INTRODUCTION

The LULAC, NAACP, and Abuabara plaintiffs move to compel the production of thirty-three documents in the possession of the Office of the Governor. ECF 380. As described in the privilege log produced by OOG, the motion should be denied because each of the documents at issue are protected by one or more of the privileges asserted.

The vast majority of these documents (23/33) are (i) drafts of the Governor’s proclamation calling the third special session of the 87th Legislature, all of which were prepared by OOG attorneys and reflect the provision of legal advice to OOG staff, or (ii) emails between OOG attorneys and OOG staff attaching and discussing those drafts. These drafts and emails were prepared for the purpose of providing the OOG with legal advice on the Governor calling the third special session. As such, they are plainly subject to the attorney-client privilege.

These drafts and emails are also subject to the deliberative-process privilege because they were prepared in furtherance of the Governor’s consideration of whether, when, and how to exercise the power to call a third special session. See Tex. Const. Article IV, § 8. The deliberative-process privilege, “a form of executive privilege,” operates to “shield[] from disclosure ‘documents reflecting advisory opinions, recommendations and deliberations comprising part of a process by which governmental decisions and policies are formulated.’” United States Fish & Wildlife Service v. Sierra Club, Inc., 141 S. Ct. 777, 785–86 (2021) (quoting NLRB v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 421 U.S. 132, 150 (1975)). The focus of the protection is “predecisional, deliberative documents.” Id. The drafts and emails are protected by the deliberative-process privilege because they constitute internal OOG deliberations about whether, when, and how to call a third special session.

Alternatively, documents relating to the convening of the legislature are protected by legislative privilege. Although Article IV, Section 1 of the Texas Constitution places the Governor in the executive department, other provisions give legislative prerogatives, such as the veto power. See Jessen Assocs., Inc. v. Bullock, 531 S.W.2d 593, 598 (Tex. 1975) (The governor’s “veto power is a legislative function and not an executive function.”). Other courts have understood the power to call special sessions of the legislature as a legislative power that supports the assertion of the legislative privilege. Texas v. Holder, No. 1:12-cv-128, 2012 WL 13070113, at *1 (D.D.C. June 7, 2012); see also In re Turner, 627 S.W.3d 654, 659–60 (Tex. 2021) (per curiam) (Legislative functions, like “[t]he powers to veto legislation and call special legislative sessions belong constitutionally to the Governor, not the Legislature.”). Indeed, federal courts regularly recognize that state governors are entitled to the legislative privilege for actions done pursuant to their legislative powers. See League of Women Voters of Florida, Inc. v. Lee, 340 F.R.D. 446, 454 (N.D. Fla. 2021) (explaining that the legislative privilege “cover[s] ‘both governors’ and legislators’ actions in the proposal, formulation, and passage of legislation.’”) (quoting In re Hubbard, 803 F.3d 1298, 1308 (11th Cir. 2015)). As such, to the extent that convening the legislature is a legislative function, documents regarding the Governor’s consideration and calling of the third special session are subject to the legislative privilege.

In addition, one withheld document is an internal email between OOG staff discussing the publication of a letter to the United States Census Bureau. The letter—which was produced—enquired of the Census Bureau when the Census data will be released. The withheld email is a predecisional, deliberative communication regarding the sending of the letter. It is therefore subject to the deliberative process-privilege.

BACKGROUND

The NAACP, LULAC, and Abuabara plaintiffs served their first set of document requests on the Governor on March 3rd, March 5th, and March 17th, respectively. The Governor timely responded to each request, producing documents bates labelled STATE-REDISTRICTING_000001 to STATE-REDISTRICTING_000669, and serving responses and objections. On April 28th, the parties met to confer on the responses and objections, at which time Defendants explained that a forthcoming privilege would likely more fully address plaintiffs' concerns.

Accordingly, and consistent with the thirty-day deadline set forth by the Court's ESI order, see ECF 203, the Governor served his initial privilege log on the NAACP and LULAC plaintiffs on May 4th (and on May 18th for Abuabara). The parties met to confer on that privilege log on May 12th and May 19th. OOG agreed to supplement its privilege log in response to plaintiffs' concerns. It did so, providing a supplemental privilege on May 25th, providing substantial additional information for the privilege entries. Plaintiffs complain about the level of detail in the supplemental privilege log, but that complaint is undercut by plaintiffs' own privilege logs, which contain far less detail. See Ex. A (MALC privilege log); Ex. B (Representative Martinez Fischer privilege log); Ex. C (LULAC privilege log).

Delaying nearly a month, plaintiffs emailed counsel for the Governor on June 22nd, informing counsel that plaintiffs "intend to file a joint motion to compel tomorrow at 5pm CT." Ex. D (email). Counsel for the Governor attempted to limit the scope of the dispute, explaining that the twenty-three documents relating to the draft proclamation were (i) plainly privileged, and (ii) irrelevant to plaintiffs' claims. See id. Plaintiffs refused to narrow their motion, rejecting the assertions of attorney-client privilege as "boilerplate." Id. But LULAC's own privilege assertions are substantively similar to the Governor's. Compare ECF 380-14 (OOG privilege log) ("Document related to draft proclamation of special session. Includes legal advice from OOG attorneys on the substance, legal compliance, and strategy of the subject of the document."), with Ex. D (LULAC privilege log) ("Confidential email to Texas Latino Redistricting Task Force regarding legislative developments and upcoming redistricting communications, including attorney analysis, mental impressions, strategy and/or legal advice.").

In any event, the parties were unfortunately unable to limit the scope of their dispute. Plaintiffs filed their motion to compel on June 27th, which was docketed by the Clerk as ECF 380 later the same day. Upon further review, OOG has determined to withdraw privilege assertions over a number of these documents.¹ These documents are being produced shortly after the filing of this brief. The proceeding portion of this brief addresses the remaining documents—all internal communications between OOG counsel and staff—over which OOG continues to withhold based on various privileges. Defendants are happy to make these documents available to the Court for in camera review should it be found necessary or helpful.

ARGUMENT

I. Documents and Communications Regarding a Proclamation Calling a Special Session

As introduced above, twenty-three of the thirty-three documents plaintiffs seek are either drafts of the proclamation calling the third special session or emails attaching and discussing those drafts.² Three privileges apply to these documents: the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, and either the deliberative-process or legislative privilege.

A. These Documents Are Protected by the Attorney Client and Work Product Privileges

The drafts and emails are plainly subject to the attorney-client privilege. To establish that this privilege applies, the proponent must establish: “(1) that he made a confidential communication; (2) to a lawyer or his subordinate; (3) for the primary purpose of securing either a legal opinion or legal services, or assistance in some legal proceeding.” EEOC v. BDO USA, LLP, 876 F.3d 690, 695 (5th Cir. 2017) (quotation omitted). In addition, a “draft document is protected under the attorney-client privilege if ‘the draft itself contains protected confidential communications from the client or the attorney.’” Cause of Action Inst. v. United States DOJ, 330 F. Supp. 3d 336, 350 (D.D.C. 2018) (“A) (quoting Loftin v. Bande, 258 F.R.D. 31, 35 (D.D.C. 2009); see also SEC v. Beacon Hill Asset Mgmt.

¹ These documents are as follows: DOC_0356598, DOC_0356600, DOC_0356606, DOC_0356560, DOC_0356561, DOC_0356586, DOC_0356587, and DOC_0356588. In addition, OOG has determined that DOC_0356599 may be produced with internal annotations redacted.

² These documents are as follows: DOC_0356555, DOC_0356556, DOC_0356557, DOC_0356571, DOC_0356578, DOC_03565979, DOC_0356580, DOC_0356581, DOC_0356582, DOC_0356583, DOC_0356584, DOC_0356585, DOC_0356590, DOC_0356591, DOC_0356592, DOC_0356593, DOC_0356594, DOC_0356595, DOC_0356596, DOC_0356597, DOC_0356604, DOC_0356609, and DOC_0356610.

F.R.D. 134, 145 (S.D.N.Y. 2004) (“Drafts of documents prepared by an attorney for subsequent transmission to third parties” are privileged where “the draft document contains confidential information communicated by the client to the attorney that is maintained in confidence.”).

The attorney client privilege applies to the drafts because they contain confidential information communicated to the client (OOG) by attorneys. Indeed, these drafts reflect notes, edits, and annotations from OOG attorneys that relate to the legal issues surrounding the calling of the third special session. The privilege also applies to the email communications between OOG attorneys and staff because they are confidential communications by OOG attorneys made the purpose of providing legal advice regarding the calling of the third special session. The Court need go no further to determine that the attorney client privilege applies.

Plaintiffs hardly dispute that the drafts and emails are privileged. Their main defense is to argue that the privilege entries are “conclusory.” Mot. at 20. That is simply wrong. The entries clearly communicate that the withheld documents are drafts of a proclamation calling a special session, and emails discussing those drafts, both of which were prepared or sent for the purpose of providing legal advice on issuing the call. In addition, as noted above, plaintiffs can hardly claim an inability to understand these privilege assertions when their own attorney-client privilege assertions are substantially similar.

Compare ECF 380-14 (OOG privilege log), with Ex. D (LULAC privilege log).

Plaintiffs also contend that the attorney-client privilege does not apply because part of the documents and communications concern “advice on political, strategic or policy issues.” Mot. at 21 (quoting Baldus v. Brennan, No. 2:11-cv-562, 2011 WL 6385645, at *3 (E.D. Wis. Dec. 20, 2011). To be sure, part of the purpose for these documents’ creation was to deliberate and consider whether, when, and how to call a third special session. But Baldus held only that the attorney-client protection was unavailable if the sole purpose of the document was to communicate political advice. See 2011 WL 6385645, at *3. The privilege applies where, as here, a “primary purpose” of the communication is to provide legal advice, EEOC, 876 F.3d at 695. As reflected in the privilege log, the communications reflect the provision of legal advice from OOG attorneys to staff. Moreover, as explained below, the fact that these drafts and emails were prepared in part to aid OOG policy deliberations means that they are also protected by the deliberative-process (or legislative) privilege.

The work product privilege also applies to these documents. Plaintiffs suggest that the work product doctrine is categorically inapplicable to such draft documents, Mot. 23–24, but documents relating to the legal compliance of a draft proclamation are documents created as part of assessing litigation risk. They are not categorically excluded from the work product protection. See United States v. Davis, 636 F.2d 1028, 1040 (5th Cir. 1981) (asking whether “the primary motivating purpose behind the creation of the document was to aid in possible future litigation”). Accepting plaintiffs’ arguments—that legal work related to draft proclamations is neither privileged nor protected as work product—would create perverse incentives for governmental officials. See Upjohn Co. v. United States, 449 U.S. 383, 392 (1981). It would make no sense to deny the privilege for documents created by attorneys for the purpose of ensuring the legal compliance of a future expected action. But ultimately, the Court need not resolve the parties’ dispute about work product for the withheld documents, given the applicable attorney-client and legislative (or deliberative process) privileges justifying the withholding of the same documents.

B. These Documents Are also Protected by the Deliberative-Process Privilege

The drafts and emails are protected for the additional reason that they are subject to the deliberative-process privilege. That privilege protects “predecisional, deliberative” materials. U.S. Fish & Wildlife Serv., 141 S. Ct. at 785. “Documents are ‘predecisional’ if they were generated before the agency’s final decision on the matter, and they are ‘deliberative’ if they were prepared to help the agency formulate its position.” Id. “In particular, it is well-settled that ‘[d]raft documents, by their very nature, are typically predecisional and deliberative. They reflect only the tentative view of their authors; views that might be altered or rejected upon further deliberation either by their authors or by superiors.””

MacNamara v. City of New York, 249 F.R.D. 70, 78 (S.D.N.Y. 2008) (quoting Exxon Corp. v. Dept. of Energy, 585 F. Supp. 690, 698 (D.D.C.1983)).

The proclamation drafts and emails discussing them are quintessential deliberative materials. They reveal OOG mental impressions on the reasons why to call a special session, and the manner in which a special session should be called. Further, the communications are clearly pre-decisional given that they were created prior to September 7, 2021, which was the date the Governor issued the proclamation calling the third special session. Courts regularly uphold privilege assertions as to documents and communications regarding similar executive acts. See e.g., Citizens United for City of New York v. Att'y General of New York, 269 F. Supp. 3d 124, 165–66 (S.D.N.Y. 2017) (upholding deliberative-process privilege as to draft executive order); Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press v. FBI, 3 F.4th 350, 364–65 (D.C. Cir. 2021) (upholding deliberative-process privilege as to daft executive report).

Plaintiffs do not attempt to deny that the deliberative-process privilege applies to these drafts and emails. Mot. at 15–20. Instead, they argue that the privilege can only be asserted by the “agency head.” Id. at 17 (quoting In re McKesson Govt. Entities Average Wholesale Price Litig., 264 F.R.D. 595, 601 (N.D. Cal. 2009)). This position has been almost uniformly rejected. Moorhead v. Lane, 125 F.R.D. 680, n.1 (C.D. Ill. 1989) (“[T]he head of the agency need not assert the privilege. It is sufficient that an agency representative do so.”); Landry v. FDIC, 204 F.3d 1125, 1135 (D.C. Cir. 2000) (“[I]t would be counterproductive to read “head of the department” in the narrowest possible way.”); Marriot Int'l Reports, LP v. United States, 437 F.3d 1302, 1307 (Fed. Cir. 2006) (“Delegated review by a subordinate undoubtedly results in a more thorough, more consistent, and timelier review of potentially privileged documents than personal review by the Agency head.”). Indeed, the very case plaintiffs cite has been criticized as inadvertently confusing the deliberative-process privilege with the state-secrets privilege. See Scalia v. Int'l Longshore & Warehouse Union, 336 F.R.D. 603, 610–11 (N.D. Cal. 2020). OOG representatives have expressly reviewed the documents at issue and directed counsel to assert the deliberative-process privilege. That is all that is required.

In addition, plaintiffs argue that the deliberative-process should “yield.” Mot. at 19; see also id. at 12–15 (making same argument as to legislative privilege). They further argue that piercing the privilege is necessary in order to “shed light on . . . government misconduct.” Id. at 19 (quoting In re Sealed Case, 121 F.3d 729, 738 (D.C. Cir. 1997)). The problem is that plaintiffs offer absolutely no evidence of government misconduct. They cannot meet the required showing to defeat the deliberative-process privilege. See, e.g., American Petroleum Tankers Parent, LLC v. United States, 952 F. Supp. 2d 252, 268 (D.D.C. 2013) (“To invoke the government-misconduct exception, the party seeking discovery must provide an adequate factual basis for believing that the requested discovery would shed light upon government misconduct.”); see also Hinckley v. United States, 140 F.3d 277, 285 (D.C. Cir. 1998) (“The deliberative process privilege would soon be meaningless, if all someone seeking information otherwise protected under the privilege had to establish is that there was disagreement within the governmental entity at some point in the decisionmaking process”).

Plaintiffs identify no particular facts that support an inference of government misconduct. In other cases, parties attempting to pierce the privilege have pointed to concrete allegations of government wrongdoing. See, e.g., Convertino v. United States Dept. of Justice, 674 F.Supp.2d 97, 100 (D.D.C.2009) (allegations that the Department of Justice leaked information regarding an investigation into purported prosecutorial misconduct by an Assistant United States Attorney). Plaintiffs point to nothing of the sort here. See Mot. at 12–15. At most, plaintiffs recognize that OOG communicated with legislative staff on two occasions: to discuss the receipt of the Census data and, relatedly, to discuss the schedule for the potential third special session. They do not identify any direct or circumstantial evidence relating to those events that suggest misconduct on OOG’s behalf.

Plaintiffs also ask the Court to disregard the privilege due to “the seriousness of the litigation and issues involved.” Mot. at 14. But that exception would swallow the rule and discourage thoughtful deliberation in the executive branch. “An uncertain privilege, or one which purports to be certain but results in widely varying applications by the courts, is little better than no privilege at all.” Upjohn, 449 U.S. at 393. As in all cases, executive officers are entitled to consider and deliberate their official actions and policies in private; only when a party provides particular reason of unique circumstances can the privilege be set aside.

Finally, plaintiffs argue that OOG concedes the relevance of the documents by listing them on the privilege log. Mot. at 13. Not so—OOG has consistently disputed the relevance of the documents plaintiffs seek, and expressly noted that any responses to plaintiffs’ document requests were made subject OOG’s objections. See, e.g., ECF 380-6 (OOG’s objections to LULAC plaintiffs’ document requests) (“A portion of the requested production is also irrelevant to Plaintiffs’ claims and is thus identified individually below.”) (“These responses and objections are made without waiving any further objections to, or admitting the relevancy or materiality of, any of the information or documents requested.”); ECF 380-7 (similar, as to NAACP); 380-9 (similar, as to Abuabara); see also Ex. E (email) (“Moreover, I do not understand how these documents are at all related to the LULAC, NAACP, and Abuabara plaintiffs’ claims. What is your relevance basis for seeking these documents?”). Plaintiffs have consistently asserted relevance at a high level of generality, failing to identify any specific connection between their claims and the documents sought. See id. (plaintiffs’ email response) (“Regarding the relevance of the 23 documents you listed, given their subject matter, they pertain to the process and/or circumstances surrounding the enactment of the challenged redistricting legislation.”).

The deliberative-process privilege protects deliberative, predecisional materials pertaining to the formation of executive decisions or policies. The proclamation drafts and emails discussing those drafts clearly fall within that protection. And plaintiffs’ arguments for why the privilege should yield are unavailing. The Court should uphold the privilege and deny the motion to compel on this basis.

C. In the Alternative, these Documents Are Protected by the Legislative Privilege

These drafts and emails are also subject to the legislative privilege. As explained above, calling a special session of the legislature is best understood as an executive action. But in the alternative, it may also be understood as a legislative action. Indeed, the three-judge court in Texas v. Holder understood the issue exactly in this way:

The Texas Constitution grants the Governor the power to call special legislative sessions, Tex. Const. art. IV § 8(a), and to declare emergency matters to be considered early in the legislative session, Tex. Const. art. III § 5(b). In our view, both of these functions—convening the legislature and placing items at the top of its agenda—constitute “integral steps in the legislative process,” that come within the scope of the legislative privilege

Texas, 2012 WL 13070113, at *1 (quoting Bogan v. Scott-Harris, 523 U.S. 44, 55 (1998)); see also Gray v. Mills, No. 1:21-cv-71, 2021 WL 5166157, at *3 (D. Me. Nov. 5, 2021) (The Governor of Maine’s “decisions around whether and when to convene the Legislature in the face of a global pandemic are the sort of ‘quintessentially legislative conduct that [the legislative privilege] doctrine protects.’”).

Insofar as the legislative privilege applies to the Governor’s decision to call the third special session, the privilege plainly applies to the proclamation drafts and internal OOG emails discussing the drafts. The legislative privilege has long “protect[ed] ‘against inquiry into acts that occur in the regular course of the legislative process and into the motivation for those acts’” and “precludes any showing of how [a legislator] acted, voted, or decided.” United States v. Helstoski, 442 U.S. 477, 489 (1979). It generally shields those that hold the privilege and their agents from undertaken when “acting in the sphere of legitimate legislative activity.” Tenney v. Brandhove, 341 U.S. 367, 376 (1951); see also Texas, 2012 WL 13070060, at *4 (the privilege protects against inquiry into “motivations with respect to a bill (e.g., why a legislator voted a particular way, why a legislator supported or opposed different amendments, why a bill sponsor included different language in various Voter-ID bills, what factual information a legislator did or did not consider in supporting or opposing a bill, etc.)”). Applying legislative privilege, courts of appeals have precluded plaintiffs from seeking discovery from legislators in redistricting and other intentional discrimination suits. See Lee v. City of Los Angeles, 908 F.3d 1175, 1186-88 (9th Cir. 2018). The Eleventh Circuit, for example, has explained that “[t]he privilege protects the legislative process itself, and therefore covers both governors’ and legislators’ actions in the proposal, formulation, and passage of legislation.” In re Hubbard, 803 F.3d at 1308.

The documents are protected by the legislative privilege for much the same reason that they would be protected by the deliberative-process privilege. That is, they reveal OOG mental impressions as to what the Governor considered in calling a third special session, and why he did so. Furthermore, these communications reflect pre-decisional discussions as they are dated prior to the September 7, 2021 proclamation calling the special session. Whether the act is inherently executive or legislative makes little difference. The drafts and emails directly address considerations and motivations for calling the Legislature into session. For this reason, they are protected by the legislative privilege.

In arguing that the power to convene the legislature is not legislative in nature, plaintiffs fail to mention the authorities cited above. See Mot. at 11–12. They also misconstrue the Texas Supreme Court’s decision in In re Turner. The quote the Court as saying the Governor “has not exercised the Legislature’s power,” Id. at 12, but that statement referred to the Legislature’s power to pass legislation. See 627 S.W.3d at 660. Plaintiffs offer no other explanation why this power is not legislative.

As with the deliberative-process privilege, plaintiffs argue that the legislative privilege should yield, in this instance based on the five-factor balancing test applied in Rodriguez v. Pataki, 280 F. Supp. 2d 89, 100–01 (S.D.N.Y. 2003). Mot. at 12–15. Moreover, they rely in large part on the stayed decision in La Union Del Pueblo Entero v. Abbott, No. 5:21-cv-844, 2022 WL 1667687, at *2 (W.D. Tex. May 25, 2022), appeal docketed sub nom. LULAC v. Hughes, No. 22-50435 (5th Cir. May 27, 2022). But as before, plaintiffs present no compelling reason why the privilege should yield, or even why they need the documents at all. As explained above, plaintiffs fail to explain what documents they seek, or why those documents are relevant to their claims. They further fail to identify any connection between redistricting and OOG besides the Governor's calling the third special session. See Mot. at 13. Nor should the legislative privilege be pierced, as plaintiffs suggest, simply because this is a redistricting case. Id. at 14. Such a ruling would conflict with the Ninth Circuit's ruling in Lee, 908 F.3d at 1186–88.

The proclamation drafts and the emails discussing them give direct insight into OOG's mental impressions as to whether, when, and how to call a third special session. To the extent the power to convene the legislature is a legislative function, those documents are subject to the legislative privilege. Plaintiffs' arguments for why the privilege should be disregarded lack merit. The motion to compel should be denied for this independent reason.

II. Communications Regarding a Letter to the Census Bureau

In addition, one document is an email discussing a letter than was ultimately sent from OOG and other governors' offices to the United States Census Bureau. This letter (which was produced, see Ex. E) recognizes that the Bureau failed to timely deliver the Census data, and inquires when it will be delivered. The withheld document, DOC_0356569, is an OOG internal email discussing that draft.

This document is subject to the deliberative-process privilege because it is a predecisional, deliberative communication made for the purpose of considering a future policy action: sending an official letter. Executive offices regularly assert this privilege of documents and communications relating to government letters. See, e.g., Campaign Legal Center v. U.S. DOJ, 34 F.4th 14, 23–24 (upholding assertion of deliberative-process privilege as to documents relating to draft letter); Canning v. U.S. Dept. of State, 346 F. Supp. 1, 25–26 (D.D.C. 2018) (same). As such, DOC_0356569 is subject to the deliberative-process privilege and was properly withheld.

III. Dropbox Documents

Finally, two documents, DOC_0356598 and DOC_0356600, are email communications from Senate staff attaching a Dropbox link. Plaintiffs contend that OOG should be made to produce all documents available through the link, see Mot. at 25–26, but those documents are not in OOG’s custody, possession or control. OOG never accessed the Dropbox site, and so never downloaded those documents. OOG has no knowledge of the contents of those documents. Indeed, OOG is not presently aware that it even has access to those documents. As such, OOG neither has actual possession of those documents nor the ability to control them. Because OOG has complied with its Rule 34 obligations, this Court should deny the plaintiffs’ motion to compel on this point.

CONCLUSION

Defendants respectfully request that the Court deny plaintiffs’ motion to compel. As stated above, Defendants are happy to make these documents available to the Court for in camera review should it be found necessary or helpful.

Kenneth,

I appreciate your response, though disagree with the sentiments expressed. I think future conferral on this subject will unfortunately be unavailing. I am disappointed that we were unable to limit the dispute presented to the Court, but will endeavor to continue working well together going forward.

We oppose your motion for leave to file a 25 page brief.

Subject: RE: LULAC v. Abbott, 3:21-cv-259: Final Meet and Confer Regarding Documents Withheld by Defendant Abbott

Hi Jack,

Thank you for your response. I did not see a response in your email to our request that you provide Defendants' position on our joint motion to exceed the page limit for our joint motion to compel. We would appreciate a response regarding that request by tomorrow (Friday, June 24, 2022) at 12pm CT.

We will hold off on filing our joint motion to compel until tomorrow afternoon (Friday, June 24, 2022). If, after reviewing my email, you would still like to meet to discuss your position on these documents, we're available tomorrow (Friday, June 24, 2022) before 1pm CT to discuss. If you would like to meet, please let me know what time would work for you.

After reviewing your email, our position remains that all of the documents I identified in my prior email should be disclosed, and that the privileges you assert over those documents do not apply, for the reasons already articulated across our multiple meetings and letters. Regarding the 23 documents you have identified, the Supplemental Privilege Log, along with further elaboration in your email, offers no more than conclusory and boilerplate statements that "legal advice" was given. In any event, these documents concern (a) facts, not legal advice, (b) advice on political, strategic, or policy issues, and/or (c) were not created in anticipation of litigation. Moreover, for any document that was shared outside of the Office of the Governor, any claim of attorney-client privilege or work product doctrine has been waived.

Regarding the relevance of the 23 documents you listed, given their subject matter, they pertain to the process and/or circumstances surrounding the enactment of the challenged redistricting legislation, and some documents contain communications that may reveal the intent of the legislators who enacted that legislation, especially given that at least some of the documents have been shared with legislative staff. Thus, the documents may be relevant to both the intent- and effects-based claims brought by Plaintiffs.

As I said, please let me know if you'd like to meet tomorrow, and let me know whether you oppose Plaintiffs' joint motion to exceed the page limit.

Thanks,
Kenneth

Subject: RE: LULAC v. Abbott, 3:21-cv-259: Final Meet and Confer Regarding Documents Withheld by Defendant Abbott

Kenneth and Nina,

Thank you for your email. I want to briefly address my hope that through additional discussion we can limit the scope of our disagreement. To be sure, for some documents, I think our positions are too far apart to reach agreement. But I don't think the same is true for others. In particular, consider the documents "related to draft proclamation of special session." These documents are quite literally drafts of a proclamation calling a third special session. They were prepared by attorneys and other OOG staff, as the privilege log indicates. In preparing these drafts, and by advising on their preparation, OOG attorneys gave legal advice as to the required content of these drafts, and their compliance with applicable law. These drafts were then sent in "confidential communications" to members of the OOG staff, including attorneys. These messages themselves also contained commentary and other legal advice regarding the drafts. All of this information is provided in the privilege log.

If I recall correctly, your previous objections regarding these entries were that you were unable to ascertain (i) whether attorneys were involved in the preparing of the documents and sending of the messages, and (ii) the subject and purpose of the documents and communications. We have endeavored to provide that additional information here. Do you have additional objections to these entries? I struggle to see how the attorney client and attorney work product privileges would not apply here. Moreover, I do not understand how these documents are at all related to the LULAC, NAACP, and Abuabara plaintiffs' claims. What is your relevance basis for seeking these documents? Consider whether it would be more expedient to present your motion without these entries (understanding of course that you may want to maintain your objections to those entries without moving to compel them). I think we would all prefer to avoid presenting unnecessary argument to the Court.

For reference, the documents and communications related to the draft proclamation are as follows: DOC_0356555, DOC_0356556, DOC_0356557, DOC_0356571, DOC_0356578, DOC_0356579, DOC_0356580, DOC_0356581, DOC_0356582, DOC_0356583, DOC_0356584, DOC_0356585, DOC_0356590, DOC_0356591, DOC_0356592, DOC_0356593, DOC_0356594, DOC_0356595, DOC_0356596, DOC_0356597, DOC_0356604, DOC_0356609, and DOC_0356610.

I would appreciate the opportunity to confer regarding these documents. Do you have time in the next few days? You may be aware that I'm in Representative Lujan's deposition today. As I stated, I honestly think we may be able to come to an understanding on these documents (which constitute the majority of the entries on the log).

Subject: LULAC v. Abbott, 3:21-cv-259: Final Meet and Confer Regarding Documents Withheld by Defendant Abbott

Counsel,

Thank you for providing a Supplemental Privilege Log for Defendant Abbott (see attached) in response to the document requests of LULAC Plaintiffs, Abuabara Plaintiffs, and Texas NAACP ("Plaintiffs"). I write to address two matters related to the Supplemental Privilege Log, and request a response to both matters by 5pm CT tomorrow, June 23, 2022.

First, it is our understanding that you are withholding the documents listed in the attached Supplemental Privilege Log based on your assertions of one or more of the following: legislative privilege, deliberative-process privilege, attorney-client privilege, and work product doctrine. In our meet and confers and correspondence, Plaintiffs have taken the position that these privileges do not apply, for the reasons explained in those meetings and correspondence. In light of the disagreement over whether Abbott may withhold documents based on the privileges he asserts, and our meetings and correspondence attempting to resolve the disagreement, Plaintiffs intend to file a joint motion to compel tomorrow at 5pm CT, seeking disclosure of all documents listed in the Supplemental Privilege Log except for the following: DOC_0356558, DOC_0356559, DOC_0356575, and DOC_0356576. As one last effort to resolve this matter without Court intervention, we are reaching out to determine which, if any, of the documents you would produce in light of our position on the asserted privileges. Please indicate your position on Plaintiffs' request for these documents by 5pm CT tomorrow (Thursday, June 23, 2022).

Second, pursuant to Local Rule 7(C), Plaintiffs intend to file a motion for leave to exceed the page limit for a discovery-related motion, seeking to file a motion to compel that shall not exceed 25 pages, exclusive of the caption, signature block, etc. Plaintiffs seek this page-limit extension to address fully each of the privileges Abbott asserts, and the extension is necessary given the consolidated nature of the motion. Please let us know whether you oppose Plaintiffs' motion for leave to exceed the page limit.

The Honorable Gina M. Raimondo
Secretary of Commerce
United States Department of Commerce
1401 Constitution Ave NW
Washington, DC 20230

Dear Secretary Raimondo,

We write to you in regard to a matter of utmost importance: the 2020 Census. While we recognize the difficulties associated with completing a decennial census amid a pandemic, the ongoing delay in the release of 2020 Census redistricting data places our states in a nearly impossible situation to redraw lines prior to the 2022 election cycle. Consequently, we urge you to release redistricting data this month or as soon as possible prior to the delayed release date of September 30, 2021, and the release of the “legacy format” data on August 16, 2021.

Over the course of the past year, states and commonwealths played an integral part in ensuring the 2020 Census achieved a complete and accurate count of persons living in the United States on April 1, 2020. States and commonwealths have worked in conjunction with the U.S. Census Bureau (the Bureau) to inform Americans of the importance of the 2020 Census and encourage them to complete their questionnaires. In addition, our state and local complete count committees walked alongside the Bureau to ensure local communities were engaged, and while the COVID-19 pandemic led to the cancellation of many planned events, our complete count committees adjusted and leveraged their online presence to achieve a complete count.

States aided the Bureau within the Bureau’s fluctuating timelines for self-response and non-response follow-up (NERFU) in good faith. Yet, we are now facing a nearly half-year delay beyond the statutory deadline for receiving redistricting data. This delay places an unreasonable burden on our states and undermines public trust in the foundations of our democratic republic.

As you know, the U.S. Constitution and state constitutions task state governments with redistricting their respective congressional and legislative districts in the year immediately following the decennial census. To do so, states have historically received apportionment data in December of the year of the census and redistricting data in February or March of the following year—two to three months later, allowing states time to perform redistricting work in the spring and summer consistent with various state constitutional and statutory deadlines.

As a departure from the traditional timeline, the Bureau released 2020 apportionment data in April 2021, nearly four months behind schedule, which should result in the delivery of 2020 redistricting data by June or July of this year. However, it is our understanding that the Bureau will not release redistricting data until on or about September 30, 2021, with a potential release of legacy data sometime in mid-to-late August 2021. The extended timeline represents a six-to-seven-month delay of redistricting data and is nearly double the conventional length of time between releasing both data sets.

Based on affidavits filed in federal court by the Bureau, it appears that nearly all of the data processing necessary for the public release of the redistricting data will be complete by June 24, 2021. Further delaying the release of redistricting data negatively impacts redistricting efforts nationwide, places state governments in an unnecessarily precarious position, and presents compounding delays in operations at every level of government.

Districts for the U.S. House of Representatives cannot be drawn until the data has been released. Districts for state legislatures also cannot be drawn until this data has been released. Districts for county, parish, township, and municipal governing bodies cannot be drawn until states have had the opportunity to draw congressional and state legislative districts. Lastly, districts for school district seats cannot be drawn until county, parish, township, and municipal governing bodies have had the opportunity to draw their own respective districts.

As a result of such negative impacts to our constitutional responsibilities, we seek the release of redistricting data as soon as possible—and in line with traditional timelines—so that states may begin to perform important redistricting tasks on behalf of our constituents.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter and for your continued service to our great nation.

Sincerely,
