Re: Discovery Dispute Rebuttal Expert Report Underlying Materials; Petteway, et al.
v. Galveston County, et al., Civil Action No. 3:22-cv-00057

Dear Judge Brown,

On April 14, 2023, Petteway Plaintiffs (Plaintiffs) submitted to Defendants a rebuttal expert report written by Dr. Matt Barreto and Mr. Michael Rios. However, Defendants contend that Plaintiffs have not provided the supporting information of that analysis to allow Defendants' experts to fully review/duplicate their work. Defendants ask that the Court either require the production of all materials used in the Barreto/Rios rebuttal report,¹ or order that the report be withdrawn.

Defendants' Position

At his deposition, Dr. Barreto testified that his BISG analysis for each name on the voter file produced a probability regarding the person's race/ethnicity. Barreto Dep. at 44:6-17. Those probabilities were created and used by Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios to reach the results and conclusions in their rebuttal report. Id. at 51:19-24. Those conclusions included analysis of Republican primary elections in Galveston County (not previously studied in the initial report). Id. at 41:12-16. It is thus uncontroverted that the actual R script that Dr. Barreto used to run the BISG analysis contains the data he relied on to create the rebuttal report, and that this data was used to study elections not previously considered.² In spite of all of this, none of the inputs for the BISG analysis or the resulting materials have been produced to Defendants for examination.

¹ In their rebuttal report, Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios conducted an analysis of the official Galveston County voter file using a methodology called Bayesian Improved Surname Geocoding (BISG). Specifically, they used BISG to estimate County voters' race and ethnicity, and to assess voting patterns in 29 federal, statewide, and local elections from 2014 to 2022. To conduct this BISG analysis, Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios employed two statistical programs entitled "Who Are You (WRU) package in R" and eiCompare. See Barreto/Rios Expert Report, at 9-10.

² Dr. Barreto testified that he had been unable to run the BISG analysis in time for the initial report because Defendants did not produce the Galveston County voter file until January 11, 2023. Barreto Dep. at 34:18-35:8. In their footnote 4 below, Plaintiffs claim that this delay was a result of Defendants not producing the voter file in response to their First Requests for Production of Documents. Yet, Plaintiffs ignore that the voter file was not responsive to any of those Requests. See E-Mail from Mr. Shawn Sheehy (Dec. 9, 2022) (Pfs. Ex. 5). Notably, Plaintiffs included a request for the materials in December 2022. In any event, Dr. Barreto testified that running the Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(2)(B)(ii) requires Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios to provide all data they considered when forming their opinions and rebuttals. See Freeny v. Murphy Oil Corp., No. 2:13-CV-791-RSP, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 118731, at *6 (E.D. Tex. June 3, 2015); Wesdem, LLC v. Ill. Tool Works, Inc., No. SA-20-CV-00987-OLG, 2021 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 263726, at *3 (W.D. Tex. Aug. 12, 2021). Should they fail to do so, Plaintiffs cannot use that information or those experts before the Court “unless the failure was substantially justified or is harmless.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(c)(1). The Fifth Circuit considers four factors in determining substantial justification: (1) the explanation for failing to identify the information; (2) the importance of the information; (3) potential prejudice to the other side; and (4) whether a continuance is available to cure any such prejudice. Majestic Oil, Inc. v. Certain Underwriters at Lloyd’s, No. 21-20542, 2023 U.S. App. LEXIS 6593, at *3 (5th Cir. Mar. 17, 2023).

Plaintiffs contend that Defendants’ expert Dr. John Alford can replicate the BISG analysis using publicly available data; but that is not accurate because Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios have not provided the assumptions and variables they used in conducting their analysis. Defendants cannot replicate Dr. Barreto’s work and test his results without disclosure of each step taken, each assumption made, and each variable applied without seeing those materials.

Plaintiffs claim that the underlying data Defendants seek either “does not exist, or is not needed”—but they also readily admit that a “temporary file’ containing WRU’s probability data can be generated.” Nevertheless, they claim that they are not required to re-generate this data now because their experts “plugged the [BISG process] directly into their EI models” and did not save the data. Assuming this is true, Barreto has not provided an R script that is consistent with that practice and demonstrates that Barreto has not provided the R scripts they actually used in reaching their results. More importantly, they provide no response to the R scripts containing no details on values of parameters to be set, dealing with missing data or other issues which impede replication.

Plaintiffs point to Estech Systems IP, LLC v. Carvana LLC, No. 2:21-CV-00482-JRG-RSP, 2023 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 65138 (E.D. TX Apr. 13, 2023), but that decision misses the mark. Estech Systems rejected a request to strike an expert report on the complaint that the underlying methodology was inaccurate, concluding, “correctness of the methodology and the results produced in [the] report can be properly explored through vigorous cross-examination and presentation of contrary evidence.” Id. at *11. While the reports may be inaccurate, Defendants’ complaint is failure to provide information on the process used to prepare the report to test the correctness of Dr. Barreto’s and Mr. Rios’ opinions on rebuttal. Plaintiffs cannot use the record-keeping failures of their experts to deprive Defendants of the ability to probe the strength of Plaintiffs’ assertions.

BISG analysis would take one month at most. Id. at 36:1-8. Accordingly, Plaintiffs could have submitted the rebuttal report in February 2023—which would have provided sufficient time for Defendants to analyze it. Instead they waited until less than a week before Dr. Barreto’s deposition (and long after Defendants’ expert Dr. John Alford had to submit his report) to provide the rebuttal report.

Petteway, et al. v. Galveston County, et al., Civil Action No. 3:22-cv-00057

Defendants therefore ask that the Court either order the production of the withheld materials, or order the rebuttal improper under the scheduling order and current rules.

Plaintiffs' Position

Plaintiffs' experts Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios have satisfied their obligations under the Federal Rules to provide the facts and data they considered in forming their opinions, including all information necessary, including R scripts, for Defendants' experts to fully review and replicate their work. (Ex. 1) Defendants' current request for further information is not based on any deficiency in production but rather on a fundamental misunderstanding³ of BISG analysis.

Defendants contend that Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios have not produced the file containing “probability regarding [voters'] race/ethnicity,” and that this file was “created and used by Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios to reach the results and conclusions in their rebuttal report.” Supra. Not so. The publicly available computer program called WRU—to which Defendants have access and to which they have been directed by Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios—is what Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios used to conduct their BISG analysis. WRU, as a background computing process, employs probabilities regarding voters' race and ethnicity. This is like how a calculator employs the equation for calculating a square root when a user types the $\sqrt{\quad}$ command on the calculator.

A “temporary file” containing WRU's probability data can be generated if the user (1) directs the program to create this separate file and (2) halts the calculations mid-stream to generate and save that temporary file before obtaining the BISG results. Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios did not do so because it is not standard practice in the field to do so. They took the BISG process and plugged it directly into their EI models. They are not withholding any data or analysis or files they relied upon in providing their RPV opinions—they do not possess the files Defendants seek.

But, as we have repeatedly explained to Defendants, their expert, Dr. Alford, can generate the exact file they are seeking. Dr. Alford simply needs to input the voter file data they (belatedly) produced to Plaintiffs, direct WRU to generate the temporary file containing the probabilities, obtain that temporary file during the process, and complete his replication of the BISG calculations. To be clear, this intermediary probability file is not required to run the WRU script. Defendants only need the voter file and the WRU program to run BISG, nothing more.

Defendants are essentially demanding that Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios re-run their BISG analysis differently than they originally did to generate a data file they did not originally generate or save. The Federal Rules do not require this. See, e.g., Estech Systems IP, LLC v. Carvana LLC,

2023 WL 2934920 at 5 (E.D. TX Apr. 13, 2023) (finding no issue with expert production because “essentially all of the information relied upon is publicly available”).

Because the information sought by Defendants is publicly available, does not exist, or is not needed for their expert to recreate and assess the accuracy of Plaintiffs’ experts’ rebuttal report, there is no prejudice to Defendants arising from Plaintiffs inability to produce something that does not exist. Rather, this request by Defendants is simply an attempt to either discard⁴ analysis harmful to their case or require Plaintiffs’ experts to do the work of replicating the analysis for Dr. Alford. Such motives are not covered by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26.

We thank the Court for its time and consideration, and look forward to the Court’s resolution of this matter.

⁴ Defendants omit key points and mischaracterize the timeline regarding the BISG analysis. The Galveston County voter file was encompassed in discovery requests file in August of 2022 (Ex 2 and 3) Plaintiffs reminded Defendants of this duty to produce the voter file on November 18, 2022 but received no response. (Ex. 4) Plaintiffs again reached out to Defendants on December 7, 2022. (Ex. 5) Defendants refused to provide this file forcing Plaintiffs to serve a second request for production on December 9, 2022. Id. Even then, Defendants produced the voter file past the 30-day deadline and only two days before Plaintiffs’ experts’ disclosures were due. Following submission of his report, Dr. Barreto was not under any obligation to reanalyze election results as he was waiting for Dr. Alford's declaration to work on his rebuttal. Only after reviewing Dr. Alford's rebuttal submitted on March 17, 2023, which called into question the level of Hispanic voter cohesion, did Dr. Barreto conclude he should include the vote history file for his EI analysis to rebut such claims. Defendants, therefore, manufactured any delay in the analysis they now complain of. BISG analysis is commonly utilized by Dr. Barreto in Section 2 Voting Rights Act cases. Knowing this, Defendants intentionally delayed production of the voter file to prevent Dr. Barreto from including such analysis in his initial report.

Shawn-

You have yet to explain why you require this new information. As I mentioned in my prior email and as Dr. Alford testified April 27th, Defendants have more than enough information to recreate the BISG analysis. Dr. Alford admitted in deposition that he has the vote history file and that he has experience running BISG with the wru package in R. Further, as Judge Edison explained in the hearing weeks ago, rebuttal reports were allowed so long as they were submitted on the deadline of April 14, 2023 at noon. The rebuttal contains no new theory of the case and indeed adequately responds to Dr. Alford's claims on the degree of Hispanic voter cohesion.

As you may recall, Petteway Plaintiffs reminded Defendants in November and December 2022 of their responsibility to provide the voter file pursuant to U.S. and NAACP First Request for Production #1(d), served in August 2022. Defendants disagreed that the voter file was responsive to the Plaintiffs' requests and forced Plaintiffs to serve a second request. The voter file was not produced by Defendants until January 11, 2023 – two days before Dr. Barreto's report was due. In their January 13 report, Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios indicated they planned to do additional analysis if more data was provided. They did not receive all data in time. Defendants, therefore, have had clear notice that Dr. Barreto and Mr. Rios needed the voter files to run this type of analysis.

As for your specific requests, the full details of BISG and requisite code has been produced in our prior email and the April 14, 2023 rebuttal report. The code is from the Imai and Khanna wru package, as Dr. Barreto testified about this during his deposition. Dr. Barreto additionally reiterated that BISG analysis is done from the wru code, and that his report contains a direct citation to a "how to" guide and full code repository for BISG. Your request for "intermediate results" is similarly puzzling and unnecessary. "Intermediate results" are, by definition, not the code you need to run the wru package. It is an optional "output" during the middle - or in your words - intermediate step of the program that does not automatically save as a set of results. Indeed, by your own language, these "results" are not part of the code needed to run any BISG analysis.

As Dr. Alford is, I am sure, aware though his work as an expert, intermediate results are not produced by experts when they are not necessary to recreate any analysis. Indeed, in his own work as an expert, Dr. Alford often runs a surname analysis against the voter file, and in prior cases in Texas he has not produced any such "intermediate results" of his analysis of the voter file after flagged with Spanish surnames. Like most experts, Dr. Alford simply uses the information from the Spanish surname analysis as input into his EI models - the norm and standard practice.

Nevertheless, to ease Dr. Alford's replication of a BISG analysis on Galveston County, attached please find the exact BISG code for conducting such analysis, which we have previously provided a direct link to in our April 14, 2023 report.

7. “Redistricting” means any consideration of a modification of one or more of the election district boundaries used to elect members of the Galveston County Commissioners Court or the arrangement of voting precincts within a commissioners court precinct.
8. Unless stated otherwise, these interrogatories cover the redistricting process undertaken by the Galveston County Commissioners Court to reflect the population data reported in the 2020 Census P.L. 94-171 redistricting data.
9. “Relating to” means referring to, regarding, consisting of, concerning, pertaining to, reflecting, evidencing, describing, constituting, mentioning, or being in any way logically or factually connected with the matter discussed, including any connection, direct or indirect, whatsoever with the requested topic.
10. “Redistricting counsel” refers to the outside counsel, including staff, assistants, or associated consultants acting at their direction or subject to their control, that Galveston County voted to retain during the April 5, 2021, commissioners court meeting to assist in devising a redistricting plan.

18. In responding to these requests, please produce all responsive documents in the Defendants’ possession, custody, or control. This means that Defendants must produce all responsive documents within their actual possession, custody, or control, as well as such documents which Defendants have the legal right to obtain on demand or the practical ability to obtain from a non-party to this action, including, but not limited to, any and all documents that they and their counsel and other agents have actually reviewed.
19. All references in these requests to an individual person include any and all past or present employees, staff, interns, representatives, designees, attorneys, advisors, consultants, contractors, agents, predecessors in office or position, and all other persons

21. In construing these document requests, apply the broadest construction, so as to produce the most comprehensive response. Construe the terms "and" and "or" either disjunctively or conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the request all responses that might otherwise be construed to be outside that scope. Words used in the singular include the plural.

22. Words or terms used herein have the same intent and meaning regardless of whether the words or terms are depicted in lowercase or uppercase letters.

23. Documents should be produced in their entirety, without abbreviation, redaction, or expurgation; file folders with tabs or labels identifying documents responsive to these requests should be produced intact with the documents; and documents attached to each other should not be separated.

24. Documents should be produced in a form consistent with any agreement concerning production format entered in this action.

25. Each document produced should be categorized by the number of the document request in response to which it is produced.

26. No portion of a request may be left unanswered because an objection is raised to another part of that request. If Defendants object to any portion of a document request, they must state with specificity the grounds of any objections. Any ground not stated will be waived.

27. For any document withheld from production on a claim, in whole or in part, of privilege or work product protection, provide a written privilege log identifying each document individually and containing all information required by Rule 26(b)(5) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, including a description of the basis of the claimed privilege and all information necessary for the United States to assess the privilege claim.

28. If Defendants contend that it would be unduly burdensome to obtain and provide all of the documents called for in response to any document request or any subsection thereof, then in response to the appropriate document request: (a) produce all such documents as are available without undertaking what Defendants contend to be an unreasonable request; (b) describe with particularity the efforts made by Defendants or on their behalf to produce such documents; and (c) state with particularity the grounds upon which Defendants contend that additional efforts to produce such documents would be unreasonable.

29. If any requested document or other potentially relevant document is subject to destruction under any document retention or destruction program, the documents should be exempted from any scheduled destruction and should not be destroyed until the conclusion of this lawsuit or unless otherwise permitted by the Court.

30. In the event that a responsive document has been destroyed or has passed out of Defendants' possession, custody, or control, please identify the following information with respect to each such document: its title, date, author(s), sender(s), recipient(s), subject matter, the circumstances under which it has become unavailable, and, if known, its current location and custodian.

31. These requests are continuing in nature. Defendants' response must be supplemented and any additional responsive material disclosed if responsive material becomes available after Defendants serve their response. Defendants must also amend their responses to these requests if they learn that an answer is in some material respect incomplete or incorrect. If Defendants expect to obtain further information or expect the accuracy of a response given to change between the time responses are served and the time of trial, they are requested to state this fact in each response.

32. For document request numbers 17 and 21 below, there is no time period limitation. All other document requests concern the period of time specified in the request.

One other issue the Petteway Plaintiffs wanted to raise, as discovery is continuing to roll in from Defendants, we have noticed that the voter file requested pursuant to U.S. and NAACP First Request for Production #1(d) has not been provided. Plaintiffs just wanted to flag this issue for Defendants and ensure that such voter file is forthcoming.

Have a good weekend!

Good Afternoon Shawn and Dailin:

I am writing to follow up on some discovery issues.

First, we wanted to confirm that the documents you will be producing will include those from custodians Dale Oldham and Thomas Bryan or whether you will be claiming privilege. We understand that Dale Oldham and Thomas Bryan may be in the possession, custody, or control of documents responsive to at least one of our requests, including Petteway's modified RFPs 6, 10 and 11 and RFP 7. I understand that the Defendants privilege log is not due until December 31 and Defendants are currently sifting through documents, however, it appears Defendants have made headway in this as you utilized several emails from Commissioner Holmes at deposition earlier this week that had not yet been produced to Plaintiffs. Further, Dale Oldham and Thomas Bryan are included in our list of suggested search terms, and we understand them to be custodians of certain responsive documents; as such, we would request confirmation that responsive documents by them exist.

Additionally, I also wanted to follow up on my email sent November 18, 2022 and confirm that the voter history file for Galveston County will be provided to Plaintiffs as part of our discovery requests.

Best,

Bernadette

Bernadette,

Thank you. First, I am not seeing "Voter History File" in your requests. Which RFP references "Voter History File?"

If you requested it, and we have it in the document set that hit on our agreed upon search terms, then Defendants will produce it.

Second, our final production is due on Tuesday December 13 and we intend to meet that deadline. Our privilege log is due on December 31 and we intend to meet that deadline. I am not aware of a Rule that requires me to confirm the existence of responsive documents prior to document production or the production of a privilege log.

Thank you,

Shawn Sheehy

Hi Shawn:

As mentioned in my previous November 18 email the voter file was requested pursuant to U.S. and NAACP First Request for Production #1(d). Due to the scope of the requests for production and the search terms agreed upon, as well as the Defendant's failure to respond to the initial mention of this issue sent almost three weeks ago, we expect this data to be produced.

Although there may be no rule requiring confirmation from Defendants, Plaintiffs worked in good faith to allow Defendants over three months extra time to complete their discovery production. Given this we would hope that Defendant's would extend us the same courtesy in at least meaningfully attempting to respond to our reasonable inquiries.

Best,
Bernadette

Shawn:

Per our last email Petteway Plaintiffs still contend that RFPs referenced in my prior emails cover the voter files however, if for some reason Defendants contend they are not could Defendants please provide an explanation as to why it is not. Petteway Plaintiffs would appreciate a response ahead of the December 13, 2022 production deadline.

Further, if Defendants contend prior RFPs do not cover such files, attached are Petteway Plaintiffs Second Request for Production containing another request for the voter history file.

Best,

Bernadette

Bernadette,

Thank you. It is Defendants position that Plaintiffs did not request the Voter History File, as demonstrated by a comparison between Request 1(d) and Plaintiffs Second Request for Production.

We will respond to the Second Request for Production in accordance with the Rules.
