bad idea. It is not necessary - there is no obligation or requirement to change the current maps - and proceeding with the proposed changes will only make North Carolina's congressional representation less representative of our state's voters, which will then lead to costly court battles. There are many better issues to spend our state's financial and governance resources on than this misguided effort to change our existing congressional maps yet again.
10/17/25 1:38 PM	Vivian Bernstein		This is a 50-50 state. To discriminate against half the constituents in North Carolina is undemocratic. If you care at all about saving our democracy, you won,Âôt do this.
10/17/25 1:38 PM	Daniel Smith		This is a blatant power grab by the NC GOP. STOP WITH THE GERRYMANDERING! History will not remember you kindly.
10/17/25 1:38 PM	CHRISTY GODFREY		Absolutely not this is ridiculous!! It worked just fine when the president was elected !! Never voted a day in my life for politicians but I will be voting blue next election!!!

10/17/25 1:38 PM	Mr Salvatore Arena		This is a blatant and partisan effort to gerrymander and further disenfranchise NC residents and voters. It seems this stems solely in an effort to appease Trump, rather than the constituents and residents of our state. If there are concerns/issues with the current maps/districts, that should be evaluated and newly proposed by a non-partisan group in a way to effectively serve the voters, not cherry pick areas to serve a partisan effort to further gerrymandering across the country.
10/17/25 1:39 PM	Jessica Tuck		I vehemently oppose any new maps for the NC legislature.
10/17/25 1:39 PM	ms Rafia Rebeck		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's. Please remember that you are responsible to the principles of democracy and democratic process.
10/17/25 1:39 PM	Darla Colvin	Resident of North Carolina	As a former Republican voter I would like to voice my objection to the proposed amendment. Redistricting is not in the best interest of the people of North Carolina. Please consider the people before the party
10/17/25 1:39 PM	Mrs Rachel Lucas		I am livid that Republicans are further stealing the voices and votes of Democrats in this state. We have roughly a 50/50 Democratic/Republican voting population, and yet Republicans are arrogating the power to themselves. They have undermined our votes for governor by stripping away his power and taking it for themselves. Republicans are killing our representative system by cheating, and we need to step up and oppose it. We need a new system that fairly represents the people of each state and leads to proportionate representation in Washington.
10/17/25 1:40 PM	REPUBLICANS ARE EVIL Nicholas DelPaoli	AMERICA	STOP STEALING VOTES TO PROTECT PEDOPHILES GOD WILL JUDGE YOU THERE IS A REASON REPUBLICANS HAVE NOT WON THE GOVERNOR (POPULAR VOTE) IN NC IN DECADES!
10/17/25 1:40 PM	Rebecca Carver		Redistricting at this point in time is a waste of time and money and completely unnecessary. Our legislature needs to focus on passing a budget and meeting our states needs for good public schools, safe communities, fully funded Medicaid, and more. No new maps at this time.
10/17/25 1:40 PM	Susan Hudson		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 1:40 PM	Randy Andres		Stop being so decisive and run a free and fair election. We are all one nation of people and none of us are enemies, Americans need to come together and support each other. Stealing elections because you care about money and not people is cruel and unjust. None of you truly support the bible and are actually fake Christians.
10/17/25 1:40 PM	Dr. James Fletcher		The proposed congressional redistricting maps currently before the Legislature represent nothing more than a shameless power grab by Republican lawmakers. Perhaps if our legislators would spend more time addressing the needs of their constituents and less time acting like sycophantic lickspittles to President Trump, they would not feel the need to cheat the system in order to maintain their legislative majority. North Carolina is already one of the most severely gerrymandered states in our nation. Further attempts by the GOP to erase Democratic voices from our state,Äôs representation in Congress will do nothing but further dilute the voices of North Carolina voters, and prove to the people of North Carolina that the Republican Party cares nothing about their opinion - only about staying in power.
10/17/25 1:41 PM	Zac Judkins		You know you are outnumbered in this state, so you have to cheat to win. We won't be silent about this.
10/17/25 1:41 PM	Robin Buchanan	None	I am strongly against the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, by a neutral group, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 1:41 PM	Houston Yager		Hello, this is a forceful request to NOT move forward with the 2025 redistricting of North Carolina
10/17/25 1:41 PM	Ann Franklin	League of Women Voters	This is not in the public,Äôs best interests. You are trying to diminish the voter,Äôs wishes. Anti-democratic.

10/17/25 1:41 PM	C Hudson		This action fundamentally undermines democratic accountability and representation for NC's citizens. I implore you not to do this, please. I love NC so much and we all deserve a voice.
10/17/25 1:41 PM	MARY HEINEY		I do not support redrawing district lines. This is cheating to stay in power and abuse of your legislative authority.
10/17/25 1:41 PM	Dr. Robert McClelland		I have checked out the new map. It looks great! Keep up the good work.
10/17/25 1:42 PM	Julie McMillan		This shouldn,Äôt be called redistricting at all. The proper name for it is gerrymandering, and this is gerrymandering at the most ugly, partisan, and unfair level. You should be ashamed of yourselves.
10/17/25 1:42 PM	Rev Jay Kennett		This plan disenfranchises half of the voters and is particularly aimed at silencing the voice of black voters. We already have extreme gerrymandering and this is action shows you could care less about representing the people of North Carolina and particularly people of color in our state.
10/17/25 1:42 PM	Karen Chandler		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 1:42 PM	Mr. Wythe Keever	Keever family	I oppose any effort to further gerrymander North Carolina's Congressional districts. This is a blatantly undemocratic effort to undermine one of the most fundamental aspects of American democracy: that the voters should be able to select their elected leaders, not. the other way around. I ask for your opposition to this plan.
10/17/25 1:42 PM	Marian Abernathy		Our amazing state is diverse with a range of political views - fairly evenly divided across major political parties and no affiliation. Our congressional representation should reflect our population, not the majority party (at any given time) in the NCGA. The U.S. Constitution requires congressional districts within a state to have populations that are as close to equal as "practicable". State legislative districts must be "substantially equal" in population, a slightly less stringent standard. This "one person, one vote" principle was established by a series of Supreme Court rulings in the 1960s, including Wesberry v. Sanders (1964) and Reynolds v. Sims (1964). We should redistrict after the decennial census, not whenever the majority wants.
10/17/25 1:42 PM	Laurie Mays		I,Äôm opposed to this redistricting plan. It is unnecessary and being pushed for the wrong reason. Please don,Äôt let this happen.
10/17/25 1:42 PM	Rebecca Starr		I am deeply concerned that the proposed districts appear drawn primarily to protect partisan interests rather than to fairly represent the people of North Carolina. Gerrymandering - by any party -undermines the integrity of our democracy. It allows politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. The result is predictable: less competition, lower voter turnout, and a legislature that does not reflect the true political and geographic diversity of our state. This erodes public trust and discourages meaningful civic engagement. Our state deserves districts that promote accountability, transparency, and genuine representation. Fair maps should prioritize compactness, respect for county and municipal boundaries, and the preservation of communities of interest,Äînot political advantage. As a constituent of a rural county (Chatham) and unaffiliated voter, I want a government that listens to and represents all of us, not just those who happen to live in politically engineered districts. I urge you to adopt a nonpartisan, transparent redistricting process that puts the interests of voters first. Thank you.
10/17/25 1:43 PM	Amanda Odegard		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 1:43 PM	Jen Lambert-Kite		This is BS and you know it! You know you want win by vote so you want to rig votes! NC doesn't want your Nazi regime here or your gerrymandering!
10/17/25 1:43 PM	Amy Montoni		This is a shameful theft of representation from the residents of North Carolina. You need to stand up for your constituents rather than bend over for Trump. I hope this backfires on you and no one votes for Republicans because of your terrible policies, your indifference to the well being of the citizens, and your greedy grift of public assets.
10/17/25 1:44 PM	Elizabeth Rambo		1. The previous redistricting already gerrymandered the state to favor Republicans. Taking it further in the same direction is petty and weak, implying the Republicans don,Äôt believe their policies alone can carry the day. 2. An honest and fairer approach would be to have an independent, nonpartisan commission draw the districts.

10/17/25 1:44 PM	Ann Franklin	This is anti-democratic. NC has equal numbers of Democrats and Republicans. Redistributing chooses which voters count. This is not democracy.
10/17/25 1:45 PM	Ms Eva Canitano	DO NOT GERRYMANDER OUR STATE ANY FURTHER! THIS IS AN ABUSE OF YOUR POWER! VOTERS WILL NOT BE HAPPY AND I HOPE MARC ELIAS SUES YOU! THE NCGOP IS AN EMBARRASSMENT! DO BETTER!
10/17/25 1:45 PM	Carolyn Cooper	Please vote no on mid-cycle redistricting. Partisan gerrymandering creates confusion and distrust. It suppresses participation, wastes money and weakens our democracy. Please protect voters.
10/17/25 1:45 PM	Stephanie Loy	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 1:46 PM	Redistricting Leigh Poag	NCGA, you should all be ashamed. What you are doing is taking away the voice of your constituents. How do you sleep at night?
10/17/25 1:46 PM	Amy Miller	Dear The House Select Committee on Redistricting and Senate Elections Committee, I am writing in opposition to the proposed congressional redistricting plan. This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation and unfair representation. In addition, this proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's. Stop this nonsense, focus on passing a state budget and meeting the needs of all North Carolinians.
10/17/25 1:46 PM	Jean Schmeisser	I oppose this proposed redistricting plan unless it is carried out on a totally non-partisan basis. I feel like this is a blatant attempt to disenfranchise even more voters. You know your views are unpopular, but the gerrymandering we have now isn't enough? Do you feel no shame in your quest for power?
10/17/25 1:46 PM	EP Huffine	DO NOT REDISTRICT our state!!!! All the republicans are doing is lying and taking away votes from black and brown people!!!
10/17/25 1:47 PM	Dr Catherine Albrecht	Do NOT disenfranchise Democratic voters or voters of color. Do keep communities intact as electoral districts. STOP promoting partisan politics.
10/17/25 1:47 PM	Paul Dow	Obvious attempts to redraw boundaries for the benefit of a particular political party and when it is not the year following the decennial census is corrupt. Democracy and all that we hold dear as proud residents of North Carolina is suffering from these actions.
10/17/25 1:47 PM	Brian Strickland	When it comes to elections, North Carolina voters expect a fair game ,Äî not one where the referees are also the players. Yet that‚Äôs exactly what partisan gerrymandering does. It‚Äôs like one team moving the goalposts, rewriting the rulebook, and then claiming victory before the first whistle blows. No matter the sport, we all know that‚Äôs cheating. And in a democracy, it‚Äôs unacceptable. According to a recent poll commissioned by Common Cause North Carolina and conducted by the right-leaning firm Opinion Diagnostics, North Carolinians overwhelmingly agree. The survey of 671 registered voters ,Äî including nearly equal numbers of Democrats (30.5%), Republicans (30.4%), and unaffiliated or third-party voters (39.1%) ,Äî found that 84% believe partisan gerrymandering is never okay. That‚Äôs a clear, bipartisan consensus that our maps should be drawn neutrally and fairly, not manipulated for political gain. When lawmakers vote on new congressional districts, they should remember that they serve the people ,Äî not their party. North Carolinians are united in demanding integrity, competition, and accountability in our elections. We deserve maps that reflect our communities, not partisan interests. Fair play is a North Carolina value. It‚Äôs time our leaders honored it.
10/17/25 1:47 PM	Ms. Lynn Adams	This is nothing more than a power grab that will hurt our already horribly gerrymandered state. Anyone who TRULY loves NC cannot believe this is right.
10/17/25 1:48 PM	Cary Fredrick	There is no rational reason we would need to redraw districts, our population has changed by 164k across the entire state since 2023 when we last redrew. With an even smaller change in population from 2020 census. That rate of change puts us firmly at needing to redraw next year post midterms, as our current 800k per federal house rep is still in ratio and our 94k per state house rep is still in ratio. Pass a budget both at the state and federal level, do your jobs and collaborate with each other or no one will get re elected as you have shown you are incapable of preforming the duties required of you by your elected populous. Left right I don't care I unaffiliated. I research my ticket and check your actions and inactions in your term vs what the opposition is promising.

10/17/25 1:48 PM	Elaine Pressley		I am vehemently opposed to yet another partisan gerrymander of our North Carolina voting districts. NC is already infamous for the head-spinning use of partisan gerrymandering to influence political outcome. My beloved state is sadly a national laughingstock because of this. Surely, our legislature has better ways to use our time and tax dollars than despicable partisan nonsense such as this (maybe get your act together and get a long-overdue state budget finalized, for starters). If you can't win without putting your thumbs on the scale, then you're obviously not getting the job done.
10/17/25 1:48 PM	Mr Michael Vassel	Tax payer	what a dismal plan. What exactly are we supposed to be proud of as Americans anymore? Plans like this sound more North Korean than anything American. Do better.
10/17/25 1:48 PM	Robert Walker		I strongly oppose redrawing NC's congressional districts prior to the next census. To do it prior, seems like an attempt to tilt the next election. Have you forgotten that democracy is about reflecting the actual make up of the population?
10/17/25 1:48 PM	Professor Kimberly Cook		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 1:49 PM	Rachel Brylski		You are elected to serve the people of North Carolina, not your own self interests to ensure reelection or keeping a single party in power. This goes for each political party. Instead of redistricting, I implore my state representatives to focus on passing a budget and then ,Äî working alongside each other ,Äî focus on ensuring NC remains one of the greatest states to live and do business in. For both parties: please work together and put your collective differences aside. At this point, my elementary school aged child can compromise better than anyone in an elected capacity can and it,Äôs getting tiresome. Do better.
10/17/25 1:49 PM	DO IT!!! Craig Cochrane		Push the plan through and eliminate ALL racial districts!! Simplify the map!! Eliminate as many convoluted districts designed to provide Democrats with seats they don,Äôt deserve as possible!!!! Make the districts represent the people that live in a geographically homogenous area.
10/17/25 1:49 PM	Emily Parker		It,Äôs absolutely shameful this is your priority when you haven,Äôt done your jobs and passed a budget. You don,Äôt care anything about your constituents, just pleasing Trump. COWARDS!,Äô
10/17/25 1:50 PM	Thoughts on proposal Eliyah Scilex		This proposal is a ridiculous attempt to re-split our local districts and representation. If you wanted actual representation, the attempt would reflect a fair distribution of our population. Every district has different needs, and different groups of people, and gerrymandering for a biased representation is a disgusting use of your position and the power you have. Please give genuine thought into the good of the communities and districts you represent, rather than pushing these updates to grab power.
10/17/25 1:50 PM	Mrs. Kathleen Brooks		I vehemently oppose the redistricting. This is clearly being done because Republicans can,Äôt win without cheating. If everything stays the way it is then Republicans lose, and the Democrats will retake the house and the Senate. Republicans in North Carolina are mad that we had a democratic governor and a democratic lieutenant governor and a democratic Attorney General and this is their way of making sure it can,Äôt go any further than that.
10/17/25 1:51 PM	This is unconstitutional No Absolutely not	My self	Instead of changing a congressional map, why can,Äôt yall do something useful? No one has ever asked for this. No one except far right leaning politicians want this. Trump is elected for his second and final term, why are we changing the congressional district plan based on the 2024 election ? Stop all this useless bullshit and help the people that live in this state and country.

10/17/25 1:51 PM Virginia Doran	Hello, I am writing to express my opposition to the proposed redistricting in the strongest possible terms. The rationale for this redistricting are startlingly unfounded and blatantly partisan. In the 2024 election, Donald Trump won the state by slightly over half of the vote. In that same election, the Democratic candidate for Governor, Josh Stein, won the state by a large margin, receiving 54.9% of the vote. Statewide, we also elected the Democratic candidates for the Attorney General, Secretary of State, and Lieutenant Governor positions. Besides the presidential election, these statewide races are clearly the best judges of the political leanings of our state as a whole. However, with the current North Carolina House map, 10 GOP candidates were elected and only 4 Democratic candidates were elected. To follow the logic of the Speaker's statement that "President Trump earned a clear mandate from the voters of North Carolina," I would challenge that even if this mandate was clear (which it is not, 54% of the state voting for a leader is not equal to the 78% control the GOP will have under this new map), approval for President Trump does not translate in any way to approval for the GOP as a whole. I strongly challenge the notion that 78% of our state supports the GOP's current agenda, given the victories of Democratic candidates at the state-wide level. I have heard leaders call this a response to California's redistricting efforts, which is a laughable notion. The only reason California's redistricting is even a consideration is because state legislatures like North Carolina's have gerrymandered their state maps so badly, a state where 47.8% of residents voted for a Democratic presidential candidate is represented by a group of house representatives that is made up of 71% GOP members. Even if Trump's victory in North Carolina was representative of the state's feelings towards the GOP, it is nowhere near large enough to justify the current representative districts, which have been denounced as unfair by many independent bodies. To worsen this horrible inequality is a tyrannical concept. If you would like to prevent California's redistricting efforts, I am pleased to tell you that the power is actually within your control! Please launch this redistricting process and instate a map redrawn by an independent commission, like several other states have adopted. A return to the 2022 map would divide our state more fairly and prevent any additional partisan redistricting by Democratic states.
10/17/25 1:51 PM Darla Wiedeman	I am urging you NOT to do this mid-cycle gerrymandering. It silences voters. It destabilizes elections, by creating confusion and suppressing participation AND IT WASTES TAX PAYERS MONEY! It weakens democracy. Our democracy depends on FAIR representation NOT shifting lines for partisan convenience, AND this is for Mr. Trump convenience, as he asked Mr. Berger to do this in exchange for a favor!! Its NOT fair or right or moral or ethical!! Please do not redraw the maps.
10/17/25 1:51 PM Chelsea Pemberton	This is a blatant attempt to subvert democracy, the will of people of NC, and the law, to gain an unwarranted House seat for one political party, the party of Donald Trump. It's an embarrassingly obvious maneuver to curry favor with the president who fancies himself a King and instead of standing up for democracy and the rule of law, NC state GOP leaders are bending over backwards to try to game the system for their own political benefit instead of doing their jobs, which is to operate in the best interests of North Carolina residents. This is a slippery slope towards authoritarian rule and has to be stopped.
10/17/25 1:51 PM Gillian Galdy	This proposal is not only unnecessary, rushed and costly, it is an obvious effort to appease the White House and ignore the voices of your constituents. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction.
10/17/25 1:51 PM Mrs Jennifer White	The Republican-leadership is making an un-ethical, anti-democratic, and just downright abusive power grab in their move to re-draw (yet again) NC's congressional maps. This revision would eliminate the possibility of an election that reflects the values of the US constitution where the people's voices are heard and they have the power to pick their own governing representatives. Instead the re-drawing would guarantee republicans seats and eliminate all democratic voting in NC. I am ashamed of anyone who supports this re-drawing of the maps.
10/17/25 1:51 PM This is just wrong Carrie Smith	Republicans know the redistricting plans are wrong. But the Right knows only how to be wrong. At least as of the past 10 years. NC is a 50/50 state. This redistricting plans steals the voice from the people of NC and sends us faster down the road to a dictatorship. As a North Carolinian all my life, I take pride in my state. But I,Äôm ashamed of those that claim to represent it. Please abandon this terrible plan.

10/17/25 1:51 PM	Michael O'Rourke		This redistricting plan is a disgrace. It's a slap in the face of North Carolinians and democracy. There is no justification for disenfranchising voters with such an obvious and cynical gerrymander, especially in these current times where the values our country was built upon are under threat from authoritarians and political extremists.
10/17/25 1:52 PM	Blake Hart		There is no need to redistrict in-between censuses. It would be appalling to see our representatives move to further disenfranchise citizens here.
10/17/25 1:52 PM	No Redistricting Christie Roth		How are we on our third redistricting in five years when we're supposed to have one in ten. This is a waste of time and money. Please stop wasting both of our times and monies.
10/17/25 1:52 PM	Holly Harris		No to redistricting!
10/17/25 1:52 PM	Mark Powell		Don,Äôt mess with the maps! Especially for this president, he,Äôs out of control!
10/17/25 1:52 PM	Cathy Bray		New map looks good!
10/17/25 1:53 PM	Ms Jean Bergey		Please focus on passing a much-needed budget. Keep NC elections honest - end all gerrymandering.
10/17/25 1:53 PM	Just Maps Walter Hjelt Sullivan	Individual	The maps that define our voting districts can justly represent the range of political opinions or they can unjustly give unfair power to certain people. In 2024, just over 50% of the people in NC voted for Republican candidates to the House of Representatives. Just under 50% voted for Democrats. But those roughly equal votes sent 10 Republicans (over 70% of the seats) to Congress. Republican votes were more than twice as powerful. This is not government of the people, by the people, or for the people. This is unjust. It should be changed.
10/17/25 1:53 PM	William Irwin		There's no need to redistrict. It costs the county voting offices mientras and confuses voters.
10/17/25 1:53 PM	Mrs Julie Risedorf		No, no, no, no! The Constitution and its amendments are supposed to protect us, not used against us. Shame on you!
10/17/25 1:54 PM	Caroline Cox		The people of North Carolina deserve districts that represent them and let their voices be heard. The proposed changes will hinder democracy in my home state. I am very disappointed in this proposal.
10/17/25 1:54 PM	S Sala		It is NOT the responsibility of NC to correct or offset the actions of another state in our union. ALL NC efforts should be focused on FAIR AND FREE ELECTIONS FOR ALL, ABSENT OF ANY RIGGING THROUGH CONVENIENT AND CORRUPT GERRYMANDERING. Get the priorities straight and fast. REPRESENT THE PEOPLE and stop pandering to the mentally unwell president and his Project 2025 agenda.
10/17/25 1:55 PM	I do not agree with plan Natalie Weaver		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 1:55 PM	Redistricting msps Barbara Lang		This is unnecessary and will dilute the black population voting rights. It is a blatant power grab and shameful.
10/17/25 1:55 PM	Ms Wendy Ralph		The fact that our legislature is trying to redraw any of the already over-gerrymandered maps in our state is abhorrent. Even the constituents on the right don,Äôt approve. Don,Äôt think we will forget about this come mid-terms. You guys can try to hold on to power, but this is bigger than you now. You won,Äôt have the votes, even with your rigged maps.
10/17/25 1:55 PM	Anna Roberge		It is blatantly obvious that redrawing the congressional map at this time is SQUARELY an attempt to tilt the midterms in Republicans' favor. If the Republicans are so popular in NC, then there is no need to put your thumb on the scales of democracy. Why do you think yoru constituents are so stupid as not to see exactly what the Republicans are attempting to do?
10/17/25 1:55 PM	Carly P		Do not redraw the map. Listen to your citizens and be on the right side of history
10/17/25 1:55 PM	Citizen Beverly Carson	Citizen	Each person living in North Carolina should vote for their representatives rather than a republicans choosing the representatives. Districts should be selected by independent panel in North Carolina. Fair way for all states is best. The President should not be allowed to have the districts drawn to suit him. I am an optimist so hoping many republicans will vote for democrats to make this attempt to destroy our democracy void. Fair district lines I believe would encourage more citizens voting and believing their participation matters.

10/17/25 1:55 PM	Ian Galdy	Octal Sound Entertainment Company	As a proud North Carolina business owner, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the continued practice of gerrymandering and the proposed redistricting of our state,Äôs voting maps. Gerrymandering undermines the foundation of our democracy by allowing politicians to choose their voters, rather than letting voters choose their representatives. This manipulation of district boundaries dilutes the voices of communities, erodes public trust, and creates an uneven playing field where fair competition and accountability are lost. As someone who employs North Carolinians and contributes to our state,Äôs economy, I believe that transparent and impartial representation is essential for a stable business environment and for attracting future investment. Businesses thrive when citizens feel confident in their government and when policies reflect the genuine will of the people. I urge you to reject partisan redistricting and to support an independent, nonpartisan process that ensures every vote counts equally. North Carolina deserves fair maps and fair representation. Thank you for your time and for considering my perspective.
10/17/25 1:55 PM	Ms Marty Adams		This is meant to happen every 10 years. This is costly and unjust. Focus on passing a budget, not gerrymandering our districts unfairly. The citizens end up paying for costly redistricting and ensuing litigation. Do your jobs, represent all of the citizens of NC.
10/17/25 1:56 PM	Mrs Catherine Tata		This is wrong and you are being shamefully manipulated by the trump administration and congressional GOP. Stand up for fair maps. Do not railroad changes through during this election period that are obviously based on racism. Do what is right for fair representation and protect your voters, not by manipulating boundaries that will favor one class or race.
10/17/25 1:56 PM	Ms Kristyn Strong		I strongly opposed this attempt to suppress voices and our fragile democracy. Please stop this insanity.
10/17/25 1:56 PM	Heather Wright		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 1:56 PM	Danielle Cruz		We do not stand with this! Unacceptable.
10/17/25 1:56 PM	Cynthia Tripp	Voter	Your constituents are not served by this constant focus on political gamesmanship.... constantly jockeying for the next election as with this latest redistricting ploy. Nor are most of us pleased. It's your job to please your constituents, NOT DONALD TRUMP. Does that matter to any of you? Do your job and approve a budget and try to find a way to meet the healthcare needs of ALL your constituents. THAT'S YOUR JOB!
10/17/25 1:56 PM	Nyctea Martell	NA	Half of our state is not Republican. The map should not show as majority Republican the way that this redistricting would make it. We deserved unbiased and nonpartisan districts. No more gerrymandering.
10/17/25 1:56 PM	Will never vote GOP again Callip Hall		The proposed redistricting of North Carolina is such a paragraph that makes a purple state no longer represents its people. If this moves forward, I assure you, I will never vote for a Republican again.
10/17/25 1:57 PM	Mr. Milburn Ratteree	Retired Teacher	I am a conservative American and I want my democracy back...gerrymandering means that politicians pick voters instead of the other way around...it's wrong and it reduces politicians' accountability to the people. Place country over rigged party politics...this has to end.
10/17/25 1:57 PM	John Williamson		I respectfully ask that you do not gerrymander the great state of North Carolina any further.
10/17/25 1:57 PM	Dr. Elizabeth Fitzgerald		This is abuse of your power again. The people should choose their representatives and not the other way around. Gerrymandering is WRONG! Win because you are voted in and don,Äôt cheat!

10/17/25 1:57 PM	Kelly Gorsche	I am writing as a North Carolina resident, and I am furious about the talk of redistricting because the President demanded it. That is not leadership, that is submission. Our state deserves officials who work for the people who live here, not for politicians in Washington looking to manipulate local lines for their own gain. Let me be clear. Redistricting should serve the people, not political power plays. When our elected officials allow outside pressure to dictate representation, it is not just disappointing, it is dishonest. It is cheating, plain and simple. We trusted you to protect fair and transparent governance, not to play along with top down partisan interference. If this is truly about democracy, then prove it. Refuse to redraw maps for anyone,Äôs political convenience. Commit to open hearings, published drafts, and genuine citizen input before any vote. Stand up publicly and state that North Carolina,Äôs representation will not be hijacked by federal influence. North Carolina is full of smart, caring people who notice what is going on, and we are watching. If our government caves to political theater instead of protecting integrity, we will remember it when ballots are cast. You were elected to lead, not to be led. Do better! Sincerely, Kelly Gorsche' Durham, NC 27713
10/17/25 1:57 PM	Ms. Jennifer Ring	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. The current maps were adopted only one year ago. Our state should be above partisan tactics such as these. You represent ALL of us, not just the ones who agree with you.
10/17/25 1:57 PM	D Hoover	GOP gerrymandering is outrageous. They can't win because of unpopular policies so they resort to cheating. Pathetic and weak.
10/17/25 1:57 PM	Redistricting Maps Kelly Allen Scott	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 1:57 PM	Unfair redistricting Traci Rider	It is not your role to ‚Äúprotect President Trump‚Äôs agenda, which means safeguarding Republic control of Congress.‚Äú As stated by Mr. Berger. That is for the voters to decide, so stop trying to rig the system. This is only happening because you know how unpopular the Republicans are becoming. And rightfully so. From the perspective of an independent voter who has repeatedly voted R, this is shameful. If the shift in deep red districts across the country are any indication, you all will be voted out regardless.
10/17/25 1:58 PM	Susan Jones	As a citizen of this state, I vehemently oppose this redrawing of districts at this time. I implore you not to touch the current maps and let each person and party win or lose on their ideas and solutions to citizen's problems, not because of map manipulation. Respectfully.
10/17/25 1:58 PM	Mrs Elaine Turner	Redistricting now nor what our state needs. Not only would it cause confusion, but it is unfair to the voters. We do not want a state that is completely run by Republicans.
10/17/25 1:59 PM	Jessica Pappas	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. While our current maps are already massively gerrymandered, these maps represent a further slide down into partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. Rather than take orders from the White House, you should be looking at your policies and priorities to determine why the Republican party's platform is so unpopular that you can't win in free and fair elections, and so must gerrymander to hold on to power - digging in like ticks. Try to actually appeal to voters!
10/17/25 1:59 PM	Will Pate	North Carolina consistently votes near 50/50 between political parties; this redistricting proposal is obvious and blatant gerrymandering. The citizens of North Carolina deserve a map that ensures we have competitive elections so all get the opportunity for fair representation.

10/17/25 1:59 PM	Ms Jeannie Gold	Unaffiliated	Absolutely not, this is absolutely an abuse of power. You are literally cheating to redraw the lines, because you can,Äôt get more votes that way. We are literally under a fascist regime now, where you absolutely think the constitution is a meaningless piece of paper. You are doing your fellow constituents a great disservice by being power hungry cheaters and we absolutely see you for what you really are, an absolute disgrace to this state.
10/17/25 2:00 PM	Eric Martineau		fuck you
10/17/25 2:00 PM	Bruce Gardner		I oppose any redistricting by either the House Select Committee on Redistricting or the Senate Elections Committee at this time because: This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's. Thank you for taking into account the opinions of the general citizenry.
10/17/25 2:00 PM	melissa walker		This is illegal. Win on your ideas not your gerrymandering.
10/17/25 2:01 PM	Tommasina Jones		Knock off your pathetic gerrymandering!
10/17/25 2:01 PM	Ashton M		I would like to express my disgust with the proposed redistricting maps. These maps are explicitly an anti-democratic power grab to, in Phil Berger's own words "safeguard Republican control of Congress." A much better way to safeguard control would be to perform the basic duties of the General Assembly, such as passing a budget. This proposal is an unnecessary, rushed and costly distraction from the real needs of North Carolinians. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 2:01 PM	Mr Jarvis Washington-Jackson		Good afternoon, I don't think it's right to be doing this redistricting out of the blue. I think if this is to be done it should be done on the census like it's supposed to be. The fact that this is being done after only a year ago redistricting is kind of crazy. If there's a push to try to get another seat, then convince others of your ideas in order to make that happen. I think we all know that if the shoe was on the other foot, there will be outrage by the opposite party. So I think in the best interest of the state and in the best interest of fair policy, this redistricting should be held off until the next census. Honestly we should have a nonpartisan board decide on Districting. In conclusion, do not have this redistricting! Vote down this initiative!
10/17/25 2:01 PM	Paige Mccotter		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 2:02 PM	Tana Liu-Beers		House Speaker Hall and Senate President Pro Tem Berger forget that they work for us, the people of North Carolina. The NCGA,Äôs job is to represent the residents of North Carolina, for example, by passing a state budget. They have failed to do their basic jobs and are instead attempting to steal the fundamental right of North Carolina voters to choose their own representatives. This rushed redistricting proposal is a shameful and illegal power grab.
10/17/25 2:02 PM	Renate Roper		NO Redistricting!
10/17/25 2:02 PM	Lynda Parlett		I am strongly opposed to further redistricting in our state. Equal representation is extremely important to NC and particularly to me. District maps should be prepared according to the established rules and should not be changed midstream.
10/17/25 2:02 PM	Hector Lopez		It is not fair to do this redistricting. Redistricting means that you are reducing competition so that you will win even though you didn't win.

10/17/25 2:02 PM	Janet Shorter	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 2:03 PM	Bob Jones	Fight for your people and not your government.
10/17/25 2:03 PM	Ms Heather Tracy	The new redistricting maps continue to be gerrymandered and unfair, and you know it. You don't work for Trump, so stop kowtowing to him. Do what's right and fair for EVERYONE in North Carolina. This foolishness has gone on long enough.
10/17/25 2:03 PM	Mrs Beth KOSKOSKI	I am for redistricting by the GOP. The democrats have been doing this for years.
10/17/25 2:03 PM	Mr. NJ Koone	This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters.
10/17/25 2:03 PM	Danielle Galdy	I am writing to express my huge concern, disapproval, and outrage over the redrawing of NC district maps. As a resident of NC, this proposal goes against our voices and the reasonings are ludicrous. 1. This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. 2. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. 3. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's. I ask politely that you hold off this proposal and to listen to the people who put you in office and not a man who will happily throw you under the bus without hesitation. Thank you.
10/17/25 2:04 PM	Juliana de Groot	This is a horrific abuse of power! This destroys democracy and ensures that votes are not made equal. Shame!
10/17/25 2:04 PM	Susan Creech	Leave the districts alone.
10/17/25 2:04 PM	Mrs. Kristen Driscoll	This redistricting does not serve the people of NC well. You are seeking to disenfranchise nearly half of NC voters in service of a president who does not follow the law. Also, this something that should only be done after a new census, and I believe this redistricting is likely in violation of state law. Do you care about your constituents' needs? Then pass a budget and pay our teachers and law enforcement officers what they deserve. Don't spend any more time on trying to help President Trump dissolve free and fair elections.
10/17/25 2:05 PM	Mrs. Raines Kuppin	I am writing to express my deep concern about recent efforts to redraw voting districts in ways that appear to favor one political party over another. Gerrymandering,Äîregardless of which party engages in it,Äîundermines the principles of fair representation and weakens the foundation of our democracy. Every voter in North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote carry equal weight. When districts are manipulated for partisan advantage, it erodes public trust in our electoral system and discourages civic engagement. I urge you to prioritize transparency, fairness, and the will of the people as you consider any redistricting proposals. Please support an independent redistricting process that ensures competitive elections and truly representative government. Thank you for your service and attention to this important issue.
10/17/25 2:05 PM	Jeanette McCall	I am against! Redistricting sabotages accurate representation. It violates the constitution and the principles of free and fair elections.
10/17/25 2:05 PM	Gerrymandering much? Sterling Vaden	Rather obvious from the tortured shape of the proposed districts that the intent is to gerrymander away all representation for 50% of the NC electorate. It is quite apparent to me that the GOP is corrupt to the core.
10/17/25 2:05 PM	Tom Garlock	Don,Äôt. Just don,Äôt.
10/17/25 2:05 PM	Mr Roderick Brown	Please do not do this. It is un-American, hyper-partisan and debilitatingly short-term thinking. It forces the views of one side over the legitimate rights of the other. We are better than this.

10/17/25 2:06 PM	Fran Thomas	I will show up and pickett every day if you proceed with this nonsense!
10/17/25 2:06 PM	Summer Woodside	I do not approve of the current plans to redistrict in NC. Gerrymandering, especially partisan gerrymandering, creates serious disadvantages for both voters and the democratic process. When political parties manipulate district boundaries to secure an advantage, it undermines the principle of fair representation by allowing politicians to choose their voters rather than voters choosing their representatives. This often leads to uncompetitive elections, where incumbents face little opposition and have reduced accountability to constituents. It can also marginalize groups of people, dilute their voting power, and weaken community representation. Furthermore, partisan gerrymandering fosters political polarization, discourages voter participation, and erodes public trust in the fairness and legitimacy of government institutions. Ultimately, it distorts democracy and limits the voice of the people in shaping policy and leadership.
10/17/25 2:07 PM	Ms Joyce Black	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 2:07 PM	Cynthia Scarborough	I strongly oppose further gerrymandering congressional districts and subverting the will of the citizens of North Carolina. What is the reason to redraw maps? For partisan, unchecked, political power? If you want to actually represent the people of North Carolina and the legislature feels it's important to redraw maps - bring it to the people as a referendum on the November ballot just as California is doing. The legislature's job is to represent the best interests of North Carolinians, not to bend the knee to the self-anointed King President. I suggest you do your actual job and pass a budget instead of playing retribution politics with other states thousands of miles away.
10/17/25 2:07 PM	Please don't do it Jeffrey Gaines	NC's districts are already Gerrymandered enough as it is. Please don't further disenfranchise NC voters.
10/17/25 2:07 PM	Shay Terry	Redistricting is illegal political manipulation and I will not stand for it!
10/17/25 2:07 PM	June Halpin	I am 100% against a new redistricting map! In the past six years the NC GOP have redistricted at least four times! And, every time the GOP congress people have made it more & more difficult for my vote to count! The only way I would agree to another redistricting is if it is performed by a neutral, unbiased association. You cannot call yourselves good Christian leaders if you continue to cheat by redistricting. Let every North Carolina citizen have their voice count. After all, that is your job to take care of all your constituents no matter their political affiliation.
10/17/25 2:08 PM	Drake McNeary	I am opposed to redistricting as a way to underrepresent the majority of voters.
10/17/25 2:08 PM	Dr Heather Coan	I DO NOT SUPPORT redistricting.
10/17/25 2:08 PM	Ann Hughes	Your representation is for constituents in NC, not an authoritarian president in Washington. If the population is not adequately and FAIRLY represented in Congress, why bother claiming you,Äôre working for the benefit of NC residents. Have you no moral compass or shame? If you can,Äôt win fairly, maybe you aren,Äôt right for the job. Don,Äôt make this state an embarrassment like TX.
10/17/25 2:08 PM	Misty Halsey	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 2:09 PM	Michael Wehner	I vehemently oppose the proposed gerrymandered redistricting plan. You represent the people of North Carolina. Stop kowtowing to that criminal in the White House.

10/17/25 2:09 PM	Marquetta Dickens	Dear Members of the House Select Committee on Redistricting and the Senate Elections Committee, I am writing to express strong opposition to the proposed Congressional district plan. North Carolina has a long and painful history with gerrymandering, and this new proposal continues that harmful pattern. Gerrymandering,Äîwhether partisan or racial,Äîundermines the fundamental principles of democracy and hurts every resident of our state. When district lines are drawn to protect political power rather than to represent people, entire communities lose their voice. Gerrymandering dilutes fair representation, discourages voter participation, and entrenches division. It allows elected officials to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their leaders. This breeds mistrust in the system and weakens accountability, as representatives no longer have to respond to the needs of diverse communities. The consequences are real and far-reaching: ,Ä¢Rural and urban communities are carved apart, weakening their collective power. ,Ä¢Communities of color,Äîespecially Black and Latino voters,Äîare packed or cracked in ways that silence their voices. ,Ä¢Competitive elections disappear, leading to extreme policies that do not reflect the will of the electorate. ,Ä¢Voters grow disillusioned, believing their vote does not matter,Äîand too often, it truly doesn,Äôt under gerrymandered maps. Gerrymandering does not just harm one political party,Äîit harms all of us. It deepens polarization, reduces collaboration, and prevents progress on critical issues such as education, health care, economic development, and infrastructure. North Carolina deserves a fair system where leaders are elected because they earn support from constituents, not because maps are engineered to guarantee outcomes. I urge you to reject the proposed map and adopt a transparent, community-driven redistricting process that prioritizes fairness, geographic integrity, and equal representation. North Carolinians deserve districts that reflect real communities,Äînot political interests. Our democracy is strongest when every voice counts.
10/17/25 2:09 PM	Dylan Ledford	The redistricting plan is blatant gerrymandering. We need a plan that is unbiased based on political parties. This map does not reflect the will of the people. I dont see how in a 50/50 state that one of the parties should have 75% of the votes. How is this fair?
10/17/25 2:09 PM	Francesca Quinn	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 2:10 PM	Mr. Christopher Weil	Bipartisan or non-political drawing of maps is the most responsible way to ensure all North Carolinian voices are equally represented. Gerrymandering district lines better suit a political party is unethical and loses confidence from your constituents.
10/17/25 2:10 PM	Christina Huyck	Please redistrict the map! Democrats ruined it so only their party would get elected. Please fix it so we have more fair representation for all the non-Democrats
10/17/25 2:10 PM	Ashley Taylor	In your hearts, you know this is wrong. NC is a 50/50 state, and we are already outrageously gerrymandered. You should focus on passing a budget and then sell your policies to the voters. If they are as popular as you say they are then you will win. Simple as that. Manipulating the maps to please Donald Trump is shameful.
10/17/25 2:11 PM	Wanda Hanacek	Mid cycle redistricting undermines voter confidence. When legislators redraw districts between consensus years, it,Äôs rarely about fairness, it,Äôs about trying to gain power and silence voices and make democracy less stable. I am against redrawing maps between census years.
10/17/25 2:11 PM	Janet Saucier	I am opposed to redistricting in any way, shape or form that gives one political party or candidate an advantage over any other political party or candidate in such a way as to to gain more of the public's votes for said party or candidate. It is unconstitutional for any party to "stack the deck."
10/17/25 2:11 PM	LaDonya Green	as a concerned constituent to express my strong opposition to any attempt to manipulate district maps in a way that suppresses fair representation or weakens the power of voters like myself. Redistricting should serve the public, not political interests. When politicians redraw maps to protect their own power or to silence certain communities, it undermines democracy and damages public trust. I urge you to support fair, transparent, and nonpartisan redistricting processes that ensure every vote counts equally,Äîregardless of political affiliation, race, or geography. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around.

10/17/25 2:11 PM	Ellen Ware		Gerrymandering (and repeatedly so between census) is one of the worst forms of voter suppression of which there are sadly too many in NC. Are you so afraid that your work ethic and record are soooo poor that you,Äôll never be re-elected unless you cheat? How sad is that and shows incredibly poor representation for the people of NC.
10/17/25 2:11 PM	Mr. Seth Ervin		This is a shameful abuse of power. You should allow your constituents to give you power, not rig the game so you retain it. You represent us. If you pursue this you will be out of step with the people you represent. Do not do this. Stay true to the oaths you've taken to represent all North Carolinians, not just Republicans.
10/17/25 2:11 PM	Brenda Collins		It's past time to stop the gerrymandering. A bipartisan group needs to draw the districts, not MAGA loving right wingers who DO NOT represent a majority of North Carolina residents.
10/17/25 2:12 PM	Diana Pineda		Shame on all of you. Disenfranchising voters instead of helping North Carolinians whose healthcare costs are rising, communities losing hospitals, western NC that still needs help, passing a budget. What you,Äôre doing is supporting a petty tyrant and grabbing power that,Äôs not yours any other way. If this passes, I hope all North Carolinian people strike and companies pull out of this state.
10/17/25 2:12 PM	Don't do it! Emry O'Neill	Student	You are taking away the voices of NC voters unjustly and breaking up a historically democratic district that deserves to have their voice heard. Politics should be about the people not the power. Do better.
10/17/25 2:13 PM	Mrs. Denise Jorgenson		North Carolinians should all have fair representation in Congress and redistricting should not be used to disenfranchise people as a means to gain unfair advantage. Redistricting was done in 2023 and legislators should not be carving out ridiculous districts any further than they already are.
10/17/25 2:13 PM	Joyce Slayton		We have so many problems in North Carolina that you are not addressing, and instead, you are spending time trying to slant the playing field so that you will unfairly win at the next election. Why? So that you can continue to be useless, but collect a beefy paycheck whcile doing nothing for the people. Nope, not on my watch. I will vote against all of you who are pushing through this awful redistricting plan and will campaign for your opponents!
10/17/25 2:13 PM	A dangerous road A D		In almost every election since 1988, about half of North Carolina's citizens vote for the Republican candidate, while the other half votes for the Democrat. Intentionally re-drawing our districts to be 80/20% in either direction will disenfranchise millions of voters. We all see what you're doing. And we know you don't -care- we can see. But this is dangerous for every family that calls NC home. I am worried for the future--both mine and yours. By taking away people's votes, you're removing a huge pressure valve for public safety. Historically, having millions of angry people with no democratic avenues to express that anger leads to high crime and political violence. I don't want our beautiful state to go further down this dangerous road.
10/17/25 2:13 PM	Dani Carlin		I,Äôm am voicing my major disapproval for the prosal that redistricts the maps of NC. Not only is this a waste of time and cost consuming, it discredits and silences many black NC residents in these districts. I encourage that this process be paused so voters have their right to speak.
10/17/25 2:14 PM	Barry Cleasdale		I support this redistricting effort
10/17/25 2:14 PM	Margaret Lance	Resident of North Carolina	I don,Äôt think we should redraw districts to favor on party over another. Let people vote and let their vote count. It,Äôs what makes America great. Cheating and rigging the system by any party is wrong. Because all of us are represented by the people we elect even the ones who didn,Äôt vote for you. Do your job with something we,Äôve truly lost, HONOR AND EMPATHY.
10/17/25 2:14 PM	Caera Thornton		If you can,Äôt win elections without cheating, you don,Äôt deserve to win elections. You answer to We the People. Stop gerrymandering our state.
10/17/25 2:14 PM	Mrs Claire Daugherty		I wholeheartedly disagree with the proposed maps. This will continue to push people that do NOT represent their constituents into our legislature. We need maps that make sense: clean lines, clear districts. We do NOT need maps that punish urban areas and are drawn looking like a creek path. Do better for all of us. I am a former Republican that moved to Independent because of the LAST time you redrew the maps. Make things fair. Your conscious will thank you, as will all of the people of North Carolina. Let those Urban areas HELP the rural ones!
10/17/25 2:14 PM	Tim Rosebrock		Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. I oppose this!
10/17/25 2:14 PM	LaToya McKnight		You cannot gerrymander your way out of bad policy! North Carolinians are suffering and WE KNOW who's to blame, this corrupt GOP! You will be voted out and these illegal won't save your seats! "The house of the wicked will be destroyed, But the tent of the upright will flourish" Proverbs 14:11

10/17/25 2:15 PM	Dr. and Mrs. Jeffrey and Lisa Kline	We are firmly against gerrymandering, especially mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering which disenfranchises and silences voters. Making an effort to gerrymander North Carolina (which is already more gerrymandered than almost any other state) is a an effort to unfairly manipulate an election when a party knows that people don't like their policies. This practice should be outlawed in the United States, as it silences and divides voters, destabilizes elections, suppresses participation, and weakens democracy. We urgently stand against this.
10/17/25 2:15 PM	Karen Balcom	I am disgusted by the plan to draw new congressional maps in order to deliver another seat to the GOP. You are stealing the voice of the state,Äôs citizens, rather than doing things that actually help people. You care about power and money and nothing else. I cannot express how much I oppose this plan and I hope it backfires.
10/17/25 2:16 PM	Tim Thirion	Absolutely not. Incumbents are proposing redistricting solely because they know they won't win the next election. Stop this nonsense immediately.
10/17/25 2:16 PM	Kaitlin Olek	I am writing to express my strong opposition to the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. I believe these maps would do lasting harm to our democracy by entrenching partisan power, undermining fair representation, and excluding the public from a process that should belong to all of us. North Carolina deserves fair maps drawn in the open, with input from the people,Äînot engineered outcomes. I urge you to choose fairness, transparency, and the public interest over partisan advantage.
10/17/25 2:16 PM	Jennifer Propst	The congressional drawn map in NC is studied in college classes as a case study for one of the most biased states in the US and immoral standing. It guarantees that the constituents votes are ignored should they not vote republican. Now you,Äôre not even trying to hide it. Trump verbally demands states to redraw maps in favor of the GOP to have a chokehold on our representation that no longer values the people of this state. It,Äôs embarrassing and insulting that our leadership is so far removed from the everyday person and does not respond to our current needs. I will hold those involved in the redistricting map fully accountable for the future dismantling of our government and constitution if the redraw takes place.
10/17/25 2:16 PM	Julie Howard	Have you no morals?!? Gerrymandering is wrong and hurts our state tremendously. Pandering to this president is wrong for your constituents. Redistricting outside of census years is unlawful. Remember who you work for. North Carolinians deserve better. We demand fair maps and fair voting that represents the people of NC.
10/17/25 2:17 PM	John Brown	I,Äôm deeply ashamed in the modern day GOP. They are extremely unethical and, by definition, are simply lawfully evil individuals who cannot win without cheating. Gerrymandering should never be used by anyone. Every time the vote comes up in Congress to outlaw gerrymandering, republicans never support the measure. If the GOP go through with this, I will actively push my neighbors and others in NC to stop filing and paying taxes to the state. In fact, I,Äôm at the point of not wanting to pay federal taxes, either. No taxation without representation was a core motto during the American Revolution whenever we wanted the British government out of the colonies. Republicans are now just an authoritarian regime who support kings instead of representing and helping their constituents. Shameful.
10/17/25 2:18 PM	Suzanne Sievers	Please vote against further redrawing these maps!
10/17/25 2:18 PM	Mrs. Diane Williamson	I strongly disagree with Republicans redistricting the state! It has already been divided up into unfair districts and I,Äôm sure it would be even more unfair to voters, especially those of color. Do not redistrict NC!
10/17/25 2:18 PM	Mrs. Hope Hayes	Dear Members of the General Assembly, I write in full support of the letter submitted by Deena Hayes-Greene urging you to reject the proposed congressional map. As a North Carolinian deeply invested in equity, representation, and community trust, I echo her concerns and call for a fair, transparent redistricting process that honors the political diversity of our state. North Carolina,Äôs electorate consistently demonstrates near-equal support for both major parties. Any map that skews representation,Äîsuch as the current proposal which favors one party in 11 out of 14 districts,Äîis not only unjust, it undermines the foundational principles of democracy. Such manipulation erodes public confidence and disproportionately harms historically marginalized communities, especially communities of color whose voices are already underrepresented. We deserve maps that reflect our true demographics and political landscape. We deserve competitive districts that foster accountability and civic engagement. We deserve a process that prioritizes fairness over partisanship. I urge you to reject this gerrymandered proposal and recommit to drawing maps that empower all North Carolinians equally. Respectfully, Hope Hayes High Point, NC
10/17/25 2:18 PM	Mr. Robert Hildreth	Partisan redistricting may be legal but it is cheating. I want population based districts, not politically based ones.

10/17/25 2:18 PM	Jo Ragazzo	Just me as a concerned citizen	Your proposed map essentially further disenfranchises NC voters as you try to further rig our elections. How about nonpartisan maps that were commissioned years ago? Our congressional representation should reflect the reality that we,Äôre fairly evenly split between Democrats & Republicans. It seems you are afraid of us voters.
10/17/25 2:19 PM	Lori Segletes		This is a blatant power grab, you know it and you should be ashamed. If you can,Äôt win fairly, you shouldn,Äôt be in power.
10/17/25 2:19 PM	Teri Sharpe	Resident	If you redistribute I hope it backfires and NCGOP loses the majority
10/17/25 2:20 PM	Linda Sreshta		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. In addition, this proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts.
10/17/25 2:20 PM	Ms Dorene Shirey		Gerrymandering has historically been a method by which to disenfranchise voters of color. I believed we had progressed since our Jim Crow past in North Carolina. Over the past years, our voting map has been drawn and redrawn, even going to a court review to ensure districts are not drawn in order to manipulate outcomes or disenfranchise voters. The courts reviewed and maps were drawn. For the NC legislature to once again to take up this issue so soon is very clearly an attempt to re-gerrymander and interfere in free and fair elections in which all NC voters are equitably represented and can have a voice through their right to vote. Their Constitutional RIGHT to vote and have a representational government. As a North Carolinian, I respectfully ask that you take the opportunity and responsibility you were granted by voters to use your time to enact legislation and appropriations that address the many concerns of our state and the well being of the citizens rather than spend time trying to undercut the drawing of voting districts once again. One more time- attempting to take this through yet more court review is a clear attempt at trying to take away voting rights.
10/17/25 2:20 PM	Stephanie Yoder		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 2:20 PM	Redistricting Mary DeLoache		I DO NOT approve of the effort to draw new districting maps for the State of North Carolina
10/17/25 2:21 PM	Linda Belans	Self Employed	In broad daylight you betray the NC Constitution by usurping the will of the people with your plan to redraw our map because you know it's the only way you can win. That's what weak people do. NC Constitution: Sec. 2. Sovereignty of the people. All political power is vested in and derived from the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.,Äù You betray your own platform when you usurp power because it's the only way weak people can win. ,ÄúThe NC Republican platform: We believe in a limited government which serves the people, rather than one that burdens them.,Äù You betray the NC military ,Äì the largest military footprint in the country ,Äì when you usurp power. Shame on you. Do NOT redraw the map. It is an act against the will of the people.
10/17/25 2:21 PM	J Lyles		Based on the past behavior of the Republican led legislature in this state, I'm sure the comments of a constituent in Wake County like myself will have less than zero impact on the bottom line - or the blatantly partisan, racist, and un-democratic decision that will be made. However, as a life long resident of this great state - whose family has been here since before it was even a state - who has watched the damaged done to it by the Republicans over the last 20-30 years, I feel that it's my civic duty to try and express to you a small portion of the shame that you should be feeling by taking these actions on behalf of a convicted felon, adjudicated rapist and all-around con man. However, I know that none of the Republicans in our legislature are capable of feeling anything close to shame - those feelings and guilt having been long suppressed by the piles of money you have grifted off the backs of the citizens of this state. I hope you enjoy your earthly riches, because to be sure you will not be receiving any heavenly rewards.

10/17/25 2:22 PM	Mary C Cole		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 2:22 PM	Sherie Ryan-Bailey		Thirty one percent of registered NC voters are Republicans and yet in 2023 you gerrymandered districts to create a 10R-4D advantage for yourselves. Currently, you have not passed a budget, you have not given teachers a much needed raise and you have not shown any energy to change your behavior. The people of NC deserve FAIR districts, we deserve legislators who will do their job for all residents of our state, and we deserve legislators who put the people of NC over the wishes of Donald Trump. This new map proposal is nothing more than cheating. You may be able to implement it due to the partisan NC Supreme Court, but we will remember and we will vote. Please reconsider implementing this proposed map and redistrict the state after the next census.
10/17/25 2:22 PM	Mr Mitchell Bross		On Saturday you will witness the extent of the anger in North Carolina on your actions. Shame on all you Republicans.
10/17/25 2:22 PM	Emily Cramer		This is gerrymandering, plain and simple ,Âî and they should be ashamed. For fourteen years, Republicans have held control over North Carolina,Äôs General Assembly. Yet with all that power, the House and Senate remain deadlocked, unable even to pass a budget. Promises are made and broken, while the House Republicans rely on political cronies to serve their own interests ,Âî not the public good. What we,Äôre witnessing is not leadership, but corruption. The General Assembly, particularly the House majority, has allowed personal ambition to outweigh public service. It,Äôs as if our state government has drifted toward authoritarianism ,Âî a small group tightening its grip while silencing dissent. This nation was built on freedom and respect, not the oppression or demonization of those who think differently. Redrawing district lines now is not reform ,Âî it,Äôs a desperate tactic, driven by fear of losing power before the next election. If the General Assembly truly believes new district maps are needed, let the people decide. Put it to a vote. Because at this point, the citizens of North Carolina can no longer trust their representatives to act in the interest of the people ,Äî only in defense of their own power.
10/17/25 2:23 PM	Cathy Sherman		You have already gerrymandered most of the state. Stop being lemmings and represent the people of North Carolina. All the people.
10/17/25 2:23 PM	Marcia Barrow		It makes me ashamed to be a North Carolinian in a state I love. The obvious reason to redistrict is to tip the scales of balance of representation. It appears to be more about winning and less about fair and equal representation. I do not support this proposal.
10/17/25 2:23 PM	Mrs Amanda Lloyd	Retired	We do not need to redistrict prior to the next census. The GOP is trying to take away our votes and instead create new districts that benefit their party and take away options for the Democrats. We are already at a disadvantage thanks to the gerrymandering done previously by the GOP. This needs to stop or is this going to become a measure used by the party in power every time they don,Äôt like how the voters vote and whom we choose to represent us? Same on you. Rh GOO has sold their soul for power.
10/17/25 2:24 PM	Shawn McFarlin		Please stop. This is wrong. One party rule is never good. Win voters over with good policies and by doing the hard work you were sent there to do. And pass a budget!
10/17/25 2:24 PM	Susan Clay		Redistricting because a president is afraid of what may happen should the House of Representatives flip to the other party is not democracy. The president and his party should put forth and enact popular policies, not attempt to change the rules in the middle of the game. This applies to any party that is in power. Minority rule is not what this country was founded on.
10/17/25 2:24 PM	Ashley Mattison		As a North Carolinian and someone who believes strongly in a government Of, By, and For the People, I strongly object to ANY restricting plan that tilts representation in a partisan manner, against the voting public,Äôs desires. We are a state that is pretty much evenly divided in voting for Republicans and Democrats for elected office, but our state and national legislative districts do not reflect this fact, and are severely skewed. This is NOT representative government. It is flat out wrong. It is an authoritarian power grab that subverts the will of the people of our state. Legislative maps should reflect, not subvert the voting habits of the citizenry.
10/17/25 2:24 PM	Gerrymandering in NC Marilyn Nolte		Stop the abuse of power, and start working for the people of this state. If the GOP could actually lead and put forth plans that helped the citizens, you would not need to rig elections in the party's favor.
10/17/25 2:24 PM	Zach Perin		North Carolina is not a red state. All metrics prove this assertion correct except for district maps at the state and federal level where the gerrymander consolidates power at a ratio not even close to in line with average voting records in the state where at the statewide/federal level there is much more parity - never more than 55-45 in either direction. Changing the congressional maps even more than they are already at the request of the president would be outrageous. Don't do it! Don't do it, please. This is unpopular and stupid. Let the voters choose their leaders rather than the leaders choose their voters.

10/17/25 2:24 PM	Mr Ruah Austin		The GOP proposed gerrymander is an abomination and those leading this move should be impeached, convicted, and banned from holding public office.
10/17/25 2:24 PM	Stop redrawing! Carol Clark		I wholeheartedly disagree with this disgusting move to redraw the map to load the tickets in favor of one party over another. We need balance!
10/17/25 2:24 PM	Amanda Shaughnessy		The recent North Carolina redistricting plan, allegedly influenced by Berger's agreement to redraw maps favoring Republicans at President Trump's request, threatens to dilute the political power of minority voters. By further fragmenting communities of color and reshaping districts to secure additional GOP seats, these changes undermine fair representation and violate both state and federal protections against racial gerrymandering. Courts and civil rights organizations have long recognized that maps designed to diminish minority voting influence, as seen in previous North Carolina cases, perpetuate systemic disenfranchisement and erode trust in the democratic process. North Carolina Republicans should compete on the strength of their ideas and policies, rather than attempting to change the rules mid-game to secure a partisan advantage. As Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. profoundly stated, "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere." This redistricting effort exemplifies such injustice, impacting not only those directly affected but also the integrity of the democratic processes for all.
10/17/25 2:25 PM	Taylor Cordes		North Carolinians did not elect you to serve anyone but North Carolinians. Nearly half of this state did not vote for Trump. There are people who voted for state-level republicans but didn,Äôt vote for Trump. They elected you to serve them, not Trump. As they say at every Canes game, ,ÄúCHEATERS NEVER WIN!,Äù
10/17/25 2:26 PM	Dr. Suzanne Botts	Citizen of NC	I would like to have fair maps. This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 2:27 PM	Lynette Neel		This is blatant gerrymandering to attempt to control the outcome of elections. The only agenda that should be protected is North Carolinians right to a fair vote and for that voter to set the agenda of the state. Additionally, this is again being done outside of the constitutionally prescribed time line of only drawing districts after every decennial census and also no county shall be divided to form a senate or representative district. N.C. Const. art. II, ¬ß¬ß 3 and 5 Sec. 3. Senate districts; apportionment of Senators. The Senators shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly, at the first regular session convening after the return of every decennial census of population taken by order of Congress, shall revise the senate districts and the apportionment of Senators among those districts, subject to the following requirements: (1) Each Senator shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants that each Senator represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district that he represents by the number of Senators apportioned to that district; (2) Each senate district shall at all times consist of contiguous territory; (3) NO COUNTY SHALL BE DIVIDED in the formation of a senate district; (4) When established, the senate districts and the apportionment of Senators SHALL REMAIN UNALTERED until the return of another decennial census of population taken by order of Congress. Sec. 5. Representative districts; apportionment of Representatives. The Representatives shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly, at the first regular session convening after the return of every decennial census of population taken by order of Congress, shall revise the representative districts and the apportionment of Representatives among those districts, subject to the following requirements: (1) Each Representative shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants that each Representative represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district that he represents by the number of Representatives apportioned to that district; (2) Each representative district shall at all times consist of contiguous territory; (3) NO COUNTY SHALL BE DIVIDED in the formation of a representative district;
10/17/25 2:27 PM	Kathryn Bacon		It is absolutely DISGUSTING the way you all are trying to cheat in the election by redrawing the district lines. If you can,Äôt win through fair voting, then clearly your policies are NOT what the public is looking for. You should be ashamed of yourself. Every single one of you taking part in this knows what you,Äôre doing is wrong and a danger to our fragile democracy. This registered Independent will never even consider voting Republican again until sane minds and policies are back in our government.

10/17/25 2:28 PM	Debra McSorley		84% of NC voters say gerrymandering is NEVER acceptable. Voters should choose their politicians. Politicians should not choose their voters.
10/17/25 2:28 PM	Ms Lorraine Francioni		I am opposed to any changes to further redraw NC voting maps that aren,Äôt put before the voters themselves to decide. NC Republican ,Äúleaders,Äù have shown time and again that they cannot be impartial in these matters to draw lines that protect voter,Äôs rights as intended by legislation. Instead, you choose self-serving lines to keep yourselves in power! It is shameful, illegal, and an abomination of American ideals that granted all Americans the right to vote! Please reconsider your reprehensible actions of gerrymandering our state,Äôs voting maps and restore the power to the legitimate and impartial vote of the people! Actions have consequences! Authoritarian actions included. Your names will live in infamy. Your progeny will be embarrassed to claim each you: Benedict Arnold.
10/17/25 2:28 PM	susan alborell		I am vehemently opposed to this redistricting. you will waste time and money, and more importantly, disenfranchise voters. Stop this power grab foolishness
10/17/25 2:28 PM	G Grimaldi		Districts should be based on population NOT politics. Voters,Äô rights must be protected, always. Stop this extreme gerrymandering
10/17/25 2:28 PM	Ms Amy Hanson	none	A democracy, as long as we can keep it. We are getting further and further away of democracy. Our votes are already severely compromised. We need to work to build consensus, not to keep moving us further and further apart. Gerrymandering is leading to the death of our democracy. You are proposing to redistrict in order to gerrymander even more. North Carolinians voted Republican for Trump at 50.9% in the last election, but hold 71.4% of the NC seats in the House of Representatives. Josh Stein won governorship with 54.9% This is not a 71% Republican state. Right now about 20% of people in NC are not represented in the House. Their vote is squashed. And you are wanting to do this to even bigger effect? Please do not push this country further to the brink. Just because you have the power to do it does not mean you should. Your responsibility is to the country, and every person in this country has a right to their vote counting. PLEASE, do NOT hold a redistricting special session to gerrymander this state even further.
10/17/25 2:29 PM	Catherine Hinek		The decision to redraw congressional district maps in North Carolina in 2025, just two years after the last redistricting, presents significant legal, operational, and democratic concerns. Mid-decade redistricting erodes voter trust, destabilizes representative relationships, exposes the state to expensive litigation, and risks undermining the principle of fair and stable elections. Redistricting should be guided by demographic necessity and constitutional obligation, not short-term partisan advantage. Proceeding now would be a departure from longstanding democratic norms and could further politicize an already fragile electoral environment.
10/17/25 2:29 PM	I disapprove Megan Johnson		I strongly disagree with the redistricting effort. I live in Winston-Salem, and our city is incredibly progressive and accepting, yet you want to split it into two sections to make it red. I feel disenfranchised and disrespected.
10/17/25 2:29 PM	Caroline Senter		Maps should be fair and representative of the population, which yours are not. They are an effort to remove power from the people, and are anti-democratic
10/17/25 2:29 PM	Ms Jacqueline Clare		This is a shameful partisan power grab. North Carolina is already gerrymandered to the hilt. Earn your seats. Don,Äôt steal them!
10/17/25 2:29 PM	Ms. Carla Ennis		I am appalled that my NC legislators have decided to reconvene to further gerrymander my state when we are already 100 days past having a budget. I would like to be clear that I in no way support what the Republican lead legislators are doing to my state with their gerrymandering to win favor with Donald Trump.
10/17/25 2:29 PM	Andrew Olek		Please do not gerrymander our districts more. We should have an independent commission create the maps in a non-partisan manner.
10/17/25 2:29 PM	Dixie Kapka		We need to keep this state fair and not manipulated. Voting representatives is to be about the people not the power the representative wants for their personal gain. Nationally and all the red states including N.C. have become corrupt and an embarrassment to the rest of the world. The GOP is destroying our democracy. Keep Things fair for all the residents of NC
10/17/25 2:29 PM	Morgan Radford		Our reps are elected by the people of the state, not by the president. I oppose this redistricting because it is not what the people have voted for, and does not represent the beautiful diversity of this state. I urge you to reconsider and listen to the people, as you swore to to.
10/17/25 2:30 PM	Redistricting Joey Fields		Republicans are in the middle of a power grab and must stop. This should NOT be done. If you believe in democracy, the right thing will be done.

10/17/25 2:30 PM	Victoria Chryst-Cardona	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 2:31 PM	Barbara Jones	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 2:32 PM	Justus Carnley	I am in favor of the Republican proposal. It merely remedies unfair practices at the federal level by Democrats in New England. Massachusetts is roughly 35% Republican or more, but Republicans receive 0 seats. I think its unfair to limit gerrymandering by one party, when the other party is given carte blanche approval for whatever map drawing they want.
10/17/25 2:32 PM	Chris Kellum	This proposal is an absolute sham and affront to democracy. Stop gerrymandering our state.
10/17/25 2:32 PM	Anne B	If you have to cheat to win, you know you're the bad guy. North Carolina deserves to be fairly represented by sane people who actually care about North Carolinians
10/17/25 2:33 PM	Mrs Suzette Deaton	I think this is ridiculous. What you,Äôre trying to do. I live in Moorehead city North Carolina. You haven,Äôt even agreed on a budget! The only reason you,Äôre doing this is because Trump ask Burger to do it because he knows Republicans can,Äôt win in a fair election, so he,Äôs trying to rig the system
10/17/25 2:33 PM	Mr. Walker Hicks	I am deeply outraged by this wildly inappropriate and wrong effort to subvert democracy by redistricting in ways that circumvent the appropriate representation in North Carolina, and I will do all I can to oppose it, in the voting booth and beyond. I urge you to turn away from this utterly unAmerican effort.
10/17/25 2:33 PM	Ms Janse Haywood	Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 2:34 PM	Dr Drew Remsen	This is a brazen attack on citizens of this state and the ability to choose who represents them. Only those who know their policies cannot withstand public scrutiny would support redistricting in favor of any one party.
10/17/25 2:34 PM	Angela Mallette	I am dismayed and disheartened that my elected officials would try to deliberately manipulate election results by redrawing congressional districts. Redistricting to control the outcome of mid-term elections undermines the foundation of American democracy. It signals a lack confidence in the majority party,Äôs platform and shows disrespect for all the boers, not just those anyone with an opposing view. Winning less than 51% of North Carolina,Äôs vote in 2024 does not give President Trump and the Republican Party a mandate to silence the 49% of voters who disagreed. Your obligation is to make decisions for the good of all North Carolina citizens. Please vote against redistricting.
10/17/25 2:34 PM	Patricia McDaniel	I very strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 2:34 PM	Storm Hooten	You are going to further exacerbate issues at hand. You are not solving anything. You are just doing this to create division and anger. It will be noted.

10/17/25 2:34 PM Mrs. Lesley Reilly	Dear Members of the General Assembly, I am writing to express my strong concerns about the proposed congressional district maps currently under consideration. As a North Carolina resident, I believe these maps fail to serve the best interests of our state's citizens and instead appear designed to predetermine electoral outcomes. Fair representation requires districts that: - Respect existing community boundaries and keep communities of interest together - Maintain geographic compactness and contiguity - Provide voters with genuine electoral competition - Reflect North Carolina's diverse population equitably The proposed maps appear to prioritize partisan advantage over these fundamental principles of fair representation. When elected officials choose their voters rather than voters choosing their representatives, it undermines the democratic process and diminishes public trust in our institutions. I urge you to: Return to the drawing board with a commitment to creating truly fair districts - Prioritize transparency in the redistricting process - Consider adopting nonpartisan redistricting criteria - Listen to the voices of North Carolinians who want competitive, representative districts North Carolina deserves maps that strengthen democracy, not weaken it. Please reconsider this proposal and work toward districts that serve all North Carolinians fairly.
10/17/25 2:35 PM Isaiah D	The proposed redistricting is an obvious attack on democracy and fair representation of the constituents of North Carolina. It will not accurately represent the voters of our state, and uses gerrymandering tactics to sway the congressional seating to 79% of the seats. Partisan Gerrymandering doesn't help anyone, and defies what makes democracy run.
10/17/25 2:35 PM Mr Jamison Fair	I continue to be ashamed about North Carolina politics. I'm tired of my vote being diluted just so a certain party can stay in power. How do you justify every state level elected official is one party and then turn around and make our national representation diluted and not representative of the residents of the great state of North Carolina. I've lived in North Carolina all of my 50 years, but I've never seen politics as ugly as this. Everyone pushing this should be ashamed of themselves as it's nothing but a power grab and does not represent the best interest of North Carolinians. As someone who's fiercely Independent , I have proudly voted strictly on the issues, regardless whether the candidate was Democrat or a Republican over the years. The fact that your bowing to an extremely unpopular president should be an embarrassment to you and is an insult to every North Carolinian who become more disenfranchised each time you redistrict for no reason at all other than to gain power. I know where my votes will not be going next election.
10/17/25 2:36 PM Jaclyn Lampugnano	No! We deserve fair representation in congress. We are people, not pawns.
10/17/25 2:36 PM Madelyn Compton	This proposed redistricting is a blatant obstruction of election fairness and a serious injustice to NC voters. While NC is not new to unfair gerrymandering being performed in order to skew elections towards the Republican vote, this proposed map is beyond ridiculous. Individual votes should have the sole power to determine the outcomes of elections, not the location from which they originated. This redraw specifically targets the major metropolitan areas in North Carolina to completely reverse this, giving far more power to areas that have fewer people in them. To believe that such a proposal would be fair to anyone is beyond preposterous. In spite of the current administration's agenda, voter suppression is a blatant violation of core American values.
10/17/25 2:37 PM Illegal redistricting Hollie Ramsey	What you guys are doing is absolutely disposable! The fact that you,Äôre giving into a dictator is beyond my understanding in belief. You,Äôre not only ruining democracy, but you,Äôre ruining our country in the future for our children and our children,Äôs children. Do you not have any shame or any dignity left in you to stand up to somebody like this? I do not agree with what you guys are doing and neither does thousands and thousands of other people you,Äôre not representing us you,Äôre representing yourselves.
10/17/25 2:38 PM Keith Glidewell	In order to have a representative government, we need fair maps. If 50% of the voters choose a Democrat, why should 80% of the Representatives be Republican? This is nothing but a power grab.
10/17/25 2:38 PM No Redistricting Stephanie Deese	North Carolina already has the reputation as the most gerrymandered state in the country, we should be working to undo that reputation, not kowtowing to requests from the federal government to reshape our districting map to unfairly benefit some of us. You will be communicating to your constituents that you think some people's votes should weigh more than others, which is a slap in the face to the very notion of democracy. Do not do this. Or, if you do redistrict, make sure the districts are actually representative of us.

10/17/25 2:38 PM	redistricting Christopher Edmundson		As a North Carolina constituent I am not okay with with this redrawing of the NC electoral map. The fact that partisan gerrymandering is legal in this country is disgraceful and a black stain on this nation's claims of being a democracy. Drawing electoral maps to deprive some Americans of their political agency is legalized electoral fraud perpetrated on constituents. This new electoral map is an insult to American democracy and the legislators who crafted it should be ashamed to betray the position of public trust their office came with. Putting party before country, winning before democracy, is disgusting and disgraceful.
10/17/25 2:38 PM	Sharon Welker		Prove Republicans can govern fairly, stop the current redistricting plan. You say previous Democrats were wrong with their gerrymandering, surprise us by creating fair districts!
10/17/25 2:38 PM	Meaghan Dunham		I think it is shameful to redistrict in favor of any one political party, especially when that process disenfranchises certain groups of people by taking their representation away. Shame on you for even considering this!! I am so frustrated with politicians thinking about their own interests over the interests of their constituents. Who are you representing because it surely isn,Äôt us!
10/17/25 2:39 PM	Dr. Nathan Bullock		I would like to see the NCGA remove itself from the redistricting process and have it done in the most equitable and independent way that is both transparent and non partisan. I want the representatives of our state to be truly representative based on specific criteria of population and geography. A team of geographers, demographers, and jurists is best suited to do this and to ensure a fair outcome so that the maxim ,Äúone person, one vote ,Äú remains true in N.C.
10/17/25 2:39 PM	Comment Pam Van Dyk		Given that the NC legislature has yet to pass a balanced budget, using precious resources to redraw the legislative districts map is a waste of both resources and time. The legislature needs to prioritize the citizens of NC, not the U.S. President,Äôs agenda. You have minds of your own. Use them.
10/17/25 2:39 PM	We deserve fair maps Divine Earth-Dowd		At this point you're not even trying to hide that you're drawing maps with a partisan endgame. I oppose the new maps that seek to strengthen Republican control over NC. Redistricting should be done by a nonpartisan independent commission. These maps do not reflect the political beliefs of voters across the state.
10/17/25 2:39 PM	Ms Sarah Stewart		Redistricting is not needed, and will only serve to further gerrymander North Carolina in favor of the Republican Party. I strongly oppose Phil Berger doing Donald Trump's corrupt bidding for his own benefit and to the detriment of the citizens of North Carolina.
10/17/25 2:39 PM	Redistricting Bryan Lassiter		I do not see a problem in this map redrawing, they have a right to do that.
10/17/25 2:39 PM	Mrs. Kim Kivett		There is only one reason why to accept gerrymandering, and that is to sway votes in a particular direction rather than earning those votes. Do not vote for redistricting. Work for support from NC voters. Otherwise, you are only demonstrating your inability to garner those votes fairly. I, along with my Republican friends, will be watching. Not every Republican is a Trumpster.
10/17/25 2:40 PM	Ms Jennifer Pittman	Wake Women Have Mercy	I strongly oppose further gerrymandering congressional districts and subverting the will of the citizens of North Carolina. What is the reason to redraw maps? For partisan, unchecked, political power? If you want to actually represent the people of North Carolina and the legislature feels it's important to redraw maps - bring it to the people as a referendum on the November ballot just as California is doing. The legislature's job is to represent the best interests of North Carolinians, not to bend the knee to the self-anointed King President. Please, do your actual job and pass a budget instead of playing retribution politics with other states thousands of miles away.
10/17/25 2:40 PM	Ann Foody		This proposal is unnecessary and costly. We do not need the distraction of this ill-timed proposal when our state has so many other higher priorities, like funding education, hurricane relief for western NC and preserving Medicare and Medicaid.
10/17/25 2:40 PM	Bryan Lester		Redistricting outside of normal time frames is costly both with time and money for our government when there should be high priorities (like tackling our teacher pay being in the bottom 5 nationally). I implore you to consider a non-partisan commission to redistrict every 10 years (a standard cadence nationally).
10/17/25 2:40 PM	Alexander McLachlan		Gerrymandering the state does not reflect good governance nor is it fair or constitutional. Why not just let voters decide?
10/17/25 2:41 PM	No Redistricting Valerie Carlisle		Please use common sense and appropriate rules for redistricting. Use by population demographics PLEASE. You were elected to represent the actual people living in your districts.
10/17/25 2:41 PM	Tim Keller	Individual	Sirs: Please stop trying to rig elections and get back to actually governing this State. 85% of North Carolinians OPPOSE gerrymandering, including me. This is just another attempt at voter suppression. Why keep pussyfooting around, just cancel all future elections and see how that goes down. Do your real job, get back to work and try to fix the problems we have, not create new ones.
10/17/25 2:41 PM	We voted for Don Davis Angela Thornton	Chair of the Vance County Democratic Party	Our County twice elected our representative Don Davis . To redistrict a representative out of his district he resides in and was voted for and by the people is not what democracy and fair elections are all about . What precedent will this set for further redistricting candidates . Who were elected by the people . This is not a right - left issue. This is unconstitutional and not what the voters in this district want . We unapologetically are against this power grab .

10/17/25 2:41 PM	Stacy Conder	I strongly oppose redistricting..
10/17/25 2:41 PM	Elizabeth Noble	As a lifelong resident of North Carolina, I am begging you not to allow this redistricting to happen. It is patently unfair to do this. I am asking you to remember everything our ancestors fought to live in a free democracy. Do not take the power away from the people.
10/17/25 2:42 PM	Dr Mark McClure	Pursuant to the North Carolina State Constitution, Article I, Declaration of Rights, Section 2, Sovereignty of the People, ,Äú All political power is vested in and derived from the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.,Äù The NC Republican scheme to perform a mid-census redistricting of District 1 is a naked attempt to steal another congressional seat at the request of President Trump. He fears that in a fair election, a nationwide backlash to his unpopular policies will cede control of the House to the Democrats. Therefore, he plans to cheat, and the NCGA Republicans are willing co-conspirators. Every member of the NCGA has sworn to uphold and defend the NC State Constitution. This deceitful bill violates Article I, Section 2 of our state constitution; that is, it is not for the good of the whole. Accordingly, I ask the committee members to honor their oath and dispense with this bill.
10/17/25 2:42 PM	Chris Hand	I am a longtime resident and voter that does not support redistricting to favor one party. Thank you.
10/17/25 2:43 PM	Redistricting G Weaver	I oppose any attempt to redraw North Carolina,Äôs congressional district maps before the 2026 midterm election. This blatantly partisan redistricting process would set a dangerous political precedent and rob voters of their rights. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. Living in Charlotte but being lumped in with rural counties to our South has disenfranchised the people in our area. Our representatives do not represent us. Gerrymandering should not be done by either party to gain an advantage and is unethical and not in the the spirit of democracy. Thank you for your time and consideration.
10/17/25 2:43 PM	Mandy Al-Bjaly	Gerrymandering is wrong. I want to live in a state where I know my vote matters. Those running for office should be able to get votes by their words and actions, not by cheating. Stop changing the maps and do what is right for NC. Principle over party.
10/17/25 2:43 PM	Ashley Underwood	I don,Äôt understand what the point of claiming the people have a voice when politicians decide to make changes at the last minute and try to be sneaky to allude the general public. It is disheartening and sad that our political leaders who parents, sons, daughters, friends and meant to be the voice of their constituents are just liars and dishonest people. How does trying to redistrict just so you can win allow you to sleep at night when you cheat? Be a leader please and make the right choice for all those you represent.
10/17/25 2:43 PM	Amber Dabrowski	This map is clearly the GOP trying to gerrymander another seat. It is a voter,Äôs RIGHT to a free and fair election. There is a direct correlation between trump begging republicans to redraw maps and NC Phil Berger saying he is pushing this legislation. Also, the last election shows that there is almost a 50/50 split between Democrats and Republicans in NC. However, there is 75% representation of republicans in the House of Representatives for NC. This is unfair! It,Äôs against the law. Democrats are not being fairly represented in DC.
10/17/25 2:43 PM	Mr David Blumstein	This is a blatant and shameful abuse of power. These maps were redrawn a mere 3 years ago. Do you intend to redrawn them every year? You are aware that Trump & MAGA will do anything to stay in power. Yet you intend to bow to their pressure and give away the voice of your constituents. I urge you to finally stand up to this and vote for your constituents. All of them.
10/17/25 2:44 PM	Melanie London	Stop gerrymandering this state! You are trying to make it impossible to have a democratic representative government.
10/17/25 2:45 PM	Ms. Linda Nulsen	No more redistricting.
10/17/25 2:45 PM	Andrea List	I,Äôm curious how people sleep at night knowing they are cheating their way through life, and for what? To bow down to an incompetent President? I,Äôm a Democrat and would be disappointed in my party if they tried to do the same thing, it,Äôs completely inappropriate and does not provide accurate representation of what the people of the state want. Remember, you were voted into your job by the people, not the President.
10/17/25 2:45 PM	Joseph Bailey	NC is already gerrymandered half to death. We should going the other direction and not continuing to usurp power from the voters by allowing politicians in power to cement that power into the future. Elections should be won or lost based on the quality of ideas, policy and the candidate. They should not be determined by surgically drawn boundaries. Independent commissions should determine electoral boundaries in all cases with the goal to provide fair representation and competitive elections in all cases.
10/17/25 2:45 PM	Redistricting Noelle Marino	It,Äôs time for districts that make geographic sense! Thank you to the legislature for making it make sense.
10/17/25 2:45 PM	Adam Correll	This evil power grab attempt needs to stop.
10/17/25 2:45 PM	Karen Russo	Shame on you! You have to cheat to win. You,Äôre as crooked as Trump is. Cheaters !!!
10/17/25 2:46 PM	Thoughts on redistricting Christopher Shaffer	This latest redistricting plot is shameful. It is yet another in a long line of GOP directed attempts at the disenfranchisement of NC voters. This state,Äôs population is nearly evenly split between Republicans and Democrats, however Democratic representation is evaporating with each successful attempt at redrawing voting lines. If the GOP is so proud of their policies, they should not fear free and fair election results.
10/17/25 2:46 PM	Jana Currier	I am a North Carolina resident and registered Independent voter. I want to go on record as strongly opposing the redistricting proposed by NC Republicans. It is NOT up to the politicians to choose their voters - we, the voters, should have the power to choose our representatives. To prevent us from having our votes truly counted is downright unethical. It is my understanding that the vast majority of voters across the parties oppose this measure. You would be wise to listen to us.

10/17/25 2:46 PM	Gerrymandering Andrew Culwell		This is an attempt to consolidate single party rule and this Veteran is completely against the GOP led attempt to manipulate the mid term elections. There is no excuse for this and no justification. Win on your ideas not on political and gerrymandered house districts. I'm registering my disdain and am completely against this mid decade gerrymander!
10/17/25 2:47 PM	Rayne Woodcock		The proposed map is a biased misrepresentation of the people of North Carolina. The district map should be done by an independent organization to ensure fair distribution and representation. Political and financial factions should have no input on district lines.
10/17/25 2:47 PM	Aileen Sutton		First off, mid mid census so no go. Second, all distracting needs to be done in a bipartisan fashion. This current situation is wrong in many ways.
10/17/25 2:47 PM	Pamela Shank		It is wrong to continually redistrict the state of North Carolina in order to win elections, and I ask the committee to put the rights of the voters over the political game-playing some reps want. thank you.
10/17/25 2:48 PM	Bryon Meade		Every single representative that supports this should be ashamed of themselves. You can,Äôt even pass a state budget but you,Äôll come into session for this? I know that most of you sold your soul a long time ago, but this goes beyond the pale. I,Äôm disgusted by this action even being considered. You,Äôre all spineless shills for a wannabe dictator, only interested in doing exactly as you,Äôre told by an evil, disgusting man. You no longer work for the people, if you ever even did.
10/17/25 2:48 PM	Dennis Tharrington	Innovative Green Builders, Inc.	This should not be done. Democrats only have 3 representatives now and yet compose about half of registered voters in the state. Republicans are simply standing with a dictator!
10/17/25 2:48 PM	Eric Lazzari		I am adamantly OPPOSED to ANY redistricting prior to the normal redistricting schedule done solely to give Republicans an advantage / control! If this is done, as a long time Republican I will support ALL FUTURE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES ONLY. Play fair or prepare to be punished.
10/17/25 2:48 PM	Marilyn Torres-Bosques	Army Veteran	I do not agree with the map gerrymandering. Stop attempting to steal the elections by disenfranchising minority groups!
10/17/25 2:49 PM	Rebecca Stout		Please stop with the gerrymandering. If you have to rig the system to try to win an election, then you are not really representing the will of the people.
10/17/25 2:49 PM	Ms Melissa Truesdale		Please do your job as voted by your constituents. Stop manipulating and cheating the people that voted you in office. Redistricting will not serve your long term goals as it is a waste of time and resources.
10/17/25 2:49 PM	A Taylor		I have lived in NC my whole life and I absolutely DO NOT support the redistricting of the NC congressional maps! There are many things that need to be done like passing A BUDGET that would actually help North Carolinians this is what the legislature needs to focus on.
10/17/25 2:50 PM	Ms Diane Buerkle	Citizen	Redistricting is extreme partisan gerrymandering designed to secure Republican power, and that it potentially dilutes the voting strength of Black residents. Critics raise the following points: Undermines democracy: Opponents argue that the proposal allows politicians to choose their voters, rather than the other way around, which erodes trust in the democratic process. Partisan power grab: The move is widely seen as an attempt to "steal" an additional congressional seat for Republicans, creating a disproportionate 11-3 or 10-4 advantage in a state that is closely divided politically. Disregards public opinion: Polls show an overwhelming majority of North Carolina voters, including majorities from both parties, oppose gerrymandering and support a nonpartisan independent redistricting commission. Potential racial bias: Lawsuits and advocates argue the maps intentionally dilute the votes of Black residents by "cracking" (splitting) their communities across multiple districts, potentially violating the Voting Rights Act. Unnecessary and costly: Critics question the need for mid-decade redistricting, which can lead to expensive and prolonged legal battles that cost taxpayers millions of dollars. Prioritizes politics over people: Opponents suggest that lawmakers are prioritizing political power and national party demands over addressing crucial state issues like the budget, teacher pay, and Medicaid funding.
10/17/25 2:50 PM	Matthew Posek		This is a naked act of politics that denies the common voter their voice by relegating them to one of two artificial created groups. This should not be enacted and congressional maps should be fairly made.
10/17/25 2:51 PM	Nicole Thayer		This is unfair and not what is best for all North Carolinians. Stop the redistricting, do what,Äôs right, and allow equal and fair representation for all.
10/17/25 2:52 PM	LeRoy Plock		A healthy republic requires good faith and restraint by public leaders. Every time you push the limits and ignore norms of behavior to gain power, you pull another stone from society,Äôs foundation.
10/17/25 2:52 PM	Ruth Strauss		I am requesting that you do not redistrict again for the purpose of protecting Donald Trump. I request that you legislate or allow the voters to choose to have a non partisan commission draw the maps. This does not help North Carolinians. In a democracy, voters should choose representatives that best represent them. Representatives should not choose thir voters. This will lead to even more confusion for voters. There have been about five redistricting maps in five years. This is nuts. Last, gerrymandering suppresses voter turnout when voters believe their voice doesn't matter. We should be encouraging people to vote not discouraging them. Please do not vote for this map. The process has been a sham with extremely little notice and opportunity for public input.

10/17/25 2:53 PM	Dr. Geraldine McDowell		I write to oppose the newly proposed Congressional map. In addition to being partisan, changing district lines mid-cycle creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer money. Instead, redistricting should be appropriately timed, independent, transparent, and protect the voice of every voter regardless of political affiliation.
10/17/25 2:53 PM	Nicholas DeVito		I cannot fathom how you could justify redistricting a purple state in the proposed way, which would severely advantage one political party. I urge you not to do this.
10/17/25 2:53 PM	Jessica Conley		It is absolutely disgusting to see my NC representatives submitting to Trump and attempting to illegally redistrict the state to rig the midterm elections. This is not what the people of NC want. You are our representatives, you work for us. This is despicable and we will not allow it to happen. We will vote all of you out of office soon enough
10/17/25 2:54 PM	Sandra Smith		Repubs are systematically trying to rig elections and must be stopped!
10/17/25 2:54 PM	William Whittenton		Good afternoon, I am writing concerning the General Assembly's plan to redraw congressional districts out of schedule in a partisan effort to help Republicans maintain a majority. Put simply: Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. North Carolina is roughly a 50/50 state by vote share in congressional and legislative races, as the members of this body well know. We are already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country. These gerrymandering efforts have been, and continue to be, blatantly anti-democratic. The job of the General Assembly is to represent North Carolina. Not to help Donald Trump and Mike Johnson maintaint their distorted majority in DC. Please try winning votes on the merits rather than stealing power again. thank you, William R. (Trey) Whittenton
10/17/25 2:54 PM	Mrs Morgan Blue		Redrawing congressional maps to suit political whims is illegal and unpatriotic. Leave the maps alone!!!!
10/17/25 2:54 PM	No More Gerrymandering Donna Lazzari		Wow. Our state is already gerrymandered to what I thought was extreme. Now, nearly 50% of the population will have no representation. This is undemocratic and just leading more to the dismantling of our constitutional democracy. We are headed down a very dangerous path towards authoritarian control. Is this what the people want? No! I oppose this action with my heart , soul, and vote.
10/17/25 2:54 PM	Julie Warwick		Gerrymandering our maps, AGAIN, is so un-American, and is a threat to our democracy. Democratic states will counter, as CA will do to offset the TX gerrymander and where will this ever end??? These maps represent partisan and racial gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. We elected you to govern fairly and pass the State Budget!!!
10/17/25 2:55 PM	Sharee Garner		The redistricting lines that we have are already gerrymandered and racially motivated. Please do not redo them. Follow the previous court ruling.
10/17/25 2:55 PM	Nadine Tuduri		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 2:55 PM	Dr. Wyatt Clarke	IBM	If you steal votes, this is not a democracy. I'm a native-born PhD tech worker, so I have options. I'll leave the country if it gets bad.
10/17/25 2:57 PM	Against racist maps George Milton Richardson	CEAC	Fair maps for democrats or republicans is one thing, but with the latest SCOTUS decision on the Voter Rights Act to dismantle and weaken it most people fear more racist maps. Fair is one thing racist is another.
10/17/25 2:57 PM	Kimberly Martin		Shame on every one of you!!!! I used to have at least a little respect for you guys. Now, not so much. Instead of trying to cheat to win elections, how about giving us a budget? Shame on you ALL!!!!!!
10/17/25 2:57 PM	Genevieve Colletta		Not only is this disgraceful capitulation to a dementia-riddled, wannabe dictator, it is the antithesis of American democracy. The voters choose their representatives, not the other way round. Remember you work for us, "we the people", and we do not want this. We will fire you.

10/17/25 2:57 PM	Mrs. Donna Hagan		I am opposed to the proposed redistricting of the North Carolina Congressional map. This action is blatant partisan gerrymandering by the Republican party for the clear and simple reason of attempting to secure a pre-destined advantage before the 2026 election. It is truly SHAMEFUL that the Republican party feels they need to take this action in order to continue their manipulative tactics to hold on to power. There are many negative consequences associated with the forced gerrymandering of North Carolina districts by the Republican party. The action will silence voters and destabilize elections by causing confusion and suppressing participation. The Republican gerrymandering action is a waste of North Carolina tax payer dollars and is indeed SHAMEFUL! Our democracy depends on fair representation, not shifting district lines for Republican's partisan convenience.
10/17/25 2:57 PM	Mrs Karen D Dorr		I am a NC constituent, and must reiterate- no more gerrymandered maps. Every voter deserves to be represented by a person who cares about their neighborhood and community; breaking up neighborhoods is a disservice to our democratic principles.
10/17/25 2:57 PM	Redistricting comments Kenny Burleson		I am a lifelong Republican voter. I have voted Republican in every election, from city to county, from state to presidential. I have been proud to call myself a Republican for life. I believe in the rule of law, love the Constitution and the bill of rights. This redistricting is just shameful. Y'all aren't even trying to win elections, y'all are just trying to take them. This isn't about protecting freedom or the Constitution, this is about you trying to stay in control no matter what. If you don't have to earn our votes, then what means you're going to be working for us anymore? If you just going to redraw maps to make sure you never lose, then that means you can just do whatever you want, even if we don't like it. My family is a military family, and we all earned our ranks by the way we treated our fellow service members. Respect is earned, not taken, and if y'all do this redistricting thing, I will no longer be voting for any Republican
10/17/25 2:58 PM	Andrea Thompson		NC does not need a new district map at this time. The history of partisan districting in our state is a cape of shame. Any new map should be drawn in a bipartisan manner by a committee appointed by the state judicial system. New maps should be approved well in advance of the next voting cycle (minimum 6 months).
10/17/25 2:58 PM	Erin Wolfe		Stop choosing your voters! I want my vote to mean something! Why do Republicans have to cheat to win?
10/17/25 2:58 PM	Laurel Kays		I was born and raised in Maryland, in a district gerrymandered to heavily favor Democrats. I remember being so angry as a young person that my vote was discounted in that way, that I could not be represented by someone from my area like it had been before the redistricting. The fact that you continue to do this same thing in North Carolina is so shameful. I know you know that. I will never vote for somebody that supports this abhorrent bullshit.
10/17/25 2:58 PM	Mr Pete Belmonte		It is disgusting and unlawful to gerrymander, especially when you racially gerrymander, like in this case. I am solidly against this, everyone is entitled too fair representation, and this newly drawn map will not be fair, it will be racially motivated. This needs to be rejected on all levels. This will target black and brown communities including the one I reside it, which will effectively take away my representative Don Davis and put him in another district, this is unacceptable, we have the right to chose our representatives not the other way around
10/17/25 2:58 PM	Claire McWilliams		Stop bending the knee to Trump and stealing congressional seats. It‚Äôs supposed to be the people‚Äôs house. If you are going against the will of the people, you are cheating to win. STOP
10/17/25 2:59 PM	ms Joy Hewett		North Carolina deserves representation of all voters for democracy to work. Our districts have already been drawn unequally for the general assembly. I want to urge you not to go along with the authoritarian administration's attempt to rig elections by redrawing districts again to favor one party over the other. They should be drawn to be impartial and equal. I am hoping your conscience, not greed for power at any cost, will make you reject more gerrymandering maps. Otherwise you are taking away our right to elect our senators and representatives. Sincerely, Joy Hewett
10/17/25 2:59 PM	Ms Kathleen Harris-Valente	Self	This is a horrible and unfair idea and against the wishes of NC citizens. Moving forward will jeopardize re-election of a large number of Republicans based on recent polling. Another bad decision by NC Republican representatives. Trump won‚Äôt be here much longer due to term limits but we will be.
10/17/25 2:59 PM	Ann Morgan Hawthorne		Gerrymandering should be illegal! The people should choose their own representatives. This is absurd!!!
10/17/25 3:00 PM	Debora Schaeffer		Gerrymandering, put plainly and simply, is just wrong. Let's stop the gerrymandering and have free and fair elections, without manipulated maps, that represent the people. This is a foundation of our democracy. Trying to change the maps midcycle (i.e., not associated with a recent census) is ridiculous. Voters should be deciding who our/their elected representatives are, not maps that have been manipulated to benefit one party.

10/17/25 3:00 PM	Dr Amy Dorman		The gerrymandering of North Carolina was already ridiculous, but I am absolutely appalled that there is now yet another attempt to redraw the redistricting maps to the NC GOP's (and Trump's) benefit. You are making it clear that you don't trust the people of NC to know what is in our best interest and will do anything in your power to make sure that the GOP stays in power. If you listen to what the people of NC, listen to what we need to flourish, and align your policies accordingly, you won't have to cheat to win. The very fact that NC Republicans have adhered unapologetically to Trump's unpopular policies and violent regime tells us you don't care about the people of NC. Do the right thing and stop the gerrymandering, please. The attempts to silence voters are pathetic and decidedly un-American.
10/17/25 3:01 PM	Richayd Maulucci		NC is the most corrupted gov. In all america. Just to stay in power. This is bullshit we will vote you out!
10/17/25 3:01 PM	Tamara Bloedoorn	Citizen	Can‚Äôt you all just win fairly and quit redrawing maps. If your party has something to offer the people they will vote you in. So no do not redraw the maps again.
10/17/25 3:01 PM	Yohanan Assefa		I do not support off year redistricting that is part of a political power grab and makes the political system even more unfair. Shame on the politicians who are seeking to redraw already unfair maps to make them even more unfair.
10/17/25 3:01 PM	Redistricting Maps Jennifer Kenzer		The Redistricting of the voting maps is a disgrace and a travesty. I am ashamed I live in NC. I am so disappointed in so many legislators that call themselves human. It is a sad sad day for NC.
10/17/25 3:01 PM	Thomas Hesselink	Down East Council	I oppose the redrawing of district maps because it seems at this time it is only to support a partisan agenda. I oppose it for all states, but especially in my state of North Carolina.
10/17/25 3:01 PM	Ms. Diane Bruner	North Carolina Tax Payer	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 3:01 PM	Steve Edmundson		I am 100% against the ongoing and repeated efforts by the Republicans in the NC General Assembly to gerrymander the state districts AGAIN! If my math is correct, this would be the 8th redistricting for US House representatives in the past 9 years. This is absurd, shameful, not in the best interest of North Carolina, nationally embarrassing and a total waste of our representatives in the NC GA. Indo NOT agree and encourage the GA to drop this effort immediately!
10/17/25 3:01 PM	Mr Joshua Lagunas		Republicans should be ashamed. I suppose I shouldn't be surprised that Republican leadership in Raleigh can't agree on a state budget nearly 4 months into the fiscal year, but they can piece together a new congressional map in a week all because they don't have the integrity to say no to a President asking them to do something so obviously unethical.
10/17/25 3:02 PM	SHAMEFUL DENISE AUTON		GOP must you cheat? Your constituents do not agree with your actions concerning redistricting! Please focus on the needs of NC citizens by working on passing a budget not time spent cheating!
10/17/25 3:02 PM	Ms Hollye Robinson		There is no need for redrawn maps. NC maps are the most gerrymandered in the country. The citizens of NC are entitled to and deserve elected officials that represent them. Not the elected officials choosing their constituents. This continual assault on our rights and democracy must stop.
10/17/25 3:02 PM	Ms Nikki Harris	Meals on Wheels-Buncombe County	I was taught that it's really important to play by the rules in life and that, as a collective society, we don't change the rules to tilt in our favor. Winning comes from doing the work. The Hard Work. I believe that we shouldn't change the rules on the basketball court, in business, and certainly not in the political realm. People's lives are hard enough, worrying about health care premiums and feeding their families. Please do not alter the maps to disenfranchise voters. Please return to the real work of representing your constituents with integrity and fairness.
10/17/25 3:02 PM	Eleanor Wertman		As a proud native North Carolinian and registered unaffiliated voter, I am appalled at the NC General Assembly's hasty, unnecessary, and nakedly partisan redistricting proposal. The state has already been redistricted twice since 2020, and this latest plan is being rushed through without adequate time for voters to consider the proposal and discuss its impact with their representatives. It is despicable and unconscionable that the NCGA is focusing on this sneaky power grab rather than finally doing their jobs and coming up with a state budget that funds essential services like Medicaid. This proposal's timing also creates confusion for the thousands of voters who are actively participating in ongoing municipal elections. Voters of all political affiliations agree that we the people, not a cabal of legislators drawing maps behind closed doors, should choose our representatives. Shame on the Republicans wasting their time and energy on cheating to win rather than doing their jobs and governing. My beloved home state deserves better, and y'all surely know better.

10/17/25 3:03 PM	Mrs. Mechelle Miller	NC voter - unaffiliated	Gerrymandering is morally wrong. NC has much more important properties than this power grab. Representatives should not be able to select their voters and ensure their own power. Pass a state budget! Redistricting should happen after a census, not just to appease a president.
10/17/25 3:03 PM	Ms Judith Dybwad	Concerned citizen	I strongly disagree with the attempt to gerrymander our state further in order to disenfranchise non-Republican voters.
10/17/25 3:03 PM	Marcia Price		I urge the North Carolina House and Senate to resist the unethical practice of redistricting in order to pad the already super majority of Republican voters. Say no to these attempts by Donald Trump to rig future elections! I am a registered republican and feel very strongly that this redistricting scheme should not be used by either party. Your constituents deserve to be fairly represented.
10/17/25 3:03 PM	Jenny Eaton		As a resident of North Carolina, I am appalled at this apparent unconstitutional gerrymandering power grab by the Republican Party! Our nation is divided enough, and I had hoped the elected officials of North Carolina would hold themselves to a higher standard. Bending a knee to the current regime is short sighted and will continue to erode the faith people have in a fair and free election! Please do not do this!
10/17/25 3:04 PM	Ms Lisa Heller		Please stop the gerrymandering! We are an evenly divided state which has been drawn to favor one party. Not fair, not ethical and barely legal. Win elections by the people who you choose, not by picking your voters! Pathetic!
10/17/25 3:04 PM	Howard Lander		Well, I guess if you are scared of our voters, this makes sense. Otherwise let's try some real Democracy! History will not judge this kindly.
10/17/25 3:05 PM	Nicole Cotton		I am deeply disappointed in the process and proposals put forth by the House Select Committee on Proposed Redistricting. The lack of transparency, rushed timelines, and apparent prioritization of partisan advantage over fair representation undermine public trust in our democratic institutions. North Carolinians deserve district maps that reflect our communities,Äînot ones drawn to entrench political power. I urge the committee to prioritize fairness, public input, and adherence to the principles of representative democracy moving forward.
10/17/25 3:05 PM	Debra Byrd		I strongly oppose any new gerrymandered districts. We are gerrymandered enough. If you redrew districts along county lines, in a nonpartisan way, that would be different.
10/17/25 3:05 PM	Mr. Jacob Fox		This is wrong. Your actions on redistricting in the middle of a decade is bold gerrymandering in order to bow down to an authoritarian regime. It,Äôs shameful.
10/17/25 3:05 PM	Elizabeth Elrod		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 3:05 PM	Lydia Rozier		The proposed changes would intentionally lead to an elected body that does not reflect the views and preferences of North Carolinians. Not only is that un-democratic, it's un-American. We've reached a critical point as a country when politicians don't even try to hide corruption anymore.
10/17/25 3:05 PM	Elizabeth Leggett		This redistricting plan is a complete waste of time and resources. An unwelcome distraction from real issues at hand. Manipulative, power hungry, and NOT what North Carolinians want!
10/17/25 3:05 PM	Lucas McLamb		The redistricting scheme currently being discussed is a disgusting distortion of the democratic process in this state. Why are the districts being redrawn in the middle of a decade? What is the justification for this nakedly partisan tampering? The Republican party holds 10 out of 14 US House seats despite their candidates only being able to garner just over 50% of the total votes cast. Now we're trying to make it 11 out of 14? Why? Which North Carolinians are asking for this? As public servants of the citizens of North Carolina, you are obligated to listen to the PEOPLE of North Carolina. All of them. Not just those you agree with. Not the leader of your party or your donors. The People. Stop putting party before state and put an end to this shameful attack on our democratic process.
10/17/25 3:06 PM	Annie Langley		I do not support the idea of redistributions (gerrymandering) for the sole purpose of supporting the republican advenda
10/17/25 3:06 PM	Pamela Genant		Maps are unfair as it is. Further gerrymandering would serve to disenfranchise even more voters. Push for nonpartisan commission to redraw maps.
10/17/25 3:06 PM	John Crvich		This proposed redistricting map is a travesty. It aims to subvert the will of the majority of the voters of this state. It is a craven, dishonorable plan for Republicans to choose their voters rather than allow the voters to fairly choose their elected officials. Any one with even a shred of decency would readily and soundly reject this gerrymandering proposal.
10/17/25 3:06 PM	Mr Harold Cummins		I am against any plan that restricts or limits the ‚Äúone person, one vote‚Äù position or that excludes any part of the voting population.
10/17/25 3:06 PM	Mrs. Jessica Cohen		I am an independent voter from Winston. This is a ridiculous and shameful power grab. And as a Christian, it is a flip the tables moment. As an Army Brat, it is woefully undemocratic and against all that my family has fought and sacrificed for. Do your jobs and pass a budget. You work for the people of NC.
10/17/25 3:07 PM	Kathy Dolde		This is absolutely stupid. Do not redistrict NC! I do not support it.

10/17/25 3:07 PM	Without representation	Brittany Scott	I am appalled that Berger would cave to pressures from Trump to redistrict our state. This is partisan, unethical, and wrong. If a party cannot win an election without stacking the deck in their favor, then they are not entitled to win. I don,Äôt care which party. This is wrong no matter who is doing it. This is approaching taxation without representation levels of discontent. Do not cave to executive folly. Let our state continue to function as it has. And if we are bringing state government back for anything, it darn well better be to vote on a budget. How dare you even consider bringing this for a vote when our state is still functioning without a budget! This is shameful and embarrassing. Do better.
10/17/25 3:07 PM	Gerrymandering = cheating	Kelly Fisher	Gerrymandering is the same as rigging elections; it,Äôs cheating. It was wrong when NC Dems did it, and it,Äôs still wrong when NC GOP does it. If you can,Äôt win with fair maps, you don,Äôt deserve to win. Draw fair maps.
10/17/25 3:07 PM	Christine Gram		This is harmful and does not align with voters. It,Äôs is cheating plain and simple. We cannot allow this to happen.
10/17/25 3:07 PM	Kristen Rendall		I categorically oppose the redistricting plan. As state lawmakers, you serve the people of North Carolina, NOT DONALD TRUMP. Please do not go through with this undemocratic action.
10/17/25 3:08 PM	Ms. Monica Walker	Gorrell Street Neighborhood Association	I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redrawing of our congressional maps. As a concerned citizen, I believe this process has been conducted in a way that undermines the core principles of fairness, transparency, and representative democracy. The process of redistricting should serve to ensure fair representation for all residents ,Äî not to entrench political power or diminish the voices of certain communities. Unfortunately, the current approach appears to favor partisan interests over public interest, raising serious concerns about gerrymandering and the manipulation of district boundaries for political gain. This undermines public trust in our democratic institutions and damages the integrity of our electoral system. When voters feel that outcomes are pre-determined by how lines are drawn, rather than by the will of the people, civic engagement suffers. Representation should be chosen by voters, not the other way around. I urge you to reconsider and pause the redistricting process until it can be carried out with genuine public input, independent oversight, and a clear commitment to fairness and equal representation. A truly democratic redistricting process must reflect the diversity and will of the population, not dilute it for partisan advantage.
10/17/25 3:08 PM	Carol Jacobsen		I opposed redistricting
10/17/25 3:08 PM	Ms Susan Baylies		Redistricting to disenfranchise Democrats and people of color is shameful. You can see by the FACT that Democrats can win state-wide elections such as governor and attorney general that the makeup of NC is nearly 50/50, but the current crooked system keeps a massive majority of Republicans in our state legislature. How very unAmerican and anti-democratic.
10/17/25 3:08 PM	Penny Suter		I am deeply disappointed in the process and proposals put forth by the House Select Committee on Proposed Redistricting. The lack of transparency, rushed timelines, and apparent prioritization of partisan advantage over fair representation undermine public trust in our democratic institutions. North Carolinians deserve district maps that reflect our communities,Äînot ones drawn to entrench political power. I urge the committee to prioritize fairness, public input, and adherence to the principles of representative democracy moving forward.
10/17/25 3:09 PM	Isabelle Shook		Maps should stay as are!
10/17/25 3:09 PM	Another facist move	Jim Piper	This is ridiculous how the weak republicans kiss trumps butt and does whatever he wants to destroy the democracy and Fredoms of this country
10/17/25 3:09 PM	Stephanie Ashby		This is a gross misrepresentation of NC voters and blatant power grab. NC voters are about evenly split between republican and democratic voters. Our current maps do not reflect this and the new maps are even worse. These maps are to represent VOTERS not consolidate power for sitting parties
10/17/25 3:11 PM	Debi Pemberton		Please do not allow the districting / redrawing maps. This is a blatant attempt to steal elections and cheat. Democracy is being destroyed by these partisan political moves meant to appease the President instead of serving the people of NC. Do the right thing and stop disenfranchising people in order to please the POTUS. Stand up for democracy, have some decency and integrity. This is a shameful and disgraceful move. Stop it in its tracks and stand up for what,Äôs right.
10/17/25 3:11 PM	Meaghan Kerwin		Win seats and representation through fair policies and standing for the people, not by cheating. You,Äôre supposed to be the leaders of a free nation - act like it! As a NC citizen, and a registered independent, I oppose the steps you,Äôre taking and hope you rethink your choices. Loyalty is to the Constitution, not a party or President.
10/17/25 3:12 PM	Don,Äôt Do This	Eileen Miller	You need more surgical precision to win? You need to cheat even more? Are you so desperate to be forever on the wrong side of history? This makes me ill. You should all be ashamed of kowtowing to a fascist dictator.
10/17/25 3:12 PM	Mrs. SHARON BUCHANAN		Thank you for correcting the NC Congressional map to represent Republican and Democrat voices properly, but especially for returning the voice of Republicans in WNC.

10/17/25 3:12 PM	Anna Ball		I think it‚Äôs disgusting and shameful that the General Assembly is even CONSIDERING this gerrymandering. NC is already one of the most gerrymandered states as it is. Y‚Äôall really out here trying to be the best at corruption. As a constituent in Greensboro, I hope you know I was voting red but I‚Äôm 100% voting blue now because this is ridiculous.
10/17/25 3:12 PM	Natasha Wilson		This map is a joke and shows clear disdain for democracy. The voters of North Carolina deserve to have their voices equally heard without interference from elected officials. The fact that this map is even being considered is disgraceful.
10/17/25 3:12 PM	Ms Victoria Daniel		Please reconsider the proposed redistricting map. It is grossly unfair to North Carolina citizens.
10/17/25 3:12 PM	Ron Lawlor		the state government should focus on Medicare, disaster relief, housing, or education, rather than doing the dirty work of Washington. Republicans have stated explicitly that they are doing this to pander to Trump. citizens of North Carolina deserve a districting map that ensures we are all represented, and creates a level playing field among political parties.
10/17/25 3:12 PM	hayden constance		I am opposed to the move to attempt to redistrict again in North Carolina. We need fair representation of all NC voters.
10/17/25 3:13 PM	Orlando Dobbin		Some Republicans defend gerrymandering as a necessary strategy ‚Äî a way to hold the line against demographic changes or policies they fear will be forced on them. I understand the instinct to protect what you believe in. But if winning requires bending the map instead of winning hearts and minds, then you‚Äôve already lost something far more important than a seat ‚Äî you‚Äôve lost the moral high ground. Conservatism, at its best, is about responsibility, fairness, and trusting the people. You don‚Äôt need to game the system to stay competitive. When districts are drawn honestly, every victory means more, and every loss becomes a chance to grow stronger ‚Äî not a reason to rewrite the rules. Please reconsider this push. I would like for my vote to feel like it matters.
10/17/25 3:13 PM	Ms Catharine Burns		I am strongly opposed to this widely publicized effort to cut out and disenfranchise NC voters. The Republicans who are bending the rules and breaking the commitments they have made to North Carolinians are reprehensible. Support fair and objective districts that reflect the demographics of this state.
10/17/25 3:13 PM	Jannine Humphrey		At this stage I shouldn‚Äôt be surprised at Republicans in North Carolina doing their worst every year to grab and maintain power by suppressing democratic voter representation. This is shameful and wrong. Myself and anyone who supports true democracy cannot and will not support these actions.
10/17/25 3:13 PM	Freida Green		Ensure the integrity of voting in the black and brown district remains
10/17/25 3:14 PM	Jerry Long		Leave the voting districts along. You and MAGA have done enough to damage NC.
10/17/25 3:14 PM	Anne Oumarou		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. Additionally, North Carolinians are voting in local elections, let them finish and focus on that. This is unethical.
10/17/25 3:14 PM	Mr Robert Chamberlain		Once elected, our legislators seem to completely forget that their jobs are to work for their constituents - NOT the Republican Party. I lived in a Mormon-driven theocracy for 10 years in Utah and saw first hand how warped things get when the population Mormon population was 53% and the legislature was 90%+ Mormon. Quality Government occurs when neither of the two major parties holds a super majority. Then legislators are forced to actually govern rather than toe the party line, quaking in fear that the current administration will "primary" them if they do not bow down. This is a horrible way to run a government and certainly is far from the concept of representing the people. This redistricting plan to squeeze another "red" seat is disgusting. I have been a registered Republican for over 40 years and I am appalled by this kind of behavior. I will certainly be out there talking to every voter I can asking them to vote for ANYBODY except an incumbent. If you really want to take action to start fixing the situation, do it by creating a single completely open primary where the two top vote getters, regardless of party are the candidates that go onto the November ballot. That would be a step closer to getting things back from the lunatic white Christian nationalists, who are a better organized, more sophisticated, and better funded version of the KKK
10/17/25 3:14 PM	Kelly Johnson		Please protect our votes and voices by NOT approving this congressional redistricting plan. This is not an honorable way of representing the people of your state, but rather an underhanded attempt to grab power. Stop it and do better. If you want to be elected, listen to what the constituents in your district actually want and need.
10/17/25 3:14 PM	Mrs Cathy Banks		Gerrymandering should be a NO for NC! We are better than that. Everyone should have a representative not just one side!
10/17/25 3:14 PM	Kirby Micka	Your constituency	The only reason to change these districts in this way is to give an inordinate amount of power to one particular group. That is wrong no matter who the group is, and especially wrong because the group is the Republican party - a group who is daily ignoring and eroding the laws we have already set out. I do not agree with this.
10/17/25 3:14 PM	James Schall		Stop gerrymandering! Do not redraw North Carolina congressional district maps. You have no legitimate reason to do so.

10/17/25 3:15 PM	Mrs Patricia Byrne	Alpha Delta Kappa	Those who decide to redistrict will indicate that they cannot think on their own. It also shows lack of intelligence. What other illegal acts will the President ask you to do? The public has not asked for this. Once this is done, any party or group can in return do the same action in another election. Please, listen to the rules of law and what the people of this state desire. Democracy is on the line. Look back at what Hitler asked in 1937 and 38. I am praying all parties will listen to the soul of this country and not to a ‚Äúwant a be dictator,Äù. God bless us all. P. Byrne
10/17/25 3:15 PM	Jose Osorio		I am for the map redistricting. ¬ºGracias, Republicans!
10/17/25 3:15 PM	Mrs SABRINA GARRETT		Why should white people be the only people voting. Whoever votes for this Redistricting maps has sold your soul to the devil/ satan.
10/17/25 3:16 PM	Ms Kate D Torrey		I oppose the redistricting move: let us voters choose the elected officials and dont fix it so elected officials choose their voters. That subverts democracy.
10/17/25 3:16 PM	Mrs Jill Long		Really? Unnecessary and election fixing. Try allowing all North Caroliner's a vote. I find all the contorted attempts to throw out votes insulting, Try winning by being the best choice available .
10/17/25 3:17 PM	Gail Williams		How low can you go???? Apparently not reached the bottom yet. You were elected to represent "all the people" and you are blatantly bending over backwards to be corrupt, illegal and to please one man! Shame on you for taking away the rights of the people of this state to have a vote and a say in their government.
10/17/25 3:17 PM	9194344369 Carol Pearce		It is not in the interest of anyone in this state to gerrymander another seat for the Republicans. Who are you representing...the people of NorthCarolina or Donald Trump? Consider the people you are working for ...Carolinians not the president.
10/17/25 3:19 PM	Andrew Bresson		These proposed maps are absolutely ridiculous. North Carolina is and has been an extremely politically diverse state for a long time now and yet these new maps clearly gerrymander the state to an unconscionable degree. Anyone should be able to see that these maps aren't even close to fair and anyone who votes to approve these maps makes it clear that they do not stand for fair representation.
10/17/25 3:19 PM	Ms. Glyn Owen	N/a	Considering a new redistricting congressional map was just made in 2023. And used for the 2024 elections. I feel that in these days of uncertainty and government waste and abuse of power. That this is just another mismanagement of our resources that are needed elsewhere. Like for healthcare or to help Veterans. Or never let it be said that we actually helped our homeless instead of shooting at them. We could have raised the taxes in the BBB by 3% on people and corporations making over $250,000 and would not find ourselves in this position. And where did the $17 trillion go from the tariffs? And, why is the federal government being dismissed repeatedly by Mike Johnson to avoid a vote on the Epstein files? But this map. It is ridiculous. I do not agree with it based on it is worthless and unconstitutional. It has no clarity. Makes no sense. Colors are random and just dots. And I do not support this statement: Senate leader Phil Berger wrote Thursday on X that the General Assembly ‚Äúis ready to help Republicans secure Congress and move @realDonald Trump‚Äôs agenda forward! I personally do not won‚Äôt to get in any national battles. I thought Trump meant peace. This is just stirring things up in my state. But I think this is the MOST IMPORTANT THING. And anyone voting on this map issue or anything else in NC. They should ask themselves this question first? Why isn‚Äôt our state budget finished? Why do we have homeless and starving children? Don‚Äôt say the democrats! I read every page of the BBB. Did you? Hear is another quote: ‚ÄúRedistricting action would happen even while North Carolina GOP legislators are more than three months late on passing a state budget and unable to decide how to boost Medicaid spending. ‚ÄúInstead, we ‚Äôre coming back to talk about redistricting because Republicans believe if they can ‚Äôt win fair, they ‚Äôre going to change
10/17/25 3:19 PM	Approve The Redistricting Nicholas Gallant		Perfect! What a great map
10/17/25 3:19 PM	Ma Helen Coleman		This is against protocol and against what the majority of North Carolinians want to happen. Political maneuverings at the expense of the voice of the people.
10/17/25 3:20 PM	Mr John Posek		Pretty terrible way to run a government. This really needs to be done by an independent body so that maps are not redrawn every time one party is in power. .
10/17/25 3:20 PM	Nm Sinreich		Isn't it cheating to redraw the lines to win? Equal representation please.

10/17/25 3:20 PM	San Keller		I oppose the proposal for North Carolina to re-draw voting maps mid- decade. North Carolina Rpublicans already are over represented in Congress and the purpose of this redistricting is to disenfranchise Independents and Democrats. North Carolina is a purple state. 50-percent of our congressional representatives should be democrats.
10/17/25 3:20 PM	Mr Daniel DePlanche		Why is it the Republicans have to gerrymander districts all the sudden! Just because daddy Trump wants you to? You feel you have to cheat to win if you're such a great party why do you have to cheat people will vote for you but it's obviously there's a problem what does that tell you about your party?
10/17/25 3:20 PM	Darline Rowe	Retired	I am disgusted that the republican legislature would consider further gerrymandering our maps. The state is so incredibly gerrymandered already and you want to take it even further to further eliminate Democratic seats in congress. This is not only extremely unfair in a fifty fifty state but is nothing more than racist behavior. We will turn this around one day and draw FAIR maps. As a citizen of this state , I don't understand why you want such unfair maps other than to hang on to the power that you have and ensure that no one but white people have representation here.
10/17/25 3:20 PM	Kimberly Morris		It is not unfair to redirect and misrepresent North Carolina. We are already one of the most gerrymandered states in America. North Carolina is pretty evenly split between democrats and republicans in this state and we should be represented as such.
10/17/25 3:20 PM	Dr. Nathaniel Duncan		A Republican-leaning polling firm, Opinion Diagnostics, conducted a survey that showed 78% of Republicans were AGAINST gerrymandering . It is not a fair representation to have 11 Republican districts out of 14 in a state that is as close to a 50-50 split as you can get. This is not a "mandate from the voters" from the 2024 election. This is an opportunistic aggression by the party in power to misrepresent their constituents for the sake of power.
10/17/25 3:20 PM	Melanie Katz		I strongly oppose further gerrymandering congressional districts and subverting the will of the citizens of North Carolina. What is the reason to redraw maps? For partisan, unchecked, political power? If you want to actually represent the people of North Carolina and the legislature feels it's important to redraw maps - bring it to the people as a referendum on the November ballot just as California is doing. The legislature's job is to represent the best interests of North Carolinians, not to bow down to the President. You need to do your actual job and pass a budget instead of playing retribution politics with other states thousands of miles away.
10/17/25 3:20 PM	Ms. Roberta Waddle		Please reconsider drawing maps that are more discriminatory than they are now. The maps are supposed to be drawn once a decade to account for population changes in the previous decade. There has not been significant population shifts since the maps were drawn in 1021 and 2023. Please do your job and pass a budget for the state and forego the urge to get one more Republican in Congress. The districts ready fail to give fair representation to the people of NC and you k ow it. I look forward to this ploy backfiring and our electing more Democrats to Congress. Just do your job and get us a budget that funds both education and Healthcare.
10/17/25 3:21 PM	Erin Schuermeyer		I strongly opposed the new redistricting effort. North Carolina is already ranked as one of the most gerrymandered states in the country which is quite embarrassing. This effort would make the gerrymandering even worse. Instead, why not have an independent commission design our voting districts that wouldn't consider politics?
10/17/25 3:21 PM	Linda Minney		Redistricting should be done rarely, with no fewer than five years between changes. Maps should only be drawn by third parties with non-partisan interests. When NC was called out by a judge for maps that were redrawn with ‚Äúalmost surgical precision,Äù to disenfranchise certain groups that should have been enough to require that NC maps should only be redrawn by independent non-partisan people for at least two presidential election cycles to avoid a repeat. As stated earlier all the districting maps should be drawn impartially and infrequently.
10/17/25 3:21 PM	This isn't a game. Rachel Hopler	Healthcare	I know it seems like politics is a game you need to win, but it's not a game to us. Gerrymandering to get additional representatives might seem like a necessary tactic to pass the ball forward to your end zone, but it's not. It's like allowing the referee to carry the ball for one team. It can easily be weaponized against you, and more importantly it's just not how the game should work. And again (I can't stress this enough), this ISN'T a game where the objective is to "win" by electing your team at any cost. It's a system of representation and Gerrymandering is literally making the representatives less representative of the people they serve. Do the right thing and establish fair voting districts that allow representatives to be elected by the people, not the party in power.
10/17/25 3:21 PM	Kaileigh Galloway		If redrawing the congressional maps ensure that North Carolina is represented correctly, then I do believe it is acceptable. Over time people change, our towns change. Therefore redrawing the maps may ensure that correct representation is valid and up to date.
10/17/25 3:21 PM	Mrs Diane Mayhew	Retired	Please stop the gerrymandering! If you can‚Äôt win in a fair election don‚Äôt run!

10/17/25 3:22 PM	Mr. Sam Morris	Durham Resident	What the Republican-controlled North Carolina Legislature is attempting is nothing short of an assault on democracy. In following the path of Texas and bowing to the demands of President Donald Trump, this redistricting effort represents a calculated attempt to entrench power through manipulation, not merit. It is an act of political engineering that silences the will of the people, an act that would have been condemned by the very founders this state claims to revere. Redistricting is meant to ensure fair and equal representation. Instead, this Legislature is weaponizing it to deny citizens their most fundamental right: a voice in their own government. It is a modern-day form of taxation without representation, the same tyranny that sparked the American Revolution. Our ancestors risked everything to resist the corruption of power without accountability. Now, in 2025, our elected officials seem determined to resurrect it. Let us be clear: when elected leaders conspire to subvert the consent of the governed, they are not serving the Republic; they are betraying it. This is not governance. It is treachery against the democratic principles they swore to uphold. The deliberate disenfranchisement of voters for partisan gain is a moral and civic offense that borders on treason against the very idea of a representative democracy. The people of North Carolina deserve better than a government that rigs the map to choose its voters instead of earning their trust. History will remember this not as a political tactic, but as a betrayal.
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Carol Fonseca		I am against the Republican leadership plan to redraw North Carolina,Äôs Congressional maps. You should be ashamed on how much you are abusing your power to take away ours. Cowards! Cheaters! You know you would loose if you didnt! The party of morals and values is nothing but criminals! Public comment period is open. Let them know what you think:
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Sheila Hebert		This is a blatant grab by the Republicans to gain seats. All based on Donald Trump,Äòs orders. I strongly disagree with this redistricting.
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Mrs Carmen White		How can the proposed redrawing be fair when Senator Berger has stated it is to push forward the Trump agenda?.
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Mrs Belinda Bowling		Gerrymandering is wrong and everyone knows it. Cut the partisan crap and try to do what is best for the state and country. This from an independent. I don,Äôt vote for anyone who just hollows the party line and can,Äôt think for self!
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Chris Allen		Its disgusting that republicans have nothing to offer the american people ,so they Gerrymander to win elections & take our choice away We should be able to pick our representatives - republican or democrat , not the other way around.
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Connie Aiken		This proposed redistricting NC voting districts is an embarrassment to the state of NC. It should be against the law. I am totally against this most recent attempt of gerrymandering in out state and will do everything possible to vote out the representatives who are willing to sell out NC votes.
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Peggy Blackburn		We are already one of the most gerrymandered states. Maybe you will be satisfied when Trump handpicks everyone, everywhere. Shame on you!
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Steve Gibson		Voters pick their reps, not the other way around. This is a disgrace and a mockery of American values.
10/17/25 3:23 PM	Dr. Carol Jordan		Gerrymandering in NC is out of control. I,Äôm not being represented in my state. Stop redrawing maps that ensure only republicans are represented. There are more registered democrats in NC than registered republicans. We deserve representation and continuing to prevent that should be a strong indicator that the desire to serve at the will of the people is a lower priority than ensuring the GOP agenda is prioritized. It,Äôs shameful to rig the system rather than allowing for a government system for the people & by the people. No taxation without representation!!
10/17/25 3:24 PM	Redistricting Nathalie Cadiz skinner		I am a concern voter. The new redistricting proposal will weak the fair representation forvmiddle clase people.
10/17/25 3:24 PM	Ann Bowman		I oppose the current redistricting legislation in North Carolina because it undermines fair representation and erodes voters,Äô rights, particularly of marginalized communities. Our democracy depends on districts drawn to reflect real communities, not political ones that silence diverse voices. Voters, not politicians, must choose our representatives.
10/17/25 3:24 PM	Mrs Nancy Maples-Remley		Against. It is wrong and at best voter suppression to redraw voting district years ahead of time. This would be done without population composition as required. Further it is bowing to Trumps request. I'm sure it is not to gain political favor with the administration, right?
10/17/25 3:24 PM	You,Äôre Cheaters Kaye W		Why are you trying to cheat people out of being represented
10/17/25 3:25 PM	Ms. Kathryn W Berenson	na	Cracking current districts dilutes voter wishes. Please reject this new attempt to gerrymander districts within my state.

10/17/25 3:25 PM	Mr Robert Taylor	Private Citizen	This is a blatant, desperate, and vile attempt to grab and consolidate power, but not a surprising one. The attempted narrative that it is in response to Democrats trying to steal seats in other states is patently false. It is well documented that this particular phase of gerrymandering across the country began with the Republican legislature and governor in Texas redrawing maps. Gerrymandering is a disgusting an undemocratic practice whether done by Democrats or Republicans. It only serves to disenfranchise voters and is entirely self-interested by those in power to either gain more power, consolidate the power that they have, get rid of effective opponents in politics, or attempt to avoid your own party's politicians being voted out of office. North Carolina is a balanced state in terms of its voter base and has suffered greatly in the past few years being the guinea pig for the Republicans using every possible tactic to attain and consolidate a supermajority that patently does not reflect the will of the voters in North Carolina. This is a predictable and transparent attempt to continue that path and extend it to the national level. We, the people of North Carolina recognize it, we protest it, we name it as the immoral, unethical and unwanted (outside of the party diehards that will approve of anything stated by the party line) action that it is. One might call it un-American except that, sadly, it is all too American. To be perfectly clear, because it is the all-too predictable response to an opinon such as this, my opinion would be exactly the same if Democrats were in power and attempting to do the same thing in North Carolina. It is only with the deepest unease and regret that I recognize the attempts to do the same in California as being necessary in response to Republican maneuvers such as these and those in Texas. I have a low opinion of the Democrats too, but they have, at least, attempted to maintain some sort of decorum in following established rules and not complete contempt for the electorate and the desires of the people (not always, but more often than the current GOP). I am under no illusion that these opinions will matter one iota to those forcing this plan through under a manufactured supermajority, but it should at least be on the record that there are myriad people in the electorate who you have already disenfranchised who recognize what is happening. We will not be silenced though we are ignored. We will not forget nor forgive these heinous, unethical, immoral actions. We know that the GOP cannot afford to lose either the US House or Senate in the midterms. At a national level it is already apparent that the midterm elections will not be free or fair elections if they happen at all. We see every effort is being made to continue the practice of NC Republicans to arrange elections to be fixed in their favor before a single vote is cast.
10/17/25 3:25 PM	Diane Badertscher		There should be NO redistricting until AFTER the 2030 census.
10/17/25 3:26 PM	Benjamin Belk	People of NC	The fact that you are willing to suck a wanna be dictators boot instead of pass a budget is insane. You call yourself conservatives but don,Äôt even know how to pass a budget. Do us all a favor, all of you resign and stop this foolish crap.
10/17/25 3:26 PM	Heather Benito		Why are maps being redrawn? Stop gerrymandering our state.
10/17/25 3:26 PM	YOUR CONSTITUENT Deborah Hunter-Sullivan	VOTER	When you were sworn into office you took an oath to defend and uphold the Constitution, but you appear ready to betray your oath to appease the felon in the Oval Office. I am appalled that you are seeking to rob your voters of their Constitutional rights and voice, with your (further) gerrymandering scheme. This is willfully criminal activity and beyond dishonest and I strongly condemn your proposed illegal action. Is blatant cheating really the best that the Republicans can do??! Please, stand down!
10/17/25 3:27 PM	Mrs Lara Murphy		According to Common Cause, "North Carolina voters overwhelmingly oppose gerrymandering of congressional and legislative electoral districts and want a bipartisan citizens commission to draw voting maps instead of legislators, according to a new survey conducted by a Republican-leaning polling firm." I am one of those voters. Gerrymandering should be illegal, and the whole world can see that the NCGOP is rigging the system in broad daylight.
10/17/25 3:27 PM	Nelda Mahlin		Stop the republicans. They are greedy and cannot win elections without cheating. Whatever they used to be is gone and all that,Äôs left is a disgusting bunch of crooks. Are you still a republican? Why?
10/17/25 3:27 PM	Mr Timothy Remley		Against. To do this now clearly states it is gerrymandering to obtain more Republic seats. It is not in compliance with the regulations and is years in advance of the next due date. On top of the previous redrawing which was also gerrymandering. Repeat, against
10/17/25 3:27 PM	Ms Gerardette Furlow		The NC congressional maps need to be left alone. The general assembly should be focused on solving real problems in our great state. It appears the general assembly wants to dilute the vote of the people they represent. What is the underlying rationale for a need to bother/redraw the maps? Any map redrawing should be done by a neutral party and not the general assembly as they are just trying to give themselves more power and remain in power. The people of NC should be the ones with the power! Why is the general assembly trying to diminish the vote and representation of the people?
10/17/25 3:27 PM	Donna Ray		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.

10/17/25 3:28 PM	NO To Redistricting!! Janice Blunt		Our state is already ridiculously gerrymandered to the detriment of its citizens who are owed the right to select their representatives, not the other way around. For example, District #1, currently the only competitive district at R+1, elected a Democrat in 2024. The only other districts that elected Democrats to the U.S. House in 2024 are rated D+17, D+23, and D+24. The ten districts that elected Republicans are rated R+8-10. How is this fair in a state where voters by political party are 32% Democrats, 30% Republicans, and 38% Unaffiliated? It isn't. That is clear. If Republican policies are not sufficient to keep Republicans in office without extreme partisan gerrymandering, you need to change those policies, not rig elections in your favor. You are supposed to work for the Great State of North Carolina, not the current POTUS. If you proceed with this plan, SHAME ON YOU!!
10/17/25 3:28 PM	Mr Nino Formica	N/A	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. Thank you.
10/17/25 3:28 PM	Amy Sullivan		I am not in favor of redistricting. The people you serve have power and need to be heard, do not redistrict!
10/17/25 3:28 PM	Nora Dicker		The way the Republicans want to completely oppress those against them isn‚Äôt new. Think about all the racist policies throughout all of American history. Republicans are just keeping up the same game. We are against your fear of people not like you, your hate, and your racism. Don‚Äôt redraw our districts to restrict our voice!!!!
10/17/25 3:29 PM	Mr Paul Harvin		I am disappointed in the state legislators that are working to to sway election results by trying to pick their voters by gerrymandering our voting districts. Our state legislators should instead be focusing their energies on making NC constituents,‚Äô lives better by investing in and modernizing our public infrastructure and education system.
10/17/25 3:29 PM	Ms. Bonnie Anthony		Please do not redistrict to simply help the Republicans get more votes and give a Republican victory win. That would be unfair to Democrats and their votes.
10/17/25 3:30 PM	Ms Carla Smith		I am a registered Independent voter who will be sixty years old next month. I grew up in the late 1960s and the turmoil of that time. I survived being uprooted and moved across Mecklenburg County so that I would not be bussed to a predominantly black school due to forced busing and desegregation. I have seen this country at its worse during the Rodney King Riots and I have seen our country as one on September 12. 2001, and again after the Los Angeles fires and Hurricane Helene. What has happened to the United States in the past ten months has been more traumatic for me than the COVID pandemic. At this moment in time: I am disabled, receiving Social Security Disability, Medicare, Medicaid, SNAP and a Housing Choice Voucher through HUD. I AM PETRIFIED. What the Republicans have done to our systems of norms has reeked complete havoc on our society . The district maps have been redrawn already since 2020. To do so again is not only morally incompetent but BLATANT DISCRIMINATION. The majority of the citizens of the United States and ESPECIALLY in North Carolina where I have lived since the day I was born - WE HAVE HAD ENOUGH OF THE REPUBLICANS CHANGING THE RULES TO SUIT THEM!! That is NOT how we do things in this country and we are sick and tired of the GOP attempting to subvert the Constitution and our legal system. Please stop. Stop the hate. Stop the damnation of everything not white and not the right type of Christian. Stop stripping Americans of their Constitutional rights and freedoms. Stop gerrymandering our voting districts!!! Let the 2026 elections be. If you win, you win. Stop stacking the deck, because it may not always be in your favor!
10/17/25 3:30 PM	Dawn Longman		It is deplorable that NC plans to redistrict maps yet again. The General Assembly should comprise a count of all of the NC residents writing to you to tell you that this is not what the NC residents want. NC is already one of the worst gerry mandered states, the Only way Virginia Foxx has managed to remain a NC representative for the past 20 years. It is disgusting our representation continue to support voter disenfranchisement in this way. Just do better North Carolina.
10/17/25 3:30 PM	Lisa Marker		Please stand up for democracy. We are behind you and support you standing up against the Republicans attempting to cheat democracy. Now is the time to stand strong.
10/17/25 3:30 PM	Robert Van Dyke		The redistricting map is a blatant attempt to silence thousands of North Carolinians who are not Republicans. This map is shameful and not representative of the will of our state. Please do not enact the new map.
10/17/25 3:30 PM	Mara Massel		This plan must be rejected. So, by the proposed Congressional district plan, you'll make sure that a Republican gets elected, ignoring the fact the Democrats make up the majority of voters in North Carolina. Seems like a desperate move, and demonstrates Republican insecurity with the legal voting system.
10/17/25 3:30 PM	Traci Lookadoo		Why was this even necessary? So republicans have more ways to steal ?
10/17/25 3:30 PM	Patricia Kowite		The redistricting proposal from the NC legislature is going too far. We are re-entering the Jim Crow era. This time it is the Donald Trump and Friends era. It is blatantly racist and unconstitutional. Partisan redistricting has been a part of NC politics for as long as I remember, but this is beyond anything experienced before. WE NEED NON-PARTISAN MAPS no matter which party is in power. My vote should count no matter where I live. Voters should choose our elected officials, not the legislature.

10/17/25 3:31 PM	Chris Werner		Strongly oppose
10/17/25 3:31 PM	Mckenzy Hildebran-Joines		This is a clear partisan attempt to gerrymander and anyone with a brain can see through your attempt at dismantling the trust the population has in both elections, and the electoral process as a whole. Shame on you.
10/17/25 3:31 PM	Tony Warren		What are we redistricting on a non-census data year? There is no need for it. The political motivation is clear to any one who pays the smallest amount of attention. The districts have already been gerrymandered beyond what should legally be allowed. Oh wait, it wasn't until the state Supreme Court retook a case already decided by the previous court. District should be drawn in condensed manners disregarding political association of the population. Voters should be deciding who represents, not politicians deciding who their voters should be. Do not change the districts.
10/17/25 3:31 PM	Mrs Christine Cote		I think that Gerrymandering is an action which is counter to democracy. If the new district is designed to deliberately favor one political party over another it should be made illegal, no matter what the party.
10/17/25 3:31 PM	Denita Long		Congressional districts should represent the will of the people. If the people,Äôs votes run 50/50 by party, then the districts should also be split 50/50. The districts should never be drawn for the express purpose of keeping one party in power. I vehemently oppose the proposed redistricting plan.
10/17/25 3:32 PM	Rev. Frank Dew		We need a bipartisan commission to establish districts rather than a partisan legislature!
10/17/25 3:32 PM	Ms Mary Sewell		We are a purple state. Competitive districts are essential to fair and representative democracy. Now you are removing the only competitive districts we still had. This is wrong, anti-democratic, the opposite of a representative government. Say NO to any redistricting that removes competitiveness.
10/17/25 3:32 PM	Mrs Thelma Allen		I think all redistricting in states should be done by a nonpartisan committee so it fairly represents the voters in each state.
10/17/25 3:32 PM	Mr. Jeff Whitaker		Where is the budget which is your job to do not redistricting you can do that in five years. But wait there may not even be any elections anymore. I am a republican have been for almost 40 years but I am very disappointed in our party. This is not the Republican Party that I know. Why are we kneeling to Trump? Only so that Berger can get an endorsement. Please vote against this.
10/17/25 3:33 PM	Steve Hanf		This is shameful and embarrassing and disgraceful. Pass a state budget for the PEOPLE OF NORTH CAROLINA YOU WERE ELECTED TO SERVE instead of spending time making even more gerrymandered districts at the behest of Donald Trump.
10/17/25 3:33 PM	Ms Deborah Weeks	Voter	Leave the already horribly gerrymandered districts alone!!! Wait until the next census like you,Äôre supposed to do. If you can,Äôt win without cheating then maybe you deserve to lose! I,Äôm totally disgusted by the entire whining, cheating, childish behavior, unconstitutional actions by the spineless republikkkan party and their ignorant followers!!! Spend money on education, stand for something besides hate and division then you might honestly win an election. As long as you,Äôre blindly following a treasonous, child molesting, sexual predator, rapist, fascist, felonious, lying, unconstitutional criminal don,Äôt expect much support.
10/17/25 3:33 PM	Ms Freda Salatino		In a state where the registered voters are split almost exactly evenly between Democrats, Independents, and Republicans, North Carolina's congressional caucus currently has 4 Democrats and10 Republicans representing them. That's already lopsided. (Before the redistricting in 2022 it was 7 Democrats and 7 Republicans.) And now lawmakers are proposing yet ANOTHER redistricting effort, in what is clearly a bid to draw out Don Davis of the 1st District. I think our state legislature ought to concentrate on passing a budget, and leave this new ultra-gerrymandered map proposal until after the local 2025 elections.
10/17/25 3:33 PM	jane sharp		Please support democracy in its true form. How in the world can you allow a MINORITY of the NC population to have virtually complete control with this outrageous power grab? Thank you.
10/17/25 3:33 PM	Janet Gauss	Citizen	Our Constitution guarantees Americans government of, by and for the People. Inherent in that guarantee is the notion that the people should have the right to vote for their representatives in local, state, and national government rather than see politicians rig maps so as to cement their power. This has been a longstanding problem in our state with the exception of the 2022 midterms when congressional districts were drawn by an independent, non partisan commission, resulting in an evenly divided congressional delegation of 7 Republicans and 7 Democrats, an accurate reflection of the electorate in our ‚Äúpurple‚Äù state. Gerrymandering is unpopular across party lines , yet legislators in power continue to rig elections by redrawing districts to try to ensure an outcome to their liking . Free and fair elections are a bedrock of democracy; manipulating outcomes is part of the authoritarian playbook and anti American. I urge you to reject mid decade gerrymandering .
10/17/25 3:34 PM	Mr. Michael Flood		Political gerrymandering is inherently harmful to the citizens and the State of North Carolina as it is, by design, allowing politicians to choose their future electorate and thus removing accountability to those who elected them to their current office. District maps should be created by an independent, non-partisan, 3rd party organization following the decennial US Census. These maps will be presumed accepted unless a 2/3 majority in the NCGA votes within 30 days to reject the maps. Inaction in the NCGA would result in default acceptance of the maps at the end of the 30-day clock. NCSBE would be required to implement the maps for the next election following their acceptance.
10/17/25 3:34 PM	Mr Gary Heaton		The people of this country deserve free and fair elections. Manipulative methods of control by either party is unexceptable in a true democracy!

10/17/25 3:34 PM	Nancy Nye	League of Women Voters	This is a blatant power grab by the NC republican party for the benefit of the national republication party and Donald Trump. It is not necessary, it is not fair, it is not in any way a move that will benefit the people of North Carolina. It will result in harming NC 's reputation as a welcoming place to live and to do business. It will encourage more fractious politics and further polarize our citizens. And in the end, it will lead to the downfall of the republican party in our state. You can push us only so far.
10/17/25 3:34 PM	Tara Scarborough		I strongly oppose this re-distracting map and in fact, support going back to the districting before that was in place before this current map.
10/17/25 3:35 PM	Ms Christy Carrothers		We are a state almost divided perfectly 50/50. A state that voted for Trump but also voted more for Dems in the House, Gov, AG and Lt Gov, yet you are redistricting as if you are owed a super majority when you are not. It's disgraceful what has become of the Republicans in this state. I used to vote a split ticket but I no longer do that because of things like this. Eventually Trump will be gone and you'll have to deal with the consequences of your actions. I look forward to that day. Your party will reap what it does, if your party survives this terrible time in our history.
10/17/25 3:35 PM	Mrs. Pam Musialowski		I am against the redistricting plan for 2 reasons. 1. Citizens should pick their constituents, not the other way around. 2.Doing mid census redistricting is just a way to cheat. It is clear the president knows his policies are not popular, so he has to cheat in order to get unpopular bills passed. I was a lifelong republican who recently changed to non affiliated, due to unethical practices like this. I need to be proud of my party. I,Äôm not.
10/17/25 3:35 PM	Richard Bradley		This GERRYMANDERING needs to STOP. Can you not see how DIVIIDED this country is.? Now you want take us back k to the Jim Crow days of doing idiotic things to keep minorities from voting. It's a god-awful shame that people can't get along because they don't like the color of your skin, yes I know every time you hear something like this you think oh my goodness it's all about racism, but but what else could you call it it's not benefiting everyone. Civil rights used to be a great big deal in this country not so much now. Many have died and fought for my right to even vote and now I wonder how long it'll be before I cannot vote. You want to send illegal immigrants back I understand it it needs to be illegal way to do this we had a plan put together but the president of the United States said no And as always the Republican Party bowed down to their 34 count felon Who Lies like a dog on a porch I know it And You Know It but for some reason you just don't care you know that people will vote all of you out so now you want to try and take away their votes but it won't happen because the God I serve is bigger than any of this
10/17/25 3:36 PM	To redistrictiong committ Deborah Sloan	Rettiredy	No no no. There is no reason for any change in NC.
10/17/25 3:37 PM	Peggy Baldwin		The voters own our democracy, not one Predident, not one political party. The gangster tactics of this Predident, his administration and the NC GOP make a mockery of our democracy. Stop them now or there will be no turning back!
10/17/25 3:37 PM	Andy Riley		Why do you think you have the right to rig our state maps? No one in North Carolina wants this. Stop shaming our state. This is appalling.
10/17/25 3:37 PM	Jane Willig		Stop the Gerrymandering Game the Republicans are again playing. All people are entitled to having their vote count for their chosen candidates. Stop cheating due to unpopular stances.
10/17/25 3:37 PM	Ms Christy Parsons		I am against this 100%. I think it's atrocious what the Republicans are trying to do by redistricting midterm. If they don't cheat, they know they can't win. They can never say again they are for free and fair elections, this proves they don't care about that, only to stay in power and control the people of NC to their will.
10/17/25 3:37 PM	Karen Hinsdale		You are all a bunch of criminals - can only win by stacking the deck not by policies or care or programs. I don,Äôt know how you sleep at night being the evil, short-sighted cheater that you are.
10/17/25 3:38 PM	You have to be kidding Lillian Smith	Human	What, why not just go for 100%? Certainly you can find a way to divide up Charlotte and Raleigh into enough pieces that there are no districts left that would go Democratic? You are just not trying hard enough. I mean come on, why stop at 79%?! The only way for Republicans to win is to cheat, so just go for the 100%!
10/17/25 3:38 PM	Haley Sessions		This redistricting does not allow a fair distribution of ideologies & power between the two predominant political parties. This is an act of gerrymandering in order to control the government and keep voters from having power to influence the nation and our state's future. There has to be balance, in order to keep each party in check. Democracy cannot exist without all people having voting power (meaning everyone, regardless of economic status or cultural background). North Carolina citizens and Americans as a whole deserve to have an influence on the nation they fund with their taxes and hard work. If too much power goes towards one side, popular vote becomes a fruitless cause. No taxation without representation.
10/17/25 3:38 PM	Jennifer Holston		This is utterly ridiculous. Get a spine and say no to Trump,Äôs request.
10/17/25 3:40 PM	Ms Vanessa Thompson		I dont think it is a good idea. The republicans are making sure that the get control of Congress. They could not do it honestly. I hope they dont let the Republicans get their way.
10/17/25 3:41 PM	Travis Cagle		Serve all of the tax payers of North Carolina. Do not serve another public servant. This state has suffered over the last year. We help each other without asking about political or religious values. We are all in this together. Work with us. Work for us. Make NC the example of the melting pot America claims to be.

10/17/25 3:41 PM	Karen Owens		This is a complete abuse of power attempting to take away the voice of North Carolinians. Please remember who you took an oath to serve. Consider coming to work on a state budget rather than taking steps to end democracy.
10/17/25 3:41 PM	Rachel Harrison		Redistricting in this way is not something I support or agree with. Why has the NCGA not passed a budget, but can spend time on efforts that don,Äôt HELP any North Carolinians???
10/17/25 3:41 PM	Jean Farmer	Me, myself and I	Redistricting should be done by outside parties with nothing to gain by the outcome. Stop what you,Äôre doing.
10/17/25 3:42 PM	Mr Charles Drake		Redistricting is voter suppression. Every citizen with a voter registration has the right to vote, it's supposed to be equal opportunity. I ask you to make sure it is. Thank you
10/17/25 3:43 PM	Mychael-Ann Pelo		I write as a North Carolinian who values ethical government, fiscal responsibility, and stable rules that let citizens and businesses plan with confidence. The current redistricting ,Äúarms race,Äù,Äîreactive, mid-decade redraws to gain a temporary edge,Äîundermines those principles. It breeds litigation, injects uncertainty into our elections and local economies, and damages public trust in the General Assembly as an institution. In fact, mid-cycle redraws in North Carolina reliably trigger costly court fights and last-minute changes for administrators and voters alike; even now, new proposals are already being discussed alongside the near-certain prospect of lawsuits. Safe, engineered districts also reduce accountability. When the only meaningful contest happens in a low-turnout primary, elected officials have fewer incentives to solve problems for the broad middle of their districts. Rigorous academic work has shown that partisan gerrymandering systematically tilts outcomes and weakens competitive incentives,Äîprecisely the opposite of what markets and representative government require to stay healthy. Finally, constant remapping creates operational whiplash: county boards must reassign precincts, reprint materials, and educate voters; military communities and fast-growing suburbs see their voices splintered; and constituents lose clarity about who represents them. North Carolina,Äôs own redistricting history illustrates these real-world costs and confusion. We should not normalize mid-decade redraws as a partisan tactic. I urge you to vote no on further mid-decade congressional remapping and to pursue reforms that lower the temperature and raise confidence,Äîmore transparent map criteria, more public hearing time, and, when feasible, moving toward citizen-led or nonpartisan processes that keep communities of interest intact and minimize litigation. These steps align with conservative stewardship: clear rules, fiscal prudence, competitive elections, and durable legitimacy.
10/17/25 3:43 PM	Ms Judy White	None	Gerrymandering is wrong. I currently do not have representation in my district because the republicans eliminated fair representation by gerrymandering. Only republicans were on the ballot. Hudson does not represent me. Hopefully after trump and the big ugly bill people will vote for who has their best interests .
10/17/25 3:43 PM	Dan Buice		North Carolina's repeated cycle of political gerrymandering continues, and it's further hurting our confidence in our local representatives. Rather than hastily advancing a plan that will almost certainly result in costly and prolonged litigation, legislators should immediately pivot their focus to the critical, long-overdue task of passing a state budget.
10/17/25 3:44 PM	Mr Micheal Wilson	N/A	Who decides who can vote who can't vote,vote for all
10/17/25 3:44 PM	Cynthia Stevenson		I will not sit by while MAGA AND Donny infringe on my right to Vote. I am an American tax payer and I will not be silenced.
10/17/25 3:45 PM	Ms Karen Macklin		The proposed Congressional district plan is a politically motivated attempt to increase Republican representation despite constituents' political affiliations. This plan is not about representation. It's about wielding power. Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering causes voters to be silenced. Redrawing districts as proposed by this plan will reduce competition and accountability. It will adversely affect elections by creating confusion due to the changing district lines. It will decrease participation, and waste taxpayer dollars. (That is money that could supporting our poorer populations who will be losing health care coverage.) Voters will lose confidence in the fairness of our elections, understandably so. Thank you for considering my comments.
10/17/25 3:45 PM	Angelica Smith		If you can meet to gerrymander districts to steal elections, you have time to pass a state budget. Do your job!
10/17/25 3:45 PM	Amy Asbury	Indivisible	This redistricting is an effort for the Republicans to control the voting in NC Totally political motives to upset our democratic voting rights.
10/17/25 3:45 PM	Shane Cyphert		North Carolina should stick to redistricting with every 10 year federal census, not as a partisan maneuver mid cycle.

10/17/25 3:45 PM	Ms. Dawn Adams Miller		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed, and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before making big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 3:46 PM	Gerrymandering for GOP C Sweatt		Lifelong NC citizen, born + raised. Handing GOP the means to cheat to win any election is undemocratic, un-American, unconscionable. If you vote to silence the voices of any North Carolinian voter not aligned with Trump's agenda, you do not deserve your seat or your office. Do not subvert the will of the people, act with honor and vote down this heinous dismantling of our rights as citizens to fairly choose our elected representatives.
10/17/25 3:46 PM	Morgan Thompson		I am vehemently against the proposed gerrymandering in North Carolina.
10/17/25 3:46 PM	Col (Ret) John Curry		This brazen mid-decade gerrymander seeks to give Republicans even more control of the state‚Äôs congressional delegation and further diminish the voting power of North Carolinians. This is TOTALLY unacceptable!
10/17/25 3:46 PM	Mrs Georganne Perry		I don‚Äôt understand how anyone in their right mind cannot see through this ploy and not know that it can kick back. FOLLOW THE LAW! And gerrymandering is not part of the law!
10/17/25 3:46 PM	Mr Roy Smith Jr		Please don't follow Texas and destroy North Carolina's Congressional Districts!! We are better than this!!! So No to Racism!!
10/17/25 3:46 PM	Shane Gragg		Do not redistrict our maps. They should only be done with the census and not with a power grab by the GOP. Shame on you.
10/17/25 3:46 PM	Cyndi Soter O'Neil		I am opposed to the proposed Congressional district plan. A majority of Republican AND Democrat voters across North Carolina are tired of these types of partisan games that put politics over real people. If lawmakers want to build trust heading into 2026, they‚Äôd be wise to focus on issues that directly affect North Carolinians‚Äô everyday lives -- like adequate funding for public schools -- instead of wasting precious time and taxpayer dollars to further gerrymander our congressional districts, which are already among the most gerrymandered in the country.
10/17/25 3:47 PM	Dr Christine Ganis	N/A	There is no need to draw new maps. It‚Äôs just another way to grab even more power in this purple state. The maps are already gerrymandered to their extreme advantage.
10/17/25 3:47 PM	mr richard woynicz	voter	Please don't gerrymander our state elections already more than they are already. Our democracy is based on free and fair elections for all. Keep it that way and don't bend to political pressure to rig the state and voting districts for one party or the other. This is killing our democracy. Richard A. Woynicz
10/17/25 3:47 PM	Ms Sara (Sally) Higgins		I write to strenuously object to any further gerrymandering of North Carolina‚Äôs congressional districts. The districts have already been gerrymandered so as to guarantee that our elected representatives will not fairly represent the population of North Carolina. Re-drawing the maps now to create yet another safe Republican district will only make the problem worse. Voters must be allowed to choose their representatives rather than having certain representatives rig the system.
10/17/25 3:47 PM	David Fouche		Cease the partisan gerrymandering.
10/17/25 3:48 PM	Ms Leticia Guilin		Redistricting is unfair and underhanded and violates voting rights law. It is plain cheating. Do not allow it!
10/17/25 3:48 PM	Mrs. Cathy Nieman		This is morally wrong!
10/17/25 3:48 PM	Gerrymandering Martha McKenna		Please don't do this redistricting. It's wrong for the state and you know it's going to hurt the GOP in the end.
10/17/25 3:48 PM	Ms Vivian Brenner	Self	It is unethical behavior to change district lines to ensure your party will win. Shame on you for blatant cheating. Have you no conscience or sense of honor?
10/17/25 3:48 PM	mr Jeff Clark		The Republicans should be ashamed of their actions. It is a terrible abuse of power. I will never vote for a Republican again.
10/17/25 3:49 PM	James Atkins		The proposed redistricting of voting districts within this state would push this state closer to the fascist state that the Republicans want. A one-party system is a doormat to authoritarianism. Have we learned nothing from history?
10/17/25 3:49 PM	Elizabeth Siefert		I don‚Äôt think it‚Äôs right to redistrict a state when both sides of the Federal Government are controlled by one party.
10/17/25 3:49 PM	Matthew Pait		Instead of spending my tax dollars (your salaries) trying to unconstitutionally suppress my vote and force me into subservience, try doing your actual job of improving the infrastructure, education healthcare, and general well-being of North Carolinians.
10/17/25 3:49 PM	Lisa Zerkle		North Carolina is made stronger by our diversity. We have long been a state nearly equally divided between Democrats and Republicans. And though our state has also had a long history of gerrymandering, that practice does not serve the best interests of the people. North Carolina's citizens deserve a truly representative government, not one that returns a predetermined result to one party or another. Let's hear from all the candidates and have an opportunity to actually vote for the best one.

10/17/25 3:49 PM	Tammy Martin		Dear Representatives, I beg you please stop gerrymandering my home state of North Carolina. Enough is enough.
10/17/25 3:50 PM	Pamela Frome		I strongly oppose the proposed redistricting maps of our state mid-cycle. This is a clear partisan gerrymander so that republicans have an additional representative. Drawing districts to ensure predetermined outcomes reduces competition and accountability. This is a democracy, citizens should elect the politicians that represent them not the other way around. Politicians should NEVER draw district lines to benefit their own party - I want fair districts and equal representation. This redistricting proposal undermines fair elections and a healthy democracy.
10/17/25 3:50 PM	Mrs. Rachel Goffin		The idea of further gerrymandering our state is so abhorrent it,Äôs hard to find words. There wasn,Äôt a ‚Äúclear mandate,Äù won by Trump in 2024; he got 50% of the vote. That,Äôs a slim majority and it,Äôs a huge leap to imagine that the large majority of your constituents agree with his polices or aprove this attempt to cling to power. The policies are unpopular - change them and maybe you won,Äôt be looking down the barrel at disastrous midterms. The only way the GOP can win is to cheat. This state is gerrymandered enough already. I think anyone suggesting these maps should be ashamed of themselves. Just seen in a poll from Common Cause: ‚Äú In fact, 84% of North Carolina voters say it,Äôs never acceptable for politicians to draw districts to help their own party win more seats, no matter the circumstances. That opposition holds across party lines, including 78% of Republicans, 87% of Democrats and 85% of unaffiliated voters.‚Äù This should not happen.
10/17/25 3:50 PM	Mister Langston Boyles		This political crap is getting out of hand, everyone is doing their best to out slander the other and in the process accomplish nothing
10/17/25 3:50 PM	Lynn McFarland		No Mid cycle redistricting ! It is not needed!
10/17/25 3:50 PM	Mr Terrence Reid		As we know by now the Republicans are doing a great job of at the least showing how amateurish they are at governing for everyone, and to a greater extent pissing most sane people!
10/17/25 3:50 PM	Barbara Morgan		I,Äôm not in favor of redistricting. Is this in the best interest of all the people in North Carolina?
10/17/25 3:51 PM	Ms Shelia Barfield		NO Gerrymandering PLEASE! It is ALWAYS the right time to do the RIGHT thing!
10/17/25 3:51 PM	Ms. Elizabeth Swift	Indivisible Common Ground WNC	I disapprove of the proposed redistricting in the strongest possible terms. ALL North Carolina citizens, ALL Americans, deserve effective representation in Congress, and attempts to circumvent the will of the people by redrawing lines to benefit a particular party is a heinous misuse of the power entrusted to our legislators by the people. I say NO to this outrageous plan.
10/17/25 3:51 PM	David Webb		What is being called "redistricting" is really gerrymandering. Regardless of which party instigates an effort to gerrymander the map, it is the most prevalent means of voter fraud we as a democratic republic face. I cannot more fervently request that you oppose any attempt to change the maps prior to the next census, as has been the historic custom. If you are still in office at that time, I would encourage you to support having district maps determined by an independent, non-partisan delegation. The NC State Board of Elections latest stats show that Pitt County has 45,106 registered Democrats, 77 Green Party, 672 Libertarians, 30,960 Republicans, and 46,103 Unaffiliated. The entire state has 2,311,181 Democrats, 4,184 Greens, 46,282 Libertarians, 2,303, 264 Republicans, and 2,934,001 Unaffiliated. It already defies logic and fairness that our state congressional delegation has a 10-4 Republican majority. Are we really going to attempt to increase the imbalance? I trust your conscience is better than that. Again, please oppose any effort to further gerrymander NC now and/or in the future.
10/17/25 3:51 PM	Absolutely Not! Rick Bradbury	Fair Elections	This is an obviously an unethical, racial, and partisan move by a party that is NOT even demonstrating true Republican values! I show proof as this literally goes against the prior Republican led North Carolina Supreme Court which overturned its own 2022 decision that had banned partisan gerrymandering under the NC state constitution! LET THE PEOPLE VOTE!!!!
10/17/25 3:51 PM	Rich Paravella		In 2024 NC elections, A Republican won the presidential race with less than 51% of NC votes. A Democrat won the Governership with 54% of NC votes. If state wide and national contests are ~51-54% for either party, how does it make sense that the NC US house of reps is 71% for one party (10-4)? And if that,Äôs not extreme enough, how could redistricting to make it even more lopsided sided seem reasonable to anyone?
10/17/25 3:51 PM	Christina Bonderer		It is apparent and absolutely disgusting to me that the Republicans in our legislature are bowing down to the authoritarian regime in Washington in this matter. It is nothing more and nothing less than an attempt to completely disenfranchise EVERY voter who doesn,Äôt vote for an extreme right-wing candidate. Redistricting should NEVER be done off-cycle like this. It,Äôs time to put an end this partisan gerrymandering. Where is your sense of fairness and integrity? Have you lost all sense of decency?

10/17/25 3:51 PM	Mike Hatch		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 3:51 PM	Tonya Hurter		I completely disagree with the methods being conducted (gerrymandering) to change our current district lines. This is not ethical and a complete manipulation of political power.
10/17/25 3:51 PM	Mrs Ramona Huffman		As a lifelong North Carolinian, I believe that every community in our state deserves fair and equal representation. Our voting maps should reflect the diversity of North Carolina and ensure that all voices ,Äî including those from historically underrepresented communities ,Äî have an equal opportunity to be heard. When district lines are drawn in ways that dilute or divide communities, it weakens trust in the democratic process and leaves many voters feeling overlooked. Fair and transparent map-drawing helps protect the fundamental principle of one person, one vote. I urge decision-makers to prioritize fairness, inclusivity, and transparency in any redistricting process, so that every North Carolinian,Äôs vote carries equal weight and every community is represented fairly.
10/17/25 3:51 PM	Jeffrey Sadler		You know Gerry mandering is wrong. Please don't sell your souls for more power. You are killing American voting system and are moving us toward a point of no return. May God forgive you if you continue to be on the wrong side of history
10/17/25 3:52 PM	Kris Wadsworth		Stop trying to steal seats! All of you republicans are a bunch of bullies and I hope you all get removed from office. All of you should be ashamed of your behavior!
10/17/25 3:52 PM	Robin Allen	N/a	Redistricting now is wrong. Please rethink this
10/17/25 3:52 PM	Dr Madison Eddings		I am staunchly against this redistricting proposal as it stands to silence the voices of the people in what are supposed to be fair and free elections where everyone's vote holds equal weight and effectiveness.
10/17/25 3:52 PM	Margaret Herring		North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation
10/17/25 3:52 PM	David Jamieson		With North Carolina having such a balance between Democrat and Republican voter base, the gaming through gerrymandering districts further to the right leaves a large swath of the population unrepresented
10/17/25 3:53 PM	Mrs Heather Mcdaniels		No Gerrymandering!!!
10/17/25 3:53 PM	Lindsey Coppley		This proposed redistricting is, at its core, a form of cheating. It makes it clear that the Republican Party is more focused on protecting its own interests than on representing the people of North Carolina. If the situation were reversed, I believe many of you would be just as frustrated and disappointed. Redrawing districts for political advantage undermines trust in the democratic process and weakens voter confidence. Please remember that you were elected to serve the people, not your own political agenda or the political agenda of the president. The people of North Carolina want fair representation, no manipulation and certainly not boundaries drawn to benefit one party that is the minority.
10/17/25 3:53 PM	Mrs Yvonne Curtis		Gerrymandering is a tool of racists billionaires who are only interested in money and power at the expense of the people they lie to. Shameful
10/17/25 3:53 PM	Austin Elwell		Gerrymandering like this hurts democracy. If you are to redistribute make it based on population. If you truly stood for freedom you would allow democracy to take its course instead of interfering out of fear of losing power.
10/17/25 3:54 PM	ms Sandra Resner		I am so sick of these games republicans obviously are scared to death of voters.
10/17/25 3:54 PM	Mrs Deborah Minor		Redistricting shouldn,Âôt be allowed this way in NC, there should not be any gerrymandering allowed by any political party, it should be illegal especially in a situation close to election day
10/17/25 3:54 PM	Dr Ryan Daniel		I would like to strongly advocate for sensible voting district lines. The current efforts to gerrymander district lines just serves to disenfranchise a particular voting group and it won't work for the long term nor is it fair, just, it in the spirit of the founding fathers of the United States of America. We all deserve better than this petty power grab. Give the people of North Carolina good governance and solutions to their problems and they will vote for you. Period.
10/17/25 3:55 PM	B ANDERSON		The effort to redraw legislative maps is an affront to the voters of NC! End this attempt to distort and discredit representation immediately!
10/17/25 3:55 PM	Linda Routhier		Your job is to get a budget. Not rigging the maps so you stay in power. This proves you know you cannot win unless you lie and cheat.
10/17/25 3:55 PM	Lauren Rosenfeld		Redistricting North Carolina to create more majority Republican districts is unethical. This new redistricting plan is intended to further dilute the Black vote in our state, which is racist and immoral. We need fairly drawn districts to fairly represent all North Carolinians. Districts should not be drawn to benefit one party over another or to curb the voting power of any particular demographic. Proceeding forward with this redistricting plan is deeply undemocratic.

10/17/25 3:56 PM	Ms. Melissa Griffin		North Carolina,Äôs Republican legislative leaders have announced they have a plan to rig the 2026 midterm elections by further ripping apart the state,Äôs historic Black Belt congressional district, Congressional District 1 (CD1). This brazen mid-decade gerrymander seeks to give Republicans even more control of the state,Äôs congressional delegation and further diminish the voting power of North Carolinians. Citizens are tired of Republican gerrymandering. Help protect our freedom to vote in fair and unbiased elections.
10/17/25 3:56 PM	Kelly Andrews		I do not support or agree with the restricting of voting maps in NC. This is a grab for power to remain in majority from the corruption of the president and NC GOP.
10/17/25 3:56 PM	Dr. Timothy Champion	N/a	Stop gerrymandering! Draw logical compact districts so our representation reflects the balance of party registration in the state, i.e., about 50-50 Republican vs Democrat.
10/17/25 3:56 PM	Barbara Stanley		This redistricting is unethical, un-American and despicable. If Republicans can't win in NC by running on the merit of the candidates, then we/they deserve to lose. I am an unaffiliated, sometimes Republican voter but this inscrupulous, shady move shifts me farther left.
10/17/25 3:57 PM	Johnny Roper		I do not agree with the plan to redistrict. This is just an attempt to minimize the voting power of North Carolinians by gerrymandering the districts.
10/17/25 3:57 PM	Ms Claire Stone		NC is already an extreme gerrymander. You have demonstrated you do not support healthcare, minority representation, education, and voting rights. We do not support you and your bigotry.
10/17/25 3:57 PM	Dr. Diane Beckman		I strongly object to the proposed maps. If lawmakers want to build trust heading into 2026, you would be wise to focus on issues that directly affect North Carolinians,Äô everyday lives, instead of wasting precious time and taxpayer dollars to further gerrymander our congressional districts, which are already among the most gerrymandered in the country. Voting rights need to be defended not diluted.
10/17/25 3:57 PM	Dr Gary Smith	Self	Re-organizing congressional districts for political gain is shameful. This is true in NC, Tx, Md, Ca or any other red or blue state. You and I both know it's true. Make me proud of my state. Don't do it!!!
10/17/25 3:58 PM	Dr. PAUL KIM		Do not redraw the map to rig the 2026 midterm elections. That would be a travesty for the people of North Carolina. DO NOT COMMIT TO GERRYMANDER THE CONGRESSIONAL MAP OF NORTH CAROLINA!!!
10/17/25 3:58 PM	Are you serious? John Walton		This is the most egregious gerrymandering I have ever seen in a state that is literally already used as a historical example of gerrymandering. You should be sick to your fucking stomachs that you had the gall to push this as legislation.
10/17/25 3:58 PM	Rebecca Cerese		Having fair and impartial representation in Congress and in our General Assembly should be the right of all North Carolinians in a representative democracy. Looking at various measures, North Carolina is a purple state, with a close to equal split between political parties and ideologies as represented by the 7-7 split we had when we had fairer Congressional districts. Unfortunately, in the last redistricting cycle, many North Carolinians were disenfranchised when the congressional districts were gerrymandered and we went from 7-7 to 10-4 with a Republican advantage. Now, instead of waiting till after our census process to take effect, and come up with fair and impartial districts, the leaders in the NC House and NC Senate are going in and rigging the system even more for their own party, and against the people of North Carolina. They have also set up a situation where the duly elected governor, who received more votes than anyone in the NC House or NC Senate is not able to veto this legislation. I believe our state and our country are stronger when we make policy taking into account a diversity of perspectives and ideologies. This proposed map attempts to further limit the voices of a significant number of people in our state, offering less representation rather than more. I do not want this change, and I ask that any additional redistricting is done in a fair and impartial way using a redistricting commission that can be divorced from partisanship and is focused on ensuring the greatest representation.
10/17/25 3:58 PM	Sarah Montgomery		This blatant power grab is a tragic and painful reminder that the leaders of our state are unserious about addressing the actual pressing issues we face in this moment. No budget, no compliance with Leandro, additional relief for WNC or efforts to protect our people from health care cuts and job loss. Shame on the Republicans who have the audacity to claim they care about what North Carolinians need and deserve. You are a disgrace.
10/17/25 4:00 PM	Pat Gregory	None	I am an independent. I love (and proudly served) this country. I want free and fair elections. This does not include redistricting at the current leadership's whim to ensure one party has the advantage. That is neither free, nor fair. Redistrict as necessary every 10 years, as has been the policy, as the census dictates only.
10/17/25 4:00 PM	Opposed to redistricting Eleanor Link		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 4:00 PM	Deanna Blatchford		This redistricting plan is further silencing the voices of North Carolina and misrepresenting us in congress. Why is NC working on this map before passing a budget?

10/17/25 4:00 PM	Marcy W		This is undemocratic. You are creating a one party state and disenfranchising voters. It,Äôs already so that many of us don,Äôt have a voice. This is like speaking into the void.
10/17/25 4:00 PM	Lynn McMurry		I am a NC resident and registered voter. If you truly want to represent all of your constituents then discontinue the gerrymandering of our state. The voting districts should represent all of its citizens and not be redrawn to reflect the views of the president. The state legislature needs to do a better job for all of its residents. We are who you represent. Please listen to us.
10/17/25 4:01 PM	Lindsay Montiel		The new map given for redistricting is nothing more than a cowardly attack on democracy in NC. It is evident that at this time are representatives have misunderstood the position of their jobs. Their jobs are to represent the people of North Carolina and work to provide for everyone who resides in North Carolina. It is not to try and cheat the system. It is not to cheat future generations out of their own future. As our representatives, every single one of you should vote no and be against this crooked and vile map as it is against our own constitution and the good of our state.
10/17/25 4:01 PM	Erika Wagner		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps clearly represent partisan gerrymandering and completely undermine the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote counted equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of partisan-based manipulation silences entire communities and greatly weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not for political advantage by any one party. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 4:01 PM	Mr Jeffrey Gemmill		The last data I saw indicates that Republicans account for 30 percent of voters, Democrats 32 percent, and unaffiliated 38 percent. As such, if it is to take place, redistricting should reflect that reality, with most districts competitive. This proposal is the exact opposite of that. In essence, NC Republicans are championing minority rule over democracy.
10/17/25 4:01 PM	Mrs. Sharon Schlichting	Citizen	Stop this redistricting nonsense! The NC House needs to adhere to the US Constitution directive regarding new district lines based on population changes to be drawn every 10 years. Just because a President of whatever party wants to shape the US House of Representatives according to his wishes does not make it legal. Such a move in effect takes the vote away from citizens. Neither party should redraw districts just to ensure votes for itself. Sharon H. Schlichting Greenville NC
10/17/25 4:01 PM	Anshi Marri		This map dilutes the power of voters and reduces the meaning of my vote. This map is unfair and it is unnecessary to redistrict our state before the next census due to no major changes in demographics.
10/17/25 4:02 PM	Aaron Marcouiller		Are we serious? Redrawing maps mid decade to gain 1 republican seat in an already badly gerrymandered NC. This is not helping the people of NC. Would these maps also get redrawn when a democrat presidential candidate wins NC in the further to then gain more democrat seats? This seems to be what's being proposed. In addition, instead of doing a pointless redrawing of districts maybe the legislature COULD PASS A LONG OVERDUE BUDGET to give teachers and state workers a raise they sorely deserve! The legislature is directly showing they don't care about teachers or state workers.
10/17/25 4:02 PM	Martha Lawrence		I vehemently oppose these proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina, which are the product of Republican gerrymandering. Each North Carolinian, regardless of class, gender, or ethnicity, is entitled to express opinions (even dissenting ones) and vote. To deny the voice of any citizen is to undermine democracy. Your job is to represent the people, not your own selfish interests.
10/17/25 4:02 PM	Mr Peter Adams		Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/17/25 4:03 PM	No to Redistricting KATHRYN CARLTON		This is wrong. It is serving this corrupt administration and NOT North Carolina. Get to work on the budget and stop cowtowing to Trump. Its only supposed to be done every 10 years anyway! Hands off! No means no!
10/17/25 4:03 PM	Dara Arends		Enough with the gerrymandering. Listen to all your constituents.
10/17/25 4:03 PM	Carl Davidt		The Republican Party has been using redistricting as a tool disenfranchise minority voters. This is, in plain words, CHEETING. It does not fairly represent the population of our state. It should be illegal. Any attempt to further jurymander our state should be aggressively fought against.
10/17/25 4:03 PM	Mrs Jill McIntyre	None	Redistricting to enhance Trump,Äôs power is wrong. He is corrupt and our government relies on checks and balances. Which he is trying to destroy

10/17/25 4:03 PM	Sara Lind		These maps should be drawn by a third party non partisan group. This map is unfair and does not represent North Carolina fairly. I am a North Carolina voting citizen and I disagree with this map.
10/17/25 4:03 PM	Terry Maness		If this had been done with voters of North Carolina as the purpose I would consider it a proposal for the welfare of all people. BUT to openly admit that it was to satisfy the wants of Donald Trump to gain power. I hope that every Republican that thinks this is how to run a state or a country should be removed from office. This simply shows the overreaching power of all too many government representatives in our country. I think the restricting map is unacceptable.
10/17/25 4:03 PM	Mr Joseph Watkins	None	Do not gerrymander NC. That is a cheap trick that will cost you down the road.
10/17/25 4:04 PM	Dr. JULIANA OPATICH		There is no place for gerrymandering in our state. The redrawing of voting districts undermines our democratic voting process. It allows for the favoring of one party and/or incumbents, while also decreasing the voting power of various groups, specifically, minorities. We are a democracy. All votes should carry the same weight so that voting results truly represent the will of all the people. Any map redrawing should maintain and uphold all Constitutional and democratic standards.
10/17/25 4:04 PM	S. Rogers		Any attempt to redraw maps without census information to back it up should be refused. This attempt to ensure that the republicans will always win and democrats will not is biased and leaves people without representation. Equal districts in all its shapes and forms must be the goal. Gerrymandering to ensure who wins ahead of an election is disenfranchising voters. The people decide who they want to represent them not the politician and/or party that insists on a new map. Republicans have already tied the hands of our governor from being able to fully perform his duties and that in itself was disenfranchising voters. It's time this stopped. The Constitution of this nation and the state of NC starts out with We The People it's time that was honored in totality.
10/17/25 4:04 PM	Evie Enderle		The upcoming attempt at gerrymandering in North Carolina to carve out an additional Republican seat is a blatant and unacceptable attack on the principles of fair representation. Manipulating district lines for partisan gain undermines democracy, silences the voices of countless voters, and erodes trust in our electoral system. This deliberate distortion of the democratic process is not only ethically indefensible, it is a direct affront to the citizens of North Carolina who deserve equal weight in their vote. Political power should never be engineered at the expense of fairness and the integrity of our elections, and this blatant gerrymandering must be condemned and reversed.
10/17/25 4:05 PM	Mrs Nedra Wilson		Do not change the district map. Thank you
10/17/25 4:05 PM	William Kowite		This proposal to redistrict our state even more than it is already is nothing more than a shameless assault on the will of the people of NC by further diluting the power of voting. Our state has already been gerrymandered to a ridiculous degree in a blatantly partisan power grab. Even though the history of this goes back a long time and has been practiced by both parties, the redistricting in recent years has just gone beyond reasonable bounds of decency and fairness to our citizens. Therefore I strongly oppose this proposition!
10/17/25 4:05 PM	MR Joseph Farone	JOSEPH FARONE	I am totally against this redistricting as a registered unaffiliated registered voter. I will no longer vote republican in upcoming elections.
10/17/25 4:05 PM	Mrs Jennifer Keane		Dear Members of the North Carolina Legislature, I am writing to strongly condemn any further gerrymandering efforts designed to entrench political power or serve the interests of one individual. Redistricting should reflect the will of the people - not manipulate it. Every North Carolinian deserves fair representation and an equal voice in our democracy. Your duty is to uphold the Constitution and protect voters,Äô rights, not to weaken them. Please put country over party and end these partisan attempts to undermine the people,Äôs power. Sincerely, Mrs. Jennifer Keane [Holly Springs], North Carolina
10/17/25 4:05 PM	Mrs Kim Olsen		This needs to stop Gerrymandering should never happen
10/17/25 4:05 PM	Matt Kelly		North Carolina,Äôs latest gerrymandering scheme to grab an extra Republican seat is a direct attack on democracy. Twisting district lines for partisan advantage silences voters, undermines fair representation, and erodes trust in our elections. Every citizen deserves a vote that counts equally, not one manipulated for political gain. This power grab is unacceptable and must be stopped.
10/17/25 4:06 PM	Craig Munch		If you are redistricting to help Trump remain in power, just remember that nothing will save you when it blows up for Trump and EVERYTHING always blows up on Trump. Are you prepared to take the fall for Trump? If the GOP has good ideas then let the voters choose based on that and stop trying to cheat at elections. That,Äôs what traitors do.

10/17/25 4:06 PM Mr Bruce Piggot		I strongly oppose any mid-decade gerrymander of North Carolina‚Äôs 1st Congressional District. CD1 is not just a set of boundary lines on a map ‚Äî it represents generations of Black voters whose political voice has already been diluted again and again through partisan manipulation. Redistricting in the middle of a decade, outside of the normal census process, is not about fairness ‚Äî it is about entrenching power and pre-selecting winners before voters ever cast a ballot. When our elected officials choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives, democracy is weakened for everyone, no matter their party. North Carolinians deserve competitive districts drawn through a transparent and accountable process, not rushed political engineering designed to suppress communities that have fought hard for equal representation. I urge legislators to abandon this effort and protect the integrity of CD1 and every district in our state. Our elections must be free, fair, and reflective of ALL Americans not partisan self-interest. Stop trying to cheat democracy!
10/17/25 4:06 PM Kimberly Fonder		I firmly reject the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps are a blatant example of partisan gerrymandering and pose a serious threat to the principles of fair and equal representation. Every North Carolinian deserves an equal voice in our democracy, no matter where they live or which party they support. Manipulating district boundaries for political gain silences entire communities and erodes trust in our democratic system. Redistricting must be carried out in a transparent, impartial manner that prioritizes fairness‚Äînot partisan advantage. There is no place for gerrymandering in a democracy that claims to serve all its people, and it should be outlawed.
10/17/25 4:06 PM Mrs. Tiffany Councill		The General Assembly needs to focus on passing a budget (which NC desperately needs) instead of gerrymandering our state even more. I feel the priorities of the NC GOP are not in alignment with the majority of North Carolinians, otherwise they would not put more effort into gerrymandering than their actual job of passing a budget.
10/17/25 4:07 PM Mrs Kay Zimmerman	League of Women Votersa	Every citizen should have the right to choose and elect legislators who represent them. In NC it is the legislators who choose the voters. This is shameful, and should not be permitted in a democracy. It doesn't matter which party does it, it's unjust. This would be the 5th redistricting effort in 6 years, when maps are normally updated once every decade. To state it bluntly, this is vote-tampering and voter suppression. Already this year we have seen what happens when one party tries to throw out the legitimate votes for a legally-elected Supreme Court Justice. We need a map which represents our electorate, which is close to evenly distributed between the 2 major parties. We need a legislature which can produce a budget on time and pay teachers a living wage! This is what the NCGA should be doing, not manipulating votes and voters!
10/17/25 4:07 PM Natalie Faulkner Robertson		This is a shameful power grab kissing up to the most ill qualified president our nation has ever had. Destroying Democracy makes you a traitor to this nation that is. No longer great. The whole world is watching and those that assist in dismantling our freedoms will go down in history with shame.
10/17/25 4:08 PM Against the GOP cong. map Ryan Cabell		The proposed GOP congressional map for NC is gerrymandered so bad it seems downright unconstitutional. A clear power grab for the fascistic MAGA cancer.
10/17/25 4:08 PM Joan Rogers		Unbelieveable that the Republicans think that the only way they can win is by cheating. Plus no one in their right mind ever wants to see Trump continue with his Authoriatarin, retribution hateful agenda. Why don't the Republican's instead, want the USA, We the People, our Constitution, Democratic Republic continue for another 250 plus years? What, Republicans, is what we've had for the last 249+ years NOT good enough for you? Trump's "agenda" is NOT good for our country and it never will be. It is truly a shame that Republicans want to take yet another seat away from Democrats. Ten seats aren't enough? Democrats have 3 seats plus a swing seat. Why bother having a Census every 10 years when Trump wants you to redraw maps so he can stay in power? Absolutely terrible what the Republicans in so many states want to do. Every person that represents the state or even in Congress have voted on each of you to represent "THE PEOPLE" in your state and do what's best for your constitutes. We didn't vote for you to do Trump's bidding-agenda so he can stay in power.
10/17/25 4:08 PM Zac Swanson		A system that allows politicians to choose their voters is inherently not democratic. No taxation without representation.
10/17/25 4:09 PM Ms Elizabeth Johnson	Rival Citizen	It is crucial that NC is fairly represented, and that all citizens voices are represented as such, Redtaeing the lines so the representatives Tati r pick their voters rather than the citizens picking their representatives is the very couple dation of our democracy, We demand that All of our votes count.
10/17/25 4:11 PM Dr. Devon Davis		There is no legitimate reason to do any redistributing in our state when there is still litigation pending over the fact that the 2023 maps disenfranchise multiple voters in our state. The only possible reason could be to fix the election for Trump and Republicans. I firmly believe North Carolina should be districted to fully represent its constituents which current maps do not do. Redistricting should not be used to rig an election because one side is afraid they might lose. This should be stopped immediately.
10/17/25 4:11 PM Ellen Southern		This will be the 5th time the NCGA has redrawn our voting districts since the last census. Enough. You are no longer representing our best interest, you are merely caving to the craven power trip of Donald Trump. Tell him "No". The voters of NC don't like gerrymandering and do not appreciate their legislators committing such egregious violation of our trust. It is not fair and it smells of political corruption. Just because the Republican judges on the NC Sup Ct decided it was legal does not make it right. It's gross.

10/17/25 4:11 PM	Mr Jeffrey Wilson		Maps should be based geography and approximately the same number of people in each district; not on the desires of the party in power.
10/17/25 4:11 PM	Redistricting Kathy Baker		I am so disappointed in the priorities of our legislature. The super majority that is already in place has not been able to do the most basic aspects of their job like PASSING A BUDGET. Stop playing politics and do your jobs.
10/17/25 4:12 PM	Mr George Pressly		We are close to a 50/50 state yet you skew the districts to closer to 70/30 Republicans. This nationwide push to disenfranchise the populas will result in civil unrest.
10/17/25 4:12 PM	Jennifer Rhodes		I think redistricting again would be a horrible idea. Gerrymandering is just plain wrong and dirty and very undemocratic. The gop wouldnt like it very much if the shoe was in the other foot. And it sets a bad example that its ok to basically cheat. People should be choosing their politicians not the other way around. Also yall still need to pass a budget and deal with healthcare . The ncga should be focused on actually making north carolineans lives better abd not partisan nonsense. Stop treating politics like its a sport and start actually governing and improving our lives!
10/17/25 4:12 PM	Neil Torda		Despite the ongoing weakening of voter rights by the Supreme Court, I think it is wrong to artificially redistrict to give an advantage to one party over another. Based on the last election held, more state wide seats went to Democrats vs. Republicans. We are already gerrymandered to provide more Republican congressional representation than should actually exist if we wanted true representation of our citizens.
10/17/25 4:12 PM	Marywinne Sherwood		We know you are doing this just before mid terms in order to dilute the Black vote so you Republicans can win. This will be the third time since 2020 when NC is re-districted. Rather than wasting time and money, because you know it will be litigated, why don,Äôt you pass a reasonable budget instead of always looking for a way to cheat your way to a win.
10/17/25 4:12 PM	Margaret Hawks		No to redistricting. You are taking away voting rights. Shame on Raleigh GOP.
10/17/25 4:13 PM	Dr Jean Obarr	Retired teacher	I think redrawing congressional maps is an overtly political move to confuse the public, waste money, and take representation away from black Americans. Don,Äôt do it!
10/17/25 4:14 PM	Dr. Theresa Waldspurger		Stop gerrymandering our state! Virtually ALL citizens of North Carolina -- of all political persuasions -- insist that gerrymandering needs to stop! Please immediately create a non-partisan committee that will equitably and responsibly create districts in which EVERY North Carolinian has the opportunity to be heard and represented. North Carolina is fast becoming a purple state, so those in power (such as my representative, Virginia Foxx, who has not held a town hall in over 15 years) should heed the will of the people -- you will be defeated one day, despite the cheating you are creating to keep your positions. Fairness for all NOW!
10/17/25 4:14 PM	Heather Barnum		Booooo. We'll vote you out eventually no matter how hard you try to prevent it.
10/17/25 4:14 PM	Madeline Bowers		It,Äôs obvious that you,Äôre responding to President Donald Trump,Äôs call to Republicans across the country to eliminate Democratic seats wherever possible to help maintain Republican control of the U.S. House in the 2026 midterms.
10/17/25 4:15 PM	Dr. Stephen Jolly	Retired clergy	To redistrict in the midst of a decade is wrong. I would strongly support a nonpartisan committee to have fair representation of voters. I am opposed to redistrict work mid decade.
10/17/25 4:15 PM	Ms Margie Storch	Citizen	Just because Trump issues an illegal order to rig congressional districts doesn,Äôt mean do it! Stand against authoritarian vote rigging and protect fair districts and elections. Citizens are watching and vote thieves will be voted out. Ask yourself: Are you committed to democracy or instead pow-grabbing to tip the scales in favor of your political party? Do the right thing!
10/17/25 4:15 PM	Ruthann Hurwitz		I strongly oppose redistricting
10/17/25 4:15 PM	Gerrymandering? In 2025? Lillian Henriksen		I cannot believe that you all are so blatantly disrespectful to our democracy. The willingness to take control of any power you can in order to stay in a position people clearly don't want you to maintain is ridiculous. If you have to slaughter the district lines this badly in order to remain in control of your pitiful governmental positions, then maybe the truth is people don't want you there. Fuck you. Stop minimizing my vote this badly, and maybe I'll vote for you next time.
10/17/25 4:15 PM	April Cash		As a North Carolina voter, I,Äôm deeply disappointed by the new congressional map that gives Republicans 11 out of 14 seats, even though our state is almost evenly divided politically. This map doesn,Äôt represent the people of North Carolina,Äîit represents political power being used to silence half of us. Fair representation is one of the foundations of democracy. When maps are drawn to predetermine outcomes instead of reflecting the will of voters, it weakens trust in our government and discourages people from participating. Every voter in North Carolina, no matter their party, deserves an equal voice in choosing their leaders. I urge you to reject this map and draw fair districts that reflect our true 50/50 balance as a state. Please put the voters of North Carolina ahead of political interests.
10/17/25 4:16 PM	Districts plan Randy Salmon		Please redistrict as much as you can to eliminate democrats
10/17/25 4:16 PM	Leigh Steele		This map is a complete abomination and y'all should be ashamed of yourselves! Let democracy speak for ITSELF, don't use your power to take away the voices of our citizens!

10/17/25 4:16 PM	Eileen Stephens	Beyond reprehensible. Our government, per Lincoln in his Gettysburg Address, is OF the people, BY the people, FOR the people. The NC legislature's proposed (and past) gerrymandering efforts are in direct opposition to these ideals. Likewise, the Declaration of Independence states: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that ...Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed". YOU DO NOT HAVE MY CONSENT TO DEPRIVE ME, OR ANY OF MY FELLOW CITIZENS, OF OUR RIGHTS IN THIS MANNER. Eileen Stephens, Wilmington NC
10/17/25 4:18 PM	Amy Conroy	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 4:18 PM	Ms Victoria Williamson	GOP-If you are proud of your accomplishments and you policy you would not need gerrymandering. You're not going to win even with this corruption.
10/17/25 4:18 PM	Ms. Ginger White Almeida	Gerrymandering is being used as a political ploy rather than a correction in residency voting. My fellow Republicans: you have lost your way in deferring to juvenile, vindictive Pres. Trump. Your democratic duty is to do the will of your constituents. Develop your backbone!
10/17/25 4:18 PM	kathryn liss	I strongly object to the redistricting in mid decade. We are already gerrymandered enough. I will do whatever I can to ensure that those who vote to further gerrymander our state are voted out of office.
10/17/25 4:19 PM	Ms Ann Karson	I'm very disappointed in our Legislature's action. I thought we were different. Hard to believe you can be so tied to Trump that you wreck our system.
10/17/25 4:19 PM	Mrs Cathy Ivester	If redistricting means that your taking away the rights of others to give votes to King Trump you need to the shit alone. We the people will make sure you never are given the opportunity to run again!! Keep your Hitler hands off our districts.
10/17/25 4:19 PM	Ann Leone	These redrawn districts are unlawful and immoral. This is highly unpopular. If you can't win elections unless you redraw who gets to vote for you, you aren't meant to serve in that position.
10/17/25 4:19 PM	Shirley Davis	Your reputations are on the line. If you can only win by cheating what are you actually winning? I would think most of your constituents would be embarrassed by your actions and this may backfire on the party in the future. I know from experience as I used to be registered rep, then ind, and now dem.
10/17/25 4:19 PM	Ms Candy Griffin	There should be no gerrymanding in North Carolina. Our maps are 7/7 and should stay that way. Trump is destroying voting rights to all people of color, and minorities. North Carolina will not stand for Donald Trump's Nazi policies! Please keep me informed. Everything Trump is doing is illegal and against the United States Constitution and Declaration of Independence and Bill of Rights! He does not work for himself he is supposed to be working for We The People but instead is destroying everything America stands for!! Article 2 section 4 of the Constitution needs to be applied to remove him and all of his fascist party out of our Government immediately!!
10/17/25 4:19 PM	DIANE Taylor	Stop the nonsense. Leave a fair map on the books for all of us to vote the way we wish. What has happened to you that you feel the need to be so overpowering and ridiculously unfair to the people of NC. It is total insanity - I feel like I have to shake my finger and say - Stop this fighting, get your act together and get to work on real issues. Grow up If you lose an election then maybe you should do better work...not play games like a bunch of bullies. Such disgusting actions.
10/17/25 4:20 PM	A D	No!
10/17/25 4:20 PM	Pam Maher	North Carolina is a purple state. We are not red and we are not blue. To take away people's voices goes against the very grain of our constitution. This nation was founded by the people, for the people not for the party. It is shameful what has been done. We are ALL North Carolinians so let us work together across the aisle with appropriate representation!
10/17/25 4:20 PM	Stacy Pendleton	This proposed redistricting map is a not an accurate reflection of the state's needs or the will of the people you serve. It is a an unfair, transparent attempt to allow Republicans to choose their voters rather than allow the voters to fairly choose their elected officials. This gerrymandering proposal should be rejected.
10/17/25 4:20 PM	Mr. Michael Blackman	Though this may be legal, this is being done solely to increase Republican legislative control, and this is highly unethical. Hopefully, voters will see through your plan and elect Democrats.
10/17/25 4:20 PM	Terilyn Bradbury	Do not make voting any more gerrymandered than it already is. DO NOT do this! All Republicans have gone full maga! None of you republicans would have a job without gerrymandering. We need rank choice voting!
10/17/25 4:20 PM	Katherine Buttaccio	I want this proposed redistricting stopped. The Republicans in NC need to win by their proposed plan for office, not by disenfranchising voters.
10/17/25 4:21 PM	Dr. Lance Mabry	Love it! This is why I voted for Republicans. Thank you for serving your constituents.
10/17/25 4:21 PM	Dr Christina Hofmann	Democracy requires elected representatives that represent the people. Gerrymandering prevents this. I strongly opposed efforts to redistrict in order to increase Republican representatives because it would not represent the make-up of our state.
10/17/25 4:21 PM	James Hill	I oppose all gerrymandering regardless of the party. It is unAmerican. I'm sick of this type of behavior from Democrats and Republicans alike - two sides of the same radical coin.

10/17/25 4:21 PM	Mrs Laura Holden		This is absolutely ridiculous! Redistricting is unnecessary and is only being done because you are abusing your power to keep the voters from speaking up! I hope every Republican and Democratic are voted out! I will never vote along party lines again. I will thoroughly research each candidate and vote for the individual that I believe will do the best job!
10/17/25 4:21 PM	No More Gerrymandering Toryn Stewart		Congressional districts of a state should accurately reflect the population of its communities. The new redistricting plan is nothing but a brazen power grab. North Carolina deserves better and voters should not be manipulated to satisfy Trump's agenda.
10/17/25 4:21 PM	No More Gerrymandering Toryn Stewart		Congressional districts of a state should accurately reflect the population of its communities. The new redistricting plan is nothing but a brazen power grab. North Carolina deserves better and voters should not be manipulated to satisfy Trump's agenda.
10/17/25 4:21 PM	Mr Gerald Meyer	Retired	My Name is Gerry and I oppose GerryMandering all Legislative Districts in North Carolina including the US House Districts which are being proposed. The Data you present include Population similarity and Compactness which are your justifications for the districts. Since the Population data is at least 5 years old if based on the 2020 Census or Census Estimates, they are not likely as close to similar as you present. Secondly Compactness can obviously be measured in many ways. The measure which the Voters of North Carolina want is competitiveness between the parties and their candidates. These maps predetermine which party will be represented as did the maps adopted for the 2024 election. If you will not play fair and draw competitive districts, we will vote to eliminate the representatives and senators who did so. Why don't you spend time governing and passing a two year budget and skip the map redraw. That would be a much better use of your time and effort.
10/17/25 4:22 PM	Shanna Bryan		Do not go through with this! All NC residents deserve fair representation in congress! Moving forward with this would be unfair and unethical! No more gerrymandering! Pass our state budget!
10/17/25 4:22 PM	Kimberly Bell		I am not in favor of redrawing maps to benefit Republicans. This is gerrymandering. We have had new maps drawn 4 times since 2020 to benefit Republicans each time. The N.C. legislature serves the people of N.C. not Donald Trump. Voting districts should be drawn to fairly represent the people of our state not one political party over another.
10/17/25 4:22 PM	Ms Laurie Fox		The proposed Republican maps would dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians by "cracking" the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. Greene, Lenoir, Wayne and Wilson counties will be moved from district 1 to district 3. Beaufort, Carteret, Craven, Dare, Hyde, and Pamlico counties will move from district 3 to district 1. I strongly believe that electoral maps should be fully representative of the people. Unfair maps lead to unequal representation in Congress, and ultimately unfair legislation.
10/17/25 4:22 PM	Redraw the map Stephanie McCraw		Yes the map needs to be redrawn, now that illegals have been removed from our state we need to know the Real population numbers to have them drawn correctly and unbiased and not racially based. Thank you for your attention to this matter.
10/17/25 4:23 PM	Congress works for us Sandra Bollinger		As an independent I am against gerrymandering either way. I am more moderate than left or right as in todays political climate seems overreacting. If the republicans decide to remove my vote more I will vote Democrat every time and start to support opposition party every time. Removing the voice of all other parties but one is or should be against the law. No doubt statewide elections for judges could be what is needed to reverse such nonsense. Congress is to be a blend of the people it represents and should work for the people - all of them. If there is no compititon they will no longer represent anyone but themselves.
10/17/25 4:23 PM	Jon Hoffman		It is really sad that our duly elected officials who are supposed to be working for the taxpayers of this state have decided that democracy is not worth anything and are trying to do all they can to destroy it. There is nothing democratic about trying to rig elections to benefit some vague goal not to mention that it is being done to follow a leader who actions and goals are only aimed at creating an autocratic dictatorship. This entire effort is extremely expensive and is a total misuse of taxpayers' money. The focus of our elected officials should be on what is needed for North Carolina - like a budget among other things - rather than to try and follow a leader who has nothing more in mind than himself. Please try to do what you all were elected for - represent North Carolinians and their interests - rather than waste our money and time on undemocratic pursuits. Trying to redraw our voting maps time and time again is just wrong. This is not even something that should be done by our legislature. The entire process should be handed to an unbiased and independent entity to create fair voting maps that represent everyone equally.
10/17/25 4:23 PM	Stop Rigging Elections John Marston		This map is a huge disgrace to Americans and North Carolinans. Stop trying to rig elections because you know you are going to lose. Is cheating all Republicans are good at?
10/17/25 4:23 PM	Mr. Q R		STOP redistricting.
10/17/25 4:24 PM	Tina Penley		I feel this is cheating to win!
10/17/25 4:24 PM	Dr. JOSEPH MORAN		Please resist and undo all actions designed to gerrymander voting districts. In particular resist the currently proposed mid-cycle gerrymandering.
10/17/25 4:24 PM	Redistricting Terry Blanton		Republicans already have is in their favor. What do they want Democrats just to roll over and give it to them? Why in the world and the Republicans not just be a little honest and stop all the lies. Second thought I'll answer that question because of one and two percenters and tell them what to do instead of the people who they should be working for.

10/17/25 4:25 PM	Apex Resident	Constituent	To Whom It May Concern, The proposed redistricting of North Carolina is an unconscionable attempt at depriving the people of this state fair representation. When a state that voted 47.6% Democratic in the previous presidential election is subject to 80% conservative districts, per the new map, that is a gross miscarriage of your constitutional duty to represent the will of the people. Any attempt at pushing this unfair power grab should be met with the full breadth of legal challenge by Jeff Jackson on behalf of ALL North Carolinian's. Sincerely, A Concerned Constituent, who can't even post their name, because Republicans in this state love to harass and endanger people both inside and outside the halls of the legislature.
10/17/25 4:25 PM	Grandma Margie Reinitz	NC voter	You entire group of NC legislature republicans - house and Senate can't govern. You don't want to make good legislation, but you want to cheat at elections because you know you only want power, not to serve the people of North Carolina. Every Republican in the legislature should resign because you are not here to defend the CONSTITUTION or the NC Constitution. Stop trying to steal my vote!
10/17/25 4:25 PM	Mrs. Sara Wells		Gerrymandering is a political measure and strategy to promote racism and keep people from having proper representation. North Carolinians deserve to be heard about this redistricting process. It is absurd that this opportunity to comment does not come before maps are drawn and before they are voted on. We, the constituents, are tired of these types of partisan games that put politics over real issues. Instead of wasting precious time and taxpayer dollars to further gerrymander our congressional districts please focus on the health needs, education needs, and welfare of North Carolinians.
10/17/25 4:25 PM	No Name Given		Looks great to me!
10/17/25 4:25 PM	Shawn Grady		There should not be redistricting in a off year. What is the purpose other that Trump told republicans to do so. Stop diluting the black and brown vote and urban areas we pay the majority of the taxes and deserve representation.
10/17/25 4:26 PM	Ashley McDaniel		I do not agree to redistricting the maps once again. This will not properly represent NC‚Äôs people and will be perceived for what it is; a power grab from the right. I would rather see you spend your time passing a budget for the state. That‚Äôs the job we voted you in for.
10/17/25 4:26 PM	Amy Richards	Private Citizen	Why would you do this? I am vehemently opposed, as a valid reason has not been stated. Phil Berger has NEVER done what is in the interest of North Carolinians. This reeks of unfair election rigging. Full stop!
10/17/25 4:26 PM	Fred Truell		Do not attempt to redraw the districts before the next census. This is gerrymandering, this is wrong, you are taking people's voices away. You should be listening to all of your voters, not merely the ones with whom you agree. Not listening to the people is a dangerous step. "A riot is the language of the unheard" - Martin Luther King Jr.
10/17/25 4:27 PM	Ms Reta Hoover		This is about unfair repsentation.
10/17/25 4:27 PM	Blair Justice	NC citizen - Independent	Republicans have gerrymandered North Carolina to the extreme! THEY have failed to pass a much needed state budget, but have time to steal one more seat for Trump & their own power! What is the monetary cost and what is the cost to fair elections. I have lost all respect for our Republican legislators, as they no longer care about the people of our great state! Do better!
10/17/25 4:27 PM	Kaaren Haldeman		As a NC voter, I strongly oppose the new maps that award GOP seats in Congress rather than requiring candidates to earn votes from a diverse electorate. The corrupt districting must stop. Voters choose our elected leaders, not the other way around. The NCGOP must stop rigging elections in their favor and resorting to cheating when they don‚Äôt win. It‚Äôs not shocking that the majority did not learn anything from the attempt to steal a NC Supreme Court seat. Rather, these maps are evidence that they will continue to dishonor Black voters and our diverse electorate more broadly. Independent redistricting is the solution to the tiresome and corrupt gerrymandering. Electeds should be answering to their voters, the people they represent, rather than to a wannabe dictator.
10/17/25 4:27 PM	Heather Caldwell		Your job is to serve North Carolinians. ALL residents, not just those who voted for you. It is not to serve at the whim of a president. Whatever happened to strong state representation? Do. Your. Job. Pass a state budget. Work across party lines for the betterment of THIS STATE. Don't be bullied by a bully to misrepresent those who will remember this at election time. Redistricting again is NOT what we need in NC.
10/17/25 4:27 PM	Mr Matthew Hoh		No to the undemocratic and unconstitutional gerrymandering being put forth again by the Republicans here in North Carolina.
10/17/25 4:27 PM	Ms Cynthia Osborne	Concerned Citizen	I strongly oppose the actions of legislators who have taken it upon themselves to redraw district maps in an effort to support a President whose actions have only contributed to the further degradation of our country. It is utterly disgraceful that, while you fail to reach consensus on your own state's budget, you are instead choosing to target vulnerable children and families. You should be deeply ashamed of your priorities.
10/17/25 4:28 PM	Ms. Monika Klein		The level of corruption within the GOP is mindblowing. Gerrymandering by either party is anti American.
10/17/25 4:28 PM	Bree Normandin		I am not in favor of this and believe this is a shameful misuse of power. I have lived in this state since birth and am ashamed that republican leadership in this state is doing this.
10/17/25 4:28 PM	Mr. Jim Smith		I am disgusted at this attempt to once again choose you voters rather than create competitive districts where NC citizens have the opportunity to way the ideas of the candidates. North Carolina is a purple state and using unfair maps that give one party a huge advantage is morally wrong. The proposed map is a crass power grab.
10/17/25 4:29 PM	Joseph Williams		This districting is harming voter participation and engagement in our state. The representatives pushing this legislation should be ashamed of themselves. North Carolina is an evenly divided political state, our House of Representatives should match this.

10/17/25 4:29 PM	Rebekah Owings		I am AGAINST this mid-decade redistricting proposal. This is a blatant act of political strategy which will disfranchise North Carolina voters. I believe in the "one man, one vote" principle, and each person's vote within this state should count as much as any other, regardless of their politics. However, the proposed restricting map will undermine that. In order for government to represent the will of its people, the government must reflect the constituency. It's essentially the whole point of the United States of America. Be an American.
10/17/25 4:29 PM	Debra Lytton	Constituent	I absolutely oppose the Trump partisan redistricting of North Carolina. It is a blatent power grab by corrupt NC Republicans and an answer to a bribe for an endorsement.
10/17/25 4:29 PM	Mrs. Marlene Barney	Individual	‚Äúlf we can‚Äôt beat ‚Äòem, cheat ‚Äòem‚Äù has become the rallying cry of Republicans in state legislatures across the country. NC is no exception. First, you gerrymandered HDs, SDs, and CDs to deprive Democratic voters out of fair representation. Next, you tried to disenfranchise voters and cheat Justice Riggs from her duly elected position. Now, as if you haven‚Äôt tipped the scales in your favor enough, you‚Äôre trying to make registering to vote, voting by mail, and voting in person harder, and trying to squeeze out another gerrymandered Republican district. Stop the sham!
10/17/25 4:29 PM	Rebecca Collins		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. It is also insane that you are doing this instead of passing a state budget that is impacting many.
10/17/25 4:29 PM	Ms. Lisa Trussler	Citizen of NC	I believe that a bipartisan citizen's committee should be in charge of any redistricting changes in state maps. I'm not alone in this question.....The recent poll done by Opinion Diagnostics in Sept., states that 78 percent of Republicans and 87 percent of Democrats polled oppose partisan voting maps. It does not follow the Constitutional guidelines for this activity. I would be interested in knowing why the Constitutional guidelines are not followed.
10/17/25 4:29 PM	PEGGY COLEMAN	None	My response: I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps appear to reflect blatant partisan gerrymandering that undermines the principle of fair and equal representation. Rather than creating districts that reflect the political and demographic realities of our state, these maps are drawn in a way that entrenches political power and silences the voices of many communities,‚Äîparticularly urban residents, young people, and communities of color. While some may argue that similar tactics have been used in the past or are happening in other states, that does not make it acceptable,‚Äînor does it justify repeating those mistakes. North Carolina should strive to be a model for fair, transparent, and democratic governance. We have the opportunity to set a higher standard, not perpetuate a race to the bottom. Allowing this kind of redistricting to stand only deepens public mistrust in our democratic institutions and further alienates voters from the political process. Voters should choose their representatives,‚Äînot the other way around. I urge decision-makers to reject these maps and commit to a redistricting process that is nonpartisan, transparent, and accountable to the people of North Carolina,‚Äînot to political interests.
10/17/25 4:29 PM	Ms Keverlee Burchett		The NC legislature has redistricted too many times in the the last 10 years. How much power will be enough power? How many votes will you dilute before you are satisfied? Those who can‚Äôt win, cheat.
10/17/25 4:30 PM	Christine Bretz		It is appalling to me that you would even consider re-drawing the maps (that are already rigged in Republicans‚Äô favor) five years early to further cheat the system. Whatever happened to drawing fair voting maps that allow all citizens of NC to vote for the candidate of their choosing? I urge you to resist Donald Trump‚Äôs call to redraw the maps. NC should be better than that.
10/17/25 4:30 PM	Congressional Maps Caitlin Powers		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. 84% of North Carolinians agree: it is unacceptable for our politicians to take away the power of the people by redrawing voting maps. Thank you, a worried constituent
10/17/25 4:30 PM	Karen Dutton		The current plan is already shamefully gerrymandered explicitly for partisan purposes as admitted by the legislature and the new plan would be even worse. Anyone supporting this should be voted out of office as soon as possible--but then, suppressing actual fair voting is exactly the point of this redistricting. It is flagrant electoral manipulation. NC voters deserve a map drawn up by an independent commission, one that is not set up specifically to advance one party over another, regardless of party and regardless of it shamefully happening in the past. No party that actually believes their policies and proposals will benefit the citizens of this state and that NC citizens support them would feel it necessary to resort to this kind of overt interference with the will of the people.
10/17/25 4:30 PM	Ms Alicia Neises The only reason this		The only reason this action is being taken is the GOP‚Äôs fear of losing in the next election, it should be illegal for them to take this action.

10/17/25 4:30 PM	Sue Potter	Gerrymandering is just another word for cheating. If you can,Äôt win without cheating then you don,Äôt deserve to be in office. The citizens of NC know what you are doing and why you are doing it and we won,Äôt forget. I don,Äôt know what has happened to the Republican Party but it seems to no longer care about any of the values it once proclaimed to stand for. Where is your integrity? Where are your morals? Stop trying to disenfranchise NC voters.
10/17/25 4:31 PM	Niko Theofylaktos	As a proud resident of Morrisville, North Carolina, I strongly oppose this proposed unconstitutional Congressional district plan for the state. The slow erosion of the voter's will and chiseling away of people's freedoms, both at the state and federal level, is deplorable. Instead of strengthening the voices of the people of NC and sending representatives to Congress that fight for working class people in NC, the majority of our state representatives rather send corporate stooges to do billionaires bidding and be yes-men and yes-women that will do anything to curry political favor with this current administration. Senator Ralph Hise, the Senate Redistricting Committee Chairman, when asked about the rationale of the redistricting plan, said "The biggest push was when California decided that it was going to move for political partisans to pick up to try to control the predominance of the House, and it is our responsibility to respond to that movement." Our elected representatives do not even have the decency to hide their blatant corruption, you are all doing it out in the open. The people of NC are smarter than this. History has shown that the will of the people will prevail. People of different cultural and societal backgrounds will be out, making their voices heard on October 18th at numerous No Kings Protests across the state. The people are talking, it is time you listen up.
10/17/25 4:31 PM	Daniel Jackson	Why would the state redraw maps when the next census won,Äôt be taken until 2030 and that data won,Äôt be released until well after that. Our districts are incredibly gerrymandered already. If the Republican Party needs to cheat to win, then they clearly have terrible policies that they try to push. Say no to the Trump administration and say no to more gerrymandering and voter suppression.
10/17/25 4:31 PM	Mr. dan mcwhorter	How about reflecting the "purple" nature of NC by not rigging the districts in Republican favor. Quit drawing the districts to favor the Republicans. You are elected to represent ALL of the citizens of NC, not only the Republicans.
10/17/25 4:32 PM	Karen Payne	The only reason you have proposed this redistricting is because you know without it all of you have less of a chance of winning. You will also do anything to kiss the ring of the wannabe dictator king. You are not doing anything that actually helps the people you were elected to serve. I strongly oppose this redistricting. Shame on all of you.
10/17/25 4:32 PM	Cindy Thacker	This redistricting plan is an obvious attempt to elect a Republican through the use of gerrymandering. It is a deplorable attempt to negate the votes of people in the affected districts and should be condemned by anyone who believes in free and fair elections.
10/17/25 4:32 PM	Mrs. Wendy Scruggs	Do not re-district to satisfy this would-be dictator in Washington. You are elected to serve the people of the state of North Carolina, not a single person from another state. This is ridiculous, and as a lifelong resident of North Carolina with roots going back here to prior to the Revolutionary War, I am disgusted that any NC elected official would involve themselves in such a travesty that is designed to make a mockery of our entire Constitution and democracy. No North Carolinians have asked for this, nor do we want to join the bain of democracy. Stop the ridiculous politics now and actually represent your state's people rather than a select few. He will be out of office in a few years, and the voting public will remember those who betrayed our democracy when we go to vote. Stand on the side of justice, not disgusting partisan politics.
10/17/25 4:32 PM	Alyssa Finocchiaro	To Whom It May Concern, I write in strong opposition to the ongoing gerrymandering efforts in North Carolina where parties subvert the will of the electorate for their own political advantage. While the maps proposed in California and Texas, for example, may benefit different political parties, the result is the same: voters lose. They lose their voice, their power, and the foundation of the representative democracy we have been raised to defend. Gerrymandering is not a partisan problem. It is a voter problem. When politicians manipulate district lines to protect themselves or disadvantage their opponents, the People are left without full representation. When competitive elections disappear, individual citizens are denied the most basic promise of our democracy, that every vote counts equally. One party cannot outgerrymander the other in pursuit of a better democracy. This race to the bottom only undermines the legitimacy of representative government itself.
10/17/25 4:32 PM	Jessica Swigger	This redistricting map is gerrymandering to benefit the Republican Party.
10/17/25 4:32 PM	NIH Banks	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 4:32 PM	Dr. Betty Nance-Floyd	I do not agree with the redistricting map. Please vote No to the redistricting map.

10/17/25 4:33 PM	Nancy Lipe		I believe redistricting in between census results is entirely politically motivated and should be illegal. Stop this now and get back to work for the people of NC.
10/17/25 4:33 PM	Mr. Roland Mack		All that North Carolina wants to do just like every other Republican Red State, is to turning history "BACK INTO THE JIM CROW ERA THAT WE ALLOW THEM TO BELIEVER THE OLD SAYING THAT BECAUSE THEY'RE WHITE THAT THEY'RE RIGHT". They just want to be the "NEW KKK THE ONLY DIFFERENCE IS THAT THEY'RE DOING THIS RIGHT IN THE OPEN AND THEY'RE NOT HAVING TO THE WEARING OF THE WHITE SHEETS AND HOODS".
10/17/25 4:33 PM	Ruth Gross	private citizen	Rigging the election is what the Republican Party has come to stand for. This country needs fair elections, not gerrymandered votes.
10/17/25 4:33 PM	Dennis Freytag		The gerrymandered map is an absolute load and you know it. You know what you're doing and it's reprehensible. Stop making our state a joke and do a fair and balanced redistricting
10/17/25 4:33 PM	USN Retired Martin Strickland		I oppose redistricting by the NC legislators. These is an effort to appease DJT and allow his administration to retain power of our country. Please don,Äôt make this terrible mistake !!!
10/17/25 4:33 PM	Ms Maria Gutierrez		Please do NOT pass the latest gerrymandering districts. It is destroying our democracy and voting power. This is very important and hope you side for protecting democracy. Thanks.
10/17/25 4:34 PM	Ian Phillips		There are more Independents than either party and more democrats than republicans. We need fair maps with fair representation. NC is not red. We need less republicans in office.
10/17/25 4:34 PM	Cat Warren		Thomas Mills nailed it: "The whole process is corrupt. The Republican assault on democracy continues. The legislature, not the voters, are now choosing which party controls Congressional districts. In a state that sees most statewide elections decided by a few percentage points, Republicans will now control 79% of the Congressional districts." I am so utterly disgusted.
10/17/25 4:34 PM	Mr. Ryan Lubbers		End Gerrymandering now. America deserves better.
10/17/25 4:34 PM	Amanda Johnson		Under this newest gerrymandered map, Congressional Districts 1 and 3 in Eastern North Carolina would be less representative and more racist, targeting voters in the most prominent and historic Black opportunity district in the state. Congressional District 1 has been dismantled and designed to elect a Republican, eliminating the only truly competitive congressional district in North Carolina. Districts outside of Districts 1 and 3 are still extreme gerrymanders, making North Carolina,Äôs congressional map one of the least competitive in the country. Regardless of where you live ,Äì this gerrymander impacts you. Even though Congressional Districts 1 and 3 are targeted in this new extreme gerrymander, because of gerrymandering legislative leaders and the courts that capitulated to them, we will all be voting in distorted districts, which become even less representative with these new maps. North Carolinians deserve public hearings when it counts ,Äî throughout a redistricting process, before maps are drawn and before they are voted on. Instead, lawmakers will hold public comments after maps are released, at 10:00 a.m. on a Monday, when most voters are working, and those targeted live far from Raleigh. Voters across North Carolina ,Äî including a majority of Republicans ,Äî are tired of these types of partisan games that put politics over real people. If lawmakers want to build trust heading into 2026, they,Äôd be wise to focus on issues that directly affect North Carolinians,Äô everyday lives, instead of wasting precious time and taxpayer dollars to further gerrymander our congressional districts, which are already among the most gerrymandered in the country.
10/17/25 4:34 PM	Carl Michaelson		Please do not redistrict. That should only be done upon completion of a decennial census. Instead, the time has come to institute nonpartisan redistricting. In a state that is about 50/50 Dem/Rep, it's patently wrong that our representation is so one sided. It's time for voters to choose their elected officials (not elected officials choosing their voters).
10/17/25 4:35 PM	Mrs. Andrea Graham	Common Cause	Under this newest gerrymandered map, Congressional Districts 1 and 3 in Eastern North Carolina would be less representative and more racist, targeting voters in the most prominent and historic Black opportunity district in the state. Congressional District 1 has been dismantled and designed to elect a Republican, eliminating the only truly competitive congressional district in North Carolina. Districts outside of Districts 1 and 3 are still extreme gerrymanders, making North Carolina,Äôs congressional map one of the least competitive in the country. I totally oppose this proposed redistricting.
10/17/25 4:36 PM	Erin Greene		I remember learning about gerrymandering in elementary school, and now I,Äôm being given a real-life example, how cool! I don,Äôt like the idea of that happening in my state. We deserve a map that ensures all voters are represented. -Thanks, a concerned citizen
10/17/25 4:36 PM	Oppose Stephanie K		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.

10/17/25 4:36 PM	Hannah Willoughby-Harris		I STRONGLY OPPOSE the plan to redraw the NC Congressional districts outside the normal schedule driven by the census. At a time when the General Assembly should be preparing a budget, it is appalling that you should be putting the wishes of Donald Trump ahead of the needs of the people of North Carolina. Our teachers are awaiting a pay raise, firefighters are awaiting additional benefits, we are all waiting on health care bills and disaster recovery. Your responsibility is to address these issues. It's long past time for you to put partisan politics aside and DO YOUR JOBS! Contrary to Destin Hall's comments, North Carolina is a very divided state--Trump's 3.21% margin in 2024 does NOT constitute a "clear mandate". Now is the time to listen you all North Carolinians and stop this political power grab.
10/17/25 4:36 PM	NC Redistricting Nancy Church		~PLEASE~Do not Allow Gerrymandering in NC. Don‚Äôt take our rights away from us. ~PLEASE ~ DO NOT take away all fairness. Let us regain the Government ,ÃúWE ALL LOVE,Ãù be Together not Split
10/17/25 4:37 PM	Tara Cantrell		I am an independent voter who has voted both parties. If Republicans move to take voices away rather than EARNING a vote, you can count me out of voting for anyone involved in this dishonest, unethical process. If you can't earn my vote based on your platform and your integrity, and you have to resort to cheating methods you would pummel the other side for, you have no business running for a leadership position.
10/17/25 4:37 PM	Nancy Creamer	retired professional	North Carolina is a 50:50 state that has already been so gerrymandered that it's appalling. First, you lie as to the reason why you are doing this (we all know you are doing this because Trump knows he can only keep the house by cheating), and second it's a recognition that the only way you can win is by cheating. You all clearly don't care about the people of this state, and everyone having a fair shot to win elections or to even vote. Instead you want to rig things so you can continue harming people of the state: raising their health care costs, or taking away their healthcare entirely, ignoring climate change and the opportunities for clean energy jobs, destroying the environment, making it more difficult to vote. I can go on and on. Shame shame on you for your dishonestly and willingness to cheat to win. Great lessons for our kids.
10/17/25 4:37 PM	Cheaters shouldn't win Elizabeth F		If you have to cheat to win, you know you're unpopular. If republicans could pass a budget, maybe you'd have a leg to stand on. DO YOUR JOB and stop trying to steal fair elections. I strongly opposed this redistricting.
10/17/25 4:37 PM	Jessica Bandel		Countless Americans have died--from Gettysburg to Guadalcanal--to protect and defend our democratic system. Please stop undermining their sacrifice by gerry mandering it into oblivion. Polls show the vast majority of your constituents are overwhelmingly against gerry mandered redistricting efforts. Please choose to do your part--as civil servants--to protect the voting rights of all North Carolinians.
10/17/25 4:38 PM	Mrs Eileen McMillan		It‚Äôs time for NC legislators to stop any attempt to gerrymander our democracy. Instead it‚Äôs time for them to work together to solve real problems in our state. Access to fair elections is fundamental to our democracy. No more gerrymandering! It serves no purpose except to corrupt our government, our democracy and our trust in government officials.
10/17/25 4:38 PM	Marie Sehy		NC is already gerrymandered enough to favor Republicans. Shame on you for trying to rig the elections in this state to favor Republicans even more. I am against this unequivocally.
10/17/25 4:38 PM	Jennifer Larsen		I think the map looks great. I hope it passes. We need fair and honest elections.
10/17/25 4:38 PM	No gerrymandering Maria Rojas		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.

10/17/25 4:39 PM	Dr. Jovita Lee	North Carolina Black Alliance and Advance Carolina	Friday, October 17, 2025 Senate Pro Tempore Phil Berger House Speaker Destin Hall Senator Warren Daniel, Co-Chair, Redistricting and Elections Committee Senator Ralph Hise, Co-Chair, Redistricting and Elections Committee Senator Brad Overcash, Co-Chair, Redistricting and Elections Committee Rep. Hugh Blackwell, Co-Chair, Redistricting Committee Rep. Brenden Jones, Co-Chair, Redistricting Committee 16 W Jones St, Raleigh, NC 27601 Dear North Carolina Leadership, The North Carolina Black Alliance and Advance North Carolina, two organizations that fiercely defend equitable access to the ballot box and the protection of voting rights, request that you refrain from introducing any mid-decade congressional redistricting. Doing so would erode North Carolinians,Äô power to elect candidates of their choice and further distort our state's federal voting maps. Particularly, the proposed map threatens to significantly reduce political power and representation for Black communities by cracking the district to dilute the current population. Our organizations represent North Carolinians in all regions and congressional districts of the state, including residents of the 1st Congressional District and constituents of the counties you serve. Many of them have lived in the state long enough to have been gerrymandered by race and party for some or all of their lives, albeit in increasingly sophisticated gerrymanders passed with minimal public input. Therefore, our state is not only accustomed to it, but they are exhausted of it
10/17/25 4:39 PM	Mrs Theresa Bingham	Voter	I have been pretty much gobsmacked by the incredible lack of consciousness of the Republican lawmakers in North Carolina, and in the federal government of the fact that you represent the people of North Carolina you don,Äôt represent Donald Trump or the 2025 project crew. If you really think that there is a majority of people in this country that want to go to war with Venezuela or want to see states blue or red redistricting midcycle to ensure that they can keep the house and Senate in presidency for Maga then you,Äôre sadly mistaken. Every single one of you sworn O to the constitution of North Carolina and the constitution of the United States and it seems to me that you all are committing treason in this country right now. It,Äôs very obvious that Mr. vought and Mr. Miller are pretty much running the administration of this country and it,Äôs very obvious that there is corruption going on and you should be representing us to stop that that,Äôs what you were elected to do. So please stop trying to cheat to win I mean, we already know what happened with the last selection being allowed to remove people from the roles less than 100 days before the election giving those voters almost no time to cure whatever problem there was with their documentation was dirty pool. Play fair!
10/17/25 4:39 PM	Melissa Federoff		Please let the voices of your constituents be heard and matter. We all know gerrymandering is a cheat to win strategy. We should all respect elections and the voice of the people. Is that not the point of democracy? Please have decency and respect and do not redraw our maps. Make NC proud.
10/17/25 4:39 PM	Mr. Ronald Revels		How shameless and self serving can the NC Republicans be. You do not represent the people in this State. You only care about power and money. Absolutely disgusting and we see right through you with every underhanded move.
10/17/25 4:39 PM	Mrs. Emily Hillis		This is truly shameful. NC is better than this. You are in this position to represent ALL of us. Everyone should have their voice heard and count. We are no longer in a democracy if this new map happens. Is this the legacy you want to leave for your children, grandchildren, and all children to remember you for? Being truly patriotic as an American is to have fairness and equality something it seems the GOP has forgotten. Let,Äôs remember the more important things you should be focusing on, like a budget.
10/17/25 4:39 PM	Dr Kay Troxler		This would take away my representation, as well as the representation of 52 percent of the state. Of course it,Äôs cheating and I would think illegal.

10/17/25 4:40 PM	Mr. George Czerw		I am writing because I,Äôve read about the new gerrymandered map that was released, and it is important to me that you know North Carolinians don,Äôt want this redraw, and we definitely don,Äôt want this map. Your job is to represent the interests of all of your constituents in Raleigh. The data shows that voters of ALL parties are opposed to redistricting because fair representation matters to all North Carolinians. The voters across North Carolina, including a majority of Republicans, are quite tired of these types of partisan games that put politics over real people. Under this newest gerrymandered map, Congressional Districts 1 and 3 in Eastern North Carolina would be less representative and more racist, targeting voters in the most prominent and historic Black opportunity district in the state. Congressional District 1 has been dismantled and designed to elect a Republican, eliminating the only truly competitive congressional district in North Carolina. Districts outside of Districts 1 and 3 are still extreme gerrymanders, making North Carolina,Äôs congressional map one of the least competitive in the country. Please oppose this map and any more mid-decade redraw efforts in North Carolina. This kind of extreme action divides our communities and will silence voters like me. A few politicians in Raleigh are apparently prioritizing their personal and political interests over the voices of the people they are meant to represent. North Carolina deserves fair representation and fair maps. Redistricting used to be a once-a-decade process, but that doesn,Äôt seem to be the norm in North Carolina anymore. Our maps have already changed 4 times in the last 6 years. This redraw is unnecessary and unwanted. Our representatives should be more focused on things like passing a state budget and addressing the everyday concerns of their constituents. I strongly urge you to prioritize your constituents and stand against this unnecessary mid-decade redraw and protect fair representation for all North Carolinians.
10/17/25 4:40 PM	Brad Beatty		Instead of cooking the books and redrawing maps, how about enacting policy decisions that make people want to vote for you? All districting should be done by data scientists using masked data based on the latest census. Politicians should have zero involvement in this process. I would 1000% support a move to say "we're going to be the first state in the country that does this properly, impartially, and without politics. If that means we end up losing seats in the long run so be it, but WE ALL KNOW it should be done this way so we're going to do it." That would be amazing and a sign that politicians are doing what's right for their current and future constituents, and putting those constituents first. Isn't that what you're there to do? I 1000% do not support the current maps, or even further manipulated maps, which are the byproduct of decades of manipulation. THROW THE WHOLE THING OUT AND GIVE THE DATA TO SCIENTISTS, AND THEN MAKE POLICIES THAT YOUR NEW CONSTITUENTS LIKE.
10/17/25 4:40 PM	Elizabeth Rogan		I oppose gerrymandering by any party--it is undemocratic and hypocritical. Please reconsider this shameful power grab and allow the voters of this state to be fairly and equitably represented in Congress.
10/17/25 4:40 PM	Dr Kim Adams		How sad is it that you can,Äôt win fair and square. This is a democracy. Get a backbone!
10/17/25 4:40 PM	John Carson		One man one vote. Yet gerrymandering gives one party the chance to choose their voters. The basis of Democracy is eroded. Let there be parity and fairness. Our citizens deserve that.
10/17/25 4:42 PM	Stephanie Day		Redistricting needs to be done by an independent non-political group based on population growth. STOP gerrymamdering our state. STOP bowing to pedophiles and rapists while claiming family or christian values. STOP being weak pathetic excuses of representatives and actually represent ALL of the constituents in your district and in this state.
10/17/25 4:42 PM	Tina Berryman	Concerned Citizens	It,Äôs imperative that there are FAIR MAPS! Every citizen regardless of their color, gender, etc deserves to live in a society where voting is Fair!!!!
10/17/25 4:42 PM	Dr. Ashley Hardin		There should be an independent council of 50/50 dems and reps who are in charge of redistricting. The fact that whoever is running the state gets to stack the deck in their favor is a bit absurd. It's a blatant power grab when EITHER party does it, but it's the Republicans doing it now and I'm angry about it.
10/17/25 4:42 PM	Mr Scott Dunham	Self	Yet another corruption of the electoral process by Republicans in the North Carolina legislature. No. Stop it. Despite the constant bleating about ‚Äúelection integrity,Äù, their only interest in ‚Äúintegrity,Äù is rigging elections to ensure they have as little integrity as possible. How about establishing a non-partisan redistricting commission to create fair districts where winning requires having good policies that attract the most votes, instead of choosing your voters to ensure you can,Äôt lose? Gerrymandering is a malignant, anti-voter, anti-democracy scheme to render elections useless. If the outcome is essentially predetermined, there isn,Äôt much point in having elections at all. Which to our benighted Republicans probably seems like a perfectly good result. You should be ashamed of yourselves. Again.

10/17/25 4:42 PM	Martha Johnson	Restricting NC at the request of Pres Trump is step one to eliminating the right to have your vote count . It is anti democratic and a step towards and authoritarian government .
10/17/25 4:43 PM	Laurie Chess	I totally oppose this redistricting move as a power grab and insult to democratic elections. You will be held responsible for such shameless actions.
10/17/25 4:43 PM	Kelly Goelz	Hi this is fucking bullshit. Stop doing illegal shit just because no one wants to side with those republican pedos anymore
10/17/25 4:43 PM	Wendy Dearden	North Carolina citizens deserve representation! Redistricting to gain seats for Trump is wrong! You need to represent us NOT TRUMP! Do not redistrict! I vote and will remember who you represent!!
10/17/25 4:44 PM	Thomas Darling	Fair voting districts are a right for everyone! Your attempt to gerrymander our districts is tyrannical! Quit!
10/17/25 4:44 PM	Carol Cross	Disgusting and shameful Republicans
10/17/25 4:44 PM	Jody Flemming	I,Äôm writing today as an American who believes in representative democracy. This is a wanton and brazen paragraph meant to consolidate power, plain and simple. If the shoe was on the other foot and Democrats were trying to pass this, Republican leadership would be apoplectic. It,Äôs not fair and you know it. When state has a population that is roughly 50-50, democrat and republican, but the deck is stacked in favor of one party through partisan gerrymandering, democracy is perverted. Please reconsider this bill. It,Äôs bad for democracy and it,Äôs bad for North Carolina.
10/17/25 4:45 PM	Laura Raffield	Please stop this unnecessary redistricting ! The maps are only supposed to be redone every 10 years, this is not necessary and seems like an unfair power grab by one party. This does not increase voter trust in our democratic process.
10/17/25 4:45 PM	Ms Laura Overstreet	Absolutely not! Stop cheating. We need fair maps that are not created by politicians so that voters can choose who represents them. Gerrymandering allows politicians to choose their voters. That,Äôs un-American, undemocratic, and wrong.
10/17/25 4:45 PM	Mrs Kathleen Marks	Trump is not your constituent. Serve the North Carolinians you,Äôre supposed to represent,Ä¶and do what the former SCOTUS mandated with redistricting.
10/17/25 4:45 PM	NO. Kelli Isamat	This is insane and against the will of the people. The fact that we don,Äôt even have a STATE BUDGET and our teachers can,Äôt get a raise but our republicans are more worried about stealing seats. This is shameful.
10/17/25 4:45 PM	Ms. Joy Haldeman-Englert	I am a North Carolinian who believes strongly in free and fair elections, and that every eligible citizen deserves the right to have their voice heard via their vote. I am very concerned about the proposal to rush through another round of redistricting given that we have already undergone redistricting twice in the last 5 years, it will be very expensive, and because North Carolina,Äôs citizens won,Äôt be given enough time think through the proposal and discuss it with their elected officials. Lastly, I am worried about the history of gerrymandering which has tainted recent redistricting cycles, favors one party over the other, and often disenfranchises voters of color. It is my understanding that gerrymandering isn,Äôt popular with voters across the pollical spectrum based on a recent survey conducted by a Republican-leaning polling form. According to this poll, 84% of North Carolina,Äôs voters say its never acceptable for politicians to draw districts to help their own party win more seats, no matter the circumstances. This opinion held firm for 78% of Republican, 87% of democrat, and *5% of unaffiliated respondents. Please listen to your constituents and act in the best interest of North Carolina,Äôs voters by abandoning any current redistricting plans.
10/17/25 4:45 PM	Evan Day	One man one vote. Voters should pick their politicians. Politicians shouldn,Äôt pick their voters. Be careful Trumps approval rating is 38% this morning and falling. Another year of high tariffs rising unemployment and masked men creating disorder in the streets and your gerrymander might backfire.
10/17/25 4:45 PM	Sharon Morris	Voting districts should reflect its constituents; jerrymandering does not achieve this and takes voices AWAY from the public. I am adamantly against this redistricting effort.
10/17/25 4:45 PM	Donna Fox	There is no good reason to redraw maps at this point in time. Please do not disenfranchise more voters. We want fair maps
10/17/25 4:46 PM	Independent Redistricting Jason burns	I strongly oppose the proposed mid-decade congressional map. This gerrymander is a clear attempt to override the will of the voters for partisan gain. I urge you to reject this plan and support a move toward independent redistricting to ensure fair, competitive elections in North Carolina.
10/17/25 4:46 PM	Chris Goodson	Pure political garbage. The founding fathers would be ashamed of you.
10/17/25 4:47 PM	Mrs Amanda Goins	I strongly oppose the proposed Congressional map. Data from Princeton,Äôs Gerrymandering Project and other analyses show it heavily favors one party and eliminates nearly all competitive districts in North Carolina. District 1 alone would shift about ten points toward Republicans, clearly designed to flip a seat rather than fairly represent voters. This violates the spirit of ,Äúone person, one vote,Äù and risks another round of costly court challenges. I ask legislators to redraw the map using nonpartisan criteria, protect minority voting strength, and restore public trust by putting voters,Äînot politicians,Äîfirst.
10/17/25 4:47 PM	Julie Freeman	Stop cheating with the maps GOP

10/17/25 4:47 PM	Mr. Steven Latham		There is simply no reason to redistrict the state of NC again, only a few years after the last maps were drawn. Furthermore, the proposed maps do not in any way, shape, or form represent the actual voting records of NC. In 2024, 47% of the state voted for Harris and 50% for Trump. In 2020, 50% voted for Trump and 49% for Biden. In 2016, 50% voted for Trump and 47% voted for Clinton. While these results clearly lean to the right, they are no where near 100% right as your proposed maps will ensure is the case. Democracy is based on free and fair elections and this map does nothing to represent that. Last time I checked, the elected officials worked for the people of North Carolina, and not the federal government. This effort is only being considered because President Trump requested it. This is all in an effort to ensure Republican control of the state for the foreseeable future. Maybe instead of cheating the system you all should allow a free and fair election and let the people of the state (those that you are SUPPOSED to be working for) decide what is best for the state. When (because I highly doubt there's an "if") you all will go down in history as the people that ruined the democracy of the state of North Carolina and by extension the United States. You should all be ashamed of yourselves.
10/17/25 4:47 PM	2025 Redistricting Commen Timothy Hefner	Voter	Stop cheating to gain votes.
10/17/25 4:47 PM	Mr Dave Horsman		Stop rigging elections.
10/17/25 4:47 PM	Anti-democratic maps Phyllis Andrews	None	Can you think of examples where deceit and repression have ended well for the bullies? Because I can think of many instances in history when things have ended very badly. How is this different from anti-democracy movements of the past?
10/17/25 4:47 PM	Genevieve Best		The previous maps were deemed unconstitutional gerrymandering and now the Republicans think it‚Äôs okay to redraw those tainted maps to suit their inability to win an election fairly. We, the taxpayers and citizens, are sick of the misrepresentation and trumped up lies to ensure Republicans have their way time after time. The election of Allison Riggs to the NC Supreme Court dragged on for months because her contender sought to throw out rightfully cast votes. If you have no integrity in office, you should not be representing the people. I am against the redrawing of voting district maps.
10/17/25 4:48 PM	Andrea Jones		With each redistricting effort, NC moves further and further from the ideal of one person one vote and closer to a de facto one party system. The current plan is anti-freedom and unethical.
10/17/25 4:48 PM	Mrs Lori Mancuso	Private Citizen	This madness must stop! The democrats and independents have the same rights to have their votes matter as the republican voters. This obvious and patently illegal plan to gerrymander the districts is getting tiresome and pathetic. Cheating is not the American Way, and you all should be ashamed of yourselves for trying this again. STOP THIS NONSENSE IMMEDIATELY, and trust the citizens to vote as they want and be counted fairly.
10/17/25 4:49 PM	Enough Gerrymandering! Miguel Isamat		Stop wasting time trying to play this gerrymandering game to increase your party's political influence and work across the isle to serve tax paying Americans! Both parties have devolved into a couple of high-school bullies trying to stick it to each other while the general public faces higher cost of living. How about we focus on that?
10/17/25 4:49 PM	ERICA BREAM		The fact that we've been redistricted within an inch of our lives OVER AND OVER again in North Carolina is absurd. We simply want fair maps for fair representation. Stop the gerrymandering and the power grabs. Give us a fair chance at accurate representation. Your need to cheat to win is despicable. Give us fairness and let the chips fall where they may. If you can't handle that, then you should find a different career.
10/17/25 4:49 PM	Mary D		If you actually believe the people of North Carolina want this, let our votes speak for themselves. Don't redistrict North Carolina.
10/17/25 4:49 PM	Ms Donna Somers		To All Members of our North Carolina Legislature: I implore you to return North Carolina to fair and balanced elections, with every eligible voter being able and allowed to cast their votes. Gerrymandering is wrong, no matter which party does it. It has to stop, so take the high road and get it done. As our elections stand now, it strongly appears that you do NOT want us to vote and that you are doing everything in your power to stop people from voting. Rather than (1) cutting the number of early voting days and hours, (2) stopping people who may have to wait in line for hours to vote from being given food or water, (3) trying to stop people from mailing in their completed ballots, and just making everything about voting more difficult, why are you not, instead, doing everything you possibly can to encourage eligible voters to vote? The fairest way to have elections in NC is what was done in 2022, which had to be done by court order. We are a purple state and our representation in Congress should be just about equal, no matter what. The court-ordered nonpartisan committee drew 7-7 maps, which accurately reflected our voting population. The 10-4 results from the 2024 election does not come close to fairly representing North Carolinians political beliefs. And now, the Senate and House leadership want to change our maps again, 5 years early, to steal another Legislative seat, 11-3. This is totally unacceptable! It is NOT our Legislators' responsibility to make sure the president's agenda is followed. It is your job to represent us, your constituents, NOT the president or his agenda. And, right now your focus should be on negotiating a budget so our state can resume normal governmental operations. Your priorities are out of line with our state‚Äôs needs. Start paying attention to your constituents and their needs. I do believe that people should make sure they mail their ballots at least 4 days prior to an election since we cannot depend on our US Postal Service to deliver mail in a timely manner. The date/time stamp should be used as the date of acceptance of an election. Thank you for reading this. Donna J Somers Greensboro, NC 27410

10/17/25 4:50 PM	Mrs. Robin Lam		The gerrymandering process has already lead to fewer Dem seats, when Dems receive the most statewide votes. Do not make it more unfair, please.
10/17/25 4:50 PM	Aaron Lunsford		The proposed Congressional district plan is disgusting, blatant gerrymandering. I thought it was some joke until I looked further into and found out this crap is real. This map does not reflect the will of the people; it serves only the narrow, partisan interests of those who drew it. This is not democracy.
10/17/25 4:50 PM	Renee Allen		Gerrymandering is never pro USA. It,Äôs done to disenfranchise voters and I,Äôm watching each of you to see what you do. I am a registered independent who votes based on character of the candidate running and everything else falls in line after that. We are all watching each of you Committee Members.
10/17/25 4:50 PM	Mrs Francine Apollo		I am totally, completely opposed to this current attempt to redistrict our state. It is blatant gerrymandering. It will not better serve NC. We deserve better leadership. I am an Independent and I vote!
10/17/25 4:50 PM	Aaron Sokolowski		This is a disgrace. It is an abuse of power and a false representation of North Carolina and its people. As a teacher in this state without a prepared budget at the start of a school year for the past several years I can guarantee you that we will no longer remain silent. This is wrong and the people of North Carolina will rise up and peacefully fight against this.
10/17/25 4:50 PM	Paul Shank		It is unnecessary and wrong to redistrict now. Voters in North Carolina, including a majority of Republican, are tired of these types of partisan games that put politics over real people. You are moving Don Davis out of his district and that is a blatant power grab, immoral, and un-American.
10/17/25 4:50 PM	Mrs Virginia Hultquist		It is criminal to further redistrict NC. It is a travesty as it is-this further step is a joke! It will further destabilize NC and erode the trust of the general public. Stop this!
10/17/25 4:51 PM	Christopher Rossi		I think we all have a pretty basic idea of what democracy is and what is fair. Which means, I know you know that candidates choosing their voters is not the same thing as voters choosing their candidates. You know what's right. You get to decide whether to you want to be be on the side of truth, justice, and freedom for all, or on the side of minority rule. There is a right side to be on and we won't forget which you choose.
10/17/25 4:51 PM	Mrs Terrie High		Just can,Äôt understand why trump is being allowed to tear America apart.
10/17/25 4:51 PM	Mary Mason		I,Äôm tired of having a vote that doesn,Äôt get counted. It,Äôs way past time for a level playing field. If the GOP can,Äôt win fairly, they don,Äôt deserve to win.
10/17/25 4:51 PM	Cyannah Lowery		I don't believe this is necessary and would cause more confusion and harm than anything to our community.
10/17/25 4:52 PM	Christa Turnbull		I urge my reps to stand up and vote against all partisan gerrymandering. Partisan gerrymandering prevents voters from having their voices heard and from being fairly represented. This means that NC politicians will in effect be choosing their voters and not the other way around. This type of restricting silences minorities, decreases accountability and harms communities. Please speak out against partisan gerrymandering and redistricting!
10/17/25 4:52 PM	Mrs. Colleen Sharp	NC citizen	How dare you redraw the voting districts for the 5th (6th?) time in as many years. This is an abomination and not how our democracy is supposed to work. I implore you to drop this request from Pres. Trump, play fair and let the voters be represented as they reside in their states.
10/17/25 4:52 PM	Rebekkah Fulton		Unconscionable that the public servants elected BY the people, FOR the people is purposefully trying to eliminate the voices of their constituents. This is The United States of America where every vote counts. North Carolina politicians should be ashamed.
10/17/25 4:52 PM	Redistricting Jim Floyd	Self	I do not agree with the Redistricting plan
10/17/25 4:52 PM	Rev. Alice Deal		Do not use gerrymandering to disenfranchise North Carolina voters and jeopardize free and fair elections!
10/17/25 4:52 PM	Rama Darbha		Fair elections are the bedrock of democracy and the heart of American values. I strongly oppose the proposed mid-decade congressional map. This gerrymander is a clear attempt to override the will of the voters for partisan gain. As your constituent, I demand you to reject this plan and support a move toward independent redistricting to ensure fair, competitive elections in North Carolina.
10/17/25 4:52 PM	Matthew Schick		This gerrymandering has got to stop. Districts should represent the people and not be used to stack the deck for a political party.
10/17/25 4:53 PM	Mr David Baynham		I am horrified by the current redistricting effort of the NC GOP. The undemocratic and blatantly racist maps are already worldwide news. This must NOT be the way we treat voters-- hard-working people in NC. It's got to stop now. Fair maps, give the people our voice in this government, as the Constitution declares.
10/17/25 4:53 PM	Lois Ballen		I've been a resident of NC for 27 years now. Electoral maps should reflect the people who live in our state, and not favor any group over another, for any reason. All of our citizens deserve to have their vote matter. I believe in fairness, and hope that our NC legislature does also.
10/17/25 4:53 PM	Donna Strickland		Apparently the Republicans in the North Carolina legislature don't think they can win in a fair election. They are willing to resort to illegal gerrymandering and basic cheating to remain in power. DO NOT proceed with this redistricting plan. I don't see any reason for it other than to cheat the system.
10/17/25 4:53 PM	Ms Grace Kahler		I am against redistricting AGAIN. You have already stripped away representation in favor of a dictator. Stop sucking orange taint and stand up for working families. If you do this again, not only will NC hold you accountable personally but legally as well. Even the secretaries faced jail after the fall of the Nazis.

10/17/25 4:53 PM	Kristan Moser		Redrawing our maps that are already gerrymandered only further disenfranchises the NC voters. I urge you not to change our maps and rather work on things like healthcare and passing a budget.
10/17/25 4:54 PM	Mr Zachary Williams	Citizen of NC and these United States	It seems that only way for the Republican party to win elections these days, is to cheat by redrawing the maps. Do you think we have already forgotten how they got where they are right now,Ä¶ Project Redmap, where they gerrymandered their way into the offices they currently hold. Stop circumventing democracy, let the peoples voices be heard, and if you lose, accept it like an adult and move on. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/REDMAP
10/17/25 4:54 PM	Dr Sonia Archer-Capuzzo		The current moves to redistrict in North Carolina are yet more gerrymandering designed to keep the Republican party in power and take away the voting power of minority and Democratic North Carolinians. I cannot state strongly enough how abhorrent these actions are. I am against this district plan and further think the redistricting should not be controlled by the State Assembly at all, but by an independent, non-partisan council.
10/17/25 4:55 PM	Mary Hampton		I fully support redrawing Congressional maps in NC to eliminate bias and race.
10/17/25 4:55 PM	Caroline Mayberry		I am a North Carolinian and I am experiencing a great deal of "blue" voters in my area (leland / brunswick county and wilmington / new Hanover county). Bending the knee to a dictator who is demanding that you find him more votes is blatantly corrupt. The people deserve to have their voices heard. We are counting on you to protect our democracy.
10/17/25 4:55 PM	Geoffrey Bullock		I find it unconscionable, amoral and unprincipled to even consider redistricting midway through the scheduled cycle. Clearly the ONLY reason for doing so is to further gerrymander the state and deprive the citizens of North Carolina the right to fair and honest representation. We are nearly equally divide regarding political affiliations. In a fair an honest democracy, the would result in a roughly equal number of districts being won by each party... or at least genuine possibility for that. Let's call this effort to redistrict at this time what it is.... abusing power with the intention to cheat and subvert fair election representing the will of the voters.
10/17/25 4:56 PM	Gerrymandering Clay Baker		This is absolutely disgusting. All voices and votes should heard and counted. This ghoulish horrible behavior shouldn't be necessary if majority of people wanted your policy. If you're decisions are popular then why cheat like this?
10/17/25 4:57 PM	Redistricting Jon Kane		Gerrymandering robs Americans of their freedom of representation
10/17/25 4:57 PM	Reverend Timothy Ervolina		Please stop this blatant abuse of power. Redistricting using perceived political views of your constituents to try to guarantee that your political party remains in power permanently is not the American way. Americans do not bow down to political leaders. You are risking a complete collapse of free and fair elections. Your children and grandchildren will hold you accountable. We the voters will hold you accountable. Thanks for the opportunity to express myself, while I,Äôm still allowed to do so.
10/17/25 4:57 PM	Rev Margaret Leinbach		As an independent voter I used to usually vote Republican. What you are doing by stacking the deck in favor of Republicans is anti democratic and ignores the will of voters who oppose gerrymandering. I will not be supporting Republicans in 2026
10/17/25 4:57 PM	Ms. Karen Swanson		I was born into a free and fair society. What republicans are doing is neither about freedom nor fairness. My children and grandchildren deserve better. The turn the country has made is despicable. There are no kings, there should be fairness in taxation of the rich. This would solve so many issues. How has all of this lawlessness come into being? Cheating and lying seems to be a way of life these days. It is time to end this hatefulness. Find your souls again and do what is right!
10/17/25 4:58 PM	Richard Woodward		The state should reflect the will of the people. This is a 50-50 state but despite the citizens of NC wanting their voices to be heard, our ,ÄúRepresentatives,Äù continue to refuse this. It is PAST time to let our voices be heard.
10/17/25 4:58 PM	Brittany Bowden		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 4:58 PM	Penelope Saulnier		I am opposed to any further redistricting.
10/17/25 4:59 PM	Ms. Joyce Morris		Do you represent the people of NC, or are you just spineless lackeys for Donald Trump? Our congressional districts are already disgracefully gerrymandered. Republicans, please show a little courage and resist the pressure for even worse cheating!
10/17/25 4:59 PM	Mr. Austin Johnson		Horrible idea, I hope those behind the proposal get primaried from their seats because they obviously are not looking out for what is best for all people, just what keeps them in power

10/17/25 4:59 PM	Amy Rickman		My husband and I are unaffiliated voters who have voted for both Rep/Dem candidates before, based on their policy stances. We both strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 4:59 PM	Mr. Willie Cole		The Blue Wall on Freedom Is Rising I believe the gerrymandering and redistricting initiatives led by Republicans are unconstitutional and undemocratic. These actions are a deliberate continuation of unethical practices that trace back to the eras of slavery, Jim Crow, and the Civil Rights Movement. What makes this even more troubling is the way some justify these injustices under the banner of Christian faith. Jesus Christ would never condone discrimination based on race, belief, or social status. To act in His name while oppressing others is hypocrisy at its highest level. It is up to us!! The voter and the people to stand up, speak out, and remove those who misuse their positions to divide and silence the people. The Blue Wall on Freedom is rising in 2026, and I refuse to be silenced or stifled by their actions.
10/17/25 4:59 PM	Mrs Danna Mattocks		The proposal to redistrict is unnecessary, expensive and a clear attempt to disenfranchise voters. The voters of North Carolina have not requested and will not benefit from this proposal.
10/17/25 5:00 PM	Genette Irlbeck		You ought to be ashamed of yourselves, putting party over country and our beautiful state. You are supposed to represent the people of North Carolina, not subvert our will to enrich/empower yourselves and your equally shameless and unethical cronies in Washington. I love my state and love my country. That's why I am so deeply offended by your lack of honor and basic decency. You are a bunch of dirty, rotten cheaters. Do not further gerrymander our state. It's disgraceful, cowardly cheating. Instead, do the work of the people of NC. Set a budget. Fund PUBLIC education for all. Build up all of the people of NC. I pray that God will soften your hard hearts and push you to do good works instead of the bad works you seem so set on doing.
10/17/25 5:01 PM	Pamela Judson		I am disappointed to see the gerrymandering going on! Please have the maps drawn in an equitable way to ensure the survival of democracy.
10/17/25 5:02 PM	Ms Lori Phillips		We do not need to be redistricted! We want fair elections! We want voting to be fair for all people. We will still vote you out.
10/17/25 5:03 PM	Mr. JOSEPH BEAMON		Do not redistrict anything. It is not needed and it is wrong. Just knock it off and pass a budget already. Do your job!
10/17/25 5:04 PM	David Horney		I am opposed to redistricting!!! Our state is already gerrymandered to a degree that I thought impossible. There are more Unaffiliated Voters than Democrats and more Democrats than Republicans in North Carolina...yet Republicans have a veto-proof majority in one house and almost veto-proof majority in the other. Voters should choose their representatives rather than the representatives choosing their voters. It is WRONG and I will not support anyone who votes for redistricting now.
10/17/25 5:04 PM	Illegal gerrymandering Jennifer Higgins		Stop further dividing our communities. It wasn‚Äôt constitutional in TX and the voters won‚Äôt stand for it here.
10/17/25 5:05 PM	Stop Gerrymandering Natalie Davis		I strongly oppose further gerrymandering congressional districts and subverting the will of the citizens of North Carolina. What is the reason to redraw maps? For partisan, unchecked, political power? If you want to actually represent the people of North Carolina and the legislature feels it's important to redraw maps - bring it to the people as a referendum on the November ballot just as California is doing. The legislature's job is to represent the best interests of North Carolinians, not bow down to the President. It is time to do your actual job and pass a budget instead of playing retribution politics with other states thousands of miles away.
10/17/25 5:05 PM	Mr Bill Burlington	Nine	Please don‚Äôt engage in mid- cycle gerrymandering. Once this starts it will never stop and will further damage our constructional system which was founded on the concept that each vote should have equal weight. 10 out of 14 is just wrong!
10/17/25 5:05 PM	Mary Ann Pizzo		North Carolina had been gerrymandered to death. None of the republican senators or congress care about the state or the people who reside here. They all took an oath to uphold the Constitution and they are not doing that. You are cheating, lying and manipulating every chance you get. Trump is not fit to be in office and neither are any of you .
10/17/25 5:05 PM	Mrs Gloria Spence	Retired Teacher (9-12)	Redistricting is.not the thing to do at this point. Republicans will and democratics alike see exactly what is going on. This is not something to be done on a whim. Stop redistricting!!!

10/17/25 5:05 PM	Lindsay Herring		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. If and when redistricting following the next census, I would like to see an Independent board take that over. No party should be allowed to ask for and then take over the redistricting. Thank you for your attention to this matter!
10/17/25 5:05 PM	Stefani Cotten		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 5:05 PM	Chelsea Schlorff		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 5:06 PM	Ms. Abbygale Huffman		Stop the redistricting! It‚Äôs not needed! Stop kissing to Orange Jesus! This will not go well for the Repub‚Äôs in the long run!
10/17/25 5:06 PM	Ms Susan Mocsny Thomas		I want to see fair districts. A lot of people‚Äôs votes are overlooked in these maps. Let‚Äôs draw logical regions, not these gerrymandered strips where you don‚Äôt even know your representatives because they live 100 miles away.
10/17/25 5:06 PM	Susan Welch	Voter	This redistricting is a waste of taxpayer dollars and NCGA member's time. Voting districts should be geographical areas, period. This is nothing more than cheating to win elections. The whole process should be outlawed. As a taxpayer and voter I am appalled that you are so wrongly focused. NC needs a budget before redistricting for their own advantage. There should be a law that Nothing can be handled until the budget is done On Time. If you can't do your real job you should resign.
10/17/25 5:06 PM	Laura Ertel		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. These latest attempts to gerrymander,¶ Or actually to make an existing gerrymander even worse,¶ are shameful, and a gross misuse of power.
10/17/25 5:07 PM	Michele Gardner		The proposed map does not make any sense aside from trying to skew voting results. I live in Guilford County and grew up in Ashe County. It makes no sense to have part of Guilford in the same district as Ashe. Guilford is part of different silly looking puzzle piece that makes no sense for representation. From what I read, this is only supposed to be done after a census which it is not. This is gerrymandering.
10/17/25 5:07 PM	Mrs Kathleen Marks		No redistricting! You work for us, not Trump.
10/17/25 5:07 PM	Luan Bueno		Do not take away my voting rights by redrawing the congressional map of North Carolina!
10/17/25 5:07 PM	Lorna Nelson		No redistricting! You work for the people of NC, not for Trump.
10/17/25 5:08 PM	Tyler Weisman		The proposed redistricting map is a blatant attempt to silence the voices of millions of voters. It's evil, anti-American, and anti-Democracy. You represent the voices of the people and you cannot silence the voices of the people so you continue to cling to power. If you take the power from the people to peaceably decide their future, you create a future where the people chose a different path.
10/17/25 5:08 PM	Justin O‚ÄôBrien		I do not feel the redistricting of the congressional districts is constitutional, and it is absolutely not democratic. There are more pressing matters in the state of North Carolina. Quit focusing on creating a league of power against the people that voted, and focus on what the people are actually SAYING they need and want from the representatives they voted for office.
10/17/25 5:08 PM	Dr. Lyndsey Herring		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.

10/17/25 5:08 PM	Ms Susan Lamb Tonnemacher		DO NOT REDISTRICT! To do so is not legal and shows the racists you are S the Republican Party. If you can,Äôt win fairly, naturally, you,Äôll cheat. Sad group of men with zero courage or integrity. History will show your true nature.
10/17/25 5:09 PM	Wendy Helmick		I hope the damage you are doing to your party in the long term is worth the short term successful cheating. It,Äôs disgraceful!
10/17/25 5:09 PM	Ms. J. Capel		I kindly request all politicians involved in redistricting NC map to PLEASE "Do the Right Thing"; for all people should be represented equally and fairly for Voting purposes. Ask yourself, are you " doing whats honest and best foe all 9n the state of NC. Thank you.
10/17/25 5:10 PM	Daniel Carlson	Citizen	I am not in favor of redirecting to satisfy Donald Trump,Äôs wish to rig the 2026 elections. I urge you to vote against this blatant attempt to further gerrymander our districts.
10/17/25 5:10 PM	Mrs Anna Seagle		I strongly oppose further gerrymandering congressional districts and subverting the will of the citizens of North Carolina. What is the reason to redraw maps? For partisan, unchecked, political power? If you want to actually represent the people of North Carolina and the legislature feels it's important to redraw maps - bring it to the people as a referendum on the November ballot just as California is doing. The legislature's job is to represent the best interests of North Carolinians, not to bend the knee to the President. It,Äôs time to do your actual job and pass a budget instead of playing retribution politics with other states thousands of miles away.
10/17/25 5:10 PM	Tina Hartman		Redistricting mid cycle at the behest of a president because he (and apparently you) are scared of losing seats is pretty cowardly. I do not believe that politicians should pick their voters,Ä¶this is inherently unfair. If citizens of the US get less and less voice in their country then dissatisfaction will only grow. Leaders should want stability and this certainly will only cause more strife.
10/17/25 5:11 PM	Dr. Katherine Neal		I oppose yet another redistricting in our state only a few years after this process was completed (in a different attempt to gain Republican districts). Manipulating districts in North Carolina to negate the votes of minority voters and secure more Republican representatives disenfranchises local communities. We have a diverse state, and communities with similar shared interests should vote together. This brazen attempt to enact ,ÄúDonald Trump,Äôs mandate,Äù is short sighted and upsetting. Please get back to work to pass a budget and secure healthcare funding for the constituents of North Carolina.
10/17/25 5:11 PM	Gerrymandering is wrong Ed R		The majority of us NC people want a FAIR, NON-POLITICALLY DRIVEN map drawn. Stop being selfish and greedy. DO WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT. We are not pawns in a game of political chess.
10/17/25 5:11 PM	Emily Newman		I vehemently disagree with these proposed maps. They are further gerrymandering our state. The people did not ask for this, did not vote for this and do not want this.
10/17/25 5:11 PM	Reverend Jeffrey Egerton		North Carolina,Äôs General Assembly is supposed to work for the people of our state, not Donald Trump.
10/17/25 5:11 PM	Shaina Leverett		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 5:12 PM	Rebecca Leiting		I oppose the current redistricting legislation in North Carolina because it undermines fair representation and erodes voters rights, particularly of marginalized communities. Our democracy depends on districts drawn to reflect real communities, not political ones that silence diverse voices. Voters, not politicians, must choose our representatives. Obviously this is in YOUR best interest, not the members of your districts.
10/17/25 5:12 PM	Katherine McGovern		Gerrymandering is wildly unpopular among North Carolinians, some 84% describing it as NEVER acceptable in Common Cause's recent poll. Across party lines, we want fair maps and a fair map drawing process (like Iowa has!). Instead, the NC Legislature has repeatedly drawn maps to intentionally and maximally disenfranchise voters based on how they vote. Its really disgusting, grossly undemocratic, and the people of North Carolina deserve better.
10/17/25 5:12 PM	Marlies Heitmann		UNACCEPTABLE
10/17/25 5:13 PM	Lynn Andrews		Do Republicans believe that they have to cheat in order to win elections? It,Äôs undemocratic and just one more step toward authoritarianism. There is no valid reason to draw new Congressional maps in between Census years.
10/17/25 5:13 PM	Caryn Gibson		Please stop the disenfranchisement of voters dur to getrymandering. If you have to cheat to win, it means that's not what the people wanted. Trust that your preferences will come out on top due to the merits of your position. You have a mandate to behave ethically.

10/17/25 5:13 PM	Power to the people! Erin Evans		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 5:13 PM	Cheats Billy Pendley	Citizen	When the game is rigged democracy is being strangled in a corner. Cheating isn‚Äôt tolerated in any other industry in the country, why would it be tolerated where it matters most? Democracy is what makes us different, did make us different.
10/17/25 5:13 PM	Congressional map proposa Constance Baker	Person	I experienced something like the pain of assault before I could focus on the map. I quickly said don‚Äôt let it be my county. It wasn‚Äôt. I think those who promote this know it terrorizes a subgroup of citizens. Then I thought that core of the people who propose it know that but maybe others who vote for it may not know it. So maybe commenting on it could be of some use. This hits like a terrorizing assault with a general signal (spreads beyond democrats, affects everyone, including republicans) this is not your state. I know ppl may think this system of doing things is locked in: Save your breath. I believe in the constitution and I believe in a better way is possible. And hope you will hear me. It would a precious gift if you can find a better way.
10/17/25 5:14 PM	No redistricting! Stephanie Watts	NC resident	NC just redistricted two years ago! Make it a ten year cycle, using data to redistrict through a third non-partisan party. This keeps maps based on data and evidence and keeps transparency!
10/17/25 5:14 PM	Ms Delphine Sellars	Retired	It‚Äôs a disgrace that you Republicans are engaging in such blatant gerrymandering. If you policies and actions are so great for the people then let the people show you through their voting. Redrawing the lines is a clear indication that you know what you‚Äôre doing is unAmerican and not good for the people. Why are you so willing to create a dictatorship? Why are you so afraid to do what‚Äôs right.
10/17/25 5:14 PM	Tyler Smith		I find it extremely offensive that the legislature would even consider this openly undemocratic redistricting. Every member of our community deserves to be represented. This action was explicitly acknowledged to be targeted at gaining more congressional seats for one party, despite the fact that it does not reflect the makeup of our population. The legislators pushing for this are clearly working for themselves, not the people, to gain personal power and favor with the president.
10/17/25 5:14 PM	Emily Clark		This is a shameless and un-American power grab. This is NOT representing the people who voted for you. Stop being un-American and start doing the job we sent you there to do.
10/17/25 5:14 PM	Ruth Burcaw		North Carolinians deserve fair maps that let every voter‚Äôs voice matter equally. Redistricting should not be a partisan contest but a public trust and an act of stewardship that protects democracy itself. To achieve that, I urge the General Assembly to adopt a redistricting process guided by clear, ranked principles and public accountability: 1. Follow the law in the right order: Equal population, Voting Rights Act compliance, contiguity, and respect for county lines, especially using the Stephenson county cluster method for state legislative districts. 2. Keep communities whole: Preserve shared economic, cultural, and geographic ties so neighbors with common concerns stay represented together. 3. Make it transparent: Every dataset, draft map, and meeting should be public, with opportunities for comment at every stage. 4. Ban political data in map drawing: No partisan voting history, candidate addresses, or incumbent protection. These can be used only after maps are drawn, as a fairness test. 5. Use independent auditing: Partner with universities to run mathematical analyses on partisan bias, compactness, and responsiveness, ensuring maps fall within neutral, statistically fair ranges. 6. Establish an independent citizens‚Äô commission: Members selected through a transparent, bipartisan process, not politicians, should draw maps that meet these criteria. 7. Build in accountability: Require written explanations for every county or municipal split, and prohibit mid-decade redraws unless ordered by a court. When lines are drawn openly and by shared rules, people regain trust in their institutions. Representation should never depend on which

10/17/25 5:15 PM	Mr. Keith Davenport	Davenport for Congress	In a stunning move, North Carolina,Äôs Republican-led legislature has announced plans to redraw congressional maps yet again ,Äî even though the latest version, used in the 2024 election, hasn,Äôt completed a single congressional term. This means voters across the state ,Äî including here in the 6th Congressional District ,Äî may soon find their representation shifting yet again, without moving a single mile. Since 2020, my home address has been represented by three different congressional districts. I,Äôve lived in the same place. The maps keep changing. Every redraw claims to ,Äúrestore fairness..Äù But every redraw protects the same thing ,Äî power. That isn,Äôt representation. That,Äôs manipulation. _____ ?? What the Constitution Requires ,Äî and What Politicians Ignored The North Carolina Constitution, Article II, Section 5(3), couldn,Äôt be clearer: ,ÄúNo county shall be divided in the formation of a representative district.,Äù This clause isn,Äôt a suggestion ,Äî it,Äôs a safeguard. In the Stephenson v. Bartlett rulings, the North Carolina Supreme Court reaffirmed that counties must remain whole when drawing legislative or congressional lines, unless population equality makes it absolutely unavoidable. Yet under the map used in 2024, Cabarrus, Forsyth, and Guilford Counties were split, directly violating that constitutional standard. That means the current 6th District ,Äî my district ,Äî stands on legally and morally unstable ground. _____ ??? Timing Games and Moving Targets The last map was drawn in 2023 for the 2024 election, to seat the 119th Congress in January 2025. Now, the same legislators who sold that map as ,Äúfinal,Äù are signaling plans to redraw again before the 2026 election ,Äî which would seat the 120th Congress. This is more than political opportunism. It ,Äôs a deliberate effort to keep voters off balance ,Äî to prevent accountability by shifting boundaries faster than citizens can react
10/17/25 5:15 PM	Mr Walter Kross		This redistricting is a terribly unAmerican citizen, anti-democracy plot to appease only one man,Ä¶you know that as well as I do. Please do not pursue this any further.
10/17/25 5:15 PM	Ms Rene Merwin		All voters must be represented.
10/17/25 5:15 PM	Mr David Gantt		All districts should be geographically homogenous to allow representation that represent the people who live in the district regardless of race, creed, religion, or party considerations.
10/17/25 5:15 PM	Ms. Marjorie Bigbie		I strongly oppose the redistricting of our congressional map based on anything other than census numbers in census years. The gerrymandering for political gain of one party over another significantly impacts the people of this state and nation. Regardless of the statements made by the current sitting president, you, as elected officials, are supposed to represent the entire district, not just those who voted for you. The statement that this was a mandate from the republican voters, is idiotic. We don't want a power grab by the Dems when they get elected. Someone has to be brave enough to stop the spiral into chaos and rebellion. Anybody voting for this illegal and immoral redistricting should be ashamed of themselves and resign. You were elected to protect our constitutional rights, not to trample them. Do better! The more young people see you manipulating the system that impacts them and their children, the more will stand up and vote their conscience. Do better! Our great nation was founded on the rejection of a government that ignored the people and didn't represent the interests of the majority. Do you really want to wake up the sleeping silent non-voters? Do better! Think beyond the power, beyond your wallet and beyond your personal pride. Protect the children and families who will be harmed by the path our system is taking. Consider that your children and grand children will be trying to survive in the world that you are leaving for them. Is this the legacy you wish for them? Will this leave them better off than when you took office? Do you truly believe that your sons and daughters, nieces and nephews, and extended family deserve to continue down the path that you are setting in motion? I truly hope not! Do better! Vote against the redistricting map attempting to solidify the regime currently in power. Just because something is legal, doesn't mean it's right. Just because it gives you power now, doesn't mean it will ensure your power in the future.

10/17/25 5:16 PM	Stacia Wagner	I strongly oppose the decision to redraw district maps at this time. There has been no new census or population shift to justify it, so this looks like a power grab rather than a fair adjustment. If a party can,Äôt win under the current boundaries, it should work on policies that actually appeal to voters instead of manipulating the map. Redistricting outside the normal cycle undermines trust in our elections and weakens democracy. Please stop using this process for political gain.
10/17/25 5:16 PM	Yol Swan	I strongly OPPOSE more redistricting in North Carolina, whose congressional map is one of the least competitive in the country because of so much gerrymandering by Republicans. Voters across North Carolina, including a majority of Republicans, are tired of the partisan games that put politics over real people. If lawmakers want to build trust heading into 2026, they,Äôd be wise to focus on issues that directly affect North Carolinians instead of wasting our precious time and taxpayer dollars to further gerrymander our congressional districts. NO more gerrymandering! It hurts all North Carolinians, and it hurts democracy. We deserve to be heard and need fair maps that represent all constituents, not favor only some politicians!
10/17/25 5:16 PM	Mr. Todd Nelson	Instead of focusing on the real issues in this state (budget, hurricane relief and rebuilding, public education, etc.) you, the Republican Party have chosen to follow the demands of the current President, without the support of the people that elected you. Put NC and its citizens first.
10/17/25 5:16 PM	Christiana Kroondyk	I am strongly opposed to this proposed redistricting. North Carolinians do not want this, especially when there has already been recent redistricting. Do not move forward with this.
10/17/25 5:17 PM	Laura Snyder	This is an unconscionable power grab, completely unethical and a huge waste of our resources. Elected officials do not get to choose their voters, voters get to choose their elected officials. If you cannot win without cheating then change your platform to be more appealing to your voters. This is absolutely disgraceful and I am ashamed to have ever considered myself part of the Republican Party. You,Âôve lost voters forever because of this behavior. I am now unaffiliated and will never affiliate myself with republicans again because of your awful behavior.
10/17/25 5:17 PM	David Kroondyk	I am strongly opposed to this proposed redistricting. North Carolinians do not want this, especially when there has already been recent redistricting. Do not move forward with this.
10/17/25 5:17 PM	Amanda McGovern	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. I am a somewhat new resident of North Carolina from Illinois and have been extremely disappointed with the actions of this state.
10/17/25 5:17 PM	Reverend Jane Summey	The proposed districting map brings shame on our state! It violates a core pillar of our government, which is of the people, for the people, by the people. All voices must be heard and every vote must count. Please seek fairness and justice and abandon this gerrymandering effort!!!
10/17/25 5:19 PM	Mary Tanner	Article I, Section 2 of the NC Constitution says "All political power is vested in and derived from the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole." Redistricting in order to increase one party's representation when that representation does not follow the general will of the state as a whole is a blatant attempt to divest power from the people and concentrate it in the hands of a few elected officials. Article II, Section 5, subsection (4) says "When established, the representative districts and the apportionment of Representatives shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial census of population taken by order of Congress. Redistricting mid-decennial is in direct conflict with our state constitution. Do not waste resources undertaking this unconstitutional redistricting exercise.

10/17/25 5:19 PM	Christina Rhoades		I write as a citizen of North Carolina appalled and outraged by the blatant partisan gerrymandering that your proposed 2025 redistricting effort embodies. This is not a neutral exercise in balancing population or fairness. It is a naked power grab designed to entrench one party,Äôs advantage and silence large swaths of North Carolina voters. You claim to accept ‚Äúpublic comments,,Äù but your actions betray you: you release maps only at the eleventh hour, you schedule few public hearings, and you rush this process while almost every corner of the state is watching. That is disrespectful, dismissive, and undemocratic. Let the record reflect the core objections: 1. You are overriding voters, not representing them. North Carolina is a politically competitive state. Yet under your proposed maps, competitive districts will vanish. You are not giving voice to citizens, you are silencing them! 2. You promote cynicism and distrust in our institutions. When legislative bodies openly manipulate district lines to favor incumbents or a party, you deepen the public,Äôs belief that elections are rigged. 3. You undermine minority representation and racial equity. Gerrymandering has a history of diluting the political power of communities of color. Even if you argue your maps are ‚Äúrace-neutral,,Äù the effect will almost certainly be that underrepresented communities lose influence. 4. You weaken accountability. Safe ‚Äúgerrymandered,Äù districts remove any need for legislators to listen to constituents. Why bother addressing problems if re-election is guaranteed by a rigged map? 5. You abandon governing responsibility. Right now, North Carolina has critical issues, education, healthcare, infrastructure, cost of living. All things that demand attention. But instead, you prioritize manipulating maps for political gain. That is shameful.
10/17/25 5:19 PM	Mr Matthew Hutzel		Redistricting has been done by both democrats and republicans for both right and wrong reasons. Years ago the Republican Party realized they can,Äôt maintain a majority in congress unless they create congressional maps that dilute the votes of minorities that tend to vote democratic. This is gerrymandering for the wrong reasons.
10/17/25 5:20 PM	Mister Jacob Moore-Copeland		Redistricting is a necessary step to keep our republic functioning. However, such a map, designed to maximize the priorities of one party over another, is not in the interest of the State of or the Union. Such a map will only result in a perpetual echo chamber of single ideals, that will push and disenfranchise millions of individuals from having their voices heard in the Legislature. This map is not only unfair to the people, it embodies and reinforces the widespread criticisms of the Republican Party. It demonstrates an attitude of "my way or the highway", which is antithetical to the core concepts of liberty upon which this state and nation were founded.
10/17/25 5:20 PM	Dr. Jean Fromson	self	Forsyth County does not belong in a district with Davie, Davidson and Rowan County nor does it belong with Yadkin, Iredell, Catawba and Lincoln Counties. Forsyth voters have concerns more closely aligned with Guilford County voters than the very rural counties surrounding Forsyth.
10/17/25 5:20 PM	Mary Ashley Montague	private citizen/ NC voter	I am appalled at the brazen, partisan gerrymandering power grab being proposed by NC's Republican legislative leaders. The proposed maps are less representative of NC citizens and downright racist. We are 5 years away from the next census when redistricting is supposed to take place. Why are leaders in the NCGA wasting time and taxpayers dollars when they should be focusing on issues that matter to NC citizens like heath care and the cost of living? Stop gerrymandering our voting maps!
10/17/25 5:20 PM	Tabitha Sells	Independent voter	I am very happy about it!!!! Seems to be a part of politics and has been through out history in North Carolina. It's time again. Have such a Bless Day and Trust God/Jesus not Governments.
10/17/25 5:21 PM	Julia Wharton	--None--	Please do not spend time and money redrawing voting district maps right now!! The only reason to do that is to manipulate the outcome one of elections rather than allowing free and fair elections, which are the cornerstone of democracy. The PEOPLE do not need or want ANOTHER set of districts!!! We do want you to do your job and pass a budget.
10/17/25 5:21 PM	Alison Sykes		The maps should represent the people and population of North Carolina. The consistent redistricting to favor one party over another does not represent other values of our state. It is not constitutional. North Carolina should be fairly represented and this is not it. The maps in 2022 more accurately reflect the demographics of our state. Please let everyone,Äôs vote count.

10/17/25 5:21 PM	Ms Carolyn Griffith		I adamantly oppose the Congressional district plan. First, there is absolutely no justification for redistricting now, halfway between censuses. Phil Berger's stated goal of moving "@realDonaldTrump's agenda forward" is not justification; it is an abuse of power. Second, the vast majority of North Carolinians ,Äî 87% of Democrats and 78% of Republicans ,Äî oppose gerrymandering, according to a September poll. https://www.commoncause.org/north-carolina/wp-content/uploads/2025/10/2025-NC-Redistricting-Poll.pdf It's high time our Congressional representation accurately reflected the political makeup of our state, which has as many registered Democrats as Republicans. What you're doing is a disgrace!
10/17/25 5:22 PM	Suzanne Klimek		I,Äôm a citizen of NC. My opinion on the current effort to redistrict our state in advance of the 2026 elections should matter. I vehemently disagree with this initiative and see it as a form of cheating to keep and increase the power of a president who does not have a strong mandate and is weakening our country in terms of the economy, international relations, the environment, health care for citizens and fair and equal treatment for our country,Äôs residents. I urge you to stop. And I further urge NC legislators to change how districts are drawn so that our elections are fair and not rigged toward a specific party. Earn your votes with good policies, don,Äôt steal them with gerrymandered maps.
10/17/25 5:22 PM	Mr Greg B		Stop playing games with our democracy
10/17/25 5:22 PM	Leighann Corbin		I am a concerned citizen. Concerned that our legislature is more interested in doing the will of Washington rather than the work of the people. The only way redistricting should be done is through a nonpartisan panel. But this does not seem to be the plan. Say no to Washington. No redistricting. Now, pass the state budget and get back to your job.
10/17/25 5:22 PM	Reisa Pace	Select One	This proposed new congressional map does not represent fairness in our democracy. Stop this blantant attempt to skew the already unfair maps for one party in North Carolina.
10/17/25 5:23 PM	Emily Urch		Is this a joke?
10/17/25 5:23 PM	Dr. Shauntae White		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed Congressional redistricting map that targets the 1st District and surrounding areas. Concerns About Racial Vote Dilution I am deeply concerned that this redistricting proposal will dilute Black voting power in eastern North Carolina. The 1st District has historically been a racially diverse district where Black voters,Äîwho make up approximately 40% of the population,Äîhave been able to elect representatives of their choice. The proposed changes threaten to dismantle this representation. We must remember that this same district was ruled unconstitutionally gerrymandered along racial lines by the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals in 2016. Now, less than a decade later, we are facing another redistricting effort that appears poised to diminish Black political power once again. Undermining Democratic Principles Democracy means that every citizen's vote carries equal weight and that communities have meaningful representation. This proposal does the opposite. By deliberately redrawing districts to eliminate the one competitive Congressional seat in North Carolina, you are not serving the people,Äîyou are choosing your voters instead of letting voters choose their representatives. True democracy requires fair competition, accountability, and genuine representation of all communities. When maps are drawn to predetermine outcomes, we don't have democracy,Äîwe have manipulation of the democratic process. The Issue of Electoral Fairness If the policies and leadership you offer truly serve all North Carolinians, there should be no need to reshape district boundaries to secure electoral advantages. When one party must resort to redrawing maps to maintain power rather than winning voters through policy and governance, it reveals a fundamental problem: a lack of confidence in earning support through fair competition. The people of North Carolina deserve representatives who win their seats by representing the will and interests of their constituents Äînot
10/17/25 5:24 PM	Patricia Peck		Outrageous gerrymandering of NC voting districts. This is just another attempt to fall in line with the Trump administration's fascist playbook, and you're hurting so many NC citizens in the process!!!
10/17/25 5:24 PM	Ms. Lynne Kane	retired	I totally oppose any further redistricting in NC. We have redistricted twice since 2020, and prior NC districting has been stated as surgically cut to eliminate voting power to a significant section of our voters. Do not do this again.
10/17/25 5:25 PM	Mister Aaron Sparks	Two hands 1 truck	More Government waste. The people we vote for tend to not help the people that need it the most in any district, so why bother redrawing the lines
10/17/25 5:26 PM	Donna Bergman		Stop lying and cheating to win elections. The gerrymandering has to stop. You should be working on the state budget. Shameful behavior to cheat.

10/17/25 5:26 PM	Redistricting concerns Dallas Blackwell	Independent	The recently proposed redistricting map that I just viewed, might just be the most blatant attempt at gerrymandering, in favor of Republicans, I have ever seen come out of this state. The fact that you people have the audacity and lack of shame, to make a map, this blatantly bias in favor of Republicans, 79% in Republican control, really? If you people aren't confident enough in your policies and ability to appeal to the people in North Carolina, then maybe you should switch things up, not try and rig the map to escape your own lack of ability.
10/17/25 5:27 PM	Redistricting Christopher White		This is wrong and I do not agree with the redistricting. This is shameful!
10/17/25 5:27 PM	Carolyn Steinberg		Shame on the NC GOP legislature to again gerrymander our state! None of you care about the people you represent, only your power. Maybe you don‚Äôt realize our country and state is in a huge crisis now, with health care costs about to skyrocket and inflation rising everywhere.
10/17/25 5:28 PM	Mrs Andrea Williams		Gerrymandering has been common place in NC for a very long time, keeping the haves in power. This is a state in a nation of free and equal voting people. That means there should be fair representation of all not just one demographic. Gerrymandering takes away the votes of the populace and distorts them to keep the power of one group. Get over yourselves. You are public SERVANTS not lords and ladies owning this state. Do your job and if you lose, be mature enough to accept it. Cheating North Carolinians will not stand.
10/17/25 5:28 PM	Mrs Jameil Weldon		The people choose their representation, not the other way around. Do not further gerrymander our districts. Maybe try having better policies if you want more seats.
10/17/25 5:30 PM	Stop gerrymandering Jordan McCollum		North Carolina's current congressional maps have already scored an F from Princeton's gerrymandering project, and the proposed maps are even less competitive. These maps disenfranchise a significant proportion of voters (but you already knew that, didn't you?). I strongly oppose the proposed maps. Frankly, as a North Carolinian, born and raised, and a former registered Republican for 16 of my voting years, I'm ashamed of you. This is a national embarrassment. Stop this nonsense.
10/17/25 5:30 PM	Bernice Peltier		Really? You want to redistrict in order to disenfranchise MORE voters? We are a true purple state, in that we have a near 50-50 balance of people who vote republican, and people who vote democratic. Yet we already have way more republican districts than democratic. If that were at all representative of our voters, we would elect a republican governor. But hey! Look at who we've been electing for governor! You know you can't win if you don't cheat and you disgust me. How about you get off you thumbs and pass a budget?
10/17/25 5:32 PM	Mr Matthew Austin		Gerrymandering is anti-democratic, and it should be illegal. When we already have the capability of producing mathematically-generated fair maps, it is disgustingly immoral to steal power by diluting the votes you don't like. It's wrong when Democrats do it, and it's wrong when Republicans do it. This map is gerrymandered; do better. Act as though you deserve the responsibility you have been entrusted with.
10/17/25 5:32 PM	Mr paul feldman		The people of our great state are not disproportionately republican or democrat. The congressional maps need to reflect that. The maps need to be drawn in a non partisan way, to insure that citizens are actually represented in the makeup of the state,Äôs congressional delegation.
10/17/25 5:32 PM	Allie Littell		I am firmly against this proposal.
10/17/25 5:33 PM	Mrs. Nancy O,ÄôConnell		As an unaffiliated voter, I find it very disturbing that the current Republican state(and federal) leaders are NOT looking out for North Carolinians and instead are only looking out for Trump and the billionaires by redistricting our maps so that they can cheat. Your constituents will remember this unethical behavior.
10/17/25 5:33 PM	2564662865 Brig Spearman	2702 Cambridge Court	We need to make sure free and fire Election and Microsoft can actually help make sure our voters account to account we can actually do that
10/17/25 5:33 PM	Katie Latham		I am writing to express my deep concern and disappointment regarding the recently proposed redistricting maps and the ongoing issue of gerrymandering in our state. As one of your constituents, I believe that fair representation is the cornerstone of our democracy, and the new maps clearly fail to meet that standard. The proposed districts appear to be drawn with partisan intent, prioritizing political advantage over the voices and interests of the people you were elected to serve. This manipulation of district boundaries undermines public trust, weakens accountability, and erodes confidence in the electoral process. Every voter, regardless of political affiliation, deserves an equal and meaningful say in choosing their representatives. I urge you to reject any redistricting plan that favors one party or group over another. Instead, please support an open and transparent process; one that includes public input, relies on objective criteria, and upholds the principles of fairness and equality that should define our democracy. Your leadership on this issue matters. I ask that you stand with the citizens of North Carolina by advocating for fair maps that truly represent our communities, not the interests of politicians. Thank you for your time, attention, and public service. I look forward to seeing you take a clear stand for fair representation.

10/17/25 5:33 PM	Ryah Koprowski		North Carolina is a 50/50 state politically. Please do not redistrict to take away even more seats from the Democrats. This is a power grab to make Trump happy and is not what the voters of N.C. want. Our representatives should honor the voices of N.C. voters and these maps are not that!
10/17/25 5:34 PM	Ms KRISTA MARSHALL	Red, Wine and Blue	As a native North Carolinian, I am ashamed and appalled at the choice to capitulate to the whims of the national GOP instead of working on the needs of the people of the state. This redistricting plan is designed to continue to disenfranchise black and brown voters. The state of NC is operating without a budget, but this legislature is more focused on hurting North Carolinians than helping North Carolinians.
10/17/25 5:34 PM	Reverend Victor Russell	Local community Church	I am a male Black man , almost 80 years old. A retired United States Marine and a Vietnam Conflict Veteran. If there are plans to restrict my right to vote; I would deem such action as unconstitutional. To me, such actional would invite an armed response against those plotting such action(s). The America that I was raised in, has always had two faces; one of Gross Racism and one deferred opportunities. I would rather die fighting domestic enemies, rather than live under the bandage of my fore father's. Be on notice; I am not backing down from this forthcoming fight. Now take this to the bank. Amen!
10/17/25 5:34 PM	Gina Pfister		I strongly oppose redistricting. As an American who believes in the principles of democracy on which our country was founded and is supposed to uphold, I am strongly against and condemn gerrymandering. Our democratic leaders are supposed to uphold ,ÄúBy the People, For the People,,Äù meaning they are supposed to make decisions that represent the public,Äôs interests. Redistricting of congressional districts uses loopholes to manipulate the votes in the best interests of the leaders and political party as opposed to the people they represent. Therefore, the congressional districts should be left as they are, leaving us voters to let our votes speak for what we support.
10/17/25 5:34 PM	Mrs. Katelyn Durkin		I am against the new congressional map. Every citizen deserves representation. This is unconstitutional and immoral. Do better NC
10/17/25 5:35 PM	Yesenia Calixto-Mendez		This is a gross act by the Republican Party to take away the voice of North Carolinians. Do better
10/17/25 5:35 PM	Mr Matt Laney		This map is a betrayal on the North Carolina people in order to advance a wildly unpopular agenda. This is a state gerrymandered all to hell and I feel the state just wants to throw my vote away. I,Äôve lived here all my life, I,Äôve paid taxes and started a business. I pray that some of you find a spine and reject this attempt towards hyperpartisanship. We need to make our state more fair, but all I,Äôve seen over the past several years is a spiral in corruption by the people that are supposed to serve us.
10/17/25 5:35 PM	Mrs. Kim Green	Constituent	As a voter in the state, I ask that you do not restrict. This does not represent all voters across the state. No gerrymandering.
10/17/25 5:35 PM	Elin Gabriel		Do not allow redistributing to limit minority voting representation
10/17/25 5:35 PM	Sandy Pearce	Retired	I want you to pass a budget and ensure health care funding for NC citizens. I do not want you to redistrict congressional districts again to take voting power from Black citizens.
10/17/25 5:35 PM	Mr. Robert Vial		This is rediculous!!! You're only doing it to further fuck over the voters and try and make it so only Republicans win. It is shameful and I'll vote for Krusty the Clown or Homer Simpson before I vote for a Republican EVER again. The Republican party has really gone off the deep end and only serves itself
10/17/25 5:36 PM	Mrs. Marianne Gillespie	None	Please keep voting fair for all NC voters. Redistricting is essentially cancelling votes for the majority of voters. This should not be legal.
10/17/25 5:36 PM	Ms. Phyllis Rathbone		No political party representatives should decide who represents me - that is my job, my vote, and my representation that belongs just to me to decide.
10/17/25 5:37 PM	Kim Giese		I am against redrawing districts in between census events. It,Äôs undemocratic, and not what North Carolina needs.
10/17/25 5:37 PM	Fair Representation Nick Oldham		I am a Graduate Student at NC State who is deeply concerned for my state,Äôs future. I love my home and I want our government to function well and effectively for myself and our fellow citizens. Let me be clear, feeding into national political fights does not serve our state and our people. One of the most amazing things about North Carolina and the United States is that generations have collectively contributed to a project which none of us will ever see completed. We all seek to leave this place a little better than we found it. We are building a state and a nation that our descendants hundreds of years from now will be proud of. Partisan redistricting is wrong. Taking more representation than the citizens of this state have approved is wrong. We are so incredibly fortunate to live in a time and place where elections are easy and frequent - why then are we not trusting the will of North Carolina voters? Our state is so rich with diversity of opinion. There is strength in bringing together people with different ideas. It is downright cowardly to so brazenly steal congressional seats that the voters did not give you. I beg of you, my representatives, please listen to us the voters. The partisan redistricting is wrong for our state. Later North Carolinians will look back on this period with abject shame. They will conclude that we inherited a great polity on a spectacular rise and squandered it. To the honorable legislators of the General Assembly, this proud North Carolinian is asking you to please keep our state on a path toward a brighter future and don,Äôt allow greed and ambition to take us back.
10/17/25 5:37 PM	Mrs Nancy Tausch		Please don,Äôt redistrict. We need more fairness, not less.

10/17/25 5:39 PM	Ms. Patricia Johnson	Common Cause	Leave our map alone! North Carolina,Äôs congressional map is already one of the least competitive in the country. Stop these partisan games that put politics over real people. Stop wasting precious time and taxpayer dollars and focus on issues like health care, cost of living, and other things that affect the lives of grassroots constituents.
10/17/25 5:39 PM	Jackie Kilberg		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 5:40 PM	Mr Dakota Smith		As a veteran and a North Carolinian this is sickening. There is no call for this and it undermines our democratic system. Please stop with this and focus on more important matters.
10/17/25 5:40 PM	Kathy Kirkpatrick		To the Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I am writing to express my deep concern and disappointment regarding the recent redrawing of North Carolina,Äôs congressional map, which has been gerrymandered at the request or behest of President Donald Trump. The integrity of our democratic process is fundamentally undermined when political boundaries are manipulated for partisan gain, especially at the direction of a single individual or group. Gerrymandering erodes public trust in our institutions and disenfranchises voters by diluting the power of their voices. North Carolina,Äôs proud tradition of civic engagement and representative government should not be tarnished by maps that prioritize partisan advantage over fairness and the will of the people. The manipulation of district lines to favor one party does not reflect the diversity or interests of our state and undermines the foundational principle of one person, one vote. Furthermore, the fact that these maps were drawn at the request of a president sets a dangerous precedent, suggesting that our state,Äôs legislative process can be influenced by outside interests rather than guided by the needs and preferences of North Carolinians. This undermines the independence and credibility of the General Assembly and the democratic ideals we are sworn to uphold. It is important to note that Republicans cannot credibly blame Governor Gavin Newsom or Democrats for the need to do this, as the recent wave of aggressive gerrymandering actually began in the Republican-led Texas General Assembly. This fact underscores that the issue transcends simple partisan accusations and highlights the need for genuine reform regardless of party affiliation. I urge you to vote no on the newly proposed congressional map and commit to a transparent, nonpartisan redistricting process that puts the interests of the people first. North Carolina deserves maps that are fair, competitive, and representative,Äînot ones that serve the ambitions of a single politician or party. Please put an end to aggressive gerrymandering in our state and restore public confidence in our democracy.
10/17/25 5:41 PM	Ms. Kristine Harris	Educator	The legislators in NC should be working on passing a budget. That is what you were elected to do, Do your job. State workers keep doing their jobs without a raise and a hefty increase in health insurance premiums coming in January. That,Äôs means state workers will a pay cut. It,Äôs time for legislators to think of the people that elected them into office and their needs. Redrawing the maps only furthers the republican agenda and doesn,Äôt benefit North Carolinians.
10/17/25 5:41 PM	Lacy Hinson		Redistricting should be done by a non-partisan party. It should not be done by one party to further their control.
10/17/25 5:42 PM	Joel Hudson		We need a non-partisan commission to draw up new Congressional District maps. The 2024 maps were ridiculous enough. My neighbors across the street (literally) are in a different U.S. House district from me, and the grocery store where I shop is in a third district all within a few miles of each other in the same County (Guilford).
10/17/25 5:43 PM	Mrs Allegra Jordan	Self	I am against mid-cycle redistricting as it works to cement power for one party at the expense of democracy.
10/17/25 5:43 PM	Rev. Dr. Susan Parker	Retired Minister and LCSW	Gerrymandering, whether every ten years or in a midterm year, is an move to take away voting powers from citizens. The numbers of registered Dem and Reps is relatively the same in NC, but this MAGA NCGA wants to increase their "majority" by picking their voters. We are sick of it. Eventually the tables will turn, and you will hate what you've wrought. Thankfully, Dems are going to run on bipartisan redistricting so no party can do what you are attempting. Quit lying to the public.
10/17/25 5:43 PM	Rev. Jeanette Stokes	RCWMS	Please do not redraw maps to make the NC House of Representatives more white. It is mean, racist, and undemocratic. Such delegations should represent the people of NC, not just the white people. Thank you.
10/17/25 5:43 PM	Kathy Dobbs		I am disgusted that the NCGA is even entertaining further gerrymandering at the request of Donald Trump. Our districts should be drawn to represent the people of North Carolina fairly, not to rig elections for one man,Äôs political gain. This is a blatant attack on democracy, a slap in the face to voters of all parties, and proof that the legislature is prioritizing partisan power over the voices of its citizens. Stop manipulating maps to serve politicians, and start respecting the will of the people.
10/17/25 5:44 PM	Karen Sams		Please do not allow your president to add more districts for the republican party. You already control most of the state and I feel little there are still a few democrats that deserve some representation.

10/17/25 5:44 PM	Completely unacceptable	Jamie Hunter	This map is absolutely unacceptable, as are the circumstances of its creation. I know its beyond GOP comprehension to draw a map that is actually representative of the voters in this state, but this truly is above and beyond cowardly. If you believe so strongly in Republican values, positions, and candidates, let them win on their own merit.
10/17/25 5:44 PM	Ferzana Siddiqui		I appose the proposal to redistrict.
10/17/25 5:44 PM	Cathy Fickley		I strongly disagree with redistricting in order to appease the current administration which continues to make a mockery out of our democratic system of government. The only reason for doing so at this point in time is to control the 2026 election, again interfering with our democratic voting system.
10/17/25 5:44 PM	Emily Clark		I USED to be a republican, but the last 5 years have made me strongly AGAINST what the republican party stands for. I am now strictly democrat. The republican party has turned into nothing short of a party of bullying and twisting rules (and lines) to work in their favor. Im not the only ex- republican out here. We got tired of being lumped in with the rest of the party who does things the dishonest way, which goes against EVERYTHING this country was founded on. It's a disgusting power move. Your words themselves aren't enough, because they're littered with dishonesty and hatred. Gerrymandering is the next attempt, and as a north carolinian.... ABSOLUTELY NOT
10/17/25 5:44 PM	Mrs. Barbara Schroeder		I am opposed to the recently proposed plan by the NC Republicans to redistrict in order to pick up additional seats. This kind of extreme gerrymandering should be illegal. If the Republicans had proposals that appealed to the electorate, they wouldn,Äôt have to resort to cheating.
10/17/25 5:45 PM	Dr John Capitman	Concerned Citizens of Chowan County	I wish to state my opposition to the mid-census redistricting proposal. As a resident of Chowan County and the current Congressional District 1, I will lose the opportunity to vote in a competitive race. The proposed gerrymander seems to be both overly partisan and to reflect the intention to reduce the oppprtunities for African Americans and rural voters to express their views on national policies. The proposed expanded CD 1 will represent a strange and diverse hodge-podge of counties that have very different communities and different needs. This effort to draw districts to increase Republican votes in the US Congress despite at the request of our deranged President and in spite of the opionions of voters from both parties throughout NC. Please don't do this. You will be individually and collectively punished by the voters for ignoring their will.
10/17/25 5:45 PM	Sally Smith v		Vote no on mid census redistrictingz
10/17/25 5:47 PM	Ms Sarah Wall		This is stealing citizens votes and right to fair representation. The old map was a disgrace. This is worse. Shame! Shane!
10/17/25 5:48 PM	Jane EG Smith		I am deeply concerned that the NC General Assembly is considering re-drawing districts for the US House of Representatives outside the legislated decennial census. The US Constitution (Article I. Section 2) directs that reapportionment (and therefore redistricting) occur every 10 years. The decennial adjustment for population ensures both that every citizen has an equal voice in the House and that the country be governed without the turmoil of constant redistricting. I am aware that other states, led by either party, have or are considering a midway redistricting. As my grandmother used to say, if other children jumped off a cliff, should you? Do you really want to live in a country where every time a state legislature changes hands, the maps are redrawn? How could that possibly be good for business, for families, for our state?
10/17/25 5:48 PM	Megan Cole		This is shameful. Silencing the voices of over half the state,Äôs population to hang onto your power by any means possible is just pathetic. You may win this battle but you can,Äôt stop the future, which is diverse, equitable, and inclusive.
10/17/25 5:49 PM	Sammy P Robinson		Partisan redistricting is a blatant violation of moral principles. It is literally CHEATING to win. If cheating is not accepted in sports, why do GOP cheat to win versus promoting sound equitable and fair policies.
10/17/25 5:49 PM	Stop manipulating voting Sandra Brown		It is disgusting and against our constitution for republicans to manipulate their positions in government by manipulating our districts. We are no longer a government for the people if you manipulate who gets elected. Do the RIGHT thing for the people of NC and stop following in the footsteps of a man who only wants control.
10/17/25 5:50 PM	Ralph Collins		The NC legislature needs to do its job and pass a 2026 budget which is way past due. Not waste times playing political games redistricting and trying to disenfranchise voters through gerrymandering.
10/17/25 5:50 PM	Mr Brad Borders		I am a voter in North Carolina and a 20-year veteran of the United States Army. I served my country because I believe in fairness, integrity, and the promise of democracy. Gerrymandering by either party violates those principles and erodes public trust. The people of North Carolina deserve representation that reflects their voices, not political maneuvering. I served my country, and I expect better from those elected to serve us.
10/17/25 5:50 PM	Linda Charping		Gerrymandering is wrong no matter what party does it but what you are proposing in the middle of the decade is especially heinous. It is blatant cheating to stack the deck and disenfranchise NC voters. This is a threat to our democracy, and it is shameful Instead, how about getting back to work on passing the budget and helping NC families and Helene affected counties.
10/17/25 5:51 PM	Mrs Lisa Keen		Please withdraw support from the current redistricting plan which prejudicial anc further divides us.
10/17/25 5:51 PM	Carolyn Hunt		Any redistricting should be done ONLY by a non-partisan committee. Gerrymandering, no matter who it is down by, dilutes and steals the power of the people to lawfully elect their own representatives. Otherwise the General Assembly is naught but an assembly of thieves.
10/17/25 5:51 PM	Ms Jackie Griffith		I am opposed to redistricting at this time. It is done based off census data as it should be. Also winners never cheat and cheaters never win.

10/17/25 5:51 PM	Mrs Kara Fullmer-Wehner	Resident	I strongly adamantly oppose the gerrymandered redistricting proposal for North Carolina.
10/17/25 5:53 PM	Wendy Fletcher		This is awful. It does not represent the political makeup of North Carolina. It is a power grab meant to allow Republicans to choose their voters rather than voters choosing their representatives. The state of NC and our country is a travesty. It is too partisan and our government does not represent regular Americans. Instead it caters to the highest bidder. I am disgusted.
10/17/25 5:53 PM	Ms. Kaaren Stoner	citizen	All redistricting should be done by a committee of non-partisan citizens, drawn with reasonable cohesive districts that include communities with similar interests and concerns. Absolutely no gerrymandering and weird sprawling districts.
10/17/25 5:53 PM	Cody Allen		This plan is a dangerous move to further alienate the most vulnerable and populous sects of North Carolina. It is a move to make our state less democratic, and we already have issues with districting being unrepresentative of the populous of our state. Please reconsider.
10/17/25 5:54 PM	Melissa McDonough		Brazenly redrawing district lines AGAIN, demonstrates that the NC Republicans are anti democracy. How can you say you are followers of the constitution when you purposely subvert the voice of the citizens of the state? Not to mention you are willing to come back to work for this, yet you can't be bothered to pass a budget. Shameful!
10/17/25 5:54 PM	Lindsay Majer		I am writing to express my opposition to the newly proposed Congressional map. Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. Our democracy depends on fair representation ,Äî not shifting lines for partisan convenience.
10/17/25 5:54 PM	Ms. Lore DeLaire		This country is heading down the wrong path and it is imperative that all people of North Carolina are represented with a fair map. The map is already heavily gerrymandered. This proposed map will not be done to represent the people. It will be done to give Donald Trump and the Republican party, unchecked party because the can't win on their own merit or policies. It is shameful and someone should take a stand against this administration and do the right thing. History will not remember those that cave kindly
10/17/25 5:55 PM	Ms Linda Smith		This is another attempt to usurp our democracy by setting up districts that favor Republicans. As an American, I want every vote to count and this effort to redistrict takes away equal representation. Shame on you,!
10/17/25 5:55 PM	Mr. Elijah Gray	Myself	As a North Carolinian, I am appalled at this blatant attempt at canceling my vote through brazenly partisan gerrymandering. I don't expect you to read this or care if you do, but you cannot admit to represent all of North Carolina if this goes through. My vote, and those of my county, should be counted in order to be properly represented.
10/17/25 5:55 PM	Mr William Yoder	Wryware.com	I think what you're doing with the attempts to re-district North Carolina is a JOKE. I think if you even try, then you're a JOKE. Please put this proposal aside and get on with your business to serve the good people of North Carolina rather than your own selfish purposes.
10/17/25 5:56 PM	Jane Radack		Please don,Äôt do this! Purple states are needed in this union! Let the people of nc vote where they are and determine the ebb and flow (and cooperation!) of politics.
10/17/25 5:56 PM	Mrs. JUDY RANDALL		NO to redistricting in NC!!! This is 100% a GOP ploy to remain in control of US Congress. Because they can,Äôt win otherwise!

10/17/25 5:57 PM	No to redraw!! Brandi Kerns	Hello, I am writing to you today as a concerned constituent and advocate for a fair and representative democracy. I urge you to support a transparent and nonpartisan redistricting process in our state and to reject any efforts to draw electoral maps for the purpose of partisan advantage. This practice, known as gerrymandering, undermines the very foundation of our democratic principles by allowing politicians to choose their voters, rather than the voters choosing their representatives. A politically motivated redistricting process has several negative consequences for our state and its citizens: Silences communities: Partisan mapmaking can be used to dilute the political strength of certain communities, particularly communities of color, effectively silencing their voices in elections. To address these issues and ensure fair representation for all, I ask that you support and advocate for an independent redistricting commission for our state. Such a commission would: Remove the inherent conflict of interest that arises when legislators draw their own district boundaries. Utilize objective and transparent criteria for map-making, such as ensuring districts are compact, contiguous, and respect existing political subdivisions and communities of interest. Incorporate meaningful public input throughout the process, ensuring that the final maps reflect the will and interests of the people, not a political party. I believe that all citizens deserve to be confident that the electoral system is fair and that their vote counts. Promoting fair and transparent redistricting is a crucial step toward restoring this confidence and strengthening our democracy. I look forward to hearing your position on this critical issue and what steps you will take to ensure a fair redistricting process in North Carolina. Sincerely, Brandi Kerns Lifelong NC resident
10/17/25 5:57 PM	Patti Clapper	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 5:57 PM	Kathleen Watson	The Republicans party will do anything to ‚Äúremain in power‚Äù. That‚Äôs the ultimate goal and began in earnest with Newt Gingrich. It‚Äôs only become worse. No integrity needed as long as you win. No violation is too egregious . This is such a terrible stain on our great state.
10/17/25 5:57 PM	Ms Barbara Tuset	I live in a red county that has the slimmest of all possibilities to have our injured voices heard on healthcare, renewable energy projects, and funding for schools with the current of balance 10 to 4 seat distribution and no chance if our NC legislators vote this week to redraw the district lines AGAIN to make it 11 to 3 at the bidding of President Trump. The stakes are high as it is and any reason to redistrict at this time is morally indefensible if anyone in the GOP cares about representing the people of NC in the Congress of our country.
10/17/25 5:57 PM	Mr. Alan Scott	The General Assembly would do well to remember the words of President John F. Kennedy: "Those who make peaceful revolution impossible will make violent revolution inevitable."
10/17/25 5:57 PM	Amanda Grimstead	The proposed redistricting is an assault on democracy. NC voices will not be heard and this is absolutely unacceptable-remember why you are in office, to serve ALL North Carolinians regardless of political affiliation! Do the right thing and stop the gerrymandering which is destroying our democracy.
10/17/25 5:58 PM	Christine Bermudez	I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal regardless of political party. This proposal is unacceptable and unethical.

10/17/25 5:58 PM	Mr. David Funsten	North Carolina republican state lawmakers are NOT working on a full bipartisan budget. NO! That would be doing the job they were elected to do. Instead, they are moving ahead to propose a mid-cycle redistricting in order to gain one more Republican Congressional seat. This is NOT a Republican state: It is a "purple" state with a near 50/50 ratio of voters by political party. We have a Dem governor because that position is elected by the statewide voters rather than by our already gerrymandered state districts. We already have a Republican dominated legislation due to gerrymandering, but that isn't enough to guarantee election results will heavily favor republican candidates for the 2026 elections. They want to cheat even more. Are they doing this at the request of a cross section of NC citizens? NO! They are doing it at the request of the Trump administration to target a partisan advantage ahead of the 2026 elections. We are rapidly moving towards a post truth fascist government in Washington, and our republican dominated state legislature is supporting that downward slide. I highly disapprove of this action. I want them to complete the state budget instead, so NC can function as it is supposed to. Western North Carolina is still recovering from Helene, and it needs actions completed by the state legislature now. PLEASE stop this nonsense and do your jobs.
10/17/25 5:58 PM	Shame Martha Levey	The NC GOP should be ashamed of themselves. You cannot, however, shame the shameless. When you can,Äôt win on your policies, you try to cheat.
10/17/25 5:59 PM	Angeline Echeverria	I am deeply concerned about this process to redistrict our congressional maps mid-decade for partisan purposes. We deserve fair districts that reflect communities of interest, uphold voters' rights, and are not political gerrymandering. I am particularly concerned about Congressional District 1, which seems to be designed to elect a Republican, eliminating the only truly competitive congressional district in North Carolina. Voters should get to elect their representatives, not the other way around. Playing politics with voting districts only serves to erode public trust and I sincerely hope you will stop this whole process.
10/17/25 5:59 PM	Jon Stewart	I find this whole redistricting to be nothing more than partisan politics aimed towards a goal set by an administration that will hurt the representation of the people of North Carolina in the long run. The reason we don't do redistricting until after a census is without that data we don't know how many are in the district in question. This will cause an imbalance for those being represented, and honestly is something that makes me think very lowly of the General Assembly members who are trying to propose this. It is nothing more than a cheap political trick because they are afraid. Afraid that they will lose a future election because of the unpopular decisions of a current administration that affects North Carolina in negative ways. Sometimes as a politician you have to take a stand and for once I would like the General Assembly to do that. This partisanship is not gonna help this state at all in the long run at the whims of an administration that will just keep asking for more because they are afraid of their own actions. We are not a people who are afraid. We are North Carolinians and deserve to be heard, whichever side of the aisle, and you can say "well we're in charge cause we won so we make the rules" and to that I say you have never been a gracious winner. Winners don't just high five their teammates and scream about dominating the other team, they also at the end of the game shakes hands and say "good game". This isn't a good game. This is rigging the game. And if that's not enough to make you reconsider, consider this, the pendulum always swings back eventually. When it does do you want the other side to have a precedent to do this to your side before a census allows the data to be seen. As a citizen of this state I know deep down everyone is good people who want things to be fair. This is not fair. This is not good. This is not what North Carolina is about. Bending the knee to someone's whims in Washington is not what we are about. We're about doing what's best for North Carolina. And this is shameful partisanship at it's lowest, and for that you should be ashamed. I ask that this map and any other for this request be denied on the basis of simply it doesn't represent us, and we want fair representation in North Carolina. Thank you.
10/17/25 5:59 PM	Mr Christian Pryer	North Carolina,Äôs new congressional map must be guided by objective, measurable criteria; compactness, contiguity, and respect for existing county and municipal boundaries, before any political interests are considered. Given our state,Äôs long history of gerrymandering litigation, this process should be fully transparent: publish shapefiles, demographic inputs, and fairness metrics such as the efficiency gap and mean-median difference so voters can see how equity was evaluated. A durable map is one that reflects genuine communities of interest and withstands public and judicial scrutiny, strengthening trust in North Carolina,Äôs elections rather than eroding it.
10/17/25 5:59 PM	Lauren Walker	Do not read district the map of North Carolina. Do not give into autocracy.
10/17/25 6:01 PM	Oppose Gerrymandering Luke Stiltner	I firmly oppose Trump and oppose gerrymandering
10/17/25 6:01 PM	Redistricting Daryl Walker	No redistricting! It destabilizeselections, curbs voting and weakens democracy. A cheap way to get votes!
10/17/25 6:01 PM	Megan O'Hara	Hi thank you for requesting public comments. I'm a resident of northwest Charlotte. Under the proposed maps I would be in district 14 which looks to extend all the way up to Burke county in western nc. I cannot see how a representative could effectively represent me and my fellow north carolinians in Burke County with such a great distance and different issues affecting us. Please approach these maps with consideration for the people who live here. We are voting for a representative, not a mascot.
10/17/25 6:02 PM	STOP CHEATING Marnie Gerdts	When will the Republicans find their lowest low. North Carolina is already gerrymandered for you all to cheat your way into office. This is just more of the same. This is not what people want. If you don't want to represent all North Carolinians, get out of public service.
10/17/25 6:03 PM	Teri Fehl	Thank you! It makes sense.

10/17/25 6:03 PM	Stacey Hamilton		Gerrymandering is evil. Do your jobs and maybe you can win elections without rigging the system. I may be long gone by the time it happens but this will end up being bad for all North Carolinians. Not just Democrats.
10/17/25 6:03 PM	Christine Stanton		Please respect the people of North Carolina and let us choose our elected representatives rather than you pick your constituents. No more gerrymandering, no more underhanded tactics that harm our democracy and no more using your power for your benefit.
10/17/25 6:03 PM	Janice Germain		Gerrymandering should be illegal. Let the people choose who should represent them.
10/17/25 6:04 PM	Jason Overstreet		I can't believe how far our country has fallen into authoritarianism and now our state wants to make sure we stay this way for generations to come. It's not that hard to make elections free and fair. Redraw the districts using open-source software that takes into account only population counts, county lines, and natural borders. Political affiliation should NOT be anywhere near this decision making. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around.
10/17/25 6:06 PM	Mx. Stephanie Leonard	Self	There is no need to redraw the Congressional maps that were gerrymandered two years ago. Do not erase the importance of the districts we have now.
10/17/25 6:06 PM	Christopher Pryer		Redrawing districts to further advantage the party in power is inappropriate and inconsistent with American values.
10/17/25 6:06 PM	Rev Pamela Patterson		Please refrain from further gerrymandering! The partisan action of chopping up districts to suppress votes is visible and shameful! Do your job and represent every citizen fairly, regardless of heritage, color or creed!
10/17/25 6:07 PM	Carol Pryer		I oppose redistricting for partisan gain; it should be done neutrally.
10/17/25 6:07 PM	Raven Bough		The redistricting is absurd and an attempt to swing votes in favor of one party. This skews actual NC representation.
10/17/25 6:08 PM	Wanda Baldwin		It is fair and equitable for the maps to be redrawn to eliminate all racially drawn, or convoluted districts drawn to ensure a Democrat is elected. All districts should be geographically homogenous to allow representation that represent the people who live in the district regardless of race, creed, religion, or party considerations.
10/17/25 6:08 PM	Horrible redrawing Anastasia Bieranowski		This is horribly gerrymandered. Please create a map that actually represents your constituents. Perhaps we should leverage technology to create an unbiased non-partisan districts. Can we actually evolve our approach and move towards more ideal representation?
10/17/25 6:09 PM	Carol Peoples		I vehemently oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. NC is already one of the most gerrymandered states giving the GOP unfair advantage. NO for even further redistricting.
10/17/25 6:09 PM	No new maps mid decade Andrew Cox		Once again the GOP aka Government of Pedophiles is attempting to circumvent the will of the people by redrawing districts on the whim of President Trump. Stop sucking Trumps dick and do something for the people. You will burn in eternal hellfire for your sins against the people of this country
10/17/25 6:09 PM	Sonya Badigian		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 6:09 PM	Mr Andrew Nilssen	NC tax payer and voter	If you can't win cheat - make Trump proud. Explain to me how NC elected a Dem Governor state-wide yet with your gerrymander NC may elect a large majority of GOP reps to the US House? Clearly this does not reflect the will of the people of NC, the people you are supposed to represent. But I get it - you do not care because you want to retain power at all costs and impose your agenda on all of us even if the majority may disagree. Which means you do not believe in Democracy, the founding principle of this country. How low can you go? Shame on you.

10/17/25 6:09 PM	Shameful Connor Wilson		Republicans power grab here is disgusting. This state is close to 50/50 Democrat/Republican. Any independent redistricting committee would be astounded at how unfair this map is. Just because the Supreme Court is probably about to tell you you can disenfranchise voters of certain races, etc. doesn't mean that you should. Shame on anyone involved in passing this map.
10/17/25 6:10 PM	mrs Kathleen Ebersohl		You represent ALL of the people of this state. We all have an EQUAL right to the government we collectively want. Disenfranchising half of us by gerrymandering is not only unethical it is illegal. Do the RIGHT thing and don't artificially stack the deck. It may turn around and bite you with the next election.
10/17/25 6:11 PM	Judy Crippen		As a 29 year resident of North Carolina, I am whole heartedly against the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Please work for the good of all the people not for the will of Donald Trump.
10/17/25 6:12 PM	Heather D‚ÄôAngelo		This redistricting is grossly misrepresenting the voters of this great state. I DO NOT AGREE WITH THIS AT ALL and will vote accordingly in the next and every election afterward.
10/17/25 6:13 PM	Christa Spain		Redistricting these areas of WNC are not right, this is a power grab to try and unfairly win elections. I do not support this!!!!
10/17/25 6:14 PM	Emily Arey		I am highly disappointed in North Carolina. Mid-decade redistricting undermines the principles of fair representation and voter trust in the democratic process. Redrawing district lines outside of the regular census cycle for political gain, tells your constituents that electoral outcomes are being engineered rather than earned. You are deliberately distorting the will of the voters and prioritizing short-term partisan advantage over long-term democratic integrity.
10/17/25 6:14 PM	ms Margaret Howe-Soper	Writing as an individual voter but am a member of a couple of non-partisan organizations	Women had to work for 70 years before they were given the right to vote in Federal elections. In many states African-Americans weren't allowed to vote until the Voting Rights Act of 1965!! Still these same people, born in the USA, had to pay taxes and were subjected to the military draft. I find it sickening beyond words that this evil of purposely denying US citizens the right to vote. To me it is a matter of national security to encourage people to vote: NOT to deny them that right at the same time requiring them to pay taxes and to put their lives on the line defending the USA from enamines foreign and domestic!
10/17/25 6:14 PM	No more gerrymandering Andy Clements	None	Quit trying to screw over NC residents that don‚Äôt don‚Äôt vote straight republican ticket. This is crazy. The Republican Party makes it easy to want to move to another state where its people‚Äôs voice matters.
10/17/25 6:14 PM	Heather Lollar		Hi. I am against this because I think this state is already gerrymandered to the gills. If anything, the current states gerrymandered districts need to be looked at and some major change needs to happen. I will be fighting this with every breath I have. It's not right, and it's not what the people of NC want.
10/17/25 6:15 PM	No more gerrymandering Brenda Clements	None	All NC residents deserve a voice. If you believe in your party‚Äôs platform then you shouldn‚Äôt have to cheat. So sad that the Grand Old Party is now the Guardians of Pedophiles and willing to cheat. Shame! Have you no honor?
10/17/25 6:15 PM	Kathryn Peterson		You need to stop being followers and start leading with policies that help your constituents. When you do stuff like this you look weak and scared. Are you?
10/17/25 6:15 PM	Ashley Birk		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and our votes should count equally, regardless of political affiliation, race, or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 6:15 PM	Mrs. Luanne Griffin		Please keep our elections fair and equal. It is not time for redrawing our districts. Please follow the NC Constitution and do what is honorable.
10/17/25 6:15 PM	Debora Jones		It is shameful to see the Republicans gerrymandering to cheat the democratic process. The only reason is because without cheating they cannot win. Are there no Republicans who will stand up for honesty and fairness? Let the people speak by their vote. The majority must be respected or we no longer have our beloved democracy. If we lose our democracy, we all will lose all of our rights. I am sickened. Listen to us! Hear us!
10/17/25 6:15 PM	No more gerrymandering Cliston Duke		Please stop the gerrymandering mess.
10/17/25 6:16 PM	thomas edwards	None	This action is not necessary. We need to go back to some reasonable state of normalcy!
10/17/25 6:16 PM	John Davidson		It's gerrymandering. Another blatant and dishonorable attempt by republicans to undermine the will of the people and our democracy.
10/17/25 6:16 PM	Former NC Representative Terry Garrison		Initiating redistricting to gerrymander federal and possibly state legislative districts to favor republicans is unacceptable to many North Carolinians. Mass boycott of businesses that support republicans may become necessary for citizens to get fair representation in Congress and in State Legislatures.

10/17/25 6:16 PM	Ms Cari Fisher	I strongly oppose this contemptible power grab by NC Republicans, to please Donald Trump, who is himself contemptible in his authoritarian, chaotic dismemberment of our American values and institutions. 48.6% of NC voters in the 2024 election did not vote for Trump. Our congressional profile should reflect that fact.
10/17/25 6:17 PM	Stop this now David Babineau	This needs to be voted by the citizens of North Carolina and not the few who believe the only chance of winning is to cheat the system. This goes against everything democracy stands for. Let the people decide.
10/17/25 6:17 PM	Susan Washer	Just read the Twitter posts by the two people in charge of this redrawing scheme. We don,Äôt believe any of that. We need a state budget and actual help for North Carolinians.
10/17/25 6:18 PM	Ms. Susan Abbott	Please do not permit anymore redistricting. I am already feeling very neglected and left out as my area was recently redrawn. I beseech you; it,Äôs horribly unfair.
10/17/25 6:18 PM	Robert Browning	As a resident of this state for more than 50 years, any plan to redistrict without the benefit of a settled census at the behest of the US executive branch suggests that those who support this action are not placing the needs and interests of North Carolinians before power or currying favor with a President who is little interested in the needs of the people of NC let alone the nation. Our representatives should reflect the diversity of our state in every way possible. They should not be the result of partisan gerrymandering designed to dis franchise those in the left or the right. Are we interested in the needs and will of the people of a purple state or power for power,Äôs sake. Regardless of party, anyone who chooses to go down this path will pay come Election Day for not following the will of the people.
10/17/25 6:18 PM	Michelle Lopez	So not redistrict to gain Republican seats. This does not reflect the make-up of our state.
10/17/25 6:19 PM	Ridiculous Joan Rabels	It is absolutely absurd to have people who only have their jobs because of citizens.... that they would then try to silence and sway votes in their favor by reconfiguring maps to support this horrific President. NC is not all red. Everyone should have their equal say on both sides. How dare you think you can alter such important things. It's just getting worse and worse. What are Republicans so afraid of? Can't win fair and square. Disgusting. If you can't be honorable, resign.
10/17/25 6:19 PM	Anna Cushman	Stop this partisan gerrymandering. The congressional maps are being redrawn to unfairly benefit one party, and recent polling that shows most North Carolinians oppose this practice. Disenfranchisement is un-American. It,Äôs shameful that the GOP leadership is stealing a congressional district and disenfranchising voters by choosing their representatives rather than allowing voters to choose their own. I support taking the map-drawing process out of the hands of the legislature and entrusting it to an independent citizens' redistricting commission. North Carolinians are facing so many challenges. Please get to work on issues that matter like a living wage for workers, affordable healthcare for all, welcome for immigrants who are propping up our economy and are valued members of our communities, the hungry kids after Congress passed the awful Big Beautiful Big that must be counteracted to save NC from those painful cuts. How about passing a budget? Properly funded mental health care instead of ending cash bail and filling our jails with those accused of non-violent crimes.
10/17/25 6:20 PM	Minister William Day	I do not agree with this plan.
10/17/25 6:20 PM	Do not disenfranchise NC Melinda Combast	Despite North Carolina being a competitive swing state, gerrymandering is used to predetermine electoral outcomes, effectively silencing millions of voters. I am against redrawing the districts again to essentially steal individuals votes.
10/17/25 6:20 PM	Monica Agarwal	Do not redraw the maps. It is clearly a ploy to get more Republican seats without the votes.
10/17/25 6:20 PM	Mr Lloyd Melnick	Let's keep the country a democracy with everyone having equal votes
10/17/25 6:21 PM	Alex Tucker	Please do not sell your soul to Trump and gerrymander our state. Representation for everyone in the state and not just one political party is how we should do things in NC. We are better than this.
10/17/25 6:21 PM	Eileen Gates	This effort is an egregious abuse of power by the Republicans in the NCGA who continuously break and bend the rules to satisfy its own agenda. It is an assault on democracy and the principles that have underpinned this country since its inception. And, it,Äôs been prioritized over the approval of our budget and the health, safety, and well-being of our citizens. NC is basically a 50-50 split. And to say out loud that this effort is specifically to satisfy a corrupt president and administration is disgraceful. You do not serve at the pleasure of the president. You serve because you are elected by the people. The president has no mandate, nor does NCGA. As a lifelong resident of NC, I am repeatedly disgusted and embarrassed by the dysfunctional reign of the GOP in NC.
10/17/25 6:22 PM	Lorraine Plummer	I am opposed to further gerrymandering of the state of North Carolina. You can expect push back from the citizens and legal representatives. Stop the steal!
10/17/25 6:23 PM	Mrs Carrie Banks	I wholeheartedly oppose further gerrymandering of North Carolina,Äôs districts.

10/17/25 6:23 PM	Julie Van Leuven	Citizen	It is disheartening to learn that the North Carolina legislature is blatantly following the directions of a would-be King . You were elected to lead the state, not to blindly follow someone who is leading us down a totally immoral path.. Your total devotion to power at all costs looks like cheating to me. It is not a good look. And frankly your actions to not stand up against somebody who is the ugliest example of an American is despicable. Democracy is about compromise not ultimate and absolute power. I know that most of the North Carolina legislature profess Christian values during the election cycle at least. Since when do Christians embrace hate, dishonesty and cheating? Gerrymandering to keep more power is a bad look. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves. Stand up for democracy North Carolina. Dare to act against the ugliness. I know you are just afraid for your jobs but is it really worth it?
10/17/25 6:24 PM	Carter Neely		Gerrymandering is antidocractic and will result in more political and social division. Focus on more important issues like education and infrastructure.
10/17/25 6:24 PM	Lynn Barriger		Stop gerrymandering NC.
10/17/25 6:25 PM	Sheila Hyman		Please stop trying to dilute who can represent me and my family by drawing convoluted redistricting. As a lifelong North Carolinian, I am disappointed in efforts that try stamp out the African American voters.
10/17/25 6:25 PM	Sarah Yamada		Election maps shouldn‚Äôt be sliced and diced to a parties needs. They are supposed to represent the people. Draw sane maps that give fair representation.
10/17/25 6:25 PM	Diane Swan		Redistricting to eliminate party elected seats does not support voters rights. The districts should include fairly distributed voting populations representative of the area as a whole not an area picked for political gain only. I do not support this redistricting plan.
10/17/25 6:26 PM	Kandi Bartling		The Republican I gerrymandering is already destructive to voter rights and election integrity, and yet republicans want to compromise our votes still further. If you can‚Äôt win without cheating, then you don‚Äôt deserve to win!!!! Stop being complicit in the authoritarian destruction of our democracy. VOTERS, THE CONSTITUENTS YOU WERE ELECTED TO REPRESENT, DO NOT SUPPORT THIS GERRYMANDERING! Shame. On. You.
10/17/25 6:27 PM	Sherrie Sigmon		I am very upset that this is even being considered in the state of NC. As a lifelong North Carolinian, I am embarrassed that our state is stooping to such a low. I cannot understand how you can call yourselves moralist, Christian, or concerned. Please do not bend this low.
10/17/25 6:27 PM	Kurt Beyer		This is an obscene attack on democracy.
10/17/25 6:28 PM	Sherry Hays		What you are doing with gerrymandering is criminal. I'm ashamed of all of you. What happened to "One nation under God with liberty and justice for all"? That does not mean only if you are a white Republican male.
10/17/25 6:28 PM	Do your job! Danielle Mahan		Stop bowing to the corrupt President with your racist redistricting plan. You work for the people of North Carolina and we want you to pass a budget, secure healthcare for our elderly, and pay our teachers!
10/17/25 6:29 PM	Ms Lauren Macko		I am against this proposed redistricting in every sense of the way. It's disheartening that we have civic leaders who must cheat to win, ignoring the voice of the people. These changes do not help North Carolina and our country, but rather deepens the divide that were currently experiencing. Shame on every last person who developed this plan and those are advocating for it.
10/17/25 6:30 PM	Jessica Caldwell		I propose that NC adopt an independent redistricting commission. Everyone should be happy with a level playing field...unless you're too afraid of your party's platform to be able to effectively campaign on it?
10/17/25 6:30 PM	Tristen Card		I hope this helps!
10/17/25 6:30 PM	James Carroll		Yes, Please redistrict the way you have stated. I am all for this!
10/17/25 6:30 PM	Curt Moore		Please do not de facto remove the power of my vote by this clearly partisan redistricting. Thank you.
10/17/25 6:30 PM	Mrs Elizabeth Deal		I am appalled at this shameless abuse of power. All residents deserve to have their voices heard and drawing redistricting lines that fail to allow everyone to have a say is unacceptable.
10/17/25 6:31 PM	Otis Carter		What happened to redistricting every 10 years. The only thing that leadership is doing is kissing up to Donald. They don't have an interest in this state but for themselves. NORTH CAROLINA use to have 7-7 congress members. But under slick Tim Moore that changed. This is wrong to do now.i live in Wilson.
10/17/25 6:31 PM	Sherri Davis		I do not approve of redistricting!
10/17/25 6:32 PM	Stop it Cameron Hollis	Citizen	Im tired of this. Stop playing political games, could you imagine if this kind of thing was proposed by Democrats? Whether you like it or not NC is a purple state. Keep it that way. I promise you, when the tables are turned and the Democrats gain power this sort of stuff will come back 10 fold. Keep elections free and fair. You win some and you lose some. STOP IT.
10/17/25 6:33 PM	Stefan Frisch		The current map is already horribly gerrymandered. And 92% of North Carolina voters do not want gerrymandering. Serve the people and redistrict fairly, and only after a census.

10/17/25 6:34 PM	Michaela Barnes	The Phoenix Doula	I,Äôm a fourteenth-generation North Carolinian. My family traveled up the Cape Fear River. I am quite literally the product of sandy soil, river water, and rebellion. I grew up being taught by wonderful history teachers. My middle school history teacher, in a ‚Äúpoor‚Äù school in Dunn, taught me one of the most valuable sayings of my life. The one thing he said to take from the class, if nothing else: ‚ÄúNorth Carolinians are poor, and we don‚Äôt like the man.‚Äù That was not a complaint about our people; it is a sacred creed. We, the people of North Carolina, answer to no crown but our own conscience. And I ask you, our representatives, will you sleep soundly at night doing this? Will you sleep soundly knowing that you are ignoring the legacy of North Carolina being the first to say we would not be ruled through the Halifax Resolves. The first to take flight. Home to the first public university in the country, home to the battle of the Blues, home to the engineering feats from the Wolfpack. We don‚Äôt cheat, we don‚Äôt bow, we do the work and we speak the truth. Even when the truth is not what we want to hear. Our land has provided for our people, how will you sleep knowing you are turning against it, by drawing imaginary lines disenfranchising the people you swore to protect? We have never bent to a tyrant. I will not start now - I hope that you will not either. Gerrymandering is a cheap way to win. It feels an awful like tyranny. And, you see, both sides of my family arrived in roughly the 1660s in Eastern, NC. My ancestor Micajah Autry died at the Alamo. Gene Autry, the cowboy himself, is distant kin. My grandpa ran moonshine down Carolina backroads that helped spark what became NASCAR. Defiance runs in my blood ‚Äî not lawlessness, but a holy resistance to injustice.
10/17/25 6:35 PM	Mr Tom E Bowers	LWV CM	Voters should determine legislatures NOT legislatures see ting their voters
10/17/25 6:35 PM	Mrs. Margaret Korte	NA	Every voter should be fairly represented! Get rid of gerrymandering! NO MORE gerrymandering ??
10/17/25 6:35 PM	Mary Bryant		Stop messing with the maps! We are a blurple state. Our maps should represent that.
10/17/25 6:36 PM	SARA QUESINBERRY		I think the Republicans are a bunch of double-standard cowards. This absolutely does not represent the people of North Carolina. Perhaps if they had better policies and ideas the citizens of NC would be more willing to elect them to office instead of trying to cheat their way into office. At some point, the abysmal existence of trump will be gone, and the people who blindly followed and promoted his unconstitutional and hate-filled rhetoric will have to live with themselves and their actions. I hope I live long enough to see some of them prosecuted for their participation. DO BETTER. How can you claim to be the party of law, the party of Christianity when every action you take is a blatant opposition of law and Christ. I am fed up with the bullshit.
10/17/25 6:36 PM	Ms Liz Henderson		You were elected to represent your constituents. All of them! Stop cheating by gerrymandering the maps!
10/17/25 6:36 PM	Kelly Hoyle		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 6:37 PM	fuck you		Gerrymandering nazis. Fuck you. I'm moving to another state
10/17/25 6:37 PM	Jeff Thomas		Politicians should not be choosing their voters. North Carolina is a competitive, battleground state, where the best ideas should win over voters. Redrawing districts specifically to help shield representatives from the dissatisfaction with the policies they have enacted, and for their mindless support of Donald trump, is anti ethical to the entire American experiment. It's akin to a corporation refusing to innovate and compete in the marketplace, and instead lobbying for laws that hobble it's opposition. As so called supporters of the free market of ideas, Republicans should not be doing this.
10/17/25 6:38 PM	Leah Martin		Please do not redistrict to counter the Texas redistricting and possible California redistricting. NC is better than this - we don‚Äôt all support the agenda of President Trump. Please let the people vote on it if you must in a general election next spring.
10/17/25 6:39 PM	Ms Alexandra Dixon		Catastrophic for ENC and our democracy. Stop the GOP!!!!
10/17/25 6:39 PM	Ms Nancy Paris	AARP	NC is almost evenly divided politically but due to gerrymandering Republicans have a majority in state and Federal Congress and Senate. ENOUGH. NO MORE GERRYMANDERING TO. OPRESS THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE.

10/17/25 6:39 PM	Rev Karen Ziegler	Democracy Out Loud	It may seem like the expedient thing to appease the President and take this action. But it is wrong, and you will regret it. Winston Churchill said, "An appeaser hopes the crocodile will eat him last." All of us will suffer if this President continues to be appeased as he destroys our government, shreds our Constitution and the rule of law, and tries to crush those he sees as unimportant or as opponents. None of us want to live in the world he is creating. Please have the courage to stand up to him. He only cares about himself.
10/17/25 6:40 PM	Jessica Black		The districts drawn with the redistricting plan should represent the wishes of the people of North Carolina. I oppose any maps that are based on racial or political affiliation. I expect my elected representatives to act honestly and ethically, and the drafts that I have seen do not reflect those values. Create maps that fairly represent the opinions of North Carolina,Äôs voters so that our state can be adequately represented.
10/17/25 6:40 PM	Mary B		This is an absolute joke. The lengths to which you,Äôll go to gerrymander districts and silence voices should make you ashamed. If you have to chest to get ahead, you,Äôre no leader at all.
10/17/25 6:40 PM	BJ Council		Make it fair for all voices.
10/17/25 6:40 PM	Mrs Angela Gurganus		Gerrymandering to further keep NC citizens votes not counted is appalling and unconstitutional! Doing this may guarantee Trump another seat but it guarantees that you all can be replaced by people who care what the citizens think! Do not think it will go unnoticed and Mr Brinson I,Äôm talking to you when I tell you I will personally go house to house to campaign for anyone who opposes you if you vote for this
10/17/25 6:40 PM	Mrs. Andrea Graham	Common Cause	Under this newest gerrymandered map, Congressional Districts 1 and 3 in Eastern North Carolina would be less representative and more racist, targeting voters in the most prominent and historic Black opportunity district in the state. Congressional District 1 has been dismantled and designed to elect a Republican, eliminating the only truly competitive congressional district in North Carolina. Districts outside of Districts 1 and 3 are still extreme gerrymanders, making North Carolina,Äôs congressional map one of the least competitive in the country.
10/17/25 6:41 PM	Sarah Rollins		This is Gerry mandering pure and simple. Are you too afraid to run for office unless you ,Äúfix,Äù the districts to make you win?You are despicable.
10/17/25 6:43 PM	Ms Tamara Liaschenko		I opposed gerrymandering and want maps that are independent, non partisan voting districts .
10/17/25 6:43 PM	Patricia Gottlieb	Retired	Please be honest and open about what you are doing . Treat others the way that you would like to be treated.
10/17/25 6:43 PM	Jill Crvich		I strongly oppose this redistricting proposal! NOOOOO!!!
10/17/25 6:43 PM	Ann Basner		I encourage you to not redraw the congressional district map. By doing so, you are taking away the voice of many for your own personal agenda. If we were truly a 50/50 country, the maps would reflect that, and the contests would be much closer.
10/17/25 6:44 PM	Ms. Ellen Metcalf		NC is a state filled with republicans, independents, and democrats. Gerrymandering it to increase the number of republicans without a vote by the people (more than comments) denies the people of NC the ability to truly weigh in on how much the care about representation and voting rights. Please do not go through with this plan and deny the people of NC the representation that we are justified to have. Please remember that you serve the people of NC. Thank you!
10/17/25 6:44 PM	Mrs Deborah Moore		You are bowing to a Trump regiment!! This is supposed to be for the people not the politicians!
10/17/25 6:46 PM	Mr. Andy Asencio	The General Public	The North Carolina General Assembly is currently proposing a redistricting of North Carolina's Congressional districts. While this is a forum for leaving public comments on this, I believe that the representatives should return to their respective districts to ask their constituents face-to-face on this issue. It is my belief, as well as many others, that their Congressional representation would either be diminished or outright removed. This being the issue of Congressional Representation in the United States House of Representatives, it would do the North Carolina General Assembly well to request their constituents' permission to proceed with these changes that would affect their ability to have a voice in our Nation's Capitol. It is in this respect that I demand that this issue be put to the citizenry of North Carolina in the form of a State-wide referendum to allow everyone to have a voice on this issue and to avoid rash changes to representation that will harm the State of North Carolina in the long run and destroy public trust in the North Carolina General Assembly. Sincerely a concern citizen, Andy Asencio
10/17/25 6:46 PM	LeeAnn Patrick		I do not think we should be supporting gerrymandering districts that do not truly represent the people therein. I do NOT support these efforts. Frankly, I am deeply disappointed in my NC representation overall.
10/17/25 6:46 PM	Ms Lynn Dowtin		Do not do this!

10/17/25 6:48 PM	Don't Steal Our Represent Joe White	Resident	????? Fair Maps = Fair Representation! ????? Please do not gerrymander North Carolina. Every community deserves to have their voices heard and their votes count. ??? We all deserve fair representation ,Äï not lines drawn to silence us. Let,Äôs stand together for democracy, equality, and justice across our great state. ?????? #FairMapsNC #StopGerrymandering #NorthCarolina #EveryVoteCounts #RepresentationMatters
10/17/25 6:48 PM	Dr. Catherine McKinney		I DO NOT support the GOP's proposal to do mid-decade gerrymandering or redistricting! It is simply a blatant effort to take away voter choice and make sure the GOP stays in control of state politics. In a North Carolina poll last month, 78% of Republicans and 87% Democrats did not support gerrymandering. Your focus should be on your constituents who don't want gerrymandering/redistricting not on fulfilling the President's undemocratic demands. The GOP state legislators are proposing redistricting with the knowledge that voters in both parties do not support it. DO NOT redistrict!
10/17/25 6:48 PM	Mrs Shelly Kates Headen		Dear NC General Assembly, I was born in North Carolina and have spent 44 years of my life in this state. I hold a NC Certified Public Accountant license and I have sworn to my occupation to hold myself to high ethical standards. As an accountant, I have spent several years in an audit role in which I scrutinized financial statements of both business entities and nonprofits. While I protected others from fraud, I expect you as my representative to stop fraudulently rigging our elections by gerrymandering our districts forfeiting our democracy. It,Äôs time that you as representatives of North Carolina show respect for our constitution and our citizens.
10/17/25 6:49 PM	Griet Atkins		I live in NC and I think it,Äôs disgusting to start playing these games with representation. Everyone deserves fair representation. If you cannot win on policy then rethink policy- cheating is not the answer. Is this winning? Is this what Jesus would do?
10/17/25 6:49 PM	Laura Anderson		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 6:51 PM	Elizabeth Raper		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 6:52 PM	Mr. Walter Dowis		I am a North Carolina citizen who lives in Chapel Hill. I oppose this mid-term redistricting. Do not redistrict.
10/17/25 6:52 PM	Will Maldonado	Citizen	This is insanity. A man who refused hirricane relief to NC twice is dictating our policies and these power hungry folks will do it. He is setting the country up for an illegal 3rd term. It was nice having a decent place to live for a while but that may be ending soon as food and homes are just unreachable for many. We are dropping fast in education soon. Make this make sense?
10/17/25 6:52 PM	Danny Haas		If the Republicans can not run on their record, the gerrymandering will not solve any problems. I used to vote for Republicans because we need a strong opposition. Now they are working on a one party system like China.
10/17/25 6:53 PM	Julie Gosnell		I urge you not to deny the redistricing plan. Donald Trump needs to keep himself out of North Carolina,Äôs rightful business. He is trying to deny voting rights to turn the country into a fascist state. He is a convicted felon who is ignoring the Constitution of the United States. Show him we are still a democracy that gave states the rights to govern themselves.
10/17/25 6:56 PM	Brittany Hord		I,Äôm writing as a concerned North Carolina voter to urge you not to change our district maps in a way that gives one political party an unfair advantage. Every North Carolinian deserves to have their vote count equally, no matter where they live or who they vote for. Partisan gerrymandering weakens public trust in our democracy and silences the voices of thousands of voters. I believe that fair, nonpartisan maps are essential for true representation and accountability in government. Please stand up for fair maps and protect the integrity of our elections. Our democracy works best when voters choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Thank you for your time and service to our state.

10/17/25 6:57 PM	Jenna Hughes		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 6:57 PM	Rohn Adams		Do not allow gerrymandering in NC that will provide 79% of seats to one party, in this case Republican, but really, regardless of party. This is contrary to how our democracy is supposed to work.
10/17/25 6:57 PM	Mrs Robin Ervin	Constituent	The proposed redistricting will disproportionately affect minorities and is simply not right. Redirecting simply to give one party an advantage over another is low and unacceptable. Districting should only be about giving a true representation of the population., and that,Äôs not what this does. We will be watching your votes and will make sure everyone we know is made aware of your moral compass. How about winning on your platform, not by stacking the deck.
10/17/25 6:57 PM	Julia Brittain		I know you have an agenda and you don,Äôt care about what the people have to say but you know this gerrymandering is wrong. Let the majority be heard regardless of what side they are on in free and fair elections. These districts are not fair and do not give everyone a voice. You know what is right and what is wrong. This is wrong. We should all be on board with making this state better for all our children and grandchildren. And that includes all the people.
10/17/25 6:58 PM	Mrs Rachel Dossett		Please do not succumb to the pressures of Donald Trump. Leave the districts alone.
10/17/25 6:58 PM	Ashley Ervin		Totally unfair. Doesn,Äôt represent the actual makeup of the area.
10/17/25 6:58 PM	Mrs Janet Courtland		Do the right thing and deny Trump. WE THE PEOPLE , will prevail. Please keep an eye on the news this Saturday- NO KINGS. And you all are just flunkies. Do we what is right and allow all North Carolians to vote in there state with no restrictions or gerrymandering buy Republicans. If you have to cheat to win, you do not deserve to win.
10/17/25 6:58 PM	Joel Gainey		I,Äôm writing as a concerned North Carolina voter to urge you not to change our district maps in a way that gives one political party an unfair advantage. Every North Carolinian deserves to have their vote count equally, no matter where they live or who they vote for. Partisan gerrymandering weakens public trust in our democracy and silences the voices of thousands of voters. I believe that fair, nonpartisan maps are essential for true representation and accountability in government. Please stand up for fair maps and protect the integrity of our elections. Our democracy works best when voters choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Thank you for your time and service to our state.
10/17/25 6:59 PM	Tracy Koontz		I am against the current redistricting plan. All North Carolinians should be equally represented by our elected leaders. We should not have heavily gerrymandered maps.
10/17/25 7:00 PM	Lauren Horne		Please do not redraw the maps. This is insane and is cheating. I,Äôm a registered independent and I can promise I,Äôll never vote for another republican again if this nonsense passes. Fair representation matters, and redrawing maps not based on new census data is insane. Gerrymandering should be illegal and all members of the Republican Party who are in favor of gerrymandering look like a bunch of sore losers who can,Äôt win on policy matters so they have to cheat.
10/17/25 7:00 PM	Stop gerrymandering! Rachel Chang		Voters should choose their representatives, rather than representatives picking their voters. Districts should make sense by representing cohesive communities, rather than dividing cities and counties into ridiculous shapes to try to predetermine elections. If you actually care about democracy and representing the needs of the people, you will not go through with this further gerrymandering
10/17/25 7:00 PM	Mondora Griggs	NC Resident	The NC General Assembly need to focus your efforts on finalizing a state budget to address education, health care, and issues that will impact the well being of North Carolinians not spending time redrawing a map that is already set up to give one party an advantage over another. Are you so afraid that elections cannot be won on merit ? If you want to stay in office, take care of the people.
10/17/25 7:01 PM	Martha Kniseley		Our democratic nation demands equal representation. Gerry meandering our districts is illegal. Please represent your constituents!
10/17/25 7:01 PM	Mrs Alicia Jowers		This is no more than a power grab. Please do your job and vote on a budget and pay our teachers. This is not in the interest of the people of North Carolina.
10/17/25 7:02 PM	D W		I adamantly do not want people in charge who can,Äôt win without cheating. This is not the work of people who are devoted to public service, it is the work of people who are only devoted to their own power, and it,Äôs disgusting. This is not what America is supposed to be. This is not what leadership is supposed to be.
10/17/25 7:02 PM	Sister Bonnie Clark		I am horrified that the current values of what used to be the republican party are s commitment to spreading disinformation and cheating to stay in power. Our USA was supposed to be a democratic republic, with no kings since 1776, and not a fascist regime which it is quickly becoming. We cannot allow the excessive partisan redistricting this party is attempting in order to retain power. The incompetence and lack of concern for the average American is rampant and proves this party cannot govern.

10/17/25 7:03 PM	Jenny Clark		END GERRYMANDERING! We the people want to vote in free and fair elections without gerrymandering and without harassment and intimidation.
10/17/25 7:03 PM	Mr. Lucas Maness		Gerrymandering because you are afraid of losing elections is cheating. It,Äôs disgusting. Just keep proving that the Republican Party is full of criminals who don,Äôt care about their constituents. We,Äôll continue to vote criminal Republicans out of office.
10/17/25 7:03 PM	Amy Ryan	Self	This kind of partisan redistricting is un-American. We need fair districts when everyone's vote counts and the elected officials represent the will of the people of our great state. The manufactured unbalance in our current legislature is despicable; worsening it would be criminal. Stand up for fair elections where the people pick the politicians, instead of the politicians picking their people. Institute fair, non-partisan districting. Amy Ryan
10/17/25 7:04 PM	Mrs. Sarah Watson	Retired	Stop the gerrymandering. Start being fair.
10/17/25 7:05 PM	Carrie Matthews		It's very clear that this map is gerrymandered and does not reflect an accurate representation of the people you claim to serve. I don't think you honestly care about the comments made because I find it difficult to believe any upstanding person would submit this on the first place.
10/17/25 7:06 PM	Mrs. Theresa Small		This is a blatant and egregious abuse of power. As someone who lives in Wilson county and is directly affected by these maps I do not agree. By cheating and changing the maps you are taking away my voice and my neighbors voices. Don Davis is who we chose fair and square. You are more worried about cheating for a dictator who doesn't care about you or the American people. Can you please do what you were votes in to accomplish like funding our budget, helping our teachers, and the multitude of more important things. History will remember that you only win by cheating. I teach my students that CHEATERS never win in the long run. Don't take away our voices because you're scared. Win fairly or lose with dignity.
10/17/25 7:06 PM	Mrs Diane Sutton		I strongly urge you to REJECT the redistricting plan by Republicans. All North Carolinians deserve the chance to be represented by those who reflect their values. By rigging the map so that more seats lean red, you will be unfairly muzzling the majority of NC voters. History will remember your actions, and no amount of cheating will help keep corrupt politicians in power.
10/17/25 7:06 PM	Jennifer Brown		This is absolutely disgusting. A diabolical power grab for a party with antiquated beliefs/policies and a leader who is a convicted felon and is at least associated with pedophiles. We in NORTH CAROLINA ARE PURPLE!!!! We are a mix and DESERVE TO BE REPRESENTED!! Democrat taxes pay for NC just as republicans. TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.
10/17/25 7:06 PM	Let eff cd Rey vote count Mary Knight		Please reconsider this ill advised redistricting. I believe you are misreading the will of your constituents. I believe you could redraw districts and still lose your majority.
10/17/25 7:08 PM	Ellen Reckhow	League of Women Voters	October 17, 2025 Dear Members of the NC State Senate, The League of Women Voters of North Carolina believes voters should choose their representatives ,Äî not the other way around. However, that principle is once again under direct threat. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. We will continue to advocate foran independent, transparent redistricting process that protects the voice of every voter regardless of their political affiliation. We hope that you will not change the maps mid-decade to try to further enhance one party,Äôs political power. Sincerely, Ellen Reckhow Sally Stubbs League of Women Voters
10/17/25 7:08 PM	Mrs Tamara Imperiale	AFSCME RETIREES NC SUBCHAP165	I find it disturbing that these so called political parties can just change things so it is to their liking. I am not happy that my district was changed. We now have Virginia Fox(R), Ted Budd(R), and Tom Tillis(R). Nothing is getting done to help anybody but themselves.
10/17/25 7:09 PM	Concerned Citizen		WTF
10/17/25 7:09 PM	Miss Janeva Wilson	Self	I STRONGLY disagree with the proposal to new districts. It severely dilutes power and representation for many voters across the state. The legislature should be focused on passing a budget, securing access to healthcare, and funding public schools. The NC legislature needs to put the needs of ALL NC residents first. Redistricting attempts to silence any voice that isn,Äôt republican. That is not good governance. A government doesn,Äôt function without both parties coming together (which is exactly why we are in a government shutdown now). If republicans can,Äôt win without eliminating democratic districts then maybe they need to ask themselves why that is. Democracy does not equate to silencing voices simply because you disagree,Ä¶ that is not representative of the ideals NC or America claims to have.
10/17/25 7:09 PM	Ashley Prince		This is disgraceful. Please do what is right to represent the people you are meant to serve.

10/17/25 7:09 PM	Rachel Harkey	It is unpatriotic to hyper gerrymander our state in order to disenfranchise anyone. Shame on all of you Rs. You should be finalizing a budget with teacher raises instead of stealing another congressional seat.
10/17/25 7:10 PM	CHERYL MCDOUGAL	I am against redistricting the districts. This will potentially place more votes and subsequently more power into one party's hands
10/17/25 7:10 PM	Gerrymandering Landon Hayes	This map is yet another in a series of illegal and reprehensible maps created by the disgustingly corrupt and useless NC legislature. If anyone in that worthless body had any shred of morality this blatant gerrymander wouldn't have been proposed in the first place. Modern day NC politicians would rather we live in a Soviet Style dictatorship than a true Republic of the people! Say no to communism!
10/17/25 7:10 PM	David Ervin	This redistricting is nothing but a power grab and they should be ashamed of themselves. What happened to those Christian values? It is very disappointing.
10/17/25 7:10 PM	Ashlee Banks	I,Äôm writing as a concerned North Carolina voter to urge you not to change our district maps in a way that gives one political party an unfair advantage. Every North Carolinian deserves to have their vote count equally, no matter where they live or who they vote for. Partisan gerrymandering weakens public trust in our democracy and silences the voices of thousands of voters. I believe that fair, nonpartisan maps are essential for true representation and accountability in government. Please stand up for fair maps and protect the integrity of our elections. Our democracy works best when voters choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Thank you for your time and service to our state.
10/17/25 7:11 PM	Emily Hammer	This is a blatant power grab by the Republican Party to get rid of a swing district held by Democrats. It would be unconstitutional to redistrict. I can't believe we're trying to gerrymander North Carolina even more than it already is.
10/17/25 7:11 PM	Michael Stiltner	I am an independent voter and you'll lose my vote over this redistricting nonsense. It's rigging the system and shows that you know you can't win without cheating, which has become a common activity in the Republican party. .
10/17/25 7:11 PM	Ms. Kathryn Wilmore	This is shameful and unnecessary if you actually have a platform to validly win votes. Earn your seats with real ideas, solutions, and compromises. LISTEN to what your constituents want and need and find a way to make their lives better. You should not just be a figurehead in a convertible at the end of a parade, you have a real responsibility and job to do when you occupy those seats and it is to REPRESENT the people.
10/17/25 7:11 PM	Douglas Hensel	This proposed redistricting map is a travesty of democracy. It is a deliberate attempt to disenfranchise the majority of this state's voters and subvert the principle of one person, one vote. This is a craven and dishonorable scheme for Republicans to choose their voters rather than allowing the electorate to fairly choose their representatives. Any elected official with a shred of democratic integrity must readily and soundly reject this egregious gerrymandering proposal.
10/17/25 7:12 PM	Ella Creason	Do not redraw the maps!!!
10/17/25 7:13 PM	Mary Shintay	I fully support the Republicans redistricting pkan!
10/17/25 7:13 PM	Pass a Budget Not a Map Cassidy James	Good evening, I am writing you to request that our legislative branch focus on passing a budget instead of a redistricting plan. NC is one of the most gerrymandered states and this plan does not make it better for your constituents. People in will not be better represented, our legislators will get their power grab. We are one of the only states with no budget. I am an educator in your state. Please fund our state government and do your jobs instead of figuring out ways to earn endorsements from our President. Your constituents matter more. Your state matters more than a power grab.
10/17/25 7:13 PM	Miranda Liu	This new map is inappropriate and a sad power grab that Republicans don't deserve and every single person who votes for it KNOWS this and just doesn't care or believe in FAIR representation as our founders intended. You will come to REGRET this choice in time as redistricting won't HIDE the awful things being done to North Carolinians that are impacting Republican districts and counties MORE negatively than Democrat.
10/17/25 7:13 PM	Unethical Gerrymander Suzanne Schallhorn	This redistricting plan might be legal (might!), but it is definitely unethical and you are disenfranchising your own citizens to cave to an authoritarian's demands for more House seats at any cost, including ceding democracy. Shame on you. I dissent.

10/17/25 7:15 PM	Mrs. Rhonda Blades	Retired Business Owner & resident	Dear Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I am writing to strongly oppose the proposed redistricting plan. The maps you have drawn are not fair, transparent, or representative of the people of North Carolina. Instead, they serve partisan interests and undermine the basic democratic principle that voters should choose their representatives ,Äî not the other way around. This plan would further entrench political power by dividing communities, weakening competitive elections, and diluting the voices of Black, urban, and rural voters alike. North Carolina,Äôs own history shows that partisan and racial gerrymandering have repeatedly been struck down by the courts for violating both state and federal constitutional standards. Yet, despite clear legal and moral guidance, the General Assembly continues to draw maps designed to predetermine outcomes rather than reflect the will of the people. Redistricting should be based on fairness, transparency, and respect for communities of interest ,Äî not on partisan advantage. North Carolina voters have demanded a nonpartisan, open redistricting process for years, and it,Äôs time for the legislature to listen. I urge you to reject the current plan and adopt a fair map that meets the following principles: ,Ä¢Equal population across districts with no more than a ¬±5% deviation for legislative seats. ,Ä¢Compliance with the Voting Rights Act and full protection of minority voting strength. ,Ä¢Public input and transparency throughout the map-drawing process. The people of North Carolina deserve representation that reflects our diversity and honors our democracy ,Äî not one that manipulates it. Please stand on the side of fairness, not political expedience. Sincerely, Rhonda Blades
10/17/25 7:15 PM	Michelle Duncan		This is an unnecessary abuse of power and does not accurately reflect the voting population of North Carolina
10/17/25 7:16 PM	Christopher Williams		The redistricting plan is a low-quality job clearly demonstrating the lack of integrity our state,Äôs Republican leadership suffers from. This plan disenfranchises minority voters in ways reminiscent of poll taxes and literacy tests that were supposed to end with the fall of Jim Crow. In a state that votes 49% Republican, this is a skewed way to maintain Republican control. It should say something if you must cheat to win, and this does not at all represent my wishes as a voter and constituent in the state of North Carolina.
10/17/25 7:16 PM	Lauren McKinnis		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 7:17 PM	Mr Ross Pierson		I would respectfully ask that the new gerrymandered congressional district proposal be stopped. It,Äôs shameful in this present political climate to continue to blatantly try to rig the upcoming elections. History will look upon the GOP as a subservient cuck to the present administration instead of serving the needs of every American.
10/17/25 7:17 PM	Leslie Birch		When maps are drawn to predetermine outcomes, elections stop being competitive and stop being fair. Gerrymandering silences voices and weakens accountability. That,Äôs not democracy ,Äî it,Äôs entrenchment. Fair maps mean every community gets a say. Partisan maps mean only a few politicians do. This proposal doesn,Äôt reflect North Carolina,Äôs voters ,Äî it reflects politicians protecting their jobs. North Carolina is nearly evenly divided politically, but these maps lock in a permanent advantage for one party. That,Äôs not representative government.
10/17/25 7:17 PM	Mrs Jean Jacobs	family	Enough! Both parties have been gerrymandering our state districts. Each side justifies it by saying that's what the other side did in the past. Enough! It really is unethical. But that seems to be running rampant in both the national and state politics. I see the polls show that a big majority of voters in our state, both Republican and Democrat, are against gerrymandering. So how about putting an end to it. Is this the only way to win elections? to redraw the maps to benefit a certain party? SHAME! SHAME! on all of you!
10/17/25 7:18 PM	Elliott HillJennings		North Carolina is a diverse purple state, and the map should reflect that. The current map does not and this proposal is against the will of the people of North Carolina.

10/17/25 7:18 PM	Dr Anureet Copeland	This is a disgrace. I am a physician who takes care of patients regardless of their insurance status, county, country of origin. Redistricting to gain seats for the GOP is reprehensible and should be illegal.
10/17/25 7:18 PM	Mr Mitchell Rosen	Maybe do a better job so that people will want to elect you instead of further rigging the system.
10/17/25 7:19 PM	Proposal to redistrict NC Jessica Dwyer	The proposal to red District, North Carolina Carolina is gerrymandering. This is unacceptable! Politicians who vote for this will be held accountable.
10/17/25 7:20 PM	Opposed to redistricting Minde Vince	I and many other are strongly opposed to redistricting NC. If California citizens get an opportunity to vote on it, why can,Äôt we? You are elected representatives who are supposed to work for the good of NC, NOT bow down to a President who is concerned about losing seats. Where are the states rights now? Where is the governance of the US Constitution? You took an oath for the people of NC and you are grossly misrepresenting our population
10/17/25 7:20 PM	Stop! Make Elections Fair Kate Kempen	Do NOT redraw congressional districts in order to favor one party over another. Congressional district maps should promote fair, equitable representation for all North Carolinians. This attempt to redraw maps in favor of the Republican Party is a gross overreach of power and a pathetic attempt to ensure this failing party stays in power. The Republican Party no longer represents the people of America, but rather caters to a dictator with no regard for what actual Americans need.
10/17/25 7:21 PM	Mr Erinn Knight	For 14 years this Republican legislature has declared war on the citizens of the state of North Carolina. They have been pro-business, anti-citizen. They have blocked meaningful change in this state by suppression of wages, limiting access to healthcare, and curbing our civil rights. While I am not a Democrat I'm must stand against anyone who aligns with the Republican majority in North Carolina. Not only did they gerrymander the state further in 2022 than it already was, they're trying to do it again out of cycle. At the very least they should be forced to wait until the census to redistrict, but really the Federal judges who ruled against them should step in and draw new maps with independent cartographers. This is a violation of our civil rights under the Constitution to representation. You are traitors to our state and the US Constitution. The state attorney general should charge the NC Republican Party for RICOH violations as an organized crime syndicate. Resign now, NC Republicans and especially Phil Berger ,Äî you are guilty of gross dereliction of duty.
10/17/25 7:21 PM	Mr Scott Kugle	The Republican lawmakers in Raleigh are a disgrace. You want to change districts to keep Trump in power. Remember that when the tables are turned. Trump is a disgrace and what he is doing to this country is a crime. I'm sure he will pardon everyone in the White House when he leaves, if he leaves. Washington is a disgrace and you are all partly to blame.
10/17/25 7:23 PM	Mrs Pam Bacon	Leave our voting maps alone!!! Be better than Texas and don't gerrymander. Stand up for your constituents instead of pandering to trump.
10/17/25 7:24 PM	Donna Brown	This is a blatant racist attempt to placate a president that,Äôs not going to be around as long these legislators. You guys need to get a budget together instead of trying to rig an election for an authoritarian
10/17/25 7:24 PM	Catherine Harkema	The purposed redistricted map is in direct opposition of what a democracy is truly designed to be: a representation of and a voice for the people. Manipulating boundaries to benefit one political party over another is unjust and completely immoral. It is the result of people valuing power over justice and politics over people. It is a blatant attempt to silence the will of the people and maintain power through deceit. It is shameful and everyone involved in creating it and all those who vote for it should be embarrassed. Embarrassed of their complete failure to uphold the democracy created by our founders and their general disregard for human decency.
10/17/25 7:25 PM	Ms. Mary Goodkind	I am disgusted that the legislature has decided in its infinite wisdom that NC isn't gerrymandered enough. For a state that is truly purple you have decided that legislators/political parties should pick their voters, making people feel that their votes don't count. You are weakening democracy at its core and all the values you say you believe in.
10/17/25 7:25 PM	Big Nope Celina Moreno	This new redistricting map does not reflect the reality of voters in NC.
10/17/25 7:25 PM	Barbara Hart	I strenuously object to the proposed redistricting efforts for the State of North Carolina. The voters of the State of North Carolina depend upon the leaders of our state to put the interests of North Carolina voters above partisan national political interests. This redistricting is clearly in service of national political interests, not in the interest of State voters. We are already one of the most gerrymandered states in the US. Further gerrymandering makes it clear that fair representation for the people of North Carolina is not your goal. Please reconsider.
10/17/25 7:25 PM	Dr. Lisa Ortego	Bending the knee to Trump, and attempted to subvert the people,Äôs voice in their government is a shameful, cowardly act. I,Äôm a non-partisan voter who, at this point in the election cycle cannot fathom voting for a republican ever again.
10/17/25 7:25 PM	Mrs Lori Jones	What are you scared of. You KNOW If you didn't gerrymander our state would be blue. Dem Gov, Dem Atty General. Repubs can't win without cheating. Period
10/17/25 7:26 PM	Dr Kendalyn Lutz-Craver	It is beyond frustrating that our elected officials are more focused on appeasing Washington than on delivering for the people of NC. The proposed redistributing is not representative of the citizens of NC. Our state and our country are better served when more than one perspective is represented.
10/17/25 7:26 PM	Linsey Stevens	I do not support this blatant attempt by the Trump Administration to control the outcome of midterm elections. By gerrymandering, Republicans are undermining voters, eroding trust in elections and government officials, and not allowing representative to be held accountable by their constituents. For these reasons I do not support redistricting.
10/17/25 7:27 PM	Lacie Sherlock	Why? That's the only thing I need to know? Why would we redistrict again for no reason? Why are bowing to Trump? You afraid you'll never be in power again if you don't gerrymander or cheat? This is absurd! Pass a budget! Do your job!

10/17/25 7:27 PM	Dr. Jane Everson	Private citizen	I strongly oppose midterm gerrymandering of congressional districts in order to subvert the will of the citizens of North Carolina. The legislature's job is to represent the best interests of North Carolinians, not the best interests of the President. It is time to do your job and pass a budget instead of playing retribution politics with other states.
10/17/25 7:28 PM	Katelyn Valent		This attempt is shameful. We need fairly drawn maps that represent the people of our beautiful state.
10/17/25 7:28 PM	Caroline Vanderstraeten		Gerrymandering is illegal and maps should be drawn by unbiased parties so as not to give any one political party in power more power unfairly. Please reconsider these maps and the process for drawing maps in general. Be reasonable and fair to all constituents so that everyone,Âôs voice and vote counts equally.
10/17/25 7:28 PM	William Scarbrough		Openly cheating to maintain power and curry Trump,Âôs approval. You should be ashamed! What a legacy for the GOP!
10/17/25 7:28 PM	Ms Mary Blevins	Native North Carolina Family for 8 Generations	It is shameful that our state is once again in the headlines - local and national - for all the wrong reasons; namely, that Republicans know that they cannot win in the merits of their platform (or lack thereof) and must resort to illegal, unconstitutional, or unethical practices. Furthermore, to do so to curry favor with the Unclothed Emperor is beneath you all. You are supposed to serve ALL the people, not just your cronies or your need for power and ,Äúrevenge,Äù. Stop making us all walk the walk of shame, stop trying to bring Jim Crow back from the grave, and quit on this ridiculous redistricting.
10/17/25 7:28 PM	Redistricting Morgan Whitford	Citizen of NC	I am strongly against to proposed redistricting of our communities. If GOP policies are popular then they will win out, yall should not need to cheat in order gain grown. Dishonest, knee bending cowards.
10/17/25 7:28 PM	No midterm redistricting Cynthia Campbell		Redrawing our Congressional districts to please the president and push one party rule is an affront to democracy and our federalist system. Do not disenfranchise NC voters this way.
10/17/25 7:28 PM	Dr Emily Averbook		NC is a purple state, not red and not blue. The districting should be balanced to correspond to the fairly even political lean across the state. It is shameful to force feed such blatantly unfair districting on this wonderful state. NC should have honest power brokers doing the districting, or computer generated results, or independent commission. This disregard for NC voters is abhorrent. Gerrymandering should be a thing of the past and NC could show other states how politicians with integrity behave to honor and trust their constituents - but instead we have the opposite. What a disgrace.
10/17/25 7:28 PM	Marjorie Andrews		The state doesn,Âôt need anymore racial/political gerrymandering.
10/17/25 7:30 PM	Emilie Austin		Please don,Âôt move the lines. Remember, we all vote.
10/17/25 7:31 PM	Ms Debra Hodges		I strongly oppose further gerrymandering congressional districts and subverting the will of the citizens of North Carolina. What is the reason to redraw maps? For partisan, unchecked, political power? If you want to actually represent the people of North Carolina and the legislature feels it's important to redraw maps - bring it to the people as a referendum on the November ballot just as California is doing. The legislature's job is to represent the best interests of North Carolinians, not bow down to the President. It is time to do your actual job and pass a budget instead of playing retribution politics with other states thousands of miles away.
10/17/25 7:31 PM	Steven Clark		I strongly stand against this blatant gerrymandering to further the far right agenda and the current White House administration. Voting should be based on population within an area not carved up into unrecognizable districts. I don,Âôt believe any party should attempt to deny the citizens of an area the opportunity to select a candidate that best represents that area.
10/17/25 7:31 PM	Redistricting Elizabeth Heffelfinger		This new map is a violation of our voting rights and so obviously gerrymandered. The fear of the people's mandate is alarming. Be on the right side of history and stand against this violation of our rights.
10/17/25 7:31 PM	L B(NC Citizen of 40 years)		Changing the maps to change voter results is absolute against safe elections. The shift is being made to favor one party which is not favorable to voter integrity. What prevents any party from doing this when in power? Maps can,Âôt be politically motivated or elections are pointless as they would be predetermined.
10/17/25 7:31 PM	Kimberly Wallace		I strongly oppose redistricting North Carolina and potentially taking away representation from the opposing party. That is literally taxation without representation.
10/17/25 7:32 PM	David Howell		I approve the redrawing of districts. As a citizen of NC this state needs change in how power is centered and change is good.
10/17/25 7:32 PM	Gale Kirk		This is wrong from beginning to end. You, the republicans already have NC sewed up stop the foolhardiness and look after the people who put you in office not the man who is tearing our country down and you can't see it or are too "chicken" to fight him This is evil and if you do this you are evil!

10/17/25 7:33 PM	Ms Dawn de Los Santos		I am writing to express my deep concern and opposition to the recent redrawing of our state,Äôs electoral maps. The new maps, which appear to heavily favor one political party, threaten to undermine fair representation and weaken the voices of many North Carolinians. Our democracy depends on voters choosing their representatives,Äînot the other way around. When district lines are drawn to secure partisan advantage, it erodes public trust and discourages participation in the democratic process. North Carolinians deserve fair maps that reflect our diverse communities and ensure that every vote carries equal weight. I urge you to take a stand against partisan gerrymandering and support efforts to create transparent, nonpartisan redistricting processes. Protecting the integrity of our elections and the principle of fair representation should not be a partisan issue,Äîit is a cornerstone of our democracy. Thank you for your attention to this matter. I hope you will consider the concerns of your constituents who value fairness, accountability, and genuine representation in our state.
10/17/25 7:34 PM	Mrs. Krista de Andrade		I kindly request that you do not redistrict our lines.
10/17/25 7:34 PM	Jordan Y		The recently approved redistricting map is an unmistakable act of gerrymandering. It prioritizes partisanship over representation and power over fairness. By manipulating district lines through ‚Äúcracking‚Äù and ‚Äúpacking,‚Äù this map rigs the game before it even begins, robbing North Carolinians of meaningful elections and real choice. You,Äôve forgotten that you work for us. When democracy breaks down, it won‚Äôt be because people stopped caring,Äîit‚Äôll be because leaders stopped listening. And history will make that clear.
10/17/25 7:34 PM	Ann McFadden		Drawing voting maps based on party affiliation rather than geography makes no sense to me and I do not support our legislature, regardless of party affiliation, doing this again.
10/17/25 7:34 PM	Belinda Cowell		There is no need to redistrict until another census, as law prescribes. Please focus on getting a budget passed rather than redistricting and gerrymandering
10/17/25 7:34 PM	Chair Dr. Cassandra Conover	Nash County Democratic Party	This is a clear case of gerrymandering, where you are manipulating boundaries to favor the Republican Party, specifically President Trump. This undermines democratic principles by diminishing fair representation and distorting electoral outcomes. Additionally, the maps had previously been redrawn. Such frequent redistricting can disrupt community cohesion, dilute the voting power of minority groups, and create confusion among voters about their districts and representatives. But for the demand from the President , would the issue of redistricting have taken over the work of the NCGA? Republicans already have a 10-4 advantage. On the face of these numbers, there is no legitimate reason to redraw only ONE district. It is racially suspect that no other districts are so impacted as this district of one of only 3 Black Congressional Representatives.
10/17/25 7:35 PM	Steph Riggle		Our state legislators need to STOP these ridiculous gerrymandering efforts. NC already gets an ‚ÄúF‚Äù for providing fair & equal efforts for all North Carolinians.
10/17/25 7:35 PM	Vernal Nicholson		Congressional maps should be determined by an independent, non-partisan group. It's blatantly unconstitutional to put a thumb on the scale one way or another.
10/17/25 7:36 PM	Margie Shuffler		I am registered independent, but disagree with the redistricting. I believe that gerrymandering is an abuse of power. Voting lines should be balanced, not rigged.
10/17/25 7:36 PM	Mr. Kevin Rock	Private Citizen	The newly enacted redistricting map for North Carolina's district mapping is a blatant and unconscionable act of gerrymandering. This map does not reflect the will of the people; it serves only the narrow, partisan interests of those who drew it. The map utilizes classic gerrymandering techniques, such as 'cracking' and 'packing.' This process deliberately draws district lines to predetermine election outcomes, effectively eliminating competitive races and silencing the voices of thousands of voters across the state. The result is a political system where politicians choose their voters, rather than voters choosing their politicians. You all have forgotten who you work for, and it shows more by the day. The fall of America will be on your hands that approve this, and history, nor we, will forget.
10/17/25 7:36 PM	Cynthia Boyd		This is a travesty! Do the right thing and stop the gerrymandering!
10/17/25 7:36 PM	Sherie Wilson		Comment submitted. If someone is not sure what to say, here is what I wrote: I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.

10/17/25 7:36 PM	Consuelo Brown		How do you all sleep at night? What do plan on doing that,Äôs actually going to benefit your people? This is the most dismal state of affairs I,Äôve ever known and you all are enabling it just to remain part of your club. Where is your compassion? Where is your conscience? And where oh where is your God?
10/17/25 7:36 PM	Isaac Oyer		North Carolina deserves fair maps and fair representation ,Äî not partisan redrawing driven by outside political pressure. The fact that the General Assembly is redrawing districts based on orders from President Trump is deeply concerning. Our state is nearly evenly split between Democrats and Republicans, and our maps should reflect that reality. Gerrymandering erodes trust in government and silences the voices of millions of North Carolinians who simply want their votes to count equally. Fair representation shouldn,Äôt be a partisan issue ,Äî it,Äôs the foundation of democracy. We need independent, transparent mapmaking that gives everyone in this state a real voice, no matter their party.
10/17/25 7:37 PM	Ms. Helen Wolfson	self	As a North Carolina resident who votes and who works for the Board of Elections at the polls to ensure that everyone who wants to vote can vote and that elections are run fairly, I am appalled at the blatant attempt to disenfranchise voters by further gerrymandering our congressional maps. I, like most North Carolinians, support fair voting maps. My district is already gerrymandered, and I have been bounced from one district to another and back again while our maps flipped back and forth. You should NOT engage in any mid-decade redistricting in 2025 that would further distort our maps and make a mockery of the idea that each person's vote is equally valued. I am sick and tired of the legislators ignoring the will of the people they work for. North Carolinians are sick of gerrymandering and, according to a recent survey, 70% of North Carolinians want a bipartisan commission to draw our maps, not the legislature. In this same survey, which was run by a Republican-leaning polling firm, 84% of North Carolina voters said that it,Äôs never acceptable for politicians to draw districts to help their own party win more seats, no matter the circumstances. That opposition holds across party lines, including 78% of Republicans, 87% of Democrats and 85% of unaffiliated voters. Just because you can redraw our congressional maps to manipulate the upcoming 2026 elections, doesn,Äôt mean you should. I vote in every election and work to elect candidates throughout the state who respect the people they represent. You may disagree with me on policy but I expect politicians to play fairly. If the only way Republicans can stay in power is to FURTHER gerrymander a state that is already extremely gerrymandered, that should tell you something about the popularity of your policies. Don't do this gerrymander.
10/17/25 7:37 PM	Ms. Marilyn Clayton		Fair districts please! Let voters choose their legislators, not the other way around!
10/17/25 7:38 PM	Ms Carol Aycoth		Does North Carolina need to be redistricted? The answer is Yes! But not to divide up our cities and democratic party dense places and weaken their vote and turn these into Republican districts! As a state we vote almost 50-50 for the Senate and governor and president!!We should have districts where people vote for the candidate who they feel is most qualified and not designed so candidates pick their voters! I oppose this latest NC redistricting plan!
10/17/25 7:38 PM	Ms Noreen Slattery	Citizen of North Carolina	Stop the cheating and stealing of elections with your gross gerrymander. There is no MAGA mandate. One half the voters did NOT for for this corrupt administration.
10/17/25 7:38 PM	Mr Richard Wilson	None	I disagree with this effort to further gerrymander North Carolina House districts to further benefit one party over another thereby denying voters a fair representation of their vote. Republicans already have redrawn maps that have resulted in a distribution of seats in excess of their registered voters and popular votes in the last election as a percent of total votes. I live in the fifth district and my vote means nothing. It,Äôs not fair, it,Äôs not how elections should be run in that politicians choose their voters rather than voters choosing their politicians!
10/17/25 7:38 PM	Mr. Joseph Craver		Redistricting or gerrymandering mid decade is an abhorrently blatant attempt to disenfranchise Democrat leaning voting blocks in our state when the Republicans realize they can,Äôt hold control of the House of Representatives without fixing the results. I realize redistricting must happen with population changes following each census but it is absolutely unAmerican to do so mid decade by politicians in fear of the will of the people.
10/17/25 7:39 PM	Charles Hamilton		Phil Berger is a Nazi stooge,working for Trump, in an attempt to relieve nearly 11 million North Carolinians of their right to fair representation. This is unprecedented in the history of the nation. I know Democrats, Republicans, Independents, and even A-political people who are upset and outraged at this Nazi power grab. The people are not going to forget this, in the same way that no one is forgetting about the Epstein list.

10/17/25 7:39 PM	Joanna Shook		I strongly oppose the proposed mid-decade redrawing of congressional districts in NC. I believe redrawing maps is a clear attempt to entrench partisan advantage rather than serve voters by making formerly competitive districts safe for one party. This change is intended not to improve representation, but to reduce political accountability. Such practices undermine trust in our democracy. Voters deserve to choose their representatives ,Äî not the other way around. Maps drawn strictly for political gain erode fairness, discourage civic engagement, and damage confidence in our institutions. I urge all NC lawmakers to reject the proposed redrawn map and instead adopt a process that is transparent, nonpartisan, and accountable to citizens. True representation means competitive, compact, contiguous districts that respect communities of interest and give voters a fair voice.
10/17/25 7:40 PM	Ms Yvonne Petite		My comments are as follows. If the intent of redistricting is to deprive any certain group of people the Right to Vote, or in any way diminish or restrict any group of people their Constitutional Right to Vote, then this should be Illegal!
10/17/25 7:41 PM	Misha Mcmurtray Longo		It is wildly embarrassing that grown adults have to cheat to gain power because clearly their policies aren,Äôt popular enough to win on their own. I,Äôm so embarrassed to say I,Äôm a North Carolinian because of the ridiculous gerrymandering the republicans are trying to pull here.
10/17/25 7:41 PM	Karen Hulseman		This is completely unfair manipulation to assure that certain individuals retain their power while taking those we voted to represent us.
10/17/25 7:42 PM	Harriet Wolf		The majority of NC residents of all political parties oppose any form of gerrymandering and would prefer districts drawn by an independent body. Don't make NC gerrymandering worse than it already is.
10/17/25 7:42 PM	Roger Mays		This action is deplorable. Districts should represent the people and your grandmothers would be embarassed your excuse is ,Äúthey did it first,Äù Futher from the truth. This is political BS of the highest order. Like election boards, redistricting should be party neutral. Shame on all of you.
10/17/25 7:42 PM	Dave Halliday	n/a	I am for it. The districts favor the large cities. There are a lot of us in the rural parts of the State that are not getting the representation we need. Remember the NC Motto: Esse Quam Videri It is time to DO. It is not time to just talk and kick the can down the road. Clean up our election process.
10/17/25 7:42 PM	Ms Amelia Vogler		It is absolutely ethically horrendous that you must redraw districts to benefit the republican agenda. This is outrageous. It,Äôs time you find your ethics, your integrity, and allow the voices who live in this state, to speak and vote for whoever aligns best with them. Gerrymandering is the most pathetic attempt to restrict the rights of our diverse population. I am vehemently opposed and will vote against anyone who encourages this behavior.
10/17/25 7:42 PM	Ms Judith Butts		Passing a state budget is way more important than redrawing our congressional district maps AGAIN. We,Äôre tired of the legislature working to dilute the votes of minority and progressive voters, on the state and local level. Let our voices be heard! All of us!
10/17/25 7:43 PM	Lenora Davis		I do not want my vote to have less value by the Republicans doing redistricting to suit themselves.
10/17/25 7:43 PM	Mrs. Pamela Susan Schmidly		When you realize you're about to lose the upcoming election, you manipulate the map. We are not an authoritarian country,Äîyet!
10/17/25 7:43 PM	Katelyn Thomas		I would suggest you spend some time doing the job we actually elected you to do - pass the budget.
10/17/25 7:43 PM	Bridget Tarrant		Mid-decade redistricting designed to guarantee the GOP an extra congressional seat is not only undemocratic, it's unconstitutional. Instead of empowering the people of North Carolina to choose their representatives, it allows politicians in the General Assembly to choose their voters. That's not representation, it's blatant manipulation.
10/17/25 7:43 PM	Lara Link		It is imperative that our districts accurately reflect the residents of our state. Any redistricting that attempts to erase half the population is a blatant power grab, and is not the will of any residents of this state. Please halt this madness and uphold our laws instead of kowtowing to one president.
10/17/25 7:43 PM	Ms. Amy Anderson		I am strongly against further redistricting and gerrymandering of NC Congressional maps. The only reason the Republican majority is considering this is to bow to the President. Why not actually serve NC citizens and put this as a referendum on the November ballot? Let the citizens you serve determine the outcome. Instead of spinning your wheels to bow to the President, do some actual work and pass a budget that supports North Carolinians.
10/17/25 7:43 PM	Ron Katz		I find it sad that the leadership of the NC General Assembly discusses drawing a new map based on what is happening in California. That action, taken reluctantly, was in response to what Texas did, and Texas did that without consulting voters while California has a ballot initiative asking to approve the redrawing of districts. If the goal is democracy, then NC is falling far short with this effort. Shame on those who want to redraw districts to maintain power rather than to do the people's work. For example, why haven't you passed a budget?

10/17/25 7:45 PM	Mrs. Brandie Ragghianti		I am opposed to the Republican redistricting plan. It is a partisan power grab and indicates that the Republicans elected to represent us work for President Trump, not the people of North Carolina. Campaign for your votes, don,Äôt steal them through gerrymandering!
10/17/25 7:45 PM	Cindy Darcy		Comment submitted. If someone is not sure what to say, here is what I wrote: I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 7:46 PM	Katherine McKittrick		Do not redistrict. North Carolina is a purple state and districts must reflect the will of the people (not the president or the Republican party). I am vehemently opposed to redistricting.
10/17/25 7:47 PM	A Gabriel		Under the Republican majority, the GOP has spent a ludicrous amount of money and time (over a decade) gerrymandering and litigating unconstitutional maps all for the benefit of their party, certainly not the benefit of our state. No more time, no more money should be wasted on blatant efforts to disregard the will of the voters and our suffrage rights. This is time and money that should be spent creating fair and equal maps that comply with our laws, state and federal.
10/17/25 7:47 PM	Maurie Hill		Creating new maps split or pack communities,Äîespecially Black voters,Äîso their influence is diluted, allowing one party to win far more seats than their share of the vote. This ‚Äúgerrymandering,Äù weakens accountability, discourages participation, and erodes trust in democracy. Despite historically strong bipartisan support for independent map-drawing and transparency, lawmakers are continuing to control the process, leaving us as voters feeling our choices no longer truly count.
10/17/25 7:47 PM	Dr Renee Johnson		Every voter should be represented fairly. Stop the gerrymandering!
10/17/25 7:48 PM	L McDermitt		Redistricting is not a good idea - no matter whom it favors. Please leave our districts alone and reject redistricting.
10/17/25 7:48 PM	Ellen Lukens		Republicans are cowtowing to Trump and cheating to pick up more seats to win elections. It,Äôs unethical and against the will of NC residents. In fact, 84% of North Carolina voters say it,Äôs never acceptable for politicians to draw districts to help their own party win more seats, no matter the circumstances. You serve the people of this state! No one else!
10/17/25 7:48 PM	Pam Bailey		I am totally against partisan gerrymandering. This is wrong!!!! Gerrymandering undermines the principle of "one person, one vote" by enabling politicians to choose their voters, rather than the other way around. That is WRONG and not an expression nor a protection of democracy!
10/17/25 7:49 PM	Allison Zarach		The People of NC, regardless of party, did not vote you in to redraw already gerrymandered maps. You were voted in to work FOR the people and not against them. You were voted in to help teachers, public schools, bring relief to those affected by the hurricane. Our state needs better infrastructure, better teacher pay, stricter gun laws, and someone to stand up to the insanity that is taking place in Washington, not go along with the insanity. It is a shame that this is even being considered and anyone that votes for it knows that. You have a job to help the people of NC, not the imbecile running the country.
10/17/25 7:49 PM	Lisa Maynard Bible		STOP GERRYMANDERING NORTH CAROLINA VOTING MAPS!!! That's it. Full Stop. The ONLY way the GOP wins is by cheating. It's got to stop!
10/17/25 7:49 PM	Patricia Leck		I am saddened that the GOP finds it necessary to manipulate the districts in order to think they can win. You wouldn't have to if you took your oaths to heart and followed the Laws of OUR Constitution!
10/17/25 7:50 PM	Kathy Martin		The is a total sham. A shameless power grab. An affront to the citizens of North Carolina.
10/17/25 7:50 PM	Sharoly Ziegler		STOP gerrymandering immediately! You know it is wrong and unfair.
10/17/25 7:50 PM	Damien Xaros		As an unaffiliated voter if you go through with this cheap tactic I promise you I will never vote republican again.
10/17/25 7:51 PM	Mr Buck Hulseman		Disempowering my vote is simply unamerican. Never forget what happened with the last king that wanted to rule unchallenged. I,Äôll never forget.
10/17/25 7:51 PM	Brandy Honeycutt		Redistricting should serve the people ‚Äî not politicians. Our democracy depends on transparent, nonpartisan maps that ensure every voter,Äôs voice counts equally.
10/17/25 7:51 PM	Mrs Lorraine P. Werts		Redistricting happens AFTER a census which as we all know occurs every 10 years. The ONLY reason Republicans want to do this now is to create a sure fire way to win. To put it another way; cheat to win. I disagree with ALL forms or gerrymandering that attempt to silence my vote!
10/17/25 7:51 PM	This is ridiculous Joseph Gartner	Self	In a 50/50ish state this would take us from unrepresentative government to an even uglier form of government
10/17/25 7:52 PM	Rev Lucy Austin		Gerrymandering is a racist action. NC needs voting districts that are fair and not gerrymandered by the Republican Party. Do not make more republican districts.
10/17/25 7:52 PM	Ms Deirdre Russell		Stop REDISTRICTING!!!! Let the people VOTE!!! Stop trying to cheat! We need representation!!(
10/17/25 7:53 PM	Lynn Maust		Follow the rules. Redistrict only after the 10 year census and Redistrict fairly. End gerrymandering and crack and packing districts.

10/17/25 7:53 PM	Mr. RANDALL Jobski		I am completely against gerrymandering and fully support an independent board to draw all districts. I ask that this NOT be supported! Thank you
10/17/25 7:53 PM	Ms. Jennifer Alquist	Citizen	I disagree with this issue.
10/17/25 7:53 PM	Dr Andra Wilkinson		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 7:54 PM	Oppose Party Favoring Map Karen Metzguer		I oppose redistricting to favor either party. I support a public nonpartisan approach to the process of responding to new information from the census.
10/17/25 7:55 PM	Ms Barbara Fogarty		I am deeply concerned that the current redistricting plan does not accurately reflect the will or interests of your constituents. In my view, the approach taken is both disproportionate and deeply troubling. I urge you to reconsider this course of action in favor of a fairer, more representative process that upholds the principles of democracy.
10/17/25 7:55 PM	patti lewis		NO more redistricting. Instead: do your job and pass a budget.
10/17/25 7:56 PM	Ms. Martha Gillespie		I am opposed to redistricting and gerrymandering. Vote no.
10/17/25 7:56 PM	Dr Chris Cangeleri		This is a raw power grab by shameless Trump sycophants. Republicans know they cannot win in any free & fair election. This cannot stand.
10/17/25 7:56 PM	Ms. Susan Mazzella		It should be illegal to redraw lines except for after the 10 year census. I do not want the lines redrawn just because it will secure another House of Representative seat for Republicans. Democrats have almost no say in North Carolina as it is.
10/17/25 7:57 PM	Mindy Moore		The state of North Carolina is already so heavily gerrymandered that the majority of the population is not properly represented in government. As with many states across the country, they are erasing the voice of the people in order to hold on to power. This is how democracy dies.
10/17/25 7:57 PM	Ms Janice Weeks		Our country is in trouble. North Carolina must stop cheating some of our citizens out of their right to vote. Democrats and Republicans alike need to do what is just and fair. Stop the gerrymandering now!
10/17/25 7:58 PM	Ms. Tracy Lentz		The proposed districting map is ridiculous! As a resident of Guilford County, this proposed map absolutely dilutes my voice and the voters in my community. To paraphrase our governor, I promise to always fight,Ä¶ because voters should choose their representatives not the other way around! I look forward to canvassing to help ensure every voter,Âôs voice in NC is heard.
10/17/25 7:58 PM	Sharron Fieber		There is no situation in which redistricting/ gerrymandering to throw elections, is ethical, moral, or in the best interests of the American people. If you are stupid enough to swallow everything that's coming out of the White House and you think that you want to keep the felon in power, you are deluded.
10/17/25 7:58 PM	Gaye Williams		Frequent and politically motivated redistricting leads voters to believe the system is rigged, lowering confidence and participation. Voters want and deserve a government responsive to their needs.
10/17/25 7:58 PM	Ms Heather Ritchie		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 7:58 PM	Sad that GOP can,Âôt win wi Michael Sykes	Citizen	It is sad that the GOP has decide to redraw these districts not to help the citizens but to serve as a power grab.
10/17/25 7:59 PM	Sharon Harmon		This is a scam to get more GOP votes and I do not support it. This disenfranchises so many people.
10/17/25 7:59 PM	Carolyn Milligan		Reject the plan!
10/17/25 8:00 PM	Erica Briola		Can we, on all sides, quit drawing districts for political gain. Draw districts in a way that are truly fair, reasonable, and make sense. Then let the chips fall as they may. We've over complicated everything for political gain, I think we've lost purpose of democracy across the board - just do the right thing.
10/17/25 8:00 PM	Charles Catotti	NC Voter	This is just wrong. It doesn,Âôt address any of the needs of our state and will just further divide people. We need common ground and this is not how to solve anything.
10/17/25 8:00 PM	Douglas Campbell		Stop the charade! The spineless Republicans in the legislature will heed Jabba the Trump regardless of what anybody says.
10/17/25 8:00 PM	Roseann Ohanian		I strongly oppose the GOP state house cheating to stay in power in North Carolina. This is not how we have a democracy. Every resident of North Carolina deserves their voice be heard and their vote count equally. This kind of map manipulation is cheating and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. If this is passed I will never vote for another republican! Promise!
10/17/25 8:01 PM	Mr David Lintz	LINCO PRODUCTS	If Republicans ever want my vote again, this Gerrymandering must stop now.
10/17/25 8:01 PM	Ms Margaret Thomas		There is no legitimate reason to redistrict right now. The legislature should focus on a budget. I,Âôve lived in NC for 25 years. The people deserve to have their voices heard equally!

10/17/25 8:01 PM	Shaleeah Smith		This is literally the most pointless thing ever! A waste of everyone's time. We get it, the Republicans are bowing down to their king, but like can they actually do their jobs for their actual bosses, their constituents? Quite literally no one asked for this.
10/17/25 8:02 PM	Laura Campbell		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation.
10/17/25 8:02 PM	Redistricting Charles Levy		NC is considered a purple state with relatively close general elections. Electoral maps already skew heavily in favor of one party as indicated by the political imbalance of the state legislature and Congressional seats. Further redistricting to more heavily imbalance representation is not in the best interest in the NC population at large.
10/17/25 8:02 PM	Laurie Smith		The redistricting they are trying to do now isn,Äôt something that,Äôs better for the citizens of North Carolina. It,Äôs only being done to give the edge to the Republicans when it,Äôs time to vote because they know that we are not happy with them and so they aren,Äôt guaranteed the votes. Stop this now!
10/17/25 8:03 PM	Maureen Callahan		No new redistricting vote needed this year. Thank you!
10/17/25 8:03 PM	Ms Kym Whitecar		Republican leadership of the General Assembly is further rigging our North Carolina maps in their favor. Already there are only three Democrats representing North Carolinians to eleven Republicans. Under this new plan, there would be only two Democrats and twelve Republicans in a state which is evenly divided among the two parties and often elects Democrats in statewide races. This is an outrage, and it is designed to deliver an even larger and less representative Republican majority in the US House of Representatives in 2026.
10/17/25 8:03 PM	Ms Barbara Navarro		I am vehemently opposed to the proposed redirecting plan. This is grossly unfair to our state,Äôs citizens.
10/17/25 8:03 PM	Mariah Winslow		This is political gerrymandering plain and simple. I do not agree with the proposed maps as this appears to be a racially motivated move to please the President. Please focus on the issues that actually matter to North Carolinians, like fully funding Medicaid, increasing teacher and state worker pay, and fixing broken systems like the NCDMV.
10/17/25 8:03 PM	Doris Buchanan		I,Äôm opposed to Redistricting for the elections.
10/17/25 8:03 PM	Danielle H		Absolutely not - this is full on gerrymandering, which is extremely divisive.
10/17/25 8:04 PM	Mrs Jakki Whitten		Please. Is this the only way you can win? Let the people of North Carolina decide who they want in office. And back off. Leave our voter rights alone also. Time for Berger to go.
10/17/25 8:04 PM	Rev Karen Kaser-Odor		There is no legal need to use the proposed redistricting plan. It only serves the purpose of proving Republicans do not believe in fairness and the rule of law. You would be livid if Democrats did what you are planning for themselves. The only honest way for redistricting is a non partisan group which uses population not politics. As a NC Voter, I strongly object to your plans.
10/17/25 8:04 PM	Mr Casper Moerck		This gerrymandering has to stop!
10/17/25 8:05 PM	Benjamin Dudley	Individual Citizen	It is ludicrous to devalue voters rights by gerrymandering- a practice with there is bipartisan support against across all social and political lines. There is nothing more corrupt than robbing a citizen of their votes, and I am an independent with a long memory. We demand an independent, nonpartisan redistricting committee draw maps more representative of our constituents instead of this one sided assault on our republic and violating of rights to not be taxed without adequate representation
10/17/25 8:05 PM	Marjorie Dirk		I am opposed to further redistricting of North Carolina. We are certainly gerrymandered enough!!!
10/17/25 8:06 PM	Judith Campbell		I am sick of living in a state where fair cannot describe our districts. God forbid a Democrat be elected to represent the people living there!! Ours is now in the shape of a snake that nips sections known to vote republican and no where near where we live! Not anyone to represent our needs. Here we are in a city being represented by someone far removed in another county. It stinks!!
10/17/25 8:06 PM	Dr Mary Lindsay-Barber		I do not feel that it is appropriate to do redistricting because this will decrease the representation of all North Carolinians . Gerrymandering defiles democracy and does not allow everyone to be properly represented in our government. All citizens deserve to be represented by their senators and representatives.
10/17/25 8:07 PM	Redistrating mid term Jeffrey Fitzgerald		It appears that putting this on the November ballot could avoid the court later ruling it is unlawful.
10/17/25 8:07 PM	Kirsten Robertson		Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. This is wrong, and we all know it.
10/17/25 8:07 PM	Ms Michele Rund		No, no, no , no snd no. We the people are tired of not having representation because we are gerrymandered by Republicans who can only win if they cheat. How about focusing on a budget and Medicare and helping WNC people recover instead of cheating?
10/17/25 8:07 PM	Susanna Soroosh		i am opposed to the gerrymandering designed to favor republican votes. this is shameful.
10/17/25 8:07 PM	Dr. Ashton Trawinski		Living in Forsyth county it is unacceptable how the new lines would divide our community and diminish our voting power. This is a blatant and reckless power grab.
10/17/25 8:08 PM	Amelia Renkert-Thomas		The proposed redistricting promotes purely partisan interests rather than the interests of all North Carolinians and should be opposed.
10/17/25 8:09 PM	Sean Gallagher		This is what I'm submitting: I'm vehemently opposed to this redistricting proposal--and any gerrymandering EVER in North Carolina. Voters' voices and fair voter representation matters, and 85% of North Carolinians also oppose gerrymandering. It is clear that elected officials are pushing through this redistricting proposal to appease Trump, preserve their power, and control the voting outcomes in North Carolina. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around.

10/17/25 8:10 PM	Cheryl Bona		I implore you to reject this redistricting plan. Our state's citizens deserve a transparent, fair process that respects our communities, not a gerrymandered map drawn to cement one party's power. Please do not prioritize the redrawing of maps over addressing real issues like healthcare and inflation. Please do not continue to show that you, OUR elected representatives, are once again showing you care more about partisan power (& billionaires) than about people of this state. We deserve better. We deserve TRUE representation. This power grab will not reward you. Please do not further the erosion of our democracy and our freedom.
10/17/25 8:10 PM	Meredith Randazzo		I am disappointed in the partisan redistricting plan created by our legislature. The goal should be a bipartisan plan that fairly draws districts. Votes should be won by serving the people, not by cheating the system.
10/17/25 8:10 PM	Ms. Susan Mazzella		Mid-cycle redistricting is not based on current factual information, and politically motivated redistricting leads voters to believe the system is rigged, lowering confidence and participation. North Carolina is already rigged by the Republicans, and I am certain that this is costing taxpayers unnecessarily.
10/17/25 8:11 PM	Mrs Michelle Madey		I think that the mere consideration of this action it is absolutely appalling. People in this state deserve and are owed the right to be represented fairly. Redrawing the maps to allow one side of the aisle simply to gain an extra seat denies them that right.
10/17/25 8:11 PM	Shannon McCrory		There is no reason to redraw the districts now, when we don,Äôt have new census information. You need to create a budget before you do anything else. Please prioritize our state, not the demands of a president who is committing illegal and unconstitutional acts regularly.
10/17/25 8:11 PM	Ms Sasha Harrison		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. We need public schools to be fully funded and for teachers to be paid well deserved cost of living raises in addition to covering inflation and being paid competitive wages so that it,Äôs not at the bottom of the pay scale nationally. Let,Äôs do better for our children and those that support them.
10/17/25 8:11 PM	Richard Wooten	Private Citizen	I oppose proposed Congressional redistricting plan. One of the biggest threats to democracy is gerrymandering whether it is done by the R's or D's. Congressional districting should be non-partisan. The current president does not have a national mandate by winning the popular vote by less than 2% of the D vs. R votes; and by winning the total popular vote in NC by just over 2%. The President does not have any business in interfering with North Carolina politics. The NCGA needs to attend to the needs of NC and pass a comprehensive state budget, and not spend tax payer money and time and effort to please the President.
10/17/25 8:12 PM	Dr Erin Compton		Your job is to represent the people of North Carolina not serve your own wants. The districts should represent the will of the people of North Carolina and you know full well these changes are designed to take away a say from a huge number of North Carolinians. You should be ashamed of putting party over state and country.
10/17/25 8:12 PM	Jennifer Johnson		Redistricting for the sole sake of retaining Republican dominance is not representing the people of North Carolina. It is an abuse of power and does not represent a democracy. Please stop making this about us and them. Stop dividing us. Show the States that we can work together.
10/17/25 8:12 PM	Ms Beth Mullenberg		Cheating the people is not serving the people-and just because you can do something doesn,Äôt mean you should. NC is already shamefully gerrymandered-every Republican who votes for this is a traitor to the people who elected them.
10/17/25 8:12 PM	Donna Younts		Stop gerrymandering this state. Berger explicitly stated it was being done to gain one more Republican seat. If you have to cheat to win a seat, you shouldn,Äôt be in office. This is why we are so divided as a country. This Independent will certainly not be supporting any Republican in the next election.
10/17/25 8:13 PM	Opal Reinberg		Please, do not redistrict and/or gerrymander our votes. If you are doing all the right things for our state, then you would need to do this. Focus on the state budget. Thank you for time.
10/17/25 8:13 PM	You can't steal my vote Carla C		I refuse to allow you to steal any more of my rights. We don't need our country run by a dictator, much less a convicted felon and a serial rapist. Stop the steal. NOW!
10/17/25 8:14 PM	Christa Kirk	NC citizen	No to redistricting! Thank you.
10/17/25 8:15 PM	Thomasina Whitley		Stealing the election!. You can't play fair and afraid to lose so you take this "legal" way out to steal the election as you claim the Democrats do. PLAY FAIR
10/17/25 8:15 PM	Christa Kirk	NC concerned citizen	No to redistricting! Thank you.
10/17/25 8:16 PM	Kimberly Richard		Elected officials are working for their constituents. They should allow votes to carry the power to speak for the people. Manipulating the districts to forcibly maintain political control is a disgrace. Gerrymandering the districts is unacceptable.
10/17/25 8:16 PM	Rebecca Scott		Taxation without representation! Are you so afraid of losing in 2026 you have to cheat? Stop the lying and cheating and start earning your paycheck by representing your constituents, not your orange clown. Release the files!!
10/17/25 8:16 PM	Dan Scanga		NC is nearly 50/50 R/D. This move to make our Congressional delegation 11/3 is extremely unpopular, even among registered Republicans. Get and maintain power through popular policies, not gerrymandering. Voters should be able to choose their representatives, not the other way around.
10/17/25 8:16 PM	Don't Serenity Richards		Unless you are planning on redistricting in a fair, unbiased, and politically neutral manner, don't. And instead of wasting time and money on this political theatre, how about you pass a budget?

10/17/25 8:16 PM	Jessica Bannister	Lawmakers were entrusted to serve the people, not a party or individual leader. Redrawing districts for partisan gain betrays that trust. The North Carolina legislature must get back to doing the people,Äôs work,Äînot bowing to party pressures that exploit and betray North Carolinians.
10/17/25 8:17 PM	Kristen Morrone	This map is a shameless power grab. they do not have my support or the support of those in my household. The only new maps we need are totally independent maps
10/17/25 8:17 PM	Dr Emily Engel	Hello, I'm a constituent in 28079, voter and business owner. I STRONGLY oppose the new redistricting maps and continued attempts at gerrymandering. We are all better when ALL voices are represented. We see what the GOP is doing and we will vote them out if they keep playing games with democracy. Vote NO. Thank you, Dr Emily Engel
10/17/25 8:18 PM	Miriam Leiva	NC is already gerrymandered to the hilt. The only redistricting I am in favor of is one that is recommended by a NON-partisan committee/organization and more fairly, logically and equitably distributes our votes. I would also approve of requiring any future redistricting to also go through a non-partisan review/organization. Any redistricting to further favor the GOP (to which we are already skewed) is disingenuous, disrespectful and should be illegal.
10/17/25 8:18 PM	Corey Cavalier	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 8:19 PM	Mr. Ernesto Rivas	Courts should strike gerrymandering down nationwide, allowing the true voice of the people to decide who they want to represent them. Politics is not a game to stack the deck against your opponent. If lawmakers have an ounce of integrity in their bones, they know this proposal is wrong, and this proposal will be cancelled. Let the TRUE voice of the people speak in their districts, without any tampering.
10/17/25 8:19 PM	Mrs Sandra Dangler	Please do not allow this continued gerrymandering. Cheating to win elections and silence our voices is NOT democratic.
10/17/25 8:20 PM	Jennifer Goforth	This is shameful attempt at a power grab. Phil Berger and other state Republicans need to pass a state budget and give teachers raises instead of trying to pad congress for a convicted felon. You care more about yourselves than the constituents you serve! Your motto is if you can,Äôt win, cheat!
10/17/25 8:20 PM	Ms Sonia Benitez	I do not want the districts redrawn. It is not called for since no census was done to warrant it be redrawn. This is illegally done
10/17/25 8:20 PM	Lauren Huff	Please don,Äôt pass these partisan maps. If new maps are to be redrawn it should be done by an independent group, such that our representation matches our votes and views.
10/17/25 8:20 PM	Cynthia Taylor	This partisan gerrymandering has got to stop! Don't rig our elections to that people's voices can't be heard. Our congressional maps should be a fair reflection of the mix of people and opinions in our state.
10/17/25 8:20 PM	Freda Field	An Affront to the Constitution The U.S. Constitution was structured to protect minority rights and purposely designed to prevent majority tyranny. In North Carolina, the GOP continues to violate the rights of minorities to participate in government, to vote, and to elect representatives to the seats of power that reflect their views. They do this under the false pretense of ,Äúvoter security.,Äù When a law deters, dejects, or hinders far more legitimate voters than it finds in the scant cases of illegal voting, it,Äôs obvious what the law is really designed for. Not only do they enact policies that make it selectively harder for poor and minority citizens to vote, they gerrymander voters into districts to win their seats in both state and federal congressional districts. This is a comment made recently by Phil Berger, the current Senate leader in the North Carolina legislature. He wrote on X that the General Assembly ,Äúis ready to help Republicans secure Congress and move @realDonaldTrump,Äôs agenda forward!,Äù This means they choose which bodies go in which district so they can rig the elections for themselves. It is an especially egregious act when they crack, pack, or hijack the minority vote. They unethically move the votes of the minority into districts where they can use their body count to pass laws that are not in their best interest. The U.S. Constitution was structured to protect minority rights and purposely designed to prevent majority tyranny. What the North Carolina GOP is orchestrating is an affront to the Constitution on both accounts. They,Äôre trampling on minority rights in order to create a tyrannous majority.

10/17/25 8:23 PM	Marilyn Sullivan		What the Republicans are trying to do is unconscionable. You are intent on rigging the system to silence the rights of constituents who deserve fair representation . You are only doing this because Trump is making you. Might I remind you that you work for the people who elected you NOT the President.
10/17/25 8:23 PM	Absolutely not. Alexandra LaLiberte		No. No. No. That's all.
10/17/25 8:23 PM	Rev. John Goforth		This is a shameful attempt to take power away from the voting public,Äîstop trying to legally rig elections!
10/17/25 8:23 PM	Anne Hartley		I oppose this redistricting plan that the Republicans are pushing to manipulate votes. Wrong!!
10/17/25 8:23 PM	Mrs ShellB Bryant		Go back to the FAIR maps we had for all of a year. At a MINIMUM pass a budget and do your jobs before cheating. This is cowardice and corruption.
10/17/25 8:24 PM	Lauren Mallard		I am strongly against the new congressional map that is being drawn. I think it is a great dereliction of duty as a legislative branch for all people to pick who you want to be in congress instead of leaving it to the people of this great state to decide who they want representing them. It is of my opinion instead of doing this silly thing y,Äôall could just do your job and pass a budget for the state; you know the budget that was supposed to be done months ago and is way past due. You should do that instead of taking the power away from the people.
10/17/25 8:24 PM	Laura Collander		Stop cheating- you represent us! Do you jobs fair and square.
10/17/25 8:24 PM	Redistricting AGAIN Jennifer Weir	None	I am against the gerrymandering taking place to gain another republican seat because Trump has requested this. This is not at all what we should be doing to have representatives for all North Carolinians. This is again not follow the guidance of every 10 years.
10/17/25 8:24 PM	Richard Kay		The proposed map is unconscionable. Like it or not, North Carolina is a very purple state, approaching near 50/50 red and blue and this new map does not reflect that at all. Its a shameful attempt at gerrymandering.
10/17/25 8:25 PM	Suzy Barile		NO GERRYMANDERING!
10/17/25 8:25 PM	Daniel L		The new redisticting map is insanely inaccurate, illegal and severely gerrymandered. Those of you who support this and vote for it are despicable and are NOT representing your constituents OR NC. Shame on you!
10/17/25 8:26 PM	Save Democracy Jennifer Hofstad		This is obviously unfair to divide counties due to strong democratic vote in the city. Guilford County is divided 3 ways to disperse the urban vote through the rural areas.
10/17/25 8:26 PM	Barbara Zigah		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps appear to reflect blatant partisan gerrymandering that undermines the principle of fair and equal representation. Rather than creating districts that reflect the political and demographic realities of our state, these maps are drawn in a way that entrenches political power and silences the voices of many communities,Äîparticularly urban residents, young people, and communities of color. While some may argue that similar tactics have been used in the past or are happening in other states, that does not make it acceptable,Äînor does it justify repeating those mistakes. North Carolina should strive to be a model for fair, transparent, and democratic governance. We have the opportunity to set a higher standard, not perpetuate a race to the bottom. Allowing this kind of redistricting to stand only deepens public mistrust in our democratic institutions and further alienates voters from the political process. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. I urge decision-makers to reject these maps and commit to a redistricting process that is nonpartisan, transparent, and accountable to the people of North Carolina,Äînot to political interests.
10/17/25 8:26 PM	B W		The Republican power grab and insatiable need to control everyone and everything in this state is ridiculous. They do not represent the majority of this state and only represent those who fill their pockets or to control/limit minorities. A single county should not be split into 3-4+ districts to dilute the power and will of those residents who live there and pay taxes.
10/17/25 8:27 PM	Mrs Katherine Shannon		If you don,Äôt believe in democracy you shouldn,Äôt be pretending you represent the citizens of NC.
10/17/25 8:27 PM	Barbara Szombatfalvy		The plans for redistricting are morally and ethically wrong! The Republicans have admitted that they are motivated by pleasing Trump and winning another seat. This is not about better representation for North Carolinians. Republicans should hang their heads in shame.
10/17/25 8:27 PM	Mr Phil Langley	Working class native North Carolinian	Is the North Carolina Republican Party seriously considering redistricting the already gerrymandered districts? Why don't you all spend your time working for the people of North Carolina who actually pay you to work for them. The President has enough billionaires paying his way, unless if course they've bought you folks too.
10/17/25 8:27 PM	Lauren Barwick		Why have you decided to redraw congressional district maps for the FOURTH time in SIX years? Redrawing congressional maps should only happen once every 10 years with the census, per the law. You have broken and are breaking the law. Again. Act like an adult and stop this petty game. Gerrymandering is NOT what North Carolinians voted for.
10/17/25 8:29 PM	Diane Porterfield		We are already consideread one of the most heavily gerrymandered states in the USA. Gerrymandering has always been wrong as it takes the power away from the voters. When states allow their citizens to vote if they would prefer a nonpartisan committee to draw the maps, it always passes. Do not continue this attack on our voter rights by further redistricting, especially not after a census! Instead let the people vote on whether to allow nonpartisan committees to draw the maps. The legislature works for us, not President Trump.
10/17/25 8:29 PM	John Wrenn		North Carolina is a highly competitive state but with your republican gerrymander you try to silence voters, and what you are doing with District One is so wrong. Where are your priorities? You can,Äôt vote on a budget but you have time for this? And what does it cost NC taxpayers on top of our vote - our democratic republic? Our healthcare? Our breathable air and drinking water? Our beautiful state? Our livelihoods? Why on earth do you think this is okay? People have a right to have their votes count in this country.
10/17/25 8:29 PM	Mrs Shelly Furr		No redistributing!!

10/17/25 8:29 PM	Rebecca Surendra		I do NOT agree with this plan. This redistricting would interfere with Democratic voters like myself. Please don,Äôt suppress our votes!
10/17/25 8:31 PM	Mrs Brittani Parsons		The latest redrawing of North Carolina's congressional and state legislative districts occurred on October 25, 2023. These new maps were used for the 2024 elections. There has been growth, but not enough growth to signify drawing new districts currently. If this is genuinely what Destin Hall believed the people of NC wanted, he wouldn,Äôt be afraid to put it to a public vote. Destin, instead of representing his district is representing the President.
10/17/25 8:32 PM	Ms Leslie Collier		Both Democrats and republicans need to get there hands off the voting maps. A third party bipartisan committee needs to do the maps, let We the People have our say and then they shouldn't have to be touched until after the next census.
10/17/25 8:32 PM	Sheryl McGavin		No redistricting at this time. The reason is clearly inappropriate and no changes should be made until laws/rules against gerrymandering are in place and an independent commission established. Again, I oppose the proposed changes.
10/17/25 8:32 PM	Ms Bonnie Bell		I am sick and tired of your shenanigans to thwart democracy, to gerrymander our districts, and to attempt to steal equal, fair and appropriate representation for all. Map drawing should not be in the hands of partisan legislatures and should be put into the hands of a balanced commission of everyday citizens. I hope you will put aside partisan ship and support true Democratic reform . Voters across North Carolina from all parties want fair non-partisan maps that respect their rights and voices
10/17/25 8:32 PM	Mrs Shelly Phillips-Dean		I profusely oppose redistricting the voting map of North Carolina - again. The fact that this is the 5th time in 6 years lets the public know that the GOP knows they can not win unless they cheat. NC is a 50/50 state and we deserve to have our voices heard and our votes counted. History will not look favorably upon you.
10/17/25 8:33 PM	ms Rose Bevington		North Carolina already has heavily gerrymandered maps where Republicans win more than 50% of the time. Further redrawing would increase the partisan advantage and cement control, despite prior court rulings and critiques of bias. Courts have found North Carolina's maps to be among the most gerrymandered and partisan in the nation, with rulings highlighting extreme partisan advantage and, at times, racial gerrymandering concerns. Republicans can't win without gerrymandering. If we had Fair Maps you would never win again.
10/17/25 8:33 PM	Allison Bell		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 8:34 PM	Ms Louise Carpenter		Government administrations come and go but the people remain. In 2028, we will all still require quality healthcare, medicine, jobs and education. We will all still need affordable housing, water, electricity and groceries. How likely it will be that our current government tackles these issues remains a point of much debate. Across the country, gerrymandering not only continues, but it is warping NC government to a point where our elected officials cannot even produce a budget, hence schools are suffering, physicians and hospital administrators are forewarning of many rural hospital closures. California is currently embracing Prop 50 to enact a congressional map that helps Democrats gain seats in government to fight the imbalance currently created by Republican gerrymandering. With this focus on getting a fair balance of representatives across the parties, the needs of the many are not being met, nor does it look like they will be addressed before the 2026 elections! If this current situation continues, elections will be won with very little consensus required. Viewpoints will continue to be fractured until a tipping point amongst the people of the land is reached. We need critical thinking and decision making that brings the checks and balances back. Our country has relied upon this delicate balance for almost 250 years now. Our forefathers envisioned a government built on the consent of the governed and not merely built on the consent of the governing.
10/17/25 8:34 PM	Rev. S L	UMC	This is shameful and takes away people's voice and power. We are still a democracy, the people have the power to use their voices. Do not take that away.
10/17/25 8:34 PM	Kevin Flynn		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 8:34 PM	Julia Nelson		I vehemently oppose this blatant attempt to once again disenfranchise voters in NC. This brazen attempt to brown-nose the occupant of the White House is absolutely unconscionable. How dare you.
10/17/25 8:34 PM	Elizabeth Medeiros		I DISAGREE with the gerrymandering of maps once again. STOP doing it!!
10/17/25 8:35 PM	Mrs Karen Cameron		Please reconsider moving the lines for voting districts. There is no reason to do this other than deny Democrats a chance to win a seat,

10/17/25 8:35 PM	John Royal	North Carolina voters will not forget the GOP trying to cowardly, undemocratically gerrymander NC in exchange for an endorsement from the most unpopular President in history. When you're forced to steal power, because you can't win without rigging an election, you confess to not wielding it legitimately.
10/17/25 8:36 PM	Adam Foggia	When you are attempting to give 79% of the representation to approximately 47% of the party-affiliated registered voters, you do not represent the people of North Carolina.
10/17/25 8:36 PM	Milner Grimsled	I believe to allow partisan redistricting at the request of Republicans (to please President Trump) is both dishonest and cowardly. If Republicans fear losing their majority in Congress (and in the NC Legislator) maybe they should change their policies to align with their voters and grow a spineto stand up to President Trump .
10/17/25 8:38 PM	Jon Todd	I honestly cannot believe just how craven and irresponsible the Republicans in the NC General Assembly have become. Months after the deadline, not only have you not passed a state budget, (your primary job!) you have set up a quid pro quo arrangement with the Trump administration to redraw our already incredibly gerrymandered districts to make them even more gerrymandered and disenfranchise even more North Carolinians. You should all be ashamed of yourselves! You all have done absolutely nothing to help the people of North Carolina. All you have done is enrich yourselves and your friends at the expense of working North Carolinians. Someday soon, however, you will be held accountable for your crimes. When we can get a DA in Wake County with the courage to stand up against the rampant corruption in our General Assembly you will face criminal prosecution. Your free ride will come to an end and sooner than you think. I can,Äôt wait to watch all your trials on the nightly news. I,Äôll bring the popcorn .
10/17/25 8:38 PM	Gregory Collins	Stop this gerrymandering to only appease Trump and guarantee Republican control. Eventually there will be no need for elections. Oh, but that is probably what you are trying to accomplish. An independent third party, non-partisan group should draw the districts.
10/17/25 8:38 PM	Madison Chenoweth	I am opposed to this redistricting. This is harmful to voters and their rights. Maps should be drawn fairly and accurately represent the states population. Also, there should be input from the states,Äôs constituency. This is a blatant power grab. If you have to try and win by stealing voting access from citizens, then have better policies and legislation. This is wrong and y'all know it.
10/17/25 8:39 PM	Melissa Hambleton	Dear leaders of NC, I'm not even a democrat and can see how corrupt this redistricting is to democracy. Please just stop. Discourse, sharing ideas, different perspectives-- this is what makes our country strong. You are turning away from what your constituents want - so that you can force a republican hand forever more. You do this while not creating a budget, leaving public servants hanging, just so you can ensure republicans can always have the upper hand. I am ashamed of each of you pushing for this. How incredibly selfish you are. - Melissa Hambleton
10/17/25 8:39 PM	Carol Lolley-Harris	Do not try to silence people and bow to Trump. This obvious power grab is an offense to the people of NC and the oath of office you all took. Do the decent and lawful thing, stop trying to disenfranchise the human being you are supposed to be serving. Where is your integrity? Where is your honor? Your actions will be your legacy.
10/17/25 8:39 PM	Matthew Clayton	This is the fourth or fifth congressional map our state has seen in the past 9 years. As Republicans have controlled our state legislature for 15 years,Âî not because the majority of voters are Republican or lean Republican, but because state legislators have rigged our maps to keep their power. Not only have Republicans have pilfered our state coffers and engaging in brazenly unconstitutional behavior by the current state Senate leader Phil Berger, but former state House leader and current Congressman Tim Moore as well as Destin Hall. Even the Republican controlled NC judicial system is now a political arm of the NC GOP because Phil Berger wants them to. NC voters don,Äôt want their elected representatives doing the bidding of an unpopular and credibly accused sexual predator in the White Office. Voters want their elected representatives state government to help lower the cost of food and services and whether their jobs are secure, not GOP ass kissers. Voters aren,Äôt stupid and come 2028, the GOP majority in the NC Supreme Court goes sayonara. And once that happens, we will get fair representation and less corruption perpetuated by the current state leaders.
10/17/25 8:40 PM	Mr. Richard Partridge	Totally disgusting and completely corrupt! That describes the actions of the Republicans in control of the NCGA who are once again thwarting the will of the majority of North Carolinians by further gerrymandering a state that is THE most gerrymandered state in the country.

10/17/25 8:40 PM	100% FOR REDISTRICTING! Troy Lee		Democrats for decades have gerrymandered districts to gain power. They even took seats away from the GOP in the last Census. Democrats always do shady things, then cry foul when they get a taste of their own medicine ("...accuse your political opponents of that in which you are guilty...." the Democrats' "god" Karl Marx). The only difference is that the new North Carolina district map is evenly distributed. Democrat states' districts look like a pit of vipers. Democrats, like the cultural Marxist (aka "woke") governor of North Carolina, Josh Stein, are just upset that their voting power is rightfully being deported (Democrats opened the borders to gain more districts and electoral votes) and that racist maps and cheating gerrymandered maps are being redrawn. Every week the un-American Democrats are freaking out about something. They shut down the govt instead of passing a clean CR and debating the issues. They push men in women's sports. They put illegals and criminals above citizens. And no, most illegals do not pay taxes. Illegals get paid cash and they send the money they make back to their home countries. Illegals also get "free" taxpayer funded healthcare, while citizens and veterans are in the streets.....I see both every day/week....that's what Democrats want bc they want their bodies for the census count to get more districts, which gives them more electoral votes....that's what all this freakout over redistricting and illegals is all about....power. Democrats don't care about the country. Their communist wing has taken over and they put party over country. They're mad bc our original founding is finally being brought back to reality and the era of big govt, illegals and criminals first, and not being able to spend outrageous amounts of money on things like "lgbtq(plusminus+rewardsxyzetc.etc.) 'democray' in Ghana". (yes, that's an actual proposal in the Democrats CR)!! No, Democrats, we're finally fighting back. Just compare Democrat States' districts to Republican States' districts. In Massachusetts, Republicans have zero representation. Look at Illinois. It's district map is atrocious!! Again democrats are just mad (what else is new?) bc they're losing power. They're losing voters (4.5 million voter swing in 1 year alone to the GOP). They're losing their districts bc Republicans are finally fighting back and illegals are rightfully being deported. The Democrats haven't been this angry, with their blind hatred from their TDS, since Republicans freed the slaves and passed the Civil Rights Act! The Democrats only emotion is anger. They scream "dEmOcRaCy Is BeInG tHrEaTeNeD," unless it's what they want. They don't care about "dEmOcRaCy". Besides, we're a Constitutional Republic, not a "dEmOcRaCy". There's a huge difference. Our genius Founding Fathers loathed "dEmOcRaCy," and rightfully so! "dEmOcRaCy" is where 50.01% can trample all over the 49.99%. Remember when Democrats wanted to end the filibuster in the Senate? They hate the Constitution. In fact, Republicans before each new session, invite all congressional members to read the Constitution. No Democrats ever attend bc they say, "that's a right wing thing". They claim the Constitution is a "right wing thing." So, whenever they yell out, "b..b..but the Constitution!" Just know they're completely ignorant of it and hate it. They have no
10/17/25 8:40 PM	Mrs Gloria Spence	Retired	We do not need to redistrict at this point.
10/17/25 8:40 PM	Alishia Jones		Dear Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I am writing to express my profound disagreement and deep concern regarding the proposed redistricting efforts currently under consideration. As you know, North Carolina has been one of the most gerrymandered states in the nation. It is my strong belief that if district maps need to be redrawn, they must be done in a fair and equitable manner that gives both parties the opportunity to win based on merit rather than on manipulated boundaries. Gerrymandering for partisan gain not only disenfranchises regular voters but also erodes public trust in our democratic institutions. It sends a troubling message that elected officials prefer rigging the rules to secure their own success, rather than earning support through genuine, fair competition. I urge you to consider how harmful this kind of gerrymandering is to the general public. When voters feel their voices no longer matter, it weakens our entire system of governance and excludes the very people you are meant to represent. Our state deserves a redistricting process that is transparent and respects the principle of equal representation, ensuring every citizen,Äôs vote truly counts. Thank you for your attention to this critical issue. Sincerely, Alishia Jones
10/17/25 8:43 PM	Mrs. Luann Nigrelli		I strongly oppose this Sixth redistricting in 5 years. The Super Majority of the Republican Party is literally stealing votes in another attempt to rig any upcoming elections by gerrymandering NC to death by obliterating any voice or representation of people of color in the State of NC.
10/17/25 8:43 PM	S Smith		Absolutely not!! NO! NO! This state is already completely gerrymandered. Republicans control it all. Cheat and take away the little independents and dems have and people will lose their minds.
10/17/25 8:43 PM	Dr. Patrick Hester		Don,Äôt mess with our districts. What you are attempting to do is absurd and unbalanced. Leave them be or use a non-partisan group to determine appropriate districts.
10/17/25 8:44 PM	Mrs. Rachael Woodard		I wholeheartedly oppose the redistricting of North Carolina. It is already gerrymandered heavily in favor of one party. We need fair elections and fair representation, not cheating.

10/17/25 8:44 PM	Rev. Betty Berghaus	Select...Retired	Please do not redistrict our voting districts so that they give the advantage to Republicans. This shows mainly that you fear you cannot get elected with the policies the party is enacting. A better approach would be to have policies that the people who elect our officials approve, don't you think? Please do the decent thing, and allow the process to be for the people and by the people. Thank you.
10/17/25 8:44 PM	Emily Spencer		This is the most un-American nonsense I have ever experienced, what is happening in the 'United' states right now. I have never been against the Republican party, I have always found merit on both sides of the political spectrum, always have known that the majority of Americans lie somewhere in the middle of that spectrum. But this. This nonsense is not the Republican party. It is a sign of weakness and submission to a would-be-king. If you do this, if you redistrict in this way, a way that completely negates the foundation of a free and just democracy--you are not just damning the Republican party to the history books of why America fails apart, into a dead democracy filled with events of historical waves of violence and emigration and trauma. America will never recover. Never recover from the fissures Donald Trump has forced into our populace and our branches of government. Open your eyes and realize you will be recorded as not just complicit but aiding. Think of the Nuremberg trials. Think of the December Days of France. Are you willing to be on that disgusting moral void of history for our once beautiful country?
10/17/25 8:44 PM	Maura Ayres		As a North Carolina resident and voter, I am deeply concerned about the decision to undertake another round of redistricting just two years after the last maps were approved. Redistricting should reflect population change and community representation, not political advantage. Mid-decade map drawing erodes public trust and fuels the perception that districts are being manipulated to favor one party, rather than drawn to ensure fair and competitive elections. The State Senate,Äôs choice to revisit these maps, without any meaningful population shifts since the 2020 Census, raises important questions about motive and transparency. North Carolina,Äôs voters deserve a process that is open, data-driven, and inclusive of public input. When maps are drawn behind closed doors, citizens lose confidence that their voices and communities are fairly represented. Fair maps strengthen democracy. They create competition, accountability, and incentive for elected officials to serve all constituents, not just those in safe districts. I urge the General Assembly to prioritize compactness, contiguity, and preservation of existing communities of interest. These principles ensure that representation aligns with real neighborhoods and shared concerns, rather than partisan boundaries. Finally, I ask that any redistricting discussions be held publicly, with proposed maps released for review and comment before any votes are taken. North Carolinians have seen the cost, financially and socially, of unfair maps and the ongoing legal battles disputing them. We deserve a process that prioritizes fairness, transparency, and the integrity of our democracy above political gamesmanship. Respectfully submitted, Maura Ayres Huntersville, North Carolina
10/17/25 8:44 PM	SHANNONA CHARLES		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 8:44 PM	Ms Sandra Green		No elite restriction. I do not agree with gerrymandering nor this rampant racism.
10/17/25 8:44 PM	Ms Mary Young		I think that gerrymandering is an abuse of our tights to vote in a democracy.
10/17/25 8:44 PM	Michelle Coburn		This is nothing but gerrymandering at its worst. This is NOT democracy, you are overriding the will of the people.
10/17/25 8:45 PM	Rita Spiker		This is totally unacceptable. What are the Republicans afraid of.

10/17/25 8:46 PM	Carolyn Jones	Dear Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I am writing to share my serious concerns and disagreement about the current redistricting proposals. North Carolina has long struggled with gerrymandering, and I firmly believe that any new district maps should be created fairly and equally. The process should ensure that all parties have a genuine chance to win based on their qualities, not on altered district lines. Partisan gerrymandering takes away the voices of ordinary voters and also weakens faith in democratic systems. It suggests that politicians would rather manipulate election boundaries for their own benefit than win votes through honest and fair contests. DO NOT MOVE FORWARD WITH THIS PROCESS!
10/17/25 8:46 PM	Lauren Bennett	I absolutely oppose the proposed changes to the Congressional district plan. Not only is it an unjustified change, it doesn,Äôt represent the will of the people of North Carolina. Around 80% of voters in that state oppose gerrymandering maps to aid a party, and this is a blatant attempt at that in the eyes of NC residents. Moving from a 7-7 split a few years ago to what is being proposed now is a clear action of ignoring what NC voters want. This map should not move forward.
10/17/25 8:46 PM	Ellen Allred	No! Why don,Äôt you concentrate on the budget and not try to jam this through. We already control most of the state anyway. Don,Äôt let those dems be able to stay we cheated.
10/17/25 8:46 PM	Angela Thurmond	Hello, I am a north carolina resident and I,Äôm strongly against the new redistricting plan. It,Äôs clear that the goal isn,Äôt fair representation, it,Äôs to give one political party more power. It,Äôs especially upsetting to hear that Republican leaders are doing this just because the president told them to. That,Äôs not how democracy should work. People deserve to have their voices heard, not ignored or split apart by unfair district lines. Please stop the gerrymandering and draw fair maps that represent everyone in our state.
10/17/25 8:46 PM	Gina Shell	I am opposed to this mid decade restricting. Please do the work of representing the people of North Carolina and pass a budget that protects the vulnerable and grants raises to state employees, teachers, and retirees.
10/17/25 8:47 PM	No to gerrymandering Andrew Busam	I,Äôm a NC native and current resident. We need fair representation in the legislature. Do not gerrymander our state to skew representation towards one party.
10/17/25 8:47 PM	Christopher Yogodzinski	This map is gerrymandering representation away from non-republican voters. It should be illegal and anyone pushing this should be ashamed and they should resign.
10/17/25 8:47 PM	Mr. Charlie Rawls	At a time when we don't have a budget passed for the next year and many in the West are still struggling mightily to recover from the devastation wrought by Helene without much of the help promised by the US Government these should be the priorities of the General Assembly rather than an ill-advised partisan ploy to engage in gerrymandering five years away from the next census just to cement the power of the ruling Party. What you may be forgetting is that, in the future, if disgust at the actions or inaction of this Party causes a massive enough swing away from the GOP that the next Members seated may use the very same tactic to cement their control for years to come. You were elected to represent the citizens of your districts and uphold the spirit and letter of our constitution. This blatantly partisan maneuver does neither.
10/17/25 8:47 PM	Barry S	The congressional leaning of this map would make NC appear to be a deep red state when it is not. Make the lines fair and compete for voters.
10/17/25 8:48 PM	Valeria Jones	Dear Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I am strongly opposed to the current redistricting proposals. Fair district maps are essential to ensure all parties compete honestly, without manipulated boundaries. Partisan gerrymandering silences voters and undermines trust in democracy. Please reconsider this process.
10/17/25 8:48 PM	Lisa Stallings	Voters are meant to choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. The intention of the General Assembly to rig the district maps in favor of one party is despicable and indefensible. If you can,Äôt win without cheating, you don,Äôt deserve to win. And remember that a precedent is being set. Tactics used by you now can be used against you in the future.
10/17/25 8:48 PM	Melissa Raymer	Leave the districts alone. Reset them in a bipartisan way, where the people choose their representatives. You work for us, listen to the people. Thank you.
10/17/25 8:48 PM	Citizen of NC Kathy Cashion	Free voting in a democracy means the people choose the person in office, not the other way around. Quit redrawing maps in an attempt to force your party,Äôs win and let the people vote fairly, freely and honestly. Sheesh, you shouldn,Äôt have to be reminded of this.
10/17/25 8:48 PM	Annette Cloos	North Carolina needs to be a shining example of voting integrity. These newest attempts to gerrymander our voting districts are shameful and not what the citizens of NC desire. Do not proceed with disenfranchising North Carolinians.

10/17/25 8:49 PM	Ginger Sermons	North Carolina Retired School Personnel, Education chair Catawba Valley Indivisible, Catawba Retired School Personnel	This is not a census year! Do not redraw lines. Follow the rules, laws, Constitution.. Do the right thing PLEASE!
10/17/25 8:49 PM	Ms Angelia Espinoza		This is blatant disenfranchisement of minority voters and the intention is not for Fair Representation but as stated by Phil Berger, my representative, an attempt to ‚Äúprotect Donald Trumps agenda‚Äù. Many who voted for Trump have now seen that they made a mistake, they know better and want to do better to limit his abuse of power but this will take away their Voices. I strongly oppose this gerrymandering and am registering this opposition with my representatives!
10/17/25 8:49 PM	Dr Michale Sullivan	CarolinaEast	The redistricting plan is an obvious lot to disenfranchise a large number of North Carolinians and completely unnecessary
10/17/25 8:49 PM	Susan Beauregard		How do we fix this?
10/17/25 8:49 PM	Mr. Brian Kurtz	Myself	As a proud North Carolinain, and teacher in this great state, I must ask, "How am I supposed to teach with pride about what North Carolina has historically stood for freedom?" We were the first to declare independence in 1775, the first to demand a Bill of Rights in our Constitution, and the First in Flight! But now we must continue to disenfranchise more people for what? Suffocating people's freedom for what? Is it because if elections were fair, there would be a true representation of the people of this state? Is it because the hard republican parts of our state completely rely on the democratic centers of our state and that terrifies you? Is it that you desire to rule over all of humble North Carolinains like fuedal lords? Or slave masters? Why must to continue to silence the voices of your suffering neighbors? Why do you feel the need to drive down the standard of living, level of support and care, healthcare, education, and WAGES of North Carolinaians? Is gerrymandering the map the only to achieve these goals? If so, then just say it. Tell us the real truth, dont lie. If we decide to go along with this, then at least do it by saying it loud and clear! Stop hiding your intent, and just tell us what we all know, yall are fascists!
10/17/25 8:49 PM	Katie Miller		No one wants redistricting. If you can't win by your own policies or views then maybe it's time to poll your people to see what they desire to make their lives better.
10/17/25 8:49 PM	Dr Melissa Garrett		This is ridiculous. If your policies are not enough to get you elected, just cheat? North Carolina is already so gerrymandered that is is frankly embarrassing. Stop this madness
10/17/25 8:50 PM	Samantha Croft		Stop gerrymandering! Everyone deserves representation and you don‚Äôt get fair and honest representation with gerrymandering!
10/17/25 8:50 PM	Minette Brownlee		The Republicans are so desperate to win they want to cheat by redistricting. This is outrageous! Haven‚Äôt they done enough harm to the country in less than a year?
10/17/25 8:50 PM	Anna Baird		I am appalled by this blatant power grab by the NC Republican Party / you can‚Äôt win elections on the merits so you are shamelessly gerrymandering districts to manipulate voting districts in your favor - have you no shame?
10/17/25 8:50 PM	Melissa Horrigan		Comment submitted. If someone is not sure what to say, here is what I wrote: I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 8:50 PM	Mr Jon Mathison		Can you explain the need for redistricting?

10/17/25 8:51 PM	Melissa Horrigan		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. 10/17/25 8:51 PM	ms Terry Wilson	twilight honey	Stop!! leave the maps alone! It will backfire on you!
10/17/25 8:51 PM	Ryan Carroll		Stop the power grab and let the voters choose their representatives, not the other way around!
10/17/25 8:52 PM	Patrick Horrigan		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 8:52 PM	Yonatan Belayhun		This takes away representation from other NC people. This is not only unfair but rigged to make sure peoples voices are being slowly taken away.
10/17/25 8:53 PM	Caitlyn Jones		I am opposed to the current redistricting proposals. North Carolina has faced gerrymandering for years, and new district maps should be fair and give all parties an equal chance to compete. Gerrymandering harms public trust and weakens our democracy by discouraging voter participation. Please support a transparent, equitable redistricting process that respects every citizen,Äôs vote.
10/17/25 8:53 PM	Dr. Carol Martin		To the Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I write to strongly condemn the announced plan by Republican legislative leaders to once again redraw North Carolina,Äôs U.S. House district map ,Äî a move that is not only unnecessary, but transparently undemocratic. This action represents a disturbing escalation in the partisan manipulation of our state,Äôs electoral boundaries, coming just one year after a redistricting effort that already secured a disproportionate 10 of 14 congressional seats for the GOP. Now, by targeting the only remaining competitive district ,Äî North Carolina,Äôs 1st ,Äî legislative leaders aim to extinguish even the appearance of fairness, balance, or voter choice in our federal representation. The people of North Carolina deserve competitive elections, not politically engineered outcomes. Redrawing maps mid-decade, not in response to population changes but in obedience to a national party directive ,Äî particularly one spearheaded by the president openly calling for the nullification of opposing party influence ,Äî is a direct affront to democratic values and the principle of representative government. This is not redistricting. This is rigging. You do not make America great again by cheating. Respectfully submitted and thank you for consideration of my comments.
10/17/25 8:53 PM	Trevor Martin		This proposed redistricting map is a travesty. It aims to subvert the will of the majority of the voters of this state. It is a craven, dishonorable plan for Republicans to choose their voters rather than allow the voters to fairly choose their elected officials. Any one with even a shred of decency would readily and soundly reject this gerrymandering proposal.
10/17/25 8:53 PM	Stop gerrymandering Brianna Smith		It is unethical, immoral and downright sinister to redraw the congressional districts to favor the Republican Party. Your jobs are to represent the people of the state of North Carolina, not to adjust the districts so the republicans can maintain power. If this is allowed to happen, I wish only despair and suffering for those who benefit from the cheating of the system and who continue to ignore the needs of the people of this state.
10/17/25 8:53 PM	Barbara Andersen		This is an abomination against our great democratic nation that shiuld allow representation by all. How anyone thinks this is fair is beyond any comprehension. I am registering my sincere distaste and distrust of the current administration which causes so many people to have concerns for the survival of democracy
10/17/25 8:53 PM	Mrs. Lakisha Flood-Scott	Enfield-Roanoke Rapids Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated	The proposed congressional map for the state of North Carolina to me is unfavorable, and unjust. As a citizen of Halifax County it appears that our democracy is in jeopardy. I,Âôm taking a stand against the redistricting of the NC congressional map. Our forefathers endured too much and some lost their lives so we would have the right to vote. People we must vote in all elections and not just primaries. This is vital and it,Âôs our civic duty. The congressional map presentation is being presented in a manner of disrespect. The table has been set and the server didn,Âôt ask what I wanted My plate was served and I didn,Âôt like anything on it. People we must unite and stand together for what is right. Our country needs a shift in the atmosphere ????

10/17/25 8:54 PM	Catherine Calderon		Comment submitted. If someone is not sure what to say, here is what I wrote: I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 8:54 PM	Elizabeth Annable		I,Äôm urging you to reject this blatant partisan gerrymander. North Carolina is a nearly 50/50 state,ÄîRepublicans and Democrats live, work, and raise families side by side. Yet our representation does not reflect that balance because districts are being manipulated for political gain. Redrawing maps to entrench one party,Äôs power is not democracy,Äîit,Äôs voter suppression. Every citizen deserves fair representation, not lines drawn to silence their voice.
10/17/25 8:54 PM	Rachel Beck		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. Gerrymandering is undemocratic and in-American. These maps are clearly drawn along partisan lines, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Legislators in Raleigh have no right to silence people who disagree with them. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote counted equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 8:54 PM	Daniel Huss		I'm VERY STRONGLY OPPOSED to redistricting mid cycle. North Carolina is already a laughing stock of the country because of the existing maps. It's gross when politicians pick their voters to begin with, it's even more gross when it's this blatantly political.
10/17/25 8:55 PM	Joy Anderson		I am writing to strongly oppose any attempts to redraw North Carolina,Äôs voting districts in a way that favors partisan interests over fair representation. Gerrymandering,Äîespecially when done to entrench political power,Äîviolates the constitutional principles of equal protection and undermines the very foundation of our democracy. North Carolina has a troubling history of redistricting battles, with courts repeatedly striking down maps for being unconstitutional and racially or politically biased. It is unacceptable that, despite clear judicial guidance, lawmakers continue to pursue redistricting efforts that silence voters and manipulate electoral outcomes for political gain. The North Carolina Constitution guarantees that all citizens deserve equal representation and a government that reflects the will of the people,Äînot the interests of a select few. Partisan redistricting directly contradicts this promise. It weakens public trust, diminishes voter power, and disproportionately impacts communities of color and young voters. I urge our leaders in the General Assembly and across state government: do not repeat past mistakes. Prioritize transparency, fairness, and public input. Uphold both the U.S. and North Carolina Constitutions by rejecting any gerrymandered maps and committing to a nonpartisan redistricting process. North Carolinians deserve better. We deserve fair maps. We deserve a democracy that works for everyone,Äînot just those in power.
10/17/25 8:55 PM	mrs Christine Mayer		DO NOT REDISTRICT!!! EVER!!! TRUMP WAS AN ASSWIPE WHEN HE LIVED NEAR ME IN NY & NOW HE IS THE BIGGEST ASSWIPE ON THIS PLANET!!!
10/17/25 8:55 PM	Corey Riley		I,Äôm against gerrymandering. You know there are more independents in NC than either other ,Äúparty,Äù and I,Äôm going to make sure every independent knows what you all are trying to pull. The president barely won our state and there is mandate. This is all about Berger begging for an endorsement because he,Äôs worried he,Äôll lose his primary. Where is our state budget? Where is your integrity?
10/17/25 8:56 PM	Ms. Barbara Mohr	Retired	The citizens of North Carolina do not endorse any gerrymandering activity. We want a fair election. Do the right thing.
10/17/25 8:56 PM	Barbara Randall		I am writing to voice my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting plans. Gerrymandering has been a persistent issue in North Carolina, and it is essential that future district maps are drawn with fairness and equality in mind. The process must guarantee that every party has a legitimate opportunity to succeed based on merit, rather than manipulated boundaries.
10/17/25 8:57 PM	Ms L Mulvihill		No more gerrymandering! I want to pick my representative, rather than congressional representatives choosing their voters . The very idea is in-American. Vote NO.
10/17/25 8:57 PM	Nicole Ingram		This is awful and not representative of NC! We need fair elections where every vote counts not this gerrymandering! You represent ALL the constituents not just a subset of the super Christian nationalists dogma. Act like it! Religion (and I am a Christian mind you!) has NO place in our government
10/17/25 8:58 PM	Rich Fix		Do not gerrymander North Carolina for political gain. It is un-American and undemocratic! It is disgusting that the republicans would do such a despicable thing.

10/17/25 8:58 PM	Karen Crutchfield		Thank you to the NCGA for your honesty in stating you are redistricting solely to steal a Dem seat in Congress. Very honorable. I've lived my entire adult life in DC and Louisiana, and thought I'd seen some rotten politics. But I hadn't seen anything until we moved to Hold My Beer, NC....see you at the voting booth ladies and gentlemen.
10/17/25 8:59 PM	America Is Lost Anonymous Citizen		The newly enacted redistricting map for North Carolina's district mapping is a blatant and unconscionable act of gerrymandering. This map does not reflect the will of the people; it serves only the narrow, partisan interests of those who drew it. The map utilizes classic gerrymandering techniques, such as 'cracking' and 'packing.' This process deliberately draws district lines to predetermine election outcomes, effectively eliminating competitive races and silencing the voices of thousands of voters across the state. The result is a political system where politicians choose their voters, rather than voters choosing their politicians. You all have forgotten who you work for, and it shows more by the day. The fall of America will be on your hands that approve this, and history, nor we, will forget.
10/17/25 8:59 PM	Ms Lisbeth Dickens		I don,Äôt believe redistricting equally represents the votes of all North Carolinians. You, as the representatives of all North Carolinians, should want all of our votes to have the same power, not redesigned to favor one party.
10/17/25 8:59 PM	NC voters deserve bettee Andrea Bacon		This is absolutely abhorrent. Not only have they been taking away the voice of NC residents for years, but now they want even more (stolen) power? They can,Äôt pass a budget with a supermajority but we are supposed to just let them discount our votes to elect more useless leaders?
10/17/25 9:00 PM	Ms Stephanie Hoeflin		Our representatives.should.reflect all the people of North Carolina. The state is closely divided between Democrats and Republicans, and our delegation should.reflect that. Shame on you for doing Trump's bidding and trying to rig the House. Republicans will regret following Trump instead of.the Constitution.
10/17/25 9:00 PM	Seriously Robert Overman		This is insane. This isn,Äôt representative of the state and makes us look stupid. Go with a non partisan commission next time so we aren,Äôt a laughingstock.
10/17/25 9:00 PM	Dr. Erica Pace		Shame on Phil Burger! I wish to express my opposition to the proposed redistricting plans. Gerrymandering remains a significant concern in North Carolina, and district maps must be drawn in a manner that promotes fairness and equality. The redistricting process should ensure that all parties have an equitable opportunity to participate and succeed based on merit, rather than through the manipulation of boundaries.
10/17/25 9:01 PM	Bert Lynn		I disapprove of the proposed redistricting map. This is not necessary.
10/17/25 9:01 PM	Neal Anderson		I strongly urge you to halt any efforts to redraw voting districts at this time. Redistricting that prioritizes partisan advantage over fair representation is a direct violation of democratic principles and constitutional protections. Voters have the right to choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Any attempt to gerrymander districts undermines public trust, weakens voter power, and disproportionately affects marginalized communities. Such actions are not only ethically wrong, but they risk violating constitutional standards of equal protection and fair representation. North Carolina deserves a transparent, nonpartisan redistricting process that reflects the will of the people not one that manipulates maps for political gain. Do the right thing and reject unconstitutional redistricting.
10/17/25 9:01 PM	Crooked Christopher Newkirk		You guys have got to be joking. NC is already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country and you're trying to make it even worse??? You should all be ashamed because this is just a pathetic power grab from a party that sees the writing on the wall.
10/17/25 9:01 PM	Mrs Mary Pat Everson	Citizen	I am a 92-year old registered Republican and I have never in my life witnessed such shameful shenanigans. Represent everyone in NC and do your jobs for us - not for our bullying president.
10/17/25 9:02 PM	mr. Tim Schnobel		You guys are doing GREAT! PUSH AND NEVER GIVE UP!
10/17/25 9:02 PM	Tara Kecki		Do not gerrymander again in North Carolina. Every citizen deserves an equal voice, not political lines drawn to protect incumbents.
10/17/25 9:02 PM	Kelly Hamel		The fact that the legislative body is convening to redraw maps instead of doing their jobs and establishing a budget is telling to the public about what their priority is - clearly it is their own political aspirations with no thought to their constituents. Regardless of your cheating and deception, we the people of NC are watching and will remember come election day.
10/17/25 9:02 PM	Jennifer Beatty		This is blatant and abhorrent gerrymandering. It is an attack on the democratic process. This does not reflect the voters of this state and this and similar attempts for GOP to choose their own voters should not be allowed to succeed.
10/17/25 9:02 PM	NCGOP IN DANGER/SCARED Karma Lippard	Ethical moral LGBTQIA / immigrant supporter	It,Äôs illegal. It,Äôs a fear response. It,Äôs disgusting. It,Äôs also ILLEGAL. I,Äôm adamantly opposed to this gerrymandering just as I was the last time it was done. NCGOP is on the wrong side of history. All the cheating and brown nosing the orange wannabe dictator that is being done now will not save you when he is gone. Lose like grown men, with some semblance of integrity and you may possibly be able to not be ostracized when this clown show administration is over. You don,Äôt have the right to tell me who is representing my best interests. I have a vote for that. Stop the madness.

10/17/25 9:03 PM	Mrs Jennifer Ragan	As a North Carolina resident and parent, I,Äôm deeply concerned about the proposed redistricting maps. These plans appear to favor political interests instead of ensuring fair and equal representation. Our communities deserve to have their voices heard, not divided or minimized for partisan gain. I urge the committee to redraw these maps with integrity, transparency, and a true commitment to serving all North Carolinians. Fair representation isn,Äôt optional, it,Äôs the foundation of a healthy democracy.
10/17/25 9:03 PM	Demetrious Jones	I am writing to voice my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting plans. Any future district maps must be drawn with fairness and equality at the forefront. The redistricting process should give all parties a fair chance to compete based on their abilities, not by altering electoral boundaries for advantage. Following these principles helps create a political system that truly represents the people's wishes and preserves the trustworthiness of our democracy.
10/17/25 9:03 PM	Mrs. Kathy Kelly	GOP gerrymandering is all about keeping an Authoritarian racist dangerous man in office. President Donald Trump publicly endorsed the North Carolina GOP,Äôs latest congressional gerrymander Friday, celebrating a proposed map that would secure Republicans an additional U.S. House seat in 2026 ,Äì by further eroding fair representation for Black and Democratic voters. America is being governed by a bunch of criminals. Even the Supreme Court is corrupted by trump. Republicans are destroying this country.
10/17/25 9:04 PM	Stop Stealing Elections Ellen Tillem	Start doing the work of the people and stop cheating in an effort to win. Your behavior is disgraceful.
10/17/25 9:04 PM	Sylvia Hayes	Stop gerrymandering. No need to change current maps unless NC moves to independently drawn maps. I support independent and nonpartisan redrawing of maps. NC is basically a 50/50 state yet current representation is highly partisan.
10/17/25 9:04 PM	Dorothy Murray	I am strongly opposed to this redistricting plan. North Carolina has consistently demonstrated near equal division between two parties. We have a Democratic governor and are considered a swing state in general elections. The maps as currently drawn already produces a completely unbalanced situation that does not represent the interests of the populace. This proposal will create even further imbalance, thus the people will not be represented fairly. I am strongly opposed.
10/17/25 9:05 PM	Mr. Joshua Frumkin	If you need inspiration or are unsure what to write: "I am writing as a concerned constituent to express my strong opposition to the recently announced plans by Senator Phil Berger and Speaker Destin Hall to redraw North Carolina,Äôs Congressional maps yet again. It is deeply troubling that, in the midst of a delayed state budget and a Medicaid funding shortfall that directly affects families and health care providers, legislative leaders are prioritizing political power over the people of North Carolina. The notion that redistricting efforts are being pursued to ,Äúcounter,Äù moves by other states rings hollow when our state has already undergone significant partisan map-drawing in 2024,Äîmaps that overwhelmingly favored one party,Äôs interests. Equally concerning are reports that these new maps are being discussed in the context of national political maneuvering and personal ambitions, including efforts to secure endorsements for future elections. This kind of transactional approach to redistricting undermines public trust and erodes the very foundation of representative democracy. Fair maps are not a partisan issue,Äîthey are a moral one. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. I urge you to oppose any further gerrymandering efforts and to instead focus on restoring integrity and transparency to our redistricting process. North Carolinians deserve fair representation and a government that places the needs of its people above political advantage. As elected representatives of our state, I trust you to act in the best interest of all North Carolinians and not bend to the whims of Washington. I look forward to your response."
10/17/25 9:05 PM	Ms. Camille Wiley	This latest re-districting is a pure power grab. It eliminates representation for much of the population. Taxation without representation was not popular 250 years ago and started a war. Do not disenfranchise voters.
10/17/25 9:05 PM	Madeline Houston	I would like to formally express my concerns regarding the proposed redistricting plans. I respectfully urge you to recognize the negative impact that gerrymandering has on public confidence and the integrity of our governance system. When constituents feel disenfranchised, it undermines representative democracy. It is imperative that the redistricting process be conducted with transparency and adherence to the principle of equal representation, so every citizen's vote maintains its value and significance.
10/17/25 9:06 PM	Are you kidding? Callie Britt	This is an abhorrent power grab that proves that the North Carolina General Assembly is sorely missing integrity. Shame on all the politicians that feel the need to find new avenues of voter suppression. We will not forget your complete disregard for your constituents, and we the people will fight for positive systemic changes for our state.
10/17/25 9:06 PM	Renee Barber	Great! Keep going. I agree with the redistricting plan.
10/17/25 9:07 PM	John Gabler	Leave districts alone until the next census. All redistributing accomplishes is create mistrust.
10/17/25 9:07 PM	Redistricting Gregory Cloos	I believe congressional districts should be based on established geographic boundaries like counties, townships or zip codes, with no odd-shaped "panhandle" projections or finely-tuned delineations intended to ensure one party has a seat advantage through creative cartography. Districts should be highly contiguous and evenly shaped, using only established municipal/jurisdictional boundaries.
10/17/25 9:08 PM	Jennifer Anderson	I am firmly opposed to the redistricting. It is clearly designed for strong partisan preference, not to represent the people of North Carolina.

10/17/25 9:08 PM	Belinda Wray	STOP redrawing our maps -- no one is allowed to Cherry pick voters. Cherry picking does not equal democracy nor freedom of speech/choice. Haven't we had enough rights stolen from us? I'm worse off now than I was in the 1960s.
10/17/25 9:09 PM	Julie Wheeler	I'm just one of the general public that you've decided not to represent. So sad that this state and your leadership is not for THE PEOPLE and only for those who are like you. No matter what party is in the majority, you should remember that you have a state filled with many people of different cultures, colors and opinions. You need to represent all of us instead of just those in your own party.
10/17/25 9:11 PM	NO Diluting the Districts Tiffany Husack	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 9:11 PM	Emily J.	If you have to cheat and behave anti-democratically then you shouldn‚Äôt be in office. As a resident of NC it is my constitutional right to have fair, free, accessible and representative elections. This mapping effort is partisan, not based in any sort of consensus or fair methodology and is wildly biased. This is a stain on our state that our representatives think they should be able to rig our elections.
10/17/25 9:11 PM	Kathy Peters	I strongly oppose redistricting NC mid-census! Doing so is a blatant power grab when the majority in power (Republicans in this case) do not promote policies that are popular enough to win them seats without rigging the district map. District maps should only be re-drawn once a decade when new census data is available. This work should be done by a non-partisan group (separate from the NC Legislature itself) who will create maps that represent the population fairly so that all citizens are able to exercise their right to vote and have their vote count, no matter their political affiliation. That's what a fair democratic system looks like. Fighting to save our right to vote and fair elections- stop redrawing the maps in NC
10/17/25 9:12 PM	Liz Gallagher	Please do not redraw our states congressional maps, they are already heavily weighed towards Republican wins and at this point it‚Äôs just not right to change them. Stand up to prevent the destruction of our country‚Äôs Democracy!
10/17/25 9:12 PM	Patrice Frazier	I am writing to voice my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting plans. Partisan gerrymandering takes away the voices of ordinary voters and also weakens faith in democratic systems. It suggests that politicians would rather manipulate election boundaries for their own benefit than win votes through honest and fair contests. I urge you to consider how harmful this kind of gerrymandering is to the general public.
10/17/25 9:12 PM	Ms Linda Moore	This redistricting move by the NC General Assembly appears to be a power grab primarily to capture the seat of Don Davis in District One. It's been said, and I agree, that maps should not give you power; voters should. Redistricting is normally done only once every 10 years after a census. North Carolina just redistricted for the second time in this census cycle in 2023. It's easy to see why the Republicans are doing it again. The only reason is to maximize their political advantage. This effort will likely result in legal challenges, wasting our tax dollars. This redistricting push by the Republicans is a power grab when they should instead be addressing other issues that affect the people of the state. The current Republican leadership has not passed a budget, given pay raises to teachers or law enforcement, or fully funded Medicaid. These failures affect all North Carolinians.
10/17/25 9:13 PM	Independent Voter	By further gerrymandering our already gerrymandered state, you have ensured that I will never vote for a Republican again.
10/17/25 9:13 PM	Alison Overstreet	This is not who we are as North Carolinians. Citizens should choose their elected representatives, not the other way around. Representative Democracy means voters choose their representatives. When politicians draw the maps, voters lose. Less competition. More extremism. Zero accountability When politicians draw the maps, voters lose. Less competition. More extremism. Zero accountability. I'm outraged about the NC GOP gerrymandering.
10/17/25 9:13 PM	Tina Smith	I am not in favor of a district plan that is constructed in an effort to unfairly affect the outcome of state elections. Candidates should be elected on merit alone and any districting plan should be based on the ‚Äúone person, one vote‚Äù principal. I oppose any action that would negatively affect the voting power of any segment of the population and strongly believe that everyone should have equal representation.
10/17/25 9:13 PM	Shame Jordan Phillips	This comment won‚Äôt matter because republicans obviously don‚Äôt care about actually representing North Carolina‚Äôs citizens fairly. Given the 50/50 nature of our states politics it is concerning that republicans want to grant themselves 80% of the states seats through trickery. Maybe if the conservatives had better policies, they wouldn‚Äôt have to cheat to win elections.
10/17/25 9:13 PM	Boot-licking cowards C B	You're all cowards who are more interested in kissing up to power than doing what's good and right for your constituents. The only reason you would ever do this is because you know you can't win on your positions, so you have to steal power to maintain it. This is a shameful, despicable act. History will remember you, and it will not be kind.

10/17/25 9:14 PM	Stop Gerrymandering our s Rita Cook		The republican drawn maps are.not fair and do not show a fair representation of our state voter make-up. The Republicans party makes up the fewest registered voters in the state with only a third of voters being Republicans. We have clearly elected Democratic Governors multiple years In a row yet the smallest makeup somehow controls both houses by a huge majority. You have rigged the system against fairness to stay in power and get a wanna be dictator to approve of you and help you keep your jobs. Our state has gone down hill since we have had a republican super majority in charge. You are destroying public education by continually defunding it and passing laws that are not in pur best interests and do not represent the will of the voters.
10/17/25 9:14 PM	David Jones		I am writing to share my strong disagreement and serious concerns about the current redistricting proposal. North Carolina has long struggled with issues of gerrymandering, and I firmly believe that any new district maps should be drawn in a fair and impartial way. Both parties deserve an equal chance to win elections based on their merits, not because of manipulated district lines.
10/17/25 9:15 PM	Ms. Diana M Fowler		Gerrymandering should be illegal. Nothing fair about it. Please do not do this redistricting.
10/17/25 9:15 PM	Mr Gary Dudley	None	What is proposed is not a fair map!
10/17/25 9:15 PM	Rachel Poller		Dear members of the NC General Assembly, I'm writing to request that you do not go forward with the proposed, upcoming redistricting. Every single one of us knows that 1) redistricting to manipulate election outcomes has occurred historically across the partisan divide, and 2) it is cheating not to mention immoral, unethical, and simply a violation of the Judeo-Christian values that we all subscribe to. You have a choice here: to rig an election outcome or to be role models for your children and all future generations---role models of honesty and commitment to righteousness. You don't have to cheat to win; you win by doing the right thing. And, in fact, if you do vote for this redistricting, you will have already lost----your integrity and your faithfulness to God and Country. Thank you, Rachel Poller
10/17/25 9:15 PM	Gerrymandering 100% Norman Andresen	NC citizen, retired, Forsyth County, NC	This proposal supports the idealogy of our current National administration and shows that the desires and needs of the citizens of NC, which elected you to protect their interests, beliefs, and needs have been betrayed. I cannot support an administration that is bigoted, racist, bullies, constantly lies, and appears to be heading to a fascist style of government. This redistricting supports ALL that this government wants and I CANNOT SUPPORT IT!
10/17/25 9:15 PM	Janet Colm		I am completely opposed to the proposed redistricting plan. NC districts should reflect the reality that we are a 50-50 Republican-Democratic state.
10/17/25 9:16 PM	Don't change the map Roy Grantham		Any changes to the voting maps should follow a shortest line method where you separate the districts into equal portions by population without consideration for voting preferences. Also, adjusting the map between Censuses is wrong. Politicians shouldn't get to choose their voters, voters should get to choose their representatives. Campaign on your policies and if they are popular enough then you'll get the votes. Changing the maps to favor one side or the other is cheating and an acknowledgement that your policies are bad.
10/17/25 9:16 PM	Kelly Cheveallier		NC voted almost 50/50 in the last presidential election and is a state inhabited by almost equal numbers of republicans and democrats. However, due to districting, the state is overwhelmingly represented by one party. Trying to draw and redraw maps specifically to ignore certain voters is blatantly wrong and not what real representation is. Your job and responsibility is to represent the people, not your loyalty to certain parties in power. Your job is to uphold the constitution for fair and equal representation, not to manipulate it for more power. Redistricting like this is wrong and unconstitutional. You are disgracing and cheating those you are obligated to represent if you pursuit this.
10/17/25 9:16 PM	Ms. Louise Flynn		I'm strongly opposed to the Congressional district plan in North Carolina. We need fair districts that truly reflect the makeup of our State, not gerrymandered maps designed to give Republicans an unfair advantage. These kinds of maps silence voters, undermine democracy, and let lawmakers push through unpopular policies without real accountability. North Carolinians deserve representation, not manipulation.
10/17/25 9:17 PM	Mr. Bruce DeBoer	DeBoer Works LLC	NC is already a minority ruled state; the Assembly has too much power over the majority. Why? Because the districts are unfairly drawn. DON,ÄôT MAKE IT WORSE!
10/17/25 9:17 PM	Blatant gerrymandering! Leah Lawrence		This is an intentional manipulation and unconstitutional violation of the will of the people. The people who you are supposed to represent and be the voice of. This map represents the Id of the Republican Party, a party that cannot get votes on the merits of their policies. You grotesquely manipulate the map and everything else in a blatant power grab. You think we,Äôre stupid and don,Äôt know what is going on, or are too ignorant and lazy to protest. I,Äôm afraid you are sorely mistaken. I, and millions of other North Carolinians will not accept this.
10/17/25 9:18 PM	Laura Chartier		Let each vote be heard. I do not condone the redrawing of the map! Let the people's vote count. I do not register as a dem or republican-however if the map is adjusted again I will pick the side of democracy and advocate against the other party indefinitely. This is the feeling of others too.I hope everyone understands the consequences.
10/17/25 9:18 PM	Dr Jennifer Woodlief		Love it! My hope is that I lose Rep.Ross in all the redistricting!! Sucks how much you have ruined this state!
10/17/25 9:18 PM	Mrs Rebecca Burmester	Private citizen	Gerrymandering hurts all voters all of the time. Please do not redistribution between census unless you wish to undo current gerrymandering.

10/17/25 9:18 PM	Roy Daman		This is an obvious power grab by republicans. This proposal has its roots in cowardice and bigotry. Republicans, now without any sense of honor, uphold tyranny and sycophancy as virtues. No longer adhering to any sort of moral code, they clutch their pearls and pretend at victimhood. When I see the proposal put forth by Republicans, that is what I see. It is what the world sees. And it is what history will remember.
10/17/25 9:19 PM	Madelinr Alpert		Gerrymanderimg is destroying this country. We need bipartisan/ neutral districting, not more rigging of elections.
10/17/25 9:19 PM	No to redistricting! Irene LaFortune	American	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 9:19 PM	Mrs. ELLA KERSEY		I am not in favor of the current redistricting efforts. It was unfair for Texas to redistrict with no new census data available. If any action is taken by the NCLEG it should be to make more competitive districts vs ones where the outcome is predetermined. The same voters who determined the current balance of power should be the same voters to determine the balance in the next Congress. Those voters should have the opportunity to elect different officials if they are unsatisfied with the current ones.
10/17/25 9:19 PM	Katrina Gray		STOP CHEATING!! Enough said.
10/17/25 9:20 PM	Ms. Marcia Rowan		I beg you not to do this. We are a better country than this, or we should be.
10/17/25 9:20 PM	Reverend Chris Thompson		The way democracy works correctly is the voters, in districts, choose / elect their representatives. This is right even if you nor I end up with the representative we voted for. It is CHEATING to have representatives in one party draw maps that guarantee they choose which voters they prefer. That is an erosion of democracy and a huge breach of trust in our governmental system that is supposed to work for and represent ‚Äúwe the people‚Äù Please take the higher road of integrity and DO NOT GERRYMANDER the maps.
10/17/25 9:20 PM	Jaime Tafoya		We do not want these maps redrawn. Stop the gerrymandering. Thank you, Jaime Tafoya
10/17/25 9:20 PM	kim long		I strongly oppose this redistricting and it should be illegal....or already is...
10/17/25 9:20 PM	Mr Craig Powell	Taxpayer	Legislative districts should be drawn FAIRLY and not based on political whim by the party in power. Doing otherwise is just one form of cheating to win elections. I'm not confidant that the right thing will be done by this legislature. Prove me wrong.
10/17/25 9:21 PM	Representative Julia Greenfield	NCGA	The new redistricting plan is partisan and unfair. It redraws districts mid decade to target Democratic Rep Don Davis and tilt power toward Republicans, ignoring voters‚Äô will. This kind of gerrymandering undermined democracy, weakens minority voting power and damages trust in elections. Maps should represent people not protect politicians.
10/17/25 9:21 PM	Lynne Castelli		As a tax paying citizen of NC I strongly object to gerrymandering of any kind. If you can‚Äôt win honestly, change your policies. Holding onto power for power‚Äôs sake is the sign of weak, third world autocratic countries. We are the USA. Shame on you.
10/17/25 9:22 PM	Gerrymandering Tyler Sharrock	Citizen of United States	This is a sad time for our country. Our president is waging war on American citizens and our state is rigging the maps to make the next election unfair. The Nazi symbolism is slowly showing throughout the republican party in the form of leaked texts and flags they forgot to take down before going live. These things are in the shadows now, but the ideology is growing in the party due to ignorance and lack of sympathy for others all by the party that claims to follow Jesus. This is so sad and I worry for my kids. We are already feeling the effects financially and socially. Please save us from this awful ideology which we thought was settled long ago.
10/17/25 9:22 PM	Kerriona Jones		I am writing to express my concerns and opposition to the current redistricting proposal. Gerrymandering for partisan advantage disenfranchises voters and undermines confidence in democratic institutions. This practice suggests that elected officials prioritise manipulating electoral processes over earning support through fair and open competition. Please refrain from proceeding with redistricting.
10/17/25 9:22 PM	Pure Gerrymandering Laura Sexton		This districting is a blatant case of gerrymandering. No way would I support this map. Maybe for once Republicans should try to win on popular vote. Vote no to this restricting plan.
10/17/25 9:22 PM	Sheri Hirshman		This map is partisan politics at its worst. It does not represent our state. Do not do this to our state. Let the voters decide
10/17/25 9:23 PM	Karen Futtersak		I am very angry annd concerned about the republican redistricting plan. Why gerrymander the map? Where is your confidence in allowing people to vote? Why should the maps change again at this s time? There is no change in population that warrants a new map. Please vote against this illegal redistricting plan

10/17/25 9:23 PM	Andrew Stern		Mid-cycle redistricting is a blatant attempt at our representatives picking their voters, rather than voters picking their representatives. We are a representative democracy, but mid-cycle redistricting is anything but any form of democracy. Why do less than 39% of young people not support American democracy, it is because we have representatives that actually do not promote or support democracy. They rule by power alone, and absolute power corrupts. Mid-cycle redistricting would be proof of NC's corrupt politics, yet Republicans across the nation are bowing and supporting the dictates of our authoritarian leader, Donald J. Trump. But who the hell cares about democracy--certainly not our NC majority legislators. Democracy is so 19th and 20th century! The above screed is emotional, yet very honest, heartfelt, and real. Following is a more dispassionate analysis of why mid-cycle redistricting should not be completed by our NC legislators. ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all. Unfortunately, I don't think it matters what I write here. The NC Legislature majority party will bend the knee. Keep up the great work, and continue to destroy the future of American democracy.
10/17/25 9:24 PM	Richard Smith		Pass the budget. The economy is in shambles, people are losing access to food and healthcare. If you can meet to discuss redistricting, you can settle the budget.
10/17/25 9:24 PM	Donna Ross		Shame on the Republicans party for not representing all the voters of North Carolina.
10/17/25 9:24 PM	Mrs. Elaine Robbins	none; I am a constituent	Shame on the GOP for turning every year into a redistricting effort. Enough. Redistricting should be restricted to after the decennial census.
10/17/25 9:24 PM	Mrs Jackulene Nelson	NC Voter	It is my belief that this republican redistributing plan is no more than partisan gerrymandering and racial discrimination, which will dilute voter power and predetermine election results!!! I am against it!!!
10/17/25 9:25 PM	Jamie Gutterman		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters.
10/17/25 9:25 PM	Mrs Cassie Mannes Murray		Get it together and win with strategy instead of gerrymandering. The more you gerrymander, the more fired up I am to bring people to the polls to vote you out.
10/17/25 9:26 PM	Patrick Cottrell		The republican proposal for redistricting is anti-democratic and anti-american.
10/17/25 9:27 PM	Betty Grainger		If you can't win without stealing, you don't deserve to win. Everyone has a right to representation.
10/17/25 9:27 PM	Amanda Craig		This us utterly despicable. The people deserve fair maps, not a bunch of bootlicking little minion doing the bidding of a power hungry mad king. You all should be ashamed of yourselves. North Carolina is tired of the gerrymandering, we are tired of you all abusing power and we will not let you quietly sweep these abuses under the rug as you have in the past.
10/17/25 9:27 PM	Cameron Stutts		This is absolutely shameful. How would this help the people of North Carolina? We are a 50/50 state, and everyone deserves representation, no matter the party. This is just plain wrong, legally and morally, and you know it.
10/17/25 9:28 PM	Kenny Zaragoza		I, a citizen of NC of 25 years, do not agree with the redistricting. Your job is to listen to your constituents and not be mindless lemmings to the federal government regardless of who's running it. If you do this other states with large Democratic populations will follow suit and this will only lead to the Republicans downfall.
10/17/25 9:28 PM	Mrs. Amanda McKinley	None	This is a miscarriage of justice. It,Äôs not a fair map at all. And the fact that you are letting DC tell you what to do vs standing up for your state is crazy to me. I hope this is rejected.
10/17/25 9:28 PM	Lorrie Bailey		NC is already gerrymandered. Do not redistrict using the current plan Republicans are pushing. If you want to draw the maps correctly and fairly, fine! Other than that, leave it alone! Stop trying to passify Trump! Why are all of you entertaining him? Looks to us like you,Äôre scared of going against him and doing the right thing! Food for thought,Ä¶ if you hang out with bad, immoral people, you are assumed to be like that too! Guilt by association, and 2026 is coming!
10/17/25 9:28 PM	Michael Leinwand		I ask you NOT to change the district lines. This act is unconstitutional. It should only be done every 10 years.
10/17/25 9:29 PM	Mrs. Beth Goodman		I do not support the General Assembly coming back to session for the purposing of redrawing our maps YET AGAIN, when we STILL do not have a budget. If you are coming back to session, create a budget IMMEDIATELY. We do not need redistricting. We need FUNDING. Get back in session and do the job we, your constituents elected you to do. You don,Äôt answer to the Administration in the White House. You answer to the people of North Carolina.

10/17/25 9:29 PM	Christopher Meinecke		There is no need to redistrict. I am against the NC Legislature,Äôs attempt to do so.
10/17/25 9:30 PM	No redistricting Eleanor Hampton		More than 80 percent of NC residents are AGAINST redistricting. As elected representatives of the people of this state, you must not support any effort to continue redistricting the state.
10/17/25 9:30 PM	Kimberly Shoaf		This redistricting is absurd and cowardly. Republicans need to campaign on values that HELP regular Americans, not whether Trump gets what he wants. Redistricting does nothing but serve Trump. What about North Carolinians? What about hearing US? Caring about what WE want? Do not redistrict.
10/17/25 9:30 PM	Paula Martinac		I am disgusted by the plan to redistrict mid-decade because Trump has ordered it. You are stealing a Congressional seat and undermining democracy. You work for the people of North Carolina, not Trump. Republicans used to stand for principles but are now just pandering sycophants.
10/17/25 9:31 PM	Devante Marshall		I staunchly oppose this gerrymandering effort by the NC GOP. It does not represent North Carolina voters and is a blatant partisan overreach of power.
10/17/25 9:32 PM	Dr CHARLENE REISS		In the 2024 Congressional elections, Republican candidates received 52.78% of the votes cast, yet they now hold 71% of our state's Congressional seats. The state is already gerrymandered because the Republicans know they cannot win that majority of seats with fair maps. Making the maps even more unfair, WITH THE EXPLICIT INTENTION OF DISENFRANCHISING INDIVIDUALS VOTING FOR DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES, is NOT what makes America great. It makes it unfair, unrepresentative, undemocratic, and un-American. Republicans are shameless and have no moral grounds to take this course. DO NOT CHANGE THE MAPS.
10/17/25 9:33 PM	Alissa Vermillion		It is a pity and a shame that Republican lawmakers are so afraid of fair and balanced maps. The only accurate conclusion to draw, is that the Republicans know how unpopular they are and also are convinced that they could not win votes honestly, so must jerry-rig the system. All gerrymandering should be abolished, but especially cowardly middle of census rigging!
10/17/25 9:34 PM	Susan Rankin		Redistricting is unecessary, unfair and a massive waste of my tax dollars. Leave the voting to the people not the party The current maps are adequate. Do your jobs and pass a budget instead of manipulating maps to diminish targeted voters' voices. (Durham, 27705)
10/17/25 9:34 PM	Janet Bradshaw		NC should not have a redistricting. Please work for the citizens of NC and not the president whose agenda is for himself and not the citizens.
10/17/25 9:34 PM	Sophia Chester		I am constituent of district 10. I wish to request we don,Äôt redraw the maps in NC. We already have a republican majority and it,Äôs not a census year. We need to make it illegal to gerrymander EVER! Candidates should win on merit not on the maps. Please vote against this attempt to steal the election.
10/17/25 9:35 PM	Ms Teri Padgett		I think this is unconstitutional and should not be done. You are cheating to win elections. This is being done because you know you cannot win unless you cheat. So sad.
10/17/25 9:35 PM	Mr. Walter Wood		Do not further gerrymander the states voting districts.
10/17/25 9:35 PM	Dr Nathaniel Grubbs		Redistricting should be nonpartisan and independent. The new map takes an already gerrymandered state and strips even more citizens of true representation to appease a President barely half the state voted for. If NC leadership truly thinks Democrat gerrymandering is wrong, then they should see how wrong their own efforts are. Enough partisan redistricting; hand the process to a nonpartisan independent commission now!
10/17/25 9:36 PM	Mrs. Tamiek Walton		This is disgusting. As unaffiliated voter, Republicans senators, how do you sleep at night knowing you are this unethical? Do better! If you have to cheat your way to get votes, you didn,Äôt really win did you? You all claim to be Christians. You better hope God has mercy on your vile souls!
10/17/25 9:36 PM	Erin Timm		Stop gerrymandering and capitulating to Trump. Uphold the Constitution and do your duty to the people.
10/17/25 9:37 PM	Sue Miller		What the actual fuck? Stop gerrymandering NC!!!
10/17/25 9:37 PM	Elizabeth H Pickett	Individual	I am against redistricting and, furthermore, believe the current maps do not accurately reflect the balance of voters in NC. By drawing and using a heavily-gerrymandered map, NC is saying loudly to Americans, ,ÄúWe believe in corrupt legislation.,Äù
10/17/25 9:38 PM	Dr. Paul Combs	Retired economist	Gerrymandering is totally against the interests of the citizens of this state. It makes my vote count for nothing. You should be ashamed.
10/17/25 9:38 PM	Prasad Oak		These district lines being redrawn by partisan gerrymandering is a disgrace. Anyone supporting this clearly doesn,Äôt have intentions of the people at heart, just want to hold power for themselves. Plus if what I have read thru local news outlets is true, the Berger family seems intent on pushing the limits of corruption. Please don,Äôt do this, wait for the census to come out and do it in a non-partisan way then. As a new resident to the state, this is not appealing. This may be good for the president and the national Republican Party, but it,Äôs not good for the people of NC

10/17/25 9:38 PM	Hannah Franklin	Charlotte	The NC GOP proposed congressional redistricting plan is a blatant attempt to rig electoral outcomes in a state where voters are split nearly evenly between parties. By targeting the 1st Congressional District, Republicans are deliberately weakening the voting power of our fellow North Carolinians and shutting out anyone who disagrees with their power grab. This is even more ludicrous considering the GOP has already done this in the very near past. Drawing a map that hands Republicans nearly 80% of congressional seats in a competitive, near 50/50 state isn't governing, it's gaming the system to lock in wins you can't earn at the ballot box because your governing principles are highly unpopular and detrimental to the people of our state. North Carolina voters deserve to choose their representatives, not have election results decided ahead of time by maps designed to guarantee the Republicans stay in power no matter what people actually want. What the GOP and Phil Berger SPECIFICALLY are doing attacks the most basic democratic principle: that political power comes from the people's choice, not from rigged maps drawn only to favor corrupt Republican government officials. Handing favors to Donald Trump for personal gain should not be the way our state is governed. I vehemently protest the map changes that are under consideration. What's particularly troubling is how Phil Berger immediately thanked Trump and shared his endorsement after confirming that redistricting efforts were underway, making it crystal clear that Republicans and Phil in particular are taking marching orders from Trump to lock down a MAGA majority before the 2026 midterms against the will of the citizens of North Carolina. Republicans will not always be in control. That should be considered in your decision making.
10/17/25 9:38 PM	Cynthia Belangia		I am 100% against the proposed gerrymandering. In a healthy democracy, voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Gerrymandering undermines fairness, accountability, and equal representation. Let the voters decide for themselves who will represent them!!
10/17/25 9:38 PM	Michelle Lotker		Sample talking points This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 9:39 PM	Mrs Donna Austin		Please do not support the latest plan to farther gerrymander the state of NC. We are already one of the most gerrymandered state in the nation (not a title I,Äôm proud of). It,Äôs time for NC to set the example and make gerrymandering illegal. NC deserves fair elections.
10/17/25 9:40 PM	Ms Evan Richardson		Redistricting, otherwise known as gerrymandering, violates core principles of fairness, accountability, and limited government. By allowing politicians to manipulate district lines for partisan advantage, it undermines the constitutional promise of equal representation and weakens voters,Äô ability to hold their leaders accountable. Gerrymandering also disrupts local control by dividing natural communities and concentrating power in the hands of political insiders rather than the people. True conservative values demand transparency, integrity, and competition,Äîvictory earned through ideas and persuasion, not through the manipulation of electoral maps. Ending gerrymandering upholds both the Constitution and the moral duty to ensure government remains accountable to the people it serves.
10/17/25 9:41 PM	Mallory S		I am still frustrated and displeased with the last redistricting effort. And based on my current representative,Äôs performance, they don,Äôt seem too pleased to have me as a constituent. No thanks.
10/17/25 9:42 PM	MX Jay Garner		WE THE NC CITZENS DONT WANT YOU TO GENDERMERRYING NC STOP BEING BABIES AND ACCEPT YOUR LOSING YOUR JOBS IN MIDTERMS BECAUSE REPUBLICANS ONLY CARE FOR THEMSELF NOT THE NC PEOPLE. NO TO GENDERMERRYING. WE WILL VOTE YOU OUT.
10/17/25 9:43 PM	Teresa Ryan		No, just no. Gerrymandering is not needed here in North Carolina. We do not need to follow the desires of Trump but of our citizens. No thank you, no redistricting needed.
10/17/25 9:43 PM	Kathy Blythe		Republicans, You wouldn,Äôt be doing this if you were honest and thought you could win without cheating.
10/17/25 9:43 PM	Kylie Powers		Gerrymandering is illegal. This is a shameful blatant attack on the voters of the state you are supposed to represent. Do not take our vote away from us. You can win our vote through fair and free elections or you can lose it. Do not redistrict our map at the will of a president who doesn,Äôt care about half the country. Worry about passing a budget and doing things to help your constituents. We will remember, and we will vote you out. Your names will be taught as traitors in future state history classes. Do not sell us out. This is DISGRACEFUL and DISGUSTING.

10/17/25 9:44 PM	Maureen Scott		I strongly oppose gerrymandering in North Carolina. Fair representation is essential to a healthy democracy, and districts should be drawn to reflect communities,Äînot to favor any political party. I urge the NCGA to adopt transparent, nonpartisan redistricting practices that ensure every voter,Äôs voice carries equal weight.
10/17/25 9:44 PM	Linda Thorup		I am very opposed to the partisan redistricting effort for the Congressional House seats. The people of our state should be fairly represented in Congress. I do not support this Administration and would like to see fairly elected representatives provide balance of power. This effort by the NC GOP power is shameful.
10/17/25 9:44 PM	Mr. Robert Brown		Redistricting is the process of changing the lines we use to define voting districts. It determines who represents us in government and how competitive our elections are. Unfortunately, it,Äôs also a tool used by politicians to suppress communities,Äô voting power, to divide up areas in absurd ways, ensuring that certain groups don,Äôt have the freedom to elect their preferred representatives. North Carolina is all too familiar with this form of redistricting, and we really, really don,Äôt like it. A recent poll conducted by a Republican-leaning firm shows how overwhelming the opposition to partisan redistricting is in North Carolina. 76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. 84% of North Carolina voters agree that ,Äúit,Äôs never acceptable for politicians to draw districts to help their own party win more seats.,Äù And nearly all North Carolina voters ,Äì 94% ,Äì say they want districts that fairly represent all communities and political viewpoints. This is more than a broad consensus,Äì it,Äôs a near-universal belief.
10/17/25 9:45 PM	Joseph Flanagan		When shit hits the fan and all of America turns against the Trump administration after realizing they,Äôve been mislead for 8 years, you lot will be irrevocably linked to that legacy. You will get fucked in the midterms and any future statewide elections. Your control only lasts while your party has power, North Carolina is NOT red.
10/17/25 9:45 PM	Jennifer Longworth		I do not think the proposed changes are going to give fair representation for North Carolinians. Please do right by those you are sworn to serve. Thank you.
10/17/25 9:45 PM	Teresa Ryan		No, redistricting is not needed. Things are working fine, no need for this shameful and unnecessary redrawing of districts.
10/17/25 9:45 PM	Susan Brooks		We do not stand with redistricting! You have already re-districted more times than the normal. I,Äôm an active voter and land owner in this state. My opinion counts. My representative does not represent me or the money I earn and pay in taxes. It,Äôs taxation without representation if this passes. Let that echo. No.
10/17/25 9:45 PM	Ms Kyshanna Patman		I don't like this at all. No one is listening to the people who do right by us. Be honest while also doing your job the right way because this is not fair to us people who vote you all in. The plan should be to help us, which is doing right by u, not being sneaky but being real to the people that you work for.
10/17/25 9:46 PM	Becky Lightfoot		Our map is already gerrymandered to benefit Republicans. I do not support this latest attempt to prevent the voter,Äôs voices from being heard.
10/17/25 9:46 PM	John Mccleave		I don't like this at all. No one is listening to the people who do right by us. Be honest while also doing your job the right way, because this is not fair to us people who vote you all in. The plan should be to help us, which is doing right by u, not being sneaky but being real to the people that you work for.
10/17/25 9:47 PM	Dr Joseph Tanzini		Gerrymandering should be illegal. It undermines fair voting. Districts should be chosen by a non-partisan group.
10/17/25 9:47 PM	This is unconstitutional Keith Carnahan		This proposed redistricting map is a travesty. It aims to subvert the will of the majority of the voters of this state. It is a craven, dishonorable plan for Republicans to choose their voters rather than allow the voters to fairly choose their elected officials. Any one with even a shred of decency would readily and soundly reject this gerrymandering proposal.
10/17/25 9:48 PM	Maureen Rooney	Citizen	The process to once again re-Map NC districts as a way to further Republican leadership representation of this state is not reflective of the citizen need versus Republicans leaders inability to win elections fair and square--so you opt to manipulate and cheat.. We don't have a state budget but some how this is more important. Medical insurance is being taken away from those most in need is that not a priority--time to care of our citizens versus yourselves. Look in the mirror and find your souls
10/17/25 9:49 PM	Ms Kathleen Rickert	DOL	This is an outrage to make an already gerrymandered map even more so at the request of Trump. He does not run this state and it is outrageous in a state that is clearly purple to force it to becoming a Republican only representation. SHAME
10/17/25 9:50 PM	Michael Faurote		I am opposed to this new Congressional district plan.
10/17/25 9:50 PM	Be fair on redistricting Doug Kalish		Please do the right thing and let an independent third party decide on district sizes and shapes. Rigging the districts is a form of cheating and we,Äôre better than that as Americans.
10/17/25 9:50 PM	Mrs Vivian Brendle		I think it,Äôs unethical and incredibly irresponsible that you are even considering the redistricting of NC when there is no budget. You must see the pain Republicans are inflicting on our citizens and the horrible devicivness it is causing our nation. NO REDISTRICTING!

10/17/25 9:50 PM	Sherryl Wothke	U.S. Citizen and Resident of North Carolina	Just when you think Republicans have cheated in all ways possible, they come up with even another way to do it!
10/17/25 9:50 PM	Angelica Koelling		This map is not governance ,Äî it,Âós an act of vandalism against democracy. North Carolina is a politically balanced state, yet this proposal gives one party near-total control by design, not by vote. Gerrymandering like this doesn,Âôt just distort districts ,Äî it distorts faith in the system itself. I left the GOP years ago when it abandoned integrity for power, and this is exactly why. Representation should be earned through persuasion, not engineered through manipulation. Any party that has to rig the rules to win has already admitted it can,Âôt win honestly.
10/17/25 9:51 PM	Amy Alperstein		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 9:54 PM	Ted Alexander		Redrawing the voting maps because you know you're going to lose is not democracy. If your policies are so unpopular you can't win in a fair election, then maybe you should rethink your policies. Let the people decide.
10/17/25 9:55 PM	James Reinard	N/A	I fervently disagree with this blatant power grab. Sen. Berger has made it clear he intends disenfranchise millions of North Carolinian voters, all to serve the agenda of Trump and the current Republican Party leaders in Washington who have demonstrated an authoritarian bent towards destroying everything my parents and grandparents generation worked so hard to build. There was a time when North Carolinians stood up for each other, and put statesmanship over party politics, and Sen. Berger has decided those days are over. I hope all republicans that vote for this power grab realize that the resulting devastation visited upon our population by those in Washington, be it loss of healthcare, loss of voting rights, loss of 1st, 4th, and 5th amendment rights, is solely on them. And I want each and every one to know that with any and all resources and voice, I will work to see they are unseated from our General Assembly at the ballot box, and replaced with people who put North Carolina first.
10/17/25 9:55 PM	Mr Dillan Hillencourt		A reckoning is coming - the more extremely things are pushed, the more extreme the eventual pushback will be. The timing is uncanny - the extremists expected to lose are now tampering with the electorate because the writing is on the wall. All the things they want to do and all the ways in which they are negatively impacting the lives of a majority of people are coming home to roost. They are not popular and they know it. Thus the tampering. Do the most good for the most people is not there motto. The action they are about to embark on is a road to nothing good. It will trigger an avalanche of certain opposition.
10/17/25 9:56 PM	Karen Ciccone		Gerrymandering is wrong. North Carolina Republicans need to stand up for fair elections and democracy.
10/17/25 9:56 PM	Andrea Alvarez		I,Âôm a constituent deeply concerned by your proposed plan to redraw congressional and legislative maps for partisan gain ,Äî what many call gerrymandering. I,Âôm writing to urge you to reject any map that unfairly disadvantages Black voters, dilutes communities of interest, or rigs outcomes in favor of one party. Doing so will erode trust in our democracy and will almost certainly face legal challenge. I expect you to stand for democracy and for ALL North Carolina residents.
10/17/25 9:58 PM	Kelsey Foxon		Do not cave to pressure from Trump. This is dangerous for our democracy. North Carolina has nothing to gain from redistricting.
10/17/25 9:59 PM	Chad Behanna		It's insulting to citizens of NC that such blatantly gerrymandered maps are proposed without a hint of shame. It subverts the rights to fair elections for NC citizens and is a cowardly power grab by Republicans who would rather stack the deck than actually govern in a way that helps people and earn votes. If there is a fraction of a shred of decency or respect for the citizens of NC in the decision-making, this proposal would be rejected immediately.
10/17/25 9:59 PM	Mrs. Melissa Kelly		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 10:00 PM	Brenna Ragghianti		Make a fair map and quit trying to gerrymander to steal votes. Work for the people and earn your job. This is bad for NC and you know it.
10/17/25 10:01 PM	Opposed to Redistricting Jacqueline Manning		What is the reason for this sudden request mid-decade? Because Mr Trump asked? As a registered voter I request that the census be done first. Thank you.

10/17/25 10:01 PM Peter G	I have several questions and comments. Listen carefully. 1. Why are you prioritizing the passage of a new congressional gerrymander over a state budget? 2. Why are you disenfranchising Black North Carolinians who live in the current configuration of NC-1, North Carolina is a quarter Black and not one congressional district gets even close to a plurality. 3. Why is it, that, under this new plan, Democrats receive only 3 congressional seats despite regularly receiving 50% or more of the statewide vote in other elections? 4. There is no explanation as to why Guilford County, home to half a million North Carolinians needs to be split by three different congressional districts. No valid explanation or logic whatsoever, the only logical explanation is that you wish to dilute its Democratic voters. Greensboro is a community of interest, and if you truly cared about ensuring NC is accurately represented, then why wouldn't you return all of Guilford county into one congressional seat, as it was under the NC supreme court-drawn map in 2022. 5. The neutral and independent redistricting tool known as Dave's Redistricting App, grades the CCM-2 map as the following; Competitiveness: 38/100 Splitting: 37/100 Minority Representation: 58/100 Compactness: 49/100 Political Proportionality: 0/100 This map scores a ZERO on political proportionality, and fails miserably in every other category. Were these factors like compactness even taken into consideration? Do you care about ensuring the fair, honest representation of North Carolina's political will or do you care more about ensuring how you can predetermine election outcomes? Any comment on how your map scores?
10/17/25 10:01 PM Lincoln Hancock	NC is a purple state and representation should be evenly divided. This is an egregiously anti-democratic map. You don,Äôt have a mandate, nor does Donald Trump.
10/17/25 10:01 PM Mr Hayes Norris	Dear Members of the House Select Committee on Redistricting and the Senate Elections Committee, I oppose the proposed 2025 congressional redistricting plan. There is no population-based reason to redraw districts in the middle of the decade, since the 2020 Census remains current. Changing maps now appears politically motivated and weakens public trust in fair representation. The North Carolina Constitution guarantees that all elections shall be free, yet partisan redistricting violates that promise. Courts have ruled that maps drawn for political gain undermine equal representation. Voters deserve stability and fairness, not shifting boundaries that favor one side. Constantly changing districts causes voter confusion and wastes public money. County election offices must reprint materials, adjust precincts, and retrain staff, all at taxpayer expense. Frequent redistricting discourages voter participation and erodes confidence in the process. The proposed map divides communities that share schools, economies, and culture. Splitting counties for political advantage weakens their collective voice in Congress. Voters should have representation that reflects genuine community ties rather than partisan design. North Carolina has already faced court battles over unconstitutional maps, and another round of litigation would repeat past mistakes. These lawsuits waste time and taxpayer resources. The people deserve maps drawn for fairness, not for legal fights. A nonpartisan or independent redistricting commission would serve the public far better than repeated partisan efforts. Other states have proven that independent maps improve trust and transparency. North Carolina should follow that example to restore voter confidence. In conclusion, mid-decade redistricting undermines democracy and the constitutional right to free elections. I urge the legislature to reject this plan and work toward an independent, voter-centered redistricting process that protects every North Carolinian,Äôs voice.
10/17/25 10:02 PM Justin Cannon	These maps are an insult to democracy. NC is a 50/50 state and our representation should reflect that. If your ideas and positions are appealing you shouldn,Äôt need to stack the deck. It,Äôs time to move to a non-partisan committee to draw the maps. Do the right thing. - NC Native/Citizen/Resident/Tax Payer/Voter

10/17/25 10:02 PM	Dr Mary Gilbert		NC has already been gerrymandered in an extreme and unfair partisan manner. This practice has made it such that some voices matter more than others. This is not fair representation. This practice needs to end
10/17/25 10:05 PM	Tina Sellers		Gerrymandering to serve Donald Trump,Äôs wishes will blow back on all of you. This is shameful and fundamentally wrong. You were not elected to take away voters,Äô rights and that,Äôs all this is. You should be ashamed of yoursekves.
10/17/25 10:06 PM	Samuel Farnham		I do not approve. This is blatant gerrymandering and does not accurately reflect the democratic voters in this state. The people responsible for this should be absolutely ashamed for such a blatant attack on representative democracy. If you want brain drains of college educated workers who will leave for bluer pastures, then this plan will work great.
10/17/25 10:07 PM	Danielle Mitchell		I am very concerned about the use of redistricting to game the election system and manipulate results. Regardless of which party carries it out it feels wrong and undemocratic. Everyone's voice and vote should be of equal value. By cheating to win elections, our representatives no longer have to care or be accountable to the electorate. It's a road that enables political corruption. I don't understand why every person and politician does not see this as destructive to our democracy.
10/17/25 10:07 PM	Kathryn P		I know you thoroughly do not care about public comment, as the entire point of your districting is so you never have to listen to anybody. You are cheaters and you are fascists. There is nothing fair about 5 maps in 6 years. History will look back on you and see you as a cowards you are.
10/17/25 10:07 PM	Margaret Larson		I cannot express my absolute disbelief that this state would sell its literal soul by redistricting to further gerrymander its constituents. This is a terrible precedent and will lead to no good for either party in the future. PLEASE DO NOT DO THIS. LET THE WILL IF THE PEOPLE CHOOSE OUR PATH IN NC.
10/17/25 10:07 PM	Deborah Tillman		Redistricting just to gain elections dilutes the will of the people. It,Äôs a shameful tactic of desperate politicians to stay in power. You should remember that you work for your constituents. The power of the people should always be more powerful than the people in power.
10/17/25 10:08 PM	Deanna Holder		If republicans cannot win on policy, why is it fair of them to redraw maps? This redistricting is unfair to all registered voters in North Carolina, it unfairly takes away the voice of those who live in this state. Politics are about choice and policy, and taking that away for political favors is corruption.
10/17/25 10:09 PM	Allison Kinard		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 10:09 PM	Dr. & Mrs. James Walsh	The Enhancement Center	DO NOT REDISTRICT OUR VOTING MAPS!!! THIS IS AN AFFRONT TO A DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC. IT MEANS THAT YOU ARE AFRAID OF THE VOTERS OF THIS GREAT STATE. WE ALL KNOW THAT IT IS A DESPICABLE ACT OF ALLEGED LEGISLATORS WHO DON'T THINK THEY CAN WIN ELECTIONS FAIR AND SQUARE. WE KNOW WHAT YOU ARE DOING IF YOU REDISTRICT TO GAIN PARTISAN ADVANTAGE. WE WILL NOT FORGET!!! PLEASE DO THE REAL IMPORTANT WORK OF LEGISLATING INSTEAD.
10/17/25 10:10 PM	Mrs Barb Lang		Stop breaking the law! If you can't win fairly the people don't want you on power!!!
10/17/25 10:10 PM	Gwen Dorman		Please allow the voices of the people to be heard. You have been elected to stand up for North Carolinians. Allow ,Äúwe the people,Äù to vote on any needed changes. Thank you for your consideration
10/17/25 10:11 PM	Neil Smith		The current proposal is anti-American. Hire an independent, non-partisan consultant to draw the map as fairly as possible.
10/17/25 10:13 PM	Jessica Pearson		Can you just do your job and pass a budget?! This is asinine. Stop trying to rig elections. I hope you all get voted out.
10/17/25 10:13 PM	No partisan redistricting Jocelyn Carbonara		Our state is already heavily gerrymandered to the point that it does not come close to representing our population, which is roughly split by party, but heavily weighed toward Republicans in the legislature. Any effort to redistrict now is a clear violation of our right to be represented by our Congress. Your stated purpose is to "please Donald Trump." He didn't vote for you, and you don't represent him. You represent us. If you proceed with redistricting, you will be contributing to the demise of democracy and voter rights in this state.
10/17/25 10:14 PM	April D		This is gerrymandering so blatant it's disgusting. The people who drew and support this map should be ashamed of themselves. It just shows how cowardly you all are if you have to cheat to win seats instead of connecting with voters and understanding their needs to win votes.
10/17/25 10:14 PM	Mrs Stephanie Fulker		It is my understanding that only 31% of registered voters in NC are registered republicans. It seems UNJUST to redistrict the state congressional districts to reflect a much higher proportion than is reflective from than the representative percentage of the state. That equates to disenfranchising the majority of voters in NC. This is wrong and you all know it!
10/17/25 10:14 PM	Mrs. Susan Markham		Redistricting to manipulate democracy is so dark and horrible, I am at a loss. Let democracy live.
10/17/25 10:15 PM	Sabrina Sales		Redistricting our maps is absolutely a violation of our voter rights!!! This is in no way okay to do!!! STOP the Gerrymandering!!!!!! Our people deserve and have the right to have their voices heard at the ballot box!!!!

10/17/25 10:15 PM	Charisse Goins		The newly proposed redistricting map is a farce. It is so clearly a blatant attempt at further gerrymandering. Your unconstitutional power grabs are turning off independents like myself. Do not do this. Let the voters of NC choose their representatives, not the other way around.
10/17/25 10:17 PM	Mrs Angie Kelly	Kelly Household	I implore you to NOT redistrict voting maps in North Carolina. We need the great state of North Carolina to do right by it,Äôs citizens and show our great country the correct way to win votes!
10/17/25 10:17 PM	Craig Thornburg		Gerrymandering is the way of cowards who don't believe that their policies are good enough. If your platform is good you don't need to cheat.
10/17/25 10:18 PM	Ms Eileen McConville		There is importantnwork to be done, And this is NOT what we the people need. Let our votes count and let our ‚Äúrepresentatives ‚Äù truly reflect the Distribution of Republicans, democrats and Independents in our state. No to redistricting.
10/17/25 10:18 PM	Ivy Brezina		This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's. This proposal is also unnecessary, rushed and costly.
10/17/25 10:19 PM	Laura Rezek		This is obvious gerrymandering. Stop trying to silence people,Äôs voices. Cheaters.
10/17/25 10:20 PM	Jill Brega		This redistricting is NOT what your constituents have charged you to do. Your job is to represent ALL citizens of North Carolina, not a small percentage of voters. This legislature has already gerrymandered the districts to great imbalance with the registered voters in the state. To further gerrymander is a statement on this legislature,Äôs unpopularity with the electorate. If you must work this hard to manipulate the vote, you are not EARNING it. Please take this time to pass a budget instead of further disenfranchising voters in this state
10/17/25 10:20 PM	Jessica McShea		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/17/25 10:20 PM	Tracey Goldman		You are a bunch of damn cheaters, and I will not be silent about your attempts to interfere with fair elections!!!!
10/17/25 10:21 PM	Jonathan Sherman		You must think the American public is stupid to go along with this. I assure you that we are not, and that we will VOTE YOU OUT if you continue with these unethical tactics!
10/17/25 10:21 PM	Eris Grant		This congressional map redistricting is a disgraceful and unconstitutional power grab for a fascist government that would rather sacrifice the American people for the sake of 1%. History will remember your choices, your votes, your words, and we will never forget how you would choose greed over the people who put their faith in your leadership to speak for them. Thousands upon thousands of people will lose their democratic voice for the sake of billionaires. You should be ashamed
10/17/25 10:21 PM	NO to gerrymandering Kim Bender	None	It is unacceptable and undemocratic to further gerrymander this state,Äôs districts. If ANYTHING, districts should return to the nonpartisan plan we had before the last redistricting that was done early by Republicans. Let democracy do its thing. If you,Äôre afraid of that, then maybe you should consider why that is. NO to this unfair redistricting!!!!
10/17/25 10:22 PM	Amanda Call		Absolutely do not pass this gerrymandering, cheating, bullshit. Republicans can,Äôt win without cheating and this a blatant attempt to corruptly steal elections.
10/17/25 10:22 PM	Stephanie Turnmire		This is manipulation and it is wrong! I strongly oppose redistricting!
10/17/25 10:23 PM	Former NC Republican Paul Robertson	Myself	Shameful attempt by the GOP to silence the vote of their constituents. I,Äôm a lifelong resident of NC and my voice will not be silenced. Your time will come to an end soon enough. You do not represent the populace of this state. We, as a country, bow to no man. Especially a convicted felon and dictator want to be.
10/17/25 10:23 PM	Tammie Kirschner		I am an unaffiliated voter who would prefer our maps be fair and nonpartisan. Given the current gerrymandered maps have left North Carolina under one party rule and that one party can,Äôt manage to pass a budget, we would be better off if our elected leaders had to work across the partisan divide for the good of NC. Our government is supposed to be of the people, for the people, and by the people- not of the party, for the party, and by the party.
10/17/25 10:24 PM	Mr. James Laingen		Partisan gerrymandering must end. Republican attempts to disenfranchise voters reflect poorly on their policies if they must resort to voter restrictions to stay in power.
10/17/25 10:24 PM	Mar√≠a Gomez		This is a terrible idea, it is rigging the elections and destroying our democracy. Republicans should compete in the merits of their platform and not by cheating. What an insult to constituents.
10/17/25 10:25 PM	Lorraine Knoll		This gerrymandered redistricting is unacceptable. The people of NC should not be silenced due to partisan politics. We deserve to be heard and protected from one party or the other taking unilateral decisions and running wild. And yes I have been a lifelong republican but this nonsense is turning me away from the party!

10/17/25 10:25 PM	New gerrymandered map Beth Perry		This new map is ridiculous, and the fact that Republican leadership is even entertaining this change suggested by Trump and his cronies is terrible. Show North Carolinians what you stand for and win fairly on the merits of your positions/policies if you have any. Don,Äôt spend your time redrawing lines to carve out districts that fail to represent the true population of our state and try to force your unpopular plans on us. Instead, try to do some good, help us prosper, save us from the damaging effects of the president,Äôs proposed changes and criminal overreach. This is illegal, immoral, and terribly unpopular. Do what you were elected to do and look out for the best interests of all North Carolinians. Enough is enough.
10/17/25 10:26 PM	Elizabeth Platovsky		As an unaffiliated North Carolina voter, I strongly encourage the general assembly to keep the current district maps in place and not vote for the new redistricting plan. If this new plan goes through, it will highly impact how I will vote in the future for state and local elections.
10/17/25 10:27 PM	Mr Stephen Jaffe		The proposal to add another Congressional district in North Carolina, very transparently at the request of President Trump, is an embarrassment to the voters of our state. Republican legislators have already gerrymandered our congressional districts to insure a lopsided partisan delegation. To add one further R- leaning seat is to deprive voters of proper representation and to demonstrate that the legislature,Äôs sole interest is to protect their majority. Please convene the legislature to vote on a suitable budget, not this nonsense.
10/17/25 10:27 PM	Tomica Floryan		Do not do this!!!!
10/17/25 10:28 PM	Ms Amanda Ostrander		Stop breaking up populous counties and diluting NC votes. Independent redistricting and debate should be the norm. It should be enshrined in the state constitution.
10/17/25 10:29 PM	Reba Downs		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 10:29 PM	Kim Hudson		If you are going to redistrict then please go back to the drawing board and create fair districts that are true representations of our state. Not gerrymandered districts that aid one party.
10/17/25 10:29 PM	Jessica Cossette		Please stop pushing partisan agendas when drawing lines. Gerrymandering our state that votes 50/50 to now be represented 79/21 is obvious corruption.
10/17/25 10:30 PM	No redistricting Eve Ciotti		I urge you not the let our 50/50 state be carved up into districts that don,Äôt resemble the voting population
10/17/25 10:31 PM	Sheree Rudolph		Please stop gerrymandering our state. Please let the districts been drawn by a fair, impartial body if you want to redraw the already gerrymandered districts. Please stop silencing voices that deserve to be heard and represented by people that will actually serve their constituents. Please just stop.
10/17/25 10:32 PM	Elizabeth O'Hagan		Please, DO NOT redistrict NC. Everyone has a right to a voice and a legitimate vote.
10/17/25 10:32 PM	Mr Philip Quinones		It's very disappointing to see the state legislature take this course of action without input from the voters. We sent you all to Raleigh to do the people's business and make North Carolina's citizens lives better with fair representation and taxation with equal services that benefit the citizens. Your job is not to listen or follow the will of the president of the United States. By doing this potential course of action, you are taking away everyone's right to choose. This is not democracy, but a regime taking away the rights of all North Carolina citizens.
10/17/25 10:33 PM	Margie Malone		Do the things that we sent you to Raleigh for. Pass a budget, improve our schools, deal with real issues. This is not what we voted for (and I am a republican). This is a waste of time when there are so many other pressing issues that you should be working on. You will ALL be voted out if you support this. It,Äôs been shown to be against the will of over 80% of all NC voters.
10/17/25 10:33 PM	Abby Bryson		There is no reason to redistribute outside of census information that shows population shifts. I believe this is a forced matter to artificially inflate the representation of one political party regardless of the people they would be representing.
10/17/25 10:34 PM	Ms. Laura Garfinkel		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/17/25 10:36 PM	Opposition Redistricting Catherine Parker		I am in strong opposition to the redistricting plan proposed. We should NOT allow unnecessary and politically motivated redistricting. This has a clear negative impact on North Carolinians having fair representation. I would love to see a proposal brought forward for a nonpartisan, impartial board to oversee districting in the future. This has got to stop.
10/17/25 10:36 PM	Dr. Rochelle Ford		Redricting for partisan reasons (increasing political party representation) is not a good reason to do so. Having the president put pressure on our state or other states to redistricting in favor of his political party is inappropriate. We should continue to tie our redistricting schedule and rationale attached to the US census and population distribution. Please reject a redistricting proposal.
10/17/25 10:37 PM	Ms Denise Lockett	self	The whole premise of democracy is that it is representational. Drawing new maps that unfairly bias elections towards one party is undemocratic and un-American. Gerrymandering is stealing.

10/17/25 10:38 PM	Dr Clare Reinhardt		Redistricting will not allow for the voice of the people of NC to be accurately conveyed and is antithetical to what our founding fathers intended.
10/17/25 10:39 PM	Ms Deborah Compton		I cannot trust you to be fair and unbiased. Leave our districts alone.
10/17/25 10:41 PM	Dr. Paul Koptak		Why is the President pressuring Senator Berger to redistrict? Because he is afraid of losing seats in the House? North Carolina is already a negative example of gerrymandering. 76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law.
10/17/25 10:41 PM	Yelena McManaman		I urge you to reject the blatantly partisan redistricting plans!
10/17/25 10:42 PM	Stop cheating Jaime McKee		Stop cheating so republicans will have more seats. You are not working for the people of North Carolina by doing this. I hope you have the day you deserve.
10/17/25 10:43 PM	Mr Henry J Belada Jr.	NA	No, to redistricting at this time. Just because the president wants it, I have friends of both parties that is hurting due to tariffs, health care, food prices and services and they are not happy. North Carolina polls shows this is not needed at this time. Let the voters decide who goes to DC for them.
10/17/25 10:44 PM	The Rev. Deacon Hope Laingen		Gerrymandering and redistricting for the purpose of serving your political party over the interest of all of the North Carolinians you have been elected to serve and represent is not acceptable. Please stop wasting taxpayer dollars (which pay your salaries) with political grandstanding and get to the work of creating a state budget and other legislation which will improve the quality of life for your constituents. We expect better from you.
10/17/25 10:45 PM	Hope Schaller		The new map is horrible! Stop cheating, draw a fair map and bring back democracy.
10/17/25 10:45 PM	Roberta Rosell		This plan is (or should be) illegal and unconstitutional. You've already redrawn and stolen 3 seats through gerrymandering, back when we had equal representation of 7-7. Voters pick their reps, not the other way around. You should be ashamed of yourselves for trying to cheat voters at Trump's demand.
10/17/25 10:46 PM	Evelyn Goldman		Redistricting for the sole purpose of gaining more Republican seats is theft of our democracy. If you can,Äôt win fairly, accept that you lost because THE PEOPLE didn,Äôt want what you were offering. We have laws, both state and federal, and you can,Äôt just ignore them or change them to suit your whims when the laws are there to serve THE PEOPLE. (In case it needs saying, THE PEOPLE are the citizens of the state, not just those who vote for you.)
10/17/25 10:47 PM	Augustine Eze		This is a brazen power grab that is unAmerican. Republicans should be ashamed.
10/17/25 10:48 PM	Mrs Elena Kon		No to gerrymandering. NC needs an independent fair maps org to redraw the districts.
10/17/25 10:48 PM	Rev. JAMES DALE		I was under the impression that Republicans were the party of limited government. It appears I am mistaken. I was under the impression that Republicans were a party of fairness. It appears I am mistaken. I was under the impression that Republicans were the party of honor. It appears I am mistaken. You can gerrymander. But you shouldn't.
10/17/25 10:49 PM	Ms. Virginia S. Moe		This is a terrible plan. It shows a lack of respect for democracy. You know half the residence of the state are Democrats and you should try your best to draw lines that reflects that.
10/17/25 10:49 PM	Dr Sherry Burch		I strongly oppose Phil Bergers grubby little hands on my vote and my district. We are already the most gerrymandered state and yall just keep cheating instead of actually having any good ideas. The NCGOP is ever just representing their own mediocre sorry hides instead of anyone that actually pays taxes in this state. The BLUE CITIES FUND THIS STATE. Yall would be up a creek without us. Trash.
10/17/25 10:50 PM	Allain Andry		Shameful subservience to the federal government. I do NOT support the redistricting efforts and then the legislature should focus on governing for NORTH CAROLINIANS.
10/17/25 10:50 PM	Cathi Mowery		There is absolutely no need to once again redraw the state,Äôs maps. The GOP cheating is out of control (of the people anyway). Total BS! I hope you lose big anyway.

10/17/25 10:51 PM	Dr. Holly Savoy		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the newly proposed congressional map. This plan is a clear partisan power grab that undermines fair representation and erodes trust in our democratic process. The proposed redistricting would shift multiple counties, specifically to make the 1st Congressional District less competitive and more favorable to one political party. This is not redistricting for population balance or community integrity; it is redistricting for political gain. Such manipulation of district lines silences the voices of voters in several counties, and weakens the representation of Black and Democratic voters whose voices are already under threat in our state. North Carolinians have repeatedly said they want fair maps drawn transparently, not behind closed doors to serve partisan interests. This plan betrays that will and risks violating both the Voting Rights Act and our state‚Äôs constitutional principles of equal protection and free elections. When elected officials redraw maps to predetermine election outcomes, they are not governing, they are choosing their voters. That is the opposite of democracy. Our state deserves representatives who win elections through ideas and accountability, not through manipulation of district boundaries. I urge the legislature to reject this proposal and instead convene an independent, transparent, and citizen-centered redistricting process. North Carolinians of every party deserve fair maps and a government that reflects the people‚Äôs will, not one engineered to maintain partisan control.
10/17/25 10:51 PM	Brooke Weber		If you have to cheat to win, you deserve to lose.
10/17/25 10:52 PM	Jeremy Mikell		North Carolina is a diverse state with so many incredible citizens, ideas and innovations. Our state has proven this through the years and will continue to do so. However, redrawing the maps to disproportionately represent the citizens of this great state will only lead to ideas and ideals being represented by one party over another. It will lead to ideas becoming stale and one sided. And it will not represent the population appropriately. Our state legislature should fight the urge for more power grabs, and rather do not only what is right with setting a more fair and representative districts, but also continue to foster more diversity and inclusive representation that more accurately reflects the entire state of ideas and values. Please reconsider redrawing the heavily gerrymandered districts and hire an independent body to establish fair voting districts. I say this as an independent who has voted for both parties, someone who has always wanted two or more quality choices to vote for but is losing faith in one side ever presenting a proper choice anymore.
10/17/25 10:52 PM	NO KINGS IN NC OR THE USA American Patriot		NO KINGS IN AMERICA. WE THE PEOPLE BELIEVE IN FAIR ELECTIONS. IF YOU CAN NOT WIN ELECTIONS FAIR AND SQUARE, WITHOUT CHEATING WHICH IS EXACTLY WHAT THIS IS, THEN LOSE WITH INTEGRITY.
10/17/25 10:52 PM	Oh Happy Day Lynn Cunningham-Tanner		So thankful you‚Äôre redistricting ??
10/17/25 10:53 PM	Miss TJ Amos	Private Practice	Please stop trying to redistrict. True conservative values demand transparency, integrity, and competition,Äîvictory earned through ideas and persuasion, not through the manipulation of electoral maps. Ending gerrymandering upholds both the Constitution and the moral duty to ensure government remains accountable to the people it serves. 76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law. This is true, REGARDLESS of party affiliation. ANY party doing this is WRONG.

10/17/25 10:54 PM	Kara Becker		I am strongly opposed to the proposed redistricting plan. Redrawing congressional districts specifically to ensure that only one party has a chance of winning in any given election is unequivocally wrong and the antithesis of what our country was founded on. As a citizen of North Carolina, I want to see a FAIR map, where all districts are competitive so that representatives are directly accountable to the people. Skewing the map in favor of one party is unacceptable, and I am appalled by the level of gerrymandering in this proposed plan. I identified as a republican but switched to independent/unaffiliated, in part due to stupid political stunts (such as this proposed plan). I want to see bipartisanship. Actual legislation (like a budget!) being passed. True democracy in action, where everyone,Äôs voice matters. Not these stupid attempts to keep one party in power at all costs. I would like an independent, nonpartisan or bipartisan, commission to oversee the drawing of a fair map for NC. Anyone who supports this plan as it stands now will have lost my vote for all future elections. Please instead
10/17/25 10:54 PM	Dr Sara Bone		This is embarrassing. Have some integrity.
10/17/25 10:56 PM	James Gambrell		Please do not allow a revision to the district maps that gives an unfair advantage to one group. NC,Äôs maps already unfairly disenfranchise many voters. We want fair maps!
10/17/25 10:58 PM	Samantha Moshogianes		This is a clear attack against not only the good people of North Carolina, but to democracy itself. Truly disgraceful..
10/17/25 10:58 PM	Josh Stein		Good job. Your win my loss, my win your loss. Zerosum. Fair and simple
10/17/25 10:59 PM	Brian Holland		76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law. I know power is all you care about, prove me wrong. Do the right thing, for maybe the first time.
10/17/25 10:59 PM	Mrs Lizette Lopez-Scotton		I am deeply disturbed that this degree of redistricting is being seriously considered. The proposed map is an abuse of power and disenfranchising the voices of democrat voices who have been elected and won their positions fair and square. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. A poll of North Carolina voters conducted in September found that large majorities in both parties oppose gerrymandering in North Carolina, including 87% of Democrats and 78% of Republicans but yet here are republicans legislators bending at the whim of the president instead of what NC truly wants given that we also in this state voted for a Democrat Governor, Democrat attorney general and elected Allison Riggs. I strongly oppose this redistricting as it is an infringement on democracy itself
10/17/25 11:00 PM	Ms Corliss Hurrigan		Gerrymandering in North Carolina shouldn,Äôt be happening because it takes away the true voice of the people. When political leaders draw district lines to favor one party, it undermines fair representation and weakens trust in our democracy. Every community deserves to have their vote count equally, not be divided or silenced for political gain. North Carolina,Äôs voters should choose their leaders ,Äî not the other way around. It,Äôs time to put fairness, integrity, and the people,Äôs voice first.
10/17/25 11:02 PM	Mrs. Barbara Hudgens	N/a	There are more NC voters that are registered as Democrats than Republicans and an even greater number that are unaffiliated. The districts should be drawn to allow the voters to choose their preferred representatives not to let the politicians choose their voters.
10/17/25 11:02 PM	Ms Alison Hilton		Cheaters. You should be ashamed of yourselves.
10/17/25 11:04 PM	Britni Grimes		The maps should not be redrawn to add a Republican seat! NC is a solidly purple state so its representation should be more like 7 Republicans and 7 Democrats. However, the overarching issue and one that the state has failed to address is that NCGA has no business drawing the voting maps. Not only, have they consistently been found to be unconstitutional, costing the state huge amounts of legal fees, they should be drawn by a bipartisan committee and not those who are looking to ,Äúearn,Äù, or rather steal votes. This map is terrible and is taking attention away from pass a state budget and other congressional actions that benefit ALL North Carolinians. Do better, NCGA!
10/17/25 11:04 PM	Laura Tepfenhart		Redistricting in the middle of the decade is cheating your voters. Do not do this! That makes you cheaters.
10/17/25 11:05 PM	Mr Matthew Johnson		No gerrymandering in my state. No more games.
10/17/25 11:05 PM	Attorney Nastasia Watkins	NC Black Alliance	North Carolina deserves fair maps. Minority, Democratic, and Republican districts deserve to be represented by leadership that reflects their demographics. It is concerning that the Republican party continues to attempt to steal districts and congressional seats instead of earning them. Past maps have been challenged in court due to their inherent inequities. It's time for fair maps where North Carolinians votes are counted equally.

10/17/25 11:05 PM	Jennie Fratus		You,Äôre proving you,Äôre corrupt by doing this. I,Äôve already convinced many people in my community who previously voted republican to switch their support based on recent actions by the NCGOP (ie - inability to pass a budget for over 100 days, congress members being loyal to Trump over their constituents.) this will just make my case stronger! thank you in advance for turning North Carolina blue! NCers are more united than ever!
10/17/25 11:07 PM	Brittany Etter		As a North Carolina resident, I would encourage our representatives to prioritize their fiscal responsibilities over redistricting. This would demonstrate your commitment to serving constituents rather than political agendas.
10/17/25 11:10 PM	Ms. Vicki Boyer	citizen	No one has a 'right' to win an election. To manipulate election districts to guarantee a win for a particular person or party is an admission that your platform and ideas are so weak you can only win by cheating. America's reputation as a place where a citizen who works hard has a fair chance to win big is destroyed by this action. The shame of this action will follow you to the grave, and beyond.
10/17/25 11:10 PM	Heather Leak		Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Matthew 7:12 If you wouldn,Äôt like it if democrats did it, then you shouldn,Äôt be doing this. North Carolinians deserve better, silencing voices of approx 50% of your constituents to satisfy Trump and your party is abhorrent. It,Äôs time to work together for the betterment of our state (and country) instead of play this shady game and silencing voices. Working together with various opinions is what makes our country great. We are paying attention and using our vote accordingly.
10/17/25 11:11 PM	Ms Mary Soule		Do not further gerrymander our state. I want my vote counted fairly.
10/17/25 11:11 PM	Krischan Jennings		Voters should be allowed to choose their elected officials- not have their officials rig the maps to guarantee their win. The proposed redistricting is un-American at its core. Our founding fathers went to war over their belief that they should be properly represented by their government- fast forward to today and modern Republicans spit in the face of the people who built this country and the ideals that made it great. DON,ÄôT TREAD ON ME.
10/17/25 11:12 PM	Victor Fahrer		Don't do it. Use and independent commission,
10/17/25 11:12 PM	Gerrymandering Cristie ray		Stop gerrymandering so you get to keep your autocracy!!! Let the people vote without republican influence on the lines! NO GERRYMANDERING IN NORTH CAROLINA OR ANY OTHER STATE!
10/17/25 11:13 PM	Suzanne Veazey		What are you so afraid of to go to such lengths to impede free and fair elections?
10/17/25 11:13 PM	Paula Fowler		This is a blatant gerrymander on republicans part. Your continued efforts to disenfranchise any part of voters rights is simply wrong. Do better!
10/17/25 11:14 PM	Julie Mooney		We need a redistricting commission that develops a FAIR system that allows true representation of all of the good people of our wonderful state. Not this latest insult to fairness.
10/17/25 11:14 PM	No., No redistricted Bishop., Sherman Garner		Fair maps and no redistricting in NC.
10/17/25 11:15 PM	Giacinta Shidler		The congressional makeup should be proportionate to the population. I don't understand why this is even controversial to say. Y'all's shenanigans have already been shot down by the courts more than once. If Republicans can't win fair then they don't deserve to win. Stop rigging the game and let your constituents have fair representation! I am so effing tired of this and will vote for representatives who will stand up for the people of North Carolina.
10/17/25 11:15 PM	Mrs Nancy Ruff		I feel it is totally inappropriate to redistrict outside the regular schedule. I have seen no reason that explains the need for this. If this can be done by Republicans when in power, it will then be done by Democrats when they are in power. It is rigging elections and it is wrong. I love America and North Carolina and want us to stay true to the goals of our Founding Fathers.
10/17/25 11:16 PM	Elizabeth Harrison		I live in 27609. I am a Raleigh native and my family has been a part of N.C. for 5 generations. I care deeply about our state and the right for everyone,Äôs voice to be heard. Please do NOT redraw these maps. They should be redrawn every 10 years by an independent council gen we do the census. Please do not redraw these maps.
10/17/25 11:16 PM	Mrs. Tanna Timbes		This is one of the most horrific things that Republicans have done. Is the only way you can win to redraw the districts. Step up and do the right thing. Do for our country with the founding fathers meant for us to do and that's not to go behind people's backs redrawing districts. In addition why would you basically hold people hostage to get a budget passed. Stop the gerrymandering. Remember you were an American before you chose to be whatever you are now
10/17/25 11:16 PM	Cheryl Long		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 11:18 PM	Mr. Brian Vincent		The proposed plan to redistrict is SHAMEFUL. In a purple state, out of 14 districts-- 10 are R and 4 are D. It is amazing to me how the needs of NC citizens are such low a priority of Hall and Berger! What about a BUDGET guys?????

10/17/25 11:18 PM	Paula Williams		Not that you care, but I,Äôm disgusted by your behavior and actions. Instead of making sure we have what WE need as citizens, you,Äôre worried about padding the next election. Eventually your time will run out and we will never forget your priorities. While we suffer as educators underpaid and constantly putting our own money into our classrooms, you get paid more even when you won,Äôt pass a budget that says we deserve more. You,Äôre despicable humans.
10/17/25 11:18 PM	John Lee		This is an attack on democracy. I am republican but this is a shameful tactic. We are a country that is meant to be run by its people, not corrupt politicians only focused on their own self interest
10/17/25 11:19 PM	Mrs Marilyn Ridgeway		This move us disgraceful and undemocratic. We are supposed to choose our legislators not the other way around. Even Republicans should reject this plan as this will cause more blow back than you can handle. You represent us not Donald Trump. I am ashamed of you . You obviously have no shame, try winning an election fairly without rigging it. You will turn a purple state more blue purple. We need an independent commission as was proposed years ago.
10/17/25 11:20 PM	Ms. Kay Hooper		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 11:20 PM	Jennifer Williamson		Pass the budget. Stop cheating. GOP policies are unpopular. NC residents deserve to be governed by ethical representatives with integrity who are elected under fair and impartial maps.
10/17/25 11:21 PM	We, the people Cecily Benson	SURJ	Redistricting Comments I am a mother of two small boys I don,Äôt plan on teaching them that one human beings voice matters more than another,Äôs. Not based on race, religion, disability, sexuality or gender. Our family values are based on the fact that each person has inherent value and shall never be undercut by the very government that would represent the marginalized if our elected officials really represent WE, THE PEOPLE. I have enjoyed being a part of North Carolina for 18 years after I moved from Florida with my family. My husband grew up in Hickory and works here as a fire sprinkler/ back flow contractor. We love North Carolina, but if our representatives are only going to be a voice for the minority ideologues in our state, we will either feel the need to fight our representatives for change in EVERY legal way possible, or leave the state and take our earnings with us. Campaign contributions are public record, and we can call your donors and ask them about your unpopular policies and if they are aware that a good percentage of their income comes from folks who do care. If you,Äôre not sure who you represent anymore, we,Äôll clear things up for you.
10/17/25 11:21 PM	Mrs. Lea Ray		I am writing to oppose the proposed redistricting maps for NC. NC has already been redistricted twice since 2020. This is a blatant power grab by Republicans. I ultimately support new voter maps drawn up by a nonpartisan commision, but I do not believe any redistricting should take effect before the midterm elections. Thank you.
10/17/25 11:21 PM	Kira Edmond		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 11:21 PM	Jennifer Morris		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/17/25 11:22 PM	Sharon Demorest		I am firmly opposed to this redistricting plan. It is a power grab that flies in the face of the goals of government representation by denying the will of the people. It is a shameful denial of the duty of government to serve all citizens as it attempts to silence voices that might disagree. Government representatives should be concerned with improving the lives of all residents rather than seeking to consolidate their own power. This behavior is anti-democratic and must not be allowed.

10/17/25 11:28 PM	Kim McLeod		Leave our state alone and do not redistrict NC. This is unfair and unlawful. Do better!
10/17/25 11:28 PM	Janice Huggins		No. I simply say no. Enough is enough. You already drew court ruled illegal districts then used delay tactics to dilute our vote and there,Äôs no way you should be able to do it again. If you want my vote, don,Äôt cheat. Do better. Senator Tillis saw the light and the fact that your policies will hurt North Carolinians. This is not ok. No!
10/17/25 11:29 PM	Elizabeth Howard		This gerrymandering at trump,Äôs request is one of the most un-American acts that NC Republicans could do. You are deliberately taking away the voices and votes of millions of North Carolinians that you are required to represent EQUALLY. Why Republicans think they can act at the behest of a now totally authoritarian federal government and wanna be king is baffling. Do NC Republicans lack spines? Do you agree with authoritarian rule? Do you not remember the proud historical role that North Carolina played in the American Revolution? You need to understand that if you bow the knee to the current administration you will be on the wrong side of history. My grandfather and his brothers fought for freedom in World War I. My father fought for freedom in World War II. My uncle gave his life in the fight for freedom in World War II. NC Republicans are dishonoring my loved one,Äôs sacrifice by continuing with this illegal gerrymandering and dismantling of freedom. Maybe y,Äôall need to reflect on the oath of office you swore to when you were elected: "I, _____, do solemnly and sincerely swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States; that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and to the constitutional powers and authorities which are or may be established for the government thereof; and that I will endeavor to support, maintain and defend the Constitution of said State, not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, to the best of my knowledge and ability; so help me God."
10/17/25 11:29 PM	Travis D.		Stop gerrymandering maps to benefit you-especially in regards to Trump appointed representatives. We are struggling, this is the last thing we need. Make maps for the people, not to discriminate & isolate black and brown people.
10/17/25 11:29 PM	Mr Adam Fleischer		Seems to me that this works perfectly. There are no blue states, only blue cities.
10/17/25 11:30 PM	Rhonda Breed	American Citizen	The GOP in NC has done nothing but gerrymander this state into guaranteed red districts, diluting the voting power of minorities and many centrists. It is unethical at best, with no regard for all citizens by the party in power. We are NOT a red state. The top offices in our state are held by Democrats when it is up to the whole electorate. When it is divided into carefully crafted districts for the purpose of party control, it is not representative of the desires of the whole state; it is not a democracy. As a registered independent, I assure you, I will no longer check any box on the GOP side as I have in the past. At least not until the GOP returns to integrity and pulls away from the Godless, lawless party of Trump.
10/17/25 11:30 PM	STOP GERRYMANDERING Mandy Brown		Do not blatantly gerrymander our voting districts anymore, we the people do NOT consent or approve.
10/17/25 11:30 PM	Heather Kane		Gerrymandering is flat out wrong and undemocratic. Win on your ideas, not by cheating. We want equal representation by party.
10/17/25 11:34 PM	John Smith		This is ridiculous and should absolutely NOT be done.
10/17/25 11:37 PM	Dr Diane Williams	(UU)	Just make sure we are ALL represented.
10/17/25 11:38 PM	George Griffin		I realize there is nothing I can say that will persuade the Republican legislators to back down. This latest gerrymandering is simply reflective of the darkness in their hearts. The NCGA has truly lost its way.
10/17/25 11:38 PM	Mrs JoAnn Spees		Please DO NOT VOTE TO APPROVE MID-TERM GERRYMANDERING. Our Constitution supports the concept of one person one vote. Gerrymandering dilutes the authentic will of the people. Peculiarly drawn maps in off-seasons make it confusing for voters and keep representatives from knowing the unique needs of the people they are supposed to represent. Don't permit outside political pressure influence your responsibility to your constituents.
10/17/25 11:39 PM	Dana Wilmoth		Please vote against redistricting. Thank you.
10/17/25 11:39 PM	Cindy MacConnie		Do not re-district North Carolina. If we wanted republicans to win we,Äôd vote for them without you rigging the system. It,Äôs bad enough that you took power from Stein ,Äî the voters wanted him to win that,Äôs why we voted for him. It would be better if you came up with policies that actually help people.
10/17/25 11:39 PM	Mrs. Sheila Beaudry	Retired	Gerrymandering should be illegal. You are making votes of people who live in and near cities be valued less than votes of people in rural areas by splitting them up. You are making African Americans votes worth less. You are distorting the real thoughts and feelings of the people of North Carolina which can be seen by looking at the results of the state wide elections where there is no gerrymandered effect. You should be ashamed of what you are doing, which is bringing more divisiveness when we really need to be working together to solve our state's problems.
10/17/25 11:40 PM	Jennifer Stubstad		Why don,Äôt you try serving the NC voters instead of a deranged administration? What ever happened to free and fair elections? Can,Äôt win on policies so gerrymander the state so much it,Äôs the worst in country. Shame. Maps should be fair, this is clearly yet another illegal power grab and we are sick of it. .
10/17/25 11:44 PM	Mrs Jane Robbins		Please stop what you,Äôre doing and let all districts be drawn by an impartial panel. Otherwise, we citizens will never trust you. We should vote yes or no for your policies, not based on gerrymandered districts.

10/17/25 11:46 PM	Cynthia Kirsch		Partisan redistricting by the North Carolina Assembly, in redrawing the maps, takes away our votes. The Republicans can,Äôt beat them so they will cheat. Stand by North Carolina, instead of an extension of Trump. Our voices need to be heard by our representatives that we have elected. Do your job, pass a budget, pass health care for North Carolina. North Carolina deserves so much better than corrupt Republican leadership.
10/17/25 11:47 PM	Debra Stoltz		Quit gerrymandering our state! Let North Carolina have free and fair elections and listen to the will of the people. All the people, not just the chosen few.
10/17/25 11:48 PM	T BradleyNC		Excellent! Keep up the great work
10/17/25 11:48 PM	Ms Gail Powell	Self	Stop The Destruction Of The United States Of America,Ä¶..Uphold The Constitution,Ä¶Jail The Felon
10/17/25 11:49 PM	Ms Jill Boniske		Perhaps you can put together a bipartisan board and to right for a change. Otherwise, it,Äôs just more partisan political shenanigans.
10/17/25 11:53 PM	Nathaniel Hampton		Redistricting is not justified and seems motivated by party pressure to unfairly secure majority rather than fair representation. I do not recognize redistricting as valid if the motive is not fair representation. I would support redistricting if the unfair representation of the current districts could be demonstrated. The effort to redraw district lines should only be made to reflect changes in community demographics and not as a means to gain advantage over an opossing political party. I stand with others in condemning this type of behavior by elected officials and consider this an abuse of power. I would like my comment to reflect that if any elected official from districts that represent me who choose to move forward with redistricting under the current circumstances DO NOT represent my interests and I would instead like to see a reversal of any new redistricting such that the districts lines match those in September 2025.
10/17/25 11:53 PM	Mrs. Jackie Simms	Ethical Humanist Society of Asheville	True conservative values demand transparency, integrity, and competition,Äîvictory earned through ideas and persuasion, not through the manipulation of electoral maps.
10/17/25 11:53 PM	Kathleen Wooster		This is just so wrong- it,Äôs blatant CHEATING!! Do NOT let this happen!! I guarantee there will be lots more protests!!!??
10/17/25 11:55 PM	Eric Lindgren		As a lifelong resident of North Carolina, I am writing to express my deep dissatisfaction with the General Assembly,Äôs proposed congressional redistricting plan, which appears designed to secure an additional Republican seat in Congress. This effort,Äîreportedly in response to directives from President Donald Trump,Äîis not merely a political maneuver; it is a calculated attempt to entrench power at the expense of representative democracy and the well-being of North Carolinians. While the legal vulnerabilities of this plan are well documented,Äîviolating principles laid out in Wesberry v. Sanders and Shaw v. Reno, and contradicting Article I, Section 2 of both the U.S. and North Carolina Constitutions,Äîthe more pressing concern is the devastating impact such a move will have on everyday Americans. Gerrymandering is not just a technical violation of electoral fairness; it is a gateway to policies that harm working families, suppress dissent, and destabilize communities. If this redistricting plan succeeds, it will pave the way for a congressional majority that does not reflect the will of the people, but rather the will of a narrow partisan agenda. That agenda has already shown its hand: millions of Americans stand to lose access to affordable healthcare, as protections under the Affordable Care Act are dismantled. Energy, food, and gas prices will continue to rise as regulatory oversight is weakened and corporate interests are prioritized over consumer protections. Military spending will continue to balloon while domestic programs are gutted, and we risk further militarization of local police forces, as well as further deployment of U.S. troops in American cities under the guise of ‚Äúrestoring order.‚Äù Perhaps most troubling is the chilling effect this will have on free speech and civic engagement. When districts are drawn to silence dissent and marginalize opposition, those who speak out against the administration may find themselves targeted, surveilled, or excluded from meaningful representation. This is not speculative,Äîit is a pattern we have seen emerge in states where partisan gerrymandering has gone unchecked. This action isn't to further the interests of North Carolinians and Americans as a whole, but rather as a blatant power grab by an ever shrinking, but extremely vocal minority. Let me be clear: this redistricting plan is not just legally actionable,Äîit is morally indefensible and politically reckless. It will deepen polarization, erode public trust, and accelerate the decline of democratic norms in North Carolina. If enacted, it will not go unnoticed by voters. The consequences will be felt not only in courtrooms, but at the ballot box, in our hospitals, in our grocery stores, and in our streets
10/17/25 11:55 PM	Cara Harrison		Redistributing is an obscene play by the republikkkans to steal an election they think (& I hope) they will lose because their policies are cruel, biased to the rich & white, and deeply hurtful to their constituents.
10/17/25 11:56 PM	Anne Dachowski	Select...	I ask that you refrain from mid-decade congressional redistricting that would further distort North Carolina,Äôs federal voting maps and erode any North Carolinians,Äô power to elect candidates of their choice. 76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law. Ending gerrymandering upholds both the Constitution and the moral duty to ensure government remains accountable to the people it serves.

10/18/25 12:00 AM	Charlotte From North Carolina	I am entirely opposed to the new districting maps. I hope the NC congress is ashamed of themselves for such a brazen move to take power and representation from their constituents. Shame on anyone who votes in favor of these maps, it will not be forgotten.
10/18/25 12:00 AM	Ms Lani Hashimoto	Independent redistricting would solve so many problems now & when we overturn your majority next year. If you insist on a mid cycle change, do something meaningful for long term benefits. What you,Âôre doing now is shameful and not even in your long term interests.
10/18/25 12:00 AM	Ashlie Brewer	Absolutely shameful and blantant gerrymandering continues. The proposed new map (along with the previous this one would replace) are neither equal nor fair to North Carolinians,Âîit should not be used. Pass the task of redrawing district maps to an independent redistricting commission and work on passing a state budget.
10/18/25 12:01 AM	Joshua Lobe	Democracy is the best form of government humans have yet conceived, and fair voting where every vote counts is crucial to uphold it. North Carolina has been a 50/50 split for democrats and republicans for at least 20 years, yet since 2010 it has had a vast republican majority in both the state legislature and the u.s. congressional house. This is not a functioning democracy. It is imperative that you draw fair maps that accurately represent the voters of North Carolina to best represent the ideas and policies that will make the state thrive. Dictatorships always stagnate and putrify, and it is in the best interest of North Carolina politicians to uphold the integrity of our democracy. That same democracy which I pledged allegiance to every day of my entire schooling. That democracy represented the voices of all citizens of the country, not just the ones who donated lots of money.
10/18/25 12:01 AM	Laura Dorsey	North Carolina congressional maps should be drawn to fairly represent the population of voters in the state, and not to give one political party intractable control over the state government. Instead of unfairly rigging elections in favor of the Republican Party, y'all should be at work passing a budget and making sure the folks and communities in western NC get the aid they need to complete recovery from Helene. If you can't win without cheating maybe you should reconsider your position.
10/18/25 12:02 AM	Brian Greene	I'd vote against it. It's just a scam directed my MAGA Republicans to cheat getting votes. Don't go down in history as being part of this. We will vote you out of you do.
10/18/25 12:04 AM	Gerrymandering Victoria Gaines	The way in which the GOP thinks that redrawing the maps represent what the general populace would require is astoundingly unconstitutional. If the only way GOP can win is by cheating, then it is time to assume that no state taxes should be paid by constituents who are not family represented. Please recall that our founding fathers based this country,Âôs constitution on the concept of ‚Äúno taxation without representation ‚Äì and do not gerrymander without the idea that, if constituents aren,Âôt fairly represented, then WE THE PEOPLE will not pay any salaries. We will vote you out, and there will be voices at every meeting calling for change.
10/18/25 12:07 AM	Brian Doerfler	I am strongly against this redistricting plan. We live in a purple state. The current maps deny hundreds of thousands of North Carolinians representation, and this blatant power-grab denies that right to even more.
10/18/25 12:09 AM	Threat to democracy Isaiah Boutz	This redistricting plan very clearly uses gerrymandering to elect more Republican candidates, specifically by splitting up and diluting some Democrat areas and concentrating others. This is an absurd attack on free and fair democracy; it's a blatant attempt to take away people's voices. If nothing else, what do people in coastal Carteret county have in common with people in counties North of Raleigh? Why does Wilmington's district extend almost to Raleigh, while Charlotte, Raleigh, and Durham are so compacted into their own district? Why is Greensboro split 3 ways and connected to the deep Appalachian mountains? This map gets worse every time I look at it! Not having an unbiased method of drawing district lines is something that we as a state and a nation should be ashamed of. "If you can't beat 'em, cheat!"
10/18/25 12:10 AM	Mrs Laura DeWitt-Oates	The proposed redistricting map is unacceptable. Our representation should reflect the will of the people and to that end, the people of North Carolina deserve a fair map created by a non-partisan committee. I'm begging the GA to reconsider this action.
10/18/25 12:10 AM	Kelley Torbett	This is clearly inappropriate. There is no real reason to redraw this map now. Wait until after the census like you're supposed to do.

10/18/25 12:11 AM	A shameful proposition Bernard Eddy	Residents of North Carolina	This proposed mid-decade redistricting is nothing more than a sad sore loser power grab from elected officials who are afraid to be accountable to their constituents. There is no other reasonable description. In 2024, this state voted for a Republican candidate for President by a 1% majority. We voted for a Democratic Governor with a 4% majority, Further, in that same election, the voters elected a Democratic Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, and Attorney General while also voting for a Republican Auditor and Treasurer. On a statewide basis, this state truly believes in divided government and compromise. For the NC General Assembly to determine that fair representation is skewed 80% in favor of one party is, frankly, undemocratic. If enacted, this proposition will at minimum cost NC taxpayers millions of dollars in the form of legal fees for the inevitable lawsuits. It will certainly undermine this body,Äôs integrity and legitimacy. It,Äôs a bad deal for North Carolinians. Maybe our elected officials should actually act on behalf of the constituents they claim to represent.
10/18/25 12:12 AM	susan sharpe		- This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/18/25 12:14 AM	The Rev. Paula Rachal		Redistricting mid-census is unnecessary and an attack on voting rights in our state. There is no reason this serves the people of NC, only the political interests of a few. Shame on them. This measure must be voted down.
10/18/25 12:18 AM	Mr. Caleb Stoudt		This redistricting further expresses how little I feel represented by my government. I have been under the belief that we, the voters, choose our representatives. But now it feels that the representatives are choosing their voters. I am disappointed, disgusted, and worried about what precedent this will set. I do not agree with this redistricting and it should be looked at further. Thank you.
10/18/25 12:19 AM	Mr Patrick Nichols		Pass a budget. Take care of the recovery efforts. Enough with the moralizing. No, No, No redistricting!
10/18/25 12:20 AM	Jennifer Smith		Republicans: ‚Äò If you can‚Äôt win,Ä¶you‚Äôre not cheating hard enough!‚Äô I cannot believe that this gerrymandering is legal. This is a disgusting show of blind loyalty to a dictatorship. One day you will all be held accountable, if not here, by your God. Shame on this government for allowing this to go on for so long.
10/18/25 12:22 AM	No Redistricting Rebecca Davis		As a North Carolinian, I am sick and tired of the North Carolina Republican Party steamrolling through the Constitution of this state and the Constitution of this nation. Their policies are highly unpopular and they know it. That is why they have used every low down trick in the book to gain power without gaining voters. The only way they can win elections is to rewrite the rules. This has to be stopped. The NC GOP is trying to redistrict for one purpose only, because Donald Trump told them to. I am tired of my tax dollars paying to push Donald Trump's personal agenda. It is time to wake up from this nightmare of abuse of power. If the only way for the NC GOP to win elections is to cheat, it is high time they start losing their seats. NO Redistricting!
10/18/25 12:22 AM	Ally Jensen		Gerrymandering even more so you can ‚Äòwin‚Äô? It‚Äôs cheating. The people should vote to get rid of the electoral college altogether. The president with the most individual votes wins. Of course you can always use a billionaire to buy the win, but republicans will be republicans, right.
10/18/25 12:22 AM	Ms Kelly Ward		It is absolutely unacceptable to further gerrymander the NC maps, which have already been redrawn multiple times in the last several years, and are in the top most racially gerrymandered in the country! No! This is an obvious quid pro quo for Trump endorsing Berger. What a bad look for republicans. If you can win on your policies, do that! If not, then you need to rethink your policies to match what the residents of NC need / want. How embarrassing for our state to be represented by sellouts like you! NO on redistricting!!!
10/18/25 12:22 AM	Syd Johnson		Allowing politicians to manipulate district lines for partisan advantage undermines the constitutional promise of equal representation and weakens voters‚Äô ability to hold their leaders accountable. True conservative values demand transparency, integrity, and competition‚Äîvictory earned through ideas and persuasion, not through the manipulation of electoral maps. 76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law.

10/18/25 12:24 AM	District Plan Hayley Dills	N/A	Why are we changing the district lines so soon? What is going on? Why? Is it for political gain?
10/18/25 12:24 AM	Fair voting maps William Towns		As a North Carolina citizen I wholeheartedly oppose any redistricting in 2025. There is no need for redistricting, and this is only being considered to assist the autocratic whims of the president. Redistricting fights like this bring the state back to its racist, Jim Crow past. Redistricting should only be done by an independent committee and only after new census data is released. Please restore confidence in American democracy by rejecting this undemocratic proposal.
10/18/25 12:26 AM	Randy Sharpe		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/18/25 12:27 AM	Mark Elliott		That is an important clarification. I can certainly help you draft a public comment that expresses your opposition to the proposed new congressional map and your support for the League of Women Voters NC's position on fair maps. Here is a draft comment suitable for submission to the North Carolina General Assembly (NCGA) Public Comment Portal: Public Comment Draft Subject: Opposition to Proposed Congressional Map and Mid-Cycle Redistricting I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed congressional map currently under consideration by the North Carolina General Assembly (NCGA). I stand with the League of Women Voters NC and others who believe this mid-cycle redistricting is an unwarranted abuse of legislative power. My opposition is based on the following concerns: Undermining Voter Confidence: Redrawing district lines between census years serves no purpose other than to secure partisan advantage. This maneuver undermines the public's confidence in the fairness and stability of our democratic processes. Partisan Gerrymandering: The proposed map appears to be a clear attempt at partisan gerrymandering. These changes will silence communities, dilute the voices of many voters, and lead to an unrepresentative government that does not accurately reflect the political makeup of North Carolina. Instability of Democracy: Mid-cycle changes inject unnecessary instability into our political system. Legislators should focus on governance, not on manipulating electoral boundaries for political gain. I urge the members of the NCGA to reject the proposed congressional map and to prioritize the creation of truly Fair Maps that serve the voters of North Carolina, not just one political party.
10/18/25 12:28 AM	Stop redrawing the maps! Matthew Garrison	Concerned citizen that deserves better than this	This is a blatant move to cheat democracy. The GOP has been changing the rules and moving the lines for years to assure they can't lose. What's worse, they lie to their constituents to justify their plan. They take advantage of rural and less educated residents of NC by injecting complete lies to shape the way they vote. What's even worse, they achieve their manipulation from the mountains of evil dark money corporations give them every year. Then spread the lies that it is all the democrats fault. In the end you all live in fear. Fear installed by the fake news that your "news networks" invented and from the Podcaster's that endlessly spread conspiracy stories. You are on the wrong side of history and you do not care about people. All you care about is punishing those that do not align with you. Stop cheating democracy!
10/18/25 12:28 AM	Do not redistrict! Joseph Owen		Don‚Äôt not redistrict NC! North Carolinians deserve fair representation in Congress!
10/18/25 12:30 AM	Dr Jay Poole		This plan will purposefully disenfranchise voters in NC all for the sake of supporting the President‚Äôs attempt to dismantle government and democracy.
10/18/25 12:31 AM	Rev Dr Barbara Jefferys		No redistricting in North Carolina. Leave the state the way it is.
10/18/25 12:31 AM	Gerrymandering is wrong Zachary Morton		Gerrymandering is wrong. Redrawing the maps by either party to sign significantly favor. One party over another is wrong and anti-American. The new proposed maps take away my voice and the voice of hundreds of thousands of people and rig our state,‚Äôs congressional seats. This does not make me proud to be a North Carolinian and I will work to get those who propose these maps removed from office (of course these maps will make that even harder).
10/18/25 12:31 AM	Carlisle Willard		Since I was a child, anyone who changes the rules mid game has always been considered to be a spoiled brat. Once again redrawing our Congressional maps before the next census, for your own political gain, is no different. The entitlement on display is embarrassing. Stop redrawing boundaries to boost your political power and do your jobs. We need a budget. We need help out here in Western North Carolina. We don‚Äôt need a bunch of spoiled brats trying to figure out a way to get their kid in Congress. If you want more Republicans in Congress then EARN IT.

10/18/25 12:31 AM	Ms. Mary McDermott		I am vehemently opposed to redistrtcting. The newly drawn maps take Congressional districts that are 50-50 and lean them heavily Republican (First Congressional district for example). NC voters are split between unaffiliated, democrat and reoublican. The court-ordered maps used for the 2022 elections and drawn up by a court-appointed panel resulted in an even split of democrats and republicans members of Congress. In the 2022 race, voters selected their representatives. In all other elections, the representatives are pre-determined. This is not democracy. It is authoritarianism. And disenfranchises millions of NC voters every election. Americans like a fair fight. They don,Äôt like cheaters!
10/18/25 12:33 AM	Don't you Dare Victor Beaty		Cowards. You cant win fairly even with our districts being fucked to hell already, so you gotta cheat.
10/18/25 12:35 AM	Ashley Young		This goes against any of Jesus,Äô teachings and is solely based on greed and selfishness. We will be judged on how we treat our neighbors.
10/18/25 12:40 AM	Mrs Shelly Lewandowski	Constituent	This is completely abhorrent! You not only did this in 24, now you,Äôre doing it again for 26. We have a fairly split electorate and we deserve to have our elected officials represent us. Not forced by illegal maps to be stuck with representatives who don,Äôt care about the community and only what their dear leader wants. Be careful because your choice to grovel at his feet might end up with him kicking you in the teeth. NC voters deserve fair maps by an independent commission. If you want our votes than work for the people who elected you. It,Äôs the only way to have true democracy. I won,Äôt be voting for anyone who supports this redistricting.
10/18/25 12:40 AM	Mrs Vicki Deem		We absolutely do NOT need even more gerrymandering than the ridiculous and illegal gerrymandering we already have. This is a demonstrably purple state, but you,Äôd never know it by the votes because so many voices are drowned out. We need an independent non-partisan commission to draw FAIR and HONEST maps.
10/18/25 12:49 AM	J S		I strongly oppose the further gerrymandering of North Carolina. The gerrymandering of NC is well known and documented, and is a black mark on our democracy. If one party has to rig elections to win, they have no business winning. We all deserve equal representation Redrawn maps intending to steal elections are not serving the people.
10/18/25 12:49 AM	Christopher Turner		Absolutely not, we do not want this. This is blatant gerrymandering. We deserve a map that ensures all North Carolinians are represented fairly, this proposal demolishes that idea. We have many pressing issues in our state, redrawing our maps to appease the white house is not one of them. NO.
10/18/25 12:50 AM	Redistricting attempt Christy Yochelson		It is disheartening that our legislature is spending time on further disfranchise voters in an already heavily gerrymandered state while they haven't even passed a budget. Let's be a beacon of light instead of cowering to a tyrant.
10/18/25 12:53 AM	Mr Kirk Reid		After hearing that the Republican controlled NC Assembly proposed mid-cycle redistricting plan next week in order to maintain power and further POTUS#47 agenda, and to follow the actions taken in Republican controlled state legislatures such as Texas, Missouri, and Ohio just to name a few, I am absolutely resolute that this should not stand and has no basis in legality since there hasn't not been a census taken to justify a mid-cycle map redistricting. If this should take place then there must be an opposition referendum put up for the people to vote on. Otherwise this is a plot to reshape the 2026 elections and reduce Democrat districts by carving them up even more and basically giving the GOP more control of who their constituents should be not the other way around where we the people choose our representatives. I forcefully object to this action being proposed by the House Speaker Destin Hall and Pro Tem Senator Sen. Berger. Polls have shown that the people of NC do not want this mid cycle redistricting from both political parties. The NC GOP need to be working on finalizing a budget instead of planning an illegal redistricting plan in order to help an authoritarian in the oval office. We need to Save Our Democracy Now!
10/18/25 12:54 AM	Lisa Winston		I am writing to ask that you do not continue to gerrymander and redistrict congressional districts in North Carolina even more than they already have been. What the GOP in this state is doing is just plain cheating and I find it unconscionable that this party is willing to lick the boots of a president that has no qualms about breaking every rule to stay in office. Over 80% of North Carolinians object to the extreme gerrymandering that has happened in the state already, and certainly do not approve of continuing to do it even more. If the GOP continues down this unlawful path, history will not be kind. Ultimately no matter how much you gerrymander this state, the people will see these partisan tactics for what they are. Eventually, even the most dedicated Republican voters will say enough is enough and will vote against you. You can,Äôt ignore your constituents wishes forever and not pay the price at the polls.
10/18/25 12:55 AM	Ms Linda Hobbet		I read the Republican Party wants to redistrict to make representation even less reflective of the will of the people of North Carolina. You should be ashamed. Gerrymandering may not be illegal, but it should be. It is unethical, immoral, and unfair, regardless of the party doing it. It's already bad in North Carolina, and you want to make it worse! If you can't win the vote with your platform, you don't deserve to be elected. Don't cheat.
10/18/25 1:02 AM	Kelly Drogue		Opposed to redistricting
10/18/25 1:05 AM	Mrs Linda Stephens-Jones		North Carolina is a state with of a broad range of needs, challenges and opportunities. One size does not fit all. Citizens deserve representatives who understand & relate to more than their own life narrative. Its imperative to have different perspectives, that NC General Assembly leaves no one behind. Voters want a NC that grows & strengthens citizens.

10/18/25 1:06 AM	Austin Heath-Perlette		This is unconstitutional and undemocratic. It does nothing to solve the major issues in congress and only suppresses the votes of many North Carolinians
10/18/25 1:07 AM	Redistricting Wanda Lawrence		We have had our district changed too many times. They are no evenly distributed as is, so please leave them alone. We do not want them changed again. I work the election polls and people are already confused with the three districts in our small community.
10/18/25 1:10 AM	Ms. Tera Baker	America	Stop trying to silence the voices of Americans and uphold The Constitution. We the people of North Carolina, are tired of Republicans catering to Trump rather than the people.
10/18/25 1:17 AM	Tim Allen		Fuck anyone who attempts to disenfranchise voters.
10/18/25 1:17 AM	Nevena Georgieva		This proposed redistricting map is a travesty and should not be accepted. It aims to subvert the will of the majority of the voters of this state. It is a craven, dishonorable plan for Republicans to choose their voters rather than allow the voters to fairly choose their elected officials. Please reject this gerrymandering proposal and allow the voters to chose their representation.
10/18/25 1:26 AM	Christian Thou Eanes		This redistricting effort is not good at all, we're already gerrymandered in a solid purple state where we should have 50/50 representation, but instead we don't, and our votes are being undemocratically cast aside in heavily gerrymandered districts, this needs to not pass, in any way shape or form.
10/18/25 1:28 AM	Jose Z		The state is divided 50/50 on past presidential races. It is outrages that currently only 4 districts out of 14 have a democrat representative. It,Äôs infuriating that the new proposed maps are aimed to remove a democrat. If the Republican Party policies are so great, why not make the maps fair and equal and let the people decide by voting. Please do not make the maps worse than they already are!
10/18/25 1:31 AM	Julie Busha		Gerrymandering again??? When North Carolina is already one of the worst states in the country for gerrymandering? As a white woman of privilege, why if we are all equal in the eyes of God, would our country/state be okay with making our voices unequal? This is most unchristian and it,Äôs insulting to ALL North Carolina voters. Where are the ethics?
10/18/25 1:40 AM	Julia Clore-Laurich		NO to redrawing congressional maps!
10/18/25 1:48 AM	Wendi Williams		DO NOT REDISTRICT.
10/18/25 1:49 AM	Mrs Jamie Thatcher		I do not feel that any redistributing or drawing new lines is needed. Please look to helping your schools improve, many are still filled with abestos.
10/18/25 1:52 AM	Juanita Gibson		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in NC. They represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. We all deserve to have our voices heard & our votes counted equally regardless of party affiliation and geographic location. This kind of manipulation silences communities & weakens our democracy. Redistricting should be done by a third party. Gerrymandering should be illegal.
10/18/25 1:53 AM	Mrs Laru Baka		This is a shameful abuse of power. I implore you, do not steal a congressional district seat by gerrymandering our map. The overwhelming majority of NC Voters, Republicans and Democrats alike are opposed gerrymandering. Listen to your constituents and stop this nonsense. VOTE NO!
10/18/25 1:53 AM	Mrs. Kimberly Teague		There is no need to redraw or redistrict the maps. This is a blatant attempt at gerrymandering and it needs to stop.
10/18/25 1:56 AM	Ms. Brennan Ames-Phares		Redistricting to further steal votes in NC should be/was illegal. I know it and you know it, but you've become a party of thugs, hell bent on absolute power, despite it NOT being what your constituents actually want. Your god would be ashamed of you for stealing votes with illegal gerrymandering.
10/18/25 2:01 AM	Joshua Rush		Why are you doing this? Draw the maps in a fair and nonpartisan way. NC is a 50/50 state being gerrymandered into a 79% GOP majority. This is immoral. Your policies are killing us, please stop.
10/18/25 2:03 AM	Gerrymandering Jason Bleile		I think its shameful that you choose to work on redrawing the districts over balancing the budget. It's clearly being done to appease the administration and you should be held accountable for wasting my tax paying dollars in your attempts to rig the upcoming election and silence the voices of many people. DO THE RIGHT THING for the people you say you care about!
10/18/25 2:07 AM	Tracey Willetts		GOP enough is enough. Congressman Phil Berger is doing this in order to get Trump,Äôs endorsement, aka bootlicker. Protect voting rights in North Carolina.
10/18/25 2:09 AM	Alex Simpson		The proposed redistricting further politicizes what is supposed to be a foundation our country, that people are properly represented. The current district map is already an embarrassment that is evil in it's intent and result in disenfranchising NC voters, the new map exacerbates this and I fully expect my representative and all representatives of good morals to oppose this. If the legislature wishes to have the trust of NC voters, show it by rejecting this violation of voters rights.
10/18/25 2:09 AM	Gerrymandering is a crime Jill Carlson		North Carolina,Äôs districts should be fair and Non -partisan. Disenfranchising voters is unconstitutional and wrong. Democracy depends on fair maps! Gerrymandering is wrong and should be illegal in all 50 states!
10/18/25 2:09 AM	What is wrong with you? Michael Cheshire	Public	Do not do this, you are on the wrong side of history with gerrymandering this state further into Republicans hands. Is having a supermajority not enough? Are y'all that soft and scared that constituents in North Carolina don't actually want republicans in power, that Republicans need to cheat even more than they already have? Please reconsider making a FAIR map for the sake of this country and state

10/18/25 2:14 AM	Jeanie Cook		Allowing politicians to manipulate district lines for partisan advantage undermines the constitutional promise of equal representation and weakens voters,Âô ability to hold their leaders accountable.
10/18/25 2:19 AM	DO NOT GERRYMANDER Delaina Brewer		Hello , I am currently unaffiliated and I believe it is in the best interest of our state to keep the maps unbiased and fair to all concerned constituents of our state that you represent. Please stand with us and we will stand with you!
10/18/25 2:38 AM	Jerrod Jones		As a concerned North Carolina voter, I,Âôm writing to express my strong opposition to any redistricting plan that undermines fair representation,Äîparticularly for Black voters and other marginalized communities. Our state has made significant progress since the Jim Crow era, and we must not allow that progress to be reversed through unfair or discriminatory district lines. Every voter, regardless of race or background, deserves an equal voice in choosing their leaders. Gerrymandering or any attempt to dilute the power of Black communities not only violates the principles of democracy but also erodes public trust in the electoral system. North Carolina should remain a state that values fairness, equality, and transparency in its elections. I urge the committee to ensure that all redistricting efforts reflect those values and protect the rights of every citizen to be heard equally at the ballot box. Respectfully, Jerrod Jones
10/18/25 2:41 AM	Mr James J Hugenschmidt		Gerrymandering is nothing but a power grab by those who want to shut people out of the election process for their own greedy ends. For the sake of our State and our Country, STOP IT!
10/18/25 2:55 AM	Gerrymandering Darrah Phillips	PrincelyProducts	We do not agree. Please vote on behalf of your constituents. This is thinly veiled racism and authoritarianism.
10/18/25 2:58 AM	Ruth Hall		Since the state has already been gerrymandered beyond all sense of fairness, this effort is transparently partisan and illegal. Do you really think people don't see what you are TRYING to do - i.e. deprive as many people as possible of decent representation? As proven by the fair districts we had in 2022, 1/2 of the population of this state want Democratic representation and 1/2 want Republican representation. This is how democracy is supposed to work and unfortunately for you, more and more people are beginning to realize that the Republican party does not believe in democracy. And of course when we manage to kick more of you out of office you will lie about that. How do you sleep at night? Oh. I forgot. People without consciences who have rejected every single important tenet of Christian philosophy and democratic governance can sleep peacefully because they have no empathy and no moral compass. Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Apparently what you would have others do unto you is deny your right to free and fair elections. But that is something no one who supports democracy would ever do unto you. We will do everything in our power to support free and fair elections in spite of your efforts and may you get everything you deserve at the ballot box - a surge of support for democratic governance and a ticket back to your former districts.
10/18/25 3:10 AM	Kristine Keathley		How very Republican of you, if you can't win just cheat! It's absolutely enraging that the state that has already gerrymandered itself into a false supermajority is trying to further gerrymander to please the felonious dementia patient currently occupying the White House. Or are we getting our marching orders from the shadow president, the unelected and odious Stephen Miller? You should be ashamed of yourselves, but I know Republicans don't possess that capability. You've already had a dirty map overturned, refused to redraw it, and have decided that a dirtier map is the way to go! This should be illegal. Absolutely do not do this.
10/18/25 3:13 AM	Mr Joseph Flaherty		As a lifelong Republican leaning independent voter, I am ashamed that this map is even under consideration. This is the most un-American un-democratic proposal I have seen in my 46 years on this earth. This is not the ideals our forefathers built this nation upon. For the people, by the people, not for us because we rigged the map in our favor. Im ashamed that I have to acknowledge all of the left wing hysteria about ,Äúconstitutional crisis,Äù was 100% correct. If this map is passed I will never vote for another republican again.
10/18/25 3:13 AM	Absolutely disgraceful Erika Powell		Redrawing the lines again does not represent fair elections for all of your constituents. I am opposed.
10/18/25 3:22 AM	LaToya Faustin		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy.
10/18/25 3:28 AM	Redistricting Lupie Morgan		I donot approve of redistricting in North Carolina
10/18/25 3:45 AM	Kimberly Lloyd		Please do not further gerrymander NC so the citizens will know their representatives do in fact represent them.
10/18/25 4:02 AM	David Metz		Stop ?? the mid-decade redistricting! It,Âôs gerrymandering of the highest order and your intent is clear and obvious. You work for me and the people of NC, and nobody else! Cease this nonsense now and get to work to improve NC for everyone!
10/18/25 4:04 AM	Genell Palazola		The redistricting maps are a blatant theft of power from NC citizens. 50% of NC are NOT Republican and stealing their representation should be a crime.
10/18/25 4:04 AM	Mr. John Bromer		No gerrymandered maps!

10/18/25 4:08 AM	Gerrymandering C W		If you can't win an election fair and square, and have to gerrymander districts to do it, that tells us everything we need to know about you..... not only as politicians, but as individuals..... as human beings. Want this to be part of your legacy.... go ahead. Want to be on the right side of history..... do your job and shut this down.
10/18/25 4:08 AM	Rachel Ruggles		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and our votes should count equally, regardless of political affiliation, race, or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal
10/18/25 4:11 AM	Emily Duane		This proposed map isn,Äôt representation ,Äi it,Äôs manipulation. It silences voices, divides communities, and deepens mistrust in our political system. North Carolinians deserve better. Reject this map and give us districts that reflect the people, not party interests.
10/18/25 4:12 AM	Elizabeth Smith		I urge you to protect the integrity of our democracy by opposing partisan gerrymandering in the upcoming redistricting process. North Carolinians deserve fair and accurate representation in our elections. Thank you.
10/18/25 4:13 AM	Cindy Koerber		More redistricting in NC? For what purpose? Some of you considering this proposal likely believe that everything is just fine in the USA, that there is nothing to be concerned about. For those of you who are able to see that we are moving away from democracy and towards authoritarianism, you have an actual choice to make. You are free to tow the party line, or to do something surprising,Äívote for districts that actually represent all the people of this great state.
10/18/25 4:27 AM	Mr. Carl Schroeder	Carl Schroeder	Gerrymandering is a public crime, stop it before the public distrusts and despises the GOP more than it already does.
10/18/25 4:28 AM	Non-partisan Districts Cory Wade		I strongly disagree with this effort to gerrymander the state of North Carolina even further. We should strive to elect a nonpartisan group that reviews our districts to represent the will of the people. The goal should not be to consolidate political power but to serve the voters of our state. We are better than this as a state. To be rather than to seem is more than a lotto. We should live our values even when inconvenient.
10/18/25 4:37 AM	Grayson Britt		I am an unaffiliated voter in Lumberton NC. I have always been against gerrymandering and think that it is one of the major problems of our state and country as a whole. When politicians pick their own constituents and rig the election for power we turn against all of our ideals as a democratic republic. Please reconsider this unethical power grab. I know my comments or opinion has no sway over you but at least you know where I stand. Thank you.
10/18/25 4:42 AM	Ms Sherry Noland	Teacher	Stop the redrawing of the voting map, let elections be fair and legal. Try listening to the voters not big money
10/18/25 4:49 AM	William Randolph		This redistricting plan doesn't serve the people of North Carolina and the attempt should be ended.
10/18/25 5:12 AM	Kelly Bunn		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/18/25 5:19 AM	Catherine Lieberman		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/18/25 5:27 AM	Mr. Jonathan Weaver		This new map is a blantant effort to illegally increase the Republican majority and disenfranchise a majority of voters within the state. No politician should ever have the right to choose their constituents, it is the other way around. I know for a fact that if this map were the other way around and attmepting to impart a 79% Democrat majority on the state the same people who created this proposal would be the ones screaming loudest. Shame upon all of the elected members who have pushed forth this map with blatant disregard to the well-being of the people of North Carolina. This map should be made to properly represent the voting demographics of the state. 40% unaffiliated, 30% Democrat, and 30% Republican, AS REFLECTS the voting registrations of the people you are supposed to be serving. Shame upon any member of any party who illegally attempts to disenfranchise their voters and rob their constituents of their rights.
10/18/25 5:33 AM	Redistricting Samuel Brown		Please pass laws that make gerrymandering illegal. Appoint a bipartisan or better yet, a nonpartisan board responsible for the drawing of district maps. Additionally, throw out the obviously nonrepresentative proposed maps, fire the people that thought such maps were reasonable or ok, and start making good faith efforts to represent the constituent voters of North Carolina. Thank you for your time.
10/18/25 5:40 AM	Alisa Muelleck		Hello. I hope you will consider shelving this redistricting. Elections are the only thing we have to influence policy and legislation and constantly mucking with the lines implies that you don,Äôt actually respect or value that. Thank you.
10/18/25 5:46 AM	Olivia Marshburn		Our districts in NC are already gerrymandered against fair representation. Do Not Vote to further neglect at least half of NC citizens by redistricting midterm.

10/18/25 5:56 AM	Josh Walker		Thank you for redistricting our great state! You doing exactly what us citizens have voted for you to do. Please stay strong and hold the line.
10/18/25 5:59 AM	John Smith		You know and fully understand that what you're doing with these maps is both unethical and wrong. You can't win a truly free and fair election so you're left with cheating your way to victory. By doing this, you're enabling the lying, cheating, pedophile, criminal scumbag that is Donald Trump. He is destroying this country and you are enabling him. You are the party of pedophiles and criminals since you seem to love protecting and enabling both.
10/18/25 5:59 AM	Martha Mosseller		I ask that you refrain from mid-decade congressional redistricting that would further distort North Carolina,Äôs federal voting maps and erode any North Carolinians,Äô power to elect candidates of their choice. Gerrymandering violates core principles of fairness, accountability, and limited government. Allowing politicians to manipulate district lines for partisan advantage undermines the constitutional promise of equal representation and weakens voters,Äô ability to hold their leaders accountable. While we elect state and federal lawmakers under a partisan banner, we must carefully guard the People,Äôs confidence that, once elected, you will represent all North Carolinians and protect their votes equally. Gerrymandering disrupts local control by dividing natural communities and concentrating power in the hands of political insiders rather than the people. True conservative values demand transparency, integrity, and competition,Äîvictory earned through ideas and persuasion, not through the manipulation of electoral maps. Ending gerrymandering upholds both the Constitution and the moral duty to ensure government remains accountable to the people it serves. 76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law.
10/18/25 6:02 AM	Samuel Gross		Stop the plan for redistricting. This is blatant political corruption and an attack on our democracy. We will not stand for legislators who think a majority gives them immunity. If you proceed with this redrawing, you will lose whatever sliver of trust the population has left in our lawmakers. You will also be shown as complicit in this attempt to move America towards dictatorship. Everyone for this immoral, racially motivated, and blatantly corrupt gerrymandering should feel absolutely ASHAMED of themselves. Side with what is just and not with what Trump asks you to do. You work for US NOT HIM.
10/18/25 6:05 AM	Ms. Trina Lathan		I would love for the Republicans who are redrawing these districts to actually think for a minute how it feels to live in a state that isn,Äôt controlled by the will of the people. You have taken oaths to uphold the Constitution and yet, you are in the process of undermining it. You are disenfranchising thousands of people in the state that you represent. You should be ashamed of yourself taking away the voice and will of the people. If we are ever to heal our country, ALL voices need to count. You are causing further division and your actions will catch up with you when we break- because we will. Redraw fair maps where fair races can be run. Redraw maps that aren,Äôt guided by the fear that you can,Äôt get elected on principles.
10/18/25 6:06 AM	Redistricting Doug Pawlak		Just no! Let the voters decide who leads them. Where is the budget?
10/18/25 6:13 AM	David Iezzi		The newly enacted redistricting map for North Carolina's district mapping is a blatant and unconscionable act of gerrymandering. This map does not reflect the will of the people; it serves only the narrow, partisan interests of those who drew it. The map utilizes classic gerrymandering techniques, such as 'cracking' and 'packing.' This process deliberately draws district lines to predetermine election outcomes, effectively eliminating competitive races and silencing the voices of thousands of voters across the state. The result is a political system where politicians choose their voters, rather than voters choosing their politicians. You all have forgotten who you work for, and it shows more by the day. The fall of America will be on your hands that approve this, and history, nor we, will forget.
10/18/25 6:15 AM	Sally Lockhart	None	Stop finagling with district maps! You know better, so DO better. As representatives entrusted to keep our government for ALL people, it is your obligation to operate with decency and order. Operating with decency and order does not involve trickery to manipulate yourself into power. For too long, voters have left government to elected officials who have consistently been self-serving and manipulative for their own power gain. You erode our trust in the good of government by mismanagement. We give you the power to work for all people and all you do is self serve and power grab. The mega messes we face now as NC residents and US citizens is because what you have been entrusted to operate with decency and order, you have manipulated and mismanaged to your own benefit. Leave behind deception and manipulation. Grab integrity and honesty and do better. Our mandate as humans is to leave things better than we found them - stop failing at this. Draw maps that are for the betterment of residents of NC and not the arrogance of your manipulation of power.
10/18/25 6:15 AM	No Gerrymandering Dan Campbell		Why manipulate the districts to favor one party over another? We the people want our votes to count fairly in NC and across our nation.
10/18/25 6:16 AM	John Hamrick		This is totally wrong. I'm opposed to gerrymandering our state in this way. A strong two party system is vital to our state.

10/18/25 6:17 AM	Gerrymandering is Immoral Sharanda Payseur		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/18/25 6:17 AM	Mrs Sandra Trotter		Redistricting at this time is neither in the best interest of America or NC and I ask all in power to make a better choice. Your responsibility is to NC. Do your job.
10/18/25 6:18 AM	Dr Amy Csorba		Dear Sirs, I strongly oppose redistricting before the 2030 census. Our state already under represents minority and Democratic voters due to gerrymandering. The proposed plan, which deliberately worsens this ongoing violation of voting rites, will increase discontent, division and discord in our state and nation. Is this what the legislature wants for North Carolina? Our founding fathers said it best: No taxation without representation!
10/18/25 6:19 AM	Ms. Karen Mallam		I am sick and tired of legislators choosing their voters, rather than voters choosing their legislators. Under this newest gerrymandered map, Congressional Districts 1 and 3 in Eastern North Carolina would be less representative and more racist, targeting voters in the most prominent and historic Black opportunity district in the state. Congressional District 1 has been dismantled and designed to elect a Republican, eliminating the only truly competitive congressional district in North Carolina. Districts outside of Districts 1 and 3 are still extreme gerrymanders, making North Carolina,Âôs congressional map one of the least competitive in the country. Regardless of where you live ,Äì this gerrymander impacts you. Even though Congressional Districts 1 and 3 are targeted in this new extreme gerrymander, because of gerrymandering legislative leaders and the courts that capitulated to them, we will all be voting in distorted districts, which become even less representative with these new maps. North Carolinians deserve public hearings when it counts ,Äî throughout a redistricting process, before maps are drawn and before they are voted on. Instead, lawmakers will hold public comments after maps are released, at 10:00 a.m. on a Monday, when most voters are working, and those targeted live far from Raleigh. Voters across North Carolina ,Äî including a majority of Republicans ,Äî are tired of these types of partisan games that put politics over real people. If lawmakers want to build trust heading into 2026, they,Äôd be wise to focus on issues that directly affect North Carolinians,Äô everyday lives, instead of wasting precious time and taxpayer dollars to further gerrymander our congressional districts, which are already among the most gerrymandered in the country.
10/18/25 6:19 AM	Redistricting Nonsense Lois Stokes	Personal	To redistrict off cycle is unnecessary, wasteful, and anti-American. And if you are going to redistrict, the result should better mirror the population of the state and not just try to hand seats to appease whiny politicians. Do your jobs and put a budget in place. Serve your constituents, not a want to be King.
10/18/25 6:21 AM	Elizabeth Parsons		Gerrymandered maps mean that constituents opinions are not represented fairly. This is not how democracy should work. Please vote no.
10/18/25 6:24 AM	Delegate Edward Keohohou	North Carolina Democratic Party-State Executive Committee (Guilford County Democratic Party)	First and foremost...our NCGA should not be beholden to any political agenda that infers loyalty to any political party/entity/and/or agenda, perpetrated against the wishes of the people of the Great State of North Carolina. Redistricting should not be used to discriminate against political opponents, either through and by racial discourse, religious beliefs, social economic benefits, and gender validation. It should be based upon the estimating results of and by U.S. Census Bureaus information, U.S. Labor Department information, the U.S. Treasury Department information, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services data, the U.S. Department of Defense (War) information, the Social Security Administration, the U.S. Department of Veteran Affairs information, and the U.S. Department of Education information. By and which such information will allow diversification of the populace within the 100 Counties in the State of North Carolina. Some of the proposed Congressional districts are heavily laden with more Counties than others, and should be apportioned properly based upon the above U.S. Government agencies, and not by political annoyances. The PEOPLE of the Great State of North Carolina should never be treated as political pawns, nor legislative testing, of, for and by the NCGA. The NCGA should never overstep their duties and responsibilities, to take advantage of the will of, for, and by the people. As afforded and directed by the U.S. Constitution and the Constitution and By-laws of the State of North Carolina. The present Congressional alignment, as well as the proposed plan favors one political entity without demeanor of fault, and suggestively embodies such voter suppression and oppression, that doesn't give the populace equal justice under the law, and does not enshrine the PREAMBLE of the U.S. Constitution of it's full intent and veracity. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that members of both the NC House of Representatives and the NC Senate House, adhere to the wishes and concerns of, for and by the PEOPLE of/for the STATE of NORTH CAROLINA, and not just its leaders.
10/18/25 6:25 AM	Mrs Elisabeth Nemeth		I am firmly against this effort by republicans in NC to further gerrymander our state maps. I am in support of non partisan maps. Our general assembly needs to work on a state budget. This is absolute nonsense that doesn,Äôt help our people.

10/18/25 6:26 AM	No to redistricting Vanessa Chardos		I ask that you refrain from mid-decade congressional redistricting that would further distort North Carolina‚Äôs federal voting maps and erode any North Carolinians‚Äô power to elect candidates of their choice. Gerrymandering violates core principles of fairness, accountability, and limited government. Allowing politicians to manipulate district lines for partisan advantage undermines the constitutional promise of equal representation and weakens voters‚Äô ability to hold their leaders accountable. While we elect state and federal lawmakers under a partisan banner, we must carefully guard the People‚Äôs confidence that, once elected, you will represent all North Carolinians and protect their votes equally.
10/18/25 6:27 AM	Shawn Molloy		Where is your integrity? Elected officials are supposed to represent ALL citizens, not game the system so that one party stays in power indefinitely. By doing this you are showing that you 1) want a one party, authoritarian state, 2) do not support the US Constitution, 3) do not support a democratic form of government. Just so we are all clear.
10/18/25 6:28 AM	Floyd Carlen		Why are we suddenly changing districts every few years rather than once in ten years? What are the Republicans so afraid of? Let the voters decide who their representatives will be, rather than trying to stack the deck to ensure that they will win another seat. Why is everyone so afraid of Trump? Berger should be ashamed of himself for allowing himself to be manipulated in this way. Leave the districts as they are. They have already been gerrymandered to the point where repubs hold 10 out of the 14 seats.
10/18/25 6:31 AM	Heather Allred		North Carolina belongs to the people‚Äîinot to one political party. Redrawing our congressional districts to favor Republicans is nothing more than an attempt to rig the system and silence voters. Every North Carolinian deserves a fair say in who represents them, not maps twisted to guarantee power for a few. Gerrymandering divides communities, kills accountability, and poisons trust in our democracy. We should be fighting for fair maps that reflect our voices, our towns, and our shared future‚Äîinot for lines drawn in backrooms to protect politicians. Power should come from the ballot box, not from manipulation
10/18/25 6:35 AM	MARY GARDNER		This is illegal and I can‚Äôt even believe it‚Äôs being considered.
10/18/25 6:37 AM	Michelle Green		This is not needed nor requested by your constituents. A state budget is though. Please do not spend your time cheating your way to continue to hold power and hurt your constituents. Your constituents and those you represent are being hurt by your power grabs and you r need for power and greed. I DO NoT support this. I am appalled at the way you all jumped so quickly to do so in order to keep hurting your constituents and the people of North Carolina. Shame on you. Shane on your blatant attempts at cheating.
10/18/25 6:40 AM	Mr L McNeal	Individual	Doesn't matter if right or left, gerrymandering to cheat on elections is destructive.
10/18/25 6:40 AM	Jerry Corgier		Hard no on redistricring
10/18/25 6:41 AM	Trayson Mathias		I would love for the Republicans who are redrawing these districts to actually think for a minute how it feels to live in a state that isn‚Äôt controlled by the will of the people. You have taken oaths to uphold the Constitution and yet, you are in the process of undermining it. You are disenfranchising thousands of people in the state that you represent. You should be ashamed of yourself taking away the voice and will of the people. If we are ever to heal our country, ALL voices need to count. You are causing further division and your actions will catch up with you when we break- because we will. Redraw fair maps where fair races can be run. Redraw maps that aren‚Äôt guided by the fear that you can‚Äôt get elected on principles.
10/18/25 6:41 AM	Randy Burge		One of NC‚Äôs most popular license plate mottoes is ‚ÄúFirst in Freedom.‚Äù Is that a principle we want to abandon by redefining what it means to participate in our electoral process? I urge you to carefully consider what supporting redistricting will say to our residents and to the country about the future of democracy in NC.
10/18/25 6:41 AM	Mary Kendrick		I do not approve of this redistricting plan. It is not needed at this time and is nothing more than a corrupt power grab by NC republicans. It disenfranchises millions of North Carolinians and denies us fair representation in the US House of Representatives.
10/18/25 6:43 AM	Brooks Penn		As a Registered Independent, I cannot believe the NC GOP are taking these measures to redraw the lines just to add more seats. This is an abuse of power and not a representation of the people of NC.
10/18/25 6:43 AM	Steven Herndon		This is wrong and everyone knows it. The true demographics of the state already go unrepresented, and this is would take that further.
10/18/25 6:43 AM	Christopher John Browning	N/A	I know it won‚Äôt make a difference, but as a former Republican, I will never cast a vote for another Republican politician as long as I live if yall go through with this disgustingly blatant power grab. This sort of shit makes me sick, and yall should be ashamed of yourselves you‚Äôre even considering this kind of ridiculousness. Do better.
10/18/25 6:45 AM	Sara Randolph		I am opposed to redrawing of district maps. It is shameful that we don‚Äôt have a state budget, Medicaid funding is being slashed,¬∂ and what you are working on is another redrawing of our districts and gerrymandering our state even more. You represent the citizens of NC, me and my family,¬∂ NOT the GOP or current federal administration. WE PAY YOU WITH OUR TAX DOLLARS. History will remember this moment, do you want to be on the wrong side of history?
10/18/25 6:45 AM	Ms Lauren Allen		Your desire to win at the expense of your constituents is disgusting. You will have a lasting negative impact on the people of NC. Have you no morals?

10/18/25 6:46 AM	Susan Shamblin		It is well known that if the maps were fairly drawn, they would look like the 2020 maps where the almost equal split truly represented the voters and citizens of North Carolina. As with the 2023 redistricting, this current redistricting proposal is an admission as to how unpopular the Republican Party policies are with the voter. I am opposed to gerrymandering and politicians enabling an authoritarian regime. I love the USA and NC as a democracy, a democratic republic, where voters votes, their voices , are equal. If the policies of the Republican Party were popular and supported, they wouldn,Âôt have to gerrymander and pass legislation to suppress the vote.
10/18/25 6:46 AM	Ms Wendy Horgan		NC bears the shame if being one of the most heavily gerrymandered states in the country. Children know that a win is not a win if it is not won fair and square. But adults in NC legislature know less than children. Stop more gerrymandering. Don,Âôt be a cheater
10/18/25 6:47 AM	Unacceptable Sara Cannon		Do not attempt to redistrict NC again simply because the president asked you to. The people deserve fair representation. Your actions are shameful.
10/18/25 6:48 AM	ms rosanna gusler		mid cycle redistricting is wrong. period.
10/18/25 6:49 AM	Cara O'Brien		It's disgusting that Republicans are trying to pass this blatant act of gerrymandering. If you can only win by rigging the game, maybe you should rethink your policies and SERVE the people you represent. This action is completely against the values of our democracy, and anyone who supports it should be ashamed of themselves.
10/18/25 6:50 AM	Cheetie Kumar		If you have to redraw to rig an election, you shouldn,Âôt win! Keep elections somewhat credible in NC!
10/18/25 6:50 AM	Mr Michael Eisenberg	Retired	This is beyond the pale. How can you abode by the wishes of a would be dictator. We need fair elections, not shams. Have you no feelings for the independence of the people.? HAVE YOU NO SHAME???????????????????
10/18/25 6:50 AM	Ms. Amy Jackson		Republicans in NC have already severely gerrymandered NC's legislative districts to heavily favor themselves, and no further gerrymandering should be undertaken in 2025. North Carolinians are largely opposed to political and racial gerrymandering. Gerrymandering leads to outsized influence for some voters and diminished influence for others. Rather than making gerrymandering worse, NC's legislators OUGHT to be making political gerrymandering illegal, for both Republicans and Democrats.
10/18/25 6:50 AM	Jerrymandering Ryan Bradley		Why ask for the public opinion when the entire point of redistricting is to never have a fair election again?
10/18/25 6:50 AM	Rev. Patricia Odham		Please avoid vote redistricting.
10/18/25 6:51 AM	Mrs Mary Graham		This plan does not serve the state of North Carolina, the citizens of North Carolina or our interests. It,Âôs an abomination and disenfranchises voters.
10/18/25 6:52 AM	Kathleen Stimely		This state is 50/50 democratic and republican. Our representatives should reflect that. Please gain more seats by passing policy that people would vote for, not by cheating.
10/18/25 6:52 AM	Kari Barrentine		Gerrymandering is wrong, no matter your politics. Redrawing maps to serve one man,Âôs ambition or one party,Âôs power grab is both immoral and undemocratic. Do better, North Carolina,Âîour votes should count equally.
10/18/25 6:54 AM	Tricia Werkau		I do not support our lawmakers wasting time redistricting what is already a far too gerrymandered structureof the state's congressional map. Republicans don't need to change voting districts to assure victory, they need to develop spines, and start voting in alignment with what constituents are demanding from their literal public servants. Districts wouldn't need to be changed if politicians running felt confident that they could win based on a fair election. Do not waste time in session by spending it to gerrymander this state even further! Spend that time passing a budget, stopping the draconian cuts to entitlement programs, and upholding policies and laws that protect North Carolinians! State lawmakers are some of our last lines of defense from the harm coming down at the national level. Follow through with the promises you made upon entering public service, and protect the rights of your constituents, not the rights of the billionaire class! Do not vote to unnecessarily change the congressional maps when there are much more important issues that need your vote right now. For the love of God, do your duty to serve the people of this great state.
10/18/25 6:56 AM	Sarah Swain		I,Âôm opposed of redistricting. Our country is already divided due to hate and fear, please do not bring that version of power and manipulation into our state.
10/18/25 6:56 AM	Bonnie Pierce		The only people to benefit from this plan are republicans! I just hope there is a country left after the carnage of 2025-2028, and republicans attempt to squash free and fair elections.
10/18/25 6:57 AM	Concerned Citizen Maryanne Lott	Unaffiliated	As the representatives of North Carolina, it is your job to represent and support your constituents. The new redistricting map is ridiculously inaccurate and horribly gerrymandered. The split is closer to even between registered Republicans, Democrats, and unaffiliated voters, with those percentages being 30%, 32%, and 38% respectively. There is no way that this new map can represent an organization where all its constituents are fairly represented. It's not too late to fix it and make it as it should be. Please do.
10/18/25 6:58 AM	Stop Gerrymandering Ashley Spain		Every North Carolinian,Âôs vote should matter in elections. Gerrymandering continues to disenfranchise voters and push them away from participating in our democratic system (what,Âôs left of it, anyways). Stop cheating the system to try and stay in power.

10/18/25 6:58 AM	Karen Rossie		This proposal is unnecessary, happening too quickly to be discussed and done appropriately with public input, and expensive. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020 when it should only happen once every10 years. A rushed plan will likely result in costly litigation.
10/18/25 6:59 AM	Courtney Olmsted	USA	What an absolute embarrassment to everyone in NC. We are a laughing stock all over the world. Bending the knee to a want to be dictator is not the America I know and love. Utter disbelief you have let NC fall this far
10/18/25 6:59 AM	Huldah Bewley		Comment submitted. If someone is not sure what to say, here is what I wrote: I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/18/25 7:00 AM	John Barber	NC private citizen	I cannot express enough how disappointing and saddening it is that once again maps in North Carolina will most likely be redrawn. This is an open and unveiled power grab by the few to support a criminal president who is ruining our country and is frankly a disgraceful embarrassment. The NC Republican leadership dares to take action on maps when the legislature has yet to approve a budget; shame on you all for not doing the work you should be doing for the citizens of this state. The Republican Senate & House effort feels like children playing a game and the bullies on the playground know they cannot win according to the rules of the game; so they change the rules to ensure they gain advantage. Excluding and influencing marginalized people to prevent them voting and gerrymandering the system for specific results is cheating and done because you have the votes to do it; plain and simple. I encourage you to reflect on what is right, consider your pledge to the people of North Carolina, and vote no on redistricting. For my Republican leaders in Raleigh, this means you may have to vote counter to what you have been led to belief is best. I did not vote for any of you, but you are supposed to listen to the people and vote accordingly on legislation; Trump has no place in our state,Âôs business.
10/18/25 7:00 AM	Rosanne Wright	Grandmother	Stop stealing votes that you would otherwise not deserve. Election fairness is being stolen and your gerrymandering is destroying our democracy. Anyone associated with this corrupt party should be ashamed of themselves because our future generations will suffer and our country will not exist.
10/18/25 7:01 AM	Make the map fair Jonathan Philemon		I don,Äôt care who is in power. Maps should be fair and represent their constituents.
10/18/25 7:03 AM	Mrs. Maisha Rudison-Bryant		In 1965 the Voting Rights Act signaled to Americans that the right to vote would not be diluted or suppressed based upon race. It appears in 2025, we are at a crossroads and juggling with a fundamental tenant of democracy. As a North Carolinian and moreover an American I hope that NC chooses to preserve the voice of all its people and maintains fairness for its citizens regardless of race or their party affiliation. In 2085, when we face the decisions we make now I hope we find NC in a light that makes me and so many other voters proud to be in this state. History never forgets those who fight for fairness and justice; it also never forgets those who try to defeat it.
10/18/25 7:03 AM	Theresa Dettinger		I urge you not to redistrict. North Carolinians deserve fair representation in Congress.
10/18/25 7:04 AM	Craig White	self-employed	I'm an unaffiliated voter who left the Democratic Party in 2006, partly because they refused to implement an independent redistricting process when they had the chance. I know you're going to rig the elections, like you've rigged the courts and the executive branch. I have zero faith in either Democrats or Republicans to do the right thing for America, and I hope that the majority of us, who are unaffiliated, can find a way to save our country. The overwhelming majority of Americans believe that one of our political parties is evil and the other is useless; we just disagree on which is which.
10/18/25 7:04 AM	Trudy Sanders		Great job! Keep up the good work!
10/18/25 7:04 AM	Sam Thompson		Why don't y'all stop this and do something that will benefit the people of NC. I think the honorable way to get elected is to be electable. Not by cheating and hurting those you serve. There is much more you can do to be helpful to those of us in this beautiful state. You should be making THAT a priority, not rigging the system for your benefit. That's just weak, and morally wrong. We know it, and you know it.
10/18/25 7:05 AM	N Collins		I strongly oppose gerrymandering of congressional districts in order to subvert the will of the citizens of North Carolina. The legislature's job is to represent the best interests of North Carolinians, not the best interests of the President. Voters have a right to free and fair elections where we get to choose our leaders, not our leaders choosing us. It is time to pass a budget instead of playing retribution politics with other states.
10/18/25 7:06 AM	Ms. Lauren Jones		I have dwindling hope that you will remove the nefarious underlying motives for this redistricting scheme and consider what is actually best for ALL North Carolinians. These shameful efforts to remove truly effective legislators,Âô constituencies is a legacy that will someday undermine any good you finally decide to do. Think outside yourselves and consider all North Carolina residents. Remember that you took an oath to do just that: consider the best for all our citizens, regardless of race or political affiliation.

10/18/25 7:07 AM	Stop gerrymandering Sarah Bradshaw	This blatant attempt to power grab in the state goes against the will of the people and will not accurately reflect the cross section of our population in this state. I reject this redrawn map.
10/18/25 7:07 AM	Heather Hooper	I,Äôm frustrated, and I know I,Äôm not alone. Next week, the North Carolina legislature is expected to redraw our voting districts again. At the request of Donald Trump. While still failing to pass a state budget. While our schools, communities, and healthcare systems wait. Let,Äôs be clear. This is not about fairness. It,Äôs about political power. In 2020, the courts ruled our maps were gerrymandered. We,Äôve been through this before. And now we,Äôre doing it all over again. Mid-decade. Behind closed doors. This is not leadership. It,Äôs manipulation. When politicians choose their voters instead of voters choosing their leaders, we all lose. Accountability disappears. Voter trust erodes. Black voters are targeted and silenced. Again. And the issues that actually affect our lives education, healthcare, jobs get pushed aside. Most North Carolinians, across parties, oppose this kind of partisan redistricting. We,Äôve made that clear. I urge you,Ä¶do not redraw these maps. Stop the political games. Stop wasting taxpayer money on lawsuits. Stop ignoring the will of the people.
10/18/25 7:08 AM	Redistricting Erin Mayer	The proposed redistricting maps are an attempt to disenfranchise voters, leaving them without fair representation. It,Äôs anti democratic, and it breaks my heart that this is where we are in America. I used to be a Republican until recently, but the Republican Party has lost my vote forever unless they find a way to return to sanity.
10/18/25 7:08 AM	Mr Thomas Henninger	No gerrymandering
10/18/25 7:09 AM	Marsha Turner	Although, historically, both parties have used redistricting to their own benefit; that does not mean that it,Äôs the right thing to do. In a democracy, the government should represent ALL the people equally. This is not a difficult truth to grasp. If any redistricting is done, it should be done by an independent bi-partisan committee.
10/18/25 7:10 AM	Rachel McClain	This is ethically and morally wrong. This redistricting is a way to cheat in elections and deprive people of their voting power. There is no other goal that to push out candidates who are too successful for the GOP to beat in a fair election. Does the GOP care about what is right and wrong? Do they care about the foundational principles of this country? Do they care about democracy and freedom? There is little evidence that they do. This action will further erode your party,Äôs credibility and reputation. History will show the cowardice and unethical conduct of this legislative body and we the people will not forget.
10/18/25 7:10 AM	Martha Vickstrom	This partisan gerrymandering is the Republican Party,Äôs means of rigging votes in their favor. Nothing about this is fair and just. It is plain cheating and unpatriotic at its core. Wait until next census and let a nonpartisan group draw sensible districts based not on political party registration but simply by geography! How about a constitutional amendment disallowing any party the ability to draw congressional maps that would disfavor or dilute the votes of the opposing party? It is time to end gerrymandering for good!

10/18/25 7:10 AM	Alavia Hooks		I strongly oppose the proposed Congressional redistricting plan. This process is unnecessary, harmful, and undermines the very foundation of fair representation in North Carolina. Every time district lines are redrawn, it feels like politicians are choosing their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. Our communities are not pawns on a map ,Äî we are families, workers, students, and neighbors who deserve stability and a fair voice in our government. Constantly shifting district boundaries tears apart communities that share schools, roads, and local priorities. It silences voters who already struggle to be heard, especially in rural and minority areas. Redistricting should never be used as a tool for partisan advantage. It weakens trust in our elections, discourages participation, and distracts from the real issues people face every day. The current districts already provide adequate representation, and altering them now only deepens division and confusion. North Carolinians deserve transparency, fairness, and consistency in how we are represented. I urge lawmakers to reject this redistricting plan and put the will of the people first. Protect our voices, our communities, and the integrity of our democracy.
10/18/25 7:11 AM	Mrs Jeannette Somerville		No redistricting! If a person cant win a seat because of what they stand for they shouldn't win. Gerrymandering should be illegal. NC is already gerrymandered enough! It is wrong to redistrict!
10/18/25 7:12 AM	Jonathan Fifer		This is a blatant attempt to subvert our democracy, you all should be ashamed of yourselves. Voters choose their representatives, not the other way. NC is a purple state, keep it purple.
10/18/25 7:13 AM	Mr./Mrs. William Morris		Full speed ahead, sir. We have an opportunity to continue our President's agenda, and you must proceed at all costs. Thank you for your efforts, and we will be watching the fight we expect from ultra liberals.
10/18/25 7:14 AM	Becky Halterman		This plan is INSANE. If you want to redistrict then maybe gosh I don,Äôt know- it should reflect the population of the constituents and not your political thirst for power and capitulation to the fascist who is daily destroying our democracy. Honestly HOW DARE YOU??! This state votes blue- more than half of us. This plan will cheat us out of any real representation at all as the Republican Party is no more- it is the trump party. And you will not defend our interests- only his. This is the most frightening experience I have ever endured- frankly worse than COVID. Just do the right thing. FOR ONCE! This is not and should not ever be about anyone,Äôs desire for Power. If your ideas are the best you should be elected- not because you carved up your state in Such a way to guaranteed yourself a victory and the endorsement of a truly evil man. History is watching.
10/18/25 7:14 AM	Shelly Thompson		It is imperative that our districts adequately reflect the will of the people. Gerrymandering is wrong and undermines the constitution and the rule of law.
10/18/25 7:15 AM	Anne Tomalin	citizen	Gerrymandering is un-American, anti-democracy and plain old CHEATING! If your party can't win in a fair, un-rigged election, it means you don't have the support of the majority of citizens. Remember that the American Revolution happened because the colonists believed that government must have "the consent of the governed." This still holds true today -- WE DO NOT CONSENT to rigged elections.
10/18/25 7:17 AM	Samantha Robbins		I oppose the redistricting plans. This redrawing of the maps is undemocratic. It is clearly gerrymandering and will silence voices. We should be trying to improve our democracy and lift voices up, not silence them.
10/18/25 7:17 AM	April Carr-Wyche		Gerrymandering to choose your voters rather than voters choosing you is wrong regardless of which party does it. I believe the Democrats you accused of doing this in the past are the ones who once wore white hoods, were conservatives also and called Dixiecrats, and are now the Republicans Party. You,Äôve ridden the lie of voter fraud to commit election fraud. Your corruption is unsustainable.
10/18/25 7:17 AM	Cariann Stafford		As a republican and democratic voter, I,Äôm all for following rules - and I,Äôm not super well-informed politically, but I,Äôm fairly confident that it is not time to do this. And doing what you,Äôre doing, the way that you,Äôre doing it does not serve all North Carolinians. Do better and do it when it,Äôs the correct time to do it.

10/18/25 7:18 AM	Mr. Wilson Gabbard		Dear Members of the North Carolina House Select Committee on Redistricting and Senate Elections Committee, Thank you for the opportunity to provide feedback on the proposed Congressional district plan. As a North Carolina resident, I strongly believe that our state,Äôs Congressional map should fairly represent the people of North Carolina,Äînot favor one political party or dilute the voices of particular communities (in favor of either party). I,Äôm strongly independent but find this action troubling. The current proposal closely resembles the 2023 map that created ten Republican-leaning districts and four Democratic-leaning ones, despite North Carolina,Äôs electorate being nearly evenly divided between the two major parties. This imbalance raises serious concerns about partisan gerrymandering and whether voters are choosing their representatives,Äîor representatives are choosing their voters. The proposed map divides several major counties, including Wake, Mecklenburg, and Guilford, in ways that fracture natural communities of interest. These divisions weaken representation for urban, suburban, and minority communities and reduce accountability by creating safe seats rather than competitive ones. A less-gerrymandered map would: ,Ä¢Keep counties and municipalities intact whenever possible; ,Ä¢Draw compact, contiguous districts that reflect geographic and community boundaries; ,Ä¢Avoid unnecessary splitting of metropolitan areas; and ,Ä¢Produce a congressional delegation that mirrors the overall partisan balance of North Carolina,Äôs population (roughly 50/50). I urge the Committee to revise the proposal using these principles, prioritizing fairness, competitiveness, and transparency. Every North Carolinian,Äîregardless of political affiliation,Äîdeserves an equal voice in choosing their representatives. Wilson Gabbard New Hanover County
10/18/25 7:18 AM	Sean Magill		Democrats hate it when Republicans use their own tactics against them; they have a history of gerrymandering to their own gains all over the country, and don't think they wouldn't try to do this very thing if they were in control of the General Assembly in NC. My biggest issue with redistricting is when a small portion of one county is placed in a different district than the rest of the county; counties shouldn't be split up, and district lines should follow county lines.
10/18/25 7:19 AM	Alex Goug		Gerrymandering AKA redistricting by a single party is immoral and should be illegal. A bipartisan party should be responsible in cases where redistricting is requested.
10/18/25 7:20 AM	Mrs Martina Christie		This new proposed map by the NC GOP must be a joke. This is not going to allow fair representation and unacceptable. Elections should be FAIR and it is not by any means. Sincerely hope that someone with a knowledge of the State Constitution and want to keep NC, a desired place to live and not a pariah.
10/18/25 7:21 AM	Jon Pazol		If you want to do something for the people of NC, how about engaging in non-partisan mapping and giving all residents a true voice?!? Disenfranchising voters is not good governance and reflects poorly on your abilities as legislators.
10/18/25 7:22 AM	Dan Swart	Retired	North Carolina is a 50:50 state. Our districting should also be 50:50 so that the candidates with the best plan for the state get elected. Partisan gerrymandering is not what we should get from people who are supposed to represent us.
10/18/25 7:23 AM	Mr Robert Johnson		I strongly urge the NC General Assembly to reject the proposed redistricting plan. Redistricting should ONLY be done after the decennial census, and only to ensure that districts are essentially equal in size. This proposal is far out of bounds - its intent is to secure another Congressional seat for the GOP. In a state that is roughly fifty-fifty in Democratic and Republican voters, it's outrageous that we could be represented by 11 Republicans and only 3 Democrats. This is a blatant effort to shore up one political party; it does nothing to ensure that NC voters are appropriately represented.
10/18/25 7:23 AM	Mrs. Catherine Henry-Bragg		I am a resident of North Carolina and I am against this redistricting effort. This will allow politicians to choose their voters instead of allowing voters to choose their politicians. This undermines core American traditions and values. Drawing voting districts along party lines is shameful no matter who does it. It,Äôs cheating and it should not be allowed. The fact that politicians are allowed to draw their own district lines at all is preposterous- but doing it now because this administration demands it is very telling. Anyone who suggests that they redistrict now at the whim of a divisive president with a clear personal agenda must be of very low moral character- just shameful. I believe that gerrymandering is a major flaw in our system and we should be working to get rid of it completely instead of encouraging it and using it for non deserved political gains. If someone wants power they should earn it- not draw up new rules in the middle of a game to make sure they don,Äôt lose.
10/18/25 7:24 AM	Suzanne Trollan		I understand that gerrymandering has always been a means for those in power to stay in power. Doing so mid decade looks desperate. Midterm elections are an opportunity for our representatives to receive feedback on the work they are doing. Please don,Äôt hide from this feedback.

10/18/25 7:24 AM	Sara Campbell		Attempts to use the power of the legislature to take away the people,Äôs right to self-govern is wrong. These maps continue the efforts to nullify the voice of North Carolina,Äôs citizens. Fear of losing your personal power should not trump the rights of the governed. Bend the rules, but we will not break. Your actions will fuel the wave of change.
10/18/25 7:24 AM	MS Lynn Carmack	Private citizen	I know what I say probably won,Äôt matter to you but this is wrong. This was done by Republicans a couple of years ago, I am an unaffiliated voter and I have voted for both parties and right now the Republican Party is shameful. You took an oath to work for all people of North Carolina and that is not happening, We all have a right to have our voice heard by having a fair vote. You must not redraw the lines.it is wrong!
10/18/25 7:24 AM	Rosalind Finney		Spending time inventing new ways to cheat when you could be doing the least functions of government, like fixing the DMV. What a sorry excuse for leadership.
10/18/25 7:24 AM	Kimberly Naff		Redistricting is supposed to happen once a decade, but this is now like the 5th time in 10 years which is ridiculous. It's only happening to illegally gerrymander our state even further which isn't surprising because the people who are in charge right now know that in a fair fight they're losing. But, take it to heart that these methods mean they are losers regardless.
10/18/25 7:24 AM	Kathleen Cusick		My letter to the NC General Assembly Re: the new gerrymandered map at Trump's request. Show me yours. To the Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I am writing to express my deep concern and disappointment regarding the recent redrawing of North Carolina,Äôs congressional map, which has been gerrymandered at the request or behest of President Donald Trump. The integrity of our democratic process is fundamentally undermined when political boundaries are manipulated for partisan gain, especially at the direction of a single individual or group. Gerrymandering erodes public trust in our institutions and disenfranchises voters by diluting the power of their voices. North Carolina,Äôs proud tradition of civic engagement and representative government should not be tarnished by maps that prioritize partisan advantage over fairness and the will of the people. The manipulation of district lines to favor one party does not reflect the diversity or interests of our state and undermines the foundational principle of one person, one vote. Furthermore, the fact that these maps were drawn at the request of a president sets a dangerous precedent, suggesting that our state,Äôs legislative process can be influenced by outside interests rather than guided by the needs and preferences of North Carolinians. This undermines the independence and credibility of the General Assembly and the democratic ideals we are sworn to uphold. It is important to note that Republicans cannot credibly blame Governor Gavin Newsom or Democrats for the need to do this, as the recent wave of aggressive gerrymandering actually began in the Republican-led Texas General Assembly. This fact underscores that the issue transcends simple partisan accusations and highlights the need for genuine reform regardless of party affiliation. I urge you to vote no on the newly proposed congressional map and commit to a transparent, nonpartisan redistricting process that puts the interests of the people first. North Carolina deserves maps that are fair, competitive, and representative,Äînot ones that serve the ambitions of a single politician or party. Please put an end to aggressive gerrymandering in our state and restore public confidence in our democracy.
10/18/25 7:25 AM	Mrs Tonda Gosnell		Redrawing voting maps at the whim of politicians trying to appease Trump is wrong. We are tired of legislators picking their voters. Stop.
10/18/25 7:25 AM	Allison Mullen		Please do not redirect this incredible state even more. Why should my representation be less because I live in an urban area? It,Äôs un-American and undemocratic. Please start working for the people of NC.
10/18/25 7:25 AM	Rachel Bonfiglio		If we don,Äôt have free and fair elections, we don,Äôt have a democracy. Redistricting should be done by fairly by independent, bi partisan auditors.
10/18/25 7:26 AM	Mrs LIZ BECKER		This redistricting is shameful. It is obvious that the Republicans don't think they can win without cheating. You need to remember that you are setting a precedent for when Democrats are in control.
10/18/25 7:26 AM	Patricia Sahm		No more gerrymandering to reduce the people's power.
10/18/25 7:26 AM	Dr Joanna Sattin		This is shameful power grab. Taking away the voice of your constituents. Stop the authoritarian rule that,Äôs taking over this country. I stand firmly against this move!
10/18/25 7:27 AM	Mrs Laurie Sugahbeare		Stop with the bull shit and rub your race like adults. We don,Äôt redraw Mari,Äôs so you can win, that,Äôs called cheating
10/18/25 7:27 AM	Reverend John Bickerstaff		I stand with the 76% of NC citizens-voters who oppose gerrymandering, especially in mid-decade. I have been an unaffiliated voter since moving to NC in 2006. The super-wealthy citizens and multinational corporations have influence in our political system that has become dangerous to the health of our representative democracy.

10/18/25 7:27 AM	Larry Weigel	Buncombe County Citizen	It is imperative that voting districts are fair and nonpartisan, in order that they reflect the true beliefs and values of their voters. Mid-cycle partisan gerrymandering has severe consequences, which erode public confidence in the fairness of elections. Representatives in our democracy are supposed to reflect the views of ALL constituents. The current mid-cycle redistributing plan, at the bidding of the President, should be soundly rejected for the following reasons: ,Ä¢ It silences voters. Communities are divided, and districts are drawn to ensure predetermined outcomes, thereby reducing competition and accountability. ,Ä¢ It destabilizes elections. Constantly changing district lines creates confusion, suppresses participation, and wastes taxpayer dollars. ,Ä¢ It weakens democracy. When maps are drawn to entrench one party,Äôs power, voters lose confidence in the fairness of the system ,Äî and many stop believing their vote matters at all.
10/18/25 7:28 AM	Mrs Susan Stegall		Redistricting should not happen. This shows that Republicans are worried they may not get the votes they need to win. If they are that worried, they should focus on stopping the pandering to the current administration and do what,Äôs right for Americans. They need to uphold the Constitution and remember who they serve-the people.
10/18/25 7:28 AM	John Shivar		I,Äôm all for it. Elections come with consequences!
10/18/25 7:28 AM	Ms. Kathey Avery		Please allow fair elections, for the people by the people in North Carolina. We deserve to choose our leaders!
10/18/25 7:29 AM	Annie Erbsen		Redistributing for the purpose of being able to win more seats when you don,Äôt have the votes is unethical. Instead, if you have a lack of votes, maybe try to connect with people and shift your beliefs and policies to actually meet the needs of your constituents. No to redistristricting unless you will be REMOViNG the gerrymandering currently in place,Ä¶ don,Äôt make it worse. It,Äôs underhanded, unethical and cowardly.
10/18/25 7:29 AM	Ms Casey Wood		I feel if you redistrict at this time, history will not reflect kindly on you. We are at a point in time that globally will be taught in all history classes. Your names can be ones that stand up against what is wrong or you can be complacent and for ever be known as ones that took away rights from others. Please let's do what is right and place a vote to the people if we want to redistrict.
10/18/25 7:29 AM	Redistricting comments Kim Hunsucker		I am against any further redistricting / gerrymandering of our state maps. It is undemocratic for politicians to pick their voters instead of the other way around. The majority of NC voters, Democrats and Republicans, are against gerrymandering. We already have one of the most gerrymandered maps in the country and it is really unbelievable that the legislature is about to make it worse. NC is roughly a 50/50 state and our representation in Congress should reflect that. Please do not further change the maps just to gain another Republican seat. It,Äôs unfair to the people of North Carolina.
10/18/25 7:29 AM	Redistricting is a bad Adam Goltry		I feel that this is a ploy to undermine the rights of the American people to gain power. This spiral to the bottom, by both parties, to gain congressional seats is childish and lazy. If parties want more power they should win elections not redraw maps. This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/18/25 7:30 AM	Lauren Darr		I don,Äôt agree with the map redistricting that is currently on the table. It,Äôs designed to keep one party in power over allowing the will of the people to determine who is in power. You,Äôre underestimating the heart and the resiliency of the North Carolinians you say you,Äôre serving.
10/18/25 7:32 AM	Brenda Hourigan		Please stop following the current regime in DC and bowing down to their wants. Don,Äôt be afraid to let the people of NC decide who to vote for. If you have to rig elections you must be doing something wrong. I am a former Republican who is fed up with all of you. I feel abandoned
10/18/25 7:32 AM	Vince Bartlome		To the representatives of the people of North Carolina: with all the many challenges we face in this state, we, the people ask that you focus your attention on what is important to the well-being of all of us. A constant "gerrymandering" only diverts your attention. Put the question of redistricting to the people, place it on the ballot if you think it so important, otherwise DO YOUR JOBS!

10/18/25 7:34 AM	MELISSA MCKEOWN		The injustice of this, and unashamed explanation for why this is being done, is embarrassing. This is about integrity. The lack of integrity it shows to even be considering this is shameful, let alone to actually approve it. It,Äôs an embarrassment to the state of NC, to the leadership of NC, and especially to the individuals that propose and that vote to approve this measure. I am a Republican that will vote straight ticket Democrat in every election until we restore balance and integrity in our leadership. You lost my vote, gentlemen. One day that will matter to you.
10/18/25 7:34 AM	Dawn Morriston		You look weak and scared every time you gerrymander our district maps. It's embarrassing. It's like you don't understand the basic foundation of our democracy....maps don't vote, PEOPLE DO, and we don't vote for weak and scared enablers of the worst President in US history.
10/18/25 7:34 AM	Representation for all Emily Viverette		I am horrified that the individuals who were elected by the people of NC care more about bowing to an authoritarian leader than serving the people. As a life long North Carolinian and believer in democracy, gerrymandering is an evil and cowardly power grab. I strongly oppose this vote. I wish our legislators were grow spines and stand up for the people and not billionaires and wanna be dictators.
10/18/25 7:35 AM	Coleman Poag		There is no good reason to waste the time of our elected representatives and their staffers on redrawing Congressional districts except when mandated by the constitution. This unprecedented attempt to artificially influence the midterm elections demonstrates a complete lack of integrity and moral character.
10/18/25 7:35 AM	Mrs Anne Pinkelton		No gerrymandering! Every person,Äôs vote should count equally. Representatives were elected to serve the people of NC not the president! The vast majority of NC citizens oppose this plan!
10/18/25 7:35 AM	Dr Jamison Chang		I am very upset about the current redistricting efforts particularly redistricting using the proposed 2025 Congressional map. I'm especially concerned about : - The lack of voter participation in this process - Please consider initiating a ballot referendum that prohibits gerrymandering & establishes a nonpartisan redistricting commission - The brazen effort to allow elected officials to choose their voters ,Äì Voters should be able to choose their representatives ,Ä¶ not the other way around - Gerrymandering suppressing voter turnout ,Äì Voters know when their voice no longer matters ,Ä¶ we should be making it easier for folks to use their votes - Voters aren,Äôt represented by elected officials from their own communities 85% of North Carolinians oppose gerrymandering in NC ,Ä¶ including me. We are watching and will continue to publicize any efforts to rob voters of their voice.
10/18/25 7:36 AM	Dianne Swanson	Caldwell county Democratic women	Enough! No more changing the district lines! The legislature should be working to pass the budget, find state funds to help offset the cuts to Medicaid, fully fund PUBLIC schools and raise teacher pay!
10/18/25 7:36 AM	Candace Mckoy		Voters should choose their electorate and not the other way around. We have possibly the most gerrymandered state or one of the most gerrymandered states. This is immoral and corrupt at its core and further gerrymandering the state to satisfy a power hungry politician is a dangerous precedent. He will short change anyone to advance himself and hide his crimes. Those who vote in favor of this bill are in favor of protecting pedophiles and rapists, those on the Epstein list and those who are not. Their names will forever be remembered as not only accomplices to covering up and preventing Epstein,Äôs victims from being heard but also for being on the wrong side of history and dismantling a fair and democratic republic .
10/18/25 7:36 AM	Mrs Jennifer Osburn		I oppose further expansion of the gerrymandering in North Carolina. Stop this petty nonsense and do your job of representing the people.
10/18/25 7:37 AM	Ma Lisa Kline		I am outraged at the thought that the North Carolina legislature is planning to ,Äúredistrict,Äù yet again to gain more power for Republicans in sycophantic obedience to Donald Trump, rather than trying to help their constituents afford their health care, or shore up North Carolina,Äôs neglected public school system. The earlier gerrymander totally eliminated Jeff Jackson,Äôs district and he has been a conscientious and strong servant for North Carolina. It is clear that North Carolina Republicans do not care about the people of North Carolina. They care only about power. It is my prediction that they will be on the wrong side of history and will be pilloried in years to come.
10/18/25 7:37 AM	Dr Shana Silverstein		I fully disagree with this redistricting, and find it undemocratic. Pls stop this bill.
10/18/25 7:38 AM	Grace Buckelew		I don,Äôt understand why we, as a state that has already been redistricted many times, are doing so for a president that is letting thousands of people suffer under his thumb. It,Äôs not right.
10/18/25 7:38 AM	Dr. and Ms. John and Mary Staryak		Partisan redistricting creates a voting framework that is not representative of the will of the people of North Carolina. Wea are vehemently opposed to this and any attempts to destroy democracy.

10/18/25 7:38 AM	Ms Kathleen Davidson		I strongly oppose further gerrymandering to weaken the voices of Black voters in NC. Redistricting for political purposes is allegedly okay, but when a state leans half one way and half the other and the districts are so heavily weighted in one direction, the districting is unconscionable.
10/18/25 7:39 AM	Robin Johnson		I can,Äôt believe I have to make a comment on this, but gerrymandering is wrong. That should be bipartisan. Gerrymandering is cheating regardless of which party is driving it.
10/18/25 7:41 AM	Shohana Polston		I strongly oppose the newly proposed Congressional district plan for North Carolina, which undermines the foundational principles of representative democracy and fair governance. Rather than serving the interests of the people, the plan appears designed to entrench partisan power through gerrymandering,Äîmanipulating district boundaries to favor one political party at the expense of fair representation. The map fractures communities of interest, dilutes the voting power of historically underrepresented groups, and disregards the natural geographic and demographic cohesion that should guide districting. This plan is a disservice to North Carolina voters.
10/18/25 7:43 AM	Sharon Becker		Stop gerrymandering our districts! You,Äôre breaking the rules because you know your policies aren,Äôt popular! Do better!!
10/18/25 7:44 AM	2025 Redistricting Michael Picard		When any one party draws the maps, they will always do it for their own advantage! The maps should be done purely based on math to be fair to The People!! Let a computer do it and let us all be truly represented!!!
10/18/25 7:44 AM	Susan Shankle		This is in direct opposition to maintaining the will of the people. If Berger has to cheat to win, he,Äôs still a loser.
10/18/25 7:45 AM	Libba Genova		It goes against everything that democracy stands for to dilute the votes of the minority party in order to grab more power. If Republicans had policies that were in the best interests of their constituents, there would be no need to cheat to win elections. Stop this nonsense now.
10/18/25 7:45 AM	Silvia Flynn		If the GOP cannot win an election based on their policies and positions then they SHOULD NOT be cheating and changing the rules to gain an advantage. Shame shame shame. Just grow up and stop this gerrymandering.
10/18/25 7:47 AM	Dr. Carol Klein		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters.
10/18/25 7:48 AM	Mrs Melissa Hall		No, there are ALL too many Republican districts and they don,Äôt help their constituents. Do NOT DO IT!!!!! Ya,Äôll are better than this!
10/18/25 7:48 AM	Mr Taylor Leal		Our state is literally broken in half, left and right. Tho has always been a good thing as our state has managed to avoid some of th extremism you are seeing in various places,Ä¶.both sides. This is an egregious redraw and one that any legitimate court would strike down. Represent the people. Kaotao ing to Trump will be looked on historically as one of the darker times for our country. Please keep our state reasonable
10/18/25 7:49 AM	Penelope Schmitt		I live in Wilmington, NC, in one of the state,Äôs most gerrymandered districts. New Hanover Country,Äôs voters have already been significantly harmed. Nothing but cynical self dealing by the NC GOP is at work in this redistributing effort. Give VOTERS the right to choose their representatives-we are sick of being shut out by Republican gerrymanders
10/18/25 7:49 AM	Dixie Robinson	Citizen	This is an out rage. We are no longer able to pick our representatives. I want the realistic opportunity to elect a person that represents my views. In a truly fair district I have that opportunity even if it doesn,Äôt happen every election. We need to have a non-partisan districting. I am not affiliated with a party and have voted for both major parties in past elections. This hyper partisan has led to me not having a true voice.
10/18/25 7:49 AM	Mr Andy Lawler		It is not appropriate that representation does not reflect the actual political breakdown of the state. This map is being changed to benefit somebody who is taking funding away from Western North Carolina and destroying our medical system.
10/18/25 7:49 AM	Mrs Allison McDonough		First of all, call this what it is: gerrymandering. As a registered independent, if the roles were reversed and the NC Democratic Party was gerrymandering to gain favor from Kamala Harris, I'd be equally as furious. This is particularly embarrassing considering NC was the first colony to call for independence from Britain and yet here we are, bowing a knee to a monarch in 2025. On top of this buffoonery, a budget is three months overdue. The NC General Assembly works for the people of NC, not Donald Trump, and it would behoove the leadership of this legislative body to remember that.
10/18/25 7:50 AM	Ms Natalie Grinnell		76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law. Gerrymandering is an affront to our constitutional right of equal representation and our values of fairness and competition. I fervently oppose such measures.
10/18/25 7:51 AM	Meaghan Crook		I do not support this and I urge you NOT to redistrict.

10/18/25 7:51 AM	Clayton Berlinghoff III		Democracy is strongest when everyone is equally represented. In NC, prior to the last redistricting, congressional seats were 50/50, but the state legislature had gerrymandered state-level districts. The R-led legislature then gerrymandered our congressional districts, resulting in a 10/4 split. However, 50/50 at both the state and federal level seems about right given NC has voted R in the last few presidential elections, but consistently voted D in the last few state-wide elections. Unfortunately, the R-led legislature is focused maintaining/growing their power instead of fairly representing ALL people of NC. They claim they're doing that to implement "widely popular" Trump policies, but if they're so "widely popular", why aren't they just running on those policies instead of resorting to partisan gerrymandering? In doing so, they are undermining the most important pillar of democracy - that everyone's vote counts equally.
10/18/25 7:51 AM	Michael Cline		Resident of WNC. Do not further gerrymander the electoral map of our great state, unless it is an effort to make it reflect more of our 50/50 voting pattern.
10/18/25 7:52 AM	Anthony Gibson		Not surprised at all that Guardians Of Pedophiles are trying to cheat to gain even more power to ignore our constitution.
10/18/25 7:52 AM	Catherine Shook	private citizen	Gerrymandering = Cowardice
10/18/25 7:52 AM	Barbara Loving		The redistricting should absolutely NOT happen. This state just had the maps redrawn. Safe and fair elections should be your priority. And remembering that you do not work for a politician or political side BUT for all the people of NC
10/18/25 7:53 AM	Heather Kettelhohn		Redrawing the maps erodes the values this country was founded on. It's a clear attempt to silence the people's will and appease Mr. Trump. It's un-American! Stand on your policies and accomplishments and let the people of North Carolina decide in fair elections who should represent them.
10/18/25 7:53 AM	STOP CHEATING!! Emilu Dickinson		The proposed redistributing map further gerrymanders our state which was already horribly gerrymandered to begin with. These new districts will silence the voices of over half the state,Äôs population. In a recent poll, over 80% of NC constituents are against gerrymandering of any kind. With that in mind, why would elected officials actively go against the will of those they have sworn to represent? Satisfying the whims of one corrupt administration is temporary, but the harm that this effort will inflict if passed will be generational, casting doubt on our sacred oath for free and fair elections. I strongly encourage the NCGA to stop this ridiculous effort and start looking at how they can actually help North Carolina. Because at the end of the day, it is us that you represent, not a wannabe dictator.
10/18/25 7:53 AM	Kathryn Montagno		Our state deserves to be represented as a whole,Ä¶ not simply for members of one of our political parties to be represented. Voting maps are meant to reflect the will of the people, and NC is currently as close to 50/50 as any state. The general assembly is already heavily skewed toward one party . Any changes to borders of voting districts should be made with the aim of following the spirit of the constitution as closely as possible...not the desire of powerful people to retain and grow that power regardless of what is ethical.
10/18/25 7:54 AM	Catherine Kielar		Protect our constitutional right to fair and balanced elections. Do not let politicians rig elections.
10/18/25 7:54 AM	Cyd Dawson		Why is our state legislature more interested in further dividing our state than in ensuring that social programs are funded? Are your policy choices so reprehensible that you recognize that gerrymandering is the only way to keep winning? So much winning happening right now. For you, I mean. We the people are being used as kindling. The priorities exhibited by the legislature are abhorrent and inexcusable cruel. I hope y'all will develop a conscience and reconsider the constitutionality of suppressing the votes of folks you claim to represent.
10/18/25 7:55 AM	Catherine Edwards		I think what you are doing is against the idea of free and fair elections. If GOP can,Äôt win die to their policies then the people deserve to be able to make there dissatisfaction known. Stop the gerrymandering.
10/18/25 7:55 AM	Jennifer Miller	NC voter	Please don't allow more unfair gerrymandering. It's sad to see such manipulation of democratic principles.
10/18/25 7:55 AM	Jason Flores		I oppose this proposed gerrymandered map. It is a misrepresentation of the people of North Carolina and is an example of politicians choosing their voters. This is not what the people of North Carolina want and it is not what the founders had in mind for our country. If you are so sure this is the will of the people then put it on the ballot and let us all vote.
10/18/25 7:55 AM	Ms Mindy Hill		I think it,Äôs a shame that state Republicans feel they cannot win elections without redrawing congressional maps in their favor. What are they afraid of? That their candidates are not up to par or their policies are out of touch with their constituents?
10/18/25 7:55 AM	Redistricting Map Cory Bragg		I understand that as populations grow and change districts need to change with them. The map does need to be a living document in order to accurately represent the people of North Carolina. I also understand that these shifts do have a consequence of changing political scales. HOWEVER to have politicians gloat about intentionally redrawing maps to better serve not just a political party, but the will of a president is HIGHLY UnAmerican. To go forward with the proposed changes based on the comments made alone will sacrifice credibility and is foolish to do.
10/18/25 7:55 AM	Cathy Musci		It is the right of voters to choose their representatives, not the other way around. Stop gerrymandering. I support an outside not partisan group to draw districts based on geographic areas and population.

10/18/25 7:56 AM	Ms. Micah Pulleyn	Catalyst Collaborations	Dear Representatives, I,Äôm writing to express my outrage and deep disappointment about the blatant gerrymandering underway in North Carolina. This manipulation of district lines,Äîdone in plain daylight,Äîundermines the very heart of our democracy and erodes trust in those elected to serve the people. Redistricting should be a transparent, people-centered process rooted in fairness and accountability, not a political power grab to secure seats and silence voices. We, the citizens of North Carolina, deserve districts that reflect our communities and give every voter an equal say. I urge you to pause this process and open it up for genuine public input. Let the people you represent be part of shaping the system that governs them. Anything less is a betrayal of the democratic principles you were elected to uphold. Gratefully, Micah Pulleyn
10/18/25 7:56 AM	Mrs. Mary Burke		I Do Not want to be a part of Redistricting, if I Will Loose my Voice in this matter or Not have My Vote Counted in my Ward!!!!!
10/18/25 7:56 AM	Mrs. Amy Blalock	U.S. Citizen and N.C. Citizen	If you gerrymander a district, you guarantee an outcome. That's what appears to be happening in North Carolina again. These are maps that are designed only to elect one political party. The people of North Carolina should choose their representatives, not the representatives choosing their voters. As a registered Independent voter, I am opposed to this effort and urge the N.C. General Assembly to cease with gerrymandering electoral maps.
10/18/25 7:57 AM	Phillip Bost	Bost Laboratory Services LLC	Elected representatives are the last people who should be allowed to draw district maps. Get your hands out of the cookie jar.
10/18/25 7:57 AM	Mr. Randy Hunsucker	N/A	If you believe in democracy, then there should be free and fair elections. Career politicians in State Houses across the nation, including you all in Raleigh, are party to the destruction of everything I thought we valued as a People. To redraw districts is to make voting unfair. The sole purpose is to divide Americans (North Carolinians too) and to further erode the trust we have in elections and democracy. To be an elected official means holding a serious responsibility. In this moment, ask yourselves whether The People are wise enough to be Self Governing. Or, do we want to toss out the idea of Self Governance and have a system like Russia, China, North Korea or Iran.
10/18/25 7:58 AM	Dr Rebekah Bell		The gerrymandering needs to stop. If you can only win through blatantly cheating than perhaps you should consider policy changes. We the people have a constitutional right to choose our representatives, not the other way around!
10/18/25 8:00 AM	Donald Trump	Epstein Files	This is the dumbest use of tax payer money I can think of. Fuck republicans you all fucking suck and you should all be ashamed of what you guys do for a living. Also release the Epstein files I know you guys are on it and want you guys to be ashamed for your actions!
10/18/25 8:00 AM	Rohini Rajgopal		I am writing to express my strong opposition to the newly proposed congressional maps. These maps do not reflect the political diversity or demographic reality of our state. North Carolina is evenly divided between Democrats, Republicans, and unaffiliated voters ,Äî yet this proposal would result in twelve Republican and only two Democratic seats. That imbalance is not the product of fair representation; it is the product of gerrymandering. This plan would silence millions of North Carolinians, especially Black voters, and further erode public trust in our democratic institutions. Every voter deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of where they live or whom they vote for. At a time when faith in democracy is already fragile, I urge lawmakers to reject any maps that undermine fair representation. North Carolina deserves districts drawn in the open, guided by fairness and transparency ,Äî not partisan manipulation.
10/18/25 8:00 AM	Stop the redistricting Nicole Robertson		Hello, I'm a new resident to the state of NC and I'm deeply disappointed in that this map is proposed. I urge you to not pass it and let your constituents have a voice they deserve. I will not support anyone who votes for this map.
10/18/25 8:01 AM	Redistricting Kristi Simms		Democracy was built on the principle of government for the people and by the people. The only way it works is when all people have a voice. Each citizen,Äôs vote should count equally. If you proceed with redrawing congressional maps, I encourage you to draw them in a way that makes sense geographically and culturally. There should never be maps drawn to secure more seats for one party or the other. That is dishonest and unethical and I know that,Äôs not why you serve in office. Thank you for your time and attention.

10/18/25 8:01 AM	Heather Tate		It is unconscionable that you would redraw these maps AGAIN to gain another unfair advantage. You are choosing your voters instead of letting the voters be truly represented. You aren,Äôt doing the job you are supposed to be doing and instead spending time and money cheating to get votes instead of representing the people. How about we start with a budget? Imagine running a school or a household with no real numbers to manage. That,Âôs what you are asking schools, state employees and others to do. Stop creating gerrymandered maps and do the job you were elected to do.
10/18/25 8:01 AM	Adam Long		This racist, conservative-biased map has no place in our politics. Get an independent commission to make it and let,Âôs have competitive elections. It shouldn,Äôt bias my preferred side either.
10/18/25 8:01 AM	Colleen Alden		As a longtime resident of North Carolina, please just stop with the partisan gerrymandering. This is being done for no reason against the will of the people those who are doing it for power-hungry reasons only will end up on the wrong side of history. As a voter, please choose what your constituents want over your own need for power and party. Thank you for considering my comments.
10/18/25 8:01 AM	Rachel Baker		This blatant power grab is wrong on many levels. North Carolinians deserve to be able to vote in the representatives they want that best represent their values and interests in an accurate proportion to the populations present in the state. Gaming the system hurts everyone and damages public trust in the legislature. Stop redrawing the district maps,Äîthey are already ridiculously skewed, and making them worse will only increase our discontent and disappointment. The fact that this is being done when we still don,Äôt have a state budget and at the behest of a nonresident of our state is even more pathetic. Focus on prioritizing the good of North Carolinians, not your party.
10/18/25 8:01 AM	Dr Katharine Hodink		I am horrified by the attempt to further gerrymander NC, which is already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country. By doing this, our democratic rights are eroded. The right to vote is erased if your vote doesnt matter.
10/18/25 8:01 AM	Mids Carolyn Bronsonwe		We need reps that will work for the good of all the people, NOT for the president and his cronies. Honest people to represent the masses.
10/18/25 8:02 AM	Sabrina Brawley		I urge you on behalf of the constituents of North Carolina, who you serve, to reject partisan gerrymandering and stop this redistricting effort. The people overwhelmingly do not support this effort.
10/18/25 8:02 AM	Redirecting our state April Dunovant	NC DKG	A true democracy is where everybody,Âôs voices are heard. Our state is a balance of both Democrat and Republican but the proposed maps are not reflective of that balance. If we truly want to become a better society, we must work alongside each other to achieve our goals. The map diminishes our true constitutional power as a state by allowing one group more power than the other. We need balance in our government because that,Âôs how true democracy is achieved. As an educator, I believe in leading and if NC is truly leading then we don,Äôt have to follow our GOP states in diluting power of citizens, we can lead and have true balance of power by creating fair maps. Do better NC!
10/18/25 8:03 AM	Tanner Childs		To anyone with Carolina soul, I,Äôve traveled to 38 states across this great country and nothing has come close to how great North Carolina is. I,Äôve camped out on the Art Loeb and seen the Milky Way. I,Äôve camped out on Cape Lookout and wondered about the pirates that explored the outer banks. I was raised on the back country roads but I,Äôve been to all the major cities in North Carolina. I,Äôve enjoyed learning our roots at event such as the triangle beach music festival, Merlefest, NASCAR hall of fame, and many more. I,Äôve been baptized by the waters of the French Broad, Yadkin, PeeDee, and Catawba. I could go on for days about my love and exploration of the greatest state in the US but I bring all this up to say that in my 35 years I never considered leaving until now. Not that it matters to y,Âôall very much because clearly it,Âôs not the people you care about. It doesn,Äôt matter which way I vote because with this proposed map nobodies vote matters. This country was founded on the idea of the individual vote and North Carolina was a part of that creation from the beginning but y,Âôall are throwing it all away and it breaks my heart. Sincerely, J. Tanner Childs (Mt. Pleasant, NC)
10/18/25 8:03 AM	Roxanne Chesnes		Cheating looks ugly bc it is ugly. That's what redistricting is, Ugly Cheating.
10/18/25 8:03 AM	Ms Linda Campbell		The attempt to further gerrymander North Carolina congressional districts is shameful. Our state is evenly divided and had 7-7 representation when there were equitably drawn maps. I am hopeful that Republican Party efforts to disenfranchise Democratic voters will not pass the NC legislature. If it does pass, I hope it will bring fair minded and patriotic Republican and independent voters out to use the thinner district margins to turn Republican districts blue. Don,Äôt underestimate the anger people feel when fairness is disregarded by those in power.
10/18/25 8:04 AM	Dawn Roach		I have lived in Westeren North Carolina my entire adult life and have yet to be fairly represented. Do the right thing for once your life. Draw the maps fairly and quit the shenanigans. I will continue to support anyone who is opposed to gerrymandering. Thank you Gov Stein and Cooper for being the real leaders NC wants and needs.

10/18/25 8:04 AM	Mrs Geraldine Morgan	Not affiliated	Public comment period on the new redistricting maps for North Carolina is open. I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and our votes should count equally, regardless of political affiliation, race, or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal
10/18/25 8:04 AM	Kathleen Lucisano		Stop redistricting between census cycles. This is unfair manipulation!
10/18/25 8:05 AM	Ms BRENDA WESTHORP	Individual	We the people demand Fair maps! Stop rigging the system to favor Republicans. We know what you're up to. We demand better.
10/18/25 8:05 AM	Mrs Vicki Turner		Redistricting is not fair!! If Republicans can,Äôt win fair and square they need to figure out a way to appeal to ALL VOTERS!
10/18/25 8:05 AM	Joan Bennett	Citizen	This plan to redistrict is an abomination to the voting public. We all have a constitutional right to have our votes mean something and count.
10/18/25 8:06 AM	BJ Honeycutt		I don,Äôt understand why you feel the need to cheat to arrive at what you want. Just so you know, nothing goes unnoticed. Karma comes back around. You should be ashamed of yourself. This will be remembered when we vote!
10/18/25 8:08 AM	Chris Stevens		This is an egregious act of suppressing the vote of democrats in NC. It only shows the priorities of republicans, focusing on power grabs rather than the people of NC. It,Äôs been over 100 days since the deadline of passing a state budget and this is what they,Äôre focusing on. Shame.
10/18/25 8:11 AM	Reverend Athena Thomasson-Bless		As a lifelong North Carolinian and pastor, I urge you to not pass these gerrymandered maps. These redistricting maps prioritize the agenda of one party and the president over the voice of the people. We need to defend free and fair elections as a cornerstone of our democracy. I urge you to do the right thing and not pass this gerrymandered map through.
10/18/25 8:12 AM	Kathie Kline		The GOP has complained about rigged elections over and over, yet now you are preparing to rig the 2026 midterms by redistricting in the middle of the decade. This blatant hypocrisy is unacceptable. I have always supported the idea of an independent commission proposing districts that truly and fairly represent all of North Carolina's voters but if you follow through with this plan, I will fight hard for Democrats to defeat you and to return the favor of using whatever means are necessary to prevent GOP candidates from successfully winning elections. Think carefully before you change districts mid-decade. Instead, start working on the issues that matter to all North Carolinians rather that following any and all marching orders from President Trump. History books will reveal that those who blindly bowed to him will be remembered with disdain. Stand up on your own with integrity, do good work for average voters who have needs, and show that you truly deserve being in office. That is how you (and federal candidates) will be re-elected.
10/18/25 8:12 AM	Shannon Gentry		It is shameful that the same elected leaders who cannot or will not pass a North Carolina budget have the audacity to further gerrymander our state so that they can keep a grip on power they have not earned, nor rightfully elected to, is the exact behavior that most North Carolinians are fed up with, including me. I want my government to represent US, not work so damn hard to silence us when we've had enough.
10/18/25 8:12 AM	Rev. Dr. Philip Miller		Too much gerrymandering, manipulation, and rigging the political balance in a state that is purple, not red. No more!
10/18/25 8:14 AM	Belindia Taylor	Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc.	I strongly oppose the proposed redistricting plan. This map appears to prioritize partisan gain over fair representation through gerrymandering that deliberately manipulates district boundaries. It splits apart established neighborhoods and communities of interest, ignores natural and historical boundaries, and dilutes minority voting power. The lack of transparency and meaningful public input in this process is unacceptable. Our community deserves a redistricting plan that ensures equitable representation for all residents, not one that serves political interests at the expense of democratic principles. I urge decision-makers to reject this plan and restart the process with genuine community engagement and a commitment to fair, transparent redistricting.
10/18/25 8:14 AM	Eren Simpson		Please do not redistrict our beautiful state in order to cow tow to a wanna be dictator who is no longer in favor with some of your more conservative constituents in this state. Our state is already majority Republican with our democratic districts few and far between. The greatness of our state has long been its ‚Äòpurple‚Äô designation and our ability to balance common sense and constitutionality with the southern charm and neighborly ease. I love our state, I‚Äôm a proud North Carolinian and I would hate for our reputation to get thrown out with the bath water of this regime when it‚Äôs all over.
10/18/25 8:14 AM	Mrs Nancy Newcomb		Your new gerrymanding maps are embarrassing to North Carolina citizens. Don,Äôt be so partisan,Ä¶we,Äôre all in this together. Be Fair!
10/18/25 8:14 AM	Tripp Reade		How about we try to draw districts that allow each vote to count rather than Frankendistricts designed to minimize and effectively disenfranchise certain groups? That would be nice for a change.

10/18/25 8:14 AM	Holly Thorpe		To Whom It May Concern: I strongly oppose any attempt to redraw North Carolina‚Äôs congressional or legislative maps before the next census. According to the North Carolina State Constitution Article II, Sections 3 and 5 clearly states that: ‚ÄúThe General Assembly ‚Äú at the first regular session convening after the return of every decennial census ‚Äú shall revise the [districts] ‚Äú and those districts ‚Äú shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial census.‚Äù The last census was in 2020. Redrawing again now is not only unethical, it is likely unconstitutional. This mid-decade redistricting looks like a political power grab and one that undermines public trust in elections and weakens and threatens our democracy. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. I urge the legislature to stop this process immediately and honor the legal 10-year cycle that redistricting is supposed to follow. Respectfully, Holly Avery County
10/18/25 8:14 AM	Reverend Kari Baumann		Gerrymandering erodes confidence in democracy. It threatens our democracy. Elected officials should be accountable to North Carolinians and not to Donald Trump‚Äôs whims. Pass a budget, not a partisan gerrymandering map. Take care of NC children instead of focusing on gerrymandering. Fund our schools adequately (Leandro) instead of focusing on gerrymandering. Have you considered actually serving and helping people with popular policies instead of cheating to keep power?
10/18/25 8:14 AM	Barbara Wilson		Stop fixing the voting maps to be unfair to our citizens! Stop gerrymandering in North Carolina. We deserve better from our elected officials.
10/18/25 8:14 AM	jeremy kearney	Mowers & More	I stand behind the NC Republicans plan to redistrict. Do not let this idle Governor take this from us.
10/18/25 8:15 AM	Reverend Ruth Gibson		This is wholly improper! We have had unfairly gerrymandered districts for decades now, and the will of the people is not adequately represented. Instead, our legislature represents the will of a few wealthy families and the politician who do their bidding. Pass a budget! Release the Leandro funds for education. Help storm survivors! Find ways to navigate the economic hazards brought on by government workers being fired and immigrant workers being illegally abducted and detained. Dothe peoples work. And organize an independent non partisan commission to do a fair and careful redistricting after the next census.
10/18/25 8:15 AM	Adrian Birds		It is shameful what you are doing with this redistricting. We vote in our state representatives to have a back bone and represent the people of NC, not to be at the call of the President. Nice to know the Republican party of NC would rather cheat to win rather than win votes the honest way. It goes to show you that your policies are failing those in NC and the country. This truly is an embarrassing time to be a North Carolinian.
10/18/25 8:16 AM	Samantha Swan		Stop wasting time by gerrymandering NC for Republicans‚Äô benefit. It is not democracy if you silence the voices of constituents. Shame on the General Assembly members who redraw maps for their benefit. Redrawing the map shows fear that Republicans don‚Äôt have the policies voters want and are trying to win by design, not fairly. Shame shame shame,‚Äù.
10/18/25 8:16 AM	Nicole Jensen		I do not support redistricting to favor one political party. 30% NC voters are registered republican. 32% NC voters are democrats. Gerrymandering to add a republican seat would not represent the majority of registered voters.
10/18/25 8:17 AM	Megan Camp		This is gerrymandering plain and simple. The republicans are afraid to fight a fair fight. It is sad and disgusting - just be honest people. Maybe then you wouldn‚Äôt have to cheat to win.
10/18/25 8:18 AM	Donna Gibbs		Enough with sucking up to Donald Trump, you all have a budget to work out. It‚Äôs beyond time for you all to work FOR the people of NC. Nothing is being done to improve NC citizens lives by gerrymandering for the sake of a criminal. Why would anyone think we want more of what he‚Äôs doing to America. Find a backbone and tell him no.
10/18/25 8:18 AM	Jeanne Yocum	retired	Apparently the GOP in the state legislature believe they work for Donald Trump and not for the citizens of North Carolina. Doing a mid-decade congressional redistricting at his bidding is wrong. There's no other way to put it. And to blame it on the Democrats in California when it was actually the GOP in Texas that started this whole debacle is disingenuous to say the least. You have not managed to do your actual job of passing a budget but you are now determined to spend time on this folly. The existing maps already are ridiculous in terms of how they skew things toward Republicans and ow you're going to make it even more unfair. And, of course, let's not forget that you are deliberately diluting the power of Black voters in North Carolina once again. Please reconsider and realize this is not something the citizens of North Carolina are demanding. We are demanding that you pass a budget, provide more help to the people in Western NC and do your actual job instead of being toadies for Donald Trump.
10/18/25 8:18 AM	Jane Wettach		Nothing could be more ANTI-DEMOCRATIC than manipulating the maps to keep one party out of power. The proposal made will deprive even more North Carolinians from electing their preferred representatives. I object!
10/18/25 8:18 AM	james silva		An independent board should be created to do any re-districting.
10/18/25 8:18 AM	Mrs Gillian Hardy		Cheating is never an answer. Let the people decide. One vote one voice....then the true citizens will be heard. Nepotism is so disgusting and today's elected republican leaders are small minded and scared. Enough is enough! No kings and no cheaters!

10/18/25 8:18 AM	Laura Watson	--None--	These proposals are a terrible idea. These maps are partisan gerrymandering in a state that is already severely gerrymandered. the proposed maps would lead to less competitive elections and reduce accountability for elected officials, voter participation will be suppressed and incumbents would have little incentive to compromise. Public surveys show that voters of all parties in North Carolina largely oppose the practice of drawing maps for partisan advantage. Do not pass this map
10/18/25 8:19 AM	Barbara Anderson	Concerned NC citizen	Congress- I strongly disagree with redistricting again! If Republican policies, both national & state, are so profound, why is it necessary to shift the districts to ‚Äúensure‚Äù a Republican win? If your answer is California is doing it, please remember that, first off, Trump told Texas to do it & California responded by telling Texas not to but they bowed to Trump. Secondly, California‚Äôs citizens will decide on a temporary redistricting. So why not ask NC citizens if they want another redistricting map? Why is this the 5th in 6 years? What, Mr. Berger, are you afraid of? Why not let your constituents vote for who they feel best represents them? If you represent us, let us have our say in governing as a democracy ensures.
10/18/25 8:19 AM	Katie Norman		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, abiding my our state laws and once a decade, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal. Please uphold our democracy.
10/18/25 8:19 AM	Mrs Aaryn Marsters		Doing this AGAIN, shows that the NC Republican Party is corrupt beyond repair. You should feel ashamed of your utter dishonesty to grab at power and remove the ability of the people of North Carolina to have fair representation. Never say that you are the party of freedom and liberty as that is a joke in this state. The basis of freedom is this country is fair representation and you consistently remove that from us. As people who mostly say you believe in the Bible and follow God, you should feel in your spirit a check against these crooked actions. You are obeying a man, not the Lord. This is dishonesty. This is prideful power grabbing. This is shameful for our state. DO NOT REDRAW THE LINES IN NC. IF YOU WANT TO WIN MORE VOTES, DO BETTER THINGS TO WIN OUR TRUST. BE HONORABLE.
10/18/25 8:19 AM	Douglas Miller		This is the most racist disgusting thing I‚Äôve ever seen politicians do may you rot in hell?
10/18/25 8:19 AM	Jennifer Ormsby		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/18/25 8:21 AM	C. J. Beatty		I firmly believe that redrawing the new congressionsl district plan is reflective of a desperate attempt to win at all costs and ignore the truth of the voters. The values our politicians are displaying should be what drives the support of the voters not stacking the system.
10/18/25 8:21 AM	Hillary Monsour		I‚Äôm writing as a concerned citizen and voter deeply troubled by the latest redistricting efforts underway in our state. Our Republican controlled legislature appears to be drawing district maps in a way that prioritizes partisan advantage over fair representation. This is unacceptable. The people of North Carolina deserve competitive, transparent, and equitable districts, not maps that are manipulated to ensure one party‚Äôs grip on power. When lawmakers choose voters rather than voters choosing lawmakers, democracy is undermined. I am not okay with these efforts to entrench political power through gerrymandering. These actions erase public trust in our institutions and silence the voices of many communities across the state. I urge you to support independent redistricting reform and put the interests of the people above party politics. North Carolinians are watching and we will remember who stood for fair representation and who did not.
10/18/25 8:21 AM	Mr Charles Schillinger		Abandon the redistricting and pass a budget.
10/18/25 8:21 AM	Mr John Boylston		The voters should select their representatives. The representatives should NOT select their voters.
10/18/25 8:21 AM	Samantha Favitta		We are already one of the most gerrymandered states in the country. Now, Senator Berger is once again putting party over principle by bending the knee to extremist, anti-democratic forces. This is not about left or right ‚Äî it‚Äôs about right and wrong. It‚Äôs about protecting fair representation, free elections, and the voice of every North Carolinian. Stop the political redistricting. End the corruption. Defend democracy in North Carolina.

10/18/25 8:21 AM	Mrs. Brenda Vandervort-Miller		It would be nice, for once, to see the NCGOP do the right thing by your constituents. Our state is already gerrymandered to the hilt and the GOP already controls our legislature. What more could you possibly gain from further gerrymandering our state? You have already disenfranchised entire voting districts. Enough already! The fact that you all do this with every election cycle informs us that you refuse to allow voters to speak for our state and duly elect who we want to represent us.
10/18/25 8:22 AM	Gary Ander		Although, at this point in time legal, this action is undemocratic and unethical. Redistricting is meant to be done every 10 years to determine representation related to the 10 year census data., not for political gerrymandering. Lincoln said in hid Gettysburg Address that our government was originated to be ‚Äúof the people, for the people and by the people.‚Äù With this action you are deciding that a large portion of our population will have NO voice and will not be represented in the US Congress. Let‚Äôs stop this adolescent bickering and establish an independent redistricting commission the develops new maps every 10 years to reflect the new census data.
10/18/25 8:23 AM	Lydia Garza		Political leaders have a duty to serve as a true reflection of the people's voice. It is imperative that public sentiment is represented with integrity and accuracy, rather than being altered or misrepresented for the benefit of any individual or authoritarian interest.
10/18/25 8:23 AM	Dr. Sera Harold		North Carolina is not a red state, it is a rigged state. But now, it's not rigged enough to keep you scumbags in power. Legislators do not choose their constituents. You work for us, all of us. Stop your corrupt immoral redistricting plan and pass a budget instead!
10/18/25 8:23 AM	redistricting cindy moreno	none	this is totally wrong. you are playing politics with our lives and we won't forget it. we expect you to represent us not your party.
10/18/25 8:24 AM	Cynthia Dodson		I live in Forsyth County in a very urban Democratic area but I have the most conservative representative of them all. I have felt like I do not have representation at all and that my vote does not count. I pay taxes and I need adequate representation that aligns with my beliefs and values. Please stop splitting up Forsyth/Guilford counties and please stop putting some of us with the smaller rural Republican surrounding counties. Please let the larger urban counties stand alone. Our needs and wants are different. Thank you!
10/18/25 8:24 AM	Thomas Jorett		STOP this shamefull abuse of power.
10/18/25 8:24 AM	Jennifer Zeher		I strongly oppose redistricting. Recent polls show that 87% of people in the United States think that gerrymandering is wrong, NO MATTER WHICH PARTY DOES IT. We all know that when they can't win, they cheat. Don't let them cheat their way to the top.
10/18/25 8:25 AM	Jacob Brandon		I do not support the redistricting of congressional districts. Stop trying to cheat. Your constituents are voting for what they want. Leave it at that.
10/18/25 8:25 AM	Cindy Rossetti		Please let our maps alone. The vote belongs to the people. Gerrymandering is voter fraud!!!
10/18/25 8:25 AM	Marty dickinson		NC should not join the race to the bottom of partisan politics in order to maintain Republican control of power, we are already gerrymandered to the hilt! Gerrymandering erodes fair representation and effectively subverts the will of the people. Shouldn‚Äôt the goal be to have fair elections and not computer aided maps designed to artificially favor one party over another?
10/18/25 8:26 AM	Ms. Charlene Blevins	citizen	NC Voting districts should mirror the electorate. We're currently have roughly one third Democrats, one third Republicans, and one third unaffiliated. Districts should be reflective of geographical sense and let the people vote! Republicans have already gerrymandered the districts for a huge win, and that is morally and legally WRONG. If Republicans have to gerrymander districts to win (they do) that means their policies are unwanted by and unpopular with citizens. We've had enough of this. Redraw the maps so ALL voters can make their voice heard.
10/18/25 8:27 AM	Mrs Pamela Lockamy		Voters pick our representatives, not the other way around. Stop the gerrymandering! Congress needs to pass a law to make you stop! The suggested map is unfair and doesn‚Äôt represent us as a whole! We aren‚Äôt game pieces and NC isn‚Äôt a game board!
10/18/25 8:27 AM	Karen Nash		This redistricting move is unconstitutional. But beyond that, by denying people the right to effectively choose their elected officials, it is morally wrong and flies in the face of our nation's long standing beliefs and traditions that honor democracy and the rule of law. If you can't win honestly and openly, you shouldn't be governing.
10/18/25 8:27 AM	Scott Anderson		The Republican plan to AGAIN redistrict is an afront to the citizens of North Carolina. Your party has bowed to the will of tRump ensuring his Fascist takeover of our country. If your party‚Äôs policies and view of the future direction of our country are so popular and correct why do you need to rig the system? Your Gerrymandering of our state denies residents of their voice.
10/18/25 8:28 AM	Pamela Petry	Self Employed	If the Republican party must cheat to remain in power, there is a problem with the Republican party. We are teaching our children that winning is more important than fairness and integrity. The legacy of this Republican party will be one of dishonesty, lack of integrity, heartlessness, and lack of concern for the citizens of North Carolina.
10/18/25 8:28 AM	Redistricting Sara Hinnant		If you were to draw the districts fairly then go for it. But I am amazed at your willlngness to follow the demands of a tyrant. I am opposed to any redistricting by any party that changes the opportunities for fair and equitable elections.
10/18/25 8:29 AM	Barbara Langrall		I am against the proposed redrawing of the NC Congressional Maps. Please represent all of your constituents.
10/18/25 8:29 AM	Kyle Epps		It‚Äôs ridiculous that gerrymandering is being done so blatantly in this country. North Carolina GOP cheats to fill seats, and then refuses to govern, pay teachers, set a state budget, etc. but they‚Äôre happy to shove their entire face up the presidents rear to try to please him - someone who does not give the slightest thought to our people and our great state. Grow a pair and start to stand up for what is right.
10/18/25 8:29 AM	Shweta B	IT	Do not support redistricting now. NO Redistricting.
10/18/25 8:30 AM	Proposed Redistricting Ma Caroline Fagan	None	Please don‚Äôt do this. This is a time to think long-term about fairness and allowing all eligible voters to be represented. Doing right by others is better than a power grab.

10/18/25 8:30 AM	Dr DeMar Neal		I,Äôm writing as a North Carolina resident deeply frustrated that the General Assembly is prioritizing new political redistricting while our state still has no finalized budget. This timing reflects misplaced priorities. Before legislators redraw lines for partisan advantage, they should fulfill their basic duty to govern: to fund schools, infrastructure, and essential services that affect every North Carolinian. Repeated mid-cycle redistricting damages public trust and makes voters believe that elections are being engineered instead of earned. North Carolina,Äôs past map controversies have already strained confidence in fair representation. Continuing that pattern, while budgets stall, tells citizens their voices come second to political gamesmanship. Please halt any redistricting efforts until a budget is passed and commit to transparent, non-partisan map-drawing that restores faith in our democracy. Our state needs responsible leadership focused on results, not redistricting.
10/18/25 8:30 AM	Ms. Margaret Meyer		Redistricting again? North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation.
10/18/25 8:30 AM	Rebekah Watkins		I strongly disagree with further redrawing of our maps. This has gone too far. As a NC resident we deserve fair representation.
10/18/25 8:30 AM	Dr Riane Williams	Democrat	This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians. The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections.
10/18/25 8:31 AM	Patricia Brugnolotti		I am against the redistricting. Find a way for equity in representation.
10/18/25 8:31 AM	C LoCicero		There is "NO" justification for redistricting. Except to cheat.
10/18/25 8:32 AM	No redistricting Sara Baicich		I am in North Carolina resident. I am opposed to redrawing the congressional district maps. This effort is simply to retain power for your party but not your people. The job of Congress is advocating for the will of the people. This mid decade redrawing of maps is a blatant disregard for your constituents and a kowtow to a narcissistic leader .
10/18/25 8:32 AM	Colonel Marshall Daniel		Plans set by the republican majority to once again gerrymander voting districts is another blatant act that ignores the will of the people. So much for your oath of office. SHAME!
10/18/25 8:32 AM	Mrs Barbara Ryan		The republicans cannot win without cheating. They do not care about the will of the people-it may not be now, but one day the republicans will pay for their discrimination. When your children are grown, they will ask you why did you cheat?
10/18/25 8:33 AM	Jordan Ridge		I oppose this blatant unconstitutional power grab. The fact that the elected representatives of the state can,Äôt pass a budget, but are willing to disenfranchise hard-working North Carolinians of representation, shows how corrupted the legislature has become. At the end of the day Republicans already hold the legislative power in North Carolina, for the past 10 years . As John Acton said: power, corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely. The actions of this legislature prove that sentiment to be true. When you,Äôre willing to bend the knee to whoever will kick back money or give you more power it,Äôs time for you to leave the office. At this point you,Äôre no longer representing the people, but representing your own self interest. These actions are harming with people of the state.
10/18/25 8:33 AM	Mr. Gary Barton		This is an effort to destroy fair and impartial elections and our democracy by following the request of a man who wants to be an authoritarian ruler of our nation. By choosing to redistrict you will be complicit in the destruction of our democracy and thus throwing away our Constitution. Leave the districts as they are. NO REDISTRICTING!
10/18/25 8:33 AM	Jonathan Mulvaney	Citizen.	These maps are severely gerrymandered to subvert the will of NC Voters. The voters should be selecting their representatives, not the other way around. This is a shameful act that subverts our democracy in favor of consolidating power for representatives that consistently fail to pass legislation that benefits the people of North Carolina.
10/18/25 8:33 AM	Melanie Countee		Gerrymandering maps willy nilly does a disservice to our state as whole.
10/18/25 8:33 AM	Martha Meyers-Lee		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/18/25 8:34 AM	Mrs. Tina Stayer		Our state does not need to be redistricted. The lines are fine. If Republicans can,Äôt win a seat on the merits of the job they are doing than maybe you should rethink how you are doing your job and do a better job like passing a state budget and protecting those depending on Medicaid for health needs. Your focus should be on the needs of this state not the demands of Trump. Do your job or hopefully the constituents of our state will wake up and vote you out of office no matter what the district maps look like. I for one plan to not vote for another Republican until republicans start doing their jobs and stop catering to one man.

10/18/25 8:34 AM	Heidi Staub		I've not yet seen one legitimate reason for redistricting. Can any of the MAGA crowd provide something??? Or are you just committed to a lifetime of bending over for Trump instead of working for the people of North Carolina?? Do your damn job FOR ONCE.
10/18/25 8:34 AM	Cherian Kadavil		I don,Äôt see the new map working for wake county citizens. Please hear the voice of people and make things work fairly for the people!
10/18/25 8:34 AM	Rachel Jacobson		Unless we are re-drawing maps that are more neutral and conducive to free and fair elections, the central part of our government, they should not be re-drawn by partisan politicians. Our 2 parties were intended for balance not domination. It,Äôs time we get back to that.
10/18/25 8:34 AM	DONT DO THIS - STOP CHEAT VOTER CITIZEN OF US		THIS IS NOT VOTED ON. This is NOT what the MAJORITY of VOTERS want. This is a blatant attempt for a MINORITY party to gain seats since they arent POPULAR and dont have policies anyone likes to vote them in. STOP CHEATING AND STEALING. MAKE POLICIES THE MAJORITY OF VOTERS ACTUALLY AGREE WITH TO GAIN SEATS. ITS NOT THAT HARD. YOUR JOB IS PUBLIC SERVANT NOT THE OTHER WAY AROUND. YOU ABIDE BY THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE AND VOTES NOT LOBBYISTS AND EPSTEINS DEMENTIA RIDDLED BEST FRIEND
10/18/25 8:35 AM	Dawn Ray		It is undemocratic and unAmerican to strip people of their voice in government. We will not let you fascists take control of our state or our country. When people are stripped of their First Amendment rights, they tend to turn to their Second Amendment rights, which thanks to you guys, have been strengthened and make this state more dangerous than ever. It is time you faux Christians turn into real Christians and do the right thing. I know that at least some of you have a conscience and deep down you know this would be wrong.
10/18/25 8:35 AM	Nope! Daniel Ross	American Citizen	We don't play these ridiculous games!
10/18/25 8:35 AM	Erin Jamieson Day		I am against redistricting.
10/18/25 8:36 AM	Lori Olivet		Of course. Here is the comment shortened to one paragraph: I strongly oppose any effort to redraw North Carolina's district maps before the 2028 elections. Our state has just emerged from a brutal cycle of litigation and political gamesmanship over the current maps, and reopening the process now, without new census data, is nothing but a transparent partisan power grab. This move would violate the principle of fair representation, create chaos for voters and election officials, and shatter the fragile trust in our electoral system. We must allow this decade's maps to stand and demand that our leaders focus on governing, not rigging the maps for temporary political advantage.
10/18/25 8:36 AM	Katie Medina		You all should be working to represent the state of NC, not the whims of a President. Redrawing these maps off cycle is contributing to the current problem in our national political environment, and does nothing for the people of North Carolina you represent. Shame on all of you.
10/18/25 8:36 AM	Lynn Bennett	Retired	The proposed redistricting once again shows total disregard for the voting rights of North Carolinians . The legislature is dead set to against to redrawing maps that are non-partison, is intent on denying voters their equal representation, and in fact, intend to take deny our right vote. Guilford County and most other counties in North Caroling will be denied representation. This is not democracy.
10/18/25 8:36 AM	Sheila Jordan		As a NC citizen, I am opposed to the current plan to redistricting our state. It appears to be a move to cause representation that is not fair to the citizens of the state. It also seems to be a power grab by the Republicans. We need a new a nonpartisan group to redraw maps after the next census that makes representation in our state work for all not just a few.
10/18/25 8:36 AM	Dr Sarah Carlson		More than 66% of NC residents are NOT republicans. Your new maps further strip fair elections from NC residents. Trump,Äôs agenda is NOT popular. We don,Äôt want more R,Äôs in the legislature. We want fair maps that make sense and don,Äôt dilute anyone,Äôs voice. The only ways R,Äôs can win is by cheating. The current maps are already heavily gerrymandered. The new maps are even worse. Shame on you!
10/18/25 8:37 AM	Claire Carr		This is irresponsible drawing. Theres no way this is competitive or even representative. It's time for NCLEG to talk about an independent commission to redraw maps and make voting districts fair. So no party can abuse the system as thoroughly as the current party in power. "Rule of law party" my rosy, red behind.
10/18/25 8:37 AM	Wendy Johnson		If this example was described to a five year old, that in order to ,Äúwin,Äù you just change the rules in your favor it would not be acceptable. Can you be mature adults and stop changing the rules just so you win. Let the PEOPLE decide!
10/18/25 8:37 AM	Jeff Ruppenthal	Retired	I am absolutely incensed that instead on focusing on adopting a budget, the NCGA is instead focused on partisan gerrymandering! Public opinion in NC is firmly against such measures by a wide margin. The current makeup already ensures a Republican majority for years to come and in no way reflects the citizenry of the state. The state's use of gerrymandered drawn up districts is a national disgrace. Meanwhile teachers, state workers and retirees, like myself, suffer the consequences. Shame!
10/18/25 8:37 AM	Miranda Legg		Gerrymandering is wrong and just a way to cheat the system. Adding more players to your team because you fear of losing, generally means you shouldn,Äôt have one in the first place. ALSO if any of you want to be up for reelection and actually win. You better figure out this shutdown. If our government can send $40 billion to Argentina but can,Äôt provide food and medical care to our most vulnerable then you,Äôve all clearly lost the plot.
10/18/25 8:38 AM	Mr Ken Marsh		Just STOP, please STOP ,Äî I ask that you refrain from mid-decade congressional redistricting efforts that only distorts North Carolina,Äôs federal voting maps and erode any North Carolinians,Äô power to elect candidates of our choice.
10/18/25 8:38 AM	For a fair democracy Echo Kelley		Just remember, what you do now, can and will be used against you when the dems have the power again. You are setting a precedent that can and will come back to bite you. If you're confident in your policies, you shouldn't have to cheat. Do the right thing for once.
10/18/25 8:39 AM	Mary Ferguson		Redistricting for political purposes is unfair and discriminatory. As a voter in the state of NC, I object.

10/18/25 8:39 AM	Thomas Calder		Dear House Select Committee on Redistricting and Senate Elections Committee, It saddens me to see North Carolina join in on the race to redistrict midcycle. It strikes me as an unapologetic and undemocratic power grab. Please be responsible and fair. We are not Texas. We are not California. We are North Carolina. We should be better than this. Thank you, Thomas Calder
10/18/25 8:39 AM	Elizabeth Wike		We do not need redistricting by gerrymandering by unfair politicians that don't actually care about constituents and only want votes for money and power. They don't seem to want votes to actually make NC better for everyone.
10/18/25 8:40 AM	Carol Pelosi	None	Please return to the 2022 map.
10/18/25 8:41 AM	Dr Jeff Kline	Harris blvd veterinary	I am outraged by the deliberate redistricting being done to only further our corrupt presidents agenda with no constructive intentions to help constituents with health care or education it is a disgrace that the republicans have to cheat to have a chance of winning history has its eyes on you!
10/18/25 8:41 AM	No Redistricting, Please Connie Michelle Vollmer	None	The country-wide Republican push for gerrymandering is disgraceful. And it is unconstitutional. Article 14 section1 states: All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws. North Carolina's general assembly has no right to seek such blatant partisan and racial redistricting. The federal administration is sowing dissent with the demand for redistricting to gain Republican seats is a power grab to control elections. North Carolina needs to be above such ploys. The state's districts are already questionable. As a registered Independent and active voter, I urge the General Assembly to use discretion and show respect for the people of North Carolina and stop this in its tracks. Please.
10/18/25 8:41 AM	Linda Thompson		Redistricting should happen every ten years. Not now. It should not be partisan! Every vote should be counted.
10/18/25 8:42 AM	Mrs Margaret Groves	NC Resident and US Citizen	I hope you will not bend to pressure from the Executive Branch of the US Government and redistrict our beloved NC. We are a nation of the people and by the people. If you redistrict to weaken the people's vote and wishes to be represented, then we will no longer be part of the the original founding fathers idea of representation for all the people by all the people.
10/18/25 8:44 AM	Mrs Mary Ann Williams		Redistricting in Our State is an embarrassing power grab. NC is so gerrymandered it already doesn,Äôt represent the people. This only makes it worst.
10/18/25 8:45 AM	Gerrymandering Is Wrong Ed Campbell		This shouldn,Äôt need to be said, but representation of NC districts should endeavor to reflect the beliefs of its residents. You can see from presidential voting results that we are roughly a 50/50 state. This is an attempt to subvert that and has no business becoming law.
10/18/25 8:45 AM	Dr. ML Haigler	N/A	Please, leave the North Carolina,Äôs Congressional maps ALONE. You are shamefully abusing your power to take away mine.
10/18/25 8:45 AM	Please do not do this Christopher Sabatini		The partisan move to redistrict before a census year to give the Republican party another seat in the US House is unacceptable. It violates every norm that we hold sacred in this democracy. I strongly urge every sitting member to seriously consider to not allow this proposal to pass. This proposed map would further disenfranchise Democrat voters in an almost evenly divided state by party affiliation. While not illegal, many would consider this change immoral. With the strongest wording I can manage, please do not pass this redistricting challenge.
10/18/25 8:45 AM	Stephen Newcomb		This should not be allowed to happen. Goes against concept of fair play.
10/18/25 8:45 AM	Karen Earle		The people have cast their votes. Gerrymandering takes away their voices. It is a shameful practice. Beneath the dignity of the oaths you took. Keep North Carolina a truly representative state.
10/18/25 8:45 AM	Carey Randall		Former Republican turned Independent. I think this is outrageously wrong. Please start taking care of North Carolinians, not the president. It,Äôs like, if you can,Äôt win, you are just going to cheat. People are going to vote their pocketbooks at midterms anyway. Cheating never pans out in the long term. I,Äôm saddened that the grand old party has lost their way and their belief and support of democracy/,Äúconstitutional republic.,Äù

10/18/25 8:45 AM	Janet Stevens		USA is a democracy let‚Äôs keep it that way. Say NO to gerrymandering by changing the districts to favor one party. This is shameful. NC is an evenly divided state and the districts should represent all the people who pay taxes.
10/18/25 8:46 AM	Camilla Body		Leave the districts alone. Represent and think about the people of NC and not a yankee and felon of Donald J Trump.
10/18/25 8:46 AM	Great Disappointment Jeremy Dancy		As a lifelong North Carolinian ,Äî an unaffiliated white voter raised by blue-collar Christians and guided by reason and conscience ,Äî I‚Äôm deeply disappointed in the recent Republican-led actions that undermine fair representation and voting rights in our state. From gerrymandered maps that weaken black voices, to partisan control of election boards and new limits on registration and early voting, these measures echo a history of racial suppression once condemned by our own courts as ,Äúalmost surgical.‚Äù Whether intentional or not, they erode trust and drag North Carolina backward from its democratic ideals. I believe the Republican Party has lost its moral compass ,Äî once the party of Lincoln and faith, now more devoted to power than principle. As Jesus warned the Pharisees, they ,Äústrain out a gnat but swallow a camel.‚Äù I urge you to reconsider this path and return to the values that once defined your cause, as opposed to what you have become: a party for princes, oligarchs & would-be kings.
10/18/25 8:46 AM	Lynn Mallette	Retired	No no no We don‚Äôt need or want anymore government interference!
10/18/25 8:46 AM	Dr Jennifer Knoepp		I have lived in North Carolina for over thirty years and have seen changes in demographics and political views. I do not support attempts to redraw the NC Congressional District lines. I support NC using an impartial committee drawing our maps bases on county and municipal boundaries thus creating equal population levels and distribution across the state. In no situation do I support the redrawing of maps mid-census and for completely political purposes. Sincerely Jennifer D Knoepp
10/18/25 8:47 AM	Ms Sally Steele		I strongly object to the plan to redraw NC's districts. Enough of being dictated by Trump. Just do the right thing by citizens. We will remember!
10/18/25 8:47 AM	Ms Elizabeth Flemming		The North Carolina legislature already redrew the state‚Äôs congressional districts in 2023 to be beneficial to the Republican Party. Constantly changing the districts does not benefit the communities that the redrawing impacts. Communities deserve to know that there are guidelines and timelines that guide district decisions and not federal/Presidential influence.
10/18/25 8:47 AM	Mrs Rebecca Hall		It is interesting that you feel the need to water voices down by redistricting. That you don't have the fortitude to see people that are different from your views or support as valuable enough to have their voice heard clearly and loudly. That it is your right, nay, your privilege to make a map that suits your narrative instead of actually listening to the people. You know, the WHOLE REASON the US exists, was to have their individual voices heard. Yet this redistricting plan shows your fear. That you individual preferences and view of the world is so narrow and unpopular that you can't win a fair race. Now keep in mind the current map isn't even 80% fair. Your lack of adaptability is evident. Your lack of ability to hear or understand people that don't agree with you is evident. Your lack of following the law equally is evident. You are not the party of law and order and conservatism. You are the party of my way or the highway, and if you don't like it, just wait, we will find a way to lessen or silence you. Don Davis, is a moderate Democrat and has served ALL of his constituents well. He actually travels and talks to ALL of them and has and still does vote against his party line because it is the right thing for the people in his area as a whole. Yet you can't stand that, and have to try and actively silence those who votes for him and will vote for him by diluting the numbers. How selfish and self serving of you. Don't feed us the obvious lie that you are fighting against the radical left. If they were so radical you would be able to win without redistricting. But you can't, which means they aren't all you are claiming them to be. Stop being the destruction of this great nation. NO REDISTRICTING Rebecca Hall
10/18/25 8:47 AM	Gary Lafone	NC Voter	Gerrymandering has been a hot political issue for years in NC. The courts have ruled the Republican legislators diluted minority voters votes with surgical precision. The districts are normally redrawn after the census but now Berger and Hall want to redraw the districts to seek political favoritism from Trump. Republicans talk about voter fraud and public confidence in the voting system. I volunteer for my local Board of Election and see firsthand the voting system is very secure. The current redistricting system erodes voters confidence in the election process. Elected officials now pick their voters. In free and fair elections the VOTERS should pick their elected officials. It is now time for an independent commission to draw the voting districts.
10/18/25 8:48 AM	Rachel Snider		I strongly oppose the recently proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps clearly exemplify partisan gerrymandering, which undermines the essential tenets of fair representation. Every North Carolina resident deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of their political beliefs or geographic area. This manipulation of district lines suppresses communities and threatens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be done transparently and equitably, aiming for equal representation rather than political gain. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy and functioning democracy and should be considered illegal.
10/18/25 8:48 AM	Sophia Tortorice		This redistricting is one more link in a long chain of gerrymandering that our state has suffered from, with both parties but it the Republicans in this case. It‚Äôs not being done to better reflect the will of the people, it‚Äôs being done to further separate elected officials from the need to be actually accountable to their electorate.
10/18/25 8:48 AM	Stop Gerrymandering Tom Ranney		Please stop with the dirty politics. This is a blatant attempt to steal fair representation from NC citizens.

10/18/25 8:48 AM	Kelsey Lyndoe		I write as a concerned North Carolinian and a voter deeply committed to fairness, representation, and the promise of ‚Äúone person, one vote.‚Äù I‚Äôm troubled by the establishment of the House Select Committee on Redistricting and the push to redraw our maps mid-cycle, especially when the stated aim appears to be political advantage rather than the public good
10/18/25 8:48 AM	Kelly Luckhaus		Is this a joke. Are you so afraid of the people of NC that you will cheat to make sure their preference is denied? The logic and reason used to justify these actions is a as flawed as those willing to rob the people of their choice. History will not be kind to those who have chosen power over people.
10/18/25 8:48 AM	Graham Johnson		1. Winners don't need to cheat. 2. You are elected to serve the peoples interests not your own 3. DT is a fascist dictator and we don't do the bidding of dictators in NC
10/18/25 8:48 AM	Mrs. Margaret Melchiot		I am absolutely against further redistricting. Elections should be about ideas.
10/18/25 8:49 AM	Arielle Kerr		Completely unacceptable. As a voter and resident of North Carolina, I do not agree with this action.
10/18/25 8:49 AM	Ms. Elli Klein	SE North Carolina Women Forward	Yet again, the Republican Party again is only helping itself and Donald Trump rather than helping the state or it's people. by It is outrageous how you actively are conspiring to attack and erode our nation's democracy. You took an oath of office to defend the Constitution of the United States and also our Old North State. Instead you continue to destroy us with your heartless policies and rigging of our elections and outrageous redistricting so you choose your voters and not let voters choose their representatives. You think this is Russia. We Will Fight You!
10/18/25 8:49 AM	Me John Thigpen	Retired	The district map should reflect the population of North Carolina. Neither the current 10-4 nor the proposed 11-3 split represents all the people of North Carolina fairly. The GOP is cheating.
10/18/25 8:49 AM	Olive Hinnant		The idea that the NC legislators think they alone should have this power is WRONG. Weak players always want to change the rules so they can win. Pay attention to your constituents. We are tired of your BS.
10/18/25 8:50 AM	Mrs Laura Reynolds		Our maps are already gerrymandered to favor Republicans. I do not support further gerrymandering. A non partisan group should be drawing our maps, not the NC republicans.
10/18/25 8:50 AM	Ms Jeanie Welch	Democrats of North Mecklenburg	My personal comments are the following: 1. The proposed redistricting is a power grab by one political party to increase its representation in the U. S. Congress 2. This proposal is an extension of the partisan gerrymandering that occurred earlier when two towns in north Mecklenburg County were surgically gerrymandered without respect to county boundaries and to disenfranchise our state senator. 3. Gerrymandering is wrong, no matter which party does it. We do not need this redistricting now.
10/18/25 8:50 AM	Morgan Zoellner Schenck		North Carolinians do not support partisan redistricting. From common cause NC and a survey conducted by Opinion Diagnostics ‚Äú84% of North Carolina voters say it‚Äôs never acceptable for politicians to draw districts to help their own party win more seats, no matter the circumstances. That opposition holds across party lines, including 78% of Republicans, 87% of Democrats and 85% of unaffiliated voters. A strong majority of voters ‚Äì 70% ‚Äì support the establishment of a bipartisan citizens commission to draw fair voting maps for North Carolina, while 17% are unsure. Just 12% of voters prefer keeping the current system with legislators drawing the maps.‚Äù Do not go against the will of North Carolinians who you are elected to represent!
10/18/25 8:50 AM	Lola Santana		NO
10/18/25 8:51 AM	Ms. Julie Dews		Gerrymandering isn't fair. People should be able to choose who they want elected by majority vote. If you can't win fairly, the majority of people don't want you.
10/18/25 8:53 AM	Redistricting Kristi Blanco	None	I do not support the plans for redistricting our state (North Carolina). We have a right to representation that actually reflects our values as a state and an American people.
10/18/25 8:53 AM	Wallace Campbell		Stop gerrymandering in North Carolina!
10/18/25 8:53 AM	Don‚Äôt do this Amanda Killion		Please do the right thing and don‚Äôt do this. Your leaders openly say they want to do it to further Trump‚Äôs agenda, but isn‚Äôt our government supposed to be for the people, by the people? If the people want to further Trump‚Äôs agenda, they will vote that way. But by redrawing the lines in the middle of a decade, for the sole purpose of ensuring seats for the Republican Party, you are taking away the ability of our citizens to have a say. And for the record, I don‚Äôt agree with Texas or California doing it either but I don‚Äôt live there. Instead of seeing someone else do something unethical and deciding we‚Äôll do it too, NC can be the model for integrity and honoring all of our citizens‚Äô right to vote. Thank you for your time and consideration.
10/18/25 8:53 AM	Kathy LALONDE		I oppose the proposed redistricting maps for North Carolina. These maps show obvious partisan gerrymandering, which impedes fair representation. We all need to have our vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. Redistricting should strive for equal representation, not political advantage.

10/18/25 8:53 AM	Greta Nintzel		The people of North Carolina and residents of the United States are tired of gerrymandering. The voting maps in this state are clearly gerrymandered, if they weren't, representation in the General Assembly would include less Republicans. We are taught growing up in America that a fair fight is foundational to who we are - for the last 20 years. the NC GOP has continued to shift away from Free and Fair Elections towards domination - this flies in the face of creating a more perfect union. The residents of North Carolina deserve a General Assembly that more closely reflects who we are - not what the NC GOP thinks we should be.
10/18/25 8:54 AM	Mrs Dawn Regan		I am a registered voter in North Carolina. I do not approve of the redistricting of our state. We need fair elections!
10/18/25 8:55 AM	Mrs S Gallupe		I oppose the NC GOP,Äôs attempts to redraw North Carolina,Äôs congressional district maps before the 2026 midterms. This blatantly partisan redistricting process would set a dangerous political precedent and rob North Carolinians of their rights. North Carolinians on both sides of the aisle agree that voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. As if we aren,Äôt gerrymandered enough already ya,ÄôIl are still at it? If you can,Äôt win on your own you don,Äôt deserve to win.
10/18/25 8:55 AM	Amanda Siegel		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/18/25 8:55 AM	Kourtney Rabinowitz		This redrawn map shows a clear purpose: to give an unfair advantage to one party. The most disconcerting thing are the clear statements that support this idea: "We are doing everything we can to protect President Trump's agenda, which means safeguarding Republican control of Congress,,Äù Senate Leader Phil Berger, R-Rockingham, wrote in a statement as written in an article published 3days ago. This clearly shows the democratically elected reps focus on winning and not supporting the values of the system that elected them. This map is shamefully a power grab and should not be accepted!!! This map needs to be redrawn fairly to represent ALL people.
10/18/25 8:55 AM	Roberta Shelingoski		Gerrymandering is cheating. Let every North Carolinian have a fair vote.
10/18/25 8:56 AM	Allison O'Brien	None	I do not support redistricting.
10/18/25 8:56 AM	Robin Phillips		How does this actually represent all the citizens of NC? Shame on you.
10/18/25 8:56 AM	Lisa Saab		This is what pathetic losers do when they know they can't win otherwise. I hope your family sees you for who you are.
10/18/25 8:57 AM	Tatiana Rivest		This is called rigging the system.
10/18/25 8:58 AM	Miss Jonelle Secard		I am totally against redistricting period especially out of the normal cycle. It screams partisan politics.
10/18/25 8:58 AM	Dawn Staley		There,Äôs NO need to redraw maps. You just redrew maps in 2023. The current administration barely won North Carolina, and your actions DO NOT represent what the people of North Carolina want. This is selfishness and greed on your part to change a map, rigging it, in fact, because one person, Phil Berger, is worried he will lose his primary. Of course you will lose. No one approves of your policies in North Carolina, and we are tired of the way you rig the system to continually get away with it. North Carolina deserves so much better than this, and you know it.
10/18/25 8:58 AM	Mrs. Debra Gardner		Please do not give the Republicans the power to redistribute just to be able to influence the outcome of voting. Keep it the way that it has been and let's call for a fair election.
10/18/25 8:58 AM	Not Sharing		This is absurd and undemocratic to redraw congressional districts at partisan request to try to force an electoral outcome for 1 party. The Republican Party is not popular or the majority of our state,Äôs supporters, so you are trying to have minority rule. That is not government of the people.
10/18/25 8:59 AM	Alison Bailey		The legislature,Äôs attempt to gerrymander maps yet again in favor of a specific elected official is an embarrassment. Additionally, this is not a good use of taxpayer funds. Please get to work on the actual issues that impact constituents - a budget, healthcare, bipartisan collaboration. I don,Äôt feel like this state is fairly representing all of its constituents.
10/18/25 9:00 AM	Mr James Mcdonald		It's about time we have the correct districts because many people have switched to republican from democrats,.

10/18/25 9:00 AM	Juanita Boykin Sanchez		Dear Committee Members, I am writing as a resident of the current 13th Congressional District to express my strong opposition to the newly proposed congressional maps. These maps would drastically alter fair representation in our state ,Äî stripping away competitive and moderate areas in favor of an overwhelmingly one-sided outcome. The result would all but eliminate balanced voices in North Carolina, turning a politically diverse state into one that is nearly 90% controlled by a single party. Why This Matters Our democracy is built on the principle that every citizen‚Äôs vote should carry equal weight ,Äî that government is chosen by the people, not engineered by those already in power. Gerrymandering violates that principle. When district lines are drawn to guarantee one party‚Äôs dominance, citizens are denied meaningful choice. This isn‚Äôt just a political issue ,Äî it‚Äôs a constitutional one. The Founding Fathers designed our system to ensure representation through consent of the governed, not manipulation of the electorate. They believed deeply that power should remain accountable to the people. By drawing districts that silence opposing voices, the legislature undermines the very foundation of that idea. Catering to Power, Not the People It has become painfully clear that this redistricting effort is not being done in the interest of fairness or democracy, but to cater to one political figure whose influence has already encouraged disregard for constitutional limits. This redistricting plan is designed to consolidate control ,Äî to please a single national leader rather than to represent North Carolina‚Äôs diverse communities. The Constitution was written precisely to prevent this kind of overreach. It is meant to safeguard against the concentration of power in the hands of any one individual, regardless of their popularity or office. When lawmakers shape the political map to serve one person‚Äôs ambitions instead of the will of the people, they are not defending democracy ,Äî they are dismantling it.
10/18/25 9:01 AM	Zandra Watson		Don't do the Republican sponsored gerrymandering.
10/18/25 9:01 AM	Cynthia Goelling	Attorney-at-law Catawba County solo practitioner	When the purpose of any action proposed or adopted by our state legislator is not to accurately represent the people of the state,Äî which even by the popular election for president in 2024,Äì was pretty much evenly divided with Donald Trump winning aless than 51% majority,Äî but is instead to appease one party that holds a very slim majority in the state and to bowel to the wishes and directives of partisan politics you have ceased to represent the will of the people but instead the will of one man. I hope y‚Äôall have the collective sense of duty and what is right to stand up an attempted power grab,Ä¶ but to be honest, I doubt you will. You will follow the push to capitulate to Donald Trump and God help us all..
10/18/25 9:02 AM	Redistricting Jason Souza		Pure gerrymandering. It is pathetic what the GOP is doing. This map is not representative of the state. I hope every one of them burn in hell. They are corrupt to the core.
10/18/25 9:02 AM	Keep NC Elections Fair Elizabeth Fulgham		I strongly oppose any redistricting plan whose primary purpose is to carve out yet another safe seat for one party rather than reflect real communities. Fair representation means districts that respect local ties, common interests, and geography ,Äî not a map drawn to guarantee a particular outcome. When lines are drawn to give one party an extra seat, it undermines public trust and weakens accountability. Voters deserve to pick their representatives, not have representatives picked for them by map-makers. Gerrymandering leads to less competition, less incentive for responsiveness, and more extreme polarization. Please adopt a redistricting plan that is transparent, uses objective criteria, and treats all citizens equally, rather than one engineered to ,Äúgive the Republicans another seat.‚Äù Let‚Äôs ensure districts are drawn for people, not power.
10/18/25 9:03 AM	Ms. Deb Rich		I am against redistricting North Carolina for voting purposes. It was recently done, and further attempts to change voting districts will only disenfranchise many voters who already are having a hard time making their voice heard.
10/18/25 9:03 AM	Mrs. erin byrnes		Gerrymandering is silencing the people, discouraging voters, and it‚Äôs responsible for the degradation of our country.
10/18/25 9:03 AM	Carol Draggoo		Gerrymandered maps for political purposes is in opposition to democratic representation. It should not occur for either political party. Further gerrymandering maps takes away the rights of the people to select their representation. This is undemocratic and unpatriotic. Stripping the rights of the citizens of North Carolina should be against our constitution. How convenient, that we never get a say. Put it on the ballot if you‚Äôre so confident that you are right and justified.

10/18/25 9:04 AM	Mary Moore		As a constituent and a long standing, tax paying resident of the state of North Carolina I am demanding you accurately represent your constituents and vote against redistricting. By redrawing lines that guarantee a district has more of one type of voice over another you are stacking the deck against the American people and against North Carolinians. You would be intentionally drowning out voices and we will not stand for this. Vote against the redistricting legislation.
10/18/25 9:04 AM	Kelly R		Why would we further gerrymander the most gerrymandered state? Instead of finding ways to cheat, what about actually representing what the majority of your constituents want?
10/18/25 9:05 AM	Mrs Susan Belttari		Your gerrymandered redistricting map is a slap in the face to every single North Carolina voter. And you know it. Free and fair elections is the cornerstone of America. But you are deciding to ignore this for your power grab. It,Äôs illegal, you know it will just get stuck in the courts, and you will lose. Mustard the courage to get rid of the leaders who are promoting this.
10/18/25 9:05 AM	Mrs. Rebecca Belk	Concerned Citizen	This is wrong and we know it. No government county, state or federal should be allowed to redraw lines for voting districts for their own political gain. This is clearly an overreach by our government to impose their will on the people of this country and our state to their advantage. This is an unwelcome and unconstitutional intrusion to prevent citizens to cast the vote for their candidate of choice. This is not a political game to be played. We all recognize this effort to aid Trump and other Republicans to maintain their control to further theirpolitical status and aquire more seats in our counties, state and at the feeral level. The American people are not happy with what we are seeing happen that will have a direct effect on our democracy. This needs to end now. Recent polls indicate the ever-growing dislike of what the republican party is doing. Stop this now. As I stated before it is wrong, we know it and will not cede our power willingly for this direct attack on our constitutional right to elect people who are willing to do what is in our best interests, not theirs.
10/18/25 9:06 AM	Do not gerrymander our st John Meyers		Do not redistrict our state again.We are already gerrymandered enough.
10/18/25 9:06 AM	Emily Sutton Dezio		1) You're wasting tax dollars to engage in redistricting. 2) it doesn't make for a balanced electorate 3) it takes away from all voters
10/18/25 9:07 AM	Eleanor Crow		Stop the gerrymandering and unfair redistricting!!!
10/18/25 9:07 AM	Sara Blake		I do not believe in gerrymandering which is exactly what this is. Why don,Äôt you let the people vote for who they want without interference? Do not redistrict!
10/18/25 9:07 AM	Melissa Piccola		Stop the Gerrymandering! It's wrong to try and silence voters. This is only being done because you can't win an election with fairly drawn districts! All voters deserve to be heard!
10/18/25 9:07 AM	Jen Steele		I strongly oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps in North Carolina. These maps represent clear partisan gerrymandering, undermining the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation silences communities and weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy and should be deemed illegal.
10/18/25 9:08 AM	Michael Smith		It is shameful what the NCGOP is doing to our state. Stop this partisan gerrymandering and get back to what you were elected to do, working for ALL North Carolinians. 78% of NC Republicans are against gerrymandering. This will only convince more of us to vote for Democrats as the are currently the only party fighting for democracy. This stupidity will backfire.
10/18/25 9:08 AM	Mr Phil Hawn		NC has more registered democrats than republicans yet based on elections you wouldn,Äôt know due to the aggressive gerrymandering republicans have instituted in the recent past. Do your jobs and stop trying to hang on to power by cheating the system.
10/18/25 9:08 AM	Sara Arey		NC is already gerrymandered to an extreme level. Doing even more is unacceptable and beyond the pale. The job of the Assembly is not to follow the dictates of the President to skew elections. We're more than 100 days without a state budget. THAT is the job of the Assembly. Please do your job and take care of the people of this state.
10/18/25 9:08 AM	Dallas Warren		This redistricting is a clear grab by republicans for the praise of Donald Trump and not for the best of the voters and people of North Carolina. I am vehemently against this unconstitutional gerrymandering, it is clear it is being done because republicans do not think that can be elected with the current districting.
10/18/25 9:09 AM	Marian Shultz		DO NOT REDRAW THE MAPS
10/18/25 9:10 AM	Cate Shiles		This most recent Republican proposal to redraw the North Carolina voting districts again is a blatant power grab. The districts we already have are rated with an F by non-partisan watchdog groups, and this new attempt will make them even worse. The people of North Carolina want representatives that are concerned with the issues that matter them, not representatives whose only goal is to push the agenda of a corrupt president. We are tired of the gerrymandering, and we are tired of politicians who think we are too stupid to know what is going on.
10/18/25 9:10 AM	Wth Margie Craig		What a crooked bunch of BS! When the pendulum swings back, look out. What,Äôs fair is fair both ways
10/18/25 9:10 AM	Jo Gaddy		Instead of spending your time on redistricting, why don't you just do your job. Doing your job is what you were elected to do. The partisan crap needs to stop. Do your job!!!
10/18/25 9:11 AM	Rev. Jaye White		Please stop this current attempt to gerrymander our state. Let the people have representation that reflects the will of ALL. You remember the phrase "liberty and justice for all"? This partisan power grab is another attempt to silence the majority of voters in NC. This is not how democracy is supposed to work. We are supposed to have free and FAIR elections. Let's try it!

10/18/25 9:11 AM	Dr. Jonathan Mills	Dear Members of the North Carolina General Assembly, I am writing to strongly oppose the legislature,Äôs efforts to redraw our state,Äôs congressional maps. North Carolinians deserve fair representation,Äînot districts engineered to protect partisan power. The people should choose their representatives, not the other way around. Constantly changing the maps for political advantage undermines public trust, weakens our democracy, and silences communities whose voices already go unheard. Our state deserves transparent, nonpartisan redistricting guided by fairness and respect for every voter,Äîrural, suburban, and urban alike. I urge you to reject gerrymandered maps and commit to a process that reflects the true will of North Carolinians, not the interests of one party.
10/18/25 9:11 AM	Sarah Raper	I object to the reasons behind the creation of this map and the way in which it was done. Please consider all of your constituents.
10/18/25 9:12 AM	Ms Melody Rose Morton	Stop cheating
10/18/25 9:13 AM	Mrs Mary Stover	Redistricting is only a strategy to remove the will of NC voters and grab power. I support fair maps and this is not fair, nor is it helping working and poor people who are suffering in Eastern NC!
10/18/25 9:14 AM	Cynthia Morgan	I am absolutely disgusted with the redistricting in NC to again suppress voters rights to choose and for Republicans to draw so that they can again sway more to their side unfairly. How do you sleep at night!
10/18/25 9:14 AM	Tracy Clark-Chemburkar	This redistricting process is anti-democratic in the literal sense. The new map is clearly drawn to favor one party (Republicans) over another (Democrats) rather than allowing districts to remain competitive and allowing the resulting election to embody fair representation of the constituency. In addition, the timing of this redistricting plan is abjectly and transparently a move by the Republican party to cement their positions ahead of plummeting popularity and uncertainty as the 2026 midterms approach. I believe that this plan is not being pushed forth in the best interests of North Carolinians of either or any political party.
10/18/25 9:15 AM	Dr. Gordon Whitaker	Please do not redistrict NC Congressional District One. The proposed redistricting is an extraordinary attempt to reduce the possibility that African American residents of that area can elect a representative of their choice. Diluting their votes is exactly the kind discriminatory practice the Voting Rights Act was intended to correct. Do you really want to take North Carolina back to the days of Jim Crow? I pray not. Please reject this attempt to restore the invidious racial discrimination our state suffered under for so many years!
10/18/25 9:15 AM	Lori Spruiell	I moved to North Carolina when I was 15 and have spent my career as an educator here. I care deeply about our communities and the children who depend on us to make good decisions. I hope our lawmakers will set aside redistricting for now and focus on what matters most,Äîfinalizing budgets and supporting our schools and families. Working together on these priorities will make the greatest difference for North Carolina,Äôs future.
10/18/25 9:15 AM	Genevieve Packer	This redisticting map is a JOKE. The sheer audacity to prioritize party power over your literal civic duty and job description is exhausting. Your job is to represent ALL your constituents, not just the ones in your party. If you can't do that, get another job because you're bad at this one on a fundamental level. Or start wearing a black top hat and curly mustache, because everyone supporting this redistricting is a Scooby Doo villain.
10/18/25 9:16 AM	Mrs. Susan Barnett	Do not pass the redistricting bill!!!!!
10/18/25 9:16 AM	Redistricting Kim Rider	As a north carolianian for the past 20 years I am furious that the redistricting is so gerrymandered. I live in orange county and have volunteered for political campaigns for the past 20 years so I know how the amazing people of this state are so kind and compassionate. Its very disheartening to see this even be a conversation. We all know where this is coming from. Phil berger should not be allowed to force his ideas and ridiculously incompetent floundering to his dear leader in DC.
10/18/25 9:16 AM	Jeanine Noblett	This is outrageous!!! As a tax paying, native NC I fully express my opposition to this redistributing. Quit the partisan BS and the bowing down to the Dear Leader Trump and focus on fairly representing the people of this state who don,Äôt want to be pawns in your political games. Instead of wasting energy on drawing gerrymandered maps for a THIRD time in three years, pass a budget!
10/18/25 9:18 AM	Ms Lisa Holzworth	My heart hurts that the Representatives of MY STATE would stoop soooo low, to gerrymander all people of NC out of their right to a free and FAIR election. This speaks coward to me , that republicans are so high on the feeling of power that they will steal the election anyway they can. I know longer feel that the representatives of the State of North Carolina represent the people, nor that they care about the people of North Carolina. They only care about themselves and are following right in line with the call of the Authoritative Government.
10/18/25 9:18 AM	Ms. Anna Marcel de Hermanas	No to the continued efforts of those holding power to disenfranchise whole groups of people and moving us further and further from democracy. Such an obvious power grab should be an embarassment.

10/18/25 9:18 AM	Cindy Santiago		I am writing to strongly oppose the proposed redistricting maps. Let‚Äôs call this what it is,Äîanother attempt to cheat North Carolinians out of fair and equal representation. If you actually governed with sound plans and policies that worked for We the People instead of the wealthy few, you wouldn‚Äôt need to keep rigging the system. Gerrymandering isn‚Äôt leadership,Äîit‚Äôs cowardice. These maps silence communities that already fight to be heard: working families, younger voters, and black communities. That‚Äôs not democracy,Äîit‚Äôs manipulation. And while some may argue ‚Äúeveryone does it,‚Äù that‚Äôs no excuse for lowering the bar. North Carolina should be leading by example, not racing to the bottom. When you carve up districts to secure your own power, you‚Äôre telling voters their voices don‚Äôt matter. You‚Äôre proving you can‚Äôt win on ideas, only on boundaries. Voters should choose their representatives,Äînot the other way around. Do the right thing. Stop cheating the process and start governing for all North Carolinians.
10/18/25 9:19 AM	Mr. Zane Honnold	Concerned citizens	I oppose redistricting in NC.
10/18/25 9:19 AM	Redistricting Steve Wuench		Please do not move forward with the mid cycle redistricting plan. This is a clear violation of norms and practices and an overly gerrymandered map in a state with a nearly even split in political affiliations. We should be working towards unity not further division. North Carolina should be leading by example in this. The proposed alterations to districts 1 and 3 will have an outsize impact on voters in Eastern North Carolina and lead to elected official with little need to be accountable to their constituents. We should be utilizing maps that promote fairness and political neutrality so that all voters get an even say in their community.‚Äôs representation. This can be accomplished through a non partisan process that focuses on minimizing county splits and tying districts in a more contiguous manner. In addition, the rapid pivot to changing the maps mid cycle is highly unusual and does not allow for a normal political discourse.
10/18/25 9:20 AM	Dr. Betsy Burrows		As a citizen of North Carolina, I am appalled at the time spent by our state politicians to find ways to cheat and gerrymander elections rather than to make and pass a budget that helps support our public schools and helps working class citizens with issues like affordable housing, health insurance, and cost of living. Have you no shame? Gerrymandering is wrong: It violates core principles of fairness, accountability, and limited government. It disrupts local control by dividing natural communities and concentrating power in the hands of political insiders rather than the people. It ignores traditional American political values like transparency, integrity, and competition,Äîvictory earned through ideas and persuasion, not through the manipulation of electoral maps. Please stop finding ways to cheat and start working to solve issues for our citizens.
10/18/25 9:21 AM	Amanda Lewis		I am absolutely opposed to any redistricting in NC! This is NOT fair to the citizens of NC! I will not vote for anyone who votes for this change.
10/18/25 9:21 AM	Dr. Charles Jansen		I ask that you refrain from mid-decade congressional redistricting that would further distort North Carolina‚Äôs federal voting maps and erode any North Carolinians‚Äô power to elect candidates of their choice. Gerrymandering violates core principles of fairness, accountability, and limited government. Allowing politicians to manipulate district lines for partisan advantage undermines the constitutional promise of equal representation and weakens voters‚Äô ability to hold their leaders accountable. While we elect state and federal lawmakers under a partisan banner, we must carefully guard the People‚Äôs confidence that, once elected, you will represent all North Carolinians and protect their votes equally. Gerrymandering disrupts local control by dividing natural communities and concentrating power in the hands of political insiders rather than the people. True conservative values demand transparency, integrity, and competition,Äîvictory earned through ideas and persuasion, not through the manipulation of electoral maps. Ending gerrymandering upholds both the Constitution and the moral duty to ensure government remains accountable to the people it serves. 76% of North Carolina voters say it should be illegal for gerrymandering to be used to discriminate against voters based on their political party. There is also strong, bipartisan agreement on this point among voters, with 66% of Republicans, 79% of Democrats, and 82% of Unaffiliated voters saying the type of partisan gerrymandering being considered by Senate leadership should be against the law.
10/18/25 9:21 AM	Mrs. Sam Crowe	None	This map is absolute BS.

10/18/25 9:21 AM	Tseren Smith	Way to continue to gerrymander the state even more to serve your ridiculous power grab for the most corrupt president in history instead of serving the needs of your constituents by refusing to work on a state budget to serve ALL North Carolinians. NC Republicans should do the right thing and actually think about the people instead of tryinf to be in the president's good graces by cheating and lying.
10/18/25 9:21 AM	April Bocholis	I am very concerned about the redistricting proposals. What you are doing is removing the voice for many in North Carolina. Perhaps I need to remind you that North Carolina is considered a PURPLE state. If the Trump government were really popular, why would you need to redistrict? Most of the Trump supporters I know voted for him because of high prices that people face daily. Prices are still going up, insurance rates are going up, taxes are going up, and many feel unsafe going to any place that has crowds (Think Southport, churches, shopping areas, schools etc). And, might I mention, western North Carolina is STILL a mess. These are the issues you should be concerning yourself with, not trying to keep Trump in office.
10/18/25 9:22 AM	Sami Schmitz	Do NOT redistrict. North Carolinians deserve fair representation!
10/18/25 9:23 AM	Disappointed Samantha Small	Redrawing the maps at this time is ridiculous. Please do not diminish our voices/votes.
10/18/25 9:23 AM	Jazsmin Watson-Booth	To the Members of the North Carolina General Assembly and Redistricting Committees, I am writing to express my deep concern about the current redistricting process in our state and its impact on the integrity of representative democracy in North Carolina. The right to free and fair elections, where voters choose their representatives, not the other way around, is a foundational principle of our democracy. Any redistricting process that undermines that principle weakens public trust, silences communities, and erodes the very legitimacy of our government. For too long, North Carolina has been at the center of partisan gerrymandering battles that diminish the power of voters, particularly communities of color and historically marginalized populations. District maps should reflect the diverse voices and interests of our state, not entrench the power of one political party over another. Manipulating district boundaries to dilute votes, split communities, or predetermine outcomes is not just undemocratic, it is a direct violation of the spirit of equal representation. I urge lawmakers to commit to a transparent, inclusive, and nonpartisan redistricting process. That means ensuring all proposed maps are made publicly available well before any votes, allowing ample time for public review and feedback, and incorporating community input into final decisions. It also means using neutral criteria such as compactness, contiguity, respect for communities of interest, and compliance with the Voting Rights Act, rather than partisan advantage, as the guiding principles for drawing district lines. North Carolinians deserve a government that reflects their will and serves their interests. Fair maps are not a partisan demand, they are a democratic necessity. I strongly urge this body to put voters, not politicians, at the center of the redistricting process and to adopt reforms that ensure elections in our state remain free, fair, and truly representative.
10/18/25 9:24 AM	Scott Brownlow	If y'all go through with this, I'm done with North Carolina. I've held hope for this state for decades, but I - and many of my fellow workers and business owners - will leave for greener pastures if you destroy the last vestiges of democracy in our once great state. No more gerrymandering. No more corruption. North Carolina's GOP has become the very swamp they promised to drain. Pathetic, weak, and above all, ugly as sin.
10/18/25 9:25 AM	Mr Steve Yaffe	Redistricting should be predicated on a fundamental principle: local, magisterial, districts, whether town, city, or county, should remain intact when developing legislative and congressional districts. The current system of redistricting prevents neighbors land owners,from collectively advocating for their neighborhoods, Office or industrial parks. In fact, we,Äôve all been disenfranchised by the X-Acto knife approach to redistricting where one Neighbor may have a different ballot than another. We cannot be together as free people to improve our governance when a church property in one example has the rectory in one district, the church building in a second, and the parking lot in a third.
10/18/25 9:25 AM	No redistricting James McMahon	There is no need to redistrict. This is supposed to happen once every 10 years after a census, and this would be the third time since 2020. This is clearly a hyper partisan ploy to ‚Äúcrack‚Äù a Democratic district and dilute the political voices of the Black people who live in the district. You are not representing me by proposing this and I strongly disagree with it.
10/18/25 9:25 AM	Redistricting Kate McFadden	The majority of North Carolinians are against this redistricting, myself included. Pandering to gain favor with authoritarian leaders does not serve the constitution nor the needs of your constituents. Stop pushing this bill through.

10/18/25 9:25 AM	Ms Michele Delange	Asheville City Schools	NCGA Lawmakers return to Raleigh on Monday. But the primary focus isn,Äôt going to be working on the long overdue budget. It was announced that their first order of business will be to pass a new congressional map to create an additional Republican-leaning district and consider overriding some of the bills vetoed by the Governor. Only two states in the USA have failed to pass a budget for the year: Pennsylvania and North Carolina. The failure of our legislators to do the most essential part of their job has a negative impact on the entire state. This raises a question: What would happen if the entire workforce of NC were to follow the example of our NCGA representatives? For example, if I follow the NCGA model, I will commit to focusing solely on examining my class rosters and future student enrollment numbers each day instead of actually teaching my current students. What would it mean for me and my students if I were to do this until NC has a proper budget in place, not just a bandaid budget? I strongly insist that our NCGA stop procrastinating and do the main job at hand. Stop the political games and manipulation. The NCGA is doing great harm to the good people of NC. -Michele Delange
10/18/25 9:26 AM	Citizen Christine Taber		All North Carolinians deserve fair representation. Redistricting should be non partisan. Our democracy demands the people be able to elect the representatives of their choice not drawing districts that subvert the process and disenfranchises millions of voters. Create a non partisan commission for this, the most gerrymandered state in the union.
10/18/25 9:26 AM	Jennifer Picicci		I strongly oppose this redistricting; this will rob North Carolinians of their rights and set a dangerous president.
10/18/25 9:27 AM	Kelsey Mard		Please do not silence the votes of democrats in this state further by gerrymandering.
10/18/25 9:28 AM	No Anthony Picicci		Do not do this; it only subverts democracy and limits an already questionable process and if republicans were on the other end of this, they would be screaming bloody murder. Do the right thing for once in your life.
10/18/25 9:29 AM	Ms. Betsy Bickel	NC citizen	This attempt to redistrict is just another way for Republicans to consolidate power without representing their constituents. This is a direct response to an illegal order from an autocratic president. It should not go forward.
10/18/25 9:29 AM	Mrs Krista Hint		I am registered Independent, and even though I,Äôm neither Republican or Democrat, I complete disagree with redistricting party lines.
10/18/25 9:29 AM	REBECCA BURRISS		We do not need to redraw the maps without any data such as the census and the only purpose to redraw them outside of a census is a power grab. Republican politicians need to represent their constituents not the President. Maps should be drawn by an independent group every 10 years. It should be based on population and the data from the census. Voters should choose who represents them rather than politicians choosing their voters. You don't need to cheat to win if you have a good message. The US has never been a white Christian society so stop trying to make it one
10/18/25 9:32 AM	Shayne Klein		North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The people of NC are not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. I am a teacher and we still don't know what our school budget is or what I will be paid this year due to the lack of a budget. That is a far more important priority.
10/18/25 9:32 AM	Ms angela tully		We need fair and free elections! Stop gerrymandering to support trump! This is the way you are turning our society into a one party government!!!! You should be ashamed!
10/18/25 9:33 AM	Kathryn Staley		NC should not be redistricting for political reasons, only for census-related increases in population. This tit for tat that Republicans and Democrats are subjecting our nation to may be legal but it is destablizing and petty.
10/18/25 9:33 AM	Shannon Paul		I do not support this plan. Legislators represent ALL North Carolinians not just white men from rural areas. Redrawing the plans disenfranchises large segments of our society. Once again, I DO NOT SUPPORT REDISTRICTING.
10/18/25 9:33 AM	Dakota Sims		It is important NC stays fair and represents all the people who call it home. We deserve fair representation in congress. I urge you do not redistrict.
10/18/25 9:33 AM	Mr Paul Nunez		Hello, the latest proposed maps don't represent the best interests of North Carolina residents. They appear to me to be maps specifically designed to meet the Federal administration's demands of our Republican state representatives. The control and management of federal elections is a power specifically granted to the individual states. This latest draft shows our state acquiescing to the wants of the current Federal administration and not to the needs of our state voters. Any new proposals need to be made to optimize the representation of this state's residents over any political party's national strategy. If the NC General Assembly continues to bend to the wants of external parties like the national Republican party and whomever is in the Whitehouse, they will be ceding their own power, and the power of NC residents to people outside of our state. Please re-do these maps!
10/18/25 9:34 AM	ms Suzanne J. Dickson		stop the gerrymandering, support fair elections and nc communities!
10/18/25 9:34 AM	Independent Redistricting Liz Millsaps Haigler	Citizen	We are a 50/50 states & our districts should be 50/50!
10/18/25 9:34 AM	Ellen Wessling		This redistricting plan should not be passed. It is biased and unconstitutional. It follows no logical sense of where boundaries should be and is nothing but a power grab to mute the voices of the citizens of North Carolina that may not agree with those who drew the redistricting map.
10/18/25 9:34 AM	Susan Konkol		DO NOT redraw the maps. Our country needs a robust 2 party system in order to survive as a democracy. Redrawing maps to favor one party only helps to lead our country further into authoritarianism.

10/18/25 9:34 AM	Debra Bess		We elect our representatives to represent us, not to help an authoritarian grab for power. The budget is overdue. Teachers need support. The DMV is a mess. Law enforcement needs reinforcement. Set your agenda to the things that matter to North Carolinians, not to appease a wannabe dictator.
10/18/25 9:35 AM	Elisabeth West		I am a voter who lives in Buncombe County, Asheville NC. I am completely opposed to the Republican redistricting plan. It is unfair and unethical.
10/18/25 9:35 AM	Mrs. Maxine Evans-Armwood		The GA should be ashamed of itself drawing lines just so Republicans can win an election. That's because they can't win by being fair and let the constituents elect who they want to represent them. One day those who voted for this will be out of office and I say good riddance. I always vote and will do all I can to get others to vote their interest and not just vote along party line and vote for folks who does what's best for the people.
10/18/25 9:35 AM	Shame Shame Shame Vivian Ferreira		Republicans: you lost my vote for the next election. When there is no shame anymore to rig elections, this tells a lot about who you are.
10/18/25 9:36 AM	Michael Burke		why do you fear having to compromise with the democratic party? Would not such compromises make ours an honest state to live in?
10/18/25 9:36 AM	J. Christopher Jost		Voters should chose who they elect. Not the other way around. Create a level playing field.
10/18/25 9:36 AM	Hilary Mauney		I am horrified with the proposed redistricting plans in my lifelong home state, which is already one of the most gerrymandered in the nation. North Carolinians deserve to have their voices heard and their votes fairly represented as a part of our core voting and constitutional rights. As a former registered Republican and a voter that has gone both sides of the ballot in the past, Republicans will never get my vote again, top to bottom. This is a blatant attempt by one party to silence their constituents voices and North Carolinians will not stand for it. Thank you for your time.
10/18/25 9:36 AM	x x		If you can't win without drawing lines in ways that disenfranchise voters from the party of which you are apart then you shouldn't be elected. Draw the voting maps equitably and have a non partisan committe review them. Voters chose their representatives, not the other way around. Stop hurting the voters.
10/18/25 9:36 AM	Ms Susan Case	Citizen of North Carolina	Redistricting as the GOP is proposing is unconstitutional, robbing citizens of their right to equal representation. People are getting fed up with politicians who have forgotten they are there to serve the public, not to revel in their power. For shame.
10/18/25 9:37 AM	Gail Wise		I prefer that at your next meeting, our legislative leaders work on the serious work of negotiating the budget that would support programs that are important and much needed by the people of North Carolina rather than wasting time and effort redrawing the congressional maps. This has already been done twice since 2022, rather than once every 10 years following a census. We don,Äôt need to waste more time doing it AGAIN when people here are in such need. You can help your state now by representing us better.
10/18/25 9:37 AM	Jack Modell		I strongly oppose redistricting of Congressional districts by any one party, for any political purpose, or in any way that dilutes or augments the votes of any person or group of people. Doing so violates the constitutional intent of a representative democracy where all people, and therefore all votes, count equally. Congressional districting should be strictly based on impartial geometric and geographic algorithms that are uniformly applied with the only intent being to ensure that all citizens have fair and equal representation of their choosing, and not the other way around where politicians chose their voters. Do not allow the currently proposed redistricting to proceed!
10/18/25 9:37 AM	Ann Gerhardt		I strongly oppose further gerrymandering efforts, which weaken the governing in the state of nc.
10/18/25 9:37 AM	Karen E Caldwell		Once again, you are stealing votes and suppressing people,Äôs rights. NC is already one of the most gerrymandered states. What are you so afraid of?
10/18/25 9:37 AM	Karin Torres	Voter	Ridiculous to continue gerrymandering and unethical. Get it together where votes actually count and represent for the communities you,Äôre are supposed to represent and serve. Disgraceful.
10/18/25 9:38 AM	Ms Anne Barrington		I strongly oppose the redistricting. This is not a fair way to honor the rights of every North Carolinian. This is cheating in order to win and will meet great opposition.
10/18/25 9:38 AM	Jeff Carlson		Say no to this redistricting plan. Gerrymandering is one of the root causes of political gridlock, creating nonsense districts based wholly on ensuring one party retains power, and then naturally the elected representatives of that district lean ever further away from the political center of the district as centrist candidates get "primaried." If districts have to be redrawn to retain a party's seat, perhaps the party should be more responsive to the majority of citizens' real, everyday concerns and less concerned about pandering to their increasingly polarized bases to maintain power. We are meant to live in a representative democracy and political leaders are supposed to represent their constituents, not seek to redefine who their constituents are when they or their party runs afoul of the will of the people.
10/18/25 9:39 AM	Christine Capobianco		Let,Äôs please stop with the gerrymandering. How can you ethically tax the people if the people are not being accurately represented. It,Äôs reprehensible and ought to be illegal!!!
10/18/25 9:39 AM	Stop the stwal Lisa Mayhew		This is a brazen, illegal move to steal yet another seat for the GOP in an already gerrymandered state. Republicans are showing they don't think they can win on their policies and ideas, so they just resort to cheating. Disgusting!

10/18/25 9:40 AM	Ms Carole Labrum		Our QOP controlled NCGA has absolutely no right to perform yet another gerrymandering redistricting effort to steal yet another seat from We The People of North Carolina. We are a 50/50 purple state and yet cannot retain an even split of Congressional representation because of our QOP controlled NCGA & their redistricting hacks! Can,Äôt wait to vote ALL of the useless, unable to govern, nor write a budget, self serving, power and money grabbing politicos out of their seats in 2026!!!
10/18/25 9:41 AM	Alissa Olson		Please stop wasting time on things like this! We need a state budget! Do the job you were voted to do!
10/18/25 9:41 AM	Meghan Jones		Voting rights should not be diluted. The right to vote, and to have that vote be effective, is fundamental to our democracy. By bowing to Trump, doing his bidding, and silencing the voters of NC, this legislative body shows us, the public, that it does not work for us. Gerrymandering is a stain on the state of NC. We beg you not to further erode the right to vote here. Do not make NC a failed democracy.
10/18/25 9:41 AM	Liz Grossnickle		Fairness is the foundation of our democracy. I strongly urge you to hold off redistricting until the next census in order to maintain fairness in our voting.
10/18/25 9:43 AM	Sharon Albright		Why is this cheating allowed? As an independent voter I am very concerned that voting is being highjacked in our state even more than it already was.
10/18/25 9:44 AM	Mr. Marty Orgeron		Redistricting for the purpose to gain seats is an insult to voters. It says that a party,Äôs message isn,Äôt strong enough to resonate with voters so you have to ,Äústack the deck,Äù in your favor. It also implies that you think voters are stupid and alway vote party only. If there is a valid reason to redistrict fine, but if the sole purpose is to gain seats, please don,Äôt.
10/18/25 9:44 AM	Mr. Eli Horner		I am opposed to the current redistricting plans that clearly make North Carolina elections less fair and more partisan. You should all be ashamed of yourselves. Instead of trying to make this state better, you,Äôre wasting time and money redrawing the map to make it less fair for the voters, and it,Äôs already unfair to the voters to begin with. Redistricting reform needs to be implemented in this state so that elected officials are not the ones choosing their voters. Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. I strongly oppose the proposed redistricting and oppose partisan redistricting in highest terms. This legislature needs to commit itself to eliminating partisan gerrymandering, not using it to subvert the will of the people
10/18/25 9:45 AM	gary calder		i am a 74 year old, twice degreed veteran and as such i swore to uphold and protect america from all enemies, foreign and domestic; this redistricting CLEARLY puts the republican party, both state and federal AGAINST all who swore an oath. the gerrymandered district that i voted to elect wiley nickel in was taken from me and NOW you want to remove a good moderate democrat from office SOLELY to uphold the PARTY OVER COUNTRY fascism currently in place in the NC state legislature as well as the federal one. THIS IS WRONG.
10/18/25 9:46 AM	Susan Ward		I want a democracy! I do not want gerrymandering! I,Äôm an Independent voter who believes we are better when all voices are heard. ,ÄúWe the people,Äù means all people, all voices.
10/18/25 9:46 AM	David Reed	Voter	This gerrymandering plan outside the normal 10-year period is undemocratic, sets a bad precedent and will be among the reasons to oppose the elected representatives in my district who vote for this.
10/18/25 9:46 AM	Jordan Studioso-Marcus		I,Äôve lived in NC my whole life. Ya,Äôll have had this state gerrymandered in Republican favor for almost all of it. Enough is enough. We don,Äôt need more Republican seats. You,Äôre disenfranchising your voters so you can get a buck and it,Äôs disgusting. One day you,Äôll take inventory of all you,Äôve done in this world and you would be ashamed if you had an ounce of morality in your body.
10/18/25 9:46 AM	Rebecca Dalton		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. North Carolina has already been redistricted twice since 2020. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan that will likely result in costly litigation. This proposal will dilute the political power of Black North Carolinians.¬†The biggest impact of this proposal will be the "cracking" of the northeastern Black Belt into two districts. The national Voting Rights Act requires the legislature to proactively consider race in redistricting to protect against illegal vote dilution for Black and Brown voters. This proposal is a poorly timed distraction. North Carolinians are currently voting in local elections. Let us focus on finishing this year's election before dropping big changes to next year's.
10/18/25 9:47 AM	Amy Wilson		I think we all know that gerrymandering is a way to disinfranchise voters. North Carolina is a better than that. We are better than that. Vote no for redistricting

10/18/25 9:47 AM	Mr. Craig Reynolds		To the Members of the North Carolina General Assembly: The power to draw electoral districts is not one to be exercised in pursuit of advantage, but in service of the people. It ought to be handled with the humility and restraint that befit those who govern in a republic. However well-intentioned a majority may be, the habit of tailoring lines to preserve its own power is corrosive to trust, to turnout, and to the spirit of self-government. I write as a citizen unaffiliated with any organized faction in Raleigh, and I do so fully aware that at times partisan redistricting might serve those with whom I share certain views. But the question here is not whether the map helps or hinders one party, the question is whether the process respects the dignity of the people. Small government begins with limited power. And no power is more ripe for abuse, or more resistant to oversight, than the ability to draw the lines that choose one‚Äôs own voters. It invites the centralization of control and the manipulation of natural communities for short-term gain. Such conduct would not be tolerated in the drawing of a private will. It ought not be tolerated in the design of the people‚Äôs representation. The American principle is not majority rule for its own sake, but constitutional rule with the consent of the governed. That consent is strained when electoral outcomes are decided in drawing rooms rather than voting booths. It is not a sign of strength for a party to draw maps that shield it from competition. It is a sign of weakness and of misplaced priorities. It is not the purpose of the legislature to choose the people. It is the right of the people to choose their legislature. I respectfully urge you to adopt a fair and impartial redistricting process, one that honors compactness, respects communities of interest, and refrains from entrenching any party through artificial means. If this body cannot accomplish that on its own, then it must invite the people to help design a better way. Self-restraint is the highest form of leadership. I ask that you choose it.
10/18/25 9:48 AM	Stop this Madness Aleksandar Simic		This is a blatant attempt to diminish and even silence the Democrat leaning citizens of our state. Our state is split 50% between parties and yet this remapping would lead to 79% of congressional representatives being Republican? This is disgusting behavior for such a great state and you should feel disgusted for even putting this into consideration.
10/18/25 9:48 AM	Mr Jacques Kittrell	Raleigh-Apex NAACP	Please do not support this redistricting bill. This is not what Democracy is supposed to be. I believe this will be the third time this has happened outside of the 10-year norm. We the people (all people) are not counted and represented, when the maps are drawn for special interest.
10/18/25 9:49 AM	Ms Bridget Bohnet		I wasn't aware that NC had done a census this year. Why are you trying to redraw the maps again. Seems to me, you're more interested in following a political agenda that has hurt a large number of NC residents, instead of actively working to help the citizens of this state. You haven't passed a budget, but you've certainly spent time gerrymandering the state so that your party can stay in power. This country is a democracy no matter how much you try to change that. You work for the people of NC, not the other way around. Each time you gerrymander the voting districts, you take away the people's voice. Even voters in your own party are growing tired of the partisan politics where nothing gets done and everyone who disagrees with your agenda is demonized. Do the jobs that you were elected to do. Stop trying to consolidate power so that you and your party remain in office indefinitely. You have no policies that benefit anyone other than yourselves, obviously.
10/18/25 9:49 AM	Andy Rhoney		I am against this. Maps are already unfairly drawn. How can we have democrats as governor and AG yet republicans have a super majority? And now it will only get worse. Our state is failing its teachers, environment and lower income people by allowing republicans to supplant themselves in house and senate. We need the governor and AG to help us.
10/18/25 9:49 AM	Benjamin Ott		Changing current voting lines is just a way to disenfranchise voters that have a right to vote. North Carolina is and deserves better
10/18/25 9:50 AM	Ms Lauren Meyer Banks		Redistricting simply to give republicans more seats is quite partisan,Ä¶and wrong in my opinion. If republicans weren‚Äôt so afraid of their unpopular policies being rejected, they would allow the people of N.C. to decide ,Ä¶Ä¶..without manipulating voting. Trump doesn‚Äôt believe in democratic rule by the people, and that is very unAmerican. No redictricting should be done at the command of a political autocrat.
10/18/25 9:50 AM	Amy Holt		I am fully against such blatant gerrymandering for our state. It‚Äôs criminal at best. Let the people‚Äôs votes count.
10/18/25 9:51 AM	Abigail Bekebile		I strongly oppose the NC Legislature's proposed Congressional district plan. It is clear gerrymandering and antidemocratic. The legislature should be upholding the ideals of the U.S. Constitution to represent all people in the state rather than rigging the system to control the outcome. Representatives should be chosen by their constituents. It should not be the other way around where the map is manipulated so representatives choose their voters. Choose democracy not an autocratic illiberal democracy.

10/18/25 9:51 AM	Mr Daniel Runion		Drawing the voting districts based on race is shameful and immoral. I,Äôm all for this change away from race based policy. If someone has good ideas for policy the votives won,Äôt care what color their skin is.
10/18/25 9:52 AM	Ms Meg Rodgers		You have already rigged the system. Why destroy denigrate completely.
10/18/25 9:52 AM	Caitlin Lindsey		Let,Äôs have some legitimate representation of the districts and constituents. Stopp the gerrymandering!
10/18/25 9:52 AM	Mrs Sherri Garside	retired teacher of HISTORY	Republicans stop fucking with the maps, you know you can not win without cheating and I am tired of your bullshit. And the fact that you all have rolled over and bow to Cheetos says it all.
10/18/25 9:54 AM	Kate Davison		I do not support NC redrawing our districts at this time.
10/18/25 9:54 AM	Kristine Durzy		Redistricting to keep one party in power, regardless which party, violates the very soul of democracy. Please spend time and resources helping the people of North Carolina, instead of making us the butt of jokes and the defendant in yet another elections lawsuit.
10/18/25 9:54 AM	Mrs Leah Banford	Public School Teacher	I strongly oppose the proposed redrawing of North Carolina's congressional maps by Republican leadership, which appears to be a blatant attempt to manipulate the system for partisan gain rather than to fairly represent the people of this state. Gerrymandering,Äîwhether done by any party,Äîundermines the principles of democracy by allowing politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. This proposal threatens to silence the voices of communities across North Carolina, especially those that already face barriers to representation. It disregards the will of the people, ignores past court rulings that struck down racially and politically gerrymandered maps, and fosters distrust in our political system. Every voter in North Carolina deserves equal representation. Congressional maps should be drawn transparently, based on input from the public, and by nonpartisan or independent bodies,Äînot by those who stand to benefit politically.
10/18/25 9:55 AM	Douglas Stokes		I think redistricting should not be done except after the US Census is taken. I think the effort to draw the districts to favor one party may be legal, but it is against the principles of democracy. My expectation is that no one should have his finger on the scale to make sure elections go one way or the other, regardless of which party is in power. My personal feeling is that when districts are redrawn, they should be determined only by geography and population, not by party affiliation, with an effort to keep the districts as geographically compact as possible.
10/18/25 9:55 AM	Mr. Raymond Layton		Vote NO to redistricting! Neither party should be engaging in election interference. Be better than Texas. This is a blatant attempt to gold power. The people do not want this. Gerrymandering /'jere?mand(?)riNG/ noun the manipulation of an electoral constituency's boundaries so as to favor one party or class.
10/18/25 9:56 AM	Livni Mendez		It's October 2025 and you still have not passed a budget for the state. Do you really think creating even more of a biased echo chamber in our government helps you govern for the people of NC? DO YOUR JOB! This side quest into greater gerrymandering of the state is not what the people of NC want. Focus on how to best serve your constituents, not in how to rig the election to give yourselves more power to do nothing. In case I wasn't clear, I do not support redistricting.
10/18/25 9:56 AM	Toni Goode		I do not support the proposed redistricting plans. The maps clearly represent gerrymandering rather than fair representation. Every voter in North Carolina deserves districts that reflect our communities ,Äî not ones that are drawn to protect political power. Gerrymandering weakens our democracy by allowing politicians to choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives. I urge the General Assembly to prioritize fairness, transparency, and the voices of the people of North Carolina over partisan interests. Our state deserves maps that truly represent all North Carolinians.
10/18/25 9:56 AM	Dr. Mary Ruth Coleman		I am deeply concerned about the move to redistrict. This is a direct attempt to undermine voter rights. This transparent power play is shameful. NC is better than this.
10/18/25 9:57 AM	Todd Fischer		NCGA has gerrymandered our state for several years in favor of Republicans. We are quickly moving to an authoritarian government, exactly what our founding fathers did not want. The US will not be about free and fair elections. Please do not do this.
10/18/25 9:57 AM	Tom Chuaypradit		The new maps proposed are not fair for most communities outside wake county and unfairly weights votes in favor of the Republican and doesn,Äôt fairly represent those who support other political parties. I think it,Äôs a play just to keep the Republican Party in power and more importantly misrepresents what most of the people in NC need, representation that answers the needs of the people in any district.

10/18/25 9:58 AM	Joni Ashton	North Carolina Citizen. Just me.	Redistricting and gerrymandering is cheating the people of North Carolina. The North Carolina General Assembly has spent all their time since they took power in 2010 trying to dismantle our freedoms and rights. Republicans have to cheat to win. I ask my fellow citizens if our schools are better off since they took charge. Are your taxes any lower? How many votes are you going to suppress? Shame on you for your un-American laws and rules for voting. Shame on you for gutting some of the best schools in the nation. Shame on you for taking corporate money to screw the people of North Carolina. Shame.
10/18/25 9:59 AM	Marcia Gumpertz		This proposal is unnecessary, rushed and costly. This will be the third redistricting of our congressional districts since 2020. Redistricting is costly, especially because it usually results in litigation. The public is not being given enough time to consider the proposal and discuss the impact with their representatives. Legislators should focus on passing a state budget instead of a redistricting plan. I believe electoral maps should be fully representative of the people. Unfair maps lead to unequal representation in Congress.
10/18/25 9:59 AM	Denise Harwell		I oppose the newly proposed redistricting maps for North Carolina. These changes undermine the fundamental principles of fair representation. Every resident of North Carolina deserves to have their voice heard and their vote count equally, regardless of political affiliation or geographic location. This kind of map manipulation weakens the integrity of our democracy. Redistricting should be conducted transparently and fairly, with the goal of ensuring equal representation, not political advantage. Gerrymandering has no place in a healthy, functioning democracy.
10/18/25 9:59 AM	Deirdre Russell		Stop the steal! We need fair representation!!!
10/18/25 9:59 AM	Mr David Biesack		For years, v the GOP held false claims about illegal voting, now they are doing it again, trying to rig the elections in their favor. It is unjust, and I'm-Anerican. It must be judged as illegal
10/18/25 9:59 AM	Nancy Ovaska		Disgraceful display of power grabbing.
10/18/25 9:59 AM	Imke Kirste		Can you please stop undermining democracy, start to care about the citizens, no matter which party affiliation, and stop being driven by greed? You are eliminating trust, without trust that the system protects us this will end badly, please study history and use your compassion. We are all human beings.
10/18/25 10:00 AM	Mrs Roni Freedman	Let's Vote 2024: My vote; OUR Democracy	It is unfathomable that our legislature is calling for the fourth redistricting of our state, merely to push Democrats out of our legislature. NC is a purple state, which is why I moved here. These new gerrymandered maps are designed for partisan advantage, and NOT for representation. Our legislature needs to reflect the will of the people of NC, and NOT an order from Trump. It is well past time to just say "NO" and reflect the voices and the values of your constituents. The waste of taxpayer money on litigation is NOT CALLED for.
10/18/25 10:00 AM	Douglas Clark		I oppose redistricting mid-decade unless ordered by the courts to correct illegal or unconstitutional maps. Ordered by the president of the United States to give his political party an advantage is a very bad reason. The precedent will eventually be turned against the politicians who think this is a good idea now. Where does it lead? Will districts be redrawn after every election in which voters choose a candidate the legislative majority doesn't like? How far will you go in manipulating election outcomes before people vote? Many districts are already gerrymandered for partisan reasons. Please stop and wait until after the next census.
10/18/25 10:01 AM	Ms Kathryn Fidati		NC is already ridiculously gerrymandered. There is no reason to further disenfranchise voters by redrawing, yet again, district lines. Do not continue to kowtow to our authoritarian so-called president.
10/18/25 10:02 AM	Hugh Vincent		Thank you NC legislature for doing your constitutional job of protecting our state and country from the people trying to destroy both.
10/18/25 10:03 AM	Rev Jennifer Krushas		Redistricting should be a non-partisan work of government. Redistricting at the request of the president is not fair play, and it's undemocratic. Please take our system seriously and play by the rules.
10/18/25 10:03 AM	Evelyn Keating		As an North Carolinian, my vote deserves to count. The votes of all North Carolinians deserve to count. Redistricting for political manipulation is weak and unworthy of our beautiful state. As an Independent, I am watching and what you're showing me is that your policies alone are not strong enough to stand for themselves. For shame.
10/18/25 10:04 AM	Jordan Kearney		The proposed map is in no way shape or form accurate to the voters of North Carolina. This is an abomination and only being drawn to give republicans more power that they do not have.
10/18/25 10:04 AM	Ridiculous! Marcus Clark		This is a terrible abuse of power and shows how evil the Republican Party has become under Trump. It‚Äôs not too late to show him that we‚Äôre not his subjects, we‚Äôre free Americans
10/18/25 10:04 AM	Sharon Burgos		Totally against this disgusting ploy for more seats. On both sides! Get votes by persuading the PEOPLE that you are the best candidate, not by cheating. Isn‚Äôt this what we teach our children?
10/18/25 10:05 AM	Dr. Neil Stahl	USA	Vote No. Donald Trump is the least patriotic, most corrupt president in history. Surely you see that. Republicans in Congress are incapable of restraining him; the only hope for the America our fathers fought for is more Democrats in Congress. Vote your country not your party, Vote No.
10/18/25 10:06 AM	Stacey Kirk		Redistricting to increase positive outcomes for one party is NOT democracy. I, as a 20 year resident of NC, do not approve of this plan. Make sensible, non-partisan drawn districts that actually take into account our votes.
10/18/25 10:07 AM	Marjorie Kalb		This plan is an anti-Democratic power move that embarrasses all of North Carolina. I urge all fair minded representatives to oppose it.
10/18/25 10:09 AM	Jeni Sigmon		Voters should choose their representatives, not the other way around. We need representation that reflect the make up of our state, not stolen power. This is abhorrent. Shame on all of you all for proudly subverting democracy. History has its eyes on you, and you are falling far short.

10/18/25 10:09 AM	Mr. Nicholas Grant		The CCM-2 map is a blatant act of partisan gerrymandering. It was drawn not to represent voters, but to protect politicians. By manipulating district lines, it ensures one party keeps power regardless of how North Carolinians actually vote. This map packs Democratic voters into a few urban districts ,Äî Mecklenburg, Wake, and Guilford ,Äî wasting tens of thousands of votes, while cracking suburban and moderate areas like Union, Cabarrus, and Johnston across multiple districts to dilute their influence. The result is a pre-determined outcome: Republicans could win 10 or 11 of 14 seats even if statewide votes are nearly even. Lawmakers calling this a ,Äúclean,Äù or ,Äúconstitutional,Äù map are not being honest. These districts aren,Äôt about fairness ,Äî they,Äôre about control. When representatives can choose their voters, voters no longer have meaningful choices. North Carolinians deserve competitive elections, transparent processes, and districts that reflect real communities ,Äî not lines drawn in secret to silence them. This plan deepens polarization, fuels extremism, and mocks the idea of accountability. I urge this committee to reject CCM-2 and adopt an independent, data-driven process that prioritizes voters, not politicians. Our democracy depends on it. As a teacher and lifelong North Carolinian, I want my students ,Äî and my own children ,Äî to inherit a democracy where elections are decided by the people, not by those in power.
10/18/25 10:10 AM	Mrs Susan Fredrickson		As a North Carolina resident I am outraged by the plan to diminish my voting rights by gerrymandering the NC voting districts. Please STOP.
10/18/25 10:11 AM	Christine Cade		I am not in favor of the proposed redistricting. It is not based on census, but instead is a political move meant to give more seats to a certain party.
10/18/25 10:11 AM	Comments on Redistricting Joset Wright		As a descendant of enslaved people, I am horrified, disgusted and frightened by the wholesale attack on voting rights that gerrymandering portends. Every citizen in this state must be represented. If the votes of black and brown citizen are diluted, freedom is hollow. We deserve better than that
10/18/25 10:13 AM	Maggie Daniel		This BLATANT attempt to rig elections by redistricting AGAIN is a disgusting power grab. Focus more on passing a budget and less on gerrymandering the state. We the citizens of North Carolina deserve better than what the GOP is doing.
10/18/25 10:13 AM	Mr Bryan Fransman		I,Äôm a resident of Raleigh (27603), and I oppose any new congressional map that reduces fair representation or targets specific districts for partisan gain. North Carolinians deserve transparency, open hearings, and maps that reflect our communities - not political calculations.
10/18/25 10:14 AM	Jamie W.		Redrawing the maps to make it easier for republicans to get elected is the very definition of cheating. Districts should be fair to all parties. Let the people have a voice and a vote. That is how democracy works! Unless you don,Äôt think you can win on your own merits
10/18/25 10:14 AM	Cristian James		I do not agree that we should be gerrymandering our state when it comes to elections.
10/18/25 10:14 AM	Madame Robin Proctor		This is a blatant power grab from a party that cannot win without cheating. It is a disgusting abuse.
10/18/25 10:14 AM	Mr Harvey Adams		The proposed redistricting map looks far less gerrymandered than the ones approved during Coopers time in the legislature. I don,Äôt see any district that snakes through the state for hundreds of miles to try and group minorities together because you think they should all vote together. Maps look good.
10/18/25 10:15 AM	Ms Cathy Peterson		Absolutely not! This gerrymandering across the board has got to stop and NOW! It is completely gaming the system and unfair and manipulative. No more gerrymandering.
10/18/25 10:16 AM	Mr Charles Breeding	Old white man who is anti fascist.	This is wrong! You can,Äôt win an election fairly so you alter the landscape. You DO NOT WORK FOR Donald Trump. Why do you feel like you have to support a convicted felon, adulterer, grifter etc. DT only wants to get richer and stay out of jail. The public will remember who has betrayed out country.
10/18/25 10:17 AM	Casey Martens		This is horrible and anti-democratic. Why are the Republicans afraid of letting their constituents VOTE? Why all of the shenanigans?

10/18/25 10:17 AM	Dr. Abby Hoffman		Dear law makers, Do not gerrymander the gerrymandered district map for North Carolina. There are so many reasons why this is the wrong action to take. I will name only a few. Maps were JUST redrawn. This is mid cycle and there have been no major migration movements in or out of North Carolina that justifies redrawing maps. This proposal is rushed and does not give adequate time for you to do your job and inform & LISTEN to North Carolinians. As a public servant, your job is to protect and work on behalf of North Carolinians, not on behalf of a political party or a political leader. In addition, this action will crack the voting power of "Black Belt" into two districts and dilute their representation at the state level. We all know what happens when leaders are more interested in holding on to power than having debate and building common ground from the mountains to the sea. North Carolinians are hungry for a state legislature to pass a budget not redraw district maps that attempt to tip the representation scale. Actually, North Carolinians want the opposite. We want fair maps. We want our state legislature to mirror the rich diversity of its citizenry. We want robust debate. We want compromise. We want fair and proportionate representation of the people. In addition, this action will solidify that the state legislature is not working on behalf of North Carolinians as North Carolinians reject gerrymandered maps overwhelmingly. This action will clearly show that the state legislature of North Carolina is beholden to Trump. If Trump's election reflected a mandate, he has spent that capital. He does not have the American people by his side any longer, his numbers are underwater. A poll by common cause finds the 84% of North Carolinians do not want gerrymandered maps with 78% of Republics, 87% Democrats, and 85% of unaffiliated voters being against gerrymandered district maps. Who do you work for? North Carolinians or Trump? I am strongly opposed to this action and believe that it reflects anti-democratic and anti-American values.
10/18/25 10:18 AM	Ms Annette Simmons		The stability of our economy and nation depends on trust. Please don‚Äôt manipulate districts to enforce biased decisions. You set the tone. Be trustworthy.
10/18/25 10:18 AM	Just stop Silas Ayers		Y‚Äôall really and truly can‚Äôt win unless you rig the whole game, huh? Don‚Äôt gerrymander more simply because you want more seats. Put out good policies. Keep your constituents happy. Actually do YOUR JOB. Don‚Äôt gerrymander any more districts.
10/18/25 10:18 AM	Michelle Coburn		Redistricting is a violation of the will of the people! Save our democracy
10/18/25 10:19 AM	Tracy Ging		This redistricting map is wrong.
10/18/25 10:19 AM	Dr. Ryan Emanuel		The proposed redistricting map dilutes American Indian voting influence by splitting the Lumbee State Designated Tribal Statistical Area (SDTSA) into three separate districts (proposed districts 7, 8, and 9), and it also splits the Coharie SDTSA into three separate districts (proposed districts 3, 7, and 13). In doing so, the map raises questions about the extent to which legislators considered SDTSAs (or tribal populations more generally) when drawing the proposed districts. Please respond to this comment with an explanation of whether and how SDTSAs or other datasets about tribal territories, tribal service areas, or tribal populations were used or otherwise referenced in the redistricting process. In your response, please include details about (1) the year and source of tribally-relevant datasets used in redistricting, (2) when during the redistricting process these datasets were considered, and (3) consultations with tribal leaders related to use of these datasets. If no such datasets were used, please explain why. I am an enrolled citizen of the Lumbee Tribe of North Carolina, and I am of Coharie descent.
10/18/25 10:19 AM	Doug Mynter		Stop appeasing a wannabe dictator! We demand equal representation. These maps are clearly unfair. I am a registered independent voter in NC. And we will vote you all out eventually. This is clearly illegal.
10/18/25 10:20 AM	Stanley Toney	A Voter	Politicians should not be picking the winners in our elections by stacking the map. Voters should pick the winners and when you draw the lines to get the outcomes that will kowtow to Trump- that‚Äôs not democracy that‚Äôs tyranny.
10/18/25 10:20 AM	Do not rig the elections James Carr		North Carolina is a purple state and should be represented as such. Do not rig the votes so that people are not properly represented - it does not lead to a healthy society and it is not in the best interest of anyone.
10/18/25 10:20 AM	Dick Neidich		No kings
10/18/25 10:20 AM	Marian Catlin		No gerrymandering period!
10/18/25 10:21 AM	Bonnie Yankaskas		No redistricting now! It is a blatant move to reduce power of minority and democratic voters. Stop kicking our democracy in the heart. What ever happened to fair play. If Democrats were in control, would you be doing this?
10/18/25 10:22 AM	Kelly Del Tufo		It is not surprising that the NCGOP would so obviously bend the knee to their criminal leader, knowing they already have minority rule in this state. This move is so blatantly political and not in the best interest of ALL the people of north Carolina, it's embarrassing . Know that this move solidifies my commitment to spend as much money and time as I can to support Democrat candidates and get our in better balance to represent all people in this state. I vehemently opposed this change.

10/18/25 10:22 AM	Joseph Jenkins		With respect to comments by Speaker Hill and Senator Berger to protect a mandate and Republican control of Congress in response to Governor Newsome,Äôs actions for redistricting in California, who responded to Governor Abbott,Äôs kowtowing to a demand from the President, I ask is this in service to your oath to the people of North Carolina, or is it in service to one man and your own benefit? That is, of course, rhetorical as the answer is plain. This is nothing less than an attempt to subvert the will of the voters. More than that, it reveals that you know a simple truth - the agenda you support is deeply unpopular. If you must resort to attempted voter suppression and sophistry to win, then you will only lose more support. You may stand on your principles, but if you can,Äôt win the support of others through presentation and defense of your views, then perhaps you need to re-evaluate your support of ideals that are against the common good and are actively harming the people of North Carolina.
10/18/25 10:22 AM	Map redistricting Madison Maxwell		In a state where the largest number of voters are unaffiliated, followed by Democrat, and last republican, redistribution of our votes to this blatant power grab of grotesque gerrymandering is openly cheating. It's obvious and an attempt to effectively disenfranchise more than 60% of voters. This is wrong, and we are deeply against it.
10/18/25 10:22 AM	joyce holmes		America was founded on the principal that the people would be in control of the government. Please be on the side of Americans and not support authoritarians who want to control us and get rich from our labor. Please support ONE VOICE, ONE VOTE. Please don't help them take away our power. Please don't vote for redristing to rig the vote for the Heritage Foundation and the 2025 project.
10/18/25 10:24 AM	Ms Sarah Turner	No	This is more dictator behavior because Republicans can't win in a fair election. This further takes away our voting rights. NC, stand up to these unconscionable traitors.
10/18/25 10:24 AM	Janet Price-Ferrell		We need the Medicaid rebase funded, not redistricting
10/18/25 10:25 AM	Josh Clinard		Please do not move forward when the new maps.
10/18/25 10:25 AM	Julia Bambach		Of course I,Äôm against redistricting just to be spiteful. It amazes me that Republicans can so openly cheat to keep power. It is scary and embarrassing and certainly not an example of democracy.
10/18/25 10:25 AM	Matt Fisher		You have got to be kidding me. This is a ridiculous attempt to gerrymander the districts. You should be ashamed of yourselves.
10/18/25 10:25 AM	Absolutely disgraceful Lauren Rose		I am deeply troubled about the proposal to further gerrymander the state of NC, pulling power from voters to use for political advancement for GOP candidates. It is clear a division is being sought by doing so, moving NC in a direction of further extremism. This state and its population do not deserve to be used as a political pawn for lawmakers seeking power to use for personal gain.
10/18/25 10:26 AM	Bill Jonas		The redistricting plan is outrageous! The Mega Republicans should be ashamed of themselves! Just remember "what goes around, comes around"...and often times with a vengeance! So beware!!
10/18/25 10:27 AM	Brennan Wirt		I,Äôm deeply disappointed by the legislature,Äôs decision to consider further gerrymandering our state. At a time when North Carolina still hasn,Äôt passed a budget, it,Äôs frustrating to see valuable time, resources, and taxpayer money being spent on something that would only further divide us. Speaker Hall has stated this move is in response to Governor Newsom,Äôs actions and to defend ,Äúthe will of the people.,Äù But to most North Carolinians, this would look like the opposite; an attempt to undermine fair representation and entrench political power rather than earn it. If the concern is about Republicans maintaining support in this state, I,Äôd urge you to focus on policies that actually improve people,Äôs lives and reflect their needs. Resorting to tactics like this doesn,Äôt show strength; it shows a lack of confidence in your own ideas. It feels childish. Please, do the right thing for North Carolina and reject any effort to make our maps more gerrymandered than they already are.
10/18/25 10:27 AM	NC Wants Fair Elections Erica Eller		North Carolina residents want fair elections. It is blatantly obvious these maps are a partisan effort to take voting power away from North Carolinians, and sets a dangerous political precedent. North Carolinians from both sides of the aisle agree that voters should get to choose their representatives, not the other way around.
10/18/25 10:27 AM	Shannon Gonzales		I approve the redistricting. The left has done it for decades. We are a red state and it should reflect that

10/18/25 10:27 AM	Michael Renne	myself/private citizen	I am emailing to respectfully request the General Assembly not move forward with proposed redistricting. These new districts do not accurately reflect the diversity of opinion, values, and wishes of the citizens of North Carolina. The General Assembly is drawing maps to "pick" their constituents, as opposed to what should be happening ... voters pick their representatives. Most people think we live in a democracy, we do not. We live in representative republic and our founding fathers were brilliant in picking this system. They realized in a "democracy" the people may not be accurately represented because certain groups of people would have more influence. In our representative republic system, the intent was for a broad swath of people to come together and pick a variety of representatives that would advocate for policies that would benefit larger, more representative groups of citizens. This General Assembly is regressing to a system where a few are representing the many. This is deeply concerning. Members of the General Assembly have mentioned since President Trump won North Carolina, his will should be propagated to all voters in North Carolina. This is not how federalism works. Voters in North Carolina can both support President Trump (as they did in this past Presidential Election) and demand representation from their members of Congress to be more representative of the state. This state is roughly 1/3 registered Republican, 1/3 registered Democrat, and slightly higher than 1/3 registered Independent (that is me). I kindly ask that we keep our representation in Congress to look more like the 1/3 split, as opposed to what is currently being proposed. With respect and gratitude, Mike Renne Jamestown, NC
10/18/25 10:28 AM	Mary Peterson		I am writing as an unaffiliated NC voter to express my strong opposition to the proposed congressional redistricting maps. Fair representation is the cornerstone of our democracy, and I am deeply concerned that the proposed maps have been designed to entrench partisan advantage rather than ensure that every voter,Äôs voice carries equal weight. North Carolina voters have repeatedly made it clear that we want fair districts,Äîones that reflect genuine communities and foster accountability, not political manipulation. Redistricting should never be used as a tool to dilute the influence of certain groups or silence dissenting voices. Such actions erode public trust and weaken the democratic process we all depend on. I urge the General Assembly to reject any map that does not meet basic standards of fairness, transparency, and competitiveness. The people of North Carolina deserve representation that reflects our diversity and our shared commitment to good governance,Äînot one dictated by the interests of either party. Please stand up for a truly representative democracy by insisting on an open, nonpartisan redistricting process that prioritizes the interests of voters over political gain.
10/18/25 10:30 AM	Danielle Harris		Discontinue the gerrymandering in NC. My tax dollars pay for civic leaders who are for the people not those who support corruption and their own financial gains. Leave the maps as they are. Stop attempting to silence people.
10/18/25 10:30 AM	Mary Hughes		No to gerrymandering!! NO!!!
